

SECRECY SURROUNDS ENGINEERS' MEET

BROTHERHOOD CHIEF SAYS "WE ARE STILL MEDITATING"; THEN HURRIES TO PARLEY

(BULLETIN)

New York, Aug. 24.—"It is now up to the shop men," said a spokesman for the "Big Five" brotherhood chiefs this afternoon after they had conferred with the committee representing a group of about 20 roads on a proposition for effecting separate settlements between individual roads and the striking shop men. This was taken in some quarters as indicating that representatives of the running trades and representatives of the roads, totaling about 25 per cent of the mileage of the United States, had reached some sort of a definite proposal for a settlement, which has been reported to the shop craft at a meeting with the mediating brotherhood chiefs, which followed the session with the executives.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Representatives of a score of railroads and the "Big Five" brotherhood chiefs, conferred at the Yale Club for about three hours today on the possibility of effecting separate agreements between individual lines and their striking shop men.

"We are still meditating," said Warren S. Stone, spokesman for the brotherhood men, when the meeting adjourned at 1:25 this afternoon, without announcing another session would be held today.

The chief of locomotive engineers this morning declined further to discuss the meeting which was surrounded with the utmost secrecy. He hastened to the Hotel Woodstock to confer at labor headquarters, with the leaders of the striking crafts.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The "Big Five" brotherhoods and representatives of a score of railroads today prepared to throw out the possibilities of individual lines settling with its striking shop men.

This possibility was raised by leaders of the running trades, appearing as mediators, appearing at a conference yesterday, with the American Association of Railroad Executives which rejected the proposals of the brotherhood men that the rail heads yield to the disputed question of seniority rights.

Work After Midnight

The "Big Five" leaders conferred after midnight with the heads of a score of more railroads, one of whom said after the conference adjourned, that negotiations would be continued, but reaffirming the stand already taken on that the seniority proposals would not be given consideration by the rail chiefs.

Daniel Willard, spokesman for the group of executives announced they were to meet the brotherhood chiefs again early today, but did not disclose where or when the session would be held. It was reported unofficially however, that the Yale Club, scene of yesterday's developments, again would be the scene of negotiations.

SITUATION ACUTE

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—With the New York peace conference still holding the center of the railroad strike stage today, the situation at many railway centers appeared to be acute, and disorders continued as the shop men's strike neared the end of the eighth week.

ROBBERS ALSO SECURE SILKS IN STEIN JOB

Only Better Quality Is Taken But Loss Not Discovered at First.

A new angle was given to the Stein store robbery yesterday by the discovery that a large quantity of high class silks were missing. This phase of the theft did not appear until yesterday afternoon when a clerk went to sell some silk and it was then discovered that everything but a few bolts of the very cheaper grades, was gone.

This, the police, figure argues that the robbers were experienced in the silk game and that they were something more than a trio of workmen who sought to outfit themselves with clothing. Silk thieves usually have a city market for their loot and it begins to appear that this is not the work of local talent.

This new lead will be worked out by the police.

STATE NEEDS HALF MILLION TONS OF COAL

Order Is Cut to 50,000 Tons by Coal Advisory Bord.

Groesbeck Ready to Break With Federal Coal Admin- istration On Credit Action.

(By Associated Press)

LANSING, Aug. 24.—Indications of a break between the state and federal coal administration unless prompt steps are taken to relieve the acute coal shortage in Michigan were apparent today.

Governor Groesbeck already has fired the opening gun of the looming controversy, following the return of William Coffer, state fuel administrator, from Washington last night. The governor made a statement sharply criticizing the federal fuel administration when he was informed by Mr. Coffer that the advisory board of the federal administration is composed of coal operators, the governor declared. "It is a strange state of affairs when an advisory board composed of operators is allowed to question the credit of the state of Michigan."

He referred to the action of the board in turning down the state's guarantee of one million dollars for priority coal and inquiring upon a cash deposit in the bank.

Serious Situation

State officials were concerned today by reports from Washington that Michigan orders for priority coal had been further reduced. Originally it was for 150,000 tons, but a few days ago it was halved. Now it has been cut to 50,000 tons, it has been announced.

The officials expressed alarm today at what they described as the growing seriousness of the coal situation in Michigan. Half a million tons of coal are needed for strictly essential purposes, it was said, yet only 50,000 tons can be obtained within the next thirty days. A number of large mills throughout the state are reported to be closed.

