

MARTIAL LAW IS LIFTED IN OKLAHOMA

WALTON SENDS MESSAGE WITH URGE TO STOP KU KLUX KLAN

Did Not Appear Before the Solons in Person Today.

Message Says State Is in Grave Danger Unless Steps Are Taken to Stop Depredations.

(By the Associated Press)
Oklahoma City, Oct. 11.—Martial law, in effect throughout Oklahoma since September 15th, was lifted by Governor Walton in a proclamation which was made public today.

Message Is Presented.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 11.—The Oklahoma legislature called into extraordinary session by Governor J. C. Walton convened today. The house was called to order at 9:11 this morning by Representative D. A. Stovall, who was chosen majority floor leader at a caucus last night. A committee of a joint session informed Governor Walton that the legislature was ready to hear him. The governor did not appear personally.

Aldrich Blake, executive attorney brought the message to the joint assembly and delivered it to the clerk with the brief statement: "Gentlemen, here is presented the governor's message to the legislature."
Asks That Laws Be Passed.
Governor Walton called upon the legislature today to enact an anti-Ku Klux Klan law to escape from the disaster which threatens the state from the secret organization. In his address the executive charged the Klan with responsibility for hundreds of outrages and punctuated his remarks by laying before the law-makers a transcript of all testimony adduced by military courts of inquiry which, under his proclamation of martial law, investigated mob violence and masked depredations in various parts of the state.
He requested the solons to examine this testimony and to publish it, so the public at large may be informed as to the activities of the Klan in Oklahoma.

"This all horrible and most demoralizing and 'supergovernment' is undermining the very soul of our government and sapping the life blood of our citizenship," Governor Walton declared.
"The Klan must either be killed or the government must itself finally give way to anarchy and revolution. There is no middle ground or alternative," he said.

Poison Liquor Victims Rouse Editor White

Emporia, Kan., Oct. 12.—William Alan White, commenting editorially Monday in his Emporia Gazette on a survey recently made which showed more than 2,000 persons were killed by poison liquor in the country this year, said: "When a lot of old coaks staff their copper-lined intestines with illicit hootch in violation of the eighteenth amendment and get killed in the process, it is supposed to call for tears. There is just one way to keep from death by illicit hootch in this country. Obey the law. If a man defies it, he takes his chance. And if he dies—see if we care."

DELEGATE SAYS MORE WHISKEY GLASSES MADE

Declares Production Exceeds that of Beer Bottles.

Argument Is Made at Federation Meeting in Favor of Light Wines and Beer.

(By the Associated Press)
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—Half a dozen committees were to report when the American Federation of Labor convention resumed work today. Reiteration of its stand in favor of modification of the Volstead act so as to permit the sale of light wines and beer and an action refusing lady barbers a place in organized labor affiliated with the federation marked yesterday's session which was given largely to oratory and debate.
In the discussion of prohibition William Clark, a delegate from the Fiat Glass Workers, said more whiskey glasses are now being made than in prohibition days and they are not for ornament. He added that since the advent of the Volstead act the manufacture of beer bottles diminished and the turn out of whiskey glasses has increased greatly.
A delegation from the Milk Wagon Drivers' Union said milk bottles were hard to obtain. "Now I have heard the reason," he said, referring to the matter of whiskey glasses.
The delegates contended that bootleggers favored prohibition.

The Canal, which is about 75 miles from the scene, is rushing to the assistance of the sinking vessel. The City of Everett is a Standard Oil tanker of 15,39 tons. According to last reports she was bound from Philadelphia to Sagua.

FAT MAN'S JOB TO SWIM ACROSS ENGLISH CHANNEL

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—Swimming the English channel is a fat man's game. Carbis A. Walker of Cleveland, who swam across Lake Erie this summer, but failed to negotiate the channel, said in explanation of his failure. "I was in the water 3½ hours," he said. "It was so cold it penetrated my muscles. After swimming three miles I became delirious and then unconscious."
"It's a fat man's job—and only a man with a lot of surplus flesh on his ribs to withstand the cold water can succeed. I failed because I had kept down weight for fast swimming."

