

"MORTIMER, YOU LIE," SHOUTS FORBES

COMMITTEE IS THRILLED BY HIS DENIALS

Turned Down Sawyer's Order for 20 Barrels of Whiskey.

Situation Tense as Forbes Turns to Mortimer and Says, "You Lie"—Denies Everything.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Piecing out details of his denial of the charges against him, former director, Charles R. Forbes of the veterans' bureau, put new thrills into the senate veterans' investigation today by flatly contradicting the testimony of several previous witnesses.

He passed the lie direct to Elias H. Mortimer, of Philadelphia, who had told the investigating committee that under Forbes' administration, confidential information was furnished contractors regarding the proposed hospital sites.

"If Mortimer states that," the former director said, "he states that as a lie." Then he turned to Mortimer who was seated at a table with his council, and exclaimed:

"You are testifying to the committee," said Chairman Reed, "and it is not necessary for you to address other persons."

Refused to Fill Order.

The witness also contradicted directly the testimony of Dr. Charles E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician of President Harding. Attorney Smith, representing Mr. Forbes, read into the record the requisition to the Veterans' Bureau for supplies at the soldiers' home at Dayton, Ohio, made by General Sawyer. It called for:

- 29 barrels of whiskey.
  - 29 barrels of alcohol.
  - 100,000 sheets.
  - 100,000 towels.
  - 50,000 blankets.
  - 100,000 yards of gauze.
  - 100,000 yards of gauze bandage.
- This requisition, Forbes said he refused to fill.
- "Why?" asked the chairman.
- "The quantity was excessive," responded Forbes.

Explains Sawyer Dealings.

Explaining his early dealings with Gen. Sawyer, Col. Forbes said:

"Gen. Sawyer was appointed a coordinator and also chairman of the federal board of hospitalization. I was vice chairman of that board. I understood Gen. Sawyer was to cooperate with the Veterans' bureau. He defined his own duties and exhibited a letter from President Harding giving him jurisdiction over some activities of the bureau. He occupied a suite of offices in the Veterans' bureau. One room was not enough for him."

"What was the function of this federal board of hospitalization?" asked Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts.

"I understood it was to advise with us on hospital facilities for the disabled veterans," said Forbes. "Gen. Sawyer said his letter from the president gave him authority over construction, selection of sites, purchase of supplies and other matters," said Forbes.

Touching on rehabilitation requests of disabled soldiers, Forbes said there were "farmers' helpers" who asked the government for dramatic training and to furnish them with dress suits and plug hats to carry on their profession." When the committee smiled, Forbes added, "These requests are matters of record."

Advocates Change.

Forbes was asked what changes he would advise in administration of the bureau.

"I don't believe it ever will function effectively until there is a change in the system. There must be more than one man in charge. No one man in the world can fill that job."

"You would eliminate political influence then?"

"Yes, sir."

Denies Liquor Drinking.

He denied specifically that he had ever turned a dishonest penny in administration of the bureau's affairs, or that he engaged in "graft, liquor

Mr. Harder Will Have Charge Until Other Arrangements Can Be Made, It Is Stated.

FORD TO APPEAR IN COURT; EXTRA DEPUTIES CALLED

Auto Manufacturer, Son and Chief Aids to Testify in $100,000 Suit.

To prevent the curious from interfering with the regular routine work several extra deputies will be on duty in Judge Arthur Webster's court when Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, testify Tuesday in a $100,000 damage suit in which they are the defendants.

In addition to the two Fords, Arthur Lucking and Ernest G. Liebold will appear. They will give testimony in the case which has been started by Benjamin F. Emory, a witness in the Ford libel suit in 1919, who was injured while coming to the trial by the carelessness, it is alleged of Ford's chauffeur.

Mr. Ford and the others will be in court at 2 o'clock, his attorney said. Precautions are being taken because of the large number of it is believed will swarm to the courtroom to see the two richest men in the world.

Dr. H. W. Hewitt and R. L. Clark testified Monday as to the physical condition of Emory, who claims he was permanently injured. Emory, who was on the stand several days last week, was recalled and questioned as to why he waited six days after his accident before calling for medical treatment.

Under direct questioning by his counsel, Forbes went into detail about the interference "with veterans' bureau affairs by Gen. Sawyer." He charges Sawyer with usurping authority.

