26 NON-UNION MINERS ARE BRUTALLY MURDERED AT HERRIN, ILLINOIS, MINE

44 NON-UNION MEN CAPTURED, MARCHED THROUGH WOODS AND HALF OF THEM ARE MURDERED

Herrin, Ill., June 22—(3:45 P. M.)—A check-up at noon today, made by the Associated Press, showed 26 known dead and indications that the total would be more than 30 in the hostilities striking union miners and employees of the Strip mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company near here.

Bodies were spread over an area of 15 miles square, some of them riddled with bullets; others beaten to death and three hanging by ropes from trees.

Out in the road near the mine six men, tied together and terribly mangled by bullets and clubs, lay in the scorching sun, while hundreds of men and women laughed at their pleas for water, made in the name of God.

DYING MEN JEERED

One of the men, face bloody and one shoulder shot away, apparently was within a few minutes of death.

"Please, boys, give me a drink," he moaned.

A laugh from the hundreds of spectators was the only response.

The Associated Press correspondent rushed to a house for water, but when he returned he was faced by a score of quickly drawn pistols, and told to keep away.

The man again begged for water, "For God's sake."

MOTHER'S CALLOUS ACT

A young woman, with a baby in her arms, placed her foot on the mangled body and said, "I'll see you in hell before you get any water."

The men apparently had been dragged down a rock road behind an automobile. Their clothes were torn and pieces of gravel were imbedded in their mangled flesh.

BLAME MINE OWNERS

Springfield, Ill., June 22—Blame for the open warfare between union miners and sympathizers and the steam shovel workers in the Herrin district today was placed upon W. J. Lester, of Chicago, president of the Southern Illinois Coal company, in a statement issued by Senator William J. Sneed, president of the Herrin district of the United Mine Workers.

"Lester violated an agreement made with Frank Farrington, state president of the mine union, by firing union miners, who were engaged in stripping the coal," said Sneed.

BREAKING AGREEMENT

Continuing, he explained, "He was given permission to work his mine with union men, providing he did not ship any coal, but when he had between sixty and seventy thousand tons of coal on the surface, he discharged his union miners, brought in steam shovels who had been kicked out of the American Federation of Labor and placed armed guards over them. Then he began shipping coal."

DENY MURDER OF MINERS

Herrin, June 22—Union miners denied that they killed any strike breakers to the Associated Press correspondent. The correspondent accosted a striking miner and the following conversation followed:

"How many were killed?" asked the newspaper man.

"No one killed at all," replied the miner.

"Why, there are dead all over the country," said the correspondent.

"We didn't kill them. They just dropped dead from fright, when we surrounded them in their camp."

The strikers then asked if the militia was coming here, adding "If the militia comes down here, that will mean just so many more guns for us."

CAPTURING WORKMEN

The fighting has ceased and the only signs of the fight at the Strip mine are occasional piles of spent bullets. Groups of strikers are in all quarters of Junction City, Marion, West Frankfort and Herrin.

In attacking the Strip mine this morning, the strikers surrounded it, "went over the top" of the high coal embankment, surrounding the surface colliery, in unison, and then took the employees prisoners.

The non-union men were then divided among groups of strikers and taken in different directions.

HERRIN, Ill., June 22—Nineteen are known to have been killed in the open warfare of union men and sympathizers with the employees of the Strip mine near here, the property of the Southern Illinois Coal Co.

An incomplete check-up showed 16 non-union men and three union men dead. One of the non-union men was found hanging to a tree, his body riddled with bullets.

Find Bodies in Woods

The bodies of the 16 non-union men were found in a woods near the Strip mine, six miles east of here. A man named McDowell, foreman of the mine, was beaten to death and the other fourteen, exclusive of the man hanged, were shot to death.

It was noted that the men were massacred when they attempted to escape, after being taken prisoners by union forces. The dead non-union men were reported to have been among 44 persons captured at the Strip mine. Four others were found riddled with bullets and are not expected to recover.

