

DAYLIGHT BOMB THROWING IN IRELAND

FOUR KILLED; MANY INJURED; SOME MASKED

Unusual Experience of Rioting in Belfast Is Seen.

Soldiers and Royal Irish Constabulary Attacked With Hand Grenades by Masked Men.

Belfast, Ireland, Mar. 16—Belfast had the unusual experience today of daylight bomb throwing which resulted in the injury of 12 persons, some of whom were seriously hurt. No deaths have been reported.

A grenade was thrown at the noon hour into a church yard in the Ballymacarra district where soldiers are stationed. Two other grenades were thrown in the Seafort area and it was here that all the other casualties occurred. Two sergeants were killed who were members of the Royal Irish constabulary.

Four men in disguise entered the St. Bride's home last night and shot and killed Sergeant Gibbon and Sergeant Gilmartin and seriously wounded a constable. Two of the masked men entered the work house jail and killed another of the guards.

Grain Stocks Carried Over from Last Year Showing a Decrease

LANSING, Mich., Mar. 16—Grain stocks on farms of the state held over from last year's crops average less than a year ago at this time, according to a joint report by Verne H. Church, of the federal-state bureau of farm crop estimates and H. H. Halday of the state department of agriculture. Corn is the single exception, the crop harvested last season being larger than normal.

The report estimates that one third of the corn crop went into silos. Of the two thirds harvested as grain about 16,383,000 bushels remain on the farms. This represents 37 per cent of a crop—a higher percentage, with two exceptions than any previous year. The crop has been fed liberally but not as much stock has been carried over on feed this winter as usual.

The per cent of the wheat crop remaining on farms is estimated at 23 or about 3,237,000 bushels. This is five per cent lower than last year, owing to the necessity in the case of many farmers, for selling their stocks to raise ready money.

It is estimated 38 per cent to the oat crop, two per cent less than last year, remains on the farms. A very light crop was harvested and this percentage represents only about 10,678,000 bushels, against a stock of 27,068,000 bushels a year ago.

Barley stocks on the farm aggregate about 1,969,000 bushels, against 1,872,000 bushels a year ago.

Caledonia Mills Refuses to Part With the "Ghost"

HALIFAX, N. S., Mar. 16—While Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, the New York scientist and slayer of ghosts is satisfied that the demonstrations about the Antogomish home of Alexander McDonald are the work of the younger members of the McDonald family, the residents about Caledonia Mills are not satisfied with the explanation and are not anxious to lose the "ghost" and are more than reluctant to accept the theory advanced by the scientist that "there is nothing to it."

With scowling heads the population are classing as "absurd" the explanation of the scientist.

Clothing Caught by Big Belt and Was Whirled About Shafting Several Times.

Marvin Johnson, 620 South Fourteenth street, had a thrilling experience just about noon today, as the result of which he will be confined to his home for a long period. Mr. Johnson is really fortunate in being alive, it is explained by those who witnessed the accident he suffered while engaged at his work in the Pulp mill of the Escanaba Paper company.

He passed too close to a big belt and his clothing was caught in such a manner as to draw him into the belt and revolve him several times about the shafting before the machinery could be stopped.

His clothing was torn to tatters and he was dropped to the floor a limp mass. Workmen rushed to his aid and found him in an unconscious condition. Dr. J. J. Walsh was summoned and Richer's ambulance called and Mr. Johnson removed to St. Francis' hospital after first and had been administered at this mill.

His right shoulder is broken and his legs and body are terribly bruised and lacerated, although no internal injuries have developed and no other bones are broken.

It was a frightful experience and those who witnessed it were almost paralyzed with horror while the man's body was whirled about the shaft.

Five Conversations Over One Pair Wires Is Now a Possibility

DETROIT, Mich., Mar. 16—Five simultaneous telephone conversations over a single pair of wires, reaching from Detroit to Chicago now is possible thru installation of carrier current apparatus at Jackson, it is announced by Frank C. Kahn, president of the Michigan State Telephone company. The system known as "carrier multiple telephony," also permits the carrying of several telegraph communications over the same single set of wires while the telephone conversations are in progress.

The methods by which the multiple system are employed are explained in the following statement issued by the company:

"In ordinary telephony, the voice sets up minute electrical ripples or waves, which for any one voice are a mixture of various vibrations of from 200 to 2,000 a second. If two or more persons talk into ordinary transmitters, their voices, jumbled, can be heard in any receiver connected to the circuit. The problem of transmitting several voices simultaneously over a circuit involves the setting up of electrical voice waves in such a manner that they can be completely separated and diverted to individual receivers.

"This is accomplished by means of electrical filters connected to the circuit, each filter being so constructed that only currents of a particular frequency range can pass. The process is similar to that of sliding a mixture of various sized grains of sand over various sized sifters, the result being separation of the grains into groups of grain sizes, each within limits of or conformity determined by the size of the holes in the various sifters."

