BALFOUR MADE ENGLISH PEER AND ACCEPTS Name Adds to Already Confused List of British Peers.

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 4.—Sir Arthur Balfour's acceptance of elevation to the House of Lords as Earl Balfour of Whittingehame adds to an already confused list of British peers.
There are already a Lord Balfour of Burleigh, two Lords Morley—the Viscount and the Earl—two Lords Cobham, two Lords Ashton, a Lord Curzon in both houses, (The Commoner having the courtesy title of Viscount) Lord Middleton and Lord Middleton, Lord Lindsay and Lord Lindsey, Lord Longford and Lord Longford, Lord Terrington and Lord Terrington.
Commenting on Sir Arthur's admission to the House of Lords, the Observer said:
"Having entered on the slippery slope of accepting titles, Sir Arthur Balfour now finds himself doomed to the House of Lords, the destiny equally of success and failure in politics. It is a pity we cannot find a way of distinguishing between those who are made peers because of their eminent services and those who have been made peers because their services were not eminent. Is there any other institution in the Empire thus curiously recruited from the top and from the bottom?"

ERICKSON PLEADS GUILTY TO BEING AN IMPERSONATOR

Held Up Delta County Moonshiners by Representing Himself as a Federal Agent.

MARQUETTE, May 4.—Arraignment of seven defendants, 5 of whom pleaded guilty, and the return of 2 indictments by the grand jury were the important developments in federal court yesterday.
Alex S. Erickson, arrested some time ago by Delta county officials and turned over to federal authorities, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with falsely impersonating a federal prohibition enforcement officer. He is said to have procured money at Eken Junction and other places by telling moonshine vendors that he was a prohibition agent and would arrest them unless they "came across".
John A. McGraw, of Houghton, pleaded guilty to one count in an indictment charging violation of the liquor law. There were two counts to which he pleaded not guilty.
Charles Packman, of Munising township, indicted for violation of the Volstead act, pleaded guilty.
Planton Dawachik and Samuel Kila, of Delta county, pleaded not guilty when arraigned on a charge of selling and manufacturing intoxicating liquor and of having a moonshine still in his possession.
Burt Forest, of Marquette, county, pleaded guilty when arraigned on a charge of selling liquor.
Kazimir Zellinski, of Escanaba, formerly a resident of Marquette, pleaded guilty to possession of a still and mash but not guilty to a charge of sale and manufacture.
None of the men who pleaded guilty were sentenced.

Twenty-Nine Indictment

Late yesterday afternoon the grand jury returned twenty-nine indictments involving alleged liquor law violations and two "no true bills," meaning that in two cases the jurors found no cause for indictment.

Railroad Wins Case

"No cause for action" was the verdict of the jury in the case of Steve Vidakovich against the Soo Line railroad, the plaintiff suing the railroad for $25,000 damages as a result of an accident in 1919 that resulted in the loss of one leg to Vidakovich. He claimed that when he attempted to board a Soo Line passenger train the train started with a jolt throwing him off the steps and under a coach. It alleged he had not been given warning that the train was going to move.

Peking Surrounded By Gen. Wu's Forces

Peking, China, May 4.—The troops of General Wu have surrounded Peking and the army of General Chang has been scattered. All railroad traffic out of Peking has been suspended.
Admiral Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, has arranged to leave Peking for Tien Tsin in an automobile.
General Chang has acknowledged the mandate issued by Hsu Shih Chang, calling on both sides to withdraw to their original positions and declares his readiness to end the fighting if General Wu will also agree.
Owing to the hostilities, almost all the plans made at the Washington conference have been suspended.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY COMPLETE FOR FRIDAY EVE

Plenty of Tickets Are Still Available, It Is Stated.

Tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock, the work of the whole class of '22 for a month or more will come to a climax in the production of their class play, "At the End of the Rainbow." The play, one which is very suitable to the present social conditions of the class, has had however, not only the support of the cast itself, but the whole class is working hard and is eager to "put it across" as one of the most successful amateur theatricals ever produced in Escanaba.
The play is the first of a series of events finally leading to the commencement program in June. It has been an annual and much looked forward to event in the graduating class of Escanaba High school for many years and they all have been excellent productions.
If the advance work of the class is the gauge to the final success of the play it will certainly of quality be 100 per cent. Besides the cast, there are several committees working night and day to insure a real dramatic treat. There will be every accommodation for the guests of the class and service and courtesy will be the byword of the trained corps of ushers to relieve all confusion and discomfort usually present at such productions.
A high-class program of vaudeville has been prepared to entertain the audience before and between acts of the play. The High School orchestra, the Senior Boys quartet, the chorists of Catholic nuns, diabolos and some 200 all well trained in their line to offer real entertainment.
Although 150 seats have been reserved the rest of the auditorium, all the balconies, all good seats, numbering 550, are still being sold. Every effort is being made to sell all of the best tickets printed.

BOSTON, Mass., May 4.—The Shepard-Towne act providing for federal and state cooperation in maternity welfare and hygiene was declared to be unconstitutional in an opinion given by the legislature today by Attorney General Allen.
In his opinion he held that congress had exceeded its authority and that the legislation involved powers which were reserved exclusively to the state. He suggested that Massachusetts might well test the validity of the act in the supreme court.

POLICE THINK 14-YEAR-OLD BOY IS SLAIN

DETROIT, Mich., May 4.—Robert Salaman Jr., aged 14 years the high school student whose body was found hanging in a barn near his home yesterday, was murdered, the police believe today. The officers and the boy's family at first accepted the theory that he had taken his own life, although no motive could be found.
Police investigation, however, disclosed marks of violence that indicated a struggle and the position of the body showed that the lad could not have hung himself.

CLAUDE E. HAWKINS OF GLADSTONE, NEW SUPERVISOR HEAD

Prominent Young Business Man Made Chairman of County Board This Morning.

The new Delta County Board of Supervisors met at 11 o'clock in the court house this morning and proceeded with the business of reorganization. Claude E. Hawkins of Gladstone was selected as Chairman of the new board. Mr. Hawkins is one of the few old boys on the board and is one of two men who were returned from Gladstone. Mr. Hawkins has been a member of the finance committee for several terms and is thoroughly familiar with the operations of the board and its financial condition.
His choice will be endorsed by the county as a general proposition because of his long service and his business ability. Mr. Hawkins is and has for many years been head of the advertising department of the Marble and Manufacturing Co. and the board undoubtedly will be commended on having selected such a splendid and progressive young man for a position of so much importance.
The Chairman is to appoint standing committees and there was a hope when the board convened at 2 o'clock this afternoon that the work of the session could be completed today.

BORAH CLAIMS BAKHMETCHEFF NOT AMBASSADOR

Declares He Has No Credentials from Existing Government.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 4.—Rights of Bora Bakhmeteff, the last accredited Russian ambassador to the United States, to diplomatic privileges and immunities was discussed at length in the senate today by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, who declared that in his opinion the state department never had had credentials for Bakhmeteff to the American government.
Senator Borah challenged the state department to show him the credentials, if they exist, and added that it was "inconceivable that a man can be an ambassador without a government."
Mr. Bakhmeteff's government disappeared five years ago and now has taken its place so far as recognition by the United States is concerned.

CONSECRATION OF BISHOP IS IMPRESSIVE

Michigan Boy Made Bishop of Superior Diocese.

Escanaba Clergymen Attend Important Ceremony and Participate at Marquette Yesterday.

MARQUETTE, May 4.—A Michigan boy, the Right Reverend Joseph Gabriel Pinten, D. D., a life-long resident of the upper peninsula, is now bishop of Superior.
Perhaps the fact, with its consequent train of associations and its wealth of happy incidents, helped more than any other to swell the crowds so reverent and yet so enthusiastic, at the consecration ceremonies held in St. Peter's cathedral yesterday morning.
Great crowds have filled this historic edifice before. Distinguished gatherings have marked other happy or mournful occasions in which church services figure so prominent. Yet in this event there was apparent a universal desire on the part of the citizens of Marquette and the peninsula at large, in offer personal tribute of affection and esteem to the central figure of the ceremony, the Right Reverend Joseph Gabriel Pinten, D. D.
It would appear that the presence of each person was prompted by some personal recollection of friendship or service rendered in the past by the new bishop, perhaps a favor performed or a kindness received.
And all left this time to offer sympathetic return to help fully unite in making the occasion of personal triumph for a real friend whose ability and character the church has honored now and previously.