The other dead and found wounded were scattered through the woods. The man hunt was continuing over a wide area. Six men were later captured and taken in the direction of the mine.

Taken Prisoner

The 14 men were taken prisoners at the camp rounded up by their captors and when they reached a point about half way between the mine and Herrin, and as they passed through the woods the killing began.

Strikers declared the prisoners, by a prearranged signal, made a dash for liberty, that they were pursued and killed.

One Man Hanged

Four of the 16 bodies of the dead strike breakers were found at the foot of a tree upon which the body of the other man was suspended.

The other dead and found wounded were scattered through the woods. The man hunt was continuing over a wide area. Six men were later captured and taken in the direction of the mine.

Monumental Task

Thru this centralization of the chief aims and thoughts of sportsmen's clubs comes a sane, workable legislative program which will be presented to the state legislature next winter. It has been a monumental task.

The accomplishment of this gigantic task may be traced almost directly to the work of Ed. Voght of this city, who has labored in season and out of season in spreading the gospel of conservation and game protection thru education and amalgamation of all sportsmen's organizations in the state. A new era has dawned and a real spirit of friendliness and brotherhood has been born in the hearts and minds of the thousands of sportsmen who have, in the past, when working more or less at cross purposes for what was believed to be the general good.

FEDERATION WOULD REPEAL SHERMAN LAW

Adopts Program of Constitutional Amendments to Curb Courts.

CINCINNATI, June 22.—By an overwhelming vote the American Federation of Labor convention today adopted a program, centering around four proposed constitutional amendments: repeal of the Sherman antitrust law and other legislation as a means of curbing the court on account of decisions adverse to labor.

The program was drafted by the special policy committee as was accepted without change by the convention.

SPORTSMEN'S CLUBS OF STATE JOIN FORCES TO FIGHT FOR BETTER CONSERVATION LAWS

Upper Peninsula Efforts Are Crowned With Success.

Dream of Years Is Realized at Big Meeting Held in Petoskey and Good Feeling Is Paramount.

E. C. Voght and R. P. Mason, President and Secretary respectively of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association, have returned from Petoskey where they participated in the amalgamation of all the sportsmen's clubs of the state into one solid body to be known as the Michigan Congress of Sportsmen, thereby realizing the dream that has actuated the activities of the local men over a long period of years and marking the biggest step forward ever taken in this state, looking to the conservation and preservation of the wild life that remains in the woods of the Wolverine state.

The accomplishment of this gigantic task may be traced almost directly to the work of Ed. Outlook Most Encouraging

And the fine spirit of cordial friendship in which the upper peninsula men were received is a most encouraging augury for the success of the undertakings of the new Congress of Sportsmen.

Only those who have been closely identified with the movement in the upper peninsula can fully appreciate the completeness of the victory achieved in bringing about this happy amalgamation.

Misses Eleanor Peterson and Miss Johnson have returned from a two weeks visit in Chicago.

The three days were filled with business and pleasure for the delegates as well as members of the local lodges and citizens generally. Citizens all expressed themselves as being highly pleased at having had opportunity to entertain such a splendid body of men and the visitors were equally outspoken in their hearty appreciation of the treatment accorded them during their stay.

Briefly, the convention may be summarized as a success in every particular and Escanaba has sent out a splendid impression to be passed on to others by the visitors here this week.

SIR HENRY HUGHES-WILSON SHOT TO DEATH IN LONDON; ASSASSINS ARE CAPTURED

London, June 22—Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes-Wilson, chief of the British Imperial general staff and lately military advisor to the Ulster government, was assassinated today near the door of his home in Eaton Place, London.

Two men fired on the field marshal as he was alighting from his automobile after attending a war memorial unveiling where he delivered a speech.

He was struck by two bullets, staggered and fell. He was carried into his home where he died before the arrival of surgeons. The two assassins fled, closely pursued by the police who had been guarding the field marshal, on information that his life was likely to be attempted.