(By the Associated Press)
BERLIN, Oct. 11.—President Ebert this afternoon vested Chancellor Stresemann with authority to dissolve the Reichstag in event the government authorization bill giving the chancellor wide authority in dictation of measures for economic rehabilitation fails to command the necessary two-thirds majority for its passage.
The parliamentary situation took a critical turn as the result of the government's ability to demand a two-thirds majority for the chancellor's authorization.
The first and second paragraphs were approved but when the bill as a whole came up for a final vote the entire Nationalist party left the Reichstag chamber which left the body without a quorum and the Reichstag adjourned until Saturday when a final vote is expected.

Sunday School Meetings Have Been Planned

LANSING, Oct. 11.—The Michigan Sunday school council will hold a series of three-day institutes in various points of the Upper Peninsula, November 18 to 25. Six communities will be accommodated, including Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Calumet. Pastors, superintendents, teachers, officers in the church schools, high school students, public school teachers, parents and other interested persons will be privileged to enroll. Courses will be offered in Bible, psychology as applied to religious education, methods in Sunday school work and church school organization and administration. These will be under the immediate direction of Miss Irene Rockswold, children's division superintendent of the Michigan Sunday school council, and will offer specialization courses for departmental workers in this division of the church school.

Invited for Ride; Dies in Crash

Not a few people held back getting a Mirror Insurance Policy because they did not own cars. Do you ever stop to think you may get hurt or killed while riding with a friend?

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—Guspar Gallapazza, 60, received injuries in an auto accident near Vulcan from which he died Monday. The car, being driven by Leo Jansen, crashed into a telephone pole, breaking it off at the base. The occupants were thrown through the top of the car. The aged man was returning home from church when he was invited by Jansen to go for a ride. He leaves a wife and eight children.

Some day the Iron Mountain newspaper will take as good care of its readers as The Mirror does. A dollar would not have been much to pay for a policy that paid $1,000 in case of death. A check for $1,000 would help tight wife and her eight children.

RAIN FALLING IN WISCONSIN MAY STOP FIRE

Little Damage Actually Found as Result of Fires.

It Is Declared That Little Green Timber Was Burned and Fires Confined to Deadfalls.

(By the Associated Press)
SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 11.—Rain began falling here at 11:30 o'clock this morning. If the rain continues very long it is expected to put an end to the brush fires in upper Wisconsin.

No Great Damage Done.

IRONWOOD, Mich., Oct. 11.—The forest fires which have been burning throughout the Upper Peninsula during the last three days have now spent their force and flames are seen in only an occasional spot was the report today from the fire zone by Deputy Fire Warden Larson. The loss to timber owners and settlers has not been as great as reported. While a half dozen or more settlers have had their barns swept away and there was a very few small houses burned in Ontonagon county and Gogebic county, only widely separated fires raged in this territory. These are now under control, according to Mr. Larson and unless winds of considerable force arise, there is no further danger.
Most of these fires will smoulder for days unless rains come to wet down the ground. Damage to timber has been largely confined to logs and dead trees, very little green timber having been burned, according to the warden and his scattered areas.
There has been no loss of life or damage to farm buildings in the past 24 hours.

The experiments have been going on for some time at the Norwegian naval station at Horten with the "electric pilot," and have aroused the interest of the naval experts of all countries who gathered there to watch the operations.

