FORMER CROWN PRINCE IS IN GERMANY

Ludendorf Commits Suicide After Being Paroled

DUTCH GOVERNMENT NOTIFIES PUBLIC THAT CROWN PRINCE IS ON GERMAN SOIL TODAY

France Sends Protest to Germany and Demands Expulsion of Frederick William at Once; Was Given Passport to Enter Germany.

Report of Suicide of General Ludendorf Is Not Official, But Is Thought to Come From Reliable Sources; Hitler Cannot Be Found Today.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—It is rumored from Munich that General Ludendorf committed suicide immediately after he was paroled after his arrest in connection with the putsch in Munich.

FRANCE SENDS PROTEST.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—A note signed by Premier Poincare was delivered to the German charge d'affaires yesterday protesting against the return of the former crown prince, Frederick Wilhelm, to Germany.

ALLIES DEMAND EXPULSION.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The entente allies insist vigorously at Berlin that former Crown Prince Frederick William who entered Germany today, be expelled from German territory, it was said in official circles.

France and Great Britain have exchanged views the last few days on this subject, it was stated, and are in entire accord regarding it.

LUDENDORF WAS PAROLED.

MUNICH, Bavaria, Nov. 10.—General Ludendorf, arrested here yesterday for his part in the Munich revolt, has been paroled.

HITLER IS MISSING.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The whereabouts of Adolph Hitler is unknown here but Ludendorf has been released after giving his word that he would take no further part in the revolt. The disarmament of Nationalists had almost been completed late last night.

PERMISSION GIVEN CROWN PRINCE.

THE HAGUE, Holland, Nov. 10.—It is officially stated that both the Dutch and the German governments granted former Crown Prince Frederick William permission to return to Germany. It would appear that the crown prince's resolution to leave was taken after the German government had notified him a few weeks ago that his return would not be opposed and that afterward he was provided with the necessary passports to enter Germany.

Holland Not Safe Place.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Holland may not be regarded as a perfectly secure retreat for William, former emperor of Germany, in view of the flight of the former crown prince across the border this morning, it was said today at the foreign office and a second St. Helena may be chosen for him.

Holland Announces Departure.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, Nov. 10.—The Dutch government officially announced today that former Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, crossed the German frontier this morning, enroute to Oels, in Upper Silesia. The State is where he recently expressed as a place where he wished to retire.

The telegram announcing the departure of the former crown prince said he had left the island of Wieringen about 4:30 o'clock this morning. Two big motor cars awaited him at a village on the mainland.

Frederick William entered the first car, accompanied by Burgomaster Kols of Wieringen. His luggage was loaded in the second car. Both cars left at daylight.

Leaves Letter to Friends.

Before leaving Wieringen, Frederick William addressed a letter to the population expressing his regret that he was unable to say goodbye and expressed his gratitude for the friends he had made here in his year of exile, and for the hospitality shown him.

It is considered here that the Dutch government has no right to detain him here in Holland; that his departure is quite legal and will not involve Holland in any diplomatic conflict.

Nevertheless, his leaving here to cross the border has caused a sensation and the people are looking forward with a considerable amount of curiosity as to what the next move will be.

Mrs. E. F. Garbe has returned from Marquette, where she went to attend the wedding of her sister.

ARMISTICE DAY

There was an absence of the spectacular in the signing of the Armistice, which brought to an end the greatest war in history. The Hindenburg line, against which division after division had been thrown, wavered and fell back, only to be formed again. Eventually, the line of resistance would have been broken by a superior force, but when word was passed among the troops which had been dedicated to liberty and democracy, that it was all over there, it was almost unbelievable. At home the tremendously impelling will to win gave way almost immediately to hysterical jubilation. Sense of proportion, for the moment, was lost. The world, figuratively, was knocked into a cocked hat.

Then the boys came home. Many of them, no more than boys, had grey hair to testify to the horrible ordeal through which they had passed. Some were lame, some blind, some internally injured. Hundreds had only a few months to live. Their chief characteristic was a firmness of the jaw, and a peculiar glint from eyes steeled to slaughter. Only then did those who stayed at home gain an idea of the cost of the conflict.

Tomorrow is Armistice Day. Let flags fly from house-tops and from windows, from stores and offices.

Armistice Day is set aside for celebration of the devoted loyalty, the mental, physical and material sacrifices of war to end wars. Let it also be a reminder of the pledge given those heroes who will not march. It must not happen again.

ARMISTICE DAY PLANS MADE BY LEGION PERFECT

Heads of Three Cities
Will Lead Parade
at 1:30 P. M.

Great Crowd Will Attend the Carnival Ball at Coliseum
This Evening When Program Starts.

If you do not go to the big Legion dance this evening and help the boys get their program started with a good big send-off, you are certainly going to do something some place tomorrow to help memorialize Armistice Day. Most clergymen have announced their intention of having a program at the morning service and there are a number of other things planned for the day.