Both of the men were finally captured. One of them is reported to have attempted suicide and to have inflicted a serious injury to himself with his own revolver. Their names were given as Connolly and McBrien.

Blame Sinn Feiners for Crime

Belfast, June 22—The news of the assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes-Wilson has created a sensation in Belfast where it is feared it will provoke reprisals. Sinn Feiners are being blamed for it.

The Sinn Feiners are also being blamed for planning an attack on Sir James Craig, Field Marshal Hughes-Wilson was a popular figure in Ulster and Premier Craig and the members of the northern cabinet, shocked by the news of the tragedy and as a mark of sympathy, the Ulster House of Commons has adjourned until Wednesday.

PYTHIANS GO AFTER MEET FOR NEXT YEAR

Will Send Big Delegation to Iron River Tomorrow Morning.

Between 50 and 100 Pythians, ex-members of the degree team, are expected to leave at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning for Iron River to attend the convention of the Upper Peninsula Pythian League which is now in session.

The avowed intention of the Escanaba delegation is to make a strong bid for the 1923 convention which will be backed up by letters and telegrams from city officials and various civic organizations.

All those who expect to be asked to communicate with Chancery Commander Chas. E. Lewis, whose phone number is 12, so that proper arrangements may be made for their entertainment while in Iron River, it is anticipated that about twenty cars will go up from Escanaba.

Big Dancing Party

Last night a big dancing party was held at Bay Beach pavilion at south park and the floor was crowded for hours with the happy merrymakers. The dance lasted until about 1 o'clock this morning.

The three days were filled with business and pleasure for the delegates as well as members of the local lodges and citizens generally.

EAGLES WIND UP STATE MEETING IN A HAPPY MANNER

Camp Fire Supper and Dance Last Night Put Fitting Climax On Half Week of Business.

Practically all the visiting state officers and delegates of the Fraternal Order of Eagles were on their way to their homes in various parts of the state this forenoon after one of the most enjoyable conventions in the history of the order.

The closing festivities yesterday afternoon and last night proved most thoroughly pleasant and were filled with wholesome fun and frolic. The visitors had lots of fun and thrills at yesterday afternoon's ball game when Escanaba took Gladstone in tow in a rather easy battle.

The big camp fire supper at the Ford River camp site at 5 o'clock last evening was very largely attended. It was free from formality and many persons from Escanaba who are not members of the order went out to enjoy the supper and to assure the visitors by their presence that the city generally was deeply interested in the work which brought them here.

Alas and impromptu speeches featured the two hours spent at the camp site and everybody had a fine time.

"We have thought of publicity in the newspapers as merely a method of giving public notice of a service or a meeting, or of making public the account of something that has taken place," says Mr. Gibson. "We have thought too much of building up the attendance at a service or of exploiting persons or organizations. We are only beginning to think of church publicity in the public press as evangelist in purpose. The newspapers themselves are really far ahead of the churches in their recognition of this evangelistic opportunity. Many editors are convinced that the problems of the world will never be solved rightly until Christian principles are applied and that therefore it is one of the functions of the public press to present and apply Christian principles.

LIBRARY FINANCES TO BE DISCUSSED

Serious Consideration to Be Given to Financial Needs of Great Educational Institution.

By Associated Press

DETROIT, June 22. Financial needs of public libraries will receive serious consideration by the trustees section of the American Library Association, which meets here June 27, in connection with the forty-fourth annual conference of the association, according to Frank H. Pettingell, sectional chairman.

In the formal call for the meeting, Mr. Pettingell stresses the desirability of attendance by trustees, explaining "there is a feeling on the part of many thoughtful public library trustees that with few exceptions, public libraries are inadequately financed, and that an exchange of ideas at least once a year between public library trustees would encourage those who are endeavouring to overcome this inevitable state of affairs."

