

MURDER AND SUICIDE AT PINE RIDGE

DAUGHTER SEES MOTHER KILLED BY STEP-FATHER

Napoleon Sauve Kills His Wife and Then Himself.

Became Angered Because His Wife Complained About a Broken Window Pane in Their Home.

A little complaint made by a woman, whose life probably had been a round of almost abject slavery, living with the man of whom it was said had a violent disposition, was the cause of a double tragedy at Pine Ridge last night, that has taken out of the world two unhappy people and leaves a family of four children with no one to support them.

Mrs. Sauve had found it hard to keep the poor little log house warm and she knew that when it was not warm, her husband, to whom she had been married about a year, and from whom she had separated and been reunited five times, would grumble when he came home from work if the room was not warm.

TEXAN SPENDS FOUR YEARS RUNNING DOWN SWINDLERS WHO FLEECED HIM OF MONEY

Lost $42,000, But Got Revenge at End of Long Trail.

He Said He Would Get the Four Men and He Has Made Good but It Was a Hard Fight.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 3.—Texas' most famous man hunter, J. Frank Norfleet, is back on his Hale county ranch, satisfied with his years of criminal trailing. He set forth four years ago with the world as his field to get four men. Not one did he miss. They are either dead or in custody.

They had "lifted" $15,000 from him, so he claimed, and they were going to be punished. One by one they succumbed to his relentless pursuit. The fourth has just been arrested in Salt Lake City, and that explains why Norfleet has retired to his ranch, contented and happy at last.

It was while Fort Worth and Dallas—in fact all of west Texas—were in the grip of the oil boom that a clever squad of stock swindlers appeared in these parts and proceeded to lay traps for the unwary. One of the first to happen along was J. Frank Norfleet, Hale county ranchman and deputy sheriff. He formed a hotel lobby acquaintance with one of the swindlers. He was dazzled by stories of great gains made in stock speculation, and he speculated in a stock which yielded him several thousand dollars. He was persuaded to risk a little more than a little more. Each time his wealth grew. So did his confidence in his new found friends. Eventually, he was persuaded to put up $15,000. Then everything blew up in the "stock" market and Norfleet's money and his "friends" disappeared.

The ranchman began his man hunt in 1919 or just as soon as he became convinced that he had been swindled. The net result was Joe Pury, leader of the squad, died in prison at Huntsville, Texas, after having been convicted by a Tarrant county court. Norfleet himself arrested Pury two years after the commission of the crime, and after chasing him 1,000 miles.

E. J. Ward killed himself in a Washington, D. C. jail after having been convicted of the Norfleet swindle and while he was awaiting trial in Washington on a similar charge.

Charles Gerber is serving a term in the Texas state prison for swindling Norfleet.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Secretary Mellon has decided to continue no further the controversy on prohibition enforcement initiated by Governor Pinchot. Activities Will Start Next Saturday Night and Continue Over Sunday; Many Coming.

The local members of the American Legion are going to be extremely busy a week from today, starting on a program that will begin with a big dance at the Coliseum on Saturday night and end with a moving picture show Sunday evening. Everything has been carefully worked out and all that remains is to see that the plans are carried out according to schedule, which is as follows:

OLIVER TERRIO, FORMER MIRROR EDITOR, IS DEAD

Worked On This Newspaper When It Was a Weekly.

Came Back Afterward and Spent a Year as Editor, "Just to Renew His Old Friendships."

(By the Associated Press) OSHKOSH, Wis., Nov. 3.—Oliver A. Terrio, for many years city hall and court house reporter for the Daily Northwestern, died last night at the age of 58 years. He has been ill for about five months with a stroke of paralysis. For a number of years Mr. Terrio did newspaper work in Escanaba and at other places, including Kenosha and Green Bay, coming to Oshkosh about 20 years ago, where he has been since.

The above Associated Press telegram, coming without warning over the wire was a great shock to the man who was on the wire as well as to those who are still in the Daily Mirror office who have worked with Mr. Terrio. He worked on the Mirror at different times and was considered a real "new-sletter."

TWO TRILLION MARKS LOOMS AS NEW RATE

One and Two-Thirds Trillion Are Now Set at Dollar.

Government Now Permits Payments in Foreign Currency, But Maintains Mark Standard.