SOUTH AFRICA MINERS STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Revolution Against the Government Not Proven.

Order Said to Have Been Completely Restored in Districts Most Affected.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, March 16—The Union of South Africa strike of miners which has held up business for more than two months has been called off.

The decision was taken by the old South African Federation and distinguished from the Federation of Executives. It was announced first that the general strike was null and void; second, that the augmented executives would call off the mine strike.

Complicity in the revolution against the government was repudiated by the federation.

Order has been completely restored. The police declared today that they had plenty of evidence to show that a Bolshevik plot was responsible for the revolution. These revelations will be astounding, when they are made public.

The government officials declare the prisoners which now exceed 6000 and that those among them who are responsible for many outrages will be dealt with.

The railway men have returned to work.

County Commissioner of Schools, C. U. Woolpert, is in receipt of a warning letter from Thomas E. Johnson, state superintendent of instruction, informing him to be on the lookout for a man or two men, who are reported to be in this section of the country, buncing district school boards.

Mr. Johnson's letter follows:

"My dear Commissioner:

"A man who has been using the name of A. J. Lawrence has been making a business of canvassing school districts, selling supplies and apparatus, and securing warrants in advance, discounting the warrants, and then leaving without making any deliveries.

"His father and he both have worked through Mississippi, Oklahoma, and Missouri. The son, A. J., broke jail in St. Louis, February 6th and stated he was going to Indiana or Michigan. If you get any track of any person or are at all suspicious of anyone working in your county notify Thomas M. Saxton, Prosecuting Attorney, Neosho, Missouri.

"Cordially yours,
T. E. Johnson."

GRAND OPERA SINGER CANS COSTLY HUSBAND

St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 16—Mme. Margaret Natzenauer, the grand opera singer, in a statement to the Associated Press today denied statements that her chauffeur-husband, Floyd Glotzbach, has deserted her and declared she had thrown him out of her New York apartment on January 26th.

The diva said she had given her husband $150 a month, but in spite of this she had to pay for everything he wore. She stated that while she allowed him to live the life of a prince, he publically denied their marriage to the newspapers published in Carmel.

Touching on the report from San Francisco, that she expected to become a mother, said she had notified her husband to this effect about a month ago, after she had been so told by a physician, but that later the diagnosis had proved to be a false alarm.

School Tax Increase is Biggest in State of Michigan

Cost of Primary Education Goes Up $37,100,906, or 435 Per Cent in Decade.

DETROIT, Mar. 16—Expenditures for Michigan's public schools are the biggest contributing factor to increased taxes in the last ten years, according to a compilation by State Representative George Lord of Detroit, chairman of the joint legislative committee entrusted with investigating the state's tax problems and recommending a remedial program to the next legislature.

Whereas the aggregate taxes paid in Michigan for all purposes in 1911 were $158,388,566, an increase of 303 per cent over the $39,315,699 all-purpose levy in 1911, school taxes increased from $8,532,423 in 1911 to $45,633,329 in 1921, approximately 435 per cent. The public school tax increase is almost equal to the total state levy in 1911.

County roads were the only other important item which showed a bigger proportionate increase, from $815,227 in 1911 to $6,981,797 in 1921—756 per cent—but the amounts involved are not as striking. Uniformly, the items making up the total tax budget showed increases ranging from 111 per cent upwards. Only the township tax and drain tax showed a smaller per cent of increase than did the state tax, which includes also appropriations for institutions of higher education not included in the public school tax above referred to.

It was largely because the legislature recognized the limit of taxation on present sources of revenue has about been reached and to provide for intelligent study of numerous tax proposals made, that the joint legislative committee headed by Representative Lord was created.

NATIONAL HOLIDAY OF IRELAND WILL BE OBSERVED HERE

Splendid Program of Entertainment Prepared by Irishmen in This City For Tomorrow.

St. Patrick's day is the national holiday of Ireland. Its significance is two-fold—religious and patriotic. A mighty good thing to have patriotism tempered and modified and made just and pure by the influence of religion. St. Patrick's day is observed in a similar manner by the scattered children of the Gall in this and every other country.

It has been customary, in the United States, for the pent-up feeling of Irish patriotism and love for motherland to find vent by public parades, monster gatherings and eloquent speeches, pleading the cause of motherland. So far reaching was the effect of the work of Irish patriots in this country, that the Irish spirit seemed to be contagious. Men of all nationalities assimilated it and manifested brotherly sympathy and feeling.

The program for this year is Hiss Mass and sermon at St. Patrick's church at 8 o'clock a. m. The public is invited to attend. A splendid picture accompanied by a high class production of song and Irish step dancing, characteristic of Ireland, will be presented at the Strand theatre at 2:30 and at 7 and 9 in the evening.