Ore Boat Lays Up Because of Heavy Fog This Morning

Because of the heavy fog prevailing this morning, an incoming ore boat dropped anchor off the south shore for a time until the fog cleared sufficiently for her to make the docks. This led to a story that a boat had gone aground, but this was not the case. The craft weighed anchor about 8 o'clock and came in without trouble.

WELLS CHILD IS DROWNED UNDER TRACTION BRIDGE

Posse of Men and Bloodhound Search All Night for Miss- ing Boy; Find Body Today.

A hunt lasting from 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon thru the long night and until 10 o'clock this morning was brought to an end by the finding of the body of little 8-year-old Frank Strahan son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Strahan under the traction company bridge at Wells.

The child was drowned in about six feet of water.

The boy was missed about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and a search on a minor scale was instituted for him. The last trace of him led the search to the banks of the Escanaba river, where he had been seen by some other children about 4 o'clock.

Send For Bloodhounds

Posses were organized and the search continued until dark. Word was then sent to Gladstone and the bloodhound from that city was secured. Sheriff Harvey and various county officials together with a big crowd of men from both Gladstone and Wells spent all of last night going through woods all about Wells in the hope that the dog might pick up trace of the missing child and at daylight this morning it was pretty definitely established that the boy was not lost in the near vicinity.

Sheriff Harvey at daylight took out the county's grapping hooks, pike poles and various devices used in searching for bodies in the water and a long and careful search of the Escanaba river was made near the railroad and state highway bridges.

Find Body Today

Shortly after 10 o'clock Gilbert Hammond an employe of the I. S. Co. at Wells found the little body with a pike pole and it was brought to the surface.

As nearly as can be determined from the position of the body, the child must have been fishing from a raft, from which he slipped in some manner and the body was held to the bottom by his clothing catching on snags after having drifted just a short distance.

The body was brought to the Alto Funeral Home in this city to be prepared for burial.

Mr. Strahan is a mechanic employed by the I. Stephenson Co. and both himself and wife will receive the sincerest sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

The body of the child will be taken back to the saddened home in Wells at 5 o'clock this evening and funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery. Besides the parents the child is survived by a brother and sister, Joseph and Marie.

Cummins Submits Bill To Provide for Handling of Coal Situation Just Now

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Establishment of a federal fuel distribution agency to meet the present coal emergency and the extension of broad powers to the inter-state commerce commission with respect to the issuing of embargoes and priority was proposed in a bill introduced today in a bill by Senator Cummins, Republican Iowa, chairman of the inter-state commerce commission.

The office of "federal fuel distributor" would be created by the bill and that official would be empowered to determine facts relative to fuel prices, shortages, and production as well as marketing and reasonableness of profit taking with in the industry.

He would make a report upon his findings to the inter-state commerce commission who could act thereon as warranted by the circumstances.

SYNDICALISM IS CHARGED TO W. Z. FOSTER

Request Made for His Extradition Into Michigan.

State and Federal Agents Be- lieve Rose Pastor Stokes Mixed Up in Deal.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Michigan state syndicalism law was the first weapon which state and federal authorities thought to use in breaking up what they term as "one of the greatest radical and revolutionary conspiracies in recent years."

With seventeen men captured in a raid on their secret rendezvous in the woods in Berrien county, Michigan, state syndicalism charges are made against William Z. Foster, head of the Union Educational League, the leader of the steel strike of 1919, and one of the foremost radicals of America, who was arrested here and awaits extradition to Michigan.

Hunt for Others

Meanwhile state and federal agents continue their search for fifty others, said to have escaped when the secret meeting in the hills was broken up. Among those for whom the authorities are looking is Rose Pastor Stokes, of New York, one of the communist leaders.

Foster, awaiting extradition to Michigan, denied he had been at the meeting in Berrien county. He said he had not been away from Chicago during the last few days. He was arrested at his offices, which was raided by State's Attorney Crowe, Sunday night.

Records seized in the raid at Foster's headquarters and at the Michigan rendezvous contain the names of many radicals throughout the country which will prove valuable in the roundup, the authorities said.

Seek Rose Pastor Stokes

Chief among those who were arrested in the raid upon the meeting place in the forest resort near Bridgman, was C. E. Rothenberg, once a candidate for mayor of Cleveland. Trailing some of those who escaped, detectives believe that Mrs. Stokes was among the fugitives. Efforts to locate her were redoubled today.