Crowds See Procession

One sensed this feeling, if indeed he had not overheard in the crowd many remarks which conveyed the idea. The valiant, happy expressions with which all of the throng, gathered outside along the line of the procession as it wound its way along Fourth street from the Episcopal rectory to the main entrance of the cathedral, proved this fact beyond doubt.
First came the surpliced choir boys. Then followed, in long lines, the priests of the diocese of Marquette and Superior, with others, classmates and friends from districts more remote.
The Monsignori in their brilliant purple preceded the visiting bishops and archbishops.
Enter Cathedral
Entering the cathedral the procession filed down the middle aisle, choirboys, clergy, visiting bishops and attendant priests taking the places assigned to them.
The officers of the ceremony, entering the sanctuary, awaited the taking of their respective places by His Grace, the Most Reverend Archbishop Messmer, D. D., Consecrator, Bishop-elect Pinten and co-consecrators, the Right Reverend Paul P. Rhode, D. D., and the Right Reverend John T. McNichols.
Archbishop Messmer was seated on the throne at the Gospel side, Bishop Eis, bishop of the diocese, occupying the throne directly opposite him. The bishop-elect was placed between Bishop Rhode and Bishop McNichols on the Epistle side.
The Most Reverend Archbishop, the Bishop-elect and the two co-consecrators were then vested in the pontificals required for the ceremony.

Mass Is Begun

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass was begun by the Bishop-elect at the side altar of St. Joseph, simultaneously with the Most Reverend Archbishop as the main altar, and continued as far as the Gradual. At this point Bishop-elect Pinten was presented to the Most Reverend Consecrator, who proceeded to state the duties of a bishop: "It behooves a bishop to judge, interpret, consecrate, baptize, and confirm," after which the clergy and the faithful were requested to pray that God might bestow His Divine Grace upon the Bishop-elect.
The Litany of the Saints was then chanted most impressively by the chanters and the clergy in attendance, while the Bishop-elect lay prostrate on the floor of the sanctuary beseeching God for strength, wisdom and piety in the duties he was soon to assume.

ESCANABA BOY MADE VICAR GENERAL OF MARQUETTE DIOCESE

Rev. Fr. H. A. Buchholtz Attains Position Made Vacant by Elevation of Bishop Pinten.

Escanaba without regard to religion will be more than pleased with the announcement made yesterday in Marquette by Bishop Eis, as Vicar General to succeed the newly consecrated Bishop Pinten, who is elevated from the Vicar Generalship.
Fr. Buchholtz will continue to perform his duties as pastor of the Cathedral parish in Marquette, but his new appointment carries with it responsibilities which his many friends here will be pleased to meet. Fr. Buchholtz holds a warm place in the hearts of hundreds of Escanaba people, many of whom grew to manhood with him during his young life in the city and his rise to a position of such eminence in the Catholic history of this section of the county will be the occasion for the extension of the most sincere congratulations.
Fr. Buchholtz's new duties as Vicar General of the Diocese of Marquette become effective at once.

Joseph E. Bennett Arrives From Cedar Rapids, Iowa, This Morning for Meeting Tonight.

A special executive session of the city commission will be held this evening for the purpose of conferring with Joseph E. Bennett of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who arrived this morning in response to a wire sent by the commission Tuesday.
Mr. Bennett is one of the applicants for the position of city manager and his recommendations were such that the city commission considered it advisable to invite him to come here for a conference.
It is stated that Mr. Bennett is a civil engineer by profession and has had a wide and successful experience in the city managerial field. He is 22 years of age and possesses a fine personality.
The commission will go fully into Mr. Bennett's qualifications and discuss with him some of the problems by which Escanaba is confronted. The fact of his coming here does not necessarily preclude his engagement for the big job ahead, but if it is decided that he is the man for the place, it is expected that announcement to that effect will be made within a short time.