Mayors Judson of Escanaba, Bushong of Gladstone, and Erickson of Manistique, have been invited by Cleveland Post, American Legion, to head the annual Armistice Day parade which will leave the foot of Lighthouse street at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The parade will pass up Lighthouse street to 14th street, move back to 10th street and proceed to South Park where the football game between Cleveland Post and Escanaba American Legion will be played. The teams will be the subject of a number of patriotic and other organizations will be represented in the parade.

One of the largest crowds of any of the year is expected to attend the Armistice Carnival ball at the Coliseum tonight. The building has been especially decorated for the occasion, and a delectable buffet supper will be served. The carnival favors, such as hats, horses and streamers, will be provided. The dance program contains a number of interesting novelties. Hendrick's orchestra will provide music for the affair.

The dance will be preceded by a snake dance through the business section, arranged to call the public's attention to the opening of the Armistice Day celebration.

Following the football game, a banquet for more than 300 former service men will be served in St. Joseph's hall by the Cleveland Post Auxiliary.

State Chaplain Speaker.
Chaplain P. A. Selfert, of Daggett state chaplain of the American Legion, will be the principal after-dinner speaker. There will be musical numbers by the Manistique band Mrs. H. Van Wolfear, and the Harmony Four. John A. Lemmer, vice commander of Cleveland Post, will be toastmaster. The address of welcome will be delivered by Mrs. Annette Pawlow, president of the Women's

Mine Pay Roll Taken By Band

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 10.—Bandits today held up the paymaster of the Carlson Coal Company, the mines of which are located just outside of the city limits, and escaped with approximately $10,000. The company was preparing to pay out the money to its employees when the bandits entered the mine offices. The men escaped with the money in an automobile.

Restoration of Royal Palace Uncovers Valuable Paintings

WARSAW, Nov. 10.—During the restoration of the Warsaw royal palace, dating from 1602, beautiful mural paintings of the eighteenth century have been discovered hidden beneath papers and tapestries put on the walls during the Russian occupation of Warsaw. The paintings are of the Italian school and of great artistic value. Every endeavor is being made to restore them completely. No clue yet has been found as to the identity of the painter.

Guard Against Flat Jumpers.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Apartments are so scarce in Berlin these days that when people do move, they are most careful never to leave their premises empty for a moment. Flats are liable to be "jumped" by designing persons who operate much as did claim jumpers in the mining sections of America; get possession, and then light it out afterwards.

Next Week's Weather.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The weather for the week beginning Monday, Nov. 12th, for the region of the Great Lakes will be: Fair at the beginning, followed by unsettled weather and rain, possibly snow over north portion on Monday and again after Thursday. Moderate temperature.

GASOLINE HITS LOWEST PRICE IN MANY YEARS

Is Now Selling in Escanaba for 14.9 Cents Per Gallon.

General Reduction Seems to Have Been Made in Many Middle Western States by Dealers.

You can buy low test gasoline today for 14.9 cents a gallon and the high test for 17.9 cents, according to announcements that were given out by the local dealers this morning. The price was announced in Chicago last night but it did not become effective in Escanaba until this morning.

According to Hansen & Jensen this is the lowest price since some time before the war. The announcement came as a sudden surprise to most of the dealers throughout the middle section of the United States, for it was thought the tendency was toward an advance instead of a reduction.

When asked whether he thought it would get cheaper, Mr. Jensen said today that he was not prepared to say what gasoline is going to do in the future and was only following the market on the different prices and taking his profit or loss, whichever it happens to be.

Wisconsin Price Drops.
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 10.—A two cent cut in the price of gasoline was announced today in the retail price of gasoline by the gallon, by all companies in this city. Low test gasoline was quoted at 14.2 cents. This is the lowest quotation in several years, according to dealers.

1924 Annual For High School May Be Best of All

Because High School students are so enthusiastic about this year's annual, it is expected that the 1924 annual will be one of the best, if not the best, year book ever published by the local school.

One reason for the enthusiasm over this year's book is the fact that the starting work much earlier this year than in others. Next Monday an advertising committee composed of John Hanson, chairman; Joseph Brotherton, secretary; Roy May, treasurer; J. E. Johnson, Myron Johnson, Arnold Lencour, Marjorie and Nils Whistlen will start a campaign of the city for advertising copy. This work is being started earlier than usual so that printing of the book might start as soon as possible, thereby relieving the High School of the burden which will do the work, from congestion later on in the year, if copy will be in before the holidays.

Coliseum Open Sunday Afternoon and Night

The Coliseum roller rink will be open Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening. The regular skating program will be carried out during the course of the evening. It is anticipated that a large number of out-of-town visitors who are in the city will attend the skating program.

A dancing and skating party will be staged next Thursday evening, November 15th. Henderson's Skating rink will furnish the music for the dancers and the Band Organ for the skaters. These parties have always met with the highest approval of both the dancing and skating public.

