BONUS BILL NOW READY FOR THE SENATE

LONG SLUMBER IS PREDICTED IN THAT BODY

Legion Head Says Bill Will Satisfy Men of the Legion.

President Thinks Bill Should Be Held Over for at Least Ninety Days, It Is Claimed.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Mar. 24—Passed by the house late yesterday by a vote of 333 to 70, the soldiers bonus was made ready to go before the senate and what will happen to it there is regarded as problematical, but its proponents propose to use every effort to prevent it from being shelved, as was the original house measure.

Due to the long debate before the final vote in the house, some of the speakers predicted that the senate would kill the bill, while others were optimistic as to the chances of its passage in the present form.

But whatever its ultimate fate, it is nearly certain that the bill will slumber for quite awhile at the other end of the capital where already the calendar is congested with treaties and annual supplies bills and with the permanent tariff bill yet to be reported.

President Harding has been represented as looking with favor on the financing plans that are being made by the house ways and means committee. It is declared that the president suggested a delay of 90 days in the bill which would give an opportunity to get the treaty passed.

He said that he thought that by that time the treasury would be in position to render aid through British bonds.

MacNider Satisfied

That the bill will meet with the approval of the members of the American Legion was the statement given out by Hanford MacNider, commander of the Legion.

"The overwhelming majority given the compensation bill in the house yesterday," said MacNider, "shows that the measure goes to the hearts of the people and in spite of highly organized propaganda and opposition which has been working against the measure.

"While the bill differs in some respects from the original five measures drawn into the bill by the American Legion at the request of congress, I am confident it will meet with the general approval of the former service men and women who have confidence in the judgment and integrity of the ways and means committee.

"Any measure which has been passed twice in the lower house by such large majorities and was once made unfinished business in the senate is inevitable legislation."

THREE MORE PLACES RAIDED BY POLICE HERE LATE TODAY

Moonshine Parlors Visited With Search Warrants and Evidence Found in All Places.

Chief of Police Tulan, Motorcop Swanson and officers Carlson and Larson at 1 o'clock this afternoon raided three more alleged moonshine joints and found evidence in all of the places, which is considered strong enough to warrant the conviction of the proprietors on charges of possession, sale or keeping a place for the sale of intoxicating liquor.

The men arrested today were: Axel Johnson, 112 North Tenth street; Ferdinand A. Fredrickson, 112 South Seventh street; Albert Lequia and his bartender, Fred LaFave, 123 North Seventh street.

Officers received information regarding these places as result of an arrest made yesterday. One development followed another in such happy fashion that the officers were placed in possession of such information that warrants were sworn out and the places visited, with the result that evidence was found in all of them. All were to be arraigned in Justice McEwen's court this afternoon.

Word was received here this afternoon to the effect that the next convention of Road Builders of the Upper Peninsula will be held in Escanaba this summer. County Highway Commissioner R. P. DOLLAR DAY SPIRIT MAKES LOCAL STORE OWNERS VERY HAPPY

They Are Happy in Filling Their Stores With Wonderful Bargains for Saturday Selling.

Tomorrow is the big day in Escanaba. It will be Dollar Day. When Escanaba merchants say they are going to give extraordinary values on Dollar Day, that is just exactly what they mean. From advertisements appearing in tonight's Mirror it is self evident.

In many cases the dollar will buy three dollars worth of reasonable, staple merchandise. This is not a proposition of getting rid of a lot of stuff, warning "stickers" but is a actual value giving event calculated to convince the shopper that never in the history of Escanaba merchandising has the buying public been given so much for its money.

Windows are filled and overflowing with splendid bargains. No really thrifty housewife can afford to pass up the aisles tonight or the sales tomorrow. The most needed things are included in the great array of bargains being prepared for a bargain-hungry public and tomorrow promises to go down in local business history as one of the most successful sales days ever recorded here.

Four Power Pacific Treaty Ratified

SENATE VOTES DOWN NUMBER OF AMENDMENTS

Plans to Qualify Various Phases of Treaty Are Defeated.

LaFollette Casts Vote in Favor of Amendment Permitting Some Secret Arrangements.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, D. C. Mar. 24—The senate today ratified the Four Power Pacific Treaty by a vote of 67 to 27, despite the efforts yesterday of Senators Reed, Hitchcock and others in the final hours of the bitter debate yesterday.

A long list of amendments were voted down today. The first qualifying declaration to be voted down was an amendment by Senator Robinson of Arkansas which would have pledged the treaty signatories against any secret treaty arrangement or understanding or any other such powers during the life of the treaty. The vote was 32 to 61.