DAUGHERTY IS GETTING HIS "DANDER" UP

Declares There's More Behind Morse Charges Than Has Yet Appeared Upon the Surface.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 4.—Attorney General Daugherty, in a formal statement today, referring to charges made against him in the senate, by Senator Charway, Democrat of Arkansas, in connection with the release from the Atlanta federal prison in 1912, of Chas. W. Morse, the New York ship builder declared:
"The real people behind this movement, aside from the partisan interests, have not yet shown their hand in this case."
Declaring his intention, "if there is occasion for it," to publish letters written several years ago by President Taft and George W. Wickersham, then attorney general, which he said "conclusively answered all charges," Mr. Daugherty said "that when the fact are fully known we would not expect even the persons now being used to purposes for which they do not suspect to ever refer to the matter again."

HIGHWAY WORK TO CONTINUE IN DELTA COUNTY

Shortage of Funds Will Handicap But Not Stop Progress.

County Highway Engineer R. P. Mason, who is a firm believer in the contract system of road building, stated that the program outlined for Delta County will be carried out as effectively as possible under the conditions of a curtailed fund.
Mr. Mason holds that a contractor gets more work out of his employees if they are working for the county and also that contracts awarded last year and still unfinished will be put thru this year, although no new contracts have been let this year up to this time.
Work on the grading of the Gladstone hill is reported to be near completion but no contract has been let for the surfacing and there is still ten miles of work to be done on Highway 12, which will be completed under the supervision under which it was started.
The shortage of funds for road building is not peculiar to Michigan alone it is shown by reports from other states, and Mr. Mason proposes to do the best he can under the circumstances.

YOU ARE IN DANGER!

Every time You Ride in An Automobile

IN ALL PROBABILITY AT LEAST 15,000 PEOPLE WILL BE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS DURING 1922

And besides this terrible death toll, no doubt hundreds of thousands of men, women and children will be either slightly or totally disabled in the same kind of mishaps. And automobile casualties are by no means the only travel accident catastrophes. Train wrecks, street car misfortunes, horse-drawn vehicle smash-ups, steamship horrors will all add their portion to this list of victims.

The Danger

The danger of automobile accidents during 1922 is clearly brought out in the accompanying article taken from the Literary Digest of Feb. 4, 1922.

The Article Shows

This article shows the danger you run every time you ride in your machine. Thousands of people will be killed, hundreds of thousands will be injured. Perhaps you will be the next unfortunate victim. What are you going to do about it?

There is no way

There is no way that you can absolutely guard yourself. No matter how careful you are, misfortune may come. But you should consider your loved ones. You should protect them against your death or disability from such cause. And you can.

The Daily Mirror

The Daily Mirror now offers every old as well as every new subscriber a $1,000 Travel Accident Policy for the small cost of 75c a year. This policy will give you the very protection you need.

DEATH TOLL OF THE AUTOMOBILE

A HUMAN LIFE EVERY HALF HOUR, day and night, every day in the year, will be the toll of automobile accidents in 1922, if the death rate from such accidents remains approximately the same this year as last. Officials of the National Safety Council estimate that nearly 15,000 persons were killed in the United States last year, an increase of about 4,000 over 1920—figures which lead one editor to remark that "our highways are as dangerous as the field of battle." In New York City, automobiles caused the deaths of 935 persons—a 50 per cent increase over 1919 fatalities. In New York state, we are told by officials of the National Highways Protective Society, 1,381 persons were killed in automobile accidents. This is the highest number ever recorded in the state. And for each fatality there are twenty accidents, observes the New York Herald; "each year the streets become more dangerous. Killings in the metropolis now average more than two each day of the year." And these accidents continue to happen the country over, observes the Omaha World-Herald, "despite the demands for more care, better training for drivers, and increased vigilance of traffic officers." Moreover, believes the Pittsburg Gazette-Times, "it is likely every such fatal accident was avoidable." In commenting upon the large number of fatalities in New York state, the New York World says:

"These accidents may be minutely classified. There is for most of them only one class—carelessness. And the State is doing little to put the careless driver out of the business in which he is an hourly menace. It licenses reckless and incompetent drivers, and when their recklessness or incompetence leads to the inevitable tragedy it does nothing to prevent a recurrence.