Murderer Caught After Week's Hunt

JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 10.—Monroe Rader, who shot and killed Elmer Ellsworth, hotel keeper at New Diggings, Wis., Saturday night and for whom passes have been searching for the last week, was captured this morning at 2:30 at Hazen Green, a small village, ten miles west of the scene of the shooting.

"YEGGS" BLOW SAFES IN TWO LITTLE TOWNS

Clinton and Darien, Wisconsin, Are Visited Early.

Postoffice Robbed as Well as Garage and Blacksmith Shop; New Car Taken From Garage.

(By the Associated Press)
JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 10.—Safe crackers made hauls at Darien and Clinton early this morning. They broke into a garage at Darien and robbed the post office at Clinton. The job is believed to be the work of the same men. The robbers got $700 in stamps at the Clinton post office after they blew the front door off the safe. They got into the building by picking the lock of the front door.

Previous to that they burglarized a blacksmith shop and secured sledges and chisels. They overlooked $50 in the post office. The safe at the Darien garage was blown open and $10 and valuable papers taken. Then the robbers escaped in a new touring car, which they stole from the garage.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOT BALL DRAWING THE GREATEST CROWDS

Never Before in History of High School Athletics Has Attendance Been as Good.

(By the Associated Press)
DETROIT, Nov. 10.—High school football games are drawing the greatest crowds in history to Michigan grid-irons this year. Many schools are playing on thousands, and even the smaller schools are filling their parks each Saturday.

In some sections of the state high school contests attract more attention than college games. This is true particularly in cities located some distance from higher educational institutions. At Saginaw, Bay City, Flint and Port Huron interest is high in school athletics, largely because none of these cities is in the immediate vicinity of a college or normal school.

Flint is one of the few cities outside of Detroit where professional football receives popular support. Port Huron football interest centers around the Junior High eleven which made an enviable record last year. The high school team at Port Huron is completing a disastrous season, having lost most of its games.

Ten thousand persons saw high school football games in Detroit last Saturday, despite the college clashes as counter attractions. The Eastern, Western and Northern-Cass Technical engagements brought out the largest crowds.

The estimated attendance at high school games in Grand Rapids a week ago was 8,000. One of the two games played at the Furniture City was a local affair. The attendance will run higher, school officials said, on those Saturdays when "big" games are played.

The premier game of last Saturday, the Lansing-Jackson game at Jackson, was played before a crowd estimated at between 6,000 and 6,500. This is more than the number that saw the U. of D. Marquette game here.

MEMORIAL TO GALBRAITH IS DEDICATED IN INDIANAPOLIS

Great Tribute Paid to Him by Commander
John Quinn.

Tells Hearers That the Man
Was "Martyr to Patriotic Service"; Urges Legion to More Effort.

(By the Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Colonel Fred W. Galbraith, late commander of the American Legion, who was killed in an automobile accident some time ago at Indianapolis, was called a "martyr to patriotic service" by John Quinn, present national commander of the organization, at an address here today.

He was speaking at the dedication of the Galbraith memorial which took place here today.

Galbraith's later life was dedicated to Legion principles," Commander Quinn said. "He would have said if he were here today that Legionism demanded hospitalization for our disabled comrades. He would have demanded adjusted compensation for the millions whose economic disability has not yet been set right. It is not yet set right and he would have said that Legionism demanded a keener appreciation of our patriotic rights and duties, which is Americanism."

"The maimed and disabled should be cared for," he said, "and it is our sacred duty to do all in our power to bring about everything necessary to alleviate suffering and rehabilitation."

High officials of the government, representatives of allied governments and hundreds of Legionnaires from all parts of the country were present at the dedication of the Galbraith Memorial today.

Colonel Fred W. Galbraith, Jr., the second national commander of the American Legion, lost his life in an automobile accident. The memorial unveiled today in his memory is in the form of a monument located in Eden Park, on a site which commands a view of the Ohio river and the Kentucky hills.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, who extended an invitation to President Coolidge to be present, was advised that the president "regrets he cannot be with you, he having made a positive rule that he will not make any speeches until after the first of the year."

"Were it not for this he would certainly accept," Colonel Roosevelt's message is quoted as having said, "because of his high admiration for Galbraith and his strong sympathy with and appreciation of the veterans and the American Legion."

J. C. Penney Co. Buys $35,000,000 Worth of Goods

At the buying convention of the J. C. Penney Company, held consecutively last month at St. Paul, Salt Lake City, Portland, St. Paul and Cleveland, the co-partner managers of the combined 475 stores of the organization placed orders for holiday and spring merchandise aggregating $35,000,000. This undoubtedly is the largest amount of merchandise ever purchased by one interest within a period of one month.

The large demand upon manufacturers to take care of this great volume of business, is illustrated in one contract recently made by the J. C. Penney Company for 600,000 ginsuok suits of underwear of athletic style, said to be the largest single order of its kind ever placed.

The total retail sales of this nationwide institution will reach near $65,000,000 this year.

