The figures, which were obtained from the department of agriculture, appear in an intricate table of items compiled by the bureau of public roads. It is from this table that the bureau publishes semi-annually the authoritative figures showing automobile registration in the country.

The July registration in Michigan represents an increase of 46,380 cars over the registration of January 1 of this year.

State Rank Sixth. Michigan ranks sixth in the list of states in the table of cars registered, but it is fourth in the table of revenue raised from these cars, showing a 10 per cent increase over the average.

In the country as a whole the number of cars of all classes registered was 1,992,427, which, the department says, represents the same rate of increase that has prevailed since 1915 when the number registered was 1,412,000.

POOR, OVRWORKED WORDS.

The sterling qualities of the active individuals nowadays must shine through his conversation, his purpose, his thoughts and those he borrowed must be riveted in the hearer's mind by words which cannot be forgotten. Unfortunately, many of those engaged in great purposes have lamentably failed to augment their vocabularies by reference to a book of synonyms. Thus we suffer from the overwork of a few words.

The idea is to "sell" something; an idea, a state, a climate. There must be a "selling appeal," a "selling plan," and then it is sure to "go over." It "absolutely" cannot fail. You must agree "absolutely" that the weather is good, bad or indifferent, or the "efficiency" bound will put "kick" and "pop" into his arguments until you shout, "shoot," listen and be convinced.

But having been "sold" is not enough for the builder of the "atmosphere" in which you were trapped. He will want to know, must know, in fact, your "reaction." Ah, the reaction. There is a word both subtle and enravelling. You can have reactions on a book, a piece of cheese, a miserable blow-out or a bonfire. That is where the "poplin efficiency" person must check the flow of his "sales talk" long enough to listen. So you ask him to please pass the butter and wonder why they spend time and money printing dictionaries.

THE CONSTITUTION'S BIRTHDAY.

On the seventeenth of September, 146 years ago, the members of the federal convention which had been called to patch up the old Articles of Confederation signed the draft of an entirely new constitution and commended their work to the consideration of the states. Not all of the delegates signed. Of the seventy-three who were appointed, eighteen did not appear to think the convention was sufficiently important to command their attention, and they never took part in its deliberations. Others came and went away without waiting for the completion of the work, while three who were present at the end refused their approval to the instrument as it was prepared. The result was that the names of but thirty-nine of the seventy-three delegates are appended to that great document which has for almost a century and a half been the foundation upon which this government rests.

One feature of the observance of constitution week throughout the country is the celebration of the anniversary of that concluding and crowning session of the convention. It is a day well worthy of public observance, and those who remember it, may gather much encouragement as to the state of the country by recalling the indifference of those delegates who missed their opportunity to write their names down in an immortal company on that seventeenth day of September, 1787. It is said that Americans have grown indifferent to the constitution in these later days, and no doubt some of them have, but modern indifference and hostility to it are nothing compared with the indifference and opposition which it encountered on the day of its birth.

The simple fact is, that even those who signed the constitution were dissatisfied with it, but they had faith that it was the best constitution that could be made to meet all of the difficulties and harmonize all of the conflicting interests that had to be overcome and reconciled before the United States could be made to function as a strong and united nation. They gave up their own theories and something of their own local interests in behalf of the general interest and for the sake of national solidarity.

The same spirit will preserve the constitution today, and in the future, against the assaults of those who would maim or destroy it because its great principles will not harmonize with their plans.

THE FIGHTING INSTINCT.

Looking back at the fight in which Mr. Firpo learned that he was not to be champion there are few who would say that the affair was worth what it cost in money, time and effort. The question which of two men shall be the first to lie on the floor and remain there for at least ten seconds is not of high importance, and yet that was the issue that was tried at the Polo Grounds before 90,000 people who spent much more than $1,000,000 for the privilege of being on the spot while many millions waited in suspense for the announcement of the result.

But the fact is that human beings do not reduce such things to their elements. It is not the end result alone but the whole affair as it is woven in with a complex fabric of tradition, sentiment, instinct, training and national habit that makes a prize fight a matter of such consuming interest. The fighting spirit is as old as humanity, and when it does not find expression in the deadly earnest of battle it seeks an outlet in other forms of contest.

There never was a time when men did not fight for fun if they could not fight to kill, and those whose fighting instinct is not strong enough to make them active in the lists exercise their innate pugnaucy vicariously. They choose their champion, watch him in the battle and make his victory theirs. No normal boy ever lived who did not wish to be a valiant fighter, and however much age and civilization obscure that ambition it persists in men so that the wildest of them wishes in his secret soul that he had Jack Dempsey's punch.