"It is not as if there were no instructive examples showing how traffic accidents could be diminished. Massachusetts has greatly lessened them by suspending the licenses of offending drivers, even when their offense has had no traffic results. New York is lenient to all carelessness.

"The necessary development of the motor truck has added to the street menace. Far more dangerous than a freight locomotive, which has to follow its tracks, driven at a speed often as great, the heavy truck kills where it strikes."

And other cities are not without their automobile problems. In Washington, for instance, notes The Herald of that city, there are junctions or "circles" where "pedestrians have to dodge automobiles coming from nine different directions." And they come, we are told, "at the most rapid speed consistent with the safety of the driver, and altogether inconsistent with the safety of the pedestrian." All things considered, "it is strange that accidents are so few." "Half-way" stations, or platforms of wood or concrete, however, placed in the middle of wide streets, are said to reduce the number of accidents by enabling pedestrians to cross in relays. But the great menace in Washington, as seen by The Star, is the truck.

"A large percentage of accidents in Washington are due to the indifference and haste of truck motorists. These vehicles figure in many of the fatalities. They are heavy and can withstand shocks. The drivers take advantage of this fact to risk collisions, claiming right of way and securing it by virtue of their own power and stoutness. Other vehicles yield to them because in a collision they will be the more seriously damaged."

Approximately 10 per cent of the fatal automobile accidents throughout the United States, it is pointed out by Baltimore and Ohio Railroad safety officials, occur at grade crossings. "It ought to be a very simple thing for the driver of an automobile to keep a sharp lookout as he approaches a railway crossing," remarks the Dayton News, "but in the simplicity of the thing lies the greatest danger." Then, too, it must be admitted, the careless or absent-minded pedestrian adds to the list of fatalities. As we are told in the Providence Journal:

"Pedestrians often leave the sidewalk without looking for approaching vehicles. The person who stops directly in front of a car can hardly expect the driver to stop within a distance of two feet even if the rate of speed is moderate. It is important to remember that neither pedestrians nor car-drivers have exclusive privileges on the highways; it is the duty of all who use the streets to be vigilant and to take no chances of accident.

"Perhaps it is impossible to bring about a hundred per cent improvement over last year's accident record, but it is certain that a better showing can be made by general observance of a few plain rules of safety."

Other editors list inadequate equipment, glaring headlights, improperly adjusted brakes, drunken drivers, perfunctory examinations of applicants for licenses, youthful drivers of both sexes, and the lenience of traffic court magistrates as other contributing causes to the enormous death toll from automobile accidents. "If the traffic rules that are in effect practically everywhere in the country were rigidly enforced, this drain upon human life would be stopped," thinks the Memphis Commercial-Appeal. "And sterner laws and more drastic sentences for drivers convicted of criminal carelessness would help a good deal," declares the New York Herald. In the Municipal Court of Detroit sits Judge Bartlett, who sends persons convicted of speeding to the House of Correction, where they are required to work eight hours a day. This meets with the approval of the Canton (Ohio) News, if not with that of the offenders. Says The News:

"Officers who have had dealings with the flagrant violators of traffic regulations have come to know that a small fine has only little effect upon the speeders. Some of them even think they are justified in boasting of the number of times they have been fined for speeding—it is assumed by them to set them apart from the common kind.

"Thirty days in jail or another corrective institution, with the requirement that they devote regular working hours to scrubbing or some other menial employment, would probably do more to break up the dangerous business of speeding than a succession of fines such as are usually imposed in such cases."

Not for years has there been such an actual, tangible, visible manifestation of civic pride in this city, as has been shown during the present week. Fired with the spirit of the new Escanaba, citizens are voluntarily co-operating with the city-street department in a way that is really inspiring and refreshing.

"Well, I guess I'll go home now and clear up the yard" is an expression which is heard frequently among men who do not own their homes, but whose sense of civic pride has become so gloriously matured within the last few weeks that they want to have an actual part in making this city noted for its clean streets and alleys, as well as its general desirability as a place of residence because of the fine spirit of its citizens and the warm and sincere welcome which good citizens feel privileged to extend to prospective residents.

