

CHARLES R. FORBES TAKES STAND TODAY

DENIED EVERY CHARGE MADE AGAINST HIM

Declares He Is Victim of Conspiracy by Enemies.

Deals Rather Sharply With Critics, Particularly Brig. Gen. Sawyer, Friend of President.

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 13.—A conspiracy to encompass his destruction by means of perjury and the suppression of material facts and documents was charged by Charles R. Forbes, former director of the veterans' bureau, in testimony today before the senate committee.

He took the stand in his own defense before a crowded committee room. The former director entered a sweeping and absolute denial of the charges made by other witnesses reflecting on his honesty. In preparation for this appearance, which is at his personal request, Mr. Forbes had prepared for the record a statement which is described as dealing rather sharply with his critics among whom has been Brig. Gen. Charles Sawyer, personal friend and physician to the late President Harding.

Forbes is expected to be on the witness stand all today and probably much of tomorrow, unless the strain results in a recurrence of the heart attacks to which he has been subject for months.

The denial was directed against every charge, statement, innuendo, and insinuation which in any manner whatsoever reflected upon the honesty and integrity of my official or personal conduct while I occupied the office of director of war risks insurance or director of the veterans' bureau.

Politics is to blame. "Most of the deficiencies in the administration of the laws providing for relief to disabled veterans," he declared, "have been due to politics and Sawyer." He was referred to Dr. Charles Sawyer, the friend and physician of the late president.

Forbes then flatly denied the statement made before the committee by Dr. Sawyer that he was dismissed by President Harding for insubordination in connection with the sale of certain property at Perryville, Maryland.

'OLD GRADS' TO BLAME FOR THE LIQUOR SALES

Regent U. of M. Makes This Statement Today.

Wants Something Done to Check Sale of Intoxicants to Residents of Fraternity Houses.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Charges that the "old grads" are bringing liquor to the fraternity houses at the universities were made by Julius Beal, regent of the University of Michigan, here attending the meeting of the governing members of state educational institutions.

The alumni is the principal cause for the intemperance in the colleges which is one of the inoperative problems that confront them, Mr. Beal said. Continuing he declared, "I believe the best way is to appeal to the honor of the students and alumni on the moral issue. In Michigan the fraternities are writing circular letters to their alumni, urging them to refrain from such violations. This should prove effective."

A. G. PROCTOR ADDRESSES THE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AND EULOGIZES LINCOLN IN TALK

"The Grandest Republican on the Face of the Earth."

Mr. Proctor Is the Only Living Man Who Was Delegate to Convention in 1860.

Atkinson G. Proctor, of St. Joseph, the oldest living delegate to the "Wigwag" convention which met in 1860 in Chicago and nominated Abraham Lincoln for the presidency, addressed the students at the High School at 1:15 this afternoon.

Mr. Proctor has been actively identified with American politics for 60 years. He was one of the pioneers of Kansas, taking an active part in the early days in that free state fight on the border which helped to save the west from slavery and dedicate it to "Free Homes for Free Men" in 1860, when only 21 years of age, he was selected one of Kansas six delegates to the National Republican convention that nominated Lincoln, and he is the only surviving delegate of that historic gathering.

Tells "Unwritten Story." Mr. Proctor's story of the "unwritten" incidents which led up to that nomination and of the great man with whom he came in contact in those stirring times, has been pronounced a valuable contribution to the nation's fund of memories of Lincoln.

Mr. Proctor arrived last night from Marquette, having spoken yesterday at the Northern State Normal College. Mr. Proctor, who is now 85 years of age, and was 21 when he attended the convention said, "When the convention assembled, William H. Seward of New York, one of the country's best orators, appeared to be the man of the hour. Seward's eloquence had assurance of 187 votes of the delegates and expected to nominate him on the first ballot. So well organized was this group that not one vote was lost. Not one vote was needed, however. Governors, senators and congressmen also were present, but

GLAVINS LOSE SAW MILL IN SUNDAY FIRE

Total Loss Partly Covered by Insurance, Is Said.

Saw Mill Located at Winona, Michigan, Was Not in Operation at the Time; Cause Unknown.

The saw mill of the Pampa Land Company controlled by the members of the Glavin family of this city was totally destroyed by a fire which started from no apparent cause sometime Sunday morning. The mill was not in operation at the time, but watchmen were about and did not discover the flames in time to put up a sufficient light to check the spread of the flames.

The mill was burned to the ground and it is said by subscribers to a total loss. It was partly covered by insurance and will be rebuilt according to present plans.

Charles E. Glavin, who has just returned from London, said this morning that he had not made an investigation of the fire yet, but so far as he could learn, there seemed to be no apparent cause for the fire.

The Leviathan, on which Mr. Glavin made the trip to Europe, was delayed for several hours, he said, by a disabled turbine and also by dense fog, but there was no discomfort to the passengers as the big ship had many divers ladders to take up the time of everyone and save lunch grumpiness over the delay.