Superior Conference of Mission Society Meets Here Sunday

The Woman's Mission Society within the Green Bay district of the Superior Conference will hold its annual meeting in the Swedish Lutheran Bethany church of this city next Sunday. A large number of delegates, representing local Woman's Mission Societies in cities and communities within the district will be in attendance. Approximately one hundred delegates are expected.
The Rev. Fred W. Wyman of Minneapolis, mission field secretary of the Augustana Synod, has been invited as special guest for the day. Rev. Wyman recently returned from China, where he spent several months on an inspection tour, visiting all mission stations of the Augustana Synod's mission field in China.
The work on this field has had a most wonderful success during the last decade. Many Escanaba people are particularly interested in this mission, owing to the fact that Mrs. G. Cariberg, a former Escanaba girl, is located on this field, actively engaged in the missionary work of her church together with her husband, the Rev. Carlberg. The Rev. and Mrs. Roy Thelander are also engaged in the work of this mission. Rev. Thelander is the son of a former pastor of the local Swedish Lutheran church, the Rev. Philip Thelander, well and favorably known to many people in this community.
Rev. Wyman will occupy the pulpit of the Swedish Lutheran church in

TOURIST AGENT VISITS FRIENDS IN THIS COUNTY

William M. Beals, Accompanied by Wife and Friends, Making Auto Trip in Cloverland.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Beale and Miss Amanda Rathje of Chicago and Miss Baynard White of Palmyra, Mo., arrived in Escanaba last evening and will spend a few days touring the peninsula, before returning to Chicago.
Mr. Beale is the proprietor of Beale's Tours of Chicago, an organization that is becoming nationally known by its annual tours to Europe and personally conducted tours to other parts of the world. For the past fourteen years Mr. Beale has conducted the regular summer tour to Europe with the exception of that period during the World's war and is exceptionally well informed on European conditions, but as he has many friends in all the involved countries, he is not talking politics. He says the most important matter facing the coming age is the money situation, which means the real value of the currency at the time of arrival, compared with the figures the agency bases the trip on, a year before it is made.
In Germany particularly this is an awful proposition. In years past the German mark was like any other kind of money and had some value as a medium of exchange, but now there is nothing like that, according to Mr. Beale. He says that one link of German sausage today costs a great many more marks than you could once buy a team and carriage for.
The talk is in millions of marks now for anything you want to buy and before the government began printing million and five million mark bills. Mr. Beale said he had to hire a cab to carry his German money in when he exchanged a couple of hundred dollars of American money for the German product. Miss Rathje and Miss White, who are with the Beales on the automobile trip, have been members of eight touring parties to Europe. Both young women are accomplished linguists. Miss Rathje conversing in fourteen different tongues and Miss White having command of ten or more.
During the war Miss Rathje was one of the official interpreters at Port Arthur and Miss White served in a similar capacity in Paris and Petrograd.

'BOX-WORKER' WRECKS SAFE; GETS STAMPS AND CURRENCY

Postoffice at Chatham Also Dynamited Yesterday.

It Is Thought That Explosion at Chatham Was Work of Bootleggers Who Wanted Revenge.

Some time this morning, between 2 and 5 o'clock, it is thought, the safe in the post office at Vulcan was blown up with nitro-glycerine and the robbers made their escape with about $200 in cash and $800 in Harding memorial stamps. The robbery was not discovered until the postmaster went to the office this morning. An examination of the doors of the safe indicated that a sledge hammer must have been used in the first efforts to open the safe and later the nitro-glycerine resorted to. An alarm was sent to all the surrounding towns at once, but there is nothing in the way of clues for the police to work on.
It is declared, however, that the person or persons implicated in the latest robbery in the Upper Peninsula, left numerous finger prints which will be photographed by a fingerprint expert.

CHATHAM, Mich., Oct. 11.—John H. Gattiss, prominent Chatham merchant, narrowly escaped instant death when a nitro-glycerine bomb, planted under the office of his general store, exploded at 7:16 o'clock this morning, partially wrecking the building, and damaging the interior fixtures and stock of merchandise.

Mr. Gattiss was seated on a high stool in his office, which also is the Chatham postoffice, when the explosion occurred. He had opened the heavy doors of a large safe near his desk and although the doors were blown off, it is believed that they afforded him sufficient protection from the force of the heavy blast to save his life.