INCOME TAX LAW

EXCESS PROFITS TAX ON INCOMES OF PROFITS—The dominant element in this Congress has expended much effort to shield big business and profiteers from paying equitable taxes on vast incomes. After the House had repealed the Excess Profits clauses in the new Income Tax bill, a few progressive Senators fought valiantly to retain taxes on excess profits. Amendments were offered to that end on October 24, 1921, October 28, 1921, and November 7, 1921.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Resignation of Representative Volstead Republican of Minnesota as chairman and a member of the house judiciary committee because of help alleged to have been given him in the last election by the anti-saloon league was requested in a resolution in the house today by Representative Phekham, Republican of Massachusetts.

Immediately after the reading of the resolution had been concluded, Representative Mann, Republican, Illinois moved that it be laid upon the table and the motion was adopted with a loud chorus of "Ayes."

After the resolution had been laid on the table, which move amounted to killing it, there was a demand lead by Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri to strike it from the records and this was ordered done by a vote of 141 to 3.

JOSEPH SEYMOUR JUST NATURALLY OUTA LUCK TODAY

City Manager Finds Meterless Gas Going and the Police Find Licenseless Still Planted.

Giant rocks continue to spring from little corners, just as the copy books need to insist. This was proven today when a city gas inspector just dropped in casually at 1315 First Avenue North, dropped in in the natural course of a general inspection of all gas and electric service in the city.

He found the house supplied with a service pipe and the service pipe was hooked up to a gas stove without the little intervening thingamajig, commonly called a meter. It was so interesting that the inspector notified the city manager who went out and saw the same thing as the inspector.

Then the manager thought it might be a good idea to have a witness, so he went back after Chief of Police Tolan.

Smells "Moon"

When the chief arrived and stepped inside, his nostrils twitched and he yawned about quite considerable and finally a happy smile stole over his countenance.

"Sure," it's moonshine," quoth the chief. The only thing the city manager smelled was a mouse, but the odor was complicated with fumes of gas and redoubt of "moon."

It didn't require very much sleuthing to locate a copper boiler, coil, mash which was fermenting and the usual outlay for the manufacture of liquid joy. Meantime Assistant Chief of Police Carney arrived on the scene and a search warrant was secured.

Of course, Joseph Seymour, who occupies the house, was placed under arrest. He was charged with stealing gas and a civil action brought to recover payment for about five or six thousand feet of gas a month since August, 1920, and he was also charged with possession of a still.

Seymour retained Attorney George Carr to defend him and both cases were continued in Justice McEwen's court until Sept. 3, bond being fixed at $500 in each case. Seymour is a night watchman employed at the plant of the Escanaba Manufacturing Company.

CHANGES IN BONUS BILL ARE APPROVED

Senate Now Consider- ing Individual Amendments.

Friends of the Bill Are Some- what Surprised at Sudden Burst of Speed of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Committee changes in the house soldiers bonus bill having been approved the senate turned today to consideration of individual amendments. Disposition of these are not expected to consume a great deal of time, and the passage of the measure this week was regarded by some of the leaders as a possibility.

Pending amendments included one by Senator Berthum, Republican of New Mexico proposing half cash and half certificates of indebtedness for the veterans. This proposal was rejected yesterday without debate or a roll call, but the vote was reconsidered so that Senator Berthum discussed the amendment today.

The Smeot Plan

Avide from this proposition, Senator Smeot of Utah ranking Republican on the finance committee, has in mind a paid up insurance plan and also a sale tax amendment. Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon plans to present the land reclamation bill as a substitute for the land settlement action approved by the committee.

The speed with which the senate worked yesterday came as something of a surprise to most of the friends of the bill who had looked for determined opposition. It was understood, however that opponents believing that President Harding would veto the measure were disposed to let it go through this time without extended discussion.

Should the president return it with out his approval they expected to center their efforts against its passage over his veto and believe they will be successful.

CORRECTION

Editor Escanaba Mirror,
In your edition of Aug. 22nd, I am quoted as reporting to the Council at its meeting of the day before the following: "Commissioner Rose said he walked four blocks one Saturday night recently and counted 45 cars parked on Ludington street and only 3 of them had tail lights burning."