So, in a way, Dempsey stands as an ideal which appeals to every man at least in a half-hearted, sneaking fashion and that deeply rooted sentiment asserts itself with very little persuasion from the clever advertisers who make their livings by entering to it. The result is a new furor over every championship match.

The simply comical fellow who ran around last winter piping "Every day in every way," etc., is the one who is responsible for keeping this banana slogan alive.

A Rhode Island citizen has invented a machine which will tell a woman's age. Now all he has to do is invent a woman who will admit the machine is accurate.

STATE AUTHORIZES
84 MILES OF ROAD
IN LOWER STATE

The Pike Will Be Good From Chicago Through to Mackinaw City; Cost Will Be $2,500,000.

(By the Associated Press)

MUSKEGON, Mich., Sept. 19.—Michigan the other day made a $2,500,000 gift to the nation's pleasure seekers when the state administrative board authorized the building, by the end of 1924, of 84 miles of pavement on the historic West Michigan Pike (M-11), from a point near Pentwater, north of here, to Traverse City.

The Pike, which starts at Chicago, circles the southern end of Lake Michigan through the Indiana dune country, and follows the eastern shore of the lake through West Michigan to Mackinaw City, the tip of the lower Michigan peninsula. It is over this highway, which is 172 miles long, that tens of thousands of tourists pass each season. From early June until autumn the procession of tourists and campers flows past in a seemingly endless stream, seeking the beauty spots, the fishing, and other outdoor recreations afforded by Western Michigan.

Miles of Cement Road.

It was to make the way of these visitors more easy that the state decided to push the cement ribbon farther to the north. Although no definite promise was given with regard to paving the remaining 109 miles of the route from Traverse City to Mackinaw, it is reliably stated that Michigan's government has in mind completion of the Chicago-Mackinaw route as quickly as possible, providing an all-weather link between the middle western and Mississippi Valley states and the heart of the country's summer playground.

The number of Michigan's summer visitors who come by automobile each year is estimated to be in the hundreds of thousands. The total is expected to be doubled and perhaps tripled within the next few seasons with extensions of the motor pavé, the largest number of tourists from other states traveling over this highway.

The 1923 road betterment program will center in one of the most important highway projects of the state. This section of M-11 starts a comparatively short distance north of Muskegon, capital of the fruit belt, and extends through Emmet, Manistowic, and other nationally known resort centers. The road to be paved originally was considered as one of the most gravel highways in the country. The Pike's travel surface has broken through in many places recently, however, due to the heavy travel.

Goes Through Fruit Belt.

The Pike cuts through Michigan's famous fruit belt, affording frequent glimpses of Lake Michigan and vistas of rolling country massed with orchards and berry patches that never fail to delight the eye of the traveler from the time that the trees and vines burst into bloom in the spring until the ripened fruit is gathered. The region's almost countless lakes are made more accessible to the visitor by means of the pavement. Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Holland, Grand Haven, Muskegon, Hart, Ludington, Manistowic, Traverse City, and Petoskey are among the important towns and cities along the Pike route.

New tourist camps are being planned at strategic points along the Pike, although at present there are a large number of such camps in operation, being maintained and equipped with conveniences by the state, the counties or municipalities.

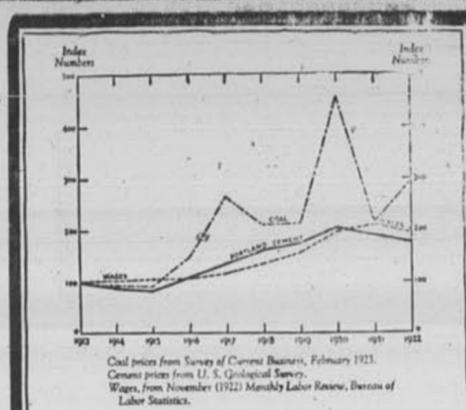

Ruined Russians
Smile at World's Rough Hand Now

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Building new American careers out of the wreckage of prosperity wiped out in the Russian revolution is a task optimistically undertaken by former subjects of Czar Nicholas who have found themselves stranded in Los Angeles, according to Elizabeth Boglaroff, Russian secretary of the International Institute of the Young Women's Christian Association.