EX-SOO EDITOR ENTERS NEW HAMPSHIRE RACE

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—A letter to Charles S. Osborne from Frank Knox, editor of the Manchester Union and Leader, brought to Mr. Knox's old home town Friday first word that he had entered the race for the governorship of New Hampshire. Knox was formerly owner of the Evening News of this city, coming here from Grand Rapids. He is said to be close to President Coolidge and confidence is expressed of his ability to win the republican nomination in the primary.

HEALTH HINTS
By the Father of Physical Culture
Bernar MacFadden

The physical changes that can be brought about through the influence of the milk diet within a short time would be considered unbelievable by the average individual. For instance, if one is greatly emaciated, or "run down," and he should find a diet that would enable him to gain from three to five pounds a week, he would feel that he had made a marvelous discovery. But when I state that a gain of one pound a day is merely a fair average for those who try the milk diet, and are in need of additional flesh, I am not in any way overstating the facts. I have seen instances where from three to five pounds daily were gained, though these great gains were usually obtained after a prolonged fast. Naturally I am referring to those who are in actual need of increased weight; who have been poorly nourished on their previous diet. It is up to normal weight on the milk diet, but it is possible when one has been under-nourished for an extended period.

Milk is undoubtedly more easily digested than any other food. It is more nearly allied to blood. It is quickly absorbed into the circulation and becomes a part of the tissues of the body with the use of considerably less energy than is required to bring about the chemical changes which are essential in preparing the ordinary foods to use in the human tissues.

It is claimed by some that milk is an "animal" food, and accepting this claim, I have sometimes felt that, therefore, it is not the best kind of food for man, but while it is an animal food in one sense, it is no more substantial for the adult to take the milk of the cow than it is for the baby to take the milk of its mother. It is a natural food product, for although the milk of the cow was originally designed for the calf just the same as the milk of the mother was designed for the infant, the constituent elements of the two kinds of milk are so closely alike that it is scarcely worth while discussing the unnaturalness of human beings using milk from animals other than their own kind.

It is indeed the only substance in the world which does not permit of debate upon the point that it is intended by nature as a food.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF SOILS MAPS OUT WINTER'S WORK
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Soil surveys of the Salinas Valley and Rosemead areas in California, Calhoun, Lee and Randolph counties in Georgia; Green, Nash and Wilson counties in North Carolina, and Hidalgo and Nacogdoches counties in Texas will be included in this winter's work of the bureau of soils of the department of agriculture.

BULGARIA TURNING TO TOBACCO.
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 10.—The production of tobacco is fast superseding wheat growing in Bulgaria. Once almost exclusively a wheat raising country, today Bulgaria has ten acres in tobacco against one in the cereal. Bulgarian farmers were taken into Europe by the war before they had learned the business thoroughly. Unsettled conditions have killed the industry in Turkey, so the Bulgarians are returning to their own country bringing the industry with them. Farmers and there is six to eight times more profit in a field of tobacco than in a field of wheat of the same size.

GIGANTIC FLAG WILL MARK DAY IN MOTOR CITY

"Old Glory" 150 Feet by 90 Feet Will Wave Triumphant.

Largest American Flag in the World Required Seven and a Half Miles of Strong Thread.

DETROIT, Nov. 10.—The largest flag in the world will be unfurled in Detroit tomorrow, a part of the city's Armistice Day celebration.

The "biggest" American flag—which means the largest in the world, since no other nation has shown any tendency to dispute the American fondness for size in its national banner—weighs 600 pounds. It is 90 feet wide by 150 feet long, and seven and one-half miles of thread were used in stitching together the 1,260 yards of red, white and blue materials.

YOST FIELD HOUSE DEDICATED WITH A TRIBUTE BY BURTON

Dr. Marion Burton Makes Fine Talk at Ceremony; Secretary Denby Attended Dedication.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 10.—Dr. Marion Leroy Burton, president of the University of Michigan, in a talk featured by its best paid tribute to "Fielding H. Yost, the man at the dedication here today of Yost Field House. The dedication, marked by the attendance of Edw. H. Denby, Secretary of the Navy and high army and navy officials, as well as by the presence of 1500 Marines from Quantico, Va., preceded the Michigan Marines football game.

President Burton spoke as follows: "The University of Michigan takes genuine and justifiable pride in the dedication of Yost Field House. The modern university has come to see that the physical welfare of its students lies at the basis of its educational effectiveness. Moreover, the spirit of true manly sportsmanship has a place in actual life which none will deny."

"We take particular pride in this occasion because this building represents not only sound principles, but because it stands as a fitting recognition of the life work of a man whose nationally recognized skill as a football coach, with all its dazzling success, has not been able to blind our eyes to the merit of the man whose character and ideals have been such a powerful influence through the years in developing staunch men.

OVER-CHURCHED IS CONDITION FOUND IN RURAL CENTERS

Prominent Churchman Says Something Ought to Be Done to Co-ordinate Many Churches.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10.—Asserting that the average rural community is "grossly overchurched," Dr. A. Taylor of Indianapolis, today suggested to the convention of the American Life Association, in session here, that residents of rural districts cooperate in religion for "the sake of a common service." Dr. Taylor is secretary of the Board of Temperance and Social Welfare, Church of Christ (Disciples).