Methods for obtaining increased funds from taxation to meet the needs of libraries, will be one of the principal topics taken up by the section. Members who have been selected to lead the discussion on this, and related subjects include W. J. Jenkins, Port Huron, president of the board of trustees of the public library there; William L. Pieplow, who holds a similar post at Milwaukee; Rev. Dr. Robert J. Remond, chairman of the board of trustees for the public library at Hamilton, Ont., and John H. Leite, a director of the Carnegie library, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The trustees' meeting attracted such widespread attention last year, according to Mr. Pettingell, that record attendance is anticipated at the impending conference.

NEW YORK, June 22. Newspaper advertising to further the spread of the gospel is strongly advocated by the publicity department of the Episcopal Church, which has brought out its recommendations, after a thorough study of the question of advertising, in a pamphlet entitled "A Handbook of Church Publicity," issued under the authorization of the National Council of the church.

"No one can look at the newspapers and magazines and doubt that it pays to advertise," said the Rev. Robert F. Gibson, executive secretary of the publicity department, and author of the text book. "We should not this method of such proven efficiency be used for the propagation of the Gospel? Advertising is not necessarily sensational. It merely seems to be so because we are not accustomed to it for church purposes."

One of the striking features of the book is Mr. Gibson's strong advocacy of the fullest use by the churches of the advertising columns of the daily press not only for mere church notices, but for spreading the Gospel among

GLADSTONE EASILY

IN HITTING FRAY

Gervais Driven From Mound and Schwartz Pounded Hard During Remainder of Game.

Again the tables were turned on the Up-Bay nine when Escanaba trimmed Gladstone easily, 12 to 6, yesterday afternoon. VanGoethen, hurling for Escanaba, showed up in good form yesterday fanning seven men, while walking but one, and had the better of Gervais. Gladstone's mound artist from the first, Gervais was hit so streaky that Schwartz, an Escanaba hurler until he joined Gladstone's ranks last week, was substituted.

Both teams were hitting heavily, and two added features were the four base clouts, one by Jack Perrin, and the other by Freddie Olmsted.

The game was an added attraction to the Delegates of Eagles at the Convention here, for whom it was played.

Thirty Carpenters to List of Workmen
in Yards.

Ten men were added to the night crew yesterday at the C & N. W. docks thus making the total of 122 working men employed at this time. The one season has taken long to get under way this year, but with the number of dock workers but 78 below full capacity mark, ore is beginning to be exported rapidly.

Thirty carpenters were also added to the crew of car repairers at the C & N. W. yards while many other indications show, that by July first shipment ought to be well under way.

gamation only they can know what it means to this section of the state in the protection of its wild life and what it means in the matter of permitting some hunting and fishing. In a period of years it is hoped to restore something of Michigan's attractions for her own people and for visitors by restocking the streams and re-populating the forests with game.

What It Means

In speaking of the meeting today Mr. Voght said, in substance:

"Our effort of many months, in fact of years has finally been successful in bringing all of the sportsmen of the entire state of Michigan into one big organization," said Mr. Voght yesterday. "I believe the perfection of the amalgamation of all sportsmen associations in the state, is the biggest step forward in the interests of game conservation ever taken in the state of Michigan. The power of such an organization and its influence upon future game conservation legislation cannot ever be estimated and I am confident that we are the beginning of a new deal and a new era in giving some protection to the wild life that remains in our woods. We from the upper peninsula were given every possible consideration at the Petoskey meeting. All of our game law recommendations were accepted and this district was accorded committee chairmanships and memberships that prove beyond any question of doubt that our lower peninsula friends are shooting straight with us."

The upper peninsula delegation at the Petoskey meeting included Mr. Voght and R. P. Mason of this city; Leigh Swift, Houghton; Otto Supe, Sault Ste. Marie; Charles Webster, Ironwood and A. C. Richards and Dr. A. W. Deadman of Marquette.

Proposed Legislation

A powerful legislative program will be backed by a strong committee before the next legislature, and this fall and winter educational work will be carried on with each senator and representative. About 50 clubs joined the congress at this meeting.

