Fort Worth, Texas, April 26—Gradually emerging from the high waters of the Trinity river, residents of Fort Worth, searched homes for the bodies of the dead today.

Thirty-six persons are listed as dead or missing. Rapid recession of the flood waters was relieving the danger of additional damage and loss of life, although more than two inches of rain fell last night, bringing the total rain fall here to 10.59 inches during the past 36 hours. The Trinity is receding rapidly and the worst of the danger is thought to have passed.

The river stage this morning was 33.7 feet, a drop of nearly six feet from yesterday's maximum.

Street Commissioner Gilvin announced that the city will have water service restored by tonight. Many dwellings that were inaccessible yesterday have emerged from the flood today until they may be reached dry shod. Little water is left between the railroad tracks and North Main street.

Dwellings are piled up against the embankment of the railroad bridges and many of them are hopelessly wrecked.

Hearst, also members of the police force, to an undertaking establishment, where he was alleged to have said he had killed Halliday in self defense and Hearst accidentally.

Welch's story as told to the police was that he was walking a beat today with a brother officer when Halliday and Hearst drove up in an automobile. Halliday made a motion as if he was going to draw a weapon, according to Welch and he opened fire on the car.

Halliday was struck three times with bullets and Hearst twice. Both were killed instantly.

BOY TELLS COURT FATHER WAS SHOT BY ROBERT DEWAR

John Stampion, Aged 11, Says
He Saw Dewar, Perronville
Farmer, in Doorway
With a Rifle.

Robert Dewar, who is being defended by Attorney H. J. Rushton of this city, went on trial before Judge R. C. Plannigan in circuit court in Menominee this week, charged with the murder of Michael Stampion at Perronville on the afternoon of Sunday March 20.

The Menominee Herald-Leader of Tuesday afternoon contains the following: "What for a while this morning appeared to be concrete evidence in favor of the prosecution, failed to develop when Father Francis Ignatz, Menominee county Catholic priest, testified that Stampion had not told him who it was that shot him. The same question put to Sophie Stampion, the dead man's daughter, was stricken out by the court.

"John Stampion, 11 years old, took the stand Monday afternoon. The boy testified that he saw Dewar standing on the threshold of the house shortly before the shooting and that Dewar had asked Mrs. Stampion where her husband was. The shooting occurred shortly afterward.

According to the testimony taken under cross examination of both K. O. Doyle, prosecuting attorney, and John J. O'Hara and Attorney Rushton of Escanaba for the defense, John Stampion pointed out Robert Dewar as the man who had shot his father when he attempted to rush upstairs as Dewar appeared at the front door of the farmhouse with a gun.

Wound Clean Cut
Dr. N. S. Campbell of Bark River, testified that the fatal wound was made with a steel jacket bullet as the wound was clean cut both at the front and back. "Stampion," he said, "died as he was placed in a rig outside the house. The bullet had pierced his left lung."

The shooting of Michael Stampion occurred late in the afternoon according to testimony, and followed a drinking bout at the farmhouse of a neighbor near Perronville in which Robert Dewar, his sons and others are alleged to have engaged in a free-for-all brawl. Stampion, it is said, took no part in the fray.

"It was after Stampion had returned to his home and was sitting in the house with his family, according to the testimony of Sophie Stampion, that a loud knock was heard on the door. Though frightened, the girl testified that she had gone to open the door and saw Robert Dewar standing in the entrance with a rifle in his hand. A shot was fired, her father came up the stairs, staggered into a room and fell upon the floor, she testified.

Boy Answers Dewar
"John Stampion, the son, said he saw Dewar at the door of the house and saw his father shot as he made a rush for the doorway. The bullet, after passing through Stampion's lung perforated the warming oven of the kitchen stove, nipped the fingers of the boy and passing out through a window lodged in the wall of the barn about 100 feet away.
"It was indicated by the defense that the testimony of the witnesses might be finished this afternoon at

Many Have Narrow Escapes.

TOKIO, April 26—A heavy earth shock centering in Tokio occurred at 10.15 o'clock this morning, considerable damage being done to buildings in the city as well as to their contents. The earthquake was preceded by an eruption of yesterday of Mount Anama Yama, which is 50 miles north west of Tokio, which broke forth with a loud report pouring forth volumes of ashes, stones and smoke. No serious damage was done by the eruption.

The earthquake caused the death of a few persons, none of the victims however, being Americans or Europeans. There were many escapes of the narrowest sort, from falling chimneys and walls.

The earthquake was one of the most severe experienced here in a long time. It was stated by officials that the quake lasted for 15 minutes, which is also the longest for several years.

The American embassy was lightly damaged and many of the exhibits of the peace exhibition were broken. Yokohama was as severely shaken as Tokio and the Chinese quarters in Yokohama were virtually destroyed and the water supply was disrupted.