The floor of the office was blown out with such force that some of the boards were driven through the steel ceiling overhead. The office fixtures were wrecked. Flying debris was hurled in every direction but Mr. Gattiss was not injured. He was stunned by the shock of the explosion and was forced to go to bed a few hours later, but his condition is not serious.

Plot to Kill Gattiss?

The explosion is regarded here as the work of persons unfriendly to Gattiss who plotted to kill him. The bomb, it appeared, was home-made. Fragments of it, picked out of the walls and ceiling of the store, indicated that it was a metal can packed with the explosive and pieces of brass and iron. It was planted on the ground under the north side of the building, directly under the office, where, the plotters knew, Mr. Gattiss would be working. It is believed that the bomb was equipped with a time fuse.

Mr. Gattiss entered the store at 7 o'clock and said he saw no one near the place. He went directly to the office, opened the safe, took out the books, papers and money and put them on his desk and seated himself on the stool. Four or five minutes after he sat down, the bomb let go with a deafening roar.

The concussion blew the front windows out of the store, smashed the glass in most of the show cases and rocked the building violently, merchandise tumbling off the shelves in heaps on the floor.

BOY SCOUTS

Boy Scouts Real Radio Boosters.

That the Boy Scouts of America is an impressive force for advancement of radio was recently shown in the results of a questionnaire sent out by Boys' Life.

Parts were bought and sets built by 67 per cent of these young owners, while the remainder bought complete units outright.

The supply of interest and enthusiasm does not seem in danger of falling, as every Scout to reach first-class rank must know the Morse or International code, and this before he can go on into the work for the merit badge for radio.

'Shuffle Along' Prima Dona Been Working for Heroes of War

Miss Emma Jackson, the well known colored prima donna with the big musical revue "Shuffle Along" which is coming to the Delt theatre Monday is a most enthusiastic worker in behalf of disabled veterans of the world war.

Not only is she an enthusiastic worker, but at all times outspoken in her views as to governmental neglect of the sick and disabled soldier. No present day theatrical artist, white or colored, has appeared voluntarily at more hospital and ward entertainments during the season of 1922 than has Emma Jackson.

The "Shuffle Along" company opened its season at Atlantic City July 11th, 1922, and has played continuously from the Atlantic to the Pacific and return. From the Canadian border to the border of Mexico, and it is almost safe to say that Miss Jackson has appeared in nearly every hospital and army camp in this country, as well as the big hospitals at Vancouver, B. C., for the Canadian veterans of the World war.

Miss Jackson tersely remarks: "Why do politicians and government officials elect to appropriate huge sums for pork barrels and cross road post offices, while blind soldiers and others with worse afflictions are crying in misery for succor."

Congress and government officials have been criminally negligent in their treatment and care for the men and women of the late war—men and women who gave their most precious possession—health—that the republic and congressmen might live in peace and plenty, while by the same token they fall miserably to come to the aid of the crippled, sick and blind veterans.

Miss Jackson is a prominent member of the Colored Stage Women's League of America, an organization devoted to the entertainment of help-loss soldiers.

(By the Associated Press)
 JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 11. Another "infantry industry" still in swaddling clothes, but bearing the promise of growing to be a thriving infant, has been uncovered by Sergeant Frank Johnson of the Jackson police department, who says counterfeiting of automobile license plates is being conducted in Michigan on a surprisingly large scale.

Sergeant Johnson, who also is state license inspector for this county, says evasions of the license laws, either by counterfeiting or other methods, is carried on not only here but in other cities of the state. He goes so far as to assert that out of any ten automobiles selected on the street, probably four of them will be owned by persons who have plates for a light car on a heavy machine, the wrong certificate of title, no title at all, or will violate the state law in other respects.

Tells of Experience.

Sergeant Johnson cited his experience with one business man, and added that the incidence was not an isolated one.

"I told him three times to obtain a proper license for his machine," the sergeant said, "and each time he failed to do so. At last, he cut two plates out of a piece of tin. On these he painted numbers. When this failed, he purchased the proper plates."