Sessions were held in the afternoon at which delegates expressed their views regarding one large organization and what could be expected of it in way of favorable legislation, and this program was carried forward and completed at the evening meeting. The recommendations made at this congress are to be compiled in working form by Wayne Pomeroy, Flint, secretary, and forwarded to the recommendations committee for drafting into more concrete form for the legislative committee. They will then go to each individual club in the federation for action by the individual members. Following this action the various items will be written into proposed measures for action by the legislature.

Correcting Evils

One of the features of the Petoskey meeting was the address of T. C. Ficht of Grand Rapids, one of the representatives of the West Michigan Game Protective Association, who made an eloquent and powerful plea for public hunting grounds. He said that in southern Michigan practically all wooded sections now are posted against hunters, and that there are few places where hunters are allowed. The Furniture City sportsmen related how private hunting clubs are buying up the land around the state game preserves, thus closing the regions to the common hunter. He made a special plea for the city sportsmen, and declared that the public hunting ground was being tried out with wonderful success in other states. His plan he related, was to have state game preserves surrounded by public shooting grounds instead of by private clubs.

Grand Rapids View

Charles Justin of Grand Rapids, outlined the aim of the clubs in central and southern Michigan for organization of clubs in every county in those regions. He urged changes in handling of state game department funds.

C. C. Lambertson of Belding said sportsmen of his region favored a rod license and early partridge season in northern Michigan.

Major John L. A. Galster of Petoskey, member of the state department of conservation, in the main address of the evening, gave his personal endorsement to the many recommendations made by the delegates, promised every effort on his part to see that desired measures are passed by the next legislature, told the sportsmen they were on the right track in forming one big federation, and said that it was up to the various clubs to acquaint the legislature with their desires. He pleased his hearers with the announcement that the state was on the eve of a new deal and that many radical changes in the policies and working plans of the department of conservation were being worked out.

President Roth received high praise for his work in reforestation in Michigan, and a "square deal" was asked to Dwight Lydel the man who first discovered how to handle eggs of the big and small mouth bass.

President Gillispie Speaks

President R. J. Gillispie, president of the Michigan Congress of Sportsmen, as the state federation will be known, had charge of the business session around the midnight hour, named various committees and appointed George McCabe head of a committee to arrange for a two-day Michigan rally of sportsmen, banquet, partridge hunt and business session of the congress. Mr. McCabe received high praise for his part in the previous banquet and was unanimously elected toastmaster for the October banquet.

A ROMANCE OF THE GREAT LAKES

The Indian Drum

By William MacHarg
and Edwin Balmer

A gripping tale in which love, loyalty and honesty fight intrigue and treachery to undo the consequences of a great crime, give an honorable name to a waif and restore a birthright.

Indian superstition blends with a white men's mystery to produce a peculiarly fascinating story of romance and action. Shows that adventures on the big inland waters may be quite as thrilling as those on the high seas.

This very interesting novel, the joint production of two well-known writers, has been selected by us for serial reproduction in this paper.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and you feel like lumps of lead, and the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism, in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

MEN GIRLS LOVE

By Laurel Gray

GIRLS love PRACTICAL men. Day-dreamers, wishers, pickers-and-choosers and spiritual loafers draw blanks in the lottery of love. As a matter of fact the element of chance is pretty well removed in the courtships of practical men. Remember that the girl whose love you seek has had a father and perhaps brothers around the house for quite a spell, and she's pretty wise on the weaknesses of the genius male—especially where practicality is concerned. Girls are drawn to dreamers and chaps who see castles in Spain, but a practical man is always good for a four-room flat or maybe a bungalow out in the suburbs, and wives like to eat regularly and wear fur coats in winter and georgette frocks in summer. Ergo, the popularity of the practical man is world-wide.

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

"Let's Make Escanaba A Better City"

CONFUSING ADVICE.