(By the Associated Press) BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 3.—The New York appraisal of the German mark on the basis of one and two thirds trillions to the dollar moved Chancellor Stresemann to convocate a midnight session of his cabinet when several ordinances were proclaimed to forestall a similar collapse of the mark in Berlin.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE AS SEASON DRAWS TO A CLOSE

NEGAMINE.—Considerable speeding up in the movement of ore from this district, as well as through here from other points on the Marquette range, has been apparent during the last two weeks in contrast to the marked falling off in shipping during the middle of the season.

Menominee Hotel Has Been Leased by Escanaba Men

According to the Menominee Herald, the Arlington hotel of that city, which is owned by Mrs. H. B. Dotsch of this city, and formerly of Menominee, has been taken over and is now under the management of Peltier Bros., of Escanaba, who took possession the first of the month. The Herald leader says:

Bavarians Now Loom as German Trouble Maker

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 3.—The Bavarian government it is learned on good authority, has sent a letter to Chancellor Stresemann demanding the revocation of a dictatorship for the Reich based on the Bavarian model. The letter adds that unless such a dictatorship is established in Berlin, it intends to send the troops now concentrated on the Bavarian frontier against the capital.

N. Y. POLICE IN READINESS FOR DEMONSTRATION

Anti-British Activities Will Not Bother Lloyd George.

Last Night Irish Sympathizers Stormed the Hotel and Tried to Stop Speech.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The police today prepared for another skirmish with Irish Republic sympathizers who have made two demonstrations against David Lloyd George since he set foot on American soil. Large details of police and plain clothes men were under orders to escort him from the hotel where he is staying in New York to the pier of the Majestic, on which he leaves for home.

The Irish Republicans conducted their first demonstration the moment Mr. Lloyd George landed at the Battery, but efforts of a score of women to shout banners in the face of the visitor during his official welcome at the city hall were frustrated by the police who broke up the parade before he reached the hotel.

BOY SCOUTS' EXECUTIVE IS NOW IN CHARGE

Gordon C. Adams Will Have Charge of Two Counties; Comes Well Qualified for the Job.

Gordon C. Adams of Chicago, who will have charge of all Boy Scout activities in Delta and Schoolcraft counties, arrived in Escanaba yesterday and will call Scout Masters together soon to plan for a reorganization of the work. He spent a great part of the day in this city and then went to Gladstone. He will visit Manistiquette also and hopes to be well organized in his own work by the middle of next week.

The new Scout Executive who will be in charge of Scout activities in the two counties will begin work at once, his office dating from November 1. His headquarters will be made in Gladstone if arrangements now under way can be carried through.

Mr. Adams' selection to fill the post of full time Scout Executive was practically decided at a meeting of the newly organized Delta Schoolcraft Boy Scout council, held several days ago at which he met members of the council and discussed with them the Scout situation.

Value of Calories Succeeding Weight in Purchasing Food

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—To show what 100 calories looks like, the bureau of home economics of the Department of Agriculture has prepared an illustrated chart showing a series of twenty pictures just how a portion of food containing 100 calories looks on a plate when compared with other familiar foods commonly appearing on the American table. The chart is intended to furnish aid in the economical and correct selection of food for the family. Housewives today are learning to choose, think of, and purchase their foods in terms of calories or food value, rather than by pounds or quarters, the bureau declares.

INTELLIGENT DISCONTENT.

A director of the United States department of labor employment service makes an optimistic report of employment prospects for the winter. There will be plenty of opportunities for work, he declares, and we hope that he is right. Especially agreeable is his statement that building construction is increasing, whether or not he is correct in saying that "builders have at last come to the belief that neither labor nor buildings cost anything to decline. But we are a bit doubtful about the accuracy of his interpretation of the significance of floating employment among workers who quit their jobs in hope of finding better ones. He argues that "the prevalence of this intelligent discontent is a good barometer of our prosperity; without a steady demand for labor, men would not risk quitting their jobs to find new ones."

An old and respected axiom warned that "it is always easier to get a job when you have one." The theory was that possession of a job proves a man capable of holding one; more, it was evidenced that he was a desirable employee. That he was desirous of making a change to better his condition was held to be a further good recommendation. That showed he had ambition and a fair presumption was that he would perform his duties faithfully and strive to establish his worthiness of advancement. But it was always a point in favor of the employer that he did not turn all his bridges behind him; that he preferred to stick to one job until he had secured new employment. In other times it may not have been designated "intelligent discontent," but that is what it was.

