

THREE MUSKETEERS NEXT BIG FEATURE AT DELET THEATRE

Manager Jacobs to Follow This Week's Great Offering with Another Spectacular Thriller.

The first big special feature picture which Manager Jacobs will offer following the Delet comes to that popular playhouse the four days beginning Monday of next week. This will be Douglas Fairbanks in "The Three Musketeers," which is another unusual seven-shooting that is on a par with "Way Down East," the wonder-movie of P. W. Griffith, which concluded a wonderful run of four afternoons and night to packed houses.

Mr. Jacobs is offering the Escanaba public the very best pictures that money can buy.

Works On Largest Stage.

On the largest stage ever constructed, Douglas Fairbanks makes his celluloid version of Daniel Defoe's story "The Three Musketeers," prepared for the screen by Edouard Norden, and directed by Fred Niblo, who also directed Mr. Fairbanks in "The Mark of Zorro."

The first shots taken were of the actress' boudoir, the set for which was erected on Stage No. 1, which the largest movie theater stage ever built and which is located in Hollywood, Calif.

All of the famous players, so greatly confined, appeared in these scenes. They include Mary Pickford, the most popular actress of the day; Marguerite De La Motte, a famous actress; Lila Lee, star of silent films, and all the ladies.

Famous Sample Reproduced.

It is in the reproduction of the famous hole in the bladder which is impossible to make every protection and detail perfectly correct even to the point of the walls which was all hand painted with exactly the same paint.

That master bookbinder grinds up the walls of this noted chamber, both the leather, studio and the leather which was used in filming the greatest drama. Between seven thousand and one hundred sets were used in the casting picture, all of them exact counterparts of the original room and buildings they represent.

For action "The Three Musketeers" needs nothing Fairbanks has ever done. There are sixteen days left in one of which Fairbanks is to return and the three musketeers started eight trials.

405 Former Soldiers
File U. S. Claims

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 17.—Four hundred and ninety-five former soldiers of Michigan have filed claims for delayed compensation since the clean-up work of the United States Veterans' Bureau made a tour of the state it is announced by the bureau office located here.

During the 31-day tour 2,142 men were interviewed and 1,659 men given medical examinations. Two hundred and seven of these men were hospitalized.

In addition to those asking compensation 650 men in Michigan have filed for vocational training or the result of the work of the clean-up squads.

These new claims undoubtedly never would have been filed had it not been for the work of the bureau, the organization said. "These veterans who were entitled to government assistance, had failed to file claims because they lacked information as to the proper procedure. Many cases were discovered where men were suffering serious disabilities but were unaware that any benefits were offered the disabled by the government."

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEY'S ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their best to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the over-work, they get sluggish; the eliminative function is impaired and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidney, sides and back hurt you, and you have strong pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night, when you have severe headaches, nervous, and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach of indigestion, or bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Yeast Salts, take a tablet dissolved in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the yeast of grain, and in juice combined with lime, and has been used for generations to wash and stimulate clogged kidneys, to cleanse the body of uric acid, to give a source of irritation, to the kidney and bladder muscle. Yeast Salts is inexpensive and before, made a delicious gravy, like water, drink, and take a mustard bath, to help to keep the kidneys and settle.

Salts Salts are made from yeast which is being used by the women workers of the tobacco factory in Scotland.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Gray hair, however, has become quite a beauty spot. We all know the advantages of a good dyeing. Your hair is your charm. It makes a man's heart beat faster. When a lady turns gray, her color is created, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur restore its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't stay gray. Look young. Either get the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wendy's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is nearly the same as imported by this edition of other ingredients. Thousands of girls recommend this ready-to-use preparation because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You add two or three drops of oil with it, drawing it through the hair, taking one small strand at time. By evening the gray hair disappears, after another application, as its natural color is restored, and becomes thick, glossy and instead of you appear years younger.

MOTIONS TO QUASH INDICTMENTS FILED IN PRISON CASES

Prosecuting Attorney Has Not Filed Bills of Particulars in Marquette Prison Tangle.