SEAT SALE FOR "THE BAT" IS QUITE LARGE

Theatre Goes All A-gog
Over Thursday's Production.

With every theatrical record in New York and Chicago, both for total attendance and for gross box office receipts to its credit, "The Bat" the sensational dramatic triumph by Mary Roberts Rhinehart and Avery Hopwood will be presented by Wagenhals and Kemper at the Delft Theatre on Thursday, April 27th.

The forthcoming appearance of "The Bat" in this city is, unquestionably, the outstanding dramatic event of the year. Without doubt, no play in recent years has been discussed quite so much in this city. The remarkable record for success, compiled by "The Bat," both in New York and Chicago, has been noted frequently here whenever the subject of the theatre has arisen. To say that "The Bat" will receive an enthusiastic welcome from local theatregoers is putting it mildly.

"The Bat" comes here, exactly as it is being offered in New York. The production is on the same massive scale and the cast is a noteworthy one. The advance seat sale which opened Tuesday, indicates a packed house.

Badger Auto Dealers Restrained from Any Illegal Combination

MADISON, Wis., April 26—The organization of Wisconsin automobile dealers into an association for the purpose of fixing prices for used cars was held in restraint of trade and illegal under the anti-trust law, by Attorney General W. J. Morgan in an opinion today to E. F. Clifford, a special investigator of his department. Nine combinations of dealers in various sections of the state will be asked to dissolve their organizations as a result of this decision. Action in the matter if it should come into court would involve the so-called Saginaw plan for disseminating trade information, which has not previously been tested in the courts.

Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding, as well as Mrs. Gaffney, are all old residents of Garden. Mrs. Spaulding is married by her husband, whose condition at a late hour this afternoon was pronounced to be critical. He had not regained consciousness and it is stated that his death at any moment would not be surprising. There are also the following children surviving, Alonzo, Rufus, Harvey, Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Daley, all of Garden, and Roy Spaulding of Manistique.

POLICE WARN PARENTS TO WATCH KIDDIES

Danger of Playing in the Streets Frequent
By Autos.

The police department is in receipt of a number of complaints from motorists and well-to-do residents on Stephen and Hartnett avenues and 14th street relative to the large number of children playing and roller skating out in the streets. It is a very dangerous condition. Several minor accidents at ready have occurred and it is felt that if the practice is not discontinued some child will be killed now that the auto season is open.

The police especially wish the parents to exercise more supervision over the little folks. If your child is not at home or in your yard, make it a point to see that he is not playing in the middle of the street. The police cannot assume the entire responsibility for watching all the youngsters in town and they appeal to the parents to do their share.

HENRY FORD TELLS REASON FOR LEAVING THE FARM TO ENTER MANUFACTURING GAME

NEW YORK, April 26—Life on a farm drove Henry Ford into making automobiles.

Mr. Ford says so himself in an article which he calls "My Life and Work" written by himself in McClure's Magazine for May, with the collaboration of Samuel Crowther, author and editor.

And Mr. Ford still feels the same way about farming. Not that he has anything against farmers, he points out, but there is "too much hard hand labor on farms." Because he was born on a farm and knew without question just what farming means, Mr. Ford invented an automobile with which he hoped, first, to lighten the farmer's task and, second, to aid people without a lot of money in their search for enjoyment and business relief.

That in a nutshell is what Mr. Ford's article gives as the reason for the Ford car. Incidentally it is the reason for his interest in farm tractors and for a lot of other things which have happened in Detroit recently.

Flivver Nearly a Watch
The automobile, however, barely escaped being a watch. Mr. Ford had a desire to do fine mechanical work and his ideas naturally turned to watches, he says. At one period of those early days he had 300 watches and knew what made the wheels go around in every one of them. It was then he thought of the possibility of making a watch for 30 cents. In fact, he says, he almost started in the business but refrained when he figured out that watches were not a necessity and so would not be sold.

"Just how I reached that surprising conclusion is difficult to state, now," he observes.
But a combination of the farm and the watch, and the sight when he was only 12 of a road engine was too much for anything plebian in Mr. Ford's future. He started to consider the possibility of machines and after glancing at that engine, studying it, watching changes, reading and thinking, Mr. Ford branched out into the automotive industry.

Tried Steam First
Of course, says Mr. Ford, the horseless carriage was a common idea. He had it, as did several other inventors. But Mr. Ford figured that steam was the best means for moving his car, and he set about making a machine to operate by steam. He built one, and it ran. But it had defects, lots of them. He very carefully pointed out most of them. When he found he couldn't work out his difficulties to his satisfaction, he turned to gasoline—and so was born the Ford.

"It was in 1899 that I began work on a double cylinder engine," he writes, "because it was quite impractical to consider the single cylinder for transportation."
Shortly after that the farm was left behind definitely and completely when Fr. Ford went to Detroit as an engineer and machinist for the Detroit Electric Company at exactly $45 a month. The job wasn't much in itself but its great beauty lay in that it kept him out in his workshop for he had spare time and he employed it.

