

WHITFIELD AGAIN ELUDES THE POLICE

DASHES OUT OF HAZEL GRAVE TO BE LOST AGAIN

Girl Companion Taken Back to Cleveland Today.

Detectives Refuse to Outline Next Move in Man Hunt for Desperate Criminal.

(By the Associated Press.)
Chicago, May 26.—William Jennings Bryan, in addressing the national railroad valuation conference, called by Senator LaFollette and others of the Progressive party, declared today that he did not like the effect of government ownership, but was afraid it might be forced on the country.

MADISON, May 25.—All hope of locating the elusive John L. Whitfield, wanted for the killing of a Cleveland patrolman, before he can get away from this vicinity, was abandoned by the police late this afternoon as they returned from their all-night man hunt, having lost trace of the fugitive.

Whitfield's trail was lost at Edgerton. He was headed east at the time he was last seen, according to the officers who now have lost track of the man. They described him as the "arrest criminal" on two feet and refused to divulge what the next move in the man hunt will be.

Those leading the posse, which left here at 3 o'clock this morning, say that they located Whitfield's parking place for his automobile and that they were able to trace his course to the Dane county town. Since then there has been nothing to indicate the course taken by the criminal who appears once more to have made a complete getaway.

Breaks From Cover.

Just a few minutes ahead of his pursuers, Whitfield broke from cover in a hazel grove outside of McFarland this morning, and again eluded the police officers and a large posse, by making a temporary getaway in the large automobile which he stole after escaping from the police here last Tuesday night.

The escaping fugitive was traced as far as Edgerton by police officers headed by Lieutenant Nevil of Cleveland. While the posse still hunts in the marshy country about Lake Nekogosa, Whitfield was seen by several people, according to reports speeding down the road between Stoughton and Edgerton.

Find Auto Parking Place.

The parking place of the fugitive's automobile was found by detectives early this morning in a thick brush. Whitfield had gone, however, and his trail was immediately picked up.

With automobiles and motorcycles after him, it is believed that Whitfield is near the end of his resources. Hunted like an animal he is using every ruse to escape what he expects means life or death to him.

Girl in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 25.—Marie Price, the 14-year-old companion of John L. Whitfield, came back to Cleveland this morning and was whisked away at once to the police headquarters. Miss Price was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Arabella Price, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., Detective Conroy and Police Matron Bishop, of Cleveland, who brought the girl here from Chicago.

There are no charges lodged against the girl. Her trip to Cleveland was made after her mother waived extradition in her behalf, because Marie is a minor. "I hope they catch Whitfield now," Miss Price told Chief of Police Graul. Mrs. Price said she hoped the case would be cleared up so she could get Marie home as soon as possible. "She needs me and she needs to be kept quiet because of her delicate condition," the mother said.

Bryan Expresses Fear of Government Ownership

BABY ASPHYXIATED, MOTHER AND SISTER CRITICALLY ILL FROM ESCAPING GAS FUMES

"Jimmy," one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beltzer, 304 North Eleventh street, is dead. Mrs. Beltzer is seriously ill and her daughter, Marjory, 7 years old, is also suffering seriously as the result of escaping gas filling their home this afternoon.

As nearly as could be learned from stories of neighbors, Mrs. Beltzer had evidently prepared the bath for her seven-year-old daughter and then gone into an adjoining bedroom to lie down with little Jimmy.

Just what happened, no one knows, except that the valve on a recently installed gas stove was standing wide open and the home filled with gas. When little Verne Beltzer, about 9 years of age, came into the home. On opening the door he encountered the gas fumes and saw his little sister lying on the floor part way between the bathroom and kitchen, where she had apparently crawled out of the bath tub.

The lad ran to the home of Joseph Priot, two doors away, and told Mrs. Priot that there had been an explosion. Mrs. Priot rushed back to the Beltzer home with the boy, summoned other neighbors who called doctors and threw up all the windows in the home, shutting off the gas stove when it was discovered that the valve was still open. Doctors Defnet, Lemire and Chenoweth responded and rendered heroic aid.

Mrs. Beltzer was found on the bed doubled over the form of her baby. She was unconscious and the baby was dead. The little girl, Marjory, was unconscious on the floor, and without clothing, indicating that she had made a last effort to get to the stove.

Mrs. Beltzer and Marjory were taken to the home of a relative a few doors away and late this afternoon were showing signs of recovery, although they were both in a critical condition.

Due to the fact that all of the parties in the house were unable to talk, the manner in which the gas became turned on, or happened to be left on, is unknown at this time.

Mr. Beltzer is a railroad man and was out of the city. Special efforts were made to reach him and he is expected to reach the city tonight.

Mr. Beltzer is a brakeman on the C. & N. W. The railroad officials notified him at once and sent a relief man to Stambaugh from which place Mr. Beltzer will arrive tonight about 9 o'clock.

REED CITY, Mich., May 26.—Recommendations have been sent the state conservation board by the Reed City and Gun club that certain tributary streams of the Hersey river be closed to fishermen to allow the small fish to mature. The Sweet and Jersey creeks were urged particularly in the game club's communication.