The college graduate who is just reaching out his eager hand to grasp his sheepskin may be excused if at this particular moment he finds himself the victim of a certain vagueness of ideas on one point. When he finished high school and was casting about, trying to decide what to do next, he was probably told by several of his elders that the only right thing was four years at some higher institution of learning. He was informed that the young person without an A. B. degree at least simply isn't in it these days; that he hasn't a chance. And if the youth observed that some of those handing out the information couldn't point to any alma mater themselves, he was warned that times had changed "since their day," and that the era of the self-made, self-educated individual was largely passed.

Beside, his mentors who has triumphed on the strength of a common school education had been mightily handicapped, and there was an inference left that these gigantic natural minds had succeeded where he, a relative weakling, could never hope to emerge without the aid of the pros and "profs" to be found in college halls.

We are not quarreling with those who induced any callow youth to keep on at school by the employment of such argument as may have been necessary; nevertheless we confess to a good deal of sympathy with the senior on the eve of commencement who now is informed with emphasis that as far as practical life is concerned, he must not in the least bank on his college education to carry him along. That has all been very nice and good, but, even if he has taken a professional or technical course, it now is up to him to start at the beginning, get out and hustle like a common or garden variety of person, and never, never, for an instant, expect preference, but rather look for suspicion, because he is fresh from school.

The situation is bound to be the more puzzling for the average graduate because both pre-matriculation and post-graduate advice are in certain aspects sound and in certain other aspects quite untrue. A good deal of the task of finding himself will probably be accompanied for the average youngster when he is able to sift the wheat from the chaff and discover how it is that two apparently antagonistic viewpoints have an underlying harmony.

LAW ALONE NOT THE SOLUTION.

Whether or not, one goes all the way with Senator Ransdell, of Louisiana, who laid down the alternative, "Destroy divorce or it will destroy the country" in a speech delivered in Cleveland, there certainly is no doubt that the divorce situation is a menace sufficiently serious to excuse the senator's statement as moderate hyperbole, even if it is rejected as a declaration of literal fact.

The question is not whether divorce is an evil and a threat in America, the question is how to curb and minimize it; how to reduce it to its legitimate place as a social institution, because it has a legitimate place as a check for worse evil, and Senator Ransdell's suggestion that it be absolutely prohibited is idealistic rather than practical.

The present dominant impulse among those who are fighting the rising tide of marital impermanence is to secure stringent law, a federal statute if possible, and lacking that, uniform state enactments. While there is grave question concerning the advisability of any legislation in Washington, which could come only as a sequence to a constitutional amendment, unquestionably the state legislatures are in position to act effectively if they can bring themselves to do so. Yet, while law can do something, and a certain amount of restraining is absolutely necessary, we are confident that the divorce evil will never be eliminated by law. The divorce evil has its roots in a state of the public mind rather than in any statutory leniency. It has grown to its present proportions because the people of America countenance and even approve of it. And if the legislators undertake to suppress it without the aid of a cleansed public sentiment they will merely make an ingrowing infection out of an open sore, and the last state of the country will be worse than the first.

Whatever one may think of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act, we believe most people will agree that the United States is in no position to attempt the enforcement of any more law regulatory of private conduct unless that law has the whole hearted approval of the nation.