In the old days when an officer had to go about through the alleys, snooping here and there, warning the head of the household and then lodging a formal complaint against the dilatory citizen, in order to get him to show a decent sense of duty, little was accomplished. It was always a fight.

But now all that has passed, we hope, into a past which will never be recalled. This voluntary willingness to clean up and to be among the first who do it, is sure fire evidence that old Escanaba has awakened and that her citizens have caught the larger and truer vision of what is required in the way of good citizenship.

It's simply great, just to feel that everybody is pulling in unison to—

"MAKE ESCANABA A BETTER CITY."

FORD'S WAR PROFITS.

Too much talk, like a little learning, is a dangerous thing. Some time during the war, someone, somewhere, heard that someone told someone else, who told it to the preacher, who told it to the car conductor, who told his wife, who had seven sisters, that Henry Ford intended to return to the United States government whatever profit he made as the result of war work.

The story ran its brief span of life and was forgotten until recently, when it has been revised, amended, cut and polished until now the bald statement is attributed to Mr. Ford that the Ford plants made a profit of $29,000,000 from war contracts and that he would turn that amount over to the government.

The story is interesting and inspirational and is true in every particular except the trifling detail that Mr. Ford never made the statement nor has he ever authorized it to be made for him.

The writer holds no brief for Mr. Ford in this matter, but he is fair enough to understand that the United States government ought to be too big to attempt to hold Ford to the fulfillment of a pledge which he never made, nor authorized to be made.

It is just more propaganda—and just as reliable. Just because some unauthorized, unreliable, irresponsible politicians in a fine burst of political oratory put those words in the Ford mouth, thousands of people expect Mr. Ford to make good on this gigantic but foolish promise attributed to him.

"Twenty-nine millions of dollars" is a lot of money, when you say it all in one breath, but after all it isn't so very large when compared with the profits taken by any number of other concerns furnishing war supplies.

And while Ford was making that $29,000,000, every wheel in his factories was turning for the benefit of the government. If he had not been making war materials and had used his plants to make cars for the public, as he is doing now, with his great genius for organization and effective and economical operation, it is only fair to assume that he would have easily made a profit of $50,000,000.

A fifty million dollar profit is not at all unreasonable. So it would appear that while Ford may have made what seems to be an enormous profit, he actually lost a matter of fifteen million dollars or more.

Millions of dollars were made in profits by concerns which sprung up over night, and all over the country, for the express and specific purpose of making war profits and war profits alone, as the plants were thrown together hurriedly and could not be used for other purposes after the war.

Yet no one hears any other name than that of Ford in connection with any stories relative to turning over their profits to the government.

The Mirror, in common with many other newspapers all over the land, would be glad to have the government get hold of $29,000,000 to be used for the benefit of the people, but at the same time it cannot see the consistency in this persistent hounding of a man who has already contributed so much more to his country's prosperity and greatness, than most of the men in his class.

If we can't be fair, let's try at least to be sensible. Remember, someone else said it. Ford did not say it. Why try to bluff?

Mr. Bryan may console himself for his disappointment in Florida by remembering that after all, oratory on the Chautauqua circuit pays better in dollars and cents than oratory on the floor of the senate.

Perusal of accounts of Geraldine Farrar's "fare-well" at the Metropolitan Opera House convinces us that if Gerry had not possessed a voice she would still have made a fortune as a publicity manager.

WITHOUT STREET ADDRESS YOUR MAIL IS DELAYED AT OFFICE OF DELIVERY

The Dead Letter Office has been in existence ever since Ben Franklin started our postal service. Even then people addressed mail to Mr. Ezekiel Smithers, "Atlantic Coast," and expected Ben to know just where Zeke lived.

Perhaps they had Zeke's address in letters up in the garret, maybe a chest full of 'em, but then it was easier to let Ben hunt Zeke. Today people are addressing letters to John Smith, New York, N. Y., or Chicago, Ill., thinking Uncle Sam can locate him, which is just as incomplete as was Zeke's address of yore. The Postoffice Department asks you to put the number and street in the address. It helps you.