Secretary of War Weeks Says United States Army Too Small To Do Any Good

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., May 26.—The standing army of the United States stands forty-sixth in the list of active armies of the world and is "too small to accomplish what is intended for it to do," Secretary of War Weeks said tonight in an address at a banquet under the auspices of the Association of the Army of the United States. Other speakers were United States Senators Francis Warren, of Wyoming, and Samuel Sherridge of California, Congressman Julius Kahn of California, and Major General Charles G. Morton, commanding the Ninth Corps Army Area.

The present standing army "should be brought back at the earliest possible date to the minimum of 150,000 enlisted men and 12,000 officers," the secretary said.

"The extremists who are hoping to promote peace by urgent methods are being led into many inaccurate statements in their endeavor to prove a faulty case. It has been generally repeated, owing to the activity of some of our so-called peace societies, that the government is spending eighty-five per cent of its budget for military purposes and that we are preparing for a mighty war. The truth of the matter is that we are now spending proportionately less for national defense than in 1915, when we were admittedly unprepared for the war that was coming upon us."

THINKS IT IS BEING FORCED UPON COUNTRY

Against Centralization of Power in Washington.

Declares There Is Nothing New in the 'Bloc' System of Working in Congress.

The great orator of the Democratic party said that 24 years ago he had suggested government ownership of the railroads but asserted that he feared centralization of power in Washington, and "that God did not make men good enough to withstand the temptations of monopolistic control."

Mr. Bryan said he had been a reformer for 42 years and for 35 years he had been actively interested in the transportation problem. In referring to the "bloc in congress," the three-times presidential nominee of his party said there was nothing new in such a term. He said there had been "blobs" by the financial interests long before the term was used and that these blobs were always on the job.

The statesman said the term "bloc" means the men who are representing their constituents.

JOURNAL TOUR CLUB MAPS IN MUCH DEMAND

Many Escanabans Get Mass of Detailed Information.

A number of Escanaba motorists have joined the Milwaukee Journal's Tour club which brings to them the greatest mass of valuable and technical information, and maps relative to routes in all parts of the nation, ever put out for the sum of one dollar. The literature is pronounced by those who have received it, as the greatest value ever given for the money. It is complete, condensed and accurate and will be a wonderful help to anyone driving a motor car, who expects to make even a short journey this summer.

"Among other literature is 'The Call of the Open Road,' 'The Land of Lakes' map, a new special wall map of Wisconsin, and a transcontinental road folder. There is also a car emblem to be placed on the car of the tourist.

The big wall map of Wisconsin is especially valuable to Escanabans and residents of this section, as nearly everyone driving out of the state gets into Wisconsin sooner or later.

Turko-Greek War Danger Said To Be Averted Now

PARIS, May 26.—The French government has asked Great Britain and Italy through their ambassadors in Paris to join in making urgent representations to Athens to the effect that the allies are determined not to become involved in a possible Turko-Greek conflict and would neither prevent the Turkish army from crossing to Thrace nor allow the Greek fleet to enter the Dardanelles.

ESCANABA GETS THE NEXT CONVENTION OF U. P. SUNDAY SCHOOL

Delegates Return from Highly Successful Meeting Well Pleased With Trip.

Through the efforts of Escanaba delegates to the Upper Peninsula Sunday School convention, held in Calumet this week, Escanaba was selected as the place for holding the 1924 meeting. This association embraces members of all Protestant churches and it means that approximately 1,000 visitors are guests of the city in which the conventions are held. Although no time has been definitely fixed for next year's meeting, it was suggested that some time early in June would be the most acceptable.

Fourteen Escanaba delegates attended the session and enjoyed the very splendid program greatly. The program, "Light of the World," was pronounced by the local visitors to be one of the most inspirational and impressive events ever conducted in connection with a meeting of the association. More than 200 persons took part in this pageant, which was put on in the Coliseum, which seats 2,000 people, and there was said to have been a vacant seat in the hall. Among other features was a great choir of 75 trained voices in addition to high school and other singing organizations.

While at the convention visitors had an opportunity of going out to view the monument of John Houghton, the famous geologist, and also paid a visit to the old school house where John Rathbone, founder of the Knights of Pythias, taught school, and they had a lunch in the old cabin which was occupied by him and which is still preserved as a monument to his memory.

Escanaba delegates are deeply pleased with their trip and the very excellent program which was carried out during the three days of the convention.

Dr. Walch's Car Stolen While He Visits a Patient

Dr. J. J. Walch's Ford coupe was stolen from in front of a residence on First avenue, south, last evening as he was making a professional call. The matter was reported to the police and it was figured out that this was the work of the same gang which has been "borrowing" cars here for the last few weeks, and abandoning them at some out of the way point later.

The car had not, however, been recovered up to noon today and it appeared that in this instance the "borrowers" had gone a step beyond their usual limit.

RUM RUNNER DECLARES IT IS EASY GAME

Backs Up Stories of Chicago News to the Associated Press.

Estimates 100,000 Gallons of Booze Cross Detroit River Every Day.

