HORATIO S. EARLE, FATHER OF GOOD ROADS, TELLS WHY HE RESIGNS FROM CHURCH

Makes Public His Letter After 45 Years of Membership.

Believes More Gospel Should Be Preached and Less Attention Paid to Other Causes.

(By the Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—Stating that when he joined the Methodist church 45 years ago, it was "a place where people obtained a knowledge of and a belief in the Christian doctrine, but that it now is a place wherein he would lose his knowledge of and belief in that doctrine," Horatio S. Earle, one-time candidate for governor and "Father of Michigan Good Roads," made public Tuesday his letter of resignation from Cass Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, after 45 years of active membership. His conscience, Mr. Earle said, would not permit him to remain a member of the church.

Mr. Earle, in his letter, praised Police Commissioner Croul; censured the action of the recent Methodist conference in Detroit, in going on record as asking for the resignation of all officials who had stated the eighteenth amendment could not be enforced, and suggested that instead of "driving people away from the churches with politics and subscription blanks for the Anti-Saloon League, the pastors preach the gospel."

Force for Preaching Law.

The church, he added, has become a force not for the dissemination of the law, but for the preaching of the law. He proposed a revival of the Christian spirit, with the pastors of all Christian churches in the pews and the laymen who believe in the doctrine of Jesus Christ in the pulpits, teaching repentance, forgiveness and brotherly love.

The letter drew a reply from Methodist ministers, who disagreed wholeheartedly with Mr. Earle's attitude. The epistle, in full, follows:

Rev. R. L. Tuck, LL. D.

Pastor Cass Ave. M. E. Church, Detroit, Mich.

"My Dear Pastor: I hereby request to be favored with a letter of denunciation from Cass Avenue Methodist Episcopal church to no other church in particular, and if this is not permissible, then I resign as a member.

My reasons are:

The Detroit conference has gone on record as asking all officials who tell what I believe to be the truth—that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act cannot be enforced" to resign.

Hom. Frank H. Croul is, without one single exception, the best and most efficient police commissioner this city has ever had, and I consider it a disgrace on our church as a whole for the pastors in conference to criticize him and I very much resent it.

Before the Volstead act was passed there was generally one barroom in each hotel; now, generally, there are as many barrooms in nearly all hotels as there are rooms.

The spirit of God, as handed down by Abraham, had ceased to exist among the Jews 1,900 years ago and they were living by and under law, Christ came and inaugurated a new spirit and Saint Paul spread it—but

100,000 Kluxes Going to Meet in Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Kluxes numbering "more than 100,000" from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia will gather here Saturday to celebrate "the biggest victory won by the Klan, north of the Mason and Dickson line," Col. E. A. Watkins, spokesman of the Klan, announced today.

The reports that a delegation from Atlanta would be present were denied by Colonel Watson.

ESCANABA MEN TO STATE MEET OF SPORTSMEN

The annual meeting of the Michigan Congress of Game Clubs, and the semi-annual roundup of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association was held in Marquette today.

A good-sized delegation of Escanabans, including E. C. Vogt, president of the state congress, F. B. Houston, secretary of that body; J. F. Prial and George Cobb, president and secretary of the Escanaba Conservation Club, and members of the local unit, were in attendance. Mr. Vogt presided at the gathering.

The Rev. Edgar B. Cochrane, secretary of the state conservation commission, the Rt. Rev. Robert L. Hartis, Episcopal bishop of Marquette, and Dr. John N. Lowe of the Normal school faculty, were the principal speakers at a banquet to be served tonight in connection with the joint meeting.

E. A. McDonald of Marquette will be toastmaster and Mr. Vogt will make the introductory address. Preparations are being made by the Marquette club to entertain at least 500 visitors.

State Wide Representation.

Virtually every city in the Upper Peninsula will be represented at the convention and it is expected that delegates from a score or more of lower Michigan Sportsmen's organizations will attend.

The convention will be the first of its kind ever held north of the straits and it is generating considerable interest among the sportsmen of the peninsula.

PEOPLE ON POOR LIST CANNOT BE OWNERS OF CARS

Woman at the Soo Was Wrothy Because Her Name Was Taken Off List by Judge.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 8.—Chippewa county authorities have decided that if a woman is able to buy an automobile, she has no right to expect her name to be kept on the list of dependents who receive monetary assistance regularly from the county.