DOCTORS CLAIMED RECOVERY WAS ALMOST A MIRACLE!

Woman Facing Nervous Disorder Discovers Remedy in Time

Nervous disorders are on the increase. Men and women compelled to go out into the world to battle for a living, quite often neglect their health to such an extent that a breakdown is the inevitable result.

Such neglect is criminal. In many instances it leads to fatal consequences. When you have moody spells, feel depressed, begin to have distaste for business or social duties, when you cannot sleep at night—these are sure signs of nervous ailments and should be checked.

Read below of the experience of one woman who, according to her own testimony, was languid, nervous, and unable to do my work. I was a complete wreck. I had no energy, no courage, no hope. I was a complete wreck. I had no energy, no courage, no hope.

WOMAN SEEKING WILLIAMS' SEAT

Mississippi Bitter Foe of Suffrage May Get Female Senator.

(By Associated Press) JACKSON, Miss., May 4.—By a queer twist of political fate a southern woman, a Mississippian, may be the first of her race to be elected to the United States senate.

Miss Belle Kearney, of Florida, near here a nationally known W. C. T. U. lecturer and world traveler, is in the race to succeed Senator John Sharp Williams when he retires in 1927 and keen political observers here say her chances for victory are exceptionally good.

The women of the state, it is believed, will line up almost solidly behind Miss Kearney.

Seek Her Withdrawal. Many elements in the state, especially those who favor the withdrawal of Miss Kearney from the senate race, but all of these efforts have met with defiance on the part of the champion of "women's rights."

Miss Kearney started her active campaign for a senate seat as soon as it was established that Senator John Sharp Williams would not seek re-election, and with a platform that is believed to be the point she is stamping every county in the commonwealth in the interests of her race. Here is her platform.

Declaration and entry of the United States into the league of nations.

Legislation toward making the Federal States a nation of free owners, rather than that of renters.

Strict enforcement of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act.

Protective legislation for women in industry.

Efficient child labor laws.

Legislation to employ social morality.

Abolition of a Federal Department of Education, with a secretary in that department.

Opposed by Yachtman. A young Yachtman child reformer and public health expert.

Business capable. "Federal aid for business projects—1920 legislation."

Opposing Mrs. Williams in the race for the national legislature two men, Herbert Stephens, who represented Mississippi in the lower branch of congress for many years, and James K. Yachtman, former senator and political figure in the state for the last twenty years.

Mrs. Kearney started her public career as a school teacher, but early turned to social work, becoming one of the best lecturers and organizers for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She always was an ardent suffrage worker.

She has opened headquarters here for Mrs. John Clark, one of her closest friends and wife of an east Mississippi senator, a campaign manager.

Letters asking how to buy its stock are a part of the daily mail of every successful corporation. Usually they are matter-of-fact inquiries, but once in a while a dull day is enlivened by a flash of real "human interest."

If I have to get it through a broker, who is a good one and what would be his commission? Kindly answer in a plain envelope. This is money I have hid. If my folks knew I had it I would have to get a new car and I think the old Ford is good enough."

He last was seen Sunday afternoon staking a cow out along the river bank. When he did not return for supper a search was instituted and his hat and cane were found on the river bank.

Flapper's 'Bob' Outdone By Fiji Islander's 'Pomp'

Hair Stands On End On Top of Head to Height of Six Inches.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 4.—The flapper who spends hours curling her bobbed locks to make them stand out three or four inches from her face has nothing on the Fiji Islander, according to a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, for the Fiji makes his hair stand on end on the top of his head to a height of six inches.

his thick, stiff and wiry brush to this remarkable feat," the bulletin says. When it becomes long and erect he takes a looking glass, entrusts his accessories to a trusty friend and under his personal supervision the mop is trimmed with wonderful skill into a ragged halo that stands out in pompous array around his shiny black face.

To add to the grotesque impression the Fiji Brunnet bleaches the collar of a sickly yellow with lime made from coral or dyes it red with annatto. "When the Fiji maiden decides to appear, instead of announcing her debut in the newspaper, she parts her hair in the middle and screws it into two whorls just above the ears. When upon young men who prize their life they take to the woods."