"Did Dr. Sawyer's attitude bear upon homeopathic physicians?" asked Col. Eashy-Smith, Forbes' counsel.

"Yes, sir, he had it in his head that physicians were against him because he was a homeopathic practitioner," Forbes replied.

"Sawyer said he was going to see that homeopaths had their rights." "I admit there were imperfections in the bureau under my directorship," said Forbes, "but I do assert I have not consciously been guilty of any wrong doing by act or neglect."

Forbes' statement in part follows:

"Promptly upon learning of the beginning of the sessions, I left a check book in a California hospital and hurried across the continent to tender my services to this committee. I am sure that the committee can well understand my feelings when, upon my appearance before the committee at its first session, I learned the investigation was to take the form of a personal attack upon me and my administration of the office of director of the Veterans' bureau; and I hope that the committee will therefore appreciate my interruptions and protests at that first session."

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—W. E. D. Stokes will not oppose the separation action of his wife, Mrs. Ellen Elwood Stokes, his attorney told the supreme court justice today. Isadore Glainsberg, Stokes' attorney, told the court his client had authorized him to enter into a stipulation concerning the separation decree, but added he would contest the amount of alimony sought and would also fight for the custody of the children.

He told the court in explanation of his client's consent to the separation that Stokes did not desire to live with Mrs. Stokes.

"She would just as soon live with a kangaroo," shouted Samuel Untermeyer.

L. A. F. SIGN NOT ALLOWED BY LAW

Automobiles Must Carry State License Plates; Chief Is Told.

"There is no such thing as a license applied for tag," Charles J. DeLand, secretary of state, has informed John J. Tolson, chief of police.

"Any car operated any time, any where in the state of Michigan without metal license plates is in violation of the law, except in the case of dealers transporting cars," he continues, in a telegram received yesterday.

The chief has had requests from drivers that they be permitted to use "L. A. F." signs on their automobiles until the 1924 plates are received, the secretary having ordered all 1923 plates returned. It had been planned to open the sale of 1924 plates in December.

In order to use the 1924 license plates, the certificate of title to the car to be registered must be presented by the owner to the branch manager to be stamped at the time the application for license is made. There will be no extension of time for 1923 registration and every person who operates a vehicle after midnight, December 31, without a 1924 license does so in violation of law.

The secretary of state asserts that no used car will be "titled" in this state unless the application is approved by the chief of police or sheriff.

To approve such an application, it is necessary that the officer investigate the ownership and ascertain if the engine or serial numbers have been tampered with. If not the certificate of title will be issued to the applicant. In cases where the applicant cannot give satisfactory proof of ownership, state and county officers are ordered to hold the motor vehicle until its ownership is proven.

WALTON AGAIN DENIES BEING KLAN MEMBER

Says He Never Joined and Never Intended to Join.

Klan Ise Again Injected Into Hearings on Impeachment Charges of Governor.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 14.—The Ku Klux Klan issue in the impeachment proceedings against Governor J. C. Walton moved to the fore again today—for the present as a "side issue," in the executive's trial on charges of official misconduct.

Taking occasion last night to deny the purported testimony of a former Klan official that he had subscribed to the oath and paid the initiation fee in the organization, the governor let it be known in a public statement that the matter would probably form an important part of his defense in the trial and at the same time he made public the names of seventy-five members of the lower house of the state legislature whom, he said, had been represented to him as members of the Klan.

Joined in February, 1923.

Governor Walton, who became a member of the Ku Klux Klan on Feb. 13, 1923, according to a deposition taken from W. T. Tilly, Muskogee, former Klan official, by the house committee investigating the impeachment charges, which Tuesday made its report on this angle of its probe.

Tilly, according to M. T. Vernon, Coleta, chairman of the investigating committee, said he received a life membership in the Klan from Atlanta headquarters in return for signing up Walton.

Mystic signs, passwords and other parts of the ritual, sufficient to make Walton a member in good standing for a year, were administered to him, Tilly charged.

Averts $10 Fee Paid.

The $10 membership fee was also collected from the governor, according to the deposition.

Gov. Walton has vigorously denied these charges, which have been flaunted at him several times since he began his fight on the masked organization which resulted in his impeachment by the house and suspension by the senate.

Hopes of the house board of managers to bring the impeachment trial to an abrupt end were thwarted Tuesday by Gov. Walton, who went through into cross-examination of Dr. B. T. Byrum, former bank committee member, a valuable witness for the prosecution.

