

YOU ARE IN DANGER!

Every time You Ride in An Automobile

IN ALL PROBABILITY AT LEAST 15,000 PEOPLE WILL BE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS DURING 1922

And besides this terrible death toll, no doubt hundreds of thousands of men, women and children will be either slightly or totally disabled in the same kind of mishaps. And automobile casualties are by no means the only travel accident catastrophes. Train wrecks, street car misfortunes, horse-drawn vehicle smash-ups, steamship horrors will all add their portion to this list of victims.

The Danger

The danger of automobile accidents during 1922 is clearly brought out in the accompanying article taken from the Literary Digest of Feb. 4, 1922.

The Article Shows

This article shows the danger you run every time you ride in your machine. Thousands of people will be killed, hundreds of thousands will be injured. Perhaps you will be the next unfortunate victim. What are you going to do about it?

There is no way

There is no way that you can absolutely guard yourself. No matter how careful you are, misfortune may come. But you should consider your loved ones. You should protect them against your death or disability from such cause. And you can.

DEATH TOLL OF 1922 AUTOMOBILES

As the year draws to a close, the death toll of 1922 automobiles is mounting. The figures are not yet complete, but the toll is already staggering. In the first ten months of the year, more than 10,000 people have been killed in automobile accidents. This is a record for any year in the history of the automobile. The number of people injured is even more appalling. It is estimated that over 100,000 people have been injured in automobile accidents during the same period. The cost of these accidents in terms of property damage is also enormous. It is estimated that over $1,000,000,000 worth of property has been damaged in automobile accidents during the year. The cause of these accidents is usually carelessness. Many of the accidents are caused by speeding, running red lights, and driving on the wrong side of the road. The only way to avoid these accidents is to drive carefully and soberly. But even the most careful driver can be struck by a reckless driver. This is why it is so important to have a travel accident policy. Such a policy will protect you and your loved ones against the financial disaster that can result from a serious automobile accident.

DANCING HARD WORK.

Can you walk 25 miles without getting fagged out? Probably not. Yet you cover that much distance in an ordinary evening of dancing.

A German scientist recently figured it out. Madalyn Lee, young Boston girl, checked the figure. She wore a pedometer, danced five hours, found she had traveled 25 miles. Not only that, she "finished fresh."

A Marathon runner, doing 25 miles at about the same speed as a modern fast dance, staggers down the home stretch and falls into his trainers' arms.

How do you explain it? On a 25-mile Marathon the runner moves steadily, without stopping.

The 25-mile dancer steps the light fantastic for a few minutes, then pauses to recuperate. It's like the intermission between rounds of a prize-fight.

The human body is a machine. It runs steadily just so long, then gets over heated. A pause, to halt combustion of energy by the thyroid gland, also cools the brain, steadies the nerves and recharges the batteries.

Rested, if only for a few minutes, the body is ready to go ahead again at top speed.

That's why, returning from a short vacation spent in rest, we find our energy doubled as we settle down again to work.

Brain workers, in particular, can increase their productive capacity by relaxing into absolute rest five minutes an hour. Some shrewd factory managers give their employes similar periods of rest as a matter of increasing efficiency.

Like all things this 25-mile proposition has a psychic or mental-science side.

Getting it down to psychological fundamentals, it's like a Boy Scout who grows at chopping kindling at home, but whistles happily and gladly chops wood for hours in camp.

Whether a task is hard or easy, all depends on the mental attitude.

To enjoy life and make all tasks pleasant, select the line of work you want most. That is your real field. To get into it, fight and overcome all obstacles—"mountains, walls and towers."

If you have people working for you, you can "put their hearts in their work" by making the work pleasant and introducing into it the element of competition—sport, play.

FELIX TURNS UP AGAIN.

Readers may have noticed that our old acquaintance Felix Diaz has turned up in Washington, thereby discounting numerous reports of his demise, and that he is still working at the old job. That is to say, he is trying to foment a revolution in Mexico which never has been run to suit him since Uncle Porfirio was toppled out of Chapultepec, and Felix was obliged to scratch for sustenance in consequence.

As usual too, Felix is living "in retirement," which is one of the best things he does, aside from gesticulating; and as usual also nobody is taking him seriously, least of all the government of the United States.

Felix Diaz is, in fact, a tolerably harmless creature, who has an insatiable ambition to become Diaz II in Mexico City, but totally lacks the equipment necessary for success. Time after time, he has had opportunity to grasp power and has let it slip by to be caught by another who knew how to seize it. He might have been president instead of Huerta if he had been a real leader. But Madero gauged him correctly, when catching Diaz red-handed in rebellion, he did not think it worth while to have him executed, but allowed him to live on and enjoy his harmless if sometimes rather obnoxious pursuits. And the example Madero set seems to have been emulated by his successors.

The principal possibility for harm to Felix seems to be that some day, some Mexican ruler will grow tired of having him around and may quietly abolish him. Oregon for instance might very possibly allow his irritation to get away with him if the lesser Diaz should buzz too loudly, which perhaps is a reason why Felix is making his headquarters in this country.

LEGISLATION BY EXHAUSTION.