Gives Detroit a Thrill
Two years later Detroit got a thrill. Chug-chugging down its main streets came the gas-buggy. In the seat was Henry Ford. Behind it was a string of frightened horses and curious people. In front of it was bulwark of wondering thousands. Henry Ford had found a way to ride without horses to drag him.
The machine, however, was a slight problem. To begin with it blocked traffic. Not that it stalled, but every time Mr. Ford stopped the crowd started and he could not, in safety, leave the car a moment. Always there was some curious soul who would climb aboard, play with the brakes or the clutch and then trouble commenced.

Finally, it came to a show-down with the city authorities. At last, writes Mr. Ford, although there were no speed laws, no traffic ordinances, he had to get a permit from the Mayor to operate the machine.
"Thus for a time," he continues, "I enjoyed the distinction of being the only licensed chauffeur in the country."

Four Years For a Sale
Mr. Ford ran that first machine 1000 miles until 1896 and then sold it. It took him four years to make the first sale of a Ford automobile, but he immediately did what he has done since—put his profits into building a new and better car.
All this time, Mr. Ford was working as an electrician with the Electric Company. He had become a foreman at $125 a month but his gas engine experiments were not popular at the shop. The trouble was they believed in electricity completely, and were at least mildly skeptical about gas.

Fairly soon, therefore, Mr. Ford left the electric company. That was when a group of men willing to take a chance stepped in and organized the Detroit Automobile Company. Mr. Ford was chief engineer. He owned a small block of stock and it was his car they sold. There were disagreements over questions of finance and auto development, and Mr. Ford quit. He took his patents with him, opened the famous one-story brick shed and proceeded to build and sell about 25 cars. About that time—it was then 1902—Mr. Ford won a road race in one of his own cars and business began to pick up.

Formation of the Ford Motor Company was the result.
"I determined absolutely," writes Mr. Ford, "that never would I join a company in which finance came before work or in which bankers or financiers had a part. I have yet to see it demonstrated that is the way to success. For the only foundation of real business is service."

Legion Officials To Ask New Hospital to Treat Shell Shocked

DETROIT, Mich., April 26—State officials of the American Legion are making plans to ask the next legislature to make available $250,000 with which to build and equip at Ann Arbor a 300-bed hospital for Michigan war veterans who are suffering from shell shock. The hospital would be operated by the Legion, in the same manner that the tuberculosis hospital at Battle Creek now is being conducted, but under supervision of the medical departments of the University of Michigan.

About 1,500 world war veterans in Michigan are suffering from the results of shell shock and no hospital is provided in the state for their care, according to Dr. Frank B. Broderick, state welfare officer of the Legion. Many of the sufferers will be unable to carry on their vocations until afforded hospital treatment, he declares.
Treatment would be given under the plan, thru government contracts.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER
Harmless to flush kidneys and neutralize irritating acids—Splendid for system.
Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up a irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.
Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts, from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.
Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Cincinnati Man Has Radio Displacing All School Farms

CINCINNATI, O., April 26—One of the most novel suggestions for the use of the radiophone is advanced by James G. Fisk a member of the Cincinnati Board of Education. Mr. Fisk says that he would substitute the radiophone for teachers. He also declares that he is in earnest about his plan and has requested details from an electrical engineer. Fisk says further that under his plan each of the 45,000 school children in this city would be furnished with a receiving set and that the lessons would be broadcasted at certain hours of the day from a central station. The children, he said, would go to the school buildings but once a week for further instruction. He declared the plan would entail a

Presbyterians To Prepare Big Rally for Next September

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., April 26—Tentative plans for an inspirational rally of Presbyterians of Michigan at the time of the state Synod meeting of the church here next September have been offered various Synods of the organization by Dr. William Beal Gantz, new superintendent of the church's extension department and executive secretary of the Detroit synod.

The church leaders through the state have been asked by Dr. Gantz to consider his proposal to make the annual meeting, usually lasting but two or three days, an affair that will require a week's time and bringing together large numbers of the church members from all sections of the state. If the proposal is adopted leading Presbyterianians from other states, many of them prominent in national life, will be asked to serve as speakers.

To Teach English How to Drink Wine And How to Order

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 26—English palates, long noted for their appreciation of fine old wines, are in danger of deterioration because of the lower price of vintages, according to a group of prominent wine merchants who propose an English wine week in emulation of the French custom. Wine, they declare, is no longer a luxury as the lower price has brought it within reach of all.

The purposes of wine week, it is said, will be to educate the English taste for wines and also to instruct diners in the elementary rules and traditional usages of beverage selections. It is planned to gather a representative group of speakers and writers to sing the praises of wine, and to tell those who would learn how to drink it. The merchants expect substantial assistance from the governments of wine-producing countries, such as France, Italy, Spain and Australia.