CHICAGO, May 26.—The Chicago rum runner who accompanied W. S. Forman, of the investigation of the Ecorse, Michigan, smuggling shacks, described in a series of articles in the Daily News, today made this statement to the Associated Press:

"I have been bringing whisky out of the shacks and delivering it to my customers in Chicago for the past two years without interference from the authorities who now deny that any such a wholesale traffic exists.

"I am only one of the many rum runners from many states, who have been doing this same thing. I have seen runners there from as far west as Nebraska and Oklahoma. We never said or intended to say that within the city of Ecorse, itself, there are four miles of these shacks. That would be absurd on the face of it.

"Mr. Forman's article did say that the shacks extended for four miles along the American shore. As a matter of fact they extend further, four miles. I was present at Gorman when a Detroit newspaper man mentioned the incident that 100,000 gallons of booze crossed the line daily.

"Nobody, and least of all, the newspaper man himself, merely gave his figures as an estimate. One man's guess is as good as another's. No one stands there and keeps a tally of the smuggled goods as they come in.

"I have been in and around the shacks for two years and did not attempt to give Mr. Forman an estimate. I am inclined to believe that it may even exceed the estimate of 100,000 gallons on some days and has fallen far below that figure on others."

TWO TIMID THUGS ARE SCARED AWAY

Foiled by Lone Woman and Tooting Horn.

(By the Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—In two instances early this morning, midnight thugs failed to rob those they had marked as their victims. One set permitted the approach of a woman who frightened them away, the other fled at the sound of a distant auto horn.
John Blum, returning home at 1 o'clock, was held up at the point of a gun, only three doors from his home. The two thugs, both masked, appeared to be young. The man holding the gun approached from around the corner, the other sidled to his rear. They demanded that he raise his hands.
He was carrying a satchel and a bundle and was unable to comply. In order to attract attention he shouted: "What do you want? I haven't got anything." Meanwhile he kept backing away, moving the satchel about. Then he began to shout: "Help, murder, police!"
His wife, Theresa, awaiting his return, heard the cries and rushed from their home. When the thugs saw the approach of the unarmed woman they signalled a companion, who drove up in a limousine, into which the two jumped. One aimed a parting blow at Blum, striking him on the head with a blunt instrument. Although his watch and chain were in plain view, and he had considerable money in his pocket, the thugs got nothing from their mock bravery. Because the men were masked, Blum was unable to furnish an adequate description to the police of the Thirtieth district.

The other case of highwaymen being frightened away occurred at Haines and Osceola street, when four Negroes held up Thomas Foley. The men demanded him to hand over his money and jewelry. At that moment a distant auto tooted its horn. The bandits, thinking it approached, struck Foley and made off. After treatment in the German town hospital, Foley reported the hold-up to the police of the Fourteenth district, who are looking for the men.

HERO POLICEMAN VANQUISHED BY BIG BASS DRUM

Sobs Like Child When Asked to Carry Noise Maker in Parade.

CHICAGO, May 26.—John H. Vanden Broeck, six-foot policeman, heard the crash of shells and the sputter of machine guns while serving with the Belgian and American armies overseas. He wasn't afraid of anything. Two governments cited him for gallantry in action.
Wednesday he broke down and cried like a child because his superior tried to make him carry a big bass drum in a police parade. He refused, because she thought it a task

THE PRESIDENT IS RIGHT.

President Harding's letter dealing by plain inference with the duty of Governor Smith to veto the repeal of the prohibition law in New York has been criticised rather sharply because the president said if any state fails to enforce the law, the government will be a difficult and trying situation in which conflicts between state and federal authorities seem unavoidable.

It is said that the president is unduly alarmed, and that there would be no reason to fear conflict. However, if the United States assumes sole responsibility for the enforcement of the prohibition law in any state, it cannot enforce the law without flooding that state with deputy marshals or prohibition enforcement officers of some kind. Every little village is a potential center for distilling and bootlegging. If the local authorities do not act, there must be enough agents of the federal government to step into the shoes of all the policemen, constables and sheriffs; but that is manifestly out of the question. The United States may take the more active part in prohibition enforcement, but there will be no real enforcement unless local officials lend their aid at least when they are called upon by officials of the government.

But in a state indifferent to prohibition enforcement, such calls will be ignored or will meet with so little response that trouble will ensue. Government authorities will appeal to higher state authorities against neglectful or defiant local officers and the fight will be on. It is easy to conceive of a situation in which federal officers trying to enforce prohibition without state help, find themselves actually fighting local officials as well as the law-breakers. A federal officer is likely to be regarded as more or less a alien, and there is many a town marshal or deputy sheriff in eastern Kentucky, for instance, who would not have to strain his conscience much in order to protect a village still against an agent of the government. That there are state officers who will do so if their states turn their backs on the prohibition law is beyond question. It is, in fact, all but impossible to keep some officers honest on the prohibition question even now.

BALDWIN GETS THE PLUM.