"The average rural community is grossly overchurched," declared Dr. Taylor, "and cannot support three or four churches. Most of them are without pastor, program or effective means to reach young people.

"Christianity teaches brotherhood and cooperation. Every other rural institution seeks unity and cooperation. Schools are consolidating, cooperative organization for marketing are well on the way. Religion will not be denied the expression of its essential spirit of friendship and cooperation."

Points Out Need of Better Farm Homes

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10.—Farm women want a definite plan and a steady way to serve more adequately and effectively their homes, their communities and their country, according to a paper by Mrs. W. C. Martin of Dallas, Tex., read at today's session of the convention here of the American Country Life Association. Mrs. Martin is chairman of the Home and Community Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"Our purposes are twofold: Economic, social and educational," Mrs. Martin said. "We start our national organization on the basis of which we do not deal with community problems and need community needs."

"We need to bring into our farm homes, and into our rural districts, more of the real spirit of community life. The time has come when the farm and the community must be adjusted for perfection, as well as for advancing the rural people. Unorganized, dispersed, selfish communities have often been imposed upon."

"When Farm Bureau women get together and discuss household affairs of common interest, such as household management, hygiene, problems, cooking, sanitation, labor-saving devices, marketing of butter and eggs, enterprises of social, literary, musical and artistic interest, many are sure to be found in everyone's many obstacles."

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK
Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which was messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

BATTERY AND ELECTRIC SERVICE—NO RENTAL CHARGE!

We are now prepared to recharge 100 Batteries every 24 hours. We have one of the largest and most up-to-date repair shops in the city. With our modern equipment we can recharge your storage battery in six hours, if necessary; however, we strongly discourage a hurried recharge, as it is injurious to your battery. We recommend a 24-hour charge. Many new batteries have come to our hands in a ruined condition, on account of either an over-charge or a hurried charge by inexperienced battery men. Your run-down battery will be recharged by us correctly. Remember—NO RENTAL CHARGE ON OUR LOANERS. We do not experiment; we correct all makes of batteries and ignition systems.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1923

MOSCOW IN 1913 IS THRIVING CITY; TOWN PEOPLE SATISFIED

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Moscow, Petrograd and the other great Russian cities I have visited, will within a few years be the richest cities in the world. They are, right now, literally pulling themselves up out of the mire of distress and bankruptcy through the revenue they get out of the rent and the street railways.

Think of the Astor fortune! Think of the Vanderbilt fortune! Remember half a dozen other fortunes in New York and London, built up on city real estate, and then remember that these big Russian cities own all the real estate. They collect all the rents, either direct or through leases, and to date they have expended most of their efforts toward keeping rents down.

Just wait until they start raising rents! Think of the revenue in rents from a town of over a million and a quarter.

In addition, the city administrations own all the theatres, the big stores, the banks, the gas, electric light, fuel, depots, etc. They operate the big gambling casinos and while wronging all good workmen against the evils of gambling, they cheerfully take their percentage if he will gamble.

The city administrations are of course, very closely interwoven with the central administration, or the federal soviet administration. They are not 100 per cent efficient, but considerably more efficient than under the old regime. They are fanatics on public service and they will have all of this tremendous revenue to devote to civic purposes.

Already, they are building schools, hospitals and a number of other civic institutions, looking toward educating the people either technically or generally, looking after the health of the people etc., but in their program this is merely a start.

Practically all of the large department stores are open. The G. U. M., which is a department store operated on the arcade method and which is one of the biggest stores I have ever seen anywhere, is running full tilt. It is over 200 yards long and 75 yards deep and looks bigger than Pennsylvania Station in New York. The stocks are not as complete as they might be, but for food, clothing, machinery, women's goods, shoes, etc., there seems to be everything that anyone would desire.

Most of the stores are state "trains," but of course, there are many privately operated concerns. In a town shop, much larger and more sumptuously furnished than anything I had seen even in Paris, there was not a gown on display for less than $150. It is a government store, or state trust. It is rather difficult to know which is a government store and which is privately owned.

a saloon during the lunch hour and taken a couple of drinks. His keen perception was dulled and he became reckless; he was injured and his employer paid for it. It was an economic proposition. For this reason and for the reason that our city policies needed to be changed up that the prohibition amendment to the Michigan constitution was passed in 1916.

Speaking of the Volstead law, he said that the United States-Brewers' Association had forced the internal revenue department of the United States government to declare all beverages containing over one-half of 1 per cent alcohol intoxicating. The insertion of this regulation in the Volstead law, Hudson declared, was "like the brewers' own cooked-up home to roost."