There is tragedy and pathos, says Miss Boglaroff, in the frequency with which well educated, refined and talented Russians of noble birth have found all occupations closed to them but those of menial sort. Some, however, are more fortunate. For instance, there is a former military officer who has found success as a college instructor in mathematics. Another, a former general in Kolchak's army, conducts a school for Russian-American children, but a third former officer of high rank, an aristocrat of the old regime, is unable to find even menial work. His wife packs cosmetics in a local factory.

A former count, after serving as a chauffeur for a wealthy family, lately acquired enough capital to buy a taxi-cab of his own. Another refugee of noble lineage works as a lineaman for a power company, while a former military leader under the Romanoff's earns his living as a factory hand.

Despite the heart-aches attached to such reverses of fortune, Miss Boglaroff says these refugees frequently exhibit a cheerfulness that is surprising. In the words of a former statesman under Karemsky, who is now working

More for Your Money

Swapping things—as when our grandmothers traded eggs for calico at the cross-roads store—gives a better understanding of values. By measuring one thing against another we too can often judge values more clearly.

Coal and wages make up more than half the manufacturing cost of cement.

The chart above shows price fluctuations for portland cement, coal and wages during the past ten years. In each case 100 is used to represent 1913 figures, by the Government departments which compiled these statistics.

Translated into "eggs and calico" language, this chart shows that a ton of coal would buy nearly twice as much cement in 1922 as in 1913. A day's wages also would buy more cement in 1922 than in 1913.

This means that even though coal and wages make up more than half its manufacturing cost, cement is now relatively lower in price than either coal or wages.

So, considering these increased costs, it is plain that in buying cement you get more for your money than before.

RUSSIA DIFFICULT TO ENTER
BY AMERICAN TRAVELERS

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Although the Soviet government has announced that admission to Russia would be facilitated for the purpose of accommodating visitors to the commercial exposition in Moscow, Americans desiring to enter the Soviet republic still find it difficult to obtain permission from Moscow.

The Berlin embassy says it is unable to grant permission without communication with the central government in Moscow and delays are as prolonged as they were before the announcement of a change in policy.

The natives of West Africa can send messages ten miles over water and seven miles over land on a still night by beating a drum.

Bolshevists Study
American Policies

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Bolshevism has created a laboratory of world politics in Berlin, something new in political science. This institution has little to do with dusty textbooks and dry lectures. It sends its investigators to the scene of interesting political activities in all parts of the world, and they bring reports to the official staff which keeps abreast of the world press and interprets the information it collects in terms of international consequences.

Captain Jacques Sadoul, former French army officer who was sentenced to death in France for the part he played in promoting sedition among the French marines and sailors who were sent against the Bolshevik troops at Odessa in 1919, is among the experts on the Bolshevik staff who are conducting this new laboratory. Jean Arens, who was wounded by the assassin who killed Vorovskii, the Russian unofficial delegate at the Lausanne conference, is another member of the laboratory staff.

At present the laboratory is much interested in dissecting America's foreign policy. President Coolidge is under the microscope. His speeches and official activities are being studied, along with reports on the possibility of Secretary of State Hughes' resignation from the cabinet. American senators traveling in Europe are also being investigated, especially those who have Russia on their itinerary.

DOCTORS URGE PEOPLE TO NIP GOITER IN BUD

Advocate Use of Iodine in Resolutions Passed at Meeting.

On Friday evening, Sept. 14th, members of the Marinette-Florence County Medical Society and the Menominee County Medical Society were the guests of Dr. W. H. Doherty at a meeting held at the Modern Woodmen hall at P'tsville.

It was the consensus of opinion of those present that some active measures should be taken to check the increasing prevalence of this disease in our communities, and in concluding his paper, Dr. Venema presented the following resolutions:

Whereas, we are living in a goitrous district where simple goitre is epidemic and is becoming more and more prevalent among our young people;

Whereas, the experience of careful observers, extending over a period of more than ten years, in the various goitrous districts of the world shows conclusively that simple goitre is the cause of all diseases to prevent, and

Whereas, these pyramidal nodules can be carried out without any discomfort, inconvenience or expense to the individual and can easily be carried out by the school nurse or the teacher in charge; and

Whereas, after careful consideration, recognizing the growing need of some action tending toward the prevention of goitre among our young people and believing that by the administration of very small doses of iodine to all individuals between the ages of 11 and 16, the further occurrence of simple goitre in our communities can be effectively and safely prevented and that approximately 50 per cent of goitre cases already established can be cured in this manner; measures that have proven so satisfactory in many cities of the goitrous districts of the world;

Therefore, be it resolved: That we, the members of the Menominee County Medical Society, and the Marinette-Florence County Medical Society, give to these preventive measures our hearty approval and endorsement and recommend their adoption.