The fellow who quit his job because he did not like it without another in sight or because he was sure he was fitted for something better that he did not know he could get always, was never classified with "Mr. Micawber." The ambitious man is in demand, but impatience with idleness and zeal in the performance of duties also are still regarded as best proofs that a man is ambitious. The man worth while never voluntarily puts himself in the position of "waiting for something to turn up."

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS PROGRESSIVE.

At the recent convention of the American Electric Railway Association at Atlantic City, Charles E. Elmquist, former chairman of the Federal Electric Railway Commission, said:

"Electric railways throughout the United States have made tremendous progress by adopting the chief recommendations of the commission, among which were suggestions that they improve their service and be frank with the public as to the public give railways fair fare."

"These hundred companies now are using advertising, whereas only thirty were using it three years ago."

"More than $200,000,000 have been expended for extensions and betterments of electric railways in the United States."

"The five-cent fare has become practically extinct."

Mr. Elmquist urged the continued use of advertising and publicity by electric railways to tell their story to the public.

"The possibilities of going back to the pre-war basis of five-cent fare," said F. W. Doolittle of the North American company, New York, "is as remote, apparently, as is the possibility of returning to the $5 pair of shoes, the five-cent cigar of the ancient newspaper, and largely for the same reason."

CHECKERS.

The games of Lotto, Old Maid and Parchesi may give way to Polyanna, Spool and Tinker Pins; but the devotees of the checker board we have always with us. These gentle, if simple, folk, and even now dusting off the board and rounding up the pieces and red for many and many a glory and hilarious contest through the winter.

There is something inevitable about checkers. It does not require the same formidable array of brains as does chess; it is a point more mentally exacting than dominoes. But those comparable squares, that alluring king-row, the double corners and the dangerous doldrums along the sides—it takes a player of real courage to navigate them handsomely.

Let no one think this is a trivial subject. The fate of the nation, after all, comes as near being decided across a multitude of checker boards as in more pretentious places. Checkers, with the wit, it stimulates sagacity in kindly fashion. Given a good checker player you have a man of passing shrewdness. Where are the Plinths, the Pils, the Rock of yesterday? And the checker board factories are working overtime.

WILLING TO BE SACRIFICED.

Evidently an increasing number of aspirants to presidential nomination hold that he who said man should not seek the office, but office should seek the man, was talking through his hat, which is not to be confused with the variety of head covering with which presidential bees are identified. Bidders for support in both parties are already dotting the country with headquarters. With presidential bees buzzing and presidential booms booming, it is hard for the public to hear the aspirants think.

That, apparently, is in accord with their wishes. With few, if any, exceptions these advance seekers after nomination are not letting the public into their thoughts on great current issues. About all that is known of most of them is that they are more than willing to accept the nomination. In increasing number such aspirants are offering themselves as compliant leaders, ready to be placed in whatever position the parties may choose to shove them—which does not jibe with American concept of leadership as it has been handed down from the past.

The Rhineland republic had had one boundary quite clearly defined by the British sphere of occupation.

It is an expensive experiment to drink hair tonic at the price the barbers charge for administering it to your scalp.

When it costs more money for violating the laws of the land the nation will have more money for enforcing them.

NEEDHAM GETS NEW DEFOREST RADIO OUTFIT

Has Had Lots of Publicity in Newspaper Columns.

Indoor Aerial and Other Simple Appliances Make It Popular With Fans.

The Needham Electric Company has received a few of the new DeForest radio sets and are demonstrating them for the edification and delight of the fans.

The characteristics of this set are the fact that it can be used either with inside loop aerial or outside antenna; extreme simplicity of operation, the elimination of extraneous noises; and super sensitivity making possible unusual reception range. With the inside loop aerial operating in New York, this set receives broadcasting stations as distant as Louisville, Chicago, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Boston and Detroit, averaging from one to two thousand miles with headphones and 250 to 400 miles with loud speaker. Numerous transcontinental receiving records have been made into this set. D-7-A has a wave length range from 200 to 550 meters, although adjustments may be made in the set which will enable it to receive longer wave lengths.

The circuit is a combination of radio and audio frequency. The signals are first passed through the tubes at radio frequency. The amplified radio frequency signals are then rectified in a crystal detector. The rectified signal is then "reflexed" through the last two tubes at audio frequency, and the signal is conducted to the headphones or the loud speaker. The result is five stages of amplification with three tubes. De Forest D-7-A tubes operate perfectly in this circuit.