Six Democratic senators voted against the amendment and four Republicans, including LaFollette, of Wisconsin, supported it. No further amendments were offered as to article one of this treaty and it was approved of by a committee of the whole.

Robinson Plan Loses
Senator Robinson then offered and the senate rejected an amendment to Article 2 pledging the signatories against any other outside powers and giving outside powers the right to sit in conference effecting their interests.

The vote on this amendment was 33 to 59. An amendment by Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, to make the conference provision of Article 2 to apply on only "unprovoked aggression" also was rejected. The Hitchcock amendment was supported by twenty senators and opposed by 65.

Shields Is Squashed
The senate then voted down an amendment by Senator Shields of Tennessee, stipulating that the United States enter the four power arrangement "for the sole purpose of aiding the officials in their efforts in removing friction and controversy" and with no intention of departing from its traditional policy. The vote was 13 to 73.

Senator Reed made an unsuccessful attempt to make an amendment providing that the treaty terminate at the end of ten years or could be terminated sooner upon 12 months' notice by any of the signatories. This was defeated, 29 to 64.

WATERWAY PROJECT GIVEN EXPLANATION BY SUPERIOR EXPERT

A. D. S. Gillette Tells Escanaba Citizens Just How They Will Benefit and Urges Co-operation.

What was perhaps the largest crowd thus far gathered in a Chamber of Commerce forum meeting, sat for more than an hour last night under the magic spell of an inspired orator in the person of A. D. S. Gillette, of Superior, Wis.

Mr. Gillette is a member of the Superior commission of the Lakes-to-Ocean waterway project and he has at his tongue-end a mass of figures, statistics and amazing facts which simply held the big audience spellbound.

He devoted particular attention to the unfairness of the "Pittsburgh plus" rate on steel, explaining how, thru unfair advantages, the east was discriminating against the west. Iron ore mined in this district and manufactured into steel in this district would cost the same price as steel made in the Pittsburgh district, plus the amount of freight required to transport it to this district. In other words, a steel mill's product in Escanaba, would cost an automobile factory standing alongside the steel mill, the original price of the steel, plus what the freight from the Pittsburgh district would be.

District Must Fight
This is the thing which this district must fight.

Mr. Gillette pictured, in convincing fashion, the wonderful benefits Escanaba would derive from the deep waterway and for that reason, he explained, Escanaba should own its own waterway docks to take full advantage of the big business when it comes.

The speaker told how his city had gone before the state legislature and had a law enacted, which gave to the city about $200,000 a year additional money from its ore docks and railroad property, money which previously went to the state. Superior was situated then just like Escanaba is now and Mr. Gillette commented highly the fight which has been started by the Chamber of Commerce to do the same thing here.

Fine Chicken Dinner
The speech was preceded by a splendid chicken dinner served by members of the Women's Relief Corps. The seating capacity of the Pithon hall was taxed, among the big crowd of local people, being a delegate of about 11 from Gladstone.

Chamber of Commerce officials are delighted with the result of last night's meeting and feel that real headway is being made in bringing all-classes of business men, residents and workers closer together thru the medium of these forum meetings which make for a better understanding of the problems of each other and the city as a whole.

The Escanaba Boys Band furnished music through the evening and were repeatedly encored for their special numbers.

RYAN FUNERAL

St. Patrick's church was crowded at 9 o'clock this morning when most impressive funeral rites were held over the body of John Ryan, old and war time resident of Escanaba who passed away at his home, 306 Second avenue south, Monday afternoon, almost without warning. Dr. F. X. Barb, pastor of St. Patrick's church officiated and interment was made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The large number of floral offerings testified to the loving esteem in which Mr. Ryan was held. Five of his sons and a life long friend acted as pall bearers. Among the relatives who were here from out of the city for the service, were: Mrs. Bert Utter and Miss Agnes Fleming, Minneapolis; Mrs. Ellen Healy, Mrs. Martin O'Donnell, Green Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ryan, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Fred Lentz, of Chicago.

New Postal Order on Handling Newspapers

WASHINGTON, March 24—Expedient handling of newspapers by postal employees was urged in a statement by John E. Bartlett, the new first assistant postmaster general (which was published today in the Postal Bulletin. "Despite repeated instructions for the prompt handling of newspapers," the statement asserts, "many complaints are made in delay in this class of mail."