Johnson's four-piece orchestra will discourse appropriate music during the entire rendition. The entrance of Ireland on the world map, as a free state will lend added spirit and great significance to the day this year.

The following program has been arranged for the evening at the Strand theatre.

Irish Step Dancing—Erlin Bolger, accompanied by Miss Eileen Bolger.

"Come Back to Erin"—Mrs. George P. Casey, accompanied by Mrs. Katherine Ramspeck.

Irish Jigs—Jack Haney.

Auditor to Go Over City Hall Books

Wednesday evening's meeting of the city council was cut on the pattern of a present day skirt worn by the girls who have not yet had the temerity to don knickers—brevity being its chief characteristic. Bills of the board of public works were allowed and the employment of an auditor to go over the books of the city clerk and city treasurer was endorsed. Aside from this, permits were granted for the moving of three buildings on different streets and council adjourned.

"Strangler" Lewis the heavyweight wrestling champion today deposited a check for $5000 with the sporting editor of the Nashville News, in connection with a challenge sent Jack Dempsey, for a mixed match to be staged any place in the United States, the date to be selected later.

NEW YORK, Mar. 16—Jack Dempsey is ready to meet Lewis in either a straight wrestling match or a boxing and boxing bout. It was declared today by Jack Kearns the manager for Dempsey, when he was informed of the challenge. He said,

FORMER ESCANABA MINISTER GETTING INTO SOO POLITICS

Rev. R. Stanley Brown One of Leading Figures in Hot Campaign with "Blue Law" Issue.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Mar. 16—The spring campaign, which will culminate April 3 in the election of a mayor and one city commissioner, is being waged heatedly between so-called Blue Law and Liberal forces, with the Sault Ministerial association taking an active part in the endeavor to elect George O. Comb and Robert E. Nimmo, mayor and commissioner, respectively, against Thomas J. Watchorn and John P. Connolly. The race gives every evidence of being a neck and neck affair.

Hanging on the result of the election is said to be Sunday motion picture shows and other Sunday amusements, and who shall be chief of police and social service worker. If Comb is elected, it is understood every effort will be made to close the city Sundays and hat Matt Mitchell, present chief of police, will be deposed and John Done, former sheriff of Chippewa county, given the position. The job of City Manager H. J. Sherman too is imperiled, it is rumored, if the "Blue Law" candidates are elected.

T. J. Watchorn, liberal candidate, is a present city commissioner, ex-chairman of the board of supervisors exalted ruler of the Elks, past grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias and a former alderman when the Sault was governed by the ward system. During the regime of Mayor Francis T. McDonald, whose term expires April 31, Watchorn has acted as mayor pro-tempore, and is thoroughly conversant with the activities of the office. While he has been commissioner the city has paid off more than $100,000 of its indebtedness. His vote against Miss Susanna McLaren, former social service worker, who was replaced recently on charges of insubordination and "trouble-making", aroused the opposition of Rev. R. Stanley Brown, Presbyterian minister and president of the ministerial association. He became a leading figure in the nomination of Comb and Nimmo, both Presbyterians, as is John Bone, the choice for the chief of police job, if Comb wins. The present police chief is a catholic, and many voters are split up according to their church beliefs.

BOY "PLAYING HORSE" IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Mar. 16—When a rope with which he was playing horse and which had been fastened to his arms, was caught in the rear end of a passing freight train, Milton Siebert, 9 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Siebert, was dragged along the rails and seriously injured. He was whirled around and bumped over the rails, receiving a fractured skull and other injuries which may prove fatal.

A schoolmate, Milton McCarthy had the presence of mind to rush after the boy and snap the rope.

Surgeons worked over the boy for two and one-half hours, but it is feared that he will not recover.

CHICAGO FIRE BEING PROBED SEVERAL WAYS

City Fire Department Attorney Says Incendiarism.

Negro Employed in One of First Buildings to Go Up in Flames Is Being Sought.

CHICAGO, Mar. 16—Several separate investigations into the largest fire Chicago has had since 1871, and which burned a whole city block, with a loss placed by insurance men at $8,000,000 were continued today.

Shirley T. High, the fire department attorney, expressed the belief that the conflagration was of incendiary origin.

A negro employe who was engaged in one of the buildings which was the first to go up in flames, is being sought. He was named by another man who was arrested, but proved to have had nothing to do with the fire.

Included in the tabulation of the fire losses was that of 99 paintings by Henry Elkies, valued at $250,000. Among them was one known to art circles as "Shifting Light" a painting of a California sunset. This painting alone was valued at $75,000.