This is incorrect. What I did report was, that on last Wednesday evening in walking on Ludington street from 14th street to the Delta Hotel corner I counted 21 automobiles which passed me which had no rear lights, and out of this number 8 had no front lights. These cars were running and not "parked" as your write up states. Please correct.

Yours very truly,
Lewis A. Rose.

Boy Scouts Put On Play at Misery Bay

Before an audience of about 50 visitors members of Boy Scout Troop 2 last night presented an interesting playlet entitled "Are You A Scout?" As a "stunt" this was one of the best yet put on at the nightly camp fire at the Misery Bay camp.

L. D. Goddard gave the boys another installment of the Indian story telling, and which will be completed before the end of the week. Attorney Carr told a few stories and talked to the boys in an interesting manner and Charles Folio entertained and amused with a colored sermon.

The leading parts in the playlet were taken by Robert Mallman, Don Cook and Leslie Kleinhenz.

It was stated today that a big "jamoree" is to be staged at the Misery Bay camp next Monday evening and Boy Scouts in the city are expected to participate.

John L. Judsons mandolin orchestra will furnish music and there will be several prominent local speakers whose names will be announced later. Leaders of the various troops will arrange for transportation for members of their own troops.

DON'T BE SURPRISED AT VIRGIL BARNES AT VIGIL BARNES

Young Giant Pitcher Is About Ready for Big Show.

Don't be surprised if Virgil Barnes, young brother of the more famous Jesse, steps into the box for the Giants in these closing weeks of the pennant drive and knocks off a victory or two. This lad appears set. McGraw has done a clever job of nursing the youngster into trim. Virgil's brother Jesse recommended the boy to McGraw three years ago while Virgil was in France. "He's a better pitcher than I am, Gunga, Din," said Jesse. "You're just proud of him that's all," replied Din but added "bring him on."

Jesse got Virgil a job with the Kansas City team in the American Association that spring but the kid was in poor health from the gassing he received in France. Kansas City released him to Sioux City. He work there caused McGraw to buy him. The next spring McGraw after deciding he was a comer, farmed him to Rockford, Ill., recalled Virgil the next fall only to send him to Milwaukee in the spring of 1921. Virgil pitched two match games in succession for Milwaukee and won several others, including a four-hit game. Then McGraw decided it was time for him to return to the Giant bench.

Now Virgil appears ready for the big show.

SIMON PURES FIELD SELECT

Fielders of United States Sends Contestants; Total Reaches 145.

Fielders of the United States, a national amateur golf championship at Brookline, Mass., which will probably begin Saturday September 2 in the first of the following Monday at first round.

A practically complete list of entries is issued today by Secretary McMahon of the United States golf association. It is the first of a series of reports which will be sent to the fielders in addition to the British Isles, the latter through the team of eight players it has sent to compete for the Walker cup at Southampton, N. Y.

Entries closed Saturday. The total number of those received in today's mail is 145. Final decision to make the opening date September 2 probably will be made this week. The change is due to the great number of entries, necessitating two qualifying rounds which could not be held despite the association's effort to keep it down to first class material.

Between 20 and 30 players were denied entrance on the basis of their performance this year.

Out of the approximately 150 entries, those with the lowest 51 scores and ties after the first qualifying round of 18 holes will enter the second qualifying round of 36 holes, the 22 best scores and ties to begin next day on Tuesday. This will halve the 134 to 16 on Wednesday, leaving the semi-finals to Friday and the final match to Saturday.

AKRON, O., Aug. 24—Darkness brot to an end the most sensation base ball game in the memory of Akron's oldest fans Sunday when the General Tires and the Firestones, playing for the leadership of the local industrial league, battled 29 innings to a scoreless tie.

It was a pitchers' battle between Tom Vaughn and Bob McKinstry the latter a southpaw who is to be given a tryout with the Cleveland Indians. The game brought Vaughn's strike of consecutive shutout innings to 38.

Only 12 hits were allowed; the Firestones getting seven off Vaughn and the Tires five off McKinstry. Fifty-seven on batsmen fanned. Each hurler allowed two bases on balls. Vaughn hit two batsmen, McKinstry one. McKinstry had 23 strikeouts and the Tires had the bases filled with two out and McKinstry fanned the next batter.

With one out in the third and a man on second, Vaughn fanned two of the Firestones. He duplicated the feat in the ninth with the bases full and one out.