"What has been the effect of the prohibition amendment?" he asked. "First, that prohibition, enforced, works well and is a blessing; second, that prohibition partly enforced is better than the old day of legalized saloons." "Congress spent $8,500,000 last year for the enforcement of the Volstead law," the congressman said. "In the same period the department for enforcement took in $7,500,000 for fines. They spent for enforcement of the Volstead law more than they did for the anti-narcotic act."

OSCAR'S ARGUMENT.

Oscar W. Underwood, candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, believes it high time that a Southerner is sent to the White House. Mr. Underwood lives in Alabama. He says the South has not had a president in 80 years. Does that mean that Mr. Underwood doesn't believe he can be elected before 1928? Zachary Taylor, the last Southern president, was elected in 1848. But perhaps Mr. Underwood was speaking in round numbers.

Are you now to hear from William G. McAdoo, of California, who can get up and say that while the South has not had a president since the death of President Taylor, in 1950, California has never had a president at all. And from Dearborn, Michigan, where that same Michigan has never had a president, it is high time that the popular lightning strike in the vicinity of a certain tractor plant. Over in Madison and Milwaukee people may even now be stirring the thought that Wisconsin has never had a president, a fact which adds obligation to the matter with Michigan. For that matter, Wisconsin has never had a president whose name began with C. or who had a middle name. 325

It is high time, as Senator Underwood holds, to think that the presidential candidate must come from a doubtful state where a large majority of the population is illiterate. But as long as presidential candidates are elected by general popular vote, sectionalism is likely to mount freely at the convention delegates. The thing to do is to make it a doubtful state, or maybe to Ohio. 326

ADVERTISING.

Advertisement is now in preparation at Washington to have a bill passed that $1,000,000,000 is being spent this year in the United States for periodical advertising. That sum represents a doubling of the amount spent in 1922, which in turn showed a doubling over the year 1921. This huge sum was expended in advertising in newspapers, magazines and trade papers.

Advertising is such a position in the realm of business and industry. The art of advertising must command the attention of the public, the consumer and the worker. Advertising has become a recognized and productive industry in every branch of business. Advertising is a large-scale business. When the factory succeeds in advertising its products, the result is a vast sum of money. The United States is today the greatest industrial and advertising nation in the world, and for this reason it is a leading nation in the world. The vast sums involved in advertising, the public demand and the factory results obtained through advertising and future expenditures for advertising.

It has been gratifying to the publishers of the daily newspaper that they have been able by a natural growth to maintain their present business as a medium of advertising.

THE FARMER LEARNS.

Boys, these Senators, Lathrop, Tamm, Brookhart, Shipstead and Magnus Johnson, been abused when the international farm congress, representing the world and attended by delegates from 20 states and 15 foreign countries, did not see the necessity of once referring to the need of new farm legislation, state, national or international.

Isn't the farm bloc just another instance of political propaganda in the guise of the public will? Have the farmers as a class ever a lead for the "plum" which farm bloc politicians, generous with their trust, have sought to bestow upon them? It is proved that the farmers ever had any faith in the politicians who have long since had their lesson and have profited by it. They have tried the magic remedies prescribed by congress and they want no more of them. They have lost all faith in the politicians which the agricultural doctors have and are still advertising as sure cures for the farmer's troubles.

The Michigan farmer has expressed his views on labor, credit rates and tariff but he wants no more statutory receipts for fighting himself up by the boot-traps and political "friends of the farmer" will benefit for he such to the "political friend" only.

ELECTRIC POWER STAGE.

Using water power, coal and oil to develop electricity is the industrial line of progress of this age.

Twenty-two billion kilowatt-hours of electricity were consumed in the industries of the United States in 1922, and more than sixty per cent of the energy used by three hundred thousand manufacturing plants was supplied through this great flow of power, according to a recent survey of industrial electricity.

It is estimated that the manufactures of the country are equipped to use more than 30,000,000 horse-power, as compared with only 12,000,000 in 1902, while the installed rating of industrial electric motors has increased from 1,000,000 horse-power in 1902 to approximately 19,000,000 in 1922, a growth of 1800 per cent in two decades.

Of the three natural forces that have been harnessed by man, water power, steam power and electric power, the last and youngest has already caught and passed the others in point of service and bulk of work done.

A prediction is made that women's hats will become standardized. Of course a man who doesn't know anything about the nature of women was the author of it.

Armistice Day will not be celebrated generally on account of the number of countries that will be too busily engaged in still fighting.

GRANT HUDSON HITS COUZEN'S STAND ON BEER

Says Detroit Couldn't Regulate Saloons in Jackson.

Representative Leads Prohibition in Address Before the Rotary Club in Prison City.

JACKSON, Mich., Nov. 10.—The prohibition amendment to the Michigan constitution is not taking issue with Senator Couzen's stand on beer, says Grant Hudson, Michigan representative, in an address before the Rotary Club in Jackson.

"I am not a prohibitionist," Hudson said, "but I do believe in the prohibition law. I believe in the prohibition law because I believe in the prohibition law."

When he was mayor of Detroit, he couldn't enforce the saloon regulatory law. If you can't enforce a saloon regulatory law, how can you expect to enforce a prohibition law?

