Body of Duke to Be Taken to Portugal

(By Associated Press)

SAPLES, Nov. 30.—The widow of Oporto, Countess Mrs. Nevada Hayes Chapman, has bid the "body" of the Duke of Oporto who was held by the throne of Portugal exhausted here with failing religious ceremonies.

The body which was found to be in a remarkable state of preservation has now been placed in a massive wooden casket adorned with gold trappings and will be transported to Lisbon as soon as circumstances there have subsided.

There are 3,500 miles of streets in New York City. In other words, a sidewalk has to be traversed before one can walk through all the city streets.

In Portugal, when a worker wants a meal in a restaurant or a pair of bootees he walks miles—one of the reasons why Portugal is poor.

MARRIAGABLE MEN MORE PLENTIFUL THAN GIRLS, SAYS DETROIT OFFICIAL

Reason for Statement Is That Many Men Were Attracted to Detroit During Period of World War.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 30.—Women seeking matrimony should do well to regard Detroit as the city of most eligible males, except that of marriageable females, according to Alton F. Lederle, supervisor of attendants for the Detroit Board of Education.

But in the same breath Mr. Lederle declares girls and women who desire mates had better make haste toward Detroit, as the ratio pendulum is swinging back toward normal.

Mr. Lederle backs both statements by figures taken from the results of Detroit's school census, that is regarded as complete as the federal census, so far as population statistics go. Moreover the school census is taken each year.

The 1921 school census showed there were 195,296 marriageable males in the city, against 134,657 marriageable girls and women. This makes it easy for the women to obtain mates but restricts the choices of the men considerably, according to the supervisor.

Then Mr. Lederle added his "wise" by saying the ratio of women over men was even greater in 1920 and that he expected it would be increased still further to the time the 1922 count is taken.

The predominance of males in recent years is believed due to the fact that more young men were attracted here by work during the war period.

THE FRENCH AND ITALIAN ANGLES

The problem of the limitation of naval armaments and an important, also, problem of regulating the submarine, is being considered somewhat by the Allies, not to say the demands of the French and Italians. For though Premier Briand continues his report that France wants the privilege of building a navy as powerful as the Japanese, in story that gave rise to such speculations, the moment it became current, he has advised that his country wants plenty of armaments and sufficient for equal defense, and there is a good deal of talk about a協議 of general naval strength between France and Italy that will make them the two dominant sea powers.

While such questions as these are secondary to the main issue in Washington they must be considered, and considered in an unbiased, reasonable, sympathetic spirit. If the most important consequence objective of all the aim of international good feeling, as is believed. And Briand undoubtedly put forward a practical plan which shows how France can be expected to have hands wide enough to accommodate neutral countries such as Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Holland are left free to build the naval armament, most prominent case contrasting the boats as in a position where they can never be less than third rate, but the ships of other nations.

Sailors' bills of complaint are steady, also, and the cost of construction of the size of the vessels of the fleet is systematically regulated, and the Germans already have provisions that may be more advanced than those of the French and Italian navies. The French pressure, however, is that the five conferences cannot come to an agreement until the question of submarine construction has been called off after getting the rest of the way sorted out, and the American government has a strong case for another conference to consider the dimensions of the world's naval armament to be represented.

During some time in 1920 it will be shown that of neutral fleet, Britain, the United States, and Japan come to a definite agreement that the submarine must go, and that they will make no lasting stand at the same time. This is the best show made of a leading fleet, France and Italy might be forced to do the same, if the two neutrals who are in position to do them.

THE INEVITABLE GROWTH OF SLANG

It is natural and normal course of evolution that discuss every aspect of social and economic life, the spreading of slang, and particularly the meaning of the word, is a simple thing which cannot be avoided. Some bad teachers would be for retained, but others, and the students of language, strive to do their best to stop them.

The National Association of Teachers of English in its meeting at Chicago, went through the usual motions. It was agreed that old slang is sick and that expressive slang should be ignored, which is something that people have been doing ever since men began to talk. In fact, they have selected words from slangs that have happened to drift from the more natural direction.

The result of this selection of new words and new forms of words has been a complete remodeling of language within historic times. Sometimes the selection has been a conscious process resulting from the need for a new word to express a new idea. The late war received a number of such words upon the English language. This denotes the process by which the new comes in while old goes out, scarcely unnoticed. Nobody blotted the word "not" out of American English and substituted "no." It just happened, and such things will happen whether they are approved by teachers of English or disapproved.

The best that can be done by teachers is to withdraw all judgment concerning to slang—simply because it is slang, and after all, there is more to be accomplished in fighting for the right use of words that are not slang, than in waging war against innovation, because changes in language are as inevitable as the evolution of the earth.

DR. BURTON QUIETS RUMOR

President M. L. Burton, of the University of Michigan, deserves thanks for his prompt statement that contradicts the assertion that there is an existing moral decay among students at Ann Arbor, for sensational stories have an exceedingly pernicious tendency to put in all contradiction unless headed off immediately and emphatically.

Dr. Burton has shown many evidences of ability to put the bottom of things, and he is not given to glossing over the pleasant facts. He is in a position to know what he is talking about, and we may believe his word. So while doubtless there are today, as there always have been, some young people of poor judgment and shabby morals among the thousands in the university, Dr. Burton quotes anxiety and rumor when he says there is a live body of students at Ann Arbor that for many years past, and that probably the university never had a more moral life. Anxiety, however, may tell easily.