Sparkling fielding also featured.

PROPER BOOKS AID IN CURES IN HOSPITALS

(By Associated Press) (AP) O. P. Aug. 21—Selected books in hospitals—nothing else is so important, Caroline Webster Ely says, revealed in charge of hospital work of the U. S. Public Health service among attended excessive men in making her annual report for the American Library Association.

"They bring the pendulum from the tendency to constant consideration of the physical condition of life to the more important condition—the mental attitude," she stated.

"A patient cannot read much more successfully than the repeated pain of hemorrhage than one worn and tired with the dread of thinking of the next attack. Hence the distant therapeutic value of the lightest fiction, plus the other more worthwhile things in their curative power."

service for the year's work for ex-servicemen in government hospitals. Miss Webster recounts six events which she terms striking. These are the Congressional appropriation of $100,000 the transfer of the work conducted by the American Library Association to the Public Health Service establishment of the work under civil service recognition of the need of at least one professional trained librarian for each hospital of 300 beds, recognition by doctors that medical libraries handled by a professionally trained librarian would be of more value and the further transfer of library work with other hospital work for veterans from the Public Health Service to the Veterans Bureau.

ALASKAN MINING SHOWS INCREASE

Close Approach to Normalcy Is Being Approached in Land of the Midnight Sun.

(By Associated Press) ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 23—Readjustment of wages bringing a close approach to normalcy as applied to mining has resulted in a return of the pendulum toward greater mining activity than has been experienced in the history of Alaska since the boom days. While the Alaska railroad was building it was impossible to obtain help for mining operations owing to the good wages in railroad construction even now there is a general shortage of miners throughout the territory and every man of experience who cares to is employed. Mining takes on an entirely different complexion than of a few years ago; attention is being given to gaining access to known placer deposits suitable for hydraulic and dredges and aside from this phase of the placer situation there is little doing save where old-timers have a little piece of ground from which they may sluice out a grubstake for the winter an dwho do not care to take out a fortune.

The other phase of the renaissance in mining is confined to quartz, and judging by the encouraging discoveries the apparent permanency of ore bodies and ability to mine economically the outlook for quartz is every-

Additional prospecting in the Wil- low Creek district has disclosed a more extended area and as rapidly as trails and roadways are extended the prospector is bringing commercial properties into being.

So great has become the lure of the hills that almost all the populous centers along the railroad are undergoing a mid-summer quietude, every one who has a grubstake and many engaged in other lines of business taking advantage of the ideal conditions in the hills to combine a pleasure trip with prospecting.

"How much does it go to the pan" has been supplanted by "What does it run to the ton" and "how is the crop looking?"

Even when a big clean-up comes in there is no excitement, as those things are becoming every day occurrences.

Alaska at present needs more interest in quartz mining, especially from outside capital. It is stated, for local capital is carrying the peak of development and the lack of larger capital is retarding rapid development.

Geological survey engineers are now making recognizances along the railroad belt and the result of their findings is expected to have a tremendous effect upon all classes of mining, and a boom is looked for as soon as these reports are made known.

Alaska is no place for the wild-catter, for the communities are arrayed against spurious promotions, and all efforts to float such enterprises are balked by the public and press.

As an illustration of how the Alaskans are progressing, a group of business men have acquired as number of oil leases in the Anchorage field and hold them subject to the advent of capital in sufficient volume to drill one or more complete wells, the property being turned over on a low royalty basis, all amonment being subject to striking oil.

Anchorage recently jointly financed a cannery plant by escrowing all subscriptions until sufficient capital was raised. The cannery was launched and this season is operating successfully.

It is the policy of Alaskan capital to pool with outside capital on all legitimate enterprises and in this manner the public, as well as legitimate developers, are protected against buccaneers of finance.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1922

A PRESCRIPTION FOR ALL OF US.

So often is old age urged by youth to step aside and hand over its duties to youth that it is not surprising that someone now and then should come to the defense of old age.

Quite as eloquent a defense of old age as was ever penned by its ablest champion is to be found in the fact that a grandmother 71 years old entered Columbia University, and that a Louisiana District Judge only nine years her junior entered the University of Michigan law college this summer. Mrs. A. P. Crawford is taking up the studies of philosophy and literature, and Judge John E. Reynolds is working for his law degree. By the time they get through with their university work they will both be more advanced in years than they are now.

