

TWO ARRESTS MADE IN TAYLOR MURDER

POLICE HOLD NAMES SECRET PENDING PROBE

Woman Heard Men Threaten to Take Taylor's Life.

Suspects Are Members of a Bootlegger Outfit and Taylor Was Interfering With "Business."

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 28.—

Two men were taken into custody by the police today and were held for investigation in connection with the slaying of William Diamond Taylor, the motion picture director, at Los Angeles here on February 4.

The men, whose names have been withheld by the police, were said to have been members of a "bootlegger gang" which carried on extensive operations in the Hollywood district.

Officers were seeking the third member of the gang who escaped from the town in which the two were arrested. According to the police the men were sought as possible suspects in the case following the story told to an officer by a woman, also said to have been a member of the alleged gang.

This woman, whose name is withheld, told the police, they said, that she had heard the men threaten to take Taylor's life because they feared he was interfering with their "business."

The authorities refused to divulge further information, pending the apprehension of the third man.

To Sell Parsonage of Swedish Lutheran Church March 15th

The parsonage of the Swedish Lutheran church at 176 South Eleventh street, is being offered for sale. Offers will be received up to March 15th and the best offer will be accepted.

The house first to be moved from its present location during the early part of spring in order to make room for the new parsonage, which is to be erected on the lot during the coming summer.

It is probable that a large number of bids will be received, as the present parsonage is a fine, desirable building and the purchase is most desirable to get a big bargain on the house situated in one of the best locations in the city to be developed in the near future.

TWO FIRES IN SAME HOUSE LAST NIGHT; DAMAGE WAS HEAVY

Department Called to Legan Home On Seventh Street at 10 P. M. and Again at 3 A. M.

THE HOUSE OF ADOLF BEHRIG, 119 North Seventh street, was the scene of a double fire last night, which resulted in great damage to the building and its contents.

Mr. Legan and Miss Mabel were in the house about 8 o'clock in the evening and when everything was all right they went to bed. At about 10:30 the front room of the place was discovered to be burning by a passerby and an alarm was sent in. The department responded and succeeded in subduing the flames in a short time, although the house was badly smoked and the furnishings destroyed. Messrs. Legan and Mabel had arrived and the department made sure that it had extinguished the last vestige of the fire before departing.

The owner of the property went to Legan about midnight and about 2 o'clock the morning was back in the house to see if everything was all right. The house smoked so at a hotel at night and he left for the purpose of taking a morning walk. At 7 o'clock the morning another call was sent in for the fire department and on this occasion it was found that the fire had broken out in the kitchen. The fire was quickly extinguished and the damage to the house itself was considerable.

The cause of the fire is not known. It is believed the fire started from an overloaded stove.

Urges Less Hats and Better Furniture

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—American women would spend as much time as they would buying furniture as they do buying hats, according to a survey by the American Home.

Such was the conclusion of Richard J. Fenwick, director of the American Home, in a report on the consumption of the American Home, published in the Bulletin of the American Home.

The American home is fast becoming a more important factor in the lives of women, and it is being urged that they should spend the same amount of time on buying something for her own home as they do on buying hats. The survey shows that women spend an average of 140 to 150 for a hat, but only 100 for a piece of furniture.

COVERT HIGHWAY LAW TO RECEIVE GREAT ATTENTION

It Is One of Important Issues to Come Before the State Legislature

(By Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., Feb. 28.—One of the important issues expected to come before the next session of the state legislature will be the question of repealing the covert highway law that has been in operation in Michigan several years. Considerable opposition to the present law has been voiced by farmers' organizations in many parts of the state and an effort is expected by those in close touch with the situation.

The law provides local roads may be built by assessing lands within a given distance of the highway. In many cases assessments in the law say that are required to persons holding property on the road, while lands more located some distance away from the road who in reality derive no real benefit, are taxed to their advantage to use some other road.

The bill has been, those opponents say to cause this class of farmers to decide upon improving the roads they do use and raising another group not directly benefited to help pay the bill.