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS
Lame every morning, achy and stiff all day, wore when it's damp or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use. Ask your neighbor!
Henry Zeegers, 625 S. 16th St., Escanaba, says: "Generally in the morning, I had quite a time of it with my back. There was a dull pain across my kidneys which seemed to hold me down when I attempted to get up from the bed. I was bothered a great deal when I bent because sharp catches took me in my back. I was hard to do any work and lack of sleep had me so tired and weak I didn't feel like myself at all. My kidneys were in a bad shape and I had to get up two or three times during the night to pass the secretions which burned in passage and contained sediment. I heard Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and bought a supply at the West End Drug Store and they fixed me up in good shape."

NOVEL METHOD SUGGESTED TO RAISE REVENUE
Suggested that Fines Be Imposed for Missing Church.

LONDON, April 26—The alternative of going to church on Sunday or paying a fine is suggested by the Rev. Robert Forman Horton one of England's most noted Non-conformist ministers, as a means of raising sufficient revenue "to run the country without plunging it into bankruptcy." Such legislation, he declares, would net 80,000,000 pounds a year.
Dr. Horton's suggestion is said to be based on a law passed in the reign of Edward VI, when anyone absenting himself from church "without lawful or reasonable excuse" was fined one shilling. The law was repealed, but re-enacted and rigidly enforced in subsequent reigns.
The 50 or more church in the square mile around the Bank of England contained full congregations in those days, but few persons enter them on weekdays now except American tourists, and the Sunday congregations, Dr. Horton declares, do not exceed a baker's dozen. The Bishop of London has even gone so far as to suggest that some of them be demolished and the valuable sites be sold to provide funds with which churches could be built in other parts of the city.
This suggestion brought a deluge of complaints upon the Bishop, but strange to say, they were not from persons identified with church affairs. Almost exception they came from financiers, who maintained that the sight of these old churches served a very good purpose in softening the hearts of "money-mad crowds" who gazed upon them as they hurried by.

PHONE RATES IN STATE TO GET INNING

Subscriber to Have a Time at Bat in Hearings Now On.

(By Associated Press)
LANSING, Mich., April 26—When hearings were resumed before the state public utilities commission today on the petition of the Michigan State Telephone Company for permission to establish permanent rates, indications were the testimony would bring discussion regarding prevailing rates in state exchanges.

In the hearings held thus far the rate question, as it pertains to the individual subscriber, has been almost submerged in a mass of technical detail and testimony concerning relationship of the Michigan State and the American Telephone and Telegraph company. A number of cities and representatives here when the hearings first started. They dwindled as the proceeding progressed, but were expected back today to be on hand when the case looked as though it might take a turn toward local rates.

The company, in connection with its petition, has filed with the commission two tentative schedules. One, affecting those exchanges now served only by the Michigan State, provides for an increase of from seven to fifteen per cent. The other lists proposed advances in cities now served by both the Michigan State and the Citizens Telephone company, which the company would put into effect in view of the consolidation of the two companies.

The commission is scheduled to formally consider the application of the Michigan State to absorb the Citizens. It is conceded generally that little remains to be done to complete the transaction except to get approval of the commission. Their apparently is no doubt this will be forthcoming. It is estimated by telephone experts that it will take from one to three years to eliminate two telephone services in Michigan.

These Families Are Disproving Old Saw About Real Living

(By Associated Press)
EUSTIS, Florida, April 26—The old theory that two families cannot live amicably under one roof has been exploded and one of the "exploders" is a newspaper publisher of this city. A. D. Miller, publisher and editor of the Eustis Lake Region, and his brother C. D. Miller, local merchant for nearly a century have been living in the same house with their families and have followed business methods unique in this day and time.

Twenty-three years ago the Miller brothers, then residents of Kentucky their native state, married sisters, and established their home together. They pooled their business interests and all these years each has regarded the other as owning an equal share of what he possesses. They keep a joint bank account. "D" owns an equal share in the two prosperous mercantile concerns operated by "C. D." and "C. D." owns half of the Lake Region Publishing Company. Even their home is entered on the tax roll belonging to them jointly. A bill contracted by one brother is paid by the other, if he receives it first.

The brothers and their families, although they have made several moves since their marriages, have never separated, for where one has gone the other accompanied him. They came to Eustis several years ago from Richmond, Kentucky.

Embodying An Ideal of Service

IDEALISM combined with practical efficiency are the motives inspiring the 25,000 men and women who make up the personnel of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The ideal of production is to create petroleum products as nearly perfect as is humanly possible. The expression of this ideal in tangible form has resulted in a vast and superlatively efficient service to 25 million people in 11 Middle Western States.

To perform this service our complete refineries are working 24 hours every day.