But for all that they won't be old. They are both learning; they are sitting side by side with students 40 and 50 years younger than these two belated scholars, and no doubt they look forward to getting their diplomas as eagerly as any of the youngsters in the classes with them.

Wherefore they can not be said to be old, because they are both looking forward to something, to an achievement of their own making, to a day when they will have won something not now in their possession. Such people don't grow old. The late Charles R. Miller, editor of the New York Times, began the study of Russian when he was 68 years of age. He didn't think his education finished when he graduated from college; he kept his mind plastic and mobile. And in consequence he could put into his studies in mature years the enthusiasm of youth.

Old age should be considered merely an attitude of mind. Some of these old boys and girls succeed in being literally as young as they feel, and when you feel like taking up university work at 71 years of age, you must feel pretty young. Consider the world of experience which Mrs. Crawford, grandmother, brings to her studies in philosophy, and what poise and acumen Judge Reynolds will bring to his studies in the law. And still both will learn nimbly.

That's the secret of staying young in old age—looking forward to something and learning something. More of us should make use of this prescription.

FRANCE STANDS PAT.

France will not consent to a moratorium for Germany unless the government places in the hands of the French the state mines in the Ruhr district and the national forests. That is the central point in the address by Premier Poincare at Bar Le Due. It means that the position which took in the London conference has not been changed and that France proposes to follow its own policy without the approval of Great Britain and Italy. The premier made that point perfectly plain by saying that France will act independently if necessary.

While M. Poincare chose to make his proposition in the form of an offer to exchange a moratorium for temporary possession of the mines and forests, it is not to be supposed that he intended to give Germany full liberty of action. His statement means that Germany must pay or submit to further occupation of German territory.

Occupation of the Ruhr would give France control of about half the iron in Europe and a firm hold on Germany industry. The occupation, according to the premier's statement, would be temporary, but the Germans will be little inclined to view it as a mere sojourn and everybody knows that nations are generally much more inclined to seize rich territory than they are to give it up. Obviously if the policy now outlined is carried out it will create more ill feeling and bring rupture among the Allies nearer than ever.

M. Poincare insists that Germany can pay if it will. His threat ought to bring that question to a final test and if the test proves that Germany really has resources with which to pay, French statesmanship will score a triumph.

CHICAGO IS AMAZED.

Remarriage after divorce is an everyday occurrence. But a divorce secured with a view to remarriage provided the guilty party reforms is a novelty which the world owes to a Chicago woman. According to her own version of the affair, she divorced her husband for the purpose of curing his bad temper and is now graciously permitting him to open a new courtship, make new vows and hope for a new wedding ceremony in due course. Mere separation, which is often resorted to in such cases, the lady holds is not efficacious. It is necessary, she believes, to make an erring spouse hit absolute bottom in order to bring him to a realizing sense of the obligations of married life and therefore she went the whole length.

It is said that Chicago society was amazed when it heard the story, and it is unusual, but on mature reflection, many will probably agree that amazement in such an instance really ought to be less than in those very common cases where divorcees are secured for the purpose of marrying somebody who made the third corner to a triangle.

Perhaps it will be said that the lady was trifling with the courts when she used their solemn procedure for the purpose of disciplining her husband, but since the courts are always full of frivolous, collusive and fraudulent divorce cases, her little lapse from strict propriety should be easily forgiven, and the public may hope that when the man in the case has been held long enough in the pit of single infelicity, he will reform and return to the heart of his temporarily divorced wife, never to break up the furniture or kick the cat.

Whether he was as great and good as his admirers believe, or as dangerous as his enemies insist, the fact remains that Lord Northcliffe was a man who counted. He molded history.

A few years ago the American government was much disturbed over what Huerta did. Now the Mexican government is disturbed over what Herrin did.

PAT KELLEY HITS NEWBERRYISM IN TALK AT HUDSON

Tells What He Sees Coming Off in the Political Camp of Senator Townsend.

Speaking at Hudson the home of Chief Justice Grant Fellows, on Aug. 22nd, Congressman Patrick H. Kelley said:

Under a ruling of the Attorney General of Michigan made by the Honorable Grant Fellows, now the chief justice of the Supreme Court of our State in 1915 when he was attorney general the sum of $2750 is the maximum amount that may be lawfully spent by a candidate for senator or by a committee conducting the campaign of a candidate for senator. The people of the State of Michigan are interested in knowing why the laws of the State limiting primary expenses are not being enforced at this time.