A bill of consequence, according to those seeking repeal or modification of the law, the many highways have been built in one year under the law and advantages have been the outcome. Highway Commissioner Frank Rogers has not taken sides in the controversy although he has announced some sections of the state have been added to allocation plans for further covert roads for a time. It is known Mr. Rogers does not favor repeal of the law, but that he favors modification to permit retention of the good features of the bill. The proposed modification would consist of greater state aid and perhaps in help from the federal government. This stand is taken on the grounds that improved roads are a benefit to the state at large as well as to landowners in the immediate vicinity.

Woman Sheriff Says She's No Wander and Dislikes Publicity

(By Associated Press) WASHKON, Mich., Feb. 28.—Miss Marie Martindale, sheriff of Alcona county, says she is not a wander, but she is a publicity seeker. She has been subjected to much publicity in connection with the slaying near here recently of a county school teacher.

When the body of Jess Nakomani was found in her lonely schoolhouse near Boreham, 18 miles north of Washkon, Sheriff Martindale's deputies started in search of the slayer which resulted after a long search in the capture of Jack Thrust, a neighbor of the murdered teacher. He was brought back to the county jail here.

From the moment of Thrust's arrest, through his trial and after his sentence, Mrs. Martindale has been a publicity seeker. She has gathered too much publicity about the slaying and her role as being the principal actor in the trial and after responsible for the speedy arrest of the slayer.

Among other things, Mrs. Martindale denies published accounts that she followed the bloodhounds and night trailing through the woods.

That she saved the prisoner from mob violence.

That she plans to swing the trap when Thrust is hanged.

Mrs. Martindale declares that she never fired a revolver in her life. She declares that newspapers have overlooked the manner in which she became sheriff and are broadcasting the hope that she is a stern enforcer of the law.

Mrs. Martindale's husband was elected sheriff. He died in office. The county board of supervisors decided to name Mrs. Martindale sheriff and draw the salary of the office until January 1, 1932, the time her husband's term would have expired.

Being named sheriff, says Mrs. Martindale, has not caused her to take any active part in the capture of criminals. She continues to care for her children and the duties handle the outside work connected with the office.

Mrs. Martindale says she will not be a candidate for election this fall. The job of sheriff, she declared, belongs to a man.

City Council Will Meet Wednesday to Clean Up Business

The city council will meet Wednesday to clean up business. The council will discuss various matters related to the city's operations and finances.

What Do You Think About It?

The following are copies of letters which were written by pupils of the Eighth Grade as part of their English work in the schools:

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 29. 25 Chamber of Commerce, Escanaba, Mich.

My dear Sirs: The City of Escanaba would be greatly benefited if it built docks on the city waterfront because passing boats would come in and increase the population and make the property more valuable. The people would then build better houses.

Freight boats would come in and make better trade. Large warehouses could be built and a beautiful dock could be made there.

As for the price, $21,500 it could easily be raised by the citizens of Escanaba. I for one would be very glad to help to see a dock built there and boats coming in and going out.

Respectfully yours, HENDER JOHNSON

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 29, 25 Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, Escanaba, Michigan.

My dear Sirs: The City of Escanaba would be greatly benefited if it would buy the strip of land adjoining the lower end of Ludlow street. It could be made into a park, which would beautify the City of Escanaba and also a dock to attract the harbor.

The end of the land is large and would bring good returns as far as the dock is concerned. All boats, both small and large would be saved going in by the length of time they stayed in the harbor. The more for the money that is paid at the dock would also bring in good returns.

When the dock would not be built a losing proposition, it would be well for the City of Escanaba to buy this strip of land. Because for the past several years it has been a disgrace to the city.

The proposition could also be raised. Yours very truly, MOLA HENDON

A. J. Young Leads All Northwestern Mutual Agents For January

A. J. Young, local agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, today received information that he had done something out of the ordinary. This is because the company sold out a leader in the Northwestern Mutual life insurance business in the month of January. Mr. Young's good fortune in 1932 is the best of agents in the United States in the number of lives insured during the month.

This came entirely unexpected to Mr. Young. He stated that he knew he had a good month's business but had never given a thought to the possibility of his leading the list. C. E. Albright of Milwaukee led in the amount of insurance written during the month.

All of this business, Mr. Young stated, was written in Escanaba and a few policies were placed in Gladwin. Considering the limited scope of his territory and the fact that he has not had special efforts, his placing first place over all the company's agents in the country, is an honor which he deeply appreciates.