"I told him three times to obtain a proper license for his machine," the sergeant said, "and each time he failed to do so. At last, he cut two plates out of a piece of tin. On these he painted numbers. When this failed, he purchased the proper plates."

Methods of evading the law are numerous, Johnson said. Many persons buy roadsters, claim roadster licenses, transform their roadsters into trucks, and then continue to operate the trucks on the roadster licenses, instead of paying the higher price for truck licenses. Others buy licenses for light cars and transfer them to heavier machines. In such cases, where discovered, the license are confiscated and the automobile owner is obliged to purchase a new and proper license.

Some persons owning two machines buy licenses for the lighter cars and switch them to the heavier machines when using the latter. Dealers, Johnson said, are nearly all technical violators of the law, using their dealers' licenses to take their families for a drive or even using them on the car when they drive home from their places of business. When these licenses are seized, he said, the state refuses to issue new plates for six months, and the dealer is greatly inconvenienced as a result.

Buy in Other State.

A practice found to be not uncommon is for the Michigan car owner to buy a license plate of some other state where licenses are not so costly. A recent case was the purchase by a local man of an Ohio license because he could save money by it.

In the collection of confiscated automobile plates at local police headquarters are several made of pasteboard, shaped and painted to resemble the genuine article.

Difficult to Detect.

Sergeant Johnson admitted it is difficult to detect the spurious from the real in automobile plates, but said the police receive many tips from neighbors of those evading the law. He explained that the neighbors invariably know of the law breaking and often report it because their pride is hurt by the knowledge that someone else is "putting it over" on the law.

SOFT AND BECOMING

Unusually clever is this suggestion for the combination of plain and figured fabrics. The dress is of the one-piece, A-line type, and is signed to design in the wool crepes, with a small floral print, or in any of the new silk prints. If preferred, the patterned fabric at the sides may be omitted, but they add much to the soft grace and charm of the design. Collar and cuffs correspond with the panels. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch plain and 1 1/2 yards 36-inch figured material.

GET ALL, BUT GIVE LITTLE IN RETURN, IS GOUGER MOTTO

Patronize Your Home Merchant and See What You Are Buying at Reasonable Price.

(Copyrighted 1923)

I was in a shipping department of a large Chicago mail order house the other day. It cared for only a section of Iowa business, and a few counties in Illinois.

Eight men were kept jumping, just filling the orders from this district alone. And they are not nearly as busy now as they used to be in this section, was the confidential information given out.

Still it goes to show, to some extent, the volume of business being done, the amount of money going out of the small communities to feed the mammoth.

It gorges itself at the direct expense of the small merchant, and, indirectly, at the general expense of the small community and the gullible buyer.

At the recent "canvassers" convention in Chicago experiences galore were told by the salesmen present. And when a few of them got together, it wasn't a question with them of how they could improve products which they were selling, how they could give the buyer more for his money, how they could be of greater usefulness to their communities, their states and their country. It was:

Clever methods of getting inside the door.

Clever methods of approaching to open a sales talk.

Quick clean-up propositions.

Big profit propositions.

Big sellers.

Avoidance of taxation was another big problem. This gentry objects to laws, objects to taxes, objects to special licenses and always figuring methods of getting around state and local laws. They have no taxable business, no taxable locations. They are itinerant, a modern species of the peddler. They call themselves "order takers" because the order taker carries no stock with him, though he may have a regular bundle at his hotel or room, and may go right out on top of his orders with his deliveries.

Their problems, in short, were: Get the money, get it quick, pay as little as possible, avoid paying licenses or taxes, and get on to the next community.

Was in a metropolitan newspaper office recently, talking with the editor. Business manager came in.

"Look this over," said the editor. The business manager read a short report.

"Up to their old methods, eh?"