AMERICAN LEGION PLANS A MINSTREL

H. G. Zion, "Bill" Lang and John A. Allo Selected as Directors of Various Phases.

"Plans are now being made by Cleveland Post of the American Legion for an old-time minstrel show to be staged some time during the latter part of April. The matter was discussed last night and sentiment seems to be in favor of putting on an entertainment of this sort. The Legion has a great deal of talent and it is believed that such a minstrel can be staged as will stand as a model for amateur performances.

J. A. Allo, veteran director of local talent minstrel productions, with a great many signal successes to his credit, has been offered the position of director and has partially accepted, while the musical end of the show would be in the hands of "Bill" Lang. Both these gentlemen have had wide experience in their respective lines and if they decide to take hold of the matter, the success of the undertaking is assured.

H. G. Zion has been made chairman of the committee on arrangements and has already considered the various angles of the proposition, with the result that he is beginning to cast about for material with which to work.

Escanaba and the legion can furnish a wonderful array of voices for chorous work and the city also has many prominent soloists who are in sympathy with Legion activities.

So it begins to look as though Escanaba would soon have opportunity to see some burnt cork artists of which she can well be proud.

New Postal Head Cools Heels When Clerk Says "Wait"

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Mar. 16—A well dressed gentleman, unknown to any of the clerks in Postmaster Lueder's office, walked into the postmaster's outer office yesterday. "Son, may I see Mr. Lueder?" he asked a clerk. "He's busy sit down," was the answer. The gentleman waited fifteen minutes. Then: "No, he's still talking to a bunch of clerks," was the reply. "Well, you take him this card," said the stranger. The clerk looked at the card. On it was: "Dr. Hubert Work, postmaster general." The clerk kicked over several waste baskets in his rush to tell Mr. Lueder that it was the new postmaster general who had been cooling his heels in the outer office.

Small Town Girl's Morals Worse than Those of City Sister

CHICAGO, Mar. 16—Moral conditions among girls in small towns are worse than in the cities, Mrs. Julia P. Kennedy of the state department of public health told delegates attending the health conference here yesterday. In many towns, she declared, conditions were "almost indescribable." She told of finding a group of high school girls, "every one of whom had a small flask containing liquor tied about her neck and carried inside the bosom of her dress." In another school, only a few days ago, she said, four pupils were expelled for drinking lemon extract. "White mule," she declared, "can be got in every small town, and much easier than it can here in Chicago. They drink that, extracts, mixtures of different sorts—awful stuff." "In the small town there seems to be fewer restraints thrown about the young people than in the city."

Gasoline for an Empire

THE eleven states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an empire in area, wealth, population, and industrial activities. It constitutes the largest and most important market for petroleum products on the American continent. To win such a market, to gain the confidence, and enjoy the respect of this buying public is a task worth while. To achieve this objective, to merit the confidence of its patrons, and to be prepared at all times to serve them, has been for many years the dominating idea of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). To make its service more comprehensive it manufactures special grades of its products to meet special requirements. For example, take gasoline. Under this general head come fifteen different products, each made with scientific precision to meet a specific, well-defined need. For the motorist the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) makes Red Crown Gasoline. This product is made for the sole purpose of generating power in the modern internal combustion engine. It has a chain of boiling point fractions carefully adjusted and graduated with scientific exactness to enable you to get from your engine all the power it can develop. In attacking the problem of supplying motor gasoline for 30 million people three main points were considered—

LOYAL IRISHMEN OF ESCANABA PLAN ON BIG DAY HERE FRIDAY

St. Patrick's Day to Be Appropriately Celebrated and Irish Fight for Liberty Commemorated.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies Auxiliary to the Hibernians of Escanaba have completed arrangements for the proper observance of St. Patrick's Day.

For the afternoon and evening a splendid program of entertainment has been perfected and will be presented at the Strand Theatre at 2:30 and at 7 and 9 o'clock.

This is one of the best, most gripping and interesting productions of Rex Beach. "The Iron Trail" is set in the heart of the Alaskan gold country and the stirring action that begins with the first title lasts right through to the last foot of film.

The story tells of the building of the railroad up the Salmon river into the heart of the picturesque treasure chest of nature-of the fight of Murray O'Neil to build a railroad and of the desperate opposition of Curtis Gordon attempting to put in a fake scheme.

There are many other big moments in the picture, notably the scene of the ice breaking up and the thrilling and dangerous efforts to save the half finished bridge, the destruction of which would mean the failure of the great undertaking.

The love element in the production takes a decided twist. There are two beautiful girls and two worthy men and in the end one is surprised with the result.

beautiful girls and two worthy men and in the end one is surprised with the result. All of the complications and situations are of the wholesome variety that are fit for the eyes of the young as well as the more sophisticated. "The Iron Trail" is a picture that inspires and satisfies.