He came back from Montreal and Quebec and told of the mass condition of things there with beer being sold under government control. Here is what an impartial investigator for an American newspaper found: 507 beer saloons in Montreal, just as many blind pigs as in any licensed city; 2,000 women and girls in the red light district; breweries which began with a production of less than 6,000,000 gallons of beer a year producing 25,000,000 gallons of beer this year; the drink bill of Montreal for this year up to 22,000,000, more than was spent for education.

"We need to know exactly the present status of prohibition enforcement. There is much shallow thinking and talking now."

"In local opinion," the speaker said, "the prohibition law is a success. Then came the prohibition law. What happened? A man was injured in a factory. The man was injured and found the reason was that the man had been out to

Sauces You Never Forget

Certain hotels have a country-wide reputation for their wonderful meals. It is usually in the preparation of some famous sauce that a chef gains his reputation. There is hardly a chef of repute who would be without KITCHEN BOUQUET. Try this mushroom sauce:

MUSHROOM SAUCE
 1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
 4 tablespoons Butter
 2 cups mushrooms, sliced
 1 cup cream
 1/2 cup stock
 1/4 cup onion, finely cut and soaked 15 minutes in stock

Melt butter in saucepan, add flour, cook 2 minutes, add stock with mushrooms and cook 15 minutes, strain off; add cream, Kitchen Bouquet and seasonings. Bring to boiling point and serve over broiled steak.

Then you will know why chefs regard us rightly

Court Finds Against Japanese Teachers in Hawaiian Schools

HONOLULU, Nov. 10.—The system of government of the territory of Hawaii "cannot endure half-American and half-Japanese." Circuit Judge Andrade has declared, in upholding the constitutionality of the territorial law regulating the conduct of alien language schools which are predominantly Japanese in number and attendance.

The decision came in the suit of the Palama and Kalihi Japanese language schools to restrain territorial officials from enforcing the law in question, which was adopted by the legislature of 1920. The measure provides that all teachers in the language schools must have obtained from territorial school officials a certificate following an examination into the applicant's knowledge of the ideals of democracy, American history and institutions, and the ability to read, write and speak the English language.

The Palama and Kalihi schools contended that the measure violated the fifth and fourteenth amendments to the federal constitution.

"That the right to teach a foreign language to pupils in a private school exists, there is no doubt, but such right is subject to the paramount right of the people to impose upon the engagement thereof any reasonable legislation the public welfare may require," Judge Andrade's decision said. "I am convinced that the law is within the fifth and fourteenth amendments to the constitution; that its regulatory and its requirements are reasonable and not arbitrary. Having decided that the act is the proper exercise of the police power of the legislature in such matters, it necessarily follows that it is not contrary to the provisions of the treaty of commerce and navigation existing between the United States and Japan."

"If a part of the education of some of the American children is the learning of the Japanese language, and if they are allowed to be taught by teachers who are indifferent to our ideas of democracy, or who do not know how to read, write or speak the English language, such teachers will not impart to the future citizens of Hawaii these essential principles of Americanism with any degree of learning, even though such teachers may desire earnestly to do so."

WISCONSIN MAN SAYS HE OWES SUCCESS IN LIFE TO MUSKMELON

MUKWONGA, Wis., Nov. 10.—The success of many men has been attributed to various strange things, but few, it is believed, have been inspired by the muskmelon as was A. H. Craig, 76, postmaster here. He asserts that the whole fabric of his life and achievements was built up through inspiration furnished by the melon.

Craig became identified with the melon industry after a series of financial misfortunes, commencing with the failure of a bicycle factory in which as a young man he invested his savings. That failure compelled him to mortgage his home to pay his obligations.

"I wrote to a New York publisher for a job and got one," he explained. "It was to write a book of 450 pages on the subject of debate. The result was 'Craig's Pros and Cons'—an outline of school debate. Asked to name the compensation for writing this book, I gave the publisher the figure represented by the mortgage indebtedness of my home."

Paying off the home-secured mortgage with a now widely used book left an empty pocketbook. Casting about for substance and health took him into the outdoors and growing things and melon culture suggested itself.

At that time the article was a luxury in the markets of the east. Craig decided to grow a melon that would stand above all others by intelligent and scientific production. He sent to France, Spain and Paris for seed. He first grew melons with some success but more in failure. He visited Indianapolis and at a city produce market there was attracted by a specimen of provincial melon of the Honoluli state. He bought one for a dime, ate it, and saved the seeds. Later he crossed it with one of his own kind.

The result was melons that ran 20 to 24 pounds in weight. Craig set out to reduce the size, for as a market melon it was unobtainable because of its weight. After years of experimenting, a superior product came into being. The first success of the new variety found birth at a banquet given in honor of former President Taft in Minneapolis, where the guests clamored for seed and then more melons.