The Moros, who are Mohammedans, object to be governed by Christian Philippines and are demanding appointment of more Moros in the executive of the government, the general said.

BRITAIN SAYS WILHELM WILL REMAIN DUTCH

British Officials Believe Dutch Government Will Hold Him.

Therefore No Note Will Be Sent to Dutch Government Asking Further Guarantees.

(By the Associated Press)

H. S. STUDENTS ARE WRITING LETTERS TO FOREIGN LANDS

One Was Received Today from Youth Who Is Learning American Ways in Far Off China.

"Have you received an answer yet?" This is a general question asked in the Escanaba High School. Some time ago pupils who were interested in corresponding with people of foreign lands paid 19 to 20 cents for addresses. The addresses were received, addresses of French boys and girls, Swedish, Spanish, South American, and Chinese. One pupil in High School received this answer to a letter sent to China:

Dear—I am a boy of eighteen years of age. I have long been expecting a letter from an American, and here, at last, I get yours.

As I understand from your letter you wish to hear about the schools in China. In the following I will relate to you the classification of grades and subjects taught in most of the schools. Of course, there are exceptions which have their own systems. Usually the middle school years are divided into four, during which various common subjects such as geography, history, English and mathematics are taught and most of the subjects are taught in English. In college there are five years, at the end of two years you will be given a certificate. From the third year on which is equivalent to your sophomore class, you can pursue any special study as you like it.

I am in the law department of Soochow University. Everything seems to be green to me for this is my first year in studying law. I hope some day after I get through with my law course here that I may come over to America.

I think I will stop here now. In the letter to follow I will tell you something more interesting. I do like to hear from you from time to time.

Yours very sincerely,
WONG YAN DONG.

WHY BANKS?

LESSON I.

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman, Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

Why banks? To facilitate the exchange of goods and services, says the economist. FACILITATE - make easy. GOODS - food, clothing, necessities, comforts, luxuries.

SERVICES - the work that goes into manufacturing, into crop-raising, into selling, buying, bookkeeping, financing - into all man's wants.

The FARMER sells his crop for money. The WORKMAN sells his labor for money. The MANUFACTURER sells his product for money and the money is used to buy what the others need or want - used in the exchange of goods and services which makes FACILITATE.

FARMER-BANKER MEETING NOTES

A recent farmer-banker conference, held at Fargo, North Dakota, as one of a series being held under the auspices of the Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, to aid in developing permanently better agricultural conditions was representative of a number of valuable and definite measures for a program of action.

Reduction of wheat acreage? It was recommended that the farmers reduce wheat acreage and plant other crops. Diversified cropping. The conference decided that the minimum acreage of wheat should be 20 per cent of the total acreage of the farm.

Governmental agency as an emergency device for strictly national and selling separately the exportable wheat surplus. Protesting against the drawback provision in the Fordney-McCumber law and against the enactment of that in the Dingley law, the Payne law and the Calkins law.

MERCHANT CREDIT EXPENSIVE

Justification is given that farm credit may be unacceptably restricted by the banks. It is suggested that the use of merchant credit instead of bank credit is more economical. The American Bankers Association is urged to take steps to increase the use of merchant credit.

LOSS OF IRON IN YEAR BY CORROSION COSTS OVER THREE BILLION

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. - The annual wastage in iron and steel is placed at nearly $3,500,000,000 by British authorities, according to Alfred D. Pflug, director of the Engineering Foundation, in a description of recent conquests of engineering research in efforts to eliminate the ravages of softening iron through graphite corrosion. Important revelations in this field have been made in a report to the foundation by J. Vipond Davies, of New York, president of the United Engineering Society.

"Millions of tons of cast-iron have been put under ground and under water in pipes, tunnel linings and other engineering structures," said Director Pflug, "and it has been observed that certain kinds of soil and water set upon some kinds of cast-iron, slowly softening them so that the objects can be cut out with a penknife. Strange to say, iron thus softened grows harder again when exposed to the air."

One of the interesting stories brought to light by the historical branch of the study has to do with several wrought iron girders raised in 1853 from the Mary Rose, an English gun-boat, sunk by the French in a battle near Portsmouth in 1545. Some of the cast-iron bolts, with which the girders were loaded, should have weighed 20 pounds, but actually weighed only 12, while others, that should have weighed 50 pounds, weighed only 25. On being exposed to the air they became red hot and bent to pieces.

Mr. Davies' conclusions that wrought iron is a pirate ship off West India. While nearly a century before, were raised. They were soft when measured, but hardened upon being exposed to the air. Later when used in the girders they were said to have made London's streets safer than any other.

Another interesting story of the Florida coast, the Spanish Armada, sunk in 1588, was that the surface of the iron bolts, which were used to hold the masts in place, had become so soft that they could not be used.