MICHIGAN TRYING TO DO COMEBACK

Seeks to Regain Prominence as Best Fruit Growing State in the Union.

(By Associated Press) DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 28.—Michigan is destined to resume its place as the chief fruit raising state in the country a position lost several years ago because the growers failed to take proper care of their orchards according to U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Hingham, a fruit grower in the Detroit district, expressed the opinion that Michigan would be required to get Michigan orchards back on the front rank, but asserted this eventually would be done, because the Michigan farmers have learned their lesson.

Old Orchard Day. Practically all the old orchards in the state are now being replanted. The orchards of the state are being replanted with new trees and the orchards that are being replanted are being replanted with new trees.

Mr. Hingham declared if Michigan was "back on its feet" as a result of the orchard replanting program, it would be able to compete with the other fruit raising states in the country.

Church of England Can't Find Enough Men to Fill Pulpits

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Bishop of Durham says the Church of England cannot find ministers enough to fill its pulpits. The number of men annually ordained since the war has been less than one-third of those annually ordained before the war.

Because of the poverty in which so many of the clergy have been reduced by the war, many parents have come to regard the church as providing a stable career for their sons.

The church will meet its requirements, the Bishop said, it would have to make way for democracy. The last vestige of caste and class distinction should disappear from the ministry and education should be a

AN IMPRACTICAL PLAN

More and more do those who seek to rectify existing evils turn to the idea of making the government the dry nurse of the citizens.

Whatever evil seems to be threatening the welfare of the nation, whether it is in the form of taxation, impost, play, together with the idea of what not, some heaven sent genius is always ready with a suggested law enabling the government to step in and protect the innocent citizen from the wiles of the wicked.

Now it is the wild out security and evils of this character from which the government is to safeguard its citizenry.

District Attorney Barlow, whose equipment against the bootleggers in New York has stirred up a pretty fair amount of excitement, is the proponent of the new plan. He suggests that a federal law be enacted forbidding the use of the mails to market or offer for sale, and security until after a thorough investigation by the postoffice department, if it is found to be sound.

In the first place such a statute would impose on the postal department a direct and practically impossible task. The thousands of securities in circulation in this country are not able to agree. Investors of seasonal investment and the numerous other securities in their portfolios are equally hard to deal with. And an investment which in the hands of one man proves a complete failure, might, if handled by another man, result in profit to himself and his associates.

It is easy to see how official investigators, even if it were practicable to subject all forms of alleged investments to their scrutiny, might work serious injustice and damage to legitimate investment propositions.

And to perform the suggested functions with maximum efficiency would require the creation of an ideal, complex and tremendously costly machine that it would prove a burden and a hardship on the people who would have to support it. Add to this the tax burden of the country to protect a relatively small number of folk who would use enough to take care of their money does not seem to be the part of wisdom, allowing as it may be to the continued distrust and loss of faith in any law.

The government and the states have laws fairly effective against the promoters and bootleg operators. They are not enforced, however, against the individuals who are the fraud, swindling and confidence operators. These are not easily proper. But establishing a costly and complex system to pass on all investment securities in the country, that thereby the fool and his money can be protected from parting company is one of those benevolent visions which make the practical citizen fret.

BE WEARY, CONSULT YOUR BANKER

Old P. T. Barnum was right. Every day some big snake comes to field and the people are again "amazed" to learn that thousands have been cleverly duped.

Raymond Bisehoff, under arrest in Chicago, admits he got $1,500,000, mostly from Chicago stock and employees, but he insists that he is not a fraud or swindler. That he was carrying on a "legitimate business" and would still be in business instead of in jail, had it not been for the "benches" of a "revoked" rival.

Bisehoff, known as the "Windy City" "Ponzi," says he "invested" other people's money, and netted them fifty per cent. His rival, he says, then started to pay no more on the 100 per cent.

Chicago's police say that Bisehoff's victims stand to lose altogether the huge total of $7,500,000.

One would think that the very size of the "return" promised anywhere from sixty to 100 per cent, surely ought to frighten sensible men and women away from speculators of this kind, but the facts do not show this to be the case. More than 3,000, among them many credited by their friends and associates with knowing better, fell victims to this Chicago south's alluring bait.