The case, according to Probate Judge Charles H. Chapman, was that of a woman who had been receiving county aid at weekly intervals.

"We had been holding up the weekly checks to her for some time pending an investigation," Judge Chapman said. "The woman came to the office very wretched and complained to me that her husband had died.

"This was the reason for our action. She had two children to support."

"I asked her pointedly if she were purchasing a car. She admitted she was, but said her father was making the payments. I told her that was the information we had been seeking and that if her father couldn't afford to buy her a car, he could afford to take care of her."

"DEAD MAN" IS ANXIOUS TO BE LIVING AGAIN

Records at War Department Say "Killed in Action."

Frank Pierra Refused to Accept the $10,000 Sent to His Parents at Italian Home.

(By the Associated Press) FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 8.—Frank Pierra, "killed in action" in France five years ago and for whom "tags" have been sounded at four Memorial Day exercises at Madors, near here, has appealed to S. B. Hern, commander of the Madors Post of the American Legion, for aid in recovering his citizenship and establishing himself on army records as a living man.

Pierra declared he had been denied the privilege of joining his company in France because he was reported dead and that he had refused his $10,000 life insurance while he was in Italy visiting his parents.

He later returned to the United States as an immigrant, after being refused entry as a citizen, because he was officially dead.

GERMAN MARK MAY BE MADE TO STAND UP

It Will Not Have Much Value However, Even Then.

German Chancellor Issued a Proclamation in Effort to Save Germany From Starvation.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—Chancellor Stresemann's mostly proclaimed measures intended to bring relief in the financial and food situations, has met with varying degrees of approval among the financial writers. They view the government's policies as primarily possessing psychological importance in that they assured the public that the paper mark is not altogether worthless and that it will shortly be traded in against the new coinage in equitable exchange.

The government's failure to fix definitely the value of the paper mark in relation to the limited issue of gold loan notes is the chief source of popular disappointment as the official communiqué did not give the true value. The government will make its final appraisal of the paper mark containing its up-to-date value in the money presses and obtain sufficient revenue through the commencing of foreign money and the laying of new taxes, the foreign money to be replaced with the new German gold currency.

Waste Land Could Be Made of Value Says Lumberman

Plenty of Chance for Rehabilitation, If It Is Gone About in the Right Way Now.

CRYSTAL FALLS, Mich., Nov. 8.—In the Upper Peninsula today there are hundreds of thousands of acres of absolute waste lands which, with proper care, would become in a few years priceless forests. This view was expressed by Herman Holmes, wealthy lumberman, upon his return from Europe where he studied conservation methods.

"This waste land," Mr. Holmes said, "is second growth acreage or land laid bare by fire and upon which there has been no attempt at cultivation. In time, perhaps, timber would grow of its own accord."

Mr. Holmes says the statement frequently heard, that forest fires can not be prevented is "foolish." There are too many forest fires in European forests, he said, because conservation laws are enforced. Jail sentences are imposed on violators. Mr. Holmes said, adding that "it costs the governments there less by half to prevent fires than a minor fire in the Copper Country costs Michigan."

"State laws are too lax, state officials are too lenient, lumbermen are trying to get all they can out of their acres, citizens in general are too careless," is the arraignment made by the local lumberman, who added that "political strangers must keep their hands off, or Michigan timberlands are doomed."

THE WEATHER

For Escanaba and Vicinity: Generally fair tonight and Friday; slightly rising temperature Friday; gusty to moderate northerly winds, becoming variable.

YEGGS NOT IDLE Yesterday; Make Haul in Ogden

OGDEN, Kan., Nov. 8.—Holding the townspersons at bay from 2 until 4 o'clock this morning, bandits blew up the safe of the Ogden State Bank and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash, liberty bonds and other valuables. The bandits numbered from eight to ten men. Before they arrived in the town they had cut all telephone and telegraph wires.

WALTON MAKES ANOTHER PLAY TO STOP TRIAL

Denial of Federal Intervention Once He Tries Again.

Full Investigation of His Former Life in Kansas City Now Being Carried on.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 8.—Denied federal intervention by which he attempted to block the impeachment proceedings against him, Governor J. C. Walton will go to trial today before the senate court of impeachment on twenty-two charges of official misconduct.

The governor is determined to make another bid for government mediation on the ground that he will not be given a fair trial because the state legislature conspired beforehand with the Ku Klux Klan to remove him from office but it is considered unlikely that this effort is going to meet with any favor because of the fact that at temporal conduct of his office.