"Yes, and we can't overlook any more of these occurrences. Big store has pulled this type of sales entirely too frequently. We've got the goods on them plenty. You know, this advertising of Big Sales, at Tremendous Bargains, and then piling in a lot of second grade stuff at more than its real value, has got to stop. It's an old trick with this concern."

"They're big advertisers," said the B. M., shaking his head.

"They can afford to be," returned the M. E., "with these methods."

True, there are honest big stores, just as there are honest small stores, but their relationship with their customers is so distant that the inclination to take advantage of just such conditions has much more incentive.

Three related incidents of real occurrences in the business side of three of the largest avenues of competition for your neighbor business men, should make you think well before letting your buying money get out of your own community.

Your money at home is your money. It's helping you. Your money gone to another community is gone. And the mail order house, the canvasser, the big store, doesn't give a whoop as to your outcome, or as to your community's welfare.

With our modern equipment we can recharge your storage battery in six hours, if necessary; however, we strongly discourage a hurried recharge, as it is injurious to your battery. VETERANS' BUREAU BRANDED AS A FAILURE BY FOUNDER OF AMERICAN CITIZEN COMMITTEE

Neglect of Men Charged by FitzRoy Anderson in Speech.

He Says Promises Are Not Fulfilled and Flays Unwise Spending by Bureau Officials.

"The citizen may not entirely delegate the sacred duty of binding up the wounds of those who fought for us in the Great War to a soulless government bureau," said A. FitzRoy Anderson, founder of the Citizens' Committee of America, who arrived in Detroit Monday to arouse public opinion on the present treatment of veterans.

"Organized hurriedly without sufficient regard for efficiency, it is subject to the weaknesses of political and factional influences. Able men are considered destructive in meddling with the shrewd gates of golden graft. As a result, we find the good men dropping out or being forced out. They cannot stand the bureaucratic connivance something even to the doorstep of the director and seeking to thwart his very best efforts.

"The settlement for the wounded has been utilized to open the nation's pocketbook and with vast expenditure the public has been lulled into a sense of satisfied indifference. The what check has been placed on those who have control of the undertaking. Who has been given an accounting except those who spent the money? Who have placed their own interpretation upon legislation, and who have been concerned more in the concealment of their error than in the results obtained? There is spreading a glamour of great accomplishment over what in reality is unbelievable mismanagement and failure.

"Promises Not Fulfilled." "A country that is planning to start its hospitals six years after the first disabled returned from the battle front," he continued, "may hardly be able to have fulfilled its promise of ample and sufficient care for those who suffer.

"Prolonged and unnecessary delays in the selection of sites and the construction of necessary hospitals have caused certain permanent disability and death. Charitable institutions and makeshift building still serve as veteran hospitals. Numerous veterans will not enter these hospitals, either because of their location or because of the treatment to which they would be subjected.

"Take for example, Dawson Springs, where the government bought 2,000 acres, though 300 would have been sufficient. A hospital was placed out in the wilds of the Kentucky mountains when free grounds, accessible to a populous center, might have been obtained.

"Why did the government remove the site of the tuberculosis hospital at Liberty, which was close to Loomis, one of the best sanitariums in the country, to the river bed of the Hudson valley at Chelsea, a particularly unsuitable site? The Liberty location was offered free, with all manner of conveniences, while for the Chelsea site $100,000 was paid for what had cost $25,000 three years before.

Flays Unwise Spending.

"I consider that act the blackest crime against the disabled as well as being one of brazen guilt. This gives you an idea of how some of the money has been spent and I fear that it will continue if the citizen does not take greater interest. Thomas W. Salmon, who has done more for the disabled veteran than any man I know, said before the last Red Cross convention, 'Some day the historian, the political economist and the sociologist will discover for us the deep underlying neglect of its disabled defenders to follow the successful termination of its greatest war.'

"We must make it possible for the standard of the personnel in the veterans' hospitals to be raised. We must make it possible for the director of the bureau to secure sufficient and the right sort of doctors and nurses by allowing him access to the best of the profession as was the case during the war. A dying soldier today is no different than one on the battlefield—except that today his death may be due to neglect."