"A sucker is born every minute," Barnum is said to have coined that phrase. He was a great student of human nature, of course, and he knew, even in his day, as in the days of his father and his father's father, there were always people seeking something for nothing, just as they are today. But since Barnum's day it would appear that the sucker list is growing with such rapidity that one a minute is not enough; the percentage is much greater than that.

It's the old game of "put and take." The suckers "put" and the sharpers "take."

A safe plan to follow before turning over your money to some concern or person on the promise of big returns on your investment, is to consult your banker much like you would consult your own physician if you were ill.

Just be weary!

A DESPERATE AMBITION

To bring the name of Florida to the fore at all costs is the frame of mind of her citizens. Thus, they feel, W. J. Bryant will do, because in the senate he will do a lot of talking, and "the senator from Florida" will appear frequently in the news columns.

The United States some time ago had a secretary of state who appeared not only in the news columns, but on the champagne circuit along side of other circus attractions. All of which brought the name of the United States so pleasantly to the fore, that his resignation was welcomed with a sigh of relief.

If Emma Goldman succeeds in her attempts to break into Germany, it's going to be mighty hard not to sympathize with our former enemy.

THE SISSY

Dear Friend,
Once there was a boy
Who his trams
Called him
William
And so did
Everybody else
For he was such an
Awfully nice boy
He didn't get
His clothes dirty
Because
He wouldn't
Play rough
And he kept his
Hair parted
All the time
He could play the piano
But couldn't
Play Ball
He could climb scales
But couldn't
Climb trees
He knew how to Dance
But didn't know how
To run
And yet he was Going to be
Twenty one years old
Some day
And Vote
He was a class
Jack because
He didn't have A Real Friend
Who was A Real Man
Who'd
Take him to
A Real Boy
Now wasn't that
You had?

GIRLS MEN MARRY

By Laurel Gray

Men marry "PRUDENT" girls. Few men deceive themselves that they are prudent. Prudence is a feminine ideal. Prudent men like to fancy themselves as good fellows and prudence is put on speaking terms with good fellowship. At least men seem to admit it. A prudent girl will never set the world after her, but men deliberately seek for a bright, talkative, and a companion for life. If he happens to be an ex-fighter he joins the fire department and wears a red shirt and gets paid for it. The prudent girl is an anchor to the windward. Men are not such great fools but what they are not, they realize themselves to be natural drifters. A prudent girl holds the ship head on.

PRINCESS MARY TO BECOME BRIDE OF VISCOUNT TODAY

Loves Country Life and Is Never Happier than When Playing With Children of Her Friends

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Princess Mary, who will today become the bride of Viscount Lascelles, is perhaps better known to most than her mother, the Queen, because of her popularity with children. Princess Mary's royal title was awarded after the war because of her services to the children of London.

According to official reports, Princess Mary's character is her chief asset. Her heart is not in a social career, although she is full of it, but her devotedness to her duties has been the reputation of her life.

Princess Mary's first marriage was to the Duke of York, but she was widowed in 1914. She then married Viscount Lascelles, a member of the House of Commons.

Princess Mary is a devoted mother and a devoted friend. She is always ready to help those in need, and she is always ready to play with the children of her friends.

SLAVE GIRL WEDS JAP. MILLIONAIRE

Twenty years ago, while on her way to school, a little Japanese girl was kidnapped and carried off into slavery. She was rescued a short time ago by a Japanese lumber king who has decided to make her his wife. It was while on a visit to China that the wealthy Mr. Fukuda came upon the girl. At Antung, the great Chinese lumber market, he was invited to witness a performance of itinerant Chinese players. The girl was among the performers, and the millionaire, when she appeared, fell convinced that she was a Japanese. He sought her out next day, when the girl told him the whole story. Mr. Fukuda related the aid of the Japanese Consul, who soon secured the girl's release. The romance ended happily when she was returned to her parents and, some time later, the betrothal was announced. This romance of the Far East is at most outside by the life-story of Viscount Takahashi, who has accepted the Presidency of Japan. He was born in 1854 and in 1887 was sent to America to be educated. Misfortune dogged him, and he fell into the hands of a slave gang who kept him in captivity for some months. The following year he succeeded in returning to Japan, and in 1891 entered the public service.