The Newberry organization conducting Mr. Townsend's campaign has published statements to the effect that upwards of $12,000 had been spent up to August first last, and undoubtedly the heavier expenditures are yet to come.

Where does Attorney General Wiley stand on this proposition?

According to the reported Mr. Fritsche, Attorney General Wiley is in constant touch with the Newberry headquarters and is assisting in directing the campaign for Mr. Townsend. Mr. Fritsche says that Mr. Wiley spends his week ends in Detroit in order to be easily available for consultation. Can it be possible that Attorney General Wiley is throwing the weight of his great office toward the encouragement of those who are seeking to seeking to set aside the laws of the State of Michigan enacted for the purpose of putting a curb on the use of money in politics? Has Mr. Wiley surrendered to the vicious doctrine that unlimited sums of money can be lawfully spent just so long as it is not used corruptly? Has he abandoned the position on the question taken by his able predecessor who now occupies the highest judicial position in the Commonwealth?

The people of Michigan are looking to Mr. Wiley for protection against a repetition of what happened in Michigan in 1918. Mr. Wiley should either enforce the law limiting campaign expenses or he should resign and permit his place to be filled by someone who will enforce the law.

It begins to look as though the Newberry organization has set out to control not only senatorships but all the law enforcement officials within the state both state and federal. According to Mr. Fritsche they have completely annexed Attorney General Wiley to their staff. Both United States district attorneys hold their positions by virtue of having been co-defendants with Mr. Newberry. The state prohibition enforcement officer also qualifies in the same particular and it is an open secret that Paul King is to be the new federal judge. The Newberry organization has undoubtedly laid out an ambitious program involving the control of the politics of the state while at the same time protecting itself thru the control of public officials charged with the enforcement of the laws.

It is time that the people of Michigan were thoroughly aroused as to the meaning and effect of a vote of confidence in the Newberry machine. When once aroused to the far reaching purpose of this organization the people will deliver the one smashing blow necessary to protect the state against such serious consequences as would be sure to follow in the wake of further Newberry rule. This primary election will either confirm the Newberry organization in its attempted control of the state or it will destroy that organization and leave the people free from the menace of its mischief.

Labor Conditions in the State Show Nice Improvement

LANSING Mich., Aug. 24—A marked improvement was noted during July in the general employment situation in Michigan according to a report completed today by the state department of labor and industry.

The ratio of positions filled to the number of applicants for work was much higher than in June. There was a general slump in the number of applications as well as in the number of positions open but this is taken as an indication of stability in the employment situation.

In June only about one-half of the 13,347 persons who applied for work at the states free employment bureaus were given positions. In July the number of applicants dropped to 8,562—a falling off of nearly 5000—while the number of positions filled was only 1586 fewer than in the preceding month.

The comparative statement of June and July, showing the number of applicants and the number of positions filled gives for June—13,347 applicants for work and 7,747 positions filled. In July there were 8,562 applicants and 6,161 positions filled.

The improvement was most marked in the larger industrial centers. In Detroit the number of persons seeking work dropped from 7,312 to 3,151 in Flint despite a slight decrease in the number of applicants about 100 more positions were filled than in June and in Grand Rapids the drop in the number of positions filled more than held its own as compared to the decreased number of applicants.

If artificial lights are used in the coops after dark, says an Oak Harbor poultryman, chickens have to be trampled to go to bed. And do they, like the featherless kind, have to be made to get up with a cluck?

Not "How Many" But "Who Are They?"

Quality depends upon what a thing is—not upon how many there may be of that particular thing. The whole of anything is the measure of value of its parts. Take Want Ads for instance. You couldn't hope to collect results from even a million people if not a single one of them had the dollars to purchase what you offered through that Want Ad. Yet if that same ad had not passed by you with the right sized check book—that distribution of exactly ten would be worth as much to you as a million "impossibilities." Remember, that when using Want Ads if you'll hitch up to Mirror Want Ads, then you'll always be certain of an audience big enough and worth enough to do what you want them to do.

Methodists Meet Growing Demands To Aid Children

DETROIT Aug. 24—Purchase by the Methodist Episcopal church in Michigan of a property on the west side in Detroit for children's home purposes will permit the church to meet the growing demands made upon it by orphans and other children who are without homes. It is announced at the offices here of Bishop Theodore S. Henderson.