"This condition is irritating to subscribers and inexcusable from a service standpoint and unless a newspaper is received promptly a newspaper has little or no news value and the postal service meets with the criticism of delay.

"Post masters are therefore urged to see that all daily papers both outgoing and incoming are handled immediately upon receipt in their offices to the end that we may have a satisfied public and an appreciative press."

SATURDAY LAST DAY TO PAY UP YOUR BACK TAX

City Treasurer Will Close Delinquent Book Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be the last day to pay City Treasurer delinquent taxes. Mr. Wilkinson has his delinquent list all made up and Monday morning will begin adding the total taxes remaining delinquent. Once this task is started it will be too late to make settlement with him. It will then be necessary to go to the county treasurer and pay a heavier collection fee than is charged now, and for every month that taxes continue being delinquent, an additional percentage penalty is added.

Block Party Proves a Clever Attraction

The Block Party given at the Coliseum rink last night proved intensely interesting and highly enjoyable. First prize was won by Miss Evangeline Dushno and Alfred Dieot who were the last couple left on the floor. Three races of one of them a half mile backward race, will be on the bill for Sunday evening. Thursday evening's affair was largely attended.

Plans to Withdraw Troops from China Voted Down in House

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 24—Provisions of the army appropriation bill which would have required the withdrawal of certain regular army troops from China, the Canal Zone and Germany by July 1st were eliminated from the measure today by the house in a motion to strike out that section by Senator Rogers of Massachusetts.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Mildred Anderson, 218 South Tenth street, was very pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening when a party of about 30 friends invaded her home with the information that she was about to have her birthday celebrated. The evening was devoted to various amusements and a delicious luncheon was served. Many pretty gifts of tokens of friendship.

50 POLICEMEN ARE AMBUSHED AT CRAIGSMORE

Attacking Party Fires From Range of Hills. Feet.

Driven to Hills in Running Fight With Frequent Exchanges of Shots; Three Murders Reported.

(By Associated Press)

Belfast, Ireland, Mar. 24—A six-hour running fight between Ulster Specials, constables and Sinn Feiners in the vicinity of Craigsmore in County Tyrone, occurred yesterday.

The fighting started when 50 of the police were ambushed outside of the town. The ambushing party were concealed behind a gorse bank on the roadside and opened fire at 1,000 feet.

Police Abandon Cars
The police immediately jumped out of the cars and engaged the attacking party, which retreated across the hills but the pursuit was continued for some time with frequent exchanges of shots.

At least five Sinn Feiners are said to have been hit. One with a bullet in the leg, was found under a bed in a house which was raided during the chase. Bullets pierced the capes of several of the Specials, but none of them were wounded.

A quantity of equipment which was dropped by the ambushing party was taken by the police.

Three Murders Reported

Three murders have been reported from the Fermanagh-Tyrone border. The victims were Frank McLaren, William Kelly, and William Cassidy. All the men were shot to death and it is believed the murders were in reprisal for the recent terrorism about that section of Tyrone in which a special constable was shot and killed and numerous unionist houses were burned.

LEGION AUXILIARY PARTY

Over 150 persons last night gathered at Eagle hall when a joint meeting of the American Legion and Woman's Auxiliary was held and a program of interesting entertainment features was carried out.

Harry St. Louis, commander of the Legion devoted ten minutes to an address in which he outlined the aims and ideals of the legion.

An unexpected feature was a talk by Dr. A. D. S. Gillette, of Superior, who delivered a brief talk on the duty of the legion and the auxiliary in connection with the Lakes to ocean waterway project.

Ray Olson contributed a distinctly pleasing vocal selection, Edward Hendrickson rendered a delightful violin solo and the Breitenbach Sisters did a song and dance number which was extremely clever. The impersonations of "Bill" Petrie were a scream, while Miss Jean Guthrie had charge of the games which followed the program. The evening was closed with a delicious luncheon served under the direction of Mrs. Morrell and Mrs. Green. Miss Margaret Kessler was chairman of the program committee. Last night's affair marks a high light in the life of the Legion and Auxiliary in this city and the pleasures of the evening will be long remembered by those fortunate enough to be present.

HEAD OF NEAR EAST RELIEF MAKES APPEAL

Charles V. Vickrey

Twenty-five thousand innocent children have been condemned to death by the will of the American people. Such is the status made by Charles V. Vickrey, General Secretary of the Near East Relief, on the passing of a resolution by the executive board of that organization cutting down the appropriations for relief twenty-five per cent.