Stamp Collection Is Russ Monopoly

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—Stamp collecting is to be a government monopoly in Russia. The Council of Commissars has announced the creation of a special postal department which will have in charge for the benefit of the government fund. A system has been invented in which the introduction of rubber into the market will give it a high tensile strength.

The pitter of rain on a cottage roof is a sound that I love full well. And I love the breeze of an autumn day.

And the swallows' leafy smell, I love the smell of a pasture land. Where the grasses make the mist. And I love the orchard fruit that grows.

To I think where the sun has gleamed. INVITING CULINARY DISHES.

At this season of the year when celery is grown in so many gardens. It may be a frequent dish in many forms and combinations, as soup there is none more popular than:

Cream of Celery Soup. Take two cupsful of minced celery cooked in a pint of water until tender, put through a paper strainer, adding the liquor to which it was cooked. Scald one quart of milk with a slice of onion, remove the onion and add two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour mixed together. Cook all together until the flour has been well cooked, then season and serve very hot.

Celery may be found present in the best salads, adding flavor, bulk and vegetable acids, so wholesome for the body. Creamy cheese mixed with finely minced celery served on lettuce with French dressing is another good one.

Luncheon Dish.—Take two cupsful of cooked celery, put a layer in a buttered baking dish, add a layer of thick white sauce, then a sprinkling of cheese and another layer of celery; finish with a layer of white-sauce and cover with buttered croutons. Bake until the crumbs are brown.

Celery Fritters.—Take stalks of celery three inches long, cook until tender, drain, dip in batter and fry in deep fat. Celery served crisp and white as a fresh vegetable is one of its attractive and most popular ways of serving. The short tender stalks stuffed with lightly seasoned cream cheese may be served as a relish.

Fringed celery makes a very pretty garnish to use on a salad. Cut the celery into two and one-half inch lengths and slit up to within a quarter of an inch at both ends, drop into reticulated water and let stand in current. Drain dry and use around the edge of a platter or salad bowl with radish, tulips in between each piece of celery.

FREIGHT RATES IN STATE MAY ALL BE REVISED SHORTLY

Four Important Cases Pending Before State Body Likely to Have Beneficial Affect.

(By Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., Feb. 22.—Four important freight rate cases pending before the state public utility commission...

The petitioners in all of the cases claim that Michigan is being discriminated against in the matter of rates. They allege that tariffs are higher in this state than in contiguous territories...

The cases involving rates charged by the Michigan Traffic League, asking for a general rate revision, the Michigan Manufacturers' League, petitioning for a similar general reduction...

Twin Petition The Traffic League also is a twin petition presented to the interstate commerce commission and the state commission.

The Michigan Manufacturers' Association and the Michigan Traffic League cases are supported by a number of commercial and civic organizations. It is claimed by the railroad that there will be much duplication of the Traffic League Manufacturers' Association and farm rates cases...

In recent preliminary hearings on the farm rate case the railroad contended that they believed the farmers of the state should be required to show that rates in this state are unjust and discriminatory...

All State Institutions Have 14,017 Inmates At End of January

(By Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., Feb. 22.—A report submitted to the state administrative board today by Mari F. Marra, director of the state welfare department, shows an inmate population of 14,017 in state institutions at the end of January, as compared with 12,790 at the beginning of the month.

The report shows 5,669 inmates are employed. Thirty-one escapes were recorded from all institutions during the month.

The average population for inmates in the various institutions was as follows: Kalamazoo State Hospital, 2,268; Pontiac State Hospital, 1,374; Traverse City State Hospital, 1,875; Newberry State Hospital, 1,976; Jones State Hospital, 550; Farm Colony for Epileptics, 63; Michigan Home and Training School, 1,678; Jackson Prison, 1,642; Ionia Reformatory, 759; Marquette Prison, 418; Industrial School for Boys, 438; Industrial Home for Girls, 275; State Public School, 117; School for Deaf, 275; School for Blind, 156; Employment Institution for the Blind, 72.

MACHINE GUNS QUELL STRIKE RIOTERS—State Guardsmen with machine guns have quelled the strike at Natick, R. I., where strikers have attacked several of the mills. At this vantage point of the Knight mills the Guardsmen were able to disperse the attacking strikers.

gan Hines and Training School is shown. A few numbers on the walling list was more than 400, but it has been reduced by the transfer of the welfare department of placing children in suitable homes wherever possible.