The church's Children's Home is located at Farmington but the quarters provided there have proved to be inadequate to the demands made upon the organization. Only 30 or 40 children may be cared for there at a time. As the church is called upon to provide for about 100 children constantly additional room was required at once.

The west side property, an old residence, will be used as a home where children may be cared for temporarily until they can be transferred to the home at Farmington or placed in private homes somewhere in the state.

The church frequently is called upon to care for children for only a short time. Recently a young widow with several children was obliged to go for a time to a hospital and lacking sufficient funds to place her children in a private home, brought them to the Methodist headquarters. They were taken care of by the church until she was able to reclaim them.

Big Timber Wolf Is Killed in Iron River in Fight

IRON RIVER What is regarded as the biggest timber wolf shot in the district for many years was brought to town by Dr. E. C. Tyler after a furious fight with four of his Airdales one of which was killed. Dr. Tyler and his dogs were hunting in the vicinity of Cooks Run, when the dogs ran into the parent wolves, with three young ones. After a brief and one-sided fight the dogs retreated hastily from a thicket and ran yelping to their owner followed by the male wolf. When about 8 feet away, Dr. Tyler fired from his Lueger but missed a vital spot. The next shot entered the head of the wolf, killing it instantly. It measured 2 feet 10 inches from nose to out stretched foot.

'TAKE IT FROM ME' HAS REGULAR PLOT

Exceedingly Beautiful, Fluffy Chorus Does Not Interfere in the Least.

There was a time when it was scarcely good form to have a regular plot in a musical comedy. Audiences did not expect it, and the tired brains for which the fluffy type of acts, music and lines were arranged were satisfied with an evening's rest cure. In one of the newest musical shows however there is a plot which the exceedingly beautiful fluffy chorus does not interrupt.

the Delft Theatre Saturday, Aug. 26 has a hero whose fantastic ideas about running a department store gets him into the sort of difficulties which are amusingly exciting. You really feel anxious to have him show a profit at the end of a year and outwit the plotting stockholders. For instance, the idea of the proprietor of a department store putting his floorwalkers on roller skates so that normally languid gentry can get about more rapidly is here worked out with laugh inspiring results. The vampire idea seemed to have been worked through all its possibilities, especially in the movies, but it remained for Marjorie Sweet to give us in this show the last work in larid vamping.

TOY PISTOL IS CONVERTED TO SHOOT SMITH

More Details of Attack On Marinette Asylum Head.

Attacked by Insane Man Who Believes Himself to Be a 'Federal Sheriff.'

JESUITO, Wis., Aug. 24.—R. M. Smith, superintendent of the Marinette County asylum was interviewed this morning, about the printed rumor of yesterday that he had been the target of a gun play by one of the inmates of the institution. Instances of officials and attendants in insane asylums being attacked by patients are not rare of course, and Mr. Smith attempted to make light of the incident as usual.

Took Place in Office

The attempted shooting took place in the office of the patient who is a large and powerful man, approaching the superintendent in a casual manner, waving a "business book" which he frequently carries as his hat. He declared that he is the "federal sheriff" and attaches to himself the importance of a high-powered government official. His mental strain is directed toward securing from the federal government fabulous sums of money for imaginary services.

Several Threats

He has frequently threatened the life of the superintendent but never before attempted to carry out his threat. Mr. Smith was unprepared for the vicious attack which followed after the insane man pulled a pistol from his pocket and fired a shot at the superintendent.

graze the superintendents' check. He grappled with the man and one office employe, instead of assisting in subduing him fled to give the alarm. The patient used the pistol as a battering weapon with telling effect on the official who centered his attention in keeping the man from getting into position to fire again.

Attendants to Rescue

With the assistance of attendants who arrived a few minutes afterward the insane man was subdued and quieted. A physician took immediate care of Mr. Smith whose head was terribly bruised and battered and who sustained other injuries not as painful in the melee.

Examination of the weapon later showed it to be a heavy toy pistol that had evidently been designed to shoot eggs, the cylinder being a dummy one, but the barrel had been bored out to admit one cartridge and in the man's pockets were a handful of other shells. He had evidently ingeniously converted the innocent pistol into a deadly weapon.

This is the second time Mr. Smith