A BEAT! Read the Great Human Story of "THE ROSARY" To Be Published Exclusively in this Newspaper

Beginning March 18, the Mirror publishes the first installment of Scoop Conlon's fictionization of the photodrama inspired by Edward E. Rose's unforgettable stage play.

A fascinating story teeming with action, breathing romance, touched with pathos, flecked with tragedy, brightened by the humor of the quaint characters of a peaceful little fishing village, it is a human document that will thrill, instruct and delight all who read it. There are eight chapters and these will be published consecutively one a day to the conclusion.

For years "The Rosary" has been one of the immortals of stage and song. More recently it has been transferred to the screen. Now this wonderful tale comes into its own in the printed word.

It's a vivid narrative of a great love in simple settings; of an adventurer who, disinherited, seeks to wreak his vengeance on picturesque, unoffending Sandy Bay; of a Jew of a gruff old sea captain and a priest, three cronies, who exemplify the true spirit of the Brotherhood of Man.

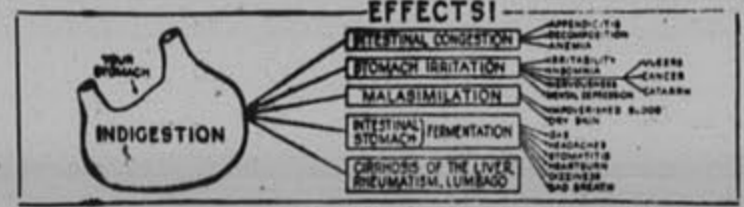

There is a crashing climax that will grip you and an ending that will cheer you.

"The Rosary," in short, is a living, pulsing thing.

KEEPING OUT OF IT.

Secretary Hughes' reply to the invitation for the United States to participate in the Genoa conference will not come as a surprise to the American people, nor, it may be suspected, will it particularly astonish European authorities, however it may disappoint them.

And the sober judgment of the American people will doubtless agree with Mr. Hughes' frank assertion that, as matters stand now the conference is primarily political rather than economic, and presents aspects in which the United States can not be helpful, whatever may be the desire of this country to aid in the economic restoration of the Old World.

Mr. Hughes' contention that the conference is more political than economic is based on the fact, emphasized in his note, that certain matters whose settlement, in the judgment of the United States, is essential to any economic adjustment, have been omitted from the agenda. While he does not specify the items, it is no secret that he and President Harding regard European deflation, adjustment of German reparations so as to bring them within possibility of payment, and a reduction of the enormous land armaments which are primarily responsible for the unbalanced budgets, as matters of fundamental importance without whose solution no readjustment is possible.

A conference which pretends to attempt economic readjustment but which ignores the basic steps toward such readjustment, appeals to the plain American mind as rather nonsensical, and the feeling that is rather for political purposes than for a genuine effort at economic improvements is difficult to escape.

For the United States go into a conference concerned with European politics would be a dangerous move. It is easy to conceive that events might place the American representatives in positions which would embarrass this country and impair its position as a disinterested party, upon which position its future ability to assist in reconstructive work depends.

The sensible decision to permit Europe to work out a solution of its own problems and make, as the United States has made, a start toward getting back to normal, will unquestionably coincide with the view of the great majority of American citizens. When such a start is made and when plans are outlined in which the United States can properly and helpfully co-operate, such co-operation should and undoubtedly will be extended. But housecleaning is something in which at least the preliminaries should be attended to by the people who live on the premises.

THE FORESTRY SQUABBLE.

Neither the cause of economy nor the conservation of our natural resources is likely to make much headway until the present system of what amounts to dual control is abolished.

The administration is threatened with a cabinet controversy similar to the memorable forestry squabble under President Taft. Again, the Department of Interior and the forestry section of the Department of Agriculture are the principal contestants, with outsiders adding fuel to the flames. In this matter the departmental overlapping and conflicting authority evidently no reform has been effected since the days of Taft.

Whether forestry supervision should remain with the Department of Agriculture or should be transferred to the Interior Department is a technical question for Congress to weigh with the assistance of expert advice. But it is plain that dual control by two departments can not be continued without making interdepartmental rows chronic.

Secretary Fall may be right or wrong in his attitude toward Secretary Wallace, but this is not a question of personalities. It is a difficulty of ill defined jurisdiction and wasteful duplication of work. As an instance of such duplication, Secretary Fall charges that whenever minerals or oil are found on a forest reserve, both the land office and the forest service proceed to make rival surveys, and the survey made by one set of experts is rejected by the other.

Such instances of working at cross purposes clearly must be eliminated in the public interest. Our supply of natural wealth has reached the point where the nation must be extremely jealous of its proper use, and the necessity of balancing public control of public lands with the requirements of private development places the public land administration under heavy pressure. Dual jurisdiction, besides being wasteful, invites confusion and gives an opening to questionable enterprises.