Protective measures, it is explained, consist of keeping the injurious water away from the surface of the cast-iron by means of a coating of paint or other material. Falling in line with this point of view, the cast-iron bolts of a kind of iron, subject to attack, can only follow the example of the cast-iron bolts which exhibited a tendency to harden by exposing the same to the air and found it necessary to replace the bolts.

COACHES OPERATED BY GAS MOTORS

Green Bay Firm's Invention Is Expected to Revolutionize Railroad.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Nov. 12. - A newly invented two motor gasoline power equipment that can be attached to any standard railway passenger coach, so that the car can be operated under its own motive power, without the use of a locomotive, is being tested out by the Chicago and North Western road at Clinton, Wis. Under test of actual service the car is said to have met every railroad requirement for speed and safety, and has been so economically operated that it bids well to solve the problem now facing the railroads because of the almost ruinous competition of the many thousands of motor busses throughout the country, running branch lines and local passenger service, to become unprofitable and often a positive loss.

The test has been going on for more than two months and is being watched by every railroad in the country. It is said that a passenger railway coach, driven by the new device, can compete with motor busses at every turn, make faster time, run as safely as any train and furnish a more comfortable ride than on any vehicle not running on rails.

The new equipment is the invention of L. W. Melcher, expert engineer, secretary and general manager of the Onoda Manufacturing Company of this city, makers of the Onoda, an automobile track. Gasoline motor driven railway coaches are not an innovation in railway service, but here before the equipment was destroyed on automatic lines, rather than rail road lines and failed for that reason.

Mr. Melcher's plans, completed and patented, he asked officials of the road to test out his ideas. The coach selected was from here to Park and 16 miles over steep grade. It was a four wheel and proved that the car could be successfully operated under its own power. The test was conducted by the C. & N. W. railroad, the car was to Clinton, Iowa, to put it in actual service. Originally it has been intended to place the car in passenger service between Manitowish and the River, but it was believed that the low test would be better.

In the run to Iowa 120 miles in 2 1/2 hours were made at an average speed of 70 miles an hour. The car is said to be capable of an average speed of 80 miles an hour, which time the car is said to be capable of making in 2 1/2 hours. The test was pronounced a success.

The saving effect of the operation of the motorized coach is 100 a day compared with the operation of a train hauled by a locomotive. It costs about $1.50 a mile to operate the smallest type of locomotive in branch line service, while the motorized coach can be operated at less than 25 cents an mile with the cost. A gallon of gasoline is consumed every three and one-quarter to four miles in the operation of the coach carrying 60 persons. It carries two barrels of gasoline - 101 gallons.

DOWN-STATE'S DEER SLAYING ARMY SLUMPS

Not More Than 3,500 Hunters Have Crossed Straits of Mackinac.

Less than 4,000 lower peninsula nimrods have crossed the straits of Mackinac for their annual deer hunt, it was reported last night by Stephen Dowd, pursuer on the carryery Chief Wawatam, running between Mackinac City and St. Ignace. This is the smallest army of hunters recorded in years. Last year more than 6,000 crossed the straits. The buck law and the mild weather are given as reasons for the slump. The rush to the northern peninsula woods began last week. Tuesday, and was over Saturday night, only a few tardy ones coming over the straits yesterday. The Chief Wawatam has carried about 3,000 hunters and several hunters have crossed in the state ferry, Ariel. There is no snow in the woods and the roads are in good condition. About 400 cars were ferried over the straits last week.

30,000 Licensed. Notwithstanding the fact that fewer hunters have crossed the straits than last year, a dispatch from Lansing, Saturday, stated that in all probability the number of deer licenses issued in Michigan this year would exceed 25,000, the figure for 1922. One thousand licenses were issued in Detroit, as compared with 800 last year. Three Detroit women took out licenses. Deer are reported to be more plentiful than ever in all counties open for hunting. John Baird, director of conservation, believes the kill will be as large as it was last year, providing the hunters get a fall of snow before the season is out to help them trail the bucks.

Says Fee Too High. "The Michigan non-resident deer hunter's license fee is too high," Baird said. "A fee of $25 would be enough to charge any out-of-state sportsman, and with the $50 fee we keep many from hunting in Michigan. We shall ask the next legislature to change this."

"In 1922 there were 6,999 bucks taken in Michigan, and in 1921 there were 7,999. But this year there may be more. The hunter will be unlucky who doesn't bag his deer, for there are plenty."

POTATOES WEAK AT 30 CENTS A BUSHEL

BA-YCITY, Mich.—Potatoes are being sold for 30 cents a bushel and buyers are showing little inclination to take them even at that price.

Alpena reports say 100,000 bushels of potatoes sacked and ready for shipment lie only partially protected from freezing awaiting cars to move them. Alpena has been made to the Inter-state Commerce Commission and the State Public Utilities Commission to bring cars into that territory at once.

Lack of demand and prevailing low prices have caused many producers in this part of the state to pit their potatoes, hopeful of a higher price next spring.