Representative Simon D. Fess, who has dropped his legislative duties temporarily in order to look after his campaign for the Ohio senatorship, told an audience in Columbus the other day that he believes the senate ultimately will have to adopt rules for legislation rather than "legislate through exhaustion" as under the present rules.

It is not unlikely that most candidates for senatorial honors feel that way about it before they get into the senate, and impatience with senatorial loquacity is characteristic of new men in the senate. But there is something in the atmosphere of the upper chamber that dulls a man's natural yearning for efficiency. The process of getting to a vote by boring everybody is at first abhorred, then endured and then embraced; but it is just possible that what senatorial initiative will never do, may be brought about by force of circumstances.

The pressure of business upon congress cannot continue to grow forever without demanding more time than the three hundred and sixty-five days in a year now allow. A measure of this accumulating work is supplied by the fact that since 1890 the number of items to be considered a tariff bill has doubled. But while time is unchangeable, talk can be cut short and when the senate gets to a point where it must stop talking or cease functioning, perhaps legislation by exhaustion will be ruled out.

MEN GIRLS LOVE

By Laurel Gray

GIRLS find it easy to give their hearts to SUBSTANTIAL men for the judgment of heart is supported by the verdict of mind. Romance is an adventure; marriage is stern reality. Courtship is an excursion, marriage is a trip with no return coupon attached. Intelligent, sensible girls are sometimes overwhelmed with a passion for a fellow, but an intelligent mind balks at placing the O. K. on the romance and no wedding bells come from that affair. A real man cultivates a substantial character. The amount of the week's salary, or whether he wears a $25 suit of clothes or is exquisitely tailored from a $150 establishment does not determine a man's SUBSTANCE. Character is the only foundation—high morality, a discriminative mind, an honesty of purpose which girls detect with miraculous sureness. A substantial man need not tip the scales to 225 pounds to qualify. Many a physical light weight has substance enough for a ton.

$500,000 for War Fraud Prosecutions Asked

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Harding yesterday asked congress to give the department of justice $500,000 additional funds for the investigation and prosecution of war frauds. The request was taken as evidence that the department is going to proceed vigorously with the prosecution of concerns and individuals accused of war contract frauds. Part of the money, it is understood, is wanted to pay for prosecuting the $5,000,000 claim against the Lincoln Motors company.

Boy of 6 Can Name Sixty Autos On Fly

(By Associated Press) GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. May 5.—Ask the average man, woman or child what kind of a car is passing, and five times out of ten the reply is: "I can tell a Ford when I see one and that's about all." Frank Powers, Jr., is only 6. He has had a year of kindergarten and recently passed into the primary grade. If he can tell you the names of six or more automobiles as they pass, it is seldom you can stump him. He has been able to do this for two years, and he was 4.

HARDINGS TO BE AT MARMON FETE

President and Wife Will Be Honored Guests at Home City's Centennial.

MARION, O. May 5.—President Harding's home town is preparing to celebrate its birthday.

Plans have been completed for President and Mrs. Harding to be honored guests one day of the centennial celebration. The date depends upon the executive but he has assured the committee in charge he will arrive the first week in July.

A pageant with the Hardings taking a prominent part will be the main feature of the celebration. The scene of the famous "front porch" campaign was once a part of the Wyandotte Indian reservation. An unimproved farm, dense woods and an unlikely prospect, for founding a town to father a president was the prospect of early settlers.

A deserted log cabin that had been occupied by a squatter was "Marion" in 1822, when state commissioners designated the spot as the county seat.

Eber Baker, who owned the land, donated a plot for the courthouse and county jail, four lots for as many churches and a tract for the cemetery. An addition to the squatter's cabin was erected by Baker and it became Marion's first hotel.

Mail at first came by stage coach from Columbus about once a week and visitors were as rare then as they were commonplace when "bess minds" gathered here last year with President Harding.

$50,000 Suit Against Racine Priest Opens

RACINE, Wis. May 5.—Trial of the $50,000 slander suits brot by Dennis Fitzgerald, city sealer and John Oile, wealth foundryman, against the Rev. John B. Plotte, pastor of St. Rose's Catholic church here, began in Circuit court yesterday. Fitzgerald and Oile pled for $25,000 each the bills stating that Father Plotte declared from the pulpit on two occasions, "that certain officers of the church were liars, hypocrites, and Judases." The priest also said it is charged, that no accounting was kept of the congregation's financial affairs, and that of $681 collected for the St. Benedict mission at Cortiss, only $518 had been forwarded. Oile and Fitzgerald, treasurer and secretary of the church, assert that the remarks were directed at them.

Long Distance Service Restored - EVERY important point in Michigan can again be reached by Long Distance. Poles and wires crushed by storm have been replaced sufficiently to meet demands of business. It was an appalling task. Nearly 20,000 poles and 6,500 miles of circuits were destroyed, with tremendous losses in money. But the people of the Telephone Company realized the dependence of the industrial and social welfare of every community on the wires and made every effort to restore service. Not a minute, night or day, did they relax their efforts. Today, therefore, their first task—that of establishing emergency circuits—is finished. And they appreciate the patience and understanding of their difficulties shown by users of the Toll wires. We are pleased to announce that Long Distance is again at your service.