Bills for a reorganization now being before Congress, it is to be hoped that the question will receive the fullest possible debates and publicity so that it can be settled once for all.

ENLIGHTENED ON BONUS.

The bill for a soldiers' cash bonus may or may not become a law in the near future. But at any rate the discussions at Washington and by the press are thoroughly enlightening the people as to the real need and actual cost of a bonus, so that if it is finally enacted it may be truly said that it represents the voice of the public.

TAXPAYERS, CHEER UP!

Treasury officials are optimistic that before October, debt negotiations with Great Britain, France, and Italy will have been concluded. The British are ready and willing to pay, and the improvement in the foreign exchange situation has materially aided in clearing the way for the discussions.

ON GUARD!

The teaching of American history is the mask under which much internationalism, socialism, and unsound economics are being set before the present-day student. School authorities must ever be on the alert to detect and eliminate the spurious American history textbooks that are upon the market.

STATE FARM LAND VALUES SHOW LOSS

Crop Bureau Report Gives Cut at $91 to $87 an Acre.

(By Associated Press) LANSING, Mar. 16—The value of farm lands in Michigan decreased last year for the first time since land values statistics have been collected by the state agriculture, according to a report issued by the joint crop report bureau Monday.

The value of improved lands decreased from $91 an acre, a year ago, to $87 at present, according to a report. The value of plowlands dropped from $65 an acre to $60. These declines are described as more or less nominal, because only a small amount of land has changed hands at the reduced prices, and temporary, because indications are that the values lost in the past year will soon be regained.

The report points out that Michigan is an importing rather than an exporting state so far as agricultural products are concerned. Owing to faulty marketing conditions and transportation, much produce is shipped out of the state, the report says, but an equal amount is brought in from other states.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of 'Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound,' which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

U. S. COMBED FOR BADGER SCHOOL GIRL

(By Associated Press)

REEDSBURG, Wis., Mar. 16—A nation wide search has been launched for Helen Bennett, pretty 15 year old daughter of a prominent Winfield family, who vanished mysteriously nearly four weeks ago while on her way to high school here.

Helen's strange disappearance was disclosed Tuesday morning when police of a dozen cities were asked to aid in finding the pretty young school girl. Although relatives of Miss Bennett have worked on several promising clues in their ceaseless efforts to find her, all of the leads failed to bring and trace of the girl.

Authorities here are inclined to believe that Helena was kidnapped or lured away from Reedsburg. She was apparently happy and carefree when last seen by her friends, which, officials declare, discounts the theory that she might have fled from home.

On the day she vanished Helen cashed a $50 liberty bond and purchased a ticket for Avon, Ia. It is believed that kidnapers may have forced her to dispose of the bond by threats.

This theory is strengthened by the fact that the girl's mother received the card, postmarked Sioux City, Ia., several days later which informed her that "it will be useless to search for me."

The parents were not certain at first if the card was actually written by Helen but went to Avon and Sioux City to follow up the clue. After working with the police in Iowa for several days Mr. and Mrs. Bennett came home without having found a trace of their daughter.

DELAY IS GRANTED IN KIRBY APPEAL

Hudson Woman Held for the Death of Grandson; Gets Stay of Execution.

(By Associated Press)

ADRIAN, Mich., Mar. 16—Mrs. Marie Kirby, of Hudson, convicted in the Lenawee circuit court last December of manslaughter in connection with the disappearance of the infant son of her daughter, Miss Alice Kirby, appeared before Judge Burton L. Hart, at the opening of the March term and was excused until the opening day of the May term.

Mrs. Kirby's appearance in court was made in compliance with the provision of the bond given with the release during appeal proceedings.

J. N. Sampson of counsel for Mrs. Kirby, informed Judge Hart the defense is nearly ready to file its bill of exceptions upon which Mrs. Kirby's appeal to the supreme court will be based, and the court extended the time for filing the bill until April 10.

A. C. MOORE TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE WITH INVENTORS

Is Forming Company Here to Manufacture Self-Cleaning Rake Which Is Really Serviceable.

Mark Twain used to say that there are two kinds of business every man knows all about—editing newspapers and running hotels. He had never met a man in his travels who couldn't improve upon the prevailing management of hotels, and, as for editors, they were absolute failures by comparison with what could be done by their critics.

There is one more universal accomplishment, overlooked by Mark Twain, if the patent office records are authoritative, and that is the ability to invent something. The patent office at Washington is said to be over a year behind in the work of examining and issuing patents, and history proves that ninety-nine per cent of the time and labor is wasted on hopelessly impractical ideas.