"At the lowest possible administrative cost," says Mr. Vickrey, "the Near East Relief has been caring for one hundred thousand children, the homeless little orphans of the Near East. The cut in appropriations, made necessary by the decreased contributions, means that twenty-five thousand equally helpless children now on our doorstep must be refused admission and turned into the streets to perish of cold and hunger. There can be no other fate than that awaiting them. We are their only help and support."

"Five dollars a month will commute the sentence for one child. And I do not believe there is a man or woman in a home in America who could not and would not give that much to save a little child."

MAGNIFICENT CO-OPERATION OF EPISCOPAL COMMUNION

A plan of co-operation in the work administered by Near East Relief has been inaugurated by Bishop Thomas F. Gallor, President of the Bishop and Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, an Auxiliary Committee consisting of eminent churchmen, including bishops, clergy and laymen, is being formed. This committee will be nation-wide in its personnel and will have a local executive committee with a prominent layman as chairman.

An special emergency appeal is going forth to all parishes of the Episcopal Church for a Lenten contribution. Ten thousand orphan children, for whom no other provision is possible today, are made the special charge of the Episcopal Church.

Bishop Gallor has given his personal endorsement to the Lenten appeal of the Near East Relief.

WOMEN MEET CRISIS IN NEAR EAST RELIEF

Sponsor Lives of 25,000 Children to Keep Them From Starving.

Twelve million women in America are rallying to the cry of the starving children cared for by Near East Relief in Constantinople and Asia Minor. Lack of funds has forced the organization to make a 25 per cent cut in its orphanage appropriations during the spring months, when relief work is more seriously needed than at any other time during the year.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt has formed a Women's Emergency Committee of representative women from every corner of the land. The committee represents 12,000,000 American women, and they appeal to the motherhood of America to save the 25,000 children now under sentence of death because of the cut by Near East Relief. It must be a super-gift, the women say, and must be added over and above to whatever gifts their communities may have made during the year to the work of Near East Relief.

Mrs. Vanderlip a Witness
Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, recently returned from the Near East, says: "Galsworthy said that one of the worst things American qualities is a deep admiration for all children. Not just one's own, but for every child anyone of us meets anywhere. When I saw the pale, thin faces, dumb, hopeless eyes and the emaciated bodies under the scanty clothes of the refugee children in the Near East I longed to bring home to the child-loving people here a poignant appeal for help to save their lives and restore childish peace to their hearts. The respect which knowing these people gives one bases my desire to save these children on a serious recognition of the terrible loss the world will sustain if this fine population perishes."

Near East Relief officers estimate that if the women of the United States will keep 25,000 children alive it will be possible to meet the needs of the other 75,000 under American care and protection in the Near East.

Among the women who compose the Women's Emergency Committee that will make every effort to "finish the job" are:

THE ESCANABA DOLLAR.

Yesterday the Mirror had occasion to comment on the large amount of money which is spent out of town, through mail order catalogues, and through salesmen for retail houses in other cities, showing samples and taking orders from a select list of carefully hand-picked customers who are flattered by this special attention from the "big city stores."

They used to say "Money Talks." All right, let us list, O list, to the gentle conversational tinkle of the mail order dollar as it babbles of its experience. "I am the mail order dollar. I am now living in Milwaukee. For many years I made my home in Escanaba. I was with you a long time. I passed from one bank to another and invaded many a home on pay days. My greetings were always most cordial and my welcome seemed to be sincere."

"At tax paying time the city treasurer tucked me away in the till and I journeyed back to the bank. When cold winters lowered the coal bin I was put on the job and continued to serve you. Sometimes the doctor would come and get me, and no matter in what section of Escanaba I strayed, someone found me. And all the time I was getting acquainted with other dollars, some older than I and some, new arrivals."

"I felt neighborly and at home in Escanaba. I used to go out in the evenings to a church or school gathering and then the next day I went back to the bank. I got to have a standing in the community and credit was extended on my appearance. "But the other day a man sent me away because he had read something about cheap goods in a big book. And here I am in a big city. I know the man who sent me back in Escanaba, but I'll bet if he appeals to the man he sent me to, the man won't give me a ticket back home. And that's where I belong. The physician, the groceryman, the dry goods man, the coal and milk and ice man and the tax collector all miss me."