RESULTS OF STATE EMIGRATION DISAPPOINTS GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The results of state emigration, for which the government designed a scheme of assisted passages to the dominions, has been very disappointing, according to Lieutenant-Colonel Buckley, chairman of the Overseas Settlement Committee.

Up to September 20 a total of 31,999 government assisted emigrants had left Great Britain under the scheme, this number falling short of the total it was hoped to absorb by some 60,000. Of the 31,999 who availed themselves of the facilities of the scheme, 23,000 traveled to Australia, 4,500 to New Zealand, and 3,800 to Canada.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

It's usually a sign of sick kidneys, especially if the kidney action is disordered, passages scanty or too frequent. Don't wait for more serious troubles. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Escanaba man's testimony.

J. E. Erickson, brakeman, 321 South 15th St., says: "In the morning my back used to get pretty lame and stiff and catches held be back from my work. If I stood too long, my back became sore and some nights I was so restless I couldn't sleep and as a result I would be tired and weak during the day. My kidneys were weak and I had to get up frequently during the night to pass the secretions which were badly colored and contained sediment. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought some at the West End Drug Store. It didn't take them long to strengthen me up. I still use Doan's occasionally when I feel in need of a kidney medicine and always get the same good results." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

TURKS INSIST STREET SIGNS BE WRITTEN IN TURKISH

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 12.—Sign painters and the sellers of tezzes have had a rush of business since the allied evacuation that makes them the envy of those tradesmen who have suffered from the departure of the foreigners. Men who never wore the national headgear oftener than does a Shriner in the United States have deemed it prudent to put away their European hats, and not incur the sometimes rough attention of street crowds by appearing without the fez.

A few days ago the Vail of the city ordered that every business sign should be in Turkish characters, and the supply of native sign letters has not been up to the demand. It is required that the Turkish characters shall occupy the upper or principal position on all signs. A foreign language may be used under the Turkish, but only to one quarter of the area given the native lettering.

The majority of people, except those who are residents in Australia, have never heard of Mrs. Elizabeth Mahony, yet she is one of the most wonderful women in the world. Trader, engineer, builder, farmer, stock breeder, shipowner, and mine owner, she is the uncrowned queen of an island known as Sudest, near New Guinea, where she has lived for the past 22 years.

DIAMOND MINING FLOURISHES.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The alluvial diamond industry in British Guiana, the only British possession in the South American continent, is showing great expansion, says a Colonial report. The output of diamonds rose from 507,299 stones weighing 102,503 carats of a local value of $1,645,000 in 1921, to 816,857 stones weighing 162,640 carats value $4,165,000 in 1922. The increased output attracted the attention of diamond dealers in Europe and America, with the result that between 20 and 30 foreign diamond buyers opened places of business in the colony, causing a rapid advance in prices.

Optimism Plus Confidence Plus Work Equals Prosperity

A "Boost Your Neighbor" Campaign in Escanaba is now running in the columns of The Daily Mirror.

Once the local resident realizes where his interests lie, one need not speculate as to the results of this campaign. However, it is up to the individual firms to keep the public acquainted with their line of goods and service they are prepared to render by giving it the necessary publicity.

In other words, let us get better acquainted in our business and personal relations and above all else, Mr. Citizen, KNOW YOUR CITY.

"The idea is an excellent one," said one of our prominent citizens the other day. "The campaign will bring the attention of the community to the many advantages to be found in patronizing our own merchants. The campaign is principally designed to acquaint the people of Escanaba with the buying possibilities in their own community.

"Money is a medium of exchange—you cannot wear it—you cannot eat it—but it cannot be used as a medium of exchange unless you keep it here.

"Some people work for a living—others invest their savings wisely and permit their money to work for them. In every business enterprise, capital and labor are the prime necessities. Capital supplies the tools, machinery and equipment and works just the same as labor.

"If you felt like working, would you prefer to work in your own yard, or would you go into your neighbor's yard to work? Most assuredly you would work where you would receive the benefits. Then why should you send your money away to work for the advancement of some other part of the town?

"All we have to do is to trace the dollar bill in Escanaba. When it is spent here, it goes to the merchant, and he in turn uses it for the rent and other expenditures, and the landlord in turn spends it with the grocery man, the butcher, the druggist, and so on.

"If Escanaba people could travel with a dollar bill for one week and see the number of hands through which it passed they would never hesitate in doing all their buying at home. The merchants need this support and above all, the community benefits by it. Such a liberal educational campaign will have a far-reaching effect and make the community, better and greater for it."

SEEKING ORDER.

It is stated in Washington that President Coolidge is likely to throw his influence in favor of the proposed reorganization of the government. President Harding and his cabinet had considered the proposals for months without decision. Mr. Harding's advisers being at variance over the project and Mr. Harding unwilling to exert his authority.

The plans, as tentatively approved, provide for the consolidation of the war and navy departments into a department of national defense. They also provide for the establishment of a department of public welfare. Various governmental bureaus, misplaced under the present departmental arrangements, are to be transferred. The most important of these changes is the placing of the prohibition enforcement problem under the department of justice where it belongs.