Stanley Baldwin becomes premier of Great Britain because Curzon is a member of the house of lords and therefore practically, though not technically ineligible. So at least runs the explanation, and there certainly is substance and reason in it. The emphasis laid upon the point that a title disqualifies a Britisher for the headship of his government is highly significant of a strong tendency toward control of the British empire by the commoners, leaving the king and the nobility to perform the ornamental duties.

Nevertheless in the case of Curzon, there is some difficulty about believing that this is all the story. The plain truth is that Curzon is not overwhelmingly popular, nor is his discretion trusted. The British have more respect for his ability and his experience than they have love of the empire, but his progress has left the world cold. If he had been able to inspire the warm enthusiasm Lloyd George has inspired in his time and still is able to inspire, the mere fact that he is a member of the house of lords would probably not have stood in the way of realization of his final ambition.

As to Stanley Baldwin, he is best known in America as the man who came here to conduct negotiations regarding the adjustment of the British debt to America, and after he went home said things that did not set very well on this side of the water. Then nobody thought of him as a possible future premier, and actually his rise is more or less fortuitous. He has been elevated as a stop gap rather than because he has outstanding qualities that commend him, though it is true he has been accounted a strong man in his place. Perhaps he is big enough to take the reins and make a real name for himself. At least opportunity beckons, and beckons largely.

OLD FASHIONED ROADSIDES.

Some member of the Pennsylvania legislature who thought the whole state ought to be "slicked up" a little, secured the passage of a bill requiring farmers every summer to clean the roadsides along their farms, cut down undergrowth and leave everything wide open between fence and fence. The bill got to Governor Pinchot and he vetoed it. He said first that farmers have no time to bother with such things in summer, and even if they had, he did not believe in the kind of roadsides favored by the legislature. Rather, he preferred them with trees here and there, clumps of elderberry bushes, hazel, cornel, viburnum thorn apple or, in short, anything that nature plants and the farmers leave, and finally he thought the farmers ought to be permitted to keep the roadsides according to their respective tastes.

On the whole the average traveler will agree with the governor. The modern rural road, paved and tended, has inestimable advantages over the old trails that used to pass the roads, but beauty is not one of those superiorities. The old wagon tracks winding between banks of green on either side, and so close together that the bushes took tribute of every passing load of hay, were very much prettier than any automobile highway, and as far as that old beauty can be preserved under new conditions it is altogether desirable.

William J. Bryan says he has to keep the Democratic party going straight, keep prohibition enforced and defend religion and if that is so, the Presbyterian General Assembly was right in thinking that he had enough to do without trying to be moderator.

The statistical investigation which shows that twelve states pay 75 per cent of the taxes should be extended so as to verify the popular impression that the other 36 states do 75 per cent of the kicking.

That Texas judge who granted 212 divorces in 245 minutes would probably have worked a little faster if he had realized how near he was to a one-a-minute record.

CAR SHORTAGE IS FEARED AS CAUSE OF COAL SHORTAGE

Wayne County Fuel Administrator Already Sees Trouble for Next Winter.

DETROIT, May 26.—A prediction that coal supplies for Michigan industries may be short next winter, due to a car shortage, is made by Charles Dunn, Wayne county fuel administrator, who accompanies the prediction with a suggestion to large coal users to obtain as large a supply as possible during the spring and summer months.

"As viewed at this time it will not be a question of getting coal out of the mines, but of getting it from the mines to the consumers," Mr. Dunn said. "The entire problem is one of transportation. Our reports show that some mines are closing because the managements are unable to ship their product. Some of the mines have car supplies for only two or three days at a time. This is due to the demands put upon the railroads by industrial concerns, which are absorbing a large part of the railroad cars."

"Information reaching my office shows the car supply situation to be as bad, if not worse, than it has been at any other time. If business keeps up at its present rate there is no chance for any material improvement in the car supply. Only a let-down in the building industry, which everywhere is climbing to a new peak, will ease the situation."

"At best the larger users of bituminous coal could expect only a limited amount of fuel at this time, but there is the hope that with the approach of summer there will be perhaps some increase in the number of coal cars available for transportation. In the autumn, however, grain will be moving and this will not tend to increase the supply of cars for hauling coal."

Mr. Dunn's advice to industrial concerns to obtain as much of their next winter's supply as soon as possible is in line, he says, with a report received recently from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, dealing with the coal situation as of May 1, this year. The report declares the coal stocks on hand to be very small.

PLAN A $5,000,000 DRINKERS' HAVEN ON STEEL ISLAND

Pittsburgher to Build "Wet" Resort Beyond 3-Mile Limit.

NEW YORK, May 26.—A drinker's dreamland is pictured by W. C. Grieser, Pittsburgh, who announces he plans to build a steel and concrete island outside the three-mile limit—a haven of drink for the thirsty. The $5,000,000 vision of Grieser includes a space 35 feet above the meanest high tide, a little more than three miles off the Jersey coast, two hotels, a swimming pool, four spacious refreshment gardens—and a brewery.

MOTHER ROBIN HAS NEST UNDER OLD MAIL COACH

Finds Warm Place for Hatching Brood in Hissing Steam Valve.