BEAN CROP IS DAMAGED SOME

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 11.—The recent wet weather has damaged beans in the field to such an extent that the lower pods of many plants are discolored and even sprouted, says a report from J. E. Cox of the Michigan Agricultural College in warning bean growers of the state that there is danger in storing the bean crop this year unless it was threshed before the recent rains. He advocates either selling the beans from the field or having them dried before storing.

"The greatest possible amount should be made to dry the beans in the field before they are threshed," Mr. Cox said, and even then it may be necessary to indulge in hand picking to get a product that will prove advantageously salable.

JAPANESE ISLAND RICH IN PETROLEUM FIELDS

TOKIO, Oct. 11.—Professor Iki, of Toyo University, returned recently from a year's sojourn in North Sakhalien, among the fish-eating natives. He describes the habits of these people but more interesting is his statement about oil. He says petroleum is oozing out of the ground all over the northern part of the island, and that all pools of great size are found every where.

Ellen J. Interbitzen left this morning for St. Paul to attend a medical convention.

'ESCANABA HAS STRONG ELEVEN'

So Says the Marquette Mining Journal in Commenting on the Game There Saturday Afternoon.

The following from today's Mining Journal shows the respect the Marquette fellows have for Escanaba's football eleven which goes to Marquette Saturday:

The battle of battles on the fair grounds gridiron for the Marquette high school eleven will be fought Saturday afternoon when Coach Glen Thompson's Orange and Black team from Escanaba tackles Coach Rydholm's gladiators.

Two years ago Captain "Bud" Finch and ten teammates defeated the Red and White here and Rydholm's men have not forgotten. Last year, Captain "Buck" Nyström and his men furnished the Esky crew with the hardest game on the Orange and Black schedule, Marquette winning, 20 to 0. The defeat last year is one thing the Thompsonites are out to even up.

Scrimmage Today.

Coach Rydholm probably will pit his men against the Northern State Normal eleven this afternoon for a brushing up. They have been working out against the Baraga school team, which has furnished strong opposition.

The Escanaba coach is expecting that Marquette will resort to the open style of play, using sweeping end runs and forward passes to gain ground. The Orange and Black rank as among the kind of tactics when it tackled and defeated Gladstone last Saturday.

Coach Thompson's men came through the Gladstone game in good shape and are going at a fast clip for the invasion into the Marquette camp. Aloy, husky tackle who was ineligible last week, will be back in the line-up for the Marquette game.

Americans, Hunting Gold, Brave Hard Rigors of Siberia

By the Associated Press. ALDIVOS, Oct. 11.—Up in northern Siberia, weary miles inland from the little town of Okhotsk, a band of American men are "panning" the river beds for gold as their fathers did in the California and other mining camps of the west 70 years ago. Last winter there were 25 of them, but about half the number came out this year and all will not return. They have not made any big discoveries, such as those which caused the rushes to the west from 19 onwards, but they have made a good living and have always, before them the dream of riches which, through centuries, has kept prospectors at their calling.

There are also a large number of Chinese and Korean placer miners in the country and latterly an entirely new undertaking for them, Japanese have been taking a hand in the over-enthralling work. Some of the latter have gone 200 miles inland, and the miners along the coast are awaiting eagerly the reports of their discoveries, if any.

There is also an American trading station at Okhotsk, the manager of which is Captain D. A. Holmes, formerly of the United States army. Besides supplying the miners and natives, this station engages in the fishing industry and sells its catches to the Japanese canneries.

The Soviet officials, who are in control, do not interfere with the miners, fishermen or traders so long as they do not mix in Russian politics. Thus far no taxes have been levied on the miners, who work any and all claims despite the fact that a concession for mining in this district was given a British company.