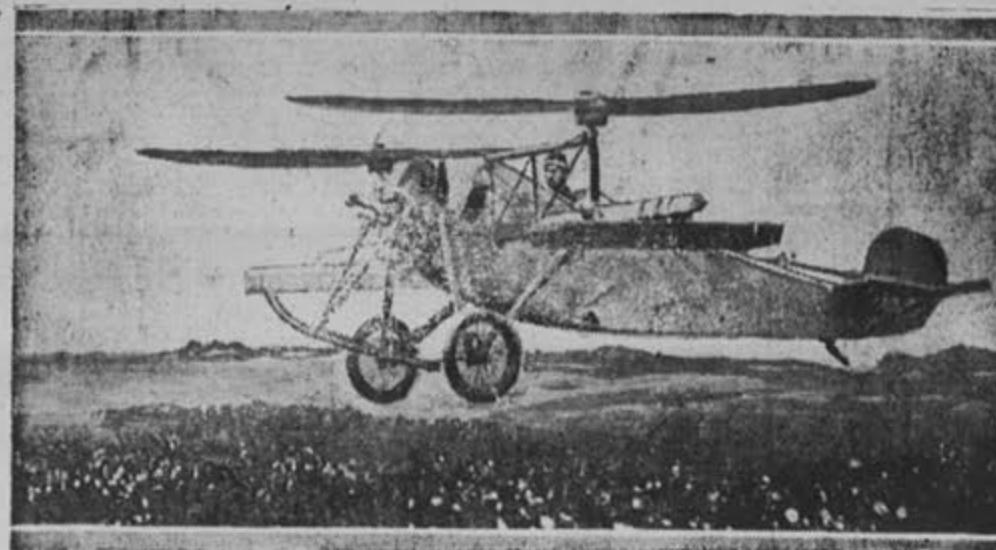

A real abatement of the divorce evil must come primarily as the result of education and moral rehabilitation. It must be a natural growth. The problem is essentially a problem for moral and religious leaders, and, only after they have done their work, for the makers of legislation.

THEIR PLACE IS HIGH AND SECURE

Although the world still feels itself to be living in a war period, enough time has passed since the armistice, to enable the people of the United States to see the conflict in Europe in something like a just relation to the history of the country as a whole. For little while, that great struggle obscured what is to the United States, the greater war which put an end to slavery and saved the Union. But that is no longer true, and the veterans of the Civil war need not feel that their invaluable important service to the nation is in the least degree underestimated. Their place in the hearts of their countrymen is unique and incomparable. No other men can take their place or detract from its significance.

Los Angeles has adopted an ordinance forbidding public gatherings of masked people. The result will probably be the breaking up of a few masked balls but no interference with train robbers, Ku Klux Klans and lynching parties.

CLAIMS TO HAVE PERFECTED HELICOPTER CAPABLE OF RISING PERPENDICULARLY AND THEN ACCOMPLISHING A FORWARD MOTION

Back about the time the Wright Brothers were being called fools by an incredulous and scoffing world, Emile Berliner commenced experimenting on the "Helicopter." After working, inventing, for years, Mr. Berliner became ill and was forced to abandon his work

Then his son, Henry, seated in the cockpit, now 26 years of age, picked up where his father had left off. He studied engineering, at Cornell and at M. I. T. and experimented unceasingly with the Helicopter. And here is the machine which young Berliner says has not merely risen perpendicularly, but has traveled forward, the great step in Helicopter perfection. The machine is to be tested by the U. S. Navy next week and is now at College Park, Maryland.

BILLS UP FOR BIG ROBINSON CIRCUS 4TH OBSERVANCE

Street Parade of Circus Stock Two Miles Long to Be Augmented by Local Floats.

The first bill car of the John Robinson circus, which shows here July 4th under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion in connection with Escanaba's big celebration and home coming, arrived yesterday and the first bills for the big show were plastered on walls and in windows. What is called the oldest, biggest and best circus in the world will be here on Independence Day.

A monster, glittering parade, absolutely free, two miles in length and containing hundreds of horses, scores of mounted people from all lands, numerous herds of elephants, and augmented military and concert bands will be given daily rain or shine at 10 o'clock, on the morning of Circus Day. Performances will start at two and eight o'clock but the doors will be thrown open to the public an hour earlier, so that everybody will have ample time to closely inspect the immense menagerie.

This year John Robinson is transporting his show on four trains of railroad cars. He has five hundred horses, over one thousand employees and some of the most remarkable acrobatic stars obtainable. There are clowns galore, side shows filled with wonderful attractions and a full and complete Wild West show that closes the performance proper in the main canvas structure that comfortably seats ten thousand people.