(By the Associated Press) PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—"When Winkin, Blinkin and Nod one night sailed out in a wooden shoe," their voyage was not one bit as adventuresome as the daily journey of 75 miles, taken by "Nod" of the oldest passengers that ever rode on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad.

Every day at noon a United States mail coach leaves New Hope, Pa. It gets to this city an hour and 47 minutes later, stays in the Reading terminal until 3:15, then starts again for New Hope.

For 10 days now a mother robin at the other end of the line has waited as anxiously for that train as all the people together in New Hope, save for their mail. When the train reaches the New Hope station the robin pops down from a nearby tree and appears under the mail.

There, on top of a warm steam valve, protected by a drip pan, is a nest. The little mother perches on the edge and looks inside to see if any damage has been done. For within the nest are five blue robin eggs, heated and warmed by the steam beneath, waiting the day when their shells can be broken by five little mouths.

WOMEN INVENT MANY DEVICES

They Get Patents for False Eye Lash, Cow Tail Holder, Plow, Other Articles.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—All sorts of devices, utensils and machinery have been invented by women during the last ten years—from a rotary plow share to an egg beater—down through a list of about 1,400 different items, according to the records of the United States patent office.

Naturally most of the inventions by women are articles for use in the household, a kettle polisher for hot utensils, a kettle polisher and scraper, a kitchen cabinet, a washing machine, a carpet beater, a mattress turned, and a mouse trap. But women's inventive genius has carried them outside of their own household. On the farms they have patented many contrivances to make work easier, or to do it better, including such pretentious machinery as cultivators, seed planters, tractors, and windmills, as well as incubators and churns.

Second only to household equipment the spur to invention by women has come through, articles for personal wear or use such as hooks and eyes, shoe strings, shoes, tooth brushes, and even an artificial eye lash. Among the larger inventions are found patents of office supplies and equipment, improvements to steam and street railway equipment, new methods of road building, machinery of all sorts, many kinds of tools, musical instruments, toys, and educational devices.

No explanation is needed for why one woman who milked her own cows invented a cow tail holder. Another woman invented a cover for pie pans because she said the juicy pies were always overflowing in her oven which wasted the best of her pie and left her with a dirty oven to clean. Still another woman invented a reinforced wooden bowl after the bowl in which she was working butter split in two, spilling the butter into her lap. A woman who had spent many hot July days in a hospital invented a special window ventilator, which would make the room less stuffy.

Grand Rapids—The city commission has purchased a 5.1 acre hillside at Valley avenue and Fourth street for park purposes.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK. Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowdays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark glossy and attractive.

HIGH RANGE GUN TO BE GIVEN TEST

Battleship Maryland will Make First Use of 16-Inch Weapon.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 25.—The 16-inch guns of the new battleship Maryland, equal to the armament of any fighting craft in the world, will be turned loose over a 25,000 yard range June 7, marking the first time in United States naval history that gunners have used this calibre weapon in distant target practice, the navy department announced Tuesday. The targets will be anchored off Piney Point, Chesapeake bay, for the trials, which are expected to prove of outstanding importance in determining the accuracy and dispersion of heavy naval guns elevated to 30 degrees.

Equals Foreign Guns. The Maryland is the only battleship in the American fleet whose guns are elevated to 30 degrees, making possible at least equalling the range of any ships of the British fleet. However, before the end of the year the battleship West Virginia and Colorado, with 30 degree guns, are expected to be ready for service.

Naval officials are keenly interested in the outcome of the firing, since congress appropriated funds to elevate guns of all naval vessels to 30 degrees. Information that the British navy had taken similar action. However, when that information proved erroneous, President Harding held up the elevation project until congress could have opportunity to consider the new facts.

Naval officers declared that the largest practice will undoubtedly prove the practicability of accurate firing with guns at 25,000 yards, and excellent results probably will have a tendency to bring favorable action from the sixty-eighth congress.

120-Foot Target. The 16-inch guns of the Maryland will hurl projectiles weighing over a ton a maximum distance of 39,000 yards, but, under the present plan, target practice will not be held at the extreme range. The target will be a raft 120 feet long and 40 feet high.

With the guns elevated at 30 degrees, the shells drop almost vertically. The additional elevation over other armament of the fleet, however, gives the Maryland the advantage of putting her guns in action about five thousand yards farther from an enemy craft than can other vessels of the fleet.

FIRST FILM SHOW ON LONELY ISLE BRINGS TERROR

Scared Children Flee from Exhibition Hall to Wild Hillsides.

(By the Associated Press.) LONDON, May 25.—The first movie show ever witnessed by peasant children on the island of St. Kilda so terrified them that they stampeded from the schoolroom where the film was being exhibited, and sought safety on the wild hillsides, says the correspondent of the Daily Press, who is touring the lonely islet that lies west of Scotland.

St. Kilda, isolated for several months of the year by the stormy Atlantic, inhabited by a semi-civilized people and a party of visitors, thinking to give the natives a treat, arranged a moving picture entertainment. The young folks were on the full force despite warnings of their elders who suspected magic.

The audience sat unmoved through a picture of a football match, but when an express train flashed at them, across the screen, the youngsters screamed and fled, ignoring the assurances of the operator that the train was not real.