The crystal detector used to rectify the signal is the result of long years of experimentation and it has proven itself ideal. This detector, the adjustment knob of which projects through the center of the front panel, is designed so that it is shock proof, and will remain in adjustment through any shock less severe than one which will endanger the tubes themselves. The use of the crystal detector for rectification insures reception free from distortion and all extraneous noises.

A Con- structive Force

FROM the day when its first refinery was opened, it has been the earnest endeavor of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to be a constructive force in the industrial life of the nation.

With all modesty we say—frankly, sincerely, and with profound conviction—that this organization has been such a force.

When this Company was organized, only a few products were taken from crude oil. Today, hundreds of products—useful, convenient, imperatively needed by the public at large—are taken from this single base

This industrial husbandry, redounding to the material benefit of mankind, is eloquent in demonstrating the kind of work which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been doing year after year.

This Company always has been a leader. The advanced work it has done in research, discovery, technical application, development and manufacturing, has added much to the wealth of the world.

Hundreds of industries have improved their manufacturing processes and largely increased their productiveness because of the advanced work this Company has done—and such improvement has enabled the manufacturer to sell his products at a lower price than would have been possible otherwise.

Because of the Company's advanced thinking, planning and preparation the price of petroleum products generally has been kept within reasonable bounds in the face of a demand which is unprecedented in history.

Every factor in this great organization is carefully attuned to the constructive ideals of conservation, equity, fairness and justice, which in turn have operated in a comprehensive way to the distinct and material advantage of the thirty million people living in the Middle Western States.

GREAT DETROIT BRIDGE OPENED TO THE PUBLIC

Connects City's Playground; Cost Three Millions.

One of the Foremost Structures of Its Kind in America; Is Built of Concrete.

DETROIT, Nov. 3.—Detroit's three million dollar concrete bridge, connecting the mainland with the city's island playground in the Detroit river, was formally opened yesterday. By the new bridge the western part of the city is connected with the miles of drives on the island by Grand Boulevard, which, starting on West Fort street at the river, sweeps in a great circle about the city to the bridge.

The bridge is described by officials as a monument to the progressiveness of the city. Agitation for a modern span was started not long after the city purchased Belle Isle. When the proposition was put to a vote of the people it was defeated by a bare majority.

Work on the bridge began in 1921, the contractors agreeing to complete it in 27 months. Due to numerous delays in obtaining materials, the work was not completed on schedule.

The span has two approaches from as many thoroughfares. The direct approach is from Jefferson avenue, on a level with the bridge. A subway approach runs under Jefferson avenue from Grand Boulevard.

Three thousand tons of structural steel went into the building of the bridge, which is said to be one of the finest in the world. Twenty thousand cubic yards of concrete form its pier foundations. The bridge is 2,193 feet long, with a maximum clearance of 39 feet above the water. The bridge is 85 feet wide, of which 59 feet is in the center as a roadway and to accommodate street car tracks. Twelve foot sidewalks border the structure on either side.

Five men lost their lives during construction of the bridge. The first automobile to cross the span was driven by Edward G. Heikel, commissioner of parks and boulevards, who had as his passenger his little daughter, Betty.

Robber, Lenient with the Poor, Is Slain in Fight With Police

MADRAS, Nov. 3.—An Indian robber named Jambulingam, known as "Robin Hood" because of his sternness with the rich and his respect for the poor, has been shot dead by the police after a desperate struggle, which has ended an intensive campaign of daylight robbery throughout the Nanhuluri division.

Jambulingam, with his lieutenant, Kasi Nadan, escaped from prison a third time and immediately proceeded to follow his usual plan of action. This included a call on prominent people to whom he disclosed his identity and purpose, at the same time demanding a fixed sum of money.

Almost invariably the demands were complied with as any refusal provoked the wrath of Jambulingam and his gang which took the form of assault and robbery. His last exploit was at a village wedding at Nambi-Kurichi where the robber and his gang mixed with the guests, placed two armed guards at the exits, and then relieved the guests of their valuables.

All the police in the district set out to get Jambulingam. Late in September at a place called Koriyat special police surrounded a house occupied by the gang. Police first set the roof ablaze. Jambulingam made a dash for freedom, killing the inspector in his rush, but was himself killed by the police.