BIG HIGHWAY PROGRAM

With the signature by President Harding of the bill increasing about $75,000,000 for the construction of roads, many states will embark on extensive highway programs. They have been waiting for the expected Federal aid before taking up road-building projects, and now are free to go ahead. Thousands of men will be given employment in the new work.

When Lloyd George gets Ulster and Sinn Fein to occupy the one compartment and keep quiet, he will be qualified to sit one of the old fashioned games of pigs in clover.

Where Your Taxes Go

How Uncle Sam Spends Your Money in Conducting Your Business

WARS EAT UP THE TAXES

When I set out to discover for you where the money you pay as federal taxes goes I did not have far to look. It goes for wars, past, present and prospective. Last year a little over 90 per cent of the national income went that way. In the report of the secretary of the treasury's submission to congress in December, 1920, he remarks:

An analysis of government expenditures for the fiscal year 1920, on the basis of easily measurable statements, discloses the striking fact that of the total ordinary expenditures of approximately 25,000,000,000, 20 per cent consisted of expenditures under the following heads:

Preparation of conditions of peace

Our geography

Our navy

Our departments

Our shipping board

Federal courts of justice

Our railroads

Our post office

Our public charities

Our Bureau of Education

Total amount expended $10,000,000,000

Substantially all the expenditures relate into this total, and a large share of the expenditures on various minor accounts represent burthens directly traceable to the war, in past wars or for preparations for future wars. These figures serve to indicate the direction which gives cause to require the cost of the government must take.

Then I found Mr. Goldart, the under-secretary of the treasury, saying:

MENNONITES TO MOVE TO MEXICO AND SO. AMERICA

Will Take $14,000,000 Out of Canada, Charge that Government Repudiated Charter Signed in Year 1873.

SASKATOON, Sept. 23.—The much heralded leader of the old colony church Mennonites from Western Canada to Northern Mexico is to become a reality. The arrangements have been completed whereby an advance party of 1,000 will leave the Hague district of the near-by town to do pioneer work on their new holding.

There are about thirty different sects of Mennonites and this is another movement that originated in one section of Mennonites who have purchased land in South America. An official statement signed by Bishop Wall of the Mennonite church says:

"Society Head Has Charged Trickery

EXP. THE HERALD, WIN., NO. 10—Details concerning the departure of the first group of settlers of the Wisconsin Union of the Am. Menn. Society of Equity and Moral Welfare to President E. C. Danner, also in the meeting address of the official statement signed by Bishop Wall of the Mennonite church.

"Our only objection to staying in Canada lies in the fact that we've Know fathers and mothers in particular who have youngsters to buy Toys for, will be delighted with the new low price at which nearly every item will be offered.

cester grafted and ratified by the federal government giving us entire right to conduct our schools without molestation or restriction has now been repudiated." The original charter granted by the government was signed in 1873.

The transfer of property from the Mennonites to a Winnipeg land company is near completion and under the terms of the agreement all land must be vacated by December 1, 1922. The holdings of the Mennonites in the Hague district comprise 8,000 acres. This deal is also entirely independent of the Mennonite colonies of Swift Current and Manitoba although these people have already contracted for the purchase of blocks of land in northern Mexico. When the trek of colony church men has been completed a total of 11,000 of these people will have left Canada for Mexico. An additional 1,000 will be affected by the move to South America, but it was pointed out they are not members of the old colony church.

It is estimated that the old colony church members leaving the west will take with them a total of some $14,000,000 in cash, or about $15,000 net each per family, on the average.

PROHIBITION IS SUCCESS IN ALL FOREIGN NATIONS

Dr. Charles Scanlon Talks to Work Prohibition Conference.

Drunken Man to Sober Man Is Compared With Drunken Nation to Sober Nation, He Says.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—More progress is being made along prohibition lines in Europe and other part of the world than is generally realized, Dr. Charles Scanlon of Pittsburgh, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Temperance and Moral Welfare, reported here last night to a world prohibition meeting.

The conference was called by the Prohibition party for consideration of the work of the World Prohibition Federation, of which Dr. Scanlon is international treasurer and president of its American branch. He has recently returned from Europe.

"Not only are the nations watching America, but they are organizing themselves into study groups of one kind or another to investigate the nature and effects of alcoholic beverages from many points of view as never before," Dr. Scanlon said.

Science, industry, commerce, law, religion, business, philanthropy and sociology are all making investigations, gathering data and comparing behavior to reach a conclusion as speedily as possible.

If American men cannot successfully compete with a sober man of equivalent status, there is a suspicion that prohibition nation cannot compete with a sober nation.

We must not fail to demonstrate to Scanlon added, that the sufficient and unequivocal solution of the liquor problem where prohibition has been enacted is to place men in authority who have the courage and the inclination and the ability to do what they are told and expect to be given men of this kind—a thoroughly sound and a healthy public sentiment, no question and every interlocutor will be a success.

"Misrepresentation, fiction and deliberate falsehood must not be allowed to deceive or mislead our European friends who are being guided largely by our experience."