Defense counsel attempted to show that Byrum had been ousted as a teacher at the University of North Carolina and at Oklahoma university, that he was pro-German in his attitudes during the World war, and one time was knocked down because of an alleged expression of sympathy for Germany.

Home Purchase Told Again.

Byrum spent nearly three hours on the witness stand. He was forced to recount the story of his visit to E. W. Marland, oil operator of Ponca City, and to explain his dealings with Marland, as an emissary for Walton regarding the sale of $30,000 in notes, the money which was said to have been used to purchase the governor's palatial home.

Counsel for Walton refused to divulge their course of action when the prosecution rests its case. No fee was given Tuesday by the house board of managers that charges of Walton involving unwarranted proclamation of martial law, would not be pressed.

R. E. Disney, leading the prosecution, Tuesday night said the case would be completed as quickly as possible in order to hasten the vote on Walton's fate.

DOCTORS BLOCKING CRIPPLED CHILDREN CLINIC PLAN, CLAIM

Marquette Physicians Will Not Assist, if Orthopedic Specialist Is Brought There to Have Charge.

MARQUETTE, Nov. 14.—Unwillingness of Marquette physicians to cooperate, was brought here, was given yesterday as the reason why the Marquette Rotary Club will be unable to hold a clinic this fall for the benefit of crippled children in this county.

The attitude of the physicians was bitterly assailed by Professor L. A. Chase, of the Normal school faculty, who reported to the club, as a member of a special committee, appointed to consult with a committee representing the Marquette Academy of Medicine.

Mr. Chase said he was told by the Academy committee that Marquette physicians would be glad to assist the Rotary Club in a clinic in which Marquette county physicians, only, participated, but that they would not assist in conducting a clinic, if the club brought an outside specialist here to have charge of it.

The Marquette doctors take the position that they are competent to diagnose the cases of crippled children and to recommend treatment, without the assistance of a specialist, said Mr. Chase.

Mr. Chase declared that he knew of several cities in Michigan in which Rotary clubs have successfully conducted crippled children clinics under supervision of orthopedic specialists and that local physicians cooperated, although it is true, he said, that in many places the physicians feared the same objections raised by the Marquette Academy.

"I imagine that we are up against a stone wall, so far as the Marquette doctors are concerned," Mr. Chase stated. "The Marquette Academy of Medicine, as an organization, will not help us, if we want to bring a specialist here. I am not certain that all members of the Academy are individually, have the same attitude, however. It is too late now to hold a clinic this year. The question is whether we want to go ahead, independent of the local doctors, and plan for a clinic next spring."

Club Members Stirred. In the discussion which followed Mr. Chase's report, it was plain that the physicians' attitude rubbed the Rotary Club members the wrong way. The opinion is general that the club should stick to the proposed clinic and carry it out without the assistance of Marquette county doctors, if necessary.

A motion was passed, however, calling for the appointment of four Rotarians to get with the Academy, Dr. A. K. Bennett and Dr. C. P. Fry as a committee of seven to proceed with plans for the clinic and to again take this matter up with the Marquette doctors, individually and collectively, in the hope of securing cooperation.

Some Trouble Elsewhere. Mr. Chase read a letter from his sister, Miss Alberta Chase of Ann Arbor, Rotary club secretary, who stated that Rotary clubs in other Michigan cities, in undertaking the crippled children clinic project, have encountered the same objections from local physicians as has been encountered in Marquette.

Her letter reads: "I will give you a few impressions that have come to those of us who have been dealing with this problem for some years. And remember that I am not giving you simply my own opinion, even though I shall not quote the folks with whom I have talked from time to time during the past two years on this subject. "First of all take it for granted that you will have difficulty with the Academy. I doubt if any Rotary clinic has yet been held without it. Although in some communities it has been less apparent than in others, it has always been there, depending, usually, upon the degree of bias and ignorance of the profession in that town. "You can not expect them to understand that a Rotary clinic is something far and above a medical clinic. We state frankly that the whole problem of the crippled child is primarily an educated one that the clinic is simply to center the interest of the community on that factor and to get the opinion of an expert concerning the necessary hospital treatment."

Need Specialist, Claim. "There is not a man in the Upper Peninsula, to our knowledge, who is capable of diagnosing a lot of these cases—let alone recommending the proper treatment to carry out. We feel perfectly certain from our rather full experience with these children that a general surgeon, even if incapable of handling the highly specialized kind of home joint surgery."