While the proceedings are being held at Lawton, Gov. Walton appeared here before the committee

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—Investigation which may be used in the impeachment proceedings against J. C. Walton was sought more today by investigators from former associates of the deposed governor.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RUINS OF CHURCH FIRE

Scuthon Police Are Puzzled Over Affair and Are Trying to Establish Her Identity.

(By the Associated Press)

TEGUCIGALPA, Nov. 8.—The trials investigating the looting of a woman's body in the ruins of a negro church which burned last week are puzzled as to what the girl's identity should be.

At least one plot near Birmingham, England, left the task of finding the remains to identify the remains of the girl in question, but the inquiry was suspended by the British government.

A negro named as saying he sold the girl to a woman along the road to the church, but the woman who bought the girl from him has disappeared. Birmingham officials hope to find the identity of the woman.

Former Prince Must Stay Out of "Fatherland"

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 8.—After much consideration the Dutch government has decided to request the Dutch government not to allow former Crown Prince Frederick William to leave Dutch territory, where he has been in exile since the war ended.

It also asks the German government not to allow him to enter Germany, as he is on the list of persons charged with war crimes and whose arrest is sought by the allied governments.

HEALTH HINTS

By the Father of Physical

Culture

Bernar MacFadden

Volumes have been written upon the value of breathing exercises. Many exaggerated statements have been made as to what can be accomplished through deep breathing. Nevertheless, it must be definitely understood that full deep breaths, which expand the lungs to their fullest capacity, and are taken at frequent intervals, are of great value.

Almost any vigorous exercise will enforce deep breathing, and there is no question as to the benefit of the involuntary or spontaneous inhalation and exhalation thus induced. Running and wrestling are types of very vigorous athletic exercises that will compel one to breathe deeply and fully and will insure a full lung development without special breathing exercises. And this is more especially true if much exercise of this character is taken regularly, day after day, all the year round.

But where the occupation and surroundings are such that one cannot indulge in such active pastimes, or where the time for such exercises is necessarily limited, frequent voluntary deep-breathing exercises can highly complement.

Almost the best example of the proper use of the diaphragm and the natural movement of the abdominal and dorsal regions in correct breathing is illustrated in a small child. In nearly all cases an active healthy child will breathe properly, and by studying the movement of his abdomen in both standing and reclining positions you will note that as the breath is taken the abdominal region will expand. When the breath is exhaled this part of the body will contract or be drawn inward. This demonstrates very conclusively that the movement or expansion of the body in normal breathing is abdominal, and that the bony framework of the chest should not be involved except when taking full deep breaths, or when breathing hard from the effects of very vigorous exercise.

It is not at all necessary to go through a complicated system in order to learn proper methods of breathing, since this is comparatively simple if you are willing to make modest efforts day after day until you are taught correctly. If you simply acquire the habit of drawing in a deep full breath at regular intervals during the day, expanding first in the abdominal region, you will soon be able to breathe properly.

Horatio Earle Tells Why He Left Church

After an explanation with the Anti-Saloon League here in the law office, he was glad to let the criticizing members of the church who have ever been troubled by the thought of leaving the church in the community as the majority of those who have been elected.

In this connection he said, "I am count with you with the pastor of all the other churches in the parish, and that his members were before in the nucleus of our church in the public resolution of acceptance, for giving up their dues and contributions to the church, the pastor, aware of the public and anti-option banks for the Anti-Saloon League, etc., then the pastor, as did the business manager,

Further, one minister said in Detroit, "Anti-Saloon League will do us no good, but in the criticizing members of the church who have ever been troubled by the thought of leaving the church in the community as the majority of those who have been elected."

He said, "that is without sinning the last stone."

In this way each step, shown by the criticism handed out by the ministers of Detroit?

Further, "Not so many years ago ministers attended to the affairs of the church, now it is the proper thing for them to try to submit to do it for them, etc., though the church cannot meet its annual expenses."

I have served in my humble way the Methodist Church for some 15 years, and I am now going to be re-examined. When I joined the church it was a place where people obtained a knowledge of and a belief in the Christian doctrine, but now

But please understand, what I have written is upon the entire church and not upon anyone in particular. Also, I want you to believe I hold you personally and your family in high regard.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) HORATIO S. EARLE.