CALLS TELEPHONE GIRL BIG FACTOR IN SALES SUCCESS

Upon the telephone girls in large business houses rests most of the responsibility for the success of the sales, is the belief of G. H. Cleaver, manager of the automobile maintenance department of the American Stores Company, who recently addressed members of the Motor Truck Association at the Hotel Adelphi, Philadelphia. "Telephone girls are the most important factor of a large business house," he said, "it depends largely upon the manner in which the telephone operator in your business house answers the prospective customer whether you make a sale or not."

"Sometimes a girl can chase away more business than ten salesmen can bring in a year, and on the other hand if the girl is polite and courteous she may bring in more business than your whole sales force."

Even in historical and picturesque Palestine the telephone has found its way. At the present time the system comprises 81 central offices to which are connected 1,180 instruments. The average number of conversations per year is about 3,800,000.

FRESHMEN GLEE CLUB PRESENTS OPERETTA TUESDAY, MAY 29TH

"Twilight Alley" to Be Shown Under Auspices of High School Class Next Week.

Tuesday evening, May 29, at 8:15, the Freshmen Glee Club of the Escanaba high school, will present the operetta, "Twilight Alley" in the high school auditorium.

The play deals with Dame Needy and her large family who live in a dilapidated old alum house called the "Old Shoe." Dame Needy imagines they are under a continual curse of which the "Black Bogie" (her name for smoke) seems to be the tangible representative in her everlasting war against him she makes the children deprive themselves of all pleasures so as to spend their money for soap and their time in cleaning.

Lily, the daughter of the owner of the Old Shoe, accidentally wanders into the place. In her conversation with the girls she persuades them to go on a visit to her home on the hill. Dame Needy's son, Jack, and his baseball team go on a cleaning-up campaign and capture the "Bogie," this being done in reality by the mayors passing a city ordinance for smoke consumers to be put on every chimney. The girls return in time to greet the heroes. A celebration follows which all bear the good news.

The cast of characters is as follows:

- Dame Needy, Elizabeth Crebo; Meg, her oldest daughter, Catherine Jenkins; Jack, only son of Dame Needy, Ted Geniesse; Lily, daughter of the owner of the Old Shoe, Eleanor Mason; Angelina, an immigrant child, Mrs. Auerbach; Meg's seven sisters, Florence Nelson, Lillian Johnson, Verna Brotherton, Hannah Arntzen, Janet Owen, Evelyn Leloff, Helen Rubens; Matt, Lawrence, Paul Elliot, Joseph Ric, Robert Bees, Leonard Cravener, Earl Kosob, Walter Bennett, Vic Booth; Chorus, Lucille Johnson, Bertha Mayon, Hyacinth Whiston, Veronica Fialle, Celeste Chaudette, Margaret Breitenbach, Lillian Peterson, Viola Peterson, Grace Kemp, Virginia Raymond, Marion Coplan, Marylyn Young, Ruth Roche, Bernice Champion, Elna Graustein, Elva Roberts, Levara Gingress, Florence Keath, Clinton Hunt, Sheldon Cobb, Almond Arnold, Phamst, Elizabeth A. DESPERADO FORCES ALL TO TOTE GUNS

Throws Entire County into a Near Panic.

(By the Associated Press) NORTH BAY, Ont., May 26.—Leo Rogers, the bad man of North Bay, is still at large and the North Bay country is panicky. Rogers killed Constable Fred Lefebvre after he had made his sensational escape from the North Bay court by using a card-issued revolver.

He has sworn to "get" Police Chief Morley and Magistrate Weegan. North Bay is afraid the desperado may suddenly dash into town, carry out his cow and get away again.

The community is plain scared and every man on the street has a holster dangling from his belt, and the holster is empty.

It all reads like a western movie thriller, but it is a painfully real for North Bay.

The cause of the trouble is only a slip of a lad, 21 years old. But he has crammed the lawlessness of a lifetime into those 21 years.

North Bay has decided to live in peace while Leo Rogers is at large, and Leo has said there isn't a jail in North America can hold him. One solution, therefore, presents itself, and poses are about the countryside with drawn revolvers to get Leo before he does any more harm.

Farmers have armed themselves and their wives in fear of a sudden descent.

Rogers was bitterly resentful when Constable Lefebvre jumped at him from behind and arrested him for robbery. So, when he escaped, he got a real shooter and came back after Lefebvre. He plugged the constable with a soft-nosed bullet and fled into the wilds. Some think he may have died during the week. The weather has been severe.

Rogers' father is in jail, charged with helping him get the gun with which he shot the constable. But his mother and sister followed the constable's body to the grave with 2,000 other people of the town, weeping over the misdeeds of the son and brother.

Poppy Day Is Great Success in Escanaba

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion enjoyed a splendid patronage in their "Poppy Day" sale of blood red tissue paper poppies, emblematic of the official flower of the Legion. The funds realized from this sale will be used for relief work which is being carried on by the ladies. Virtually every man and woman on the streets this afternoon was adorned with a poppy and this means that a great number of men who are being cared for in sanitariums and other places, will receive aid and help which these good women are contributing.