"But I am never going to be allowed to visit my old friends again. It grieves me to think that I can never again have a hand in doing things for the old town. I used to do my bit regularly, but the fellow who sent me away has made it impossible for me to help any more, so you will have to struggle along without me. I was just talking with a ragged old fellow of my own denomination who tells me he had the same experience as mine and that he has lost all hope of ever seeing the home folks again and before long he expects to be completely worn out and useless. He has never quite forgiven the cruelty of the man who fired him out of town."

Moral: Where there is a will, there is a multiplicity of expedients.

ESCANABA DISPROVES IT.

The trouble with so many people who know things and know that they know them, is that they know so many things that are not so. For instance, we find a statement by Lucey Page Gaston that "we cannot hope that the prohibition of liquor will be a success until the cigaret is eliminated, because cigaret smoking creates a craving which only alcohol can satisfy."

Now listen, Lucey! We hold no brief for the cigaret or the cigaret smoker, but we do happen to know a case in point—hundreds of them in fact—which indicates that you have taken in entirely too much territory in your sweeping statement.

Right here in Escanaba lives a man to whom cigarets seemingly are nourishment. He smokes an average of 40 a day. He is right around 50 years of age and has smoked cigarets since he was a kid. He has been in business for upwards of 25 years.

And Lucey, just think, he never took a drink of liquor in his life; never even tasted it and hasn't the slightest desire to taste it. As a matter of fact he can't understand just why anybody ever did drink liquor, or why anybody should crave alcohol. He has been associated with drinkers all his life and he has been frankly puzzled by men's craving for booze.

And there are countless thousands just like him all over this broad land, Lucey. As a matter of fact, you would probably find that many men who took "an occasional drink" during their young days, quit the practice entirely after they had begun to smoke cigarets.

If there is a Mr. Lucey Page Gaston concealed about the premises anywhere, we would like to hear what he has to say on the subject of smoking.

It is quite possible, Lucey, that most men who drink, may smoke cigarets; but not all cigaret smokers are drinkers. Which is the modern prototype of that old Horsaethief and Democrat story.

But we are willing to join in your crusade, Lucey. We are strong for taking away from others those things which we do not enjoy doing ourselves. So we say, "Down with the cigaret!"

We don't smoke 'em.
We smoke a nasty old corncob pipe.

POLICE MAKE GOOD START

Credit where credit is due. Unless you are directly or indirectly deriving some financial support from the liquor traffic, you must agree that the action of the Escanaba police in engineering a recent raid in which five alleged moonshine dumps were caught with the goods, was a good piece of police work.

Moonshine, in some quarters in Escanaba, is considered a sacred subject and it is regarded as almost sacrilege for a newspaper to even admit that perhaps there is a crack in the lid here and there. Because why? Because there are so many "clean hands" in it.

However that may be, the Mirror knows and knows that every thinking man in Escanaba knows, that nothing good or elevating or uplifting or inspirational ever came out of the

Fictionized from the Selig-Rork First National screen version of the famous play

By SCOOP CONLON CHAPTER 5

Before she could make a last plea, Wright observed Father Kelly, Capt. Mather and Isaac Abrahamson entering his front gate. He hastily shoved the protesting girl into the kitchen and out the back door, but she had determined not to be put off so easily. So when Wright was admitting his callers, Alice slipped back into the house, unnoticed, and concealed herself where she could hear the conversation. She had heard vague but disquieting rumors regarding her lover.

Kenward Wright received his callers with his usual suavity and ease. "Come in, gentlemen," he said, with a smile, "what can I do for you?" But he could not deceive these wisemen of Sandy Bay. They were courteous in turn, but blunt. Father Kelly acted as spokesman for the community.

"My son," he began, with his usual allowances for all human beings, "we have heard that you are building a cannery on your marshland. We have also learned that you have gone into a partnership with MacTavish. Do you know that it will wreck the prosperity of our little village?" Father Kelly said this last with a touch of sadness. Even in his heart he suspected the truth.

The very goodness of the kindly father might have touched even Kenward Wright, but it happened that young Bruce Wilton joined his elders at that moment. Perhaps it was his arrival that prompted Wright's reply. "Well, Father Kelly," he said, with pointed sarcasm, "I must make a living on my marshland somehow."

The very insolence of the man who sat before them aroused the ire of every one but Father Kelly, who retained his composure with difficulty. Irrascible old Capt. Mather bounded to his feet in a rage. "Shaking his fist in the face of the young cad, who nevertheless sat unperturbed and with not a little amusement at the old man's vehemence, Capt. Mather shouted: "Why, you young whippersnapper! You're nothing but a traitor to the town that raised you. If I had my way, you'd be run out of town on a rail. Yes, sir-ree!"