Interesting confirmation of this condition is afforded by the experience of A. C. Moore, who is organizing a company locally to manufacture and market a self-cleaning garden and lawn rake. While at Davenport, Iowa, a few years ago, Mr. Moore, who was then general manager of an electric washing machine company, recommended to the directors that the company take over some useful articles that could be advertised and sold in connection with the washing machine.

The suggestion was adopted and an nationwide search was made for a notable invention. A labor-saving household article, not then on the market, was asked for. The leading newspapers in the country were the mediums used to bring in the required patent. That this advertising "started something" is putting it very mildly, according to Mr. Moore. This is what he has to say about it:

Get Quick Action

"Our ads had no sooner appeared than we commenced to get results. From every part of the country, cities, towns and hamlets, and from the farms as well, men and women sent us letters about their wonderful inventions. We had specifically asked for a household utility device, but that didn't stop them. They sent us descriptions of patents, pending or issued, or dreamed of, which had to do with every conceivable purpose under the sun, except to lighten the labor of the housewife. They came in a veritable flood, and kept coming for weeks, after the advertising had ceased.

"When the final count was made there were over two thousand replies to examine. The nearest to the device we were after was an idea for a kitchen cabinet, and the market was already well taken care of in that line. Some of the inventions were practical and ingenious and might have made fortunes for those with the capital to develop them. But the greater portion were impossible and many of them were amusing. Two of these had to do with perpetual motion. One Boston man, writing on the letterhead of a firm of civil engineers, claimed that he had solved the age-old problem of perpetual motion. He admitted that up to date every man who had claimed discovery of perpetual motion either had gone insane or was in that condition to start with. But he also admitted that he was the exception.

A Generous Soul

"He asked $25,000 cash in advance—and promised to pay it back with six per cent interest out of the profits of his invention. He would not sell any part of the patent, even if it was ever granted, but wished to keep it all 'for the glory of my family name.' The other fellow said his invention solved perpetual motion problems for all times, unless the ocean dried up. He depended, for power, on the motion of the waves. This man wanted $100,000 before he would explain his idea. He was afraid to show it in advance, as someone might steal it. Another genius lived in Missouri, on a farm, but said he was about to leave to take up a homestead in the Dakotas. He had a combined aeroplane and balloon. The balloon would keep the craft from falling if anything happened to the motor of the plane, and the latter could keep the balloon works from falling if the gas bag were to bust. I forgot how much he wanted, but as I recall, it could have been handled with less money than it cost to win the war.

Many Safety Devices

"There were many of the 'safety-first' type of patents. The best of these was submitted by a Georgia 'dentist,' who actually had received a patent. This was a helmet of steel wire, to be worn on the head as a protection against accident from loose bricks falling from buildings. The brick would hit the helmet and bound harmlessly to the side-walk. It was also recommended for school-children, and if a law were passed requiring all children to wear this helmet during recess they would not get their heads bumped while playing. It weighed four pounds, and looked like a wastebasket. Still another 'safety-first' idea would prevent accidents by having spiked auto-soles strapped to the shoes during sloppy or cold weather, when sidewalks are slippery. The spikes were very sharp, and a half-inch in length. The steel half-sole weighed a pound.

Dreamers Secretive

"We spent a week, or more, going over these letters," said Mr. Moore, "and before the work was finished we realized something of what the patent office force is up against. Most of the mechanical ideas were sent in by people who had no idea of machinery, or of how their inventions would look if it were possible to convert their ideas into models. And the more fantastic these dreams were, the more secretive the dreamers were, and the greater the fortunes they demanded. Very few of the replies were worth considering. Some, however, were good. The larger number of these affected a limited number of people, which meant that there was not a wide enough market possible to warrant manufacture.

"The main considerations in taking up a new invention are cost as compared with possible selling price, and the possible market when production is undertaken. Many patents have never reached the manufacturing stage just because the cost of manufacture would be out of all proportion to the value, once the article was ready for use. Others, which might permit of a selling price that would show a profit, were designed for a particular class, so limited that not enough could be used to justify their development.

Two Are Selected

"Two of the whole number submitted met every requirement that could be anticipated, and these were taken over under royalty, to be placed on the market at the opportune time. The best of the two is the self-cleaning rake, which is now being ready to place on the market. It is new, serviceable and can be produced in great quantities without the necessity of erecting factories or purchasing expensive machinery. Also, and this is the most important, it can be sold in every part of the country, because every person who uses a rake is a possible purchaser.

If the organization of the company is perfected in Escanaba, the main offices will be in this city.

Open Water Is Seen at Peninsula, Report First Time Yesterday

"Open water at Peninsula point," was the report brot to this city this morning. The first open water was noted yesterday afternoon it was stated and the indications were that the open space would gradually increase toward this end of the bay.

A number of farmers came over from Stonington on the ice yesterday and report that while airholes are beginning to appear and that the water is running off the ice, it is still solid and safe excepting near both shores where it is beginning to go to pieces. The greatest difficulty, they say, is getting onto and off the bay, but this in the middle seems to be safe for some time yet.