On the ground that the prosecuting attorney failed to file bills of particulars within the time specified by the court, W. J. Sherwood has entered a motion before Judge Flanagan to dismiss indictments brought against John Stoenken, Albert Hornstein, Francis Russell, James L. Deacon and others before the grand jury which investigated Marquette prison affairs.

Answering Mr. Sherwood's arguments, the prosecutor told the court that because of press of other court business he had been unable to prepare bills of particulars in any case except that against Swan A. West.

Mr. Sherwood opposed continuation of former prison bookkeeper, charged with embezzlement of state funds.

Further arguments on Mr. Sherwood's motion to quash will be heard later in the term.

Mr. Sherwood also filed a motion to quash the indictment charging E. A. Macdonald with compounding a felony and asked that the case be brought to trial immediately if the motion is denied. This motion will be argued later in the week.

At the beginning of the term the prosecuting attorney announced that he was prepared for trial in the embezzlement case against Swan A. West and in the conspiracy case against E. A. Macdonald, but he asked that both cases be continued over the term because of the illness of Arthur R. Anderson, prison clerk, who was taken to the hospital for an appendicitis operation. Mr. Anderson, the prosecutor said, is a material witness.

Mr. Sherwood opposed continuation of the conspiracy case against Mr. Macdonald and asked that it be brought to trial immediately. The court decided that unless Mr. Anderson recovers in time, this case, as well as the West case, will be continued. It is improbable that Mr. Anderson will be able to appear as witness during this term.

The prosecutor announced that the governor of Illinois has refused to honor the request for the extradition of Frank C. Helm, of Chicago, named jointly with Mr. Macdonald in the conspiracy indictment. Mr. Helm is represented by Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney, who contended that the extradition proceedings

The Detroit hearings probably will be the last held by the commission.

During the remainder of the year the commission will continue to conduct hearings obtained thru correspondence and drafting a bill which will be presented to the 1923 legislature.

SOCIAL

YEOMEN CHOCOLATE DANCE

Thirty boxes of chocolate given away at the conclusion of the dancing party given by Delta Homestead No. 1284, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, at the North Star hall last night, was one of the novel, interesting and attractive features of the party. Each person entering the hall was presented with a nibbler and when the dance-was over, these nibblers were drawn, the lucky holders being awarded a box of fine chocolates.

Music was furnished by Mac's Entertainers and the affair was one of the most successfull given by the organization for several months. The result is that an old-fashioned dance is now being arranged to be held in the North Star hall the night of Feb. 21.

Members of the Harmony Club which was recently organized in the city, have arranged to give a dancing party in the Arcade hall Friday evening. Feb. 23rd. Leopards' eight-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

INTO THE HEREAFTER

A Chippewa Indian, reputed to be 137 years old, dies at Cass Lake, Minn. Was he the oldest American? Probably.

His name was Ga-Be-Nah-Gow-Won-ee. Translated that means Wrinkled Meat.

Would you trade your life for his?

He lived simply, close to nature. Never visited a city until he was 133. Then he took a trip to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago.

People who like jazz, folding beds, starched collars, hand lords and time clocks will say: "Shucks! We live more in a year than old Wrinkled Meat lived in his 137."

Wrinkled Meat, remembering the joys of outdoor life, would smile wisely.

Wrinkled Meat had been married eight times. But he never had a child. Finally, he adopted one. The parental instinct can't be downed. He knew the dull monotony of old age without children.

If he could have an heir, he undoubtedly would have traded 75 years of his life.

All life is a preface until we have children. Emerson, greatest American philosopher, said that: It is true.

Old Wrinkled Meat lived to see his people, the Red Indians, lose the vast country they once controlled from coast to coast.

Was providence gave the Indians a chance, then showed them off the state to make room for a civilization of production which, now solving slowly the problem of making a living in a few hours a day, is paving the way for civilization of intellectual research and spiritual culture to follow.

Wrinkled Meat also lived to see these miracles:

Men flying thru the air. Talking with each other by wire less 3,000 miles apart. Niagara Falls harnessed, the falling water lighting homes hundreds of miles away. Scientific farms where once the buffalo roamed. X-ray machines that make human bodies transparent. Moving pictures that play music and sing. Men claiming they'll soon talk to people on the stars.

