Polo Grounds, Oct. 13.—The Giants obtained the baseball honors for 1921 this afternoon when they swept the Yankees by a score of 1 to 0 in the deciding game of the World's series.

Nehe pitched hitless ball for the Giants and held the American League's helpless.

Hoyt pitched for the Yankees and his lack of control in the first inning followed by an error of Pieper, resulted in the Giants' one run.

The series closed with the Giants winning 11 of 16 games and the Yankees 5.

In the ninth inning, Babe Ruth got into the game and batted for Pieper. Pieper made a mistake when the home run king walked up to the plate with the following count: two strikes one strike a ball. Ruth grounded out to Kelly as assisted.

More Prayer and Less Play Would Be Best, He Says

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—It's a long step from the timid temper of the India wire to the rattle of the brass in a Broadway jazz palace.

So thinks the Rev. Dr. J. J. Pavy, son of the High Priest of the Parsons, a graduate of Bowdoin University and at present a student at Columbia.

"We have much to learn from the West, but I wish the people of America were as fond of the spiritual as they are of amusement and diversion," said the youth, who, when he returns to become a National Presbyterian minister in India or Zanzibar, hopes to help among his people the spirit of piety, but of duty devoted of temple worship.

Of America, the youth said, "I wish she were more imbued with the spirit of the West, but I wish the people of America were as fond of the spiritual as they are of amusement and diversion."

"You are well, but you are not well enough. You need more spiritual life, more serious thought."

PICTURE MUST BE ON YOUR TICKET SAYS N. Y. C. RY.

Eastern Railroad Makes New Ruling to Stop Scalping and Force People to Be Honest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The new rule of the New York Central Railroad has not a stop in the old practice of transferring by reeling commutation tickets to subscribers, but the commuters didn't like the idea and they groaned as the cameras clicked.

Their protests were unavailing, however, for the railroad decreed that no more commutation tickets would be issued after October 1, unless a plain graph of the holder was attached to the ticket. The rule to have pictures taken was so great during the last week of grace that almost every station along the railroad's line was converted into an emergency photograph gallery.

All available photographs were taken and posted at stations, thus giving the commuter an opportunity of being "popped" while waiting for his train to carry him to work in the city.

After the first rush, these photographs no longer said "look ahead, please." The commuters said it was impossible to observe their conduct without that it was certain that many of the photographs showed crawling commuters.

The railroad explained that one of the first effects of the new regulations was a tremendous falling off in the sale of commutation tickets at a small station on the West Shore Division. Although this station had only a very local guard of commuters, it used to sell 40 commutation tickets every month.

This was the explanation, according to the railroad.

The commutation rate from this station was only 12 cents, whereas the regular round-trip fare was $2.75. Some one was buying commutation tickets and then farming them out by the day at scalper's rates—$1.50. On a transaction of this kind the passenger saved $1.25, the scalper made $1.18 and the railroad lost $2.32.