Further, that for purposes of observation and study a simple record be kept by the nurse or teacher in charge of each child taking this prophylactic, stating the age, weight, height, general condition and the condition of the thyroid gland, whether enlarged or approximately normal.

Further, that the use of the prophylactic shall be optional with the parents of the child and that each school district shall decide whether or not it shall include both sexes in the prophylactic measure, inasmuch as the disease is much more prevalent in girls than in boys.

Further, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the county clerks of Menominee, Marinette and Florence counties with the request that they send three duplicate copies to the secretary of the governing board of each of the schools in these counties and request them to take early action on the recommendations embodied therein.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted and the chairman, Dr. Rowlings, appointed a committee consisting of Dr. A. E. Nadeau, Dr. H. F. Schroeder and Dr. William J. Doran for Marinette county and Dr. Edward Sawbridge, Dr. J. E. Baye and Dr. H. A. Venema for Menominee county to decide upon the best method of procedure and to formulate a plan which would be most feasible for carrying out the measure embodied in the resolutions.

STRICT RULES FOR GIRLS AT U. OF M.

Lights Out at 11 P. M.; Parents Must Okeh Auto Rides.

(By the Associated Press) ANN ARBOR, Mich. The mother hand of protection to coeds of the University of Michigan, in the form of new conduct regulations, is reaching out from the dean of women's office to welcome more than 2,900 girls who will enter college in the fall. The regulations were recently adopted by Miss Jean Hamilton, dean of women, in conference with the landladies and league-house heads, and are aimed to complement the rules already in effect.

These regulations, Miss Hamilton stated, were made not to take away the girl's freedom or to curtail their pleasures, but in an effort to adjust their lives to better college work. They were found necessary to help handle the largest group of girls ever enrolled at the university.

The rules cover all the interesting phases of a coed's life study, play and men.

Boys, Read the Rules. Girls are not to have any guests after 11 o'clock on week-end nights, and no entertaining is to go on after that hour. After dances men are not allowed to stay on the porch.

All girls must have written permission from home to go canoeing or pleasure-riding in automobiles, this permission to be filed with the dean of women.

A list of approved dance halls will be sent to each house at the beginning of each semester. Girls are permitted to attend only approved dance halls.

It is an open secret that many Michigan coeds smoke. The dean is not attempting to evade the smoking issue, but she feels that the question of smoking should be decided by the various house groups. Consequently, the statement regarding smoking reads:

"There is no university or league rule in regard to smoking. This matter must be settled with the girls beforehand, either included in the rooming contract or agreed to in writing. Otherwise, the prohibition can not be enforced."

Among the landladies there is an understanding that the girls in league houses will vote on smoking in houses. It will then be permitted in those which approve.

Glass Doors All Right. The parlor, that place where so many happy courtships had, was not so sacred in the housing administration agreement. It states:

"The parlor is to be kept as a common room, and must be kept open to all girls in the house. It is to be used for social purposes only, and no private parties are to be held in it. The door in the front of the parlor is to be kept open. The shades must be kept up. Houses with large verandas must have a light open there, either an overhead light or light from the hall and front window.

And, last of all, after making an honest effort to handle the small difficulties which arise each year between the girls and their landladies, the regulation committee has decided to shut its eyes to every alarm at 11 o'clock. It states:

"Locking is to be the responsibility of the landlady. It is to be delegated to chosen girls. In case latch keys are used an extra lock must be provided which will be locked at the closing hour."

With these, the coeds of 1923 at the University of Michigan must struggle.

JAIL GIRL-MOTHER, 19, OF BABY FOUND IN SUITCASE WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. Susie Ethel Edwards, 19, of Warrenton, Va., was held in jail pending an investigation of the death of an infant found in a suitcase. The girl told the police that the baby was born to her a week ago and that she had been carrying it in the suitcase ever since. She is unmarried.

TRAVELER DECLARES HALF CLAD ISLANDER SPOILS THE SCENERY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated, according to a state-ment made here recently by Mrs. Whitely Sperry, San Francisco society woman and globe trotter, who has just returned from a 75,000-mile jaunt including a tour of the Orient, the South Seas and the Antipodes.