The recommendations for the reorganization of the government must go to congress for approval. It will be strange if they meet with immediate approval. Department employees and their friends will resist changes which endanger their jobs. And, in Washington, these elements are strong.

Army and navy officers, for the most part, are strongly opposed to the merging of their departments. Although without votes, both services have always been influential factors with congress. Unless a strong public opinion opposes the thing for which army and navy men use their influence, that thing is likely to receive congressional approval. On the wisdom of consolidating the army and navy department, public opinion has not been educated. The problem is largely one of military inertia. In the absence of public pressure, proponents of the measure will encounter hard bedding.

The establishment of a department of public welfare is another on which public sentiment has not developed.

It would be unfortunate if the lack of strong agitation on the creation of departments of national defense and public welfare should result in the defeat of the plan for transferring minor bureaus to the department to which they properly belong.

HOWE'S PLAN NOT SO SIMPLE.

Ed. Howe, picturesque Kansas editor-publisher, has the notations 14 points all packed into one. His peace plan is the dedication of the world press in the service of eternal peace.

"Just a simple matter of getting together all the journal editors and boiling out war and trichin," says the Kansas philosopher.

Who will deny Howe is right? But Howe has not explained "how" he is going to get the newspapers of the world together. He already knows that the American press has long been exerting its influence toward the termination of turmoil abroad and the establishment of world peace. But what about the rest of the nationals of the globe?

It is considered that every nation with the present exception of the United States and Canada have nationalistic or militaristic newspapers working for war and territorial or commercial extension at the expense of a sister nation. Even then it might be possible to convert the world press to the cause of world peace if the press was not always the expression of the will of the people.

When the Kansas editor gets the world press behind the movement he will have attained world peace, for he will have converted the people of the world, of whom the press is but the mouthpiece, to national contentment and international peace.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

November has arrived. Only a few more weeks before December 25. There is Christmas shopping to be done. It is time to turn one's thoughts to it. The postoffice department urges early mailing of Christmas parcels, and this means early shopping. The merchants urge early shopping, because it will avoid congestion and enable them better to serve the public.

Consideration for those who work behind the counter and in delivery departments urge early shopping. Considerations of self-interest also urge purchasers to shop early. The early shopper catches the choice of Christmas offerings on the shelves and counters, gets more satisfactory service and assures timely arrival of purchases at their destination.

There is every reason for early shopping and none against it.

BETTER TIMES FOR FARMERS.

The department of agriculture reports that 11 farm crops will show an increase in value of $1,225,000,000 over that of last year. Banks operating in agricultural sections report decreasing demand for credit and increasing payment of indebtedness. Truly, the clouds that recently lowered over agriculture are showing a silver, if not a golden, lining.

In certain sections agricultural conditions may still be bad, but conditions generally have greatly improved. Certain farmer elements may still be in sad plight, but the great majority of agriculturists find themselves in an economic movement that is steadily carrying upward. Whether the farmers will recognize this fact, or will permit themselves to be deluded by political farmers, remains to be seen.

Poincare insists that the outside world consider the welfare of France. He might argue with more effect if he could induce France to reciprocate a little by considering the welfare of the outside world.

HEALTH HINTS

By the Father of Physical Culture
Bernar MacFadden

I am a firm believer in the benefits of the milk diet in cases where it is needed. But it must be milk alone. I do not claim that the diet will not be productive of benefits in some instances when other foods are used, because I have known some cases where a combination of milk and other articles have brought about satisfactory results, although I have known many cases where the results were exactly opposite. I would say, however, if you are going on the milk diet that you should confine your food to milk alone, the only exception being the addition of whatever acid fruits might be essential to assist the stomach in digesting the large quantity of milk that is necessary for one to take under such circumstances.

The quantity of milk that can be consumed when one is on a diet of this kind is almost unbelievable. For instance, if one is below medium size, say ranging from one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five pounds, he ought to drink from four to six quarts of milk a day. If his weight ranges from one hundred and twenty-five to one hundred and fifty pounds, then the quantity ought to range from six to eight quarts a day. If the weight is between one hundred and fifty and one hundred and seventy-five pounds, then the quantity should range from eight to ten quarts a day. And if the weight ranges from one hundred and seventy-five to two hundred pounds, then ten to eleven quarts a day can be assimilated. Now two quarts of milk, for instance, is two and one-half gallons, and when you think of consuming that much liquid food in a day no doubt it is somewhat startling to the average individual, and many would maintain that it would practically be an impossible gastronomic feat. However, no special difficulty is realized in taking this quantity of milk by large men who are able to pursue the milk diet satisfactorily.

In some few instances I have found that the milk diet will not apparently be beneficial, but the average man will run over one or two per cent. Merely because you have found that milk does not agree with you, when taken with your ordinary meals, you must not for one moment feel that it will not be a satisfactory food when taken in accordance with scientific instructions.