Hundreds of people from this town and the surrounding country are planning to visit the John Robinson circus. The trip will be made by train and in automobiles. The latter transportation will be preferable as the roads are exceptionally good at this time of the year.

CALUMET URGES USE OF COPPER IN A CAMPAIGN
Thinks Auto License Plates Should Be of Sheet Copper.

By Associated Press

CALUMET, June 22. The Calumet Chamber of Commerce is waging an intensive campaign to encourage the use of copper, and revive the copper mining industry in the upper country. Data compiled by the chamber shows approximately three billion pounds of copper are mined annually, while the amount used is slightly in excess of two billion pounds. The disposition of this ever increasing surplus is the problem facing the industry according to chamber officials.

In conformity with its plan the local organization had Calumet "booster" plates made of solid copper, cut in ingot shape, the shape in which copper is shipped from the smelters to the rolling mills, then persuaded automobile user in the city to wear a pair of these plates on their cars.

The chamber has also proposed that the metal be used in the manufacture of automobile license plates, and several sets were made at Jackson prison to test the advisability of substituting copper for the ten plates now made by convict labor, for Michigan and other states.

The use of copper plates in Michigan alone would require a million pounds of copper annually, it was stated.

The Chamber of Commerce is also conducting a "campaign of education" to promote the use of copper in various other ways.

NEAR the northern end of Lake Michigan, where ore-carriers and wheat-laden steel freighters from Lake Superior push out from the Straits of Mackinac and dispute the island divided channel with white and gold, electric lighted, wireless equipped passenger steamers bound for Detroit and other cities, there is a copse of pine and hemlock back from the shingly beach. From this copse—dark, blue, primeval, silent at most times as when the Great Manitou ruled his inland waters—there comes during storms a sound like the booming of an Indian drum. This drum beats, so tradition has long maintained, whenever the lake takes a life.

Men say they have heard and counted the beatings to the exact number of crew and passengers lost in various sinkings of ships. Once only, it is said, has the drum counted wrong.

This belief in the drum and a case in which the beatings failed to tally with the records of men, forms the basis for an absolutely fascinating story of mystery, to be printed as a serial in these columns.

ROBINSON CIRCUS STANDS TIME TEST

"A Place for Everything and Everything In Its Place" Is Keynote of Circus Conduct.

John Robinson's circus, bigger, better and more entertaining than ever, will appear in Escanaba on July 4th, giving two performances, full and complete, and also a free street parade, of more than a mile in length.

The John Robinson circus is the only one in the world that has stood the test of time, being first organized in Utica, N. Y., in 1824 and it is now making its ninety-ninth annual tour of the North American continent. The fourth generation of the famous Robinson family is now managing the oldest white top organization in the universe.

This show is one of the wonders of the age as regards system. "A place for everything and everything in its place" is an adage as old as the race, but despite its age, it is just as sweeping and effective today as it was on the date of its origin. It's an adage that John Robinson puts into effect around his huge amusement enterprise.

On the John Robinson show there is a place for everything and when the big show packs for a move, everything must be in its place, and before the most is started. When night falls and the big crew begins to drift toward the railroad cars, every man has a certain duty outlined for him and he does nothing else than that which he is employed to do. Every wagon, every pole and every stake—regardless of size—has a resting place, and as though it were a gigantic puzzle, the general result does not work out properly unless each unit has been correctly cared for. Unless the order of "a place for everything and everything in its place" were strictly adhered to, there would be general pandemonium with its resultant risks and loss of time and money. Some big successes have been built on lessons involved in time honored adages.

WRECKS NERVOUS SYSTEM WITH HEADACHE DOPE!

Victim Thankful for Recovery After Taking Well-Known Remedy

"I feel that if anyone can recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's medicines I certainly can. I suffered for ten years from severe headaches, and although I took all kinds of headache powders they just relieved me at the time. I became very nervous and run down and everything seemed to trouble me. I have taken eighteen boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Tonic Pills and it has made an entirely new person of me. I felt that could not have lived without them. I do not have one headache now forever."