"And you may rest assured that they would not permit a general surgeon in New York to touch any of the children that are under the supervision of the Association for Crippled Children. And a clinic in Marquette should not simply start hospital care for these children, it should give the care of the many that will not have to go to a hospital through the proper instruction that are given in public health nurse and parents and should eventually be the means of starting a school for the crippled child. Or, unless the medical profession in a community could not be expected to do that."

"You are not in a position to consider it as perhaps the getting of the children. We know that no one in Marquette has had any of these children in their homes, and according to our records, they should have had about 100 at this time. In Clinton county, where the Red Cross hospital is, they talk about all of what they would have had in their county, the school systems, reported by crippled children."

The Rotary club has fifty-two children and their records, according to our records of three per 1,000 population, should have had about 300. No one was ever out of the way. Alpena county's record is fifty-five, but they had ninety-four at their first clinic and 142 at their second. In Saginaw county, three different organizations contributed to the preliminary canvass. They registered 125 before the clinic, but with the advertising that Rotary done, gave 37, 225 came to the clinic. And at least fifty of these cases, keep been under the constant supervision of a specially trained public health nurse since then. She has watched them as they came from the hospital and followed their development. Twenty-five of the Alpena cases have already been operated on or had special braces supplied. And forty-five of those coming to the last clinic were new cases. So you can see what a clinic can do, if it is serious about it."

How Alpena Did It. "Mrs. Richardson has been in the office for the past half hour. He has president of the Alpena club when they started this work and will be glad to have you write him about it. He says that it is a great mistake to even try to treat with the medical society before the clinic. They ignored them until two weeks before—after they had the whole thing under way—then they told them they would like their cooperation. This they did not get of course—except for a few of the younger men who were not fossils—and they were so successful and so had the sentiment of the parents back of them that the medical society did not dare to fight them. Do you realize that you are in a very unfair position on that joint committee? You are the only layman among five doctors and of all members of your club who would not see this thing aright, the doctors are the ones. As one of my friends suggests, it might be best for you to let the men there handle it and run it into the ditch, as they will. Only it will be a shame for the kids and it may kill any chance for doing anything next year."

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

FLIKE O'HARA NEXT MONDAY. Flike O'Hara will be with us again at the Delt on Monday, Nov. 19th, when the popular favorite plays his annual visit in "Jack of Hearts." Considered by critics, press and the public his greatest success, "Jack of Hearts" is a comedy of optimism and good cheer. The inquiries that have reached the Delt during a whole month are significant of a widespread and unusual interest in this production. Not in many years has there been such a play of wonderful optimism, a play of sheer hopefulness, the lesson of the great gladness of life. "Jack of Hearts" has not found a single reviewer who has failed to characterize it as an unusual and human play, full of humor, wit and delightful surprises, which nobody can sit through without being the better, the wiser and the cleaner of heart. And that surely is a great thing for a play to accomplish in the way of diversion and without pretachment. Mr. O'Hara's rare tenor of quality and sweetness will be heard in a number of new songs.

WHEN WORK IS PLAY.

There is a lesson for grown-up men and women in that felicity of childhood to make play out of work. Many adults can recall when the "a-bringing home of the cows" was made the occasion for a buffalo stampede and the real wild west and lasso sport of cow punching...

Making play of work is the real secret of happiness. Happiness is never attained through slaving today in the anticipation of being able, financially, to play tomorrow. The man who takes a pleasure in his work makes play of it—enjoying life in its fullness.

Loves of work is possible either in digging ditches or sending firing orders, but good work is only possible from men and women who make play of their work. To the eye and ear it seems paradoxical, but the mind has long conceived that human beings who never play of their work pay less at their work.

KING "VIEWS WITH"

William H. King, Democrat, states the choice of the disintegration of westward. This is the fears returning from is ever the same old story.

Since the senator from Utah is on his international views, he might as well, with the bolsheviks, believe that bolshevism has done little more than but merely as an "internal" of world into a war which will not be interrupted all Europe.

The very recent march of Hitler in Munich is evidence enough of the ability of the German republic to take care of itself as a national unit, and its few municipal and economic assistance. Germany's crying need now is not American intervention but the privilege of re-establishing her industry and commerce unimpeded by international complications and interferences.