SCHOOL HEALTH IS BECOMING BETTER; REPORT SUBMITTED

School Nurse Makes Monthly Statement as to the Work Accomplished in Last Thirty Days.

The following is a report of the work of Miss Flora Bowman, nurse in the Escanaba city schools, during the month of February which was submitted to the board of education at Tuesday evening's meeting:

Number of school visits—34.
Number of home visits—39.
Number of inspections—38.
Number of dressings applied—15.
Number of routing inspections—545.
Number of pupils weighed—1098.
Sick rooms visited at the homes and reason for such is as follows:
Pneumonia—2 cases.
Cold and coughs—19 cases.
Diphtheria and scarlet fever—1 case.
Chicken pox—1 case.
Defective vision—7 cases.
Tonsillitis and adenoids—2 cases.
Miscellaneous—7 cases.

During the month four children were excluded from school, two cases reported to the Health Officer and two to the State Board of Health in various grades.

This year we have been very much pleased with our small number of communicable diseases. During the month of February we had just two cases—one case for chicken pox and one case for combined scarlet fever and diphtheria. It might be well to note here that many towns in the state have found it necessary to close their schools on account of the large number of cases of small pox. Many cities in the Upper Peninsula have had an epidemic of this disease. Escanaba has been absolutely free of small pox as far as the children are concerned. This is no small part, we believe, was due to the thorough and efficient work done in our city last year toward getting all of the pupils in school immune from small pox by the process of vaccination.

During the month of February, Miss Bowman has been working to some extent upon vision tests. She made 156 tests. Of the 156 tests she found defective vision in 27 cases, defective teeth in 28 cases, disease of the eyes 2 cases, disease of the glands 12, the heart 1, weak lungs 4.

Many times when Miss Bowman examines the children she finds new defects which she does not know just exactly how to diagnose. We have made arrangements with Dr. H. J. DeFet, Health Officer of the City of Escanaba, to visit each building once a month when Miss Bowman is there and at that time examine these questionable cases. Since the first of February, Dr. DeFet has visited four of our grade buildings and has examined very carefully 57 children. We hope to follow this work up and accomplish much through the visits of Dr. DeFet.

There is one thing which has given us some trouble this month and that is a diseased condition of the month. It represents pyorrhea but we are not sure. It is our plan to have some of our leading dentists make a thorough investigation.

Health conditions in our schools this year show a wonderful improvement over the last two years. The general health of the pupils is much better, thereby doing away with a large percentage of absent marks. We hope to be able to report continued improvement in the health of our pupils. Beyond a doubt the fine work done by the Mothers' Clubs in the five grade buildings has had much to do with the improved health conditions of the pupils and for the much more regular attendance. The mothers in the various buildings are to be commended on their efficient work and we hope for their continued co-operation.

W. E. OLDS,
Supt. of Schools.

GIRLS MEN MARRY

By Laurel Gray

MEN marry PATIENT girls. Job may have had a corner on this cardinal virtue centuries ago, but patience falls to woman's lot today. A man is easily upset by a girl's impatience. Patience doesn't necessarily mean that a girl must be a human doormat. But she must never forget that a man's life is concerned with the great problem of human existence. A meal is more than a mere meal to him; it's the size of the check! The girl whose patience at trying to fight his way to the top, will be right there in the limousine when he arrives at the limousine stage of prosperity!

SOCIAL NOTES

RAINBOW SHOWER

The Misses Anna and Esther Anderson, 1114 First avenue south entertained most charmingly last night at a Rainbow Shower given for Miss Estlin Lindberg, who is to wed William Koelsch, of Milwaukee, early this spring.

The affair was a most complete surprise to Miss Lindberg who had been invited over "to spend the evening." When she arrived she found the Anderson home filled with her friends. The house had been cleverly decorated with crepe paper in rainbow shades, supplemented with many beautiful cut flowers and potted plants.

A large cut glass bowl filled with beautiful bloom, tied with rainbow tulle formed the center piece on the dining table and ribbons of rainbow colored tulle led from the center piece to six smaller cut glass bowls filled with sweet peas. Appropriate place cards and favors were used and large rainbow colored dome.

Miss Lindberg was presented with a number of pieces of cut glass by little Miss Ruth Sawyer, four years of age, who, attired as a bride made a picture of sweetness never to be forgotten by those who witnessed the ceremony.

An elaborate repast was served and the evening devoted to card playing, music and other social diversions.

DANCING PARTY

A dancing party will be given by the Athletic Club Saturday night, March 18. There will be very good music and a large crowd is expected.

Mr. Anna Lang of 217 S. 19th st. is convalescing from a long illness.