Mrs. Sperry said she visited the South Sea Islands expecting to find a land of dreams and romance. "I found beautiful scenery ruined by fat, half-naked men and women," she continued. "There was every sort of mixture of race and drink. Prices were three times higher than they should have been. The place was full of half-dressed artists who have gone brown, and everything I ate gave me indigestion. The food was responsible. The South Sea Islands have been ridiculously overrated." In Java, Mrs. Sperry said, husbands may be plucked from the trees, bushes and the road side. These are not human wrecks or dozing derelicts, but fine handsome and charming men from Holland who go to Java to make their fortunes.

"The heat is so intense that most women refuse to live there," Mrs. Sperry went on to say, "so the only alternative these men have, if they wish to exchange single blessedness for harnessed usefulness, is to marry the native women. So you see what a golden opportunity there is for single white women."

"In Hongkong I met many American and English women stranded without a cent, whose real reason for going to China was to get married. Most of them were more than thirty years old and more or less unattractive. They had heard, incorrectly, that there were so many more English and American men than women in China. Once there they couldn't return. Java should have been their goal."

Mrs. Sperry entertains a bitter and hearty grudge against those writers who have painted glowing word pictures of the South Seas and the maidens thereof. She says: "I received the biggest disappointment of my life when I landed in the South Sea Islands. The scenery is beautiful, yes, but nothing startling. Java is more beautiful. And those beautiful maidens one hears of, they are fat, nearly all of them, and sloppy, voluptuous, yes, but oh, so broad! There are derelicts of every race and nation to be seen. Of course, there is quite a colony of writers and artists, but not a large number of these have gone to seed. What struck me particularly was the number of white men, educated and cultured, many of them successful writers and painters, who have married the native women."

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Sept. 19.—While a man and a woman were passing within a few feet last Sunday night, a lone bandit armed with a revolver held up a Standard Oil Company filling station on the main thoroughfare here, and stole more than $180 worth of gasoline. FORD LEADING IN ORE EXPLORATION

Now Has Five Drills Operating in Upper Peninsula.

The Michigan Iron, Land & Lumber company, Ford Motor company subsidiary, is rapidly coming to the front with its iron ore explorations. At present it has five diamond drills working with three crews on eight hour shifts.

One of the latest drills to be started is being run across the Spruce river from the Imperial mine at Michigamme. Another is working on Mitchell's farm at Turvo Lakes. Two drilling outfits were recently set up and started to work in the vicinity of Republic and another drill is located near Channing.

With five drills in continuous operation the Ford interests have the leading diamond drilling organization in the upper peninsula mining field. Few of the other mining companies are doing any exploratory work.

In past years the Cleveland Cliffs and the other iron mining companies were the leaders in drill explorations but no drilling has been carried on by the latter for several years. About a year ago the Cleveland Cliffs drills were brought into the shops from the Iron River district and since that time all drills have been operated in the underground workings.

The extra surface hands necessary at the Imperial mine at Michigamme during the shipping season, when the stockpile containing about 250,000 tons was loaded up, have been put to work underground. No men have been laid off at the Imperial and it is expected that the crew will remain intact throughout the winter.

SEA FLOOR SHIFT FORCES QUITTING GREAT JAP PORT

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—Plans for the rebuilding of Yokohama have been abandoned by Japan because of the great chances in the harbor bottom and the expense involved in reconstructing the debris. Stamp Collectors Deny Old Fad Is On the Wane Now

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The old fad for collecting postage stamps not only is not on the wane, but is going stronger than ever, according to members of the American Philatelic Society, who recently concluded here what they characterized as the most successful gathering since the organization was founded 38 years ago. More than 250 attended to the popularity of collecting when they bid quick and freely at an auction in which several hundred stamps and groups were put up.

In all more than $4,100 was paid over as a result of the bidding. The highest price paid was $560 for a four cent blue stamp issued by British Guiana in 1856, and which was considered a rare specimen. The fact that such a price was paid for a stamp not in best condition was regarded as indicative of the interest collectors still retain. This stamp in prime condition is listed at a catalog price of $1,000.

Stamp collecting, though, isn't what it used to be, the "old timers" say. There are too many "wise ones" in the field and it is no longer possible to pick up valuable rarities for a song. Even the children, they declare, now know a good one when they see it. They all hark back to the time when such and such a stamp could be got anywhere for a few cents but is now sought and bought for as many dollars.