Films to Illustrate German War Version

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 11.—A "German week," arranged by the Bavarian department of education, is to be held here soon, chiefly to exhibit propaganda films, destined to prove that Germany was not responsible for the outbreak of the World war. The Isar League of Youth is co-operating with the government in the move. Films on the following subjects are to be shown free:

"The lie that Germany was responsible for bringing about the war, and the curse of Versailles."

"Unfettered in the field—a memorial of the heroes of our old army."

"The theft of the German colonies in the tropics."

"Bravely waved the red, white and black flag—the heroic fight of the German fleet and its destruction."

"French invasion of the Rhine, Ruhr and the Saar."

"The mutilation of the eastern boundaries of Germany."

The exhibition has been arranged principally for entertainment of young people, and students and others will be urged to attend, not only from Munich but all surrounding cities and towns and the countryside.

Councilmen Make Inspection With the City Manager

This morning Manager Fred R. Harris, accompanied by the mayor and councilmen, made an extended inspection of the city property. While this has been done individually by the city fathers, this is the first time they have made a tour collectively. All the utilities were carefully gone over and Manager Harris explained the details, telling what has been done in the past twelve months and what is planned to do in the future.

The title of admiral was first created in France in 1237. At least 15 years later the title was adopted by the English, and the first 100 admirals in the United States Navy were commissioned in 1862. David Farragut and George Dewey were the only two men in the navy to be appointed admirals.

Street Railways Adopt Pass System

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 11.—Thirty-five street railway companies in this country are using the weekly pass system, by which passengers are given unlimited numbers of weekly rides for amounts ranging from $1 to $1.75. This was reported to the American Electric Railway Association convention here today.

Cities reported as using the pass were Kenosha and Racine, Wis., Mason City, Cedar Rapids and Muscatine, Ia., New Brighton, Pa., Aurora, Elgin, Chicago (elevated), Moline, East Moline and Rock Island, Ill., New Albany, Fort Wayne and Terre Haute, Ind., Fort Smith, Ark., Alliance, O., Tacoma, Wash., Houghton, Mich., Gibsonsville, Ga., Everett, Seattle (interurban line), and Bellingham, Wash., Paducah, Ky., Riverdale and Panama, Cal., Pine Bluff, Ark., Astoria, Ore., Dayton, O., Franklin, Meadville, Tarentum and Oil City, Pa., San Diego, Cal., Leeskill, N. Y., Springfield, Mo., and Colorado Springs, Colo. Whether the pass system is an unqualified success the committee was unable to say. It did report, however, that the pass had reduced the cost of rides per passenger, but that it had increased the number of rides. It has been particularly helpful in reducing jitney competition, the report declared.

Everywhere that the pass has been put into use, so far as the jitney evil is concerned, there has been immediate improvement in conditions," the report said. "The other present advantage is that the pass and permit everywhere seem to have created a better sentiment toward the companies employing the experiment."

Other general advantages pointed out by individual companies, but not declared by the committee to be universally true, were speeding up operation avoiding arguments over fares, stimulating rides in non-rush hours and reducing work for trainmen.

Twenty-one cities reported the cost per ride per passenger under the pass to be from a minimum of 1.6 to a maximum of 8.6 cents. Before the pass was introduced, the range in these same cities was from a mini-trum of six cents to a maximum of 9.62 cents.

Youngstown, O., abandoned the pass at the request of its street railway commissioner, who wished to charge a flat fare.

The pass idea was brought here from England in 1919, one company trying it that year.

Butter and Barley Pay School Tuition in Germany Today

MUNSTER, Germany, Oct. 11.—The school system of the little Westphalian town of Oelde, near here, has been placed almost entirely upon a butter-barley basis.

Pupils pay their high school fees in fat and grain which in turn are "spent" for school maintenance purposes. Children from Oelde are assessed a pound of butter monthly, while pupils from the country districts may pay either in butter or barley, forty pounds of barley a month. The proceeds thus collected have gone to assist in buying the school's winter coal supply and to reimburse, in part, the teachers who gratefully receive butter or barley in preference to the constantly depreciating paper mark.