FORD'S WAYSIDE INN A PICTURE OF REAL PROGRESS

Manufacturer Crams Many Years of Knowledge into Two Scenes.

WORLDWORTH, Mass., Nov. 13.—The tale of the Wayside Inn, as strange and interesting as Henry Wadsworth Longfellow ever penned, is being pictured by Henry Ford.

The Detroit manufacturer's New England representative, C. E. Allison, disclosed it in an address to the Rotary Club here Friday.

Restores Old Kitchen.

He revealed that Ford has purchased the Hager homestead, a Marlborough landmark, and that Ford was also restoring the old colonial kitchen in the Wayside Inn, which he recently purchased. Adjoining will be a modern electrical kitchen.

On the broad green acres outside oxen will draw the plough. And on adjoining acres Ford's tractors will wend their way before the furrows.

So next year, "Mr. Young Businessman" will tune up the family fiver and drive down to the famous landmarks. His kiddies will watch the oxen and they'll watch the tractors. Then they'll eat in the colonial kitchen and later eat food cooked on modern electric stoves.

Short Cut to Knowledge.

Young Businessman's son or daughter will go back to school with a batch of knowledge on progress that, teaching from books couldn't have conveyed in a year.

Campaign of the first presidential election in this country was conducted within an area of 200 miles wide, along the coast from Boston to Savannah, and enlisted the interest of a population of perhaps less than 1,000,000.

JUST TWO BOYS AND HOW THEY WERE CARED FOR

A Little Story About a Man Who Returned From War.

Also What Is Being Done to Care for the Children of Unfortunates Today.

That's all. Just two boys. Not different from most boys—plump, rosy little fellows, aged two and four respectively—manly, sturdy roustabouts, the like of which we pass daily on the city streets without a thought.

But these two boys were different. For they were at this moment being taken away from their mother. The matron of the American Legion Children's Billet was there, trying, at the same time, to reassure the weeping mother, and to make friendly overtures to the rather shy little boys.

But what is it all about? It is only another one of those tragic stories of suffering which are going on all about us and which we are too busy or too selfish to notice. This was but another one of the reasons why the American Legion of Michigan has established a Children's Billet—a veritable haven of refuge for the widows and orphans of the World War. These little fellows, whom we will call Teddy and Eddy, are the sons of a soldier who was wounded on the western front, but like many others, was pronounced cured when discharged from the service.

Father Goes Insane.

This husband and father resumed life's work and all went well, while little ones were added to his family, until suddenly the healed wound in his head again began to trouble him, and soon he became violently insane and was committed to an asylum. The little mother now took up the burden of caring for her family, by working out through the day and returning to her household in the evening. By dint of strict economy she got along very well while weary months passed until the joyful news was received that her husband was to be released—that he was again well. But as though the cup of her sorrow was not yet filled, the excitement incident to the return home of the stricken man rendered him again violent, and it was only the intervention of neighbors that prevented him from taking the lives of his loved ones. This last blow was more than the over-taxed woman could stand and she yielded her little ones to the kind care of her husband's buddies at the Children's Billet. Of course, they would have been glad to have taken the mother along with her little ones, but because of lack of funds and room (the same old story), the mother was left standing desolate on the walk, while the taxi, bearing all that was dear to her in life, rolled away. Turning to the woman, after the taxi had disappeared down the street, we found her, crumpled like a wilted flower, in a dead faint on the walk, and our last glimpse was of kind neighbors leading her into her cheerless home.

Yes, these were but two boys, but back of their lives is a story of suffering, which need not be, if all the kind-hearted and generously inclined people of the country would stop to consider. The heavy burdens which are crushing the life out of this poor woman might be lifted if each one would assist, even a little. It would go far toward healing the wounds that are now sapping the lives of our citizens.

Be glad that Teddy and Eddy are happy within the spacious confines of the American Legion Children's Billet, but make it possible by your gifts that the mother can there join her little ones.

It is absorbed by the scalp, therefore the hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it. Not sticky or smelly.

Farmers Spend as Wisely as Do the Industrial Worker

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Economists of the Department of Agriculture have completed a study of the average annual expenditures of a farmer's family in Livingston county, N. Y., and finds the amount to be $2,012. The purpose of the study, which will be extended to various parts of the country, is to determine whether the farmers get adequate returns in comfort, health and enjoyment from their expenditures as compared with the industrial family.

Livingston county was selected as a general farming community of average prosperity. The most striking feature of the study, the department said, was the almost complete similarity found in items of expenditures of the two classes.

About one-third of the farm expenditures was figured on items not involving direct purchase—food produced on the farm and unpaid labor. Or the total, the expenditure for food was 39.5 per cent, clothing, 13 per cent; education, recreation and church and social activities, 16 per cent.

Automobiles were owned by 75.6 per cent of the families and the cost of their operation and repair, classed under expenditures for "advancement," was $65 a year.