TO FIGHT RAISE IN SUGAR BEET RATES

Continental Co. Seeks Boost in Freight Charges.

(By the Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., May 25.—The petition of the Continental Sugar Company to the Interstate Commerce Commission, asking the commission to set aside freight rates on sugar beets within Michigan will be protested by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission in the hearing, which it is expected will be held early in July, it was announced yesterday.

Acceptance of the petition would mean not only wiping out present rates on sugar beets, but also rates on ice, sand, gravel and other commodities. Michigan rates on sugar beets have been cut to about 35 per cent within the last two years and Michigan sugar refiners have contended before the commission that they through freight reductions granted them have been able to operate at a profit, and that if the old rates are restored, the sugar business in Michigan will be threatened.

It was intimated yesterday that the move may be part of the fight of the cane sugar interests to cripple the beet sugar industry. The Continental Company operates sugar refineries at Hillsfield and Ohio points, and it is said to be most heavily interested in the cane sugar end of the business.

The petition also applies to Ohio. There interstate sugar beet rates have been cut about 25 per cent in two years. Sugar beet refiners are cooperating with the state in fighting for state right to fix rates.

FAMOUS NAMES IN ESCANABA ON SHAVING MUGS

Accumulation 35 Years in Walker Barber Shop, "Junked."

What might be termed a "landmark" has disappeared from the Walker barber shop. During the week of the old case, in which mugs of prominent local men have reposed for many years, has been taken out and there is a great vacancy there which is observed immediately by regular patrons of the shop.

There was something decidedly interesting, although rather funereal about the removal of this old case, for there were found the names of men who have stood high in Escanaba business, professional and financial life. Men long since passed to their eternal reward had years ago had shaving mugs, with their names, on them, parked in this cabinet. Some of them had the insignia of favorite lodges on them, others were decorated with strange devices, but all bore the name of the owner. Some of these cups are said to have been 35 years old and as there were a hundred or more of them, it may be seen that in that collection was to be found the name of many a prominent man who has played his part in Escanaba life and passed on to a greater work.

The old time shaving mug has gone by the board. It isn't being sold or used in any more. Men who shave in barber shops do not buy cups any more. Men who shave at home, in many cases use safety razors and patent shaving creams which make a mug superfluous. And so the old time shaving mug is, like the weekly wage, fast disappearing.

SPOOK MARKET TIPS DISOWNED

Manville Tale of Clairvoyant Duplicity Denied at Trial.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Denial that she had used "black art" or spiritualism as a medium to induce Charles B. Manville, a millionaire asbestos manufacturer, to invest in business enterprises was made by Miss Beulah Thompson, named by Manville as the clairvoyant whose alleged "tips" cost him $25,000.

She took the witness stand in the suit brought by Dr. Alonzo E. Austin against Manville for $21,000. Miss Thompson said when she met Manville he told her he could not sleep, because of worry over his wife's illness and because his son had wrongfully taken some property from him. Dr. Austin seeks to recover money which he says he was wrongfully forced to pay after indorsing a note for Manville. The latter has brought a countersuit for $25,000 he says he lost in oil stocks in which Austin is alleged to have induced him to invest.

Miss Thompson denied she made a habit of giving business advice which she obtained through the practice of spiritualism. She denied she had given tips to Charles M. Schwab, and various other prominent men.

Denial that Schwab had ever attended the spiritualistic seances in her home was made by Miss Thompson.

"Did Mr. Schwab ever come to your home?" she was asked.

"No," she answered. "Do you know Mr. Schwab?"

"No."

"Did you ever tell Mr. Manville that you did?"

"Never."

Stab at Sons Revealed. Dr. Austin testified that he had been named one of Manville's executors when the latter drew his will some time ago. The will, it was stated, later was destroyed.

Asked if he knew what Manville's purpose was in making a will at that particular time, by Austin said Manville wanted to leave his fortune as a large foundation for the good of humanity, and that he did not wish his sons to have any more of it.

Dr. Austin denied he knew Schwab or "Tiffany, the jeweler." He denied also they attended "seances" at the apartment of Miss Thompson.

SAGINAW DOCTOR FACES DOPE TRIAL

Addict Tells Court Narcotic Was to Treat Disease.

RAY CITY, May 26.—Dr. Emil P. W. Richter, prominent Saginaw physician, was put on trial in federal court Tuesday, on an indictment charging him with violating the Harrison narcotic law by issuing excess amounts of morphine sulphate to Mrs. Josephine Banfield, an addict. The doctor issued 59 prescriptions, calling for from 21 grains to 40 grains each during 1929 and 1931, it is said.

Mrs. Banfield testified she was a diabetic and had been a drug addict for 10 years. She told how Dr. Richter had given her a prescription every few days, but that he only charged her a fee of 50 cents and sometimes wouldn't take anything from her. The drug store at which the prescriptions were filled was that of L. J. Richter, a distant relative of the doctor's, located about two miles from his office. This fact was brought out through other witnesses to contradict the impression that this was the drug store of which Dr. Richter was in charge as administrator of an estate. The latter did not figure in the case.