One of the interesting specimens which evoked a lively minute of bidding and finally brought an exceptional price was a pink three cent United States stamp of the issue of 1861, the cancellation on which was a devil with pitchfork. This type has come to be known as the "Old Boy Himself" issue.

"SHUFFLE ALONG" BOOKED FOR DELFT ON OCTOBER 15TH

Manager Jacobs Has Signed Up With a Real New York Broadway Production for Escanaba.

More than common interest is attracted to the announcement of Manager Jacobs of the Delft theatre in the engagement at that theatre on Monday, October 15th, of New York's much heralded musical sensation, "Shuffle Along."

This is the same attraction that took New York by storm, setting that staid old burg into a whirl of jazz and syncopation, and hanging up a world's record for a musical comedy, having played over two consecutive years at the 62d Street Music Hall, something unheard of in the history of musical comedies. Its remarkable success has inspired many imitators, some even going so far as to create titles to try and confuse the public, but "Shuffle Along" remains as originally conceived, the greatest "colored classic" since the days of Williams and Walker. The book of "Shuffle Along" is by Miller and Lyles, while the lyrics and score are by Sissie and Babe, well known writers of harmony and syncopation.

The company numbers some sixty odd performers, prominent among them being the well-known colored contralto, Emma Jackson, Margaret Scott, Billy Dewey, Edgar Cantors, Al Baldwin and Theo Macdonald, the colored "Valentino."

One of the outstanding features of the organization is the chorus, "The Crooks Madepe" the same chorus that set New Yorkers dippy—a hazy of bronze beauties who work with such speed and abandon as to leave one in a whirl of amazement.

The plot, conceived in real southern atmosphere, unfolds an interesting story, mingled with solo duets, double and triple quartets and suitable numbers.

The score of "Shuffle Along" possibly contains more real popular song hits than any two musical comedies ever produced, among them: "I'm Wild About Harry," "Love Myself," "I'll Be Home," "Hardaway Days," "Honeyuckle Time," "Oriental Blues," "Mary From Maryland," "Yipp-Hoop" and many others.

Hard Times in Sweden Turn Many to U. S.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 15.—The influence of hard times on Swedish emigration to the United States, as illustrated by recent reports from Sweden from and steel works, and from L. W. Fitzgerald, governor of the Island Islands.

The recent labor market census of a number of workers to leave their homes for America, attracted by the prospect of industrial prosperity in that country. It appears that many of those emigrants were skilled workers.

Governor Fitzgerald says that the Aland Islands left for America during the first six months of this year. He has made a study of the census of the islands and has arrived at some interesting deductions. One category consists of young men who wish to perfect themselves in the latest working methods of their trade or profession, intending to return to the home country. Another group includes masons and construction workers who hope for steady employment in America. Others go out in the hope of earning enough money to pay off the debt on their family homesteads. Some are younger sons of farming families who are tired of working at home for almost no pay. Unfortunately, the governor states,

MICHIGAN HITS BIG STEEL RATE

Will Make Aggressive Fight Against the Pittsburgh-Plus Regulation.

LANSING, Sept. 15.—Michigan plans to take an aggressive stand to protect lake port cities from the possible loss of shipping facilities, due to the water taken from the lakes by the Chicago drainage canal, and to mitigate the alleged exorbitant costs to farmers and other users of steel products as a result of the Pittsburgh plus system.

Clare Hetan, deputy attorney general, who returned Monday from a conference of mid-western state representatives in Chicago, declared that there is a possibility that Michigan will institute separate suits against the Chicago Sanitary Drainage district. A federal suit is now pending, and Wisconsin has instituted a separate suit. Attorney General Andrew B. Dougherty will probably go to Washington September 23 to confer with Solicitor General Beck regarding the advisability of separate intervention by Michigan. The contemplated action will not be started, if at all, however, until after the supreme court has ruled in the federal suit.

Michigan will be represented, December 12, when testimony on the Pittsburgh plus system of pricing steel products will be taken by the federal trades council. According to Mr. Hetan, most of the farm implements are manufactured within 150 miles of Chicago. Michigan farmers are compelled to pay as much for steel products as farmers in far distant states. He estimated that the system costs farmers in this state $1250 for the average tractor and corresponding amounts for other implements, aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars a year. The plan puts an extra charge of $3 on an average priced automobile being estimated.