At the Whiting Plant alone the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) employs more than 3,500 people and has an annual capacity of

- 14,600,000 bbls. of crude oil
- 7,750,000 bbls. of gasoline
- 2,190,000 bbls. of refined oil.
- 1,800,000 bbls. of lubricating oil.
- 35,000 tons of refined wax
- 100,000 tons of asphalt products
- 14,000 tons of candles
- 2,500 tons of parowax
- 24,000 tons of grease

These plants are the visible expression of an ideal. To bring them to their present degree of efficiency required years of time, intensive training, wide experience and almost limitless resources.

The seven men who guide the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are planning constantly new methods and more ways to achieve greater effectiveness in serving the people depending upon the Company for petroleum products.

These men are working to perfect a complete service—first by manufacturing a maximum number of useful petroleum products and second by maintaining a complete system of distribution which shall carry these products to the consumer whenever and wherever he may have need for them.

"Let's Make Escanaba A Better City"

LET'S BE CHEERFUL.

We are now at the beginning of a campaign to "Make Escanaba A Better City." That is the end and aim and ambition of the new city commissioners.

The Mirror believes the change has already set in. It is written in the bettered spirit of man to man in the daily contacts of business life.

Those who break the laws we have always with us. For them laws are necessary and, as Bryan so well said here a few nights ago, "laws are never popular with those whose vicious activities they are made to restrain."

It many times has been said that too many laws are on the world's statute books. But, according to Paul, the apostle, there is no law against nine wonderfully distinctive human traits.

Love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance.

Can you imagine anything better happening to Escanaba than a general observance of the foregoing? Could anything very seriously amiss happen if all of us practice, so far as lies within our power, the virtues against which there are no laws?

Some wise man has said: "Be cheerful until 10 o'clock in the morning; the rest of the day will take care of itself." That doesn't sound like bad philosophy.

Now to analyze a bit, the human traits mentioned above: Love—briefly, it means looking affectionately upon all of one's fellows, though volumes would be required to express its varying notes.

Joy—rejoicing in the countless blessings bestowed, or giving vent in some manifestation of gladness.

Peace—what a blessing in disguise! O, Peace, what a world of comfort in thy embrace!

Long-suffering—suffering patiently, bearing one's cross with fortitude and a smile for those round about.

Gentleness—ah, to be kind to everything and everybody, is to win additional glory in the eyes of God!

Goodness—it combines Godliness and greatness; charity and piety.

Faith—it will remove mountains if one trusts and believes; it will lighten the burden of the heavy laden; it is a one-word sermon.

Meekness—it shines out for all time in the lowly Nazarene; mild of temper in the human being and always gentle.

Temperance—moderation in all things, but more particularly, we think it means here, to the appetites or the passions.

All, according to Paul, are the fruit of the spirit of Christ. If all of us only possessed virtues such as are outlined in the Holy Writ, there would be no need for so many laws; in fact, we would be guided solely by the divine law itself.

But, you object, if we do all the controlling of temper, if we are meek and humble and long suffering, our rights will be trampled upon by the "roughneck" who isn't practicing these virtues.

That may be true to some extent. The man who coined that neat little bit about the rain falling upon the just and the unjust alike, occasionally finding the unjust man with the just man's umbrella, said something worth consideration, but it is the exception which proves the rule.

There is no escaping the fact that if the great bulk of Escanaba people met each other in the spirit of friendliness and tolerance and helpfulness for the next sixty days, it would be a marvelous step forward in "Making Escanaba A Better City."

SPELLERS, GOOD AND BAD.

When Mrs. Finley, aged 81, spelled down all of the good spellers in Bucyrus, Ohio, including lawyers, doctors, preachers and school teachers, she explained her victory by saying "they taught you how to spell when I went to school."

Did they really, or is some other theory needed to account for the woman's victory? Let anyone turn to his family letters, if he has such things, and read over the yellowed missives. Maybe in some particular collection the spelling will be better than the average spelling of today but the truth is that the American pioneer was far from infallible in his orthography.

Many an American great man of the days gone by whose life and letters have been printed shines as a good speller only because the editor was a better speller than the statesman whose letters he edited.

The other theory about good spellers is not that they had good teaching, but that they were born that way; and modern psychology could say something in support of that view. Some people see more sharply than others, and remember what they see. Some people read at a glance, and others proceed word by word. In such differences may, perhaps, be found the reasons for good and bad spellers, and whether this is so or not, it is a fact that in a class of children having the same teacher and the same opportunities to learn, all kinds of spellers will be developed. To this extent that famous dictum to the effect that reading and writing come by nature has justification.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that the world must be getting better because nobody talks about Harry Thaw any more, but now that Fatty Arbuckle is disposed, of they may get back to Harry or young Mr. Bergdoll or somebody like that.