Wrinkled Meat won't be believed when he arrives in the Happy Hunting Ground with such fairy stories about what the white man is doing with his magic in the land of the old-time Indian medicine man.

A true vision of life 137 years hence, in the year 2050, would be equally unbelievable to us of today.

RIGHT START NEEDED

Certain discouraging aspects of a recent current history test among high school students have given rise to a suspicion that the young people of the nation are better versed in the movies, sports and dancing than in the more solid, if less entertaining subjects that go to make up the store of information presumably possessed by educated persons.

A second current history test, undertaken, as was the first one, by the Institute for Public Service, seems to do away pretty largely with this suspicion. It is reported that the 20,000 students who took the test averaged only 46 per cent on a series of ten questions relating to baseball, football and the movies.

Thirty-five per cent of the boys did not know who won the world's series; 50 per cent could not give the total number of home runs achieved by Babe Ruth last season; and as for tennis, few knew anything at all about Mlle. Legrain, the French champion who blew up so spectacularly in her American contests last summer. Several thought she was a French chemist and others advanced the opinion that she was a representative of Japan at the peace conference.

Of 500 students in the senior year responding to the test, tabulation shows that more knew about De Valera, Briand, Lloyd George and Gen. Wood than were able to name the stars of some noted recent moving picture productions.

At the same time the results do not demonstrate any more than did the first test, that the students are as well posted on current history as they should be. The secretary of the institute says: "It has cost from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 in money and time to educate the 1,000 high school seniors, 150 of whom did not know the meaning of the open shop." Six hundred and ninety of them could not recognize a picture of Elijah Root; 400 did not know who H. G. Wells is." And he wants to know what it means.

As an offhand opinion, it might be ventured that the teachers are overlooking the basic element of the problem. Obviously the pupil must gain his knowledge of current events largely on his own account. The teacher can not read the newspapers to him or exhibit pictures of all the celebrities of the world whose faces appear in the newspapers. And the inference is that the pupils don't read the papers for themselves.

The periods devoted to current history, it would seem, can be made by an earnest teacher so interesting and the importance and necessity of information on these topics so definitely impressed, that the pupils will be inspired to avail themselves of the sources of information which are at everybody's hand. But they must be given the right start.

A FLAMING ARGUMENT

When a gas torch exploded on the roof of the treasury building in Washington the other day, it set fire to a barrel of tar and the tar set fire to the building. About $25,000 damage was done, but that was not the most significant result of the blaze. The treasury department wanted to buy a lot in any convenient, inconspicuous place and put up a plain fire-proof building to hold documents that are now stored in all sorts of unsuitable corners. The house has passed the appropriation, but the senate had thrown it out to save money. Then came the fire showing what might happen to irreplaceable and precious records. Now the appropriation for a fire-proof record building is in the hands of the president.

ing considered by the state administrative board, calls for 612 miles of state trunk lines at a total estimated cost of $8,121,652 and 322 miles of federal aid roads at a total estimated cost of $6,257,973. The state pays about 80 per cent of the cost of state trunk lines and 30 per cent of the federal aid roads. It is estimated that the program will require the expenditure of a total $16,800,000 of the state's bond money this year for highways and the remaining $1,500,000 for bridges.

FARMERS TOLD TO RAISE LIGHT HOGS

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 17.—"Farmers would do well to produce hogs weighing from 150 to 200 pounds and abandon the practice of raising animals that lie the scales at from 250 to 300 pounds, and resemble a barrel of fat packed in four tubepicks," according to a committee of the City Farmer Club, which has just completed an extensive survey of hog raising in this state. The club is made up Detroit business and professional men who operate farms. The committee that is investigating hog raising concluded, George Ferkel, manager of the Detroit Water Board; George W. Dickinson, manager of the Michigan State Fair and Henry Bissell, railroad manufacturer.

The committee after studying a mass of statistics and opinions gathered during the survey, reached the conclusion that the Duroc Jersey and the Berkshire are the breeds most adaptable to the state. The opinions of leading bankers as well as farmers were polled by the committee. The most profitable method of raising pigs for market, the committee report says, is to mature them rapidly and to strive to profitably to rent or lease. These characteristics are most prominent in the small pig, the report says.