Declares Colorado Was Inhabited 3,000 Years Ago

DURANGO, Colo., Nov. 10.—A man antedating the Christian era by 3,000 years, inhabited the Southwest, is the statement made here recently by Jesse Nusbaum, superintendent of the Mesa Verde national park. Colorado, after the uncovering of a home said to have been inhabited by a people long before the cliff dwellers arrived in the region now known as the Mesa Verde National Park.

The Nusbaum discovery was made about eight feet beneath the floor or foundation of a cliff dwelling and in the same cavern, located about a mile south of the Spruce Tree house in the park. The table, according to Nusbaum and other members of the party, depicted the house, belonged to what are known as the "basketmakers" and their presence here was established beyond a doubt by the class of pottery discovered by the party.

This pottery, Nusbaum asserts, is easily identified as of a period at least 3,000 years before Christ—and other evidence was found to justify the statement that this region was inhabited by humans long before the cliff dwellers arrived. The pottery was made of red clay, tempered with red-brown sand, and used by the "basketmakers." It has a glossy color with a weight probably about

COUNTRY DOCTORS MUST HAVE BETTER HOME CONDITIONS

Unless This Comes to Pass, the Small Village May Be with Its Old-Time Practitioner.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 10.—"Reasonable living conditions, are necessary to restore permanently physicians and surgeons to rural communities. Dr. H. P. Colwell of Chicago, today told the convention of the American Country Life Association in session here. Dr. Colwell is secretary of the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

"The objectionable features of country practice," said Dr. Colwell, "are loss of well-to-do patients, long drives, bad roads, hard work, loss of income, increased expenses, poorer facilities for practice, no hospitals, no libraries, no laboratories, few churches, poorer schools and loss of time or opportunity for professional or personal development.

"What wonder, therefore, that the country doctor after struggling in vain against the rising tide of difficulties finally decides to follow his disappearing clientele to the city. It is quite clear also why the young physician, after graduating from medical school, usually in debt for his medical training, prefers to go from necessity must remain in the city rather than go to the country.

"Census figures show that of the total of physicians in the United States 63 per cent are in cities of 5,000 or greater population, leaving only 37 per cent in cities or towns of less than 5,000. In other words, in cities of 5,000 or above there is one physician for every 541 people.

"To permanently restore doctors for rural communities requires restoration of reasonable living conditions in these districts."

MAN SUING FORD FAINTS AT TRIAL

Former Newberry Campaign Booster Collapses During Grilling in Injury Suit.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 10. While testifying in Judge Arthur Webster's court Thursday in his $100,000 damage suit against Henry Ford, for alleged injuries suffered when he was being driven to Mt. Clemens by Ford's chauffeur, to testify in the auto manufacturer's libel suit against the Chicago Tribune, March 1, 1915, Benjamin Emery fainted from physical exhaustion and the hearing was adjourned until the plaintiff recovered, an hour later.

Emery declared that his skull was fractured and his spine permanently injured when the car overturned. George Villorot, Ford's chauffeur, was at the wheel. Emery testified that the chauffeur was heard to say that he was in a hurry as he was going to a dance that night.

Newberry's Campaign Manager. Emery assisted in the management of Truman H. Newberry's campaign when the latter ran for the senate.

The plaintiff fainted during cross-examination by P. J. M. Halley, one of Ford's attorneys, who sought to show that after the accident Emery walked unassisted to a farmer's house nearby and after staying there an hour walked back to the machine and drove off. Adolph Bahnot, the lawyer in whose home Emery is alleged to have waited while the car was being repaired, was one of the Ford witnesses called Thursday.

Held Job After Accident. Questioned by Halley, Emery admitted that after the accident he remained in Newberry's employ at a salary of $300 a month.

bed or in a chair, undoubtedly asleep, when the flame-eaten supports gave way and the upper portion of the house fell into the cellar. The coroner and district attorney, on visiting the place, found nothing to indicate foul play or incendiarism. John Gilhausen, a nephew of Henry Gilhausen, was burned to death last winter while on a hunting trip.

Boy of 7 Braves Trip on Ocean, Across U.S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—"Just show me the way to the railroad station and I will get there all right."

So said Robert Poole, 7, going on a trip who arrived alone in the steamship Fort St. George from Bermuda Thursday on his way to Los Angeles. The boy said much fussed up before passengers wanted to help him at every turn.

"Pop told me to be a little man," said he.

Although the Fort St. George met heavy weather, young Robert was among the few who appeared regularly at meals.

The lad's mother died several months ago and his father, a planter in Bermuda, is sending the boy to an aunt in Los Angeles.

DOOR COUNTY PREPARES TO ADVERTISE CHERRIES

STURGEON BAY, Wis., Oct. 15.—"Ye Shall Know Us," the slogan of Door county, famous cherry production area, will be broadcast by an intensive advertising campaign.

With the increase of cherries constantly growing, and the trees bearing heavier, a larger market is needed. The local cherry cannery is credited with being the largest plant of its kind in the county. The campaign will also aid materially in the sale of other Door county fruit products, principally apples.