SOCIAL NOTES

Murphy-Kuhn
St. Patrick's church was the scene of a pretty marriage ceremony Tuesday morning at eight o'clock when Miss Isabel Cecelia Murphy, daughter of James E. Murphy, became the bride of Mr. Guy Hubert Kuhn, of Gregory, Mich.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her away at the communion railing to the bridegroom, who with his brother, Mr. Paul Kuhn, of Gregory, Mich., who acted as best man, had advanced to the front of the church from a door at the right of the altar, Rev. F. A. Kraus performed the ceremony.

The bride looked charming in a gown of navy taffeta with picture hat and carrying roses. The bridegroom was Miss Adel Brady, a lifelong friend of the bride. Miss Brady wore a gown of grey and blue taffeta with a grey hat and carried roses also. Many friends and relatives attended the nuptial high mass.

After the ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, 219 N. 15th street, to the relatives and friends of the family. The couple left for home later in the day for Gregory, Mich., where they will make their home. Mrs. Kuhn is one of Escanaba's most popular young ladies and has a large circle of friends here. The bridegroom is an enterprising young business man and like his bride wishes his friends to be true.

Mrs. Mary Radwin and Mrs. Alexander Pink, of Ottawa, came here to attend the wedding.

L. O. T. M. Meeting
This evening at 8 o'clock the Ladies Aid of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon at the Chapel at North Escanaba. Mrs. John Nigard will give. All are invited to attend. Meeting call at 7:30.

In attendance at this meeting. The meeting will be called at eight o'clock sharp as the committee in charge of the social part wish to have a social hour and refreshments following the meeting. The ladies wish to make this the banner meeting of the year by having every member in the hall tonight.

C. & N. W. Woman's club Benefit Show

The interest shown in the advance sale of tickets for the Benefit show which will be given at the Delft Theatre Friday, April 25th, under the auspices of the C. & N. W. Women's club is a sure indication that the show will be a success. The program which is directed by William Lang will be one of the best ever shown in this city.

The program is to be a surprise to those who attend the show and it will be all that is promised to be. Some of the best local talent has been selected to take part and those who see the show will get their money's worth. The proceeds are for a worthy cause and there is no doubt that the theatre will be packed at each performance.

Ladies Aid Meeting

The Ladies Aid of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon at the Chapel at North Escanaba. Mrs. John Nigard will give. All are invited to attend. Meeting call at 7:30.

Anniversary Party

Miss Viola Eder was pleasantly surprised by fifty of her friends at the home of her sister, Mrs. X. Brown, at North Escanaba Sunday evening. Music, games and other diversions were part of the evening's program followed by a delicious lunch. Every one declared they had spent a very enjoyable evening.

Afternoon Card Party

This afternoon the Grand Auxiliaries of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will give a card party at Gregory's hall at two-thirty. Five Hundred and Fifty will be played and prizes will be awarded after which lunch will be served. Every one is cordially invited to attend.

Morning Star Card Party
The members of the Morning Star Society are sparing no efforts to make the card party at the North Star hall this evening a success. Prizes will be awarded for the card games and lunch will be served. All are welcome to attend.

Pre-Nuptial Party

Miss Ellen Frederickson was pleasantly surprised at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. J. Frederickson, 407 So. 9th street Tuesday evening when a party of friends invaded the home and proceeded to have a good time. The plans for the party were made without a hint of the preparation reaching Miss Frederickson. When the invited guests arrived at the home her surprise was genuine. Revolving from her surprise the bride-to-be dispensed her usual hospitality and proceeded herself an admirable hostess.

The affair was a miscellaneous shower and many useful and pretty gifts were presented to Miss Frederickson who is to be married in the near future. Suitable verses were written and attached to each gift, the reading of these original lines caused much merriment among the assembled guests.

After a few hours of social diversion the guests partook of a delicious refreshment. Miss Frederickson recently resigned her position as bookkeeper at the Ed. Erickson store where she has been employed for a number of years.

Some of the women who have recently forsaken their social obligations for business are Mrs. LeRoy Stevens, missus dress shop; Mrs. Charles de L. Oelrich, perfume; Mrs. Clare Glassell, specialty shop; and Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, leather.

Not "How Many"

But "Who Are They?"

Quality depends upon what a thing is—not upon how many there may be of that particular thing. The whole of anything is the measure of value of its parts. Take Want Ads for instance. You couldn't hope to collect results from even a million people if not a single one of them had the dollars to purchase what you offered through that Want Ad. Yet if that same good use passed by you with the right sized check book—that distribution of exactly ten would be worth as much to you as a million "impossibilities." Remember, that when using Want Ads, if you'll hitch up to Mirror Want Ads, then you'll always be certain of an audience big enough and worth enough to do what you want them to do.

DETROIT DREAMS WONDERFUL FUTURE FOR THAT CITY

Would Become the Greatest Industrial and Trade Center in United States by 1940.