That each plant was marked by God with some sign to indicate the special use for which it was intended, led to the belief, years ago, that the viper's fangs, with seeds shaped like a serpent's head, would cure snake bites.

ESCANABA ON EDGE OF AN ECLIPSE

Entire Northern Michigan Obscured in Totality Sun Eclipse.

Escanaba will be on the edge of the next important eclipse of the sun. Joel Stebbins, director of Washburn Observatory, states that the next eclipse important enough to attract world-wide observation by astronomers will follow a path of totality through part of Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

A straight line drawn from Egg Harbor, Door county, to Superior, will be in the pathway of total eclipse. This line will run through or adjacent to Escanaba, Marinette, Grandon, Tomahawk Lake, Lac du Flambeau and Giddens.

But the observer will have to get up early. The sun will rise almost totally obscured only a thin crescent will be visible. Darkness will fall almost immediately because the disk of the moon will come completely between the sun and the earth just after sunrise.

In New England and New York the sun will be higher above the horizon when the eclipse begins, and on this account scientific observations will be made in that part of the country, rather than farther west.

Florida, where a total eclipse may be seen in 1970. Prof. Stebbins does not believe that much of scientific value was obtained by airplane observers who soared above the clouds of Catalina and other Pacific coast points on Sept. 10 to glimpse the phenomenon not visible to watchers on the earth.

'Down to Brass Tacks' will be the subject of a Chamber of Commerce Forum dinner to be held Thursday night at 6:15 in the Knights of Pythias hall.

Proctor Addresses High School Students

The delegation from Illinois asked that just the plain citizen, Abraham Lincoln, be named. Immediately there arose some apprehension as to the advisability of choosing a man who never had held a county, state or national office.

Took Greeley's Advice. In discussing the activity of Horace Greeley, then editor of the New York Tribune and acclaimed the greatest philosopher of his day, Mr. Proctor said Greeley claimed that if Seward was nominated the election would be lost.

"Find a man upon which this convention can unite upon and then elect him," was the journalist's advice, Proctor said.

"The wise man of the east saw that Lincoln had a 'something which none of the other delegates had discovered," the aged speaker asserted, "but he had no experience in political affairs and it was doubtful if he could be elected."

The tide of the nomination turned at a psychological moment when thirty Kentuckians and their spokesmen, men of Scotch-Irish stock, came to Proctor and his five colleagues and laid their plans on the table.

Seward Gave Support. "The south is preparing for war," their spokesman said to the sextet of delegates, "Nominate and elect Lincoln, president and Kentucky and other states will back him and will carry the fight to the south where it belongs."

and William H. Seward, who had loomed as the next presidential candidate, then resolved himself to support Lincoln. For four months he travelled over the United States lecturing to crowds and speaking to smaller groups, urging nomination of the north in the election of Lincoln.

"The moment the 'rail splitter' was elected, the south started to prepare for war. The nearest approach to collapse of the Union was during the four months from the time the Springfield man was elected president until his inauguration, March 4, of the following year," Proctor declared.

"In leaving Springfield for Washington for the inauguration the president-elect said to a group of friends: 'Washington never could have succeeded without Divine Providence. Pray for me for that same guidance.'"

Parting of the Ways. "The inauguration," Mr. Proctor said, "was the parting of the ways, in Lincoln's inaugural address he declared that the country can not continue half slave, and half free. "When the flag over Fort Sumpter fell, the feeling of indifference in the north melted away," Proctor continued.

Governor Frank Blair and the Michigan delegation, from the start to the finish of the convention stayed with Seward, but before the governor left Chicago to return home he ordered stations in various titles and towns that his special train be stopped at and he started the Michigan campaign for "Lincoln for President."

Tells of Assassination. The speaker closed his address by reviewing the circumstances leading to the assassination of the president by Edwin Wilkes Booth, and the homage that a grief-stricken and sorrowing nation paid its martyred leader "who was dying when his judgment was needed to pilot the Ship of State out of the sea of war into the harbor of peace again."

Good-Will

SHAKESPEARE appraised good-will at its true value when he said:

"Who steal my purse steals trash; 'tis something, nothing; 'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands; But he that filches from me my good name Robs me of that which not enriches him And makes me poor indeed."

It is good-will that has made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) great.

Good-will is prized more highly by the Management of this Company than any other factor or element in the business.

Good-will is born of confidence.

Confidence is the inevitable result of ability to serve—proved over long periods of time.

In short, good-will is the child of Service.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) long ago became convinced that when service is rendered to the public, profits follow—as surely as night follows day.

The more whole-souled, the more energetic, the more enthusiastic the service, the greater the profits.

Service is interpreted in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to mean something more than the perfunctory delivery of petroleum products.

It means going to any lengths to get Standard Oil products to the consumer, wherever he may be, in such quantities as may be desired—whether in thousand gallon lots or five gallon lots.

It means the highest standard of quality in manufacture and the maintenance of this standard at all times.