Dr. Richter, himself, went on the stand in his own defense, and at the request of the court, produced a number of volumes of medical authority, which tended to show that morphine was used in treatment of a diabetic. The doctor also produced a copy of a letter written to Mrs. Banfield by the internal revenue office at Detroit, telling her how she was entitled to save the narcotic prescribed for her and how the physician was to be guided in it. Dr. Richter claims that he did not deviate from the course outlined.

Mayor Tansend, Judge Ernest Snow, Dr. Bruce, all of Saginaw, testified as character witnesses for Richter.

LAVISH WASTE LAID TO ROADS

Governor Sweet Points to "Evasions" of the Esch-Cummins Law.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Railroads are openly and flagrantly violating the law by evading the provisions of the Esch-Cummins act calling for "pooled profits," it was asserted here by Governor William E. Sweet, democrat of Colorado, one of the governors who will attend the Chicago road conference called by Senator LaFollette, republican, of Wisconsin.

Governor Sweet is an advocate of consolidating American railroads into a few great systems.

Lavish Waste Blamed. The present evasion of the law, Governor Sweet declared, is being accomplished by a "lavish waste in expenditures on the part of a few prosperous roads. While the smaller roads are experiencing continuous operation losses. And, he added, "the public pays the bill."

Along with the governors of a dozen other states and a number of progressively inclined senators and representatives, both republican and democratic, Sweet will go to Chicago the last of this week to attend the LaFollette conference.

"Transportation is the greatest problem of our time," said Governor Sweet. "Most roads are tremendously in need of money, and their incomes are not commensurate with their needs."

"Lower Rates Remedy. I believe lowered rates would increase revenues for they would bring greater traffic."

"One of the real causes for the present situation is the failure of the railroads to obey the provision of the transportation act of 1929 which called upon them to pool their profits by groups."

"The prosperous railroads are spending their surpluses in a lavish waste on their own systems. No payments whatever have as yet been made to the government. In order to evade the law, great expenditures are made far beyond the carriers' needs and the other roads suffer. The public pays the costs."

The Chicago conference has been called primarily to consider railroad valuation, but it probably will develop into a general clinic on the question of "what is the matter with the railroads?"

Among the governors to attend are Sweet of Colorado; Davis of Kansas; Walton of Oklahoma; Ritchie of Maryland; Hunt of Arizona; Dixon of Montana; and Rose of Wyoming. William Jennings Bryan also is to be there.

U. S. TRAPS RUM FLEET AT SEA

Cutters Block 12,000-Case Cargo Entry Off the Virginia Capes.

NORFOLK, Va., May 26.—With 12,000 cases of liquor aboard, for sale at $5 a case, a sizable rum fleet has appeared off the Virginia capes, 11 miles out, and settled down for a business day.

The coast guard cutters Mascoutin and Manning are keeping a watchful eye on the fleet, however, and officers said Wednesday the capes would be sealed before nightfall in such a way that none of the fleet's liquid cargo would ever reach American throats.

Cutters Are Reinforced. The two cutters will be augmented by the Apache from Baltimore and another from New York, it is said.

The fleet came in from the Bahamas, headed by the British schooner, Isyar and Cartona.

Efforts of the rum fleet to purchase bunker in this city, it was learned Wednesday, proved fruitless, offers of exorbitant prices for its being no inducement. Provisions for the fleet are said to be going from Norfolk in small boats.

HURRIES TO PAY OUT $50,000,000

U. S. Ship Board Will Clean Up War-Time Contract Claims in Week.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Cleanup of $50,000,000 claims against the government resulting from wartime ship building contracts was nearing completion Wednesday when the United States shipping board conferred with representatives of 10 Japanese ship-builders.

The Japanese interests, with a claim of several million dollars, showed a disposition to make an equitable adjustment with the government, it was stated following the meeting in the afternoon.

Bethlehem Has Biggest Bill. A statement of shipping costs on steel was particularly involved. The biggest of the 50 claims which must be settled before June 30 is that of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company, which seeks approximately $13,000,000 from the government when the war ended. It is expected to adjust this claim within a week.

An ethical question as to the per cent of profit to be made on the 167 ships built for the government by the company is also involved. The contracts provided, it was learned that should savings be made on the estimated cost of the ships the government would be reimbursed. The board is now endeavoring to determine the amount of the saving.

Commissioner Plummer, a member of the claims committee of the board, said that the board insists that the shipbuilding corporations cannot ethically hold out for 25 or 30 per cent profit in war time. While some of the claims have been settled and paid in full, others have been greatly reduced, it was understood, and that corporations have not been allowed in excess of 10 to 15 per cent profit on the war time contracts.

Predicts Less Than 10 Suits. After June 30, under the appropriation granted by congress for payment of claims, the money reverts to the treasury and corporations having bills against the government must refer to the courts to collect. "The shipping board hopes to make adjustments before that time."

Commissioner Plummer predicted there would be less than 10 lawsuits against the government as the result of the ship building claims.