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, April 26—Detroit as a city of 2,000,000 population in 1930 and the Detroit district as the greatest industrial center of the country by 1940, is the theory on which the Board of Commerce here is shaping its future activities.

The dream of Detroit financiers and industrial leaders includes these features:

A great industrial center in the form of a half circle, with the base extending along the Detroit river between Lakes Erie and St. Clair, a distance of about 30 miles, and the arc reaching to Pontiac. The entire district within the half circle to comprise the setting for the most important industrial activity the United States yet has seen, including manufacturing establishments so diversified in character as to make the region an industrial kingdom in itself.

The chief industrial plants located outside the corporate limits of Detroit, relieving this city of its congestion, but at the same time making it the heart, or business center of the district.

Scores of New Towns
Scores of new towns and cities within the district, each as a separate entity, but a cog in the great wheel destined to make this part of the state a region that will write industrial history.

Making the district along the Detroit river between this city and a point beyond Trenton the greatest steel manufacturing center of the country.

Providing a network of belt railroads that will reach into every part of the half circle.

In short, according to the Board of Commerce, the builders of Detroit plan to make this district the headquarters for American industry, just as New York now is the leader in the financial field.

Contributing Factors
Several contributing factors will contrive to bring this about, according to the board's theory. These are development of the Detroit port district, building of a waterway to the sea, location of the steel industry in Michigan, and diversification of Detroit industries.

Officials of the board admit the picture, so far, has not been entirely fulfilled, but point out it is no more its possible fulfillment than was the record-breaking growth of the city from 1910 to 1920.

These officials believe the lake-to-ocean waterway is a certainty, eventually, perhaps within the next few years. They also believe the steel industry will locate in Detroit. In this connection they point out that at present ore is shipped from Northern Michigan to Pittsburgh, converted into steel, then sent back to Michigan for conversion into automobiles and other commodities. They hold this process a needless waste of time and expense. The ore could be brought to Detroit by water, they point out, manufactured into steel here, and used but a few miles away in automobiles and other plants. Every indication points toward location of the steel industry headquarters along the river front be-

Rocks Baby to Sleep; Later Finds It Dead

SAGOLA, April 26—When the eight-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cambrey awoke about one o'clock Saturday morning and began to cry, the father picked her up and rocked her gently in his arms. When the crying was stilled, he laid the infant back in her crib, and returned to bed. When the parents arose they found that the child had died during the early hours of the morning.

Trade Toward Detroit

In discussing the projected industrial center near Pontiac, accompanied by establishment of rapid transit between that city and Detroit, the board believes such a step would cause no injury to Detroit from the standpoint of business, as the trade of all cities and towns in the district is toward this center.

In preparation for the expected industrial development down river from Detroit, realtors owning land between this city and Wyandotte, 12 miles down stream, met at the Board of Commerce recently and settled upon a course of pooling their holdings to permit the laying out of a systematic industrial section. The realtors went so far as to decide upon a building code and determine to destroy certain buildings. It was explained the district would be made as attractive as possible for tenants of property and that the section would be beautiful wherever possible.

The board points out that this proposal, if carried out, would make the expected new steel center the only one of its kind with artistic surroundings.

GOT ANY ODD JOBS?

Call Chamber of Commerce for Men Who Are Deserving and Need Work if You Are Doing Any Little Repair Jobs.

With the coming of spring, comes the necessity of doing repairing about the home, painting, varnishing, etc. Many men having families, some of whom are taxpayers in the city, are badly in need of work.

If the people of Escanaba have work of this kind which they would ordinarily do themselves, but because of the present emergency would be in a position to give the employment to some less fortunate, they are requested to call the Chamber of Commerce office, Phone 1109. The Employment Bureau will thereupon send some deserving party to take the job.

STATE DEMOCRATS PROMISE LIVELY CAMPAIGN YEAR

Ex-Gov. Ferris Seems to Have the Pole in Race for Nomination for Senator.

(By Associated Press)
LANSING, Mich., April 26—Leading Michigan Democrats progress to see in the state advisory convention held in Grand Rapids recently, the foundation for one of the most vigorous campaigns ever waged by the party's candidates.

According to those who sponsored the idea of an advisory convention, it worked out as a huge success. By naming candidates and endorsing them for the consideration of Democratic voters next fall, they hold, they have given the candidates a start of several months over the old system of choosing candidates. In other words, they have given their candidates notice and as one delegate said at the convention, "turned them loose on the state" in plenty of time to get a hot campaign inaugurated and under way.

Lively Indications
If the convention was an indication of the manner of campaign, the Democrats will conduct this year, it will be a lively one. Plenty of enthusiasm was evident among the delegates both at a banquet and preceding the convocation of the National Democratic committee, passed the word among the delegates that he brought a "message of hope and confidence from nearly every state in the Union."