Thomas E. Norton, president of a local packing company, summed up the feelings of other packers. The report notes, when he delivered meat and amount finished hogs were used in demand because such animals afford higher percentage of lean meat.

Buyers and packers, generally, prefered for a particular year of breed, but deviation in development that has sold more readily and brought higher prices when the hams are cut in size, cuts and such.

The committee's report upholds the opinion that it is unwise for producers to have their neighbors largely produce and breed, because it causes cooperatives on individual or large lots to be unable to obtain uniformity. The advantages of interbreeding stock within the community itself are pointed out.

In 1921, Mr. Rogers stated, there is no legal state tax on personal property in addition to the state share of the money received from the dealers of automobiles, $2,202,503. This caused a state highway tax of 10 cents per $1,000. In 1922 the state highway commission reported to the legislature that on account of bond money being available, no state tax for highway purposes would be necessary. No money was appropriated for construction purposes and the legislature provided for the spending of a tax of $1,250,000 in the fall of 1921 to pay interest on state highway bonds and amounts being paid for those retirement. This being the only state highway tax levied in 1921, the rate per thousand on the new state equalized valuation of $5,000,000 was only 25 cents or a little less than half of the state highway tax levied in 1920.

The Bond Proposition

Speaking of the highway bond issue outstanding, the commissioner asserts 18 cents are drawing more than five and one half per cent, that nine bonds are premium, and that the state has done much better with its highway bonds than with the soldier bonds issued.

The Covert road act, Mr. Rogers said, probably has been a hardship in some communities. It has been used so extensively, he declared, that the state department has been compelled to ask some counties to restrict their local work under the provisions of the act. If the Covert act were to be repealed, however, he would recommend that those features that allow a combination of state and federal aid to build important local roads in cooperation with the local property owners be retained.

The large appropriations made by the 1921 legislature for expenditures on state reward roads in 1922 and 1923 totaling $1,250,000 for each year are as large as have ever been required in a single year before, the commissioner said. He pointed out, however, that during the present fiscal year counties and townships have built upwards of 3,000 miles of road on which more than $1,250,000 have been earned in rewards.

Not Enough Money

This is about four times as much road as there were funds to pay rewards with, and largely was due to the increased activities under the Covert act, Mr. Rogers stated.

Under the provisions of the trunk line federal aid and bonding acts, the commissioner declared, the state has placed under construction 1,242 miles of state trunk line road at a total contract price of $29,320,517, and 485 miles of federal aid road at a total contract price of $15,491,756. Of course, 1,247 miles of road were completed January 1, 1922. It should be noted, he said, that the entire bond money available prior to July 1, 1921, $20,000,000 was expended on these roads.

The 1922 bonding program, now be-

WOULD LIMIT TAX ON REAL ESTATE

State-Wide Campaign to Be Launched and Hope of Legislation Is Being Entertained.

(By Associated Press)

PONT HURON, Mich., Feb. 17.—"Limit the tax upon real estate" is to be the slogan of a state-wide campaign opened here today when J. C. Battell, (left), executive secretary of the Michigan Real Estate Association, spoke before local Rotarians and realtors. The Association hopes the slogan will be carried into realization through legislative enactment in 1923, the speaker said.

"Local home owners, renters and business men today are suffering from the taxes levied against land," the speaker said. "The whole state recognizes that the burden may be lessened. There is only one way in which permanent relief may be given, and that is the creation by state law of a maximum rate which may be levied. We recommend that the rate be two per cent on land and one per cent on buildings."

Some propose to lessen real estate taxes by creating new sources of revenue. If we may judge by the experiences of other states we must conclude that this plan promises meager success. During fifteen or twenty millions of dollars into our state treasury by distributing it among our state, county, township and municipal treasuries and it will be consumed so quickly that it will be scarcely noticed.

We shall ask that the 1923 legislature place a limit upon the rate which may be levied against land. Let future needs of government be met from other sources of revenue but not a dollar be raised before it is required.

Mohammedan women may not, according to the Koran permit their faces to be seen by any man save their fathers, husbands sons or other close blood relatives.