Even the peaceful Isaac was incensed to the point of joining with the captain in bitter denunciation, while young Bruce counseled patience. But Father Kelly stared his anger. He could not believe in Wright's complete perfidy. His sense of justice was too great. While it was apparent to all that Wright was deliberately trying to wreak vengeance on those whom he thought had influenced Ichabod Wright to disinherit him, yet Father Kelly gave him the benefit of the doubt.

"Be patient, good friends," he counseled. "There is some truth in what the lad says. He must make a living somehow." Then he turned to Wright.

"Come, lad," he said, "what will you sell us the marshland for? We will lay it off for the sake of Sandy Bay."

Wright smiled quietly. Here at last was the beginning of his revenge. Like a snake torturing a bird, he held his auditors in suspense, while he belatedly smoked his cigarette—and pretended to ponder the question. Finally he took a pencil and paper and started to figure. When he had finished, his guests leaned forward in their anxiety.

"I am very sorry," he stated, mildly, "but, my friends, I could not think of selling off for less than— and then he named an impossible figure, one that he was certain they could not pay. Poor Father Kelly sank back in his chair, beaten and sick at heart, but not so the captain and Isaac. They were on their feet, Mather cursing and Abrahamson reticulating impotently in their anger at the soulless traitor who would betray his people. To all their anger Kenward Wright preserved a perfect air of nonchalance. Father Kelly was the first to recover his equanimity. He was bitterly disappointed, but he still saw a way to save the future of the community.

When the traitor Wright refuses to sell his rival cannery to the villagers who seek to save their beloved Sandy Bay, he arouses the anger of even the kindly Father Kelly. But the latter is a man of God and he dissuades the irascible old sea captain from exacting vengeance then and there.

"Now, there is my building fund for the Church of the Rosary," he said, but he could not conceal the heaviness in his voice. The new church had ever been his dream. He had contributed his own personal small inheritance years ago; he had even starved himself to gain more funds, and from time to time his worthy friends had contributed their mites. Then, too, there was the money that the grand old man of Sandy Bay had left towards the building fund. Altogether it made a tidy sum. It would go a long way towards satisfying the greed of the young man. And, after all, the peace of the village was vastly more important than the building of a new church. Such acts were only typical of Father Kelly.

The others protested in chorus, vigorously. But Father Kelly was not to be dissuaded. "We can put up with the little church for a while yet," he said, simply. Having sensed some turn like this, Capt. Mather had come prepared. He reached back into his hip pocket and extracted a wallet, rather than the usual plug of fine cut. With a glare of wrath at the unperturbed Wright, he cast a roll of bills on the table before Father Kelly, who smiled his thanks. Isaac was not far behind him. His contribution in the form of a check was even larger. Bruce followed suit. But when Father Kelly had it all totaled it was not enough. He turned with the smile of faith and trust that so well expressed his firm belief in mankind. "A shade short," he said to Wright, "but would you not contribute the difference for the future happiness of your birthplace?" Almost inso-

ARCHBISHOP HAYES EN-DORSES NEAR EAST RELIEF

His Grace, Archbishop Hayes, recently sent the following letter to Near East Relief:

"I enclose check for five thousand ($5,000) from the Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York for the appealing Christian work of your G.U.A.U. committee.

"I am shocked to learn how terrifying are the present conditions in the Near East, especially in Armenia. A stop must be put by the Christian world to this reign of massacre, famine, disease and horrors of every description. All must help.

"I commend most earnestly the appeal of the Near East Relief to the charitably thinking and mercifully disposed people of New York and in particular to the Catholic portion of the community.

"Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) PATRICK J. HAYES,
"Archbishop of New York."

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Its Color and Lustre With Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe.

Common garden sage, brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.

BRACE UP!

Do you feel old before your time? Is your back bent and stiff? Do you suffer urinary disorders? Don't despair—profit by Escanaba experiences. Escanaba people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's an Escanaba resident's statement.

J. E. Erickson, brakeman, 321 South 15th St., says: "In the morning my back used to get pretty lame and stiff and matches held me back from my work. If I stood too long, my back became sore and some nights I was so restless I couldn't sleep and as a result I would be tired and weak during the day. My kidneys were weak and I had to get up frequently during the night to pass the secretions which were badly colored and contained a sediment. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought some at the West End Drug Store. It didn't take them long to strengthen me. I still use Doan's occasionally when I feel in need of a kidney medicine and always get the same good results."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Erickson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