"Democrats everywhere" he said "believe the vote this year will be a complete reversal from the last election."

The convention apparently thought much of the national committee chairman's message. The delegates applauded it as a true reflection of the signs of the times.

One of the noticeable features of the convention was the number of women in attendance. Nearly half of the audience both at the banquet and convention was composed of women. Many of them, naturally, were attracted to the banquet by the presence of Mrs. Bernice Pyke, of Cleveland, a member of the Democratic National committee, but party leaders declare that their presence also had a deeper meaning. They assert that the women affiliated with the party are going to play a big part in the coming campaign. Alva M. Cummins, one of the two men recommended for the governorship by the Democrats, predicts it is only a matter of a few years at the most, when a women will have the support of the Democratic party for governor.

It appears probable as a result of the convention that the names of both James B. Balch of Kalamazoo, and Alva M. Cummins of Lansing will be entered in the primaries. For the senatorship, however, unless some objection to the sentiment of the convention arises. Former Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris, will be unopposed as will Walter I. MacKenzie of Detroit for the lieutenant governorship.

It is likely that on the Republican side every state elective officer will be a candidate or re-election. There is one possible exception, but the exception depends upon the possible removal from the state of one of the officers, and will not be decided for some time.

MAKING FILMS TO TEACH LORE OF THE INDIAN

Legend Surrounding the Totem Pole to Be One Subject.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 26—What the totem pole means in Indian history and legend will be made clearer to the school children of the country when films soon to be made by the Society of Visual Education are thrown on the screen.

Early this summer on those far off islands lying along the upper coast of British Columbia, hundreds of Indians will take part in the unfolding of the legend surrounding the totem poles which travelers see in the Alaskan villages. This work will be under the direction of Prof. F. E. Froese, who for forty years has made his home among the Indians on Queen Charlotte and Prince of Wales Islands. The services of Prof. Froese were obtained by H. L. Clark, vice president of the Society for Visual Education as the man best fitted to carry out this important plan.

Every part in the drama will be taken by Indians and drilled them for the ambitious work will begin in a few weeks under Prof. Froese's instruction. Two films have been arranged for and they will be produced purely from an educational standpoint for use in the public schools. While pictures have been made of the totem poles and of some of the Indians of that stormy region, it is believed this is the first attempt to put the meaning of the symbols into form understandable to the children. It is expected that both films will be ready for use by the opening of the schools in the fall.

Boy and Girl Clubs On Farms Are Being Extensively Clubbed

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 26—Under the direction of national committee headed by E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture, organization of boys and girls clubs is going forward rapidly in all the organized farm districts of the country. The object of the work is to encourage ownership and a personal interest in farm life and to better the social, educational and economic advantages of boys and girls in the country and small town.

With more than half a million engaged in club activities this year, the committee hopes to interest and enroll 2,000,000 of the 11,000,000 farm boys and girls of America in club work by 1925. The work consists of pig and calf clubs, colt clubs, garden clubs, canning and poultry clubs and other activities. Winners of prizes in local shows take their products to be judged at county fairs, the winners in turn going to state and national exhibitions.

Last year boys and girls enrolled in clubs thruout the farming states raised products valued at $9,000,000 on

BEAUTIFY YOUR LAWN

Have Your Lawnmower Sharpened by Machinery—Make Mowing a Pleasure Instead of a Drudge.

This Is the Machine That Does It

It is a well known fact that owing to the peculiar shape of the blades it is next to impossible to sharpen a Lawn Mower with a file, and many first-class Mowers have been ruined in the attempt.

Your Mower ground with this machine will be sharp and stay sharp longer than the old style way which is usually done by inexperienced workmen with an emery wheel, file or emery dust, etc.

While the emery dust method is a cheap one it is not desirable. The clearance of the cutting blade is reduced, making more surface in contact with the lower bar. As the edges become dull, the mower has to be adjusted very closely, so that it TEARS the grass instead of SHEARING it, at the same time making it run harder than ever.

Next Time your Mower needs sharpening, bring it in or notify us, and we will make it cut so nicely that it will surprise you.

SENIOR PLAY PLANS READY; SHOW MAY 5
Twenty Members Prepared to Present Annual Class Play.

The Senior play of the class of 1922 will be presented to the public Friday night, May 5. From the amount of work that has been put on the play so far, the public may feel assured that it will not be disappointed.

With the exception of two parts, all the characters are college students. Walter Bergman, as Robert Preston, a lawyer, is well fitted to a difficult part on which much of the success of the play depends.

Harriet McGuire as Phyllis Lane, and Cecil Londo as Douglas Brown show their ability in delightful team work. Both parts give ample opportunity for funmaking and are expected to be well received.

The part of the villainess is taken by Lucille Heminger, and calls for not only acting ability but considerable skill as a mimic.