During January 539 inmates were received in all institutions. Three hundred and twenty of these were first admissions—fifty fewer first admissions than in December.

State School Head Urges Retrenchment (By Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., Feb. 22.—Although conserving suggested retrenchments in other state departments, Superintendent of Public Instruction Thomas H. Johnson, in a letter sent to public school officials today, urged that they seek the proper type of publicity to make every citizen understand that the schools could not do their work and save their costs reduced.

In answer to the question, "are the people in Michigan too highly taxed for school purposes?" the letter reads: "The people of this state are properly endeavoring to accomplish retrenchment in public costs. On the other hand they thoroughly believe in education, and want to guarantee the very type of training for their boys and girls. Our problem is one of proper publicity. To that end I am suggesting that school budgets be carefully prepared and that a type of publicity be used that will bring a thorough understanding of our needs to every citizen of the community."

We have great hopes that the state will rapidly meet retrenchment in all and believe that they should be enabled as far as possible to coordinate duplication and needless wastefulness.

GRANT'S BIRTHDAY WILL BE OBSERVED

President Harding to Speak at Unveiling of Monument in Ohio Birthplace.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Ulysses S. Grant will be observed throughout the country on April 27.

President Harding has promised to speak at the unveiling of a tablet at the great Union general's birthplace, Point Pleasant, Ohio, and on the same day the Grant Memorial which has been on many years in course of construction at the base of the capitol in Washington will be dedicated with suitable ceremonies.

The movement for the hundredth birthday anniversary celebration was set in motion at the fifty-fifth anniversary of the death of the "Grand Army of the Republic" at Indianapolis last September.

An executive committee headed by Colonel Thomas S. Hopkins of Washington was appointed by Lewis S. Fletcher, commander-in-chief of a national committee of arrangements was created. It is headed by President Harding as honorary chairman. Among the honorary vice-chairmen are Vice-President Coolidge, Speaker Gillette, Chief Justice Taft, Secretaries Weeks and Dundy, General DeWitt, Senators Nelson and Warren, Representatives Osborn and Yates, Governors Davis of Ohio and Miller of New York and the head of women's organizations related to the Grant Army, as well as General Miles, Commander-in-Chief of the U.S. American Legion, and Harbord MacNider, national commander of the American Legion.

Odd Coincidence Grant's birthday anniversary comes almost the fifty-seventh anniversary of General Lee's surrender at Appomattox which took place on April 9, 1865. At the close of the Civil War, Grant's name was more frequently on the lips of the people than that of any other American, unless it was Lincoln. In 1865 he became President and was re-elected to a second term. So his name continued to be before the people. After retiring from the presidency in 1877 he was for a time less in the public eye, but he still was a favorite. His unfortunate business ventures some years later, caused the sympathy and concern of his friends. It was known that he was reduced almost to poverty. Then followed the illness from the great disease of which he died, even now.

When Grant began the preparation of his memoirs, he told all of his friends known he was hoping that, when published, they would contain a full and complete record of his life. His subjects increased as he worked on and at last, it became a task between him and death, while making his memoirs and waiting to publish them. Grand completed the work. That accomplished, he welcomed the relief from his suffering, that soon came.

Devoted to Memory. That was nearly thirty-seven years ago. Other men have governed, but none have arisen and commanded the attention of the people and thus the Grant have not faded to prominence with the people as they did forty or fifty years ago.

During the more than half a century those veterans who served under him and who loved him, have never wavered in their devotion to his memory. The veterans of the Civil War are fast disappearing. In a few years there will be none left. But old and feeble though they may be, the memory of the name of their leader still fills their martial spirit and awakens their memories.

King Brothers Buy Billiard Hall and May Open a Gym Henry and Al King, well known figures, known in sporting circles in this city, have concluded a deal whereby they have possession of the Wallington billiard hall on Lexington street. The place is being renovated, repaired and generally put in ship-shape condition.

The new proprietors have made tentative plans for installing a gymnasium for local athletes, which, according to reports, may have the opportunity to train under proper conditions, but the arrangement is far the future and depends upon the local support of the business.