Supplementing his letter, Mr. Earle declared he had decided to resign from the church only after long thought.

Could Not Agree With Policy.

There is no one who can tell me what I should do," he declared, "I could not agree with the policy of the church, so I left it. I reasoned things out for myself on the basis of what I know to be true. And the only thing left for me to do was to resign, because I was a good Christian.

I called my little class together at my home and read them my letter of resignation. I explained to them my purposes, and assured them that I was leaving with many regrets. They seemed to understand.

Undoubtedly I will be censured and blamed. That is the burden I must bear for listening to the dictates of someone else. It is better in actual reality to my convictions, and be at peace with myself, even though they criticize me, even though my family disagrees with me."

Capital of $100,000,000.00 has been turned to the graves through the country to find round eyes of open and flagrant violations of the dry law everywhere. In New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, the public has been outraged by the violation of the national prohibition law.

SEEKING BEAUTY AND WEALTH.

American newspapers recently in one issue published announcements of proposed visits to the United States by King Boris of Bulgaria to find for himself a wife from "the new aristocracy of wealth," and by Ernest Linnenkamp, Viennese portrait painter, on a mission of painting the portraits of the fifteen most beautiful women in America.

They are not the first two men to come to this country in search of beauty and wealth. If King Boris does come in search of a wife befitting his title and social position, he will undoubtedly return with a life partner blessed with beauty and wealth. Europe must study American democracy and America boasts of her insuperable barriers against Old World classes and lordly aristocracy, yet Old World social aristocracy seeks marriage into the "new aristocracy of wealth" of the New World and the sons and daughters of American wealth find it convenient and desirable to go to the extreme of matrimony in the acquisition of the symbolical "title" of Europe's social aristocracy.

Measured by American standards of morality and marriage, Europeans who come to America in search of financial independence through matrimony are deserving of condemnation, but the average American is tickled and, when once Old World "high life and medal" praises the beauty of American women and announces himself as a candidate in matrimony. What is the distinction between the sons of New World wealth or beauty for an Old World ladyship? Is one more reprehensible than the other?

It is another story with the artist Linnenkamp. He comes on a commission from an Austrian society, not to deprive America of its dozen most beautiful women, but merely to obtain "copies" of the originals for the criticism and enjoyment of Europe. There is just cause for bursting of the button on Uncle Sam's vest" in the case of the artist, but how many Americans will see anything but the mercenary in the proposed admission of King Boris!

THE REAL AMERICA.

There are vast resources for speculation and economic study in statistics compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce revealing that rural America, with 45 per cent of the nation's population, owns 50 percent of its automobiles and that in six of the 48 states the number of rural owned cars exceeds the number of cars owned in cities and towns with more than 1,000 population.

These statistics further reveal that towns having a population from 1,000 to 5,000 own 20 per cent of the nation's automobiles, although they comprise only nine per cent of the total population. The towns in this class average 220 automobiles per 1,000 of population, as compared with 125 cars per 1,000 of population in cities exceeding 6,000 in population, and 70 cars per 1,000 in rural districts, including towns of less than 1,000 population.

Accepting automobile ownership as an accurate barometer of private wealth, these statistics confirm the long-recognized concentration of wealth in communities having a population of between 1,000 and 5,000 persons, with the average of individual wealth decreasing as the population increases or decreases from those limits. The higher standard of living which now prevails and always has prevailed in the reasonably small town may be accounted for by a higher average income than that in communities or rural districts of less population and of a lower cost of living than that prevailing in towns and cities of greater population!

A DANIEL!

That Philadelphia judge who has held that reading movie titles aloud is a punishable offense has pointed the way to removal of an increasing menace to the peace of mankind. Few, if any, others to pursue happiness is immensely outraged by those who read titles aloud. Even the gentle movie fan resents such invasions. And the less gentle listen, with fingers itching to get at the throat of the reader.

Reading titles aloud is a provocation to the short-tempered that turns their thoughts to battle, murder and sudden death to the offender. Many a patron goes to the movie in pleasant mood, only to have the evening ruined and temper spoiled by barbarians. Movie fans generally will applaud the Philadelphia ruling and will hope that all judges in the universe will take the same course.