It means exerting every atom of facilities at the Company's command, to discover and develop new products from crude petroleum that will add to the comforts and refinements of life.

It is this enthusiastic spirit of intensive service—plus the every day practice of the principles of equity, fairness and justice—manifest at every point of contact between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the public—that has gained for this Company the good-will, respect and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

SUMMARY SHOWS AUSTRIAN FINANCES GROWING HEALTHY

VIENNA, Nov. 12.—In a report issued in Vienna, Dr. Zimmerman sums up the following features as evidence of satisfactory progress towards the restoration of Austria's finances:

The deficit of the budget has been reduced 750 billion kronen in six months; the nation's savings have been increased from 22 to 100 billions in the past twelve months; the controller has been required to advance 500 billions less for the half year than the funds in hand allowed of; unemployment has decreased 51 per cent. compared with February.

The report goes on to say: "The credit of the country has been fully restored, the kronen has been stabilized, foreign capital is flowing in and Austrian capital stored abroad is returning, the circulation is covered to the extent of 50 per cent by gold reserves of the National Bank and production is increasing."

TOURIST TRAVEL IN BERLIN SMALLEST IN MANY YEARS

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Berlin attracted only 38,850 visitors during September, and of these 9,251 were foreigners. America furnished 1,215 of these visitors, but showed a larger number than any other foreign country. Sweden was second with 944. Austria supplied 870 tourists and Russia 859. There were only 112 from France and Belgium together.

These figures are the lowest monthly record which has been reported for several years, and they spell disaster for hotelkeepers. Many of the larger hotels now have entire floors closed up, and hotel employees are finding it difficult to get positions.

The number of visitors to Berlin in August was 112,290, which was a great decline over August of last year. Increased railway fares have undoubtedly done much to discourage Germans from traveling. Trains all seem to be crowded, but the number of trains has been greatly reduced.

PARIS STUDENTS TO GET BEER OR WINE WITH 15-CENT MEAL

PARIS, Nov. 12.—When Paris University students return to their studies for the winter term they will find their club-house has been overhauled and at the bar, a highly popular corner of the establishment, they will be furnished with general meals at the astonishing price of two francs and a half, or somewhere round fifteen cents at the present rate of exchange.

As these meals include wine or beer, it is a mystery how the students' association can supply them at such a modest rate, with the high price of foodstuffs at the present time. The menu will comprise one hors d'oeuvre, meat, a vegetable and dessert or cheese.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES LIKE BELGRADE

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Nov. 12.—No fewer than 40,000 Russians, including a great number of men and women of the best type, are today finding refuge in Belgrade from the rigors of the Soviet regime. They evidently prefer to take their chances of voluntary exile, than risk a return to Russia no matter what fair promises are held out from that country.

It is not unusual to see a Russian who once graced a drawing room doing manual labor in Belgrade and doing it with a will and efficiency.

Gen. Wrangel, the head of the late "White Army," is living at Novi Sad, near Belgrade, and he and his companions are on short rations.

Legion Plans for System of Unified Education in U. S.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—During American Education Week, November 18-24, the American Legion hopes to push its Americanization proposals and direct attention to the need of a national educational program, announces Garland W. Powell, director of Americanization for the Legion, who is in charge of the program for the Legion.

Member posts all over the country report elaborate preparations for the week. Mr. Powell says, Working in co-operation with state, county and city superintendents of instruction, the reports indicate that this, the third annual week sponsored by the Legion, will be the most widely celebrated.

"Heartily response has been given President Coolidge's proclamation setting aside this week for the purpose of bringing before the people the vital need of a unified educational program," Mr. Powell says. "Governors of most of the states have issued follow-up proclamations and, in those states where periods to be set aside by proclamation are limited by statute, the chief executives have written to the Legion offering every endorsement."

"Many foreigners come to America and, in their segregated community life, retain their foreign customs, language and methods of living. A program of education such as we propose is the best means of assimilating these people."

BRITISH SEEK TO PREVENT IMPORTATION OF HOPS

LONDON, Nov. 12.—British hop growers are working busily to prevent the importation of hops. It seems probable that a bill will be introduced to prohibit the importation of hops into the United Kingdom during the next session, and it is reported that the bill would have given compensation of 15,000 men at 45 shillings a week.

FISKE O'HARA AT THE DELFT MONDAY, NOV. 19.

The likable Fiske O'Hara will be at the Delft Monday, Nov. 19, for his annual engagement, when he will be seen in his latest success "Jack of Hearts." There is only one Fiske O'Hara. He is a distinct personality in the theatre. Other stage stars have had the same combinations and yet have not been able to do that which O'Hara does. He is an actor with no equal. There may be another coming along, but for this undisciplined popularity. Perhaps it is the quality of an intensely human nature. He is not just what the explanation may be. He is a man who is completely unique. The attraction of the great public is not only his talent, but his personality, his wit, his charm, his wit, his charm, his wit, his charm.