League of Nations

Must Obey Swiss Traffic Law, Claim

GENEVA, Nov. 8.—In no European country are the regulations as elaborate, far-reaching and severe as those adopted by the Swiss. At Geneva the League of Nations and the Swiss League Against Alcoholism have had 100,000 brought to their meeting last Saturday. They engaged in a discussion on what was wrong, as well as what could be done to combat alcoholism.

Both sides in their dispute officially say made for dogs, and asked the officers to come up to them.

Both men came back to reality with a shock.

"And I repeat, May I go?"

A hand again passed over the American's face as he replied:

"You can represent what you like but I represent the law."

The two defendants stepped on to the platform without further discussion.

"This is a matter of public safety and

God's according to the number of dead."

Both men were silent.

FARM CROPS GAIN AS ACRES DECLINE, SURVEY DISCLOSES

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 8.—Agricultural production in the United States during the last decade has increased, although the number of acres in agriculture has declined, according to statistics compiled by the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities, with headquarters here.

The study indicates a return of agriculture to normal conditions by the steady increase in population, and includes a comparison of the increase in population with the interest in land devoted to agriculture.

The farm area increased only approximately nine per cent from 1910 to 1920, and most of this was in the "western states," the summary declares. "There were fewer acres in farms in 1920 than in 1910 in many of the states in the corn belt and in virtually all the states east of the Mississippi River."

Part of this decrease is accounted for by errors in former enumeration, and in the south, failure to include certain areas as part of the farm idea. The growth of the population of towns, industries, mining and the increase in fisheries and railroads account for the resulting decrease.

"More significant is the permanent reversion of farm land to forest and brush because it was not fit for agriculture," the summary continues. "Throughout the eastern section, land has gone back to a more economical use. The last census reveals an increase of 55 per cent in area of improved land but an increase of 39 per cent in unimproved land. The increase in unimproved land is almost equal in acres to the increase in all farm land. The significant fact is that production has maintained and even increased by more intensive utilization of the better lands and less intensive use of poorer lands."

Weather Officials Scoff at Far-Ahead Predictions Made

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Pay no attention to forecasts of next winter's weather or predictions of weather conditions for long periods in the future, is the advice of the Weather Bureau.

A prediction from New England that the "coming winter will be the coldest and snowiest winter in history" in that section of the country has led the government officials to disclaim any responsibility for the forecast. The Weather Bureau does not attempt to issue predictions even of a general character for weeks or months in advance. The subject of forecasting for seasons or considerable periods ahead has long engaged the attention of meteorological scientists, but the far whether experts here say no law of sequences have been discovered, so that long-range forecasts of a reliable character can be made.

Reporters asked throughout the world agree that the science has not advanced to the point where that can be done. "With the advancement, especially in the predictions of weather for other people," and which occur in almost daily calendar a year in advance.

CLOSE FOR SELLING OVERWEIGHT BREAD

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—"Caught for being overweight." That was the lament of A. J. Parmer, agent for a local bakery, who charged he was at market to sell day old bread which weighed more than the maximum weight and was therefore subject to a fine.

The case was postponed to Nov. 15.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN TOOK PART IN BULGARIAN REVOLT

SOPHIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 8.—Questioned concerning rumors current of summary executions of imprisoned Communists and alleged killing of their wives and children since the ending of the recent revolution, Premier Tschankoff said:

"I have no doubt there were excesses during the progress of the struggle for the restoration of order. As soon as rumors of excesses reached the ears of the government, however, measures were taken by the ministerial council to check abuses and insure strict observance of the law. Whenever evidence of illegality or cruelty could be discovered the guilty persons were immediately put under judicial process."

As to the rumors that women and children have been killed in considerable numbers, it was stated that a feature of the uprising was the large proportion of public school pupils who took part in it, rifle or revolver in hand. These have been treated as belligerents. The proportion of women who took an active part in the disturbance was equally remarkable, but an amnesty to women and minors is being generally extended.

PAY OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES SOURCE OF TROUBLE TO POLAND

WARSAW, Nov. 8.—The Polish government, which is not well off financially, is constantly confronted with the serious problem of keeping the government employees content with their pay, but apparently meets with little success in this respect. The sudden drop of the Polish mark recently and the consequent rise in prices placed the government employees in an embarrassing situation and a general strike among them was threatened. Several of the leaders were dismissed.

The government is making an effort to improve the lot of the civil servants by appealing to the rich industrialists. Owners of coal mines and textile factories are to be called upon to supply coal and warm clothing to government employees free during the winter.