No, Senator King, it will require something more than the "interference" of Germany or the "rumormongering" of bolsheviks to get the people of the United States into the quarrels and squabbles of Europe again.

LOCAL TAXES GREATEST BURDEN.

We now find that the plight of the wheat farmers of the Northwest is due as much if not more to the extravagance of local governments as to any other cause. Members of the War Finance Corporation have recently returned from an inspection trip to that section, and report that "The borrowings of state, county, and municipal agencies have been stimulated to such an extent that the aggregate interest, and therefore the aggregate taxes, have increased to a point where they represent a serious burden."

While the National Administration has reduced taxes, and is cutting expenditures preparatory to further reductions, local governments are borrowing more money for projects that could easily wait. What the Federal Government is saving the taxpayers the state and county governments are taking from them.

QUACKS LACK BUSINESS.

With business steadily improving, with industries increasingly active, with agriculture registering substantial gains in practically every section, with economic conditions generally sound and on a stable basis, the hawkers of political and economic nostrums find themselves in a poor market.

When times are bad and dissatisfaction prevails, grotesque novelties and political quack remedies may win acceptance. But when times are good and people are satisfied, such offerings do not appeal. A prosperous and contented nation does not run after strange doctrines. It holds to the things that have made for its prosperity and contentment.

INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION.

The imperial council at London has given approval to the American request for the extension of the three-mile limit to aid in the apprehension of rum runners. It is intimated that there will be no rigid limit fixed at 122 miles, but that British suspected ships may be searched for contraband at even greater distances from the shore. The decision is a great victory for Republican diplomacy.

The man who thinks he is exempt from taxes because the Government does not deal with him directly is silly. The system makes everybody a tax collector and a taxpayer. Nobody but a beggar escapes and somebody has to pay for him. —Houston Post.

Despite all the European complaints against Ellis Island more of them would use it if the United States would let them in.—Detroit Free Press.

Survey Shows Skirt And Blouse Popular With American Girls

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The separate blouse and skirt is the typical costume of the American woman and girl, according to the United Women's Wear League which recently completed a survey of the evolution of American fashions for women.

Fostered by native conditions of living, the shirtwaist has been the favorite costume in this country from the very beginning of the nation's history and now remains strongest in popular favor, the investigators found. While foreign style importations have come and gone, the volume of the blouse and skirt has never waned permanently because American women have found that costume both practical and suited to their type—tall, slim, athletic and active.

Around the dress and gown of French and Italian origin, have held sway and modes of living have declared against the blouse and suit. European designers every season send to this country new fashions "top evening wear but none sends a costume which vies with the blouse for the practical necessities of everyday American life.

Sometimes between the dignity of formal dress and the striving for chic that French mannequins exhibit on fashion parades," according to J. Moscovini, executive chairman of the league, "there is a place for the costume that expresses the independence of the American girl; this girl you see in her station, on the streets, in the shops, the tall, straight, slim, active girl who walks with a swing of her graceful shoulder, and looks about her with a direct, fearless gaze."

It is this type of girl who has clung religiously to the separate blouse in all its manifestations. She knows that she is becoming, that it is a style out of reach of the dainty and the demure, and she has made it her own. Let who will wear the narrow, clinging strapless (she wears them herself in the evening) but she finds the best expression of her personality in the overall, by line, of a modern blouse and skirt. It is her uniform but devoid of all the conventional implications of the word.

That each plant was marked by God with a sign to indicate the speed at which it was intended to grow in the years ago, that the ever-blooming, with seeds shaped like a spearhead, would certainly make bluffs.

Among the things the civilization has done of reversing the clock that has left a garden of such productivity. The children of both sexes are trained to hold their own in the patient number of an early age if their parents are persons of which they are proud.

Letters Mailed 1914 During War Now Awaited, Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—There will soon be delivered in Germany a consignment of letters posted nine years ago in one of the South Sea Islands. Most of the men who wrote these communications are dead, and many of the addresses will be hard to find so much have conditions changed in Germany in the last decade. In view of all the circumstances, stamp collectors are hopeful of getting some interesting specimens.

When the German Pacific cruiser squadron under Admiral von Spee which kept the shipping world guessing for the first four months of the great war, put into Ponape, one of the Caroline Islands, in August of 1914, the sailors filled the local post office with letters to friends and relatives back in the fatherland. Then they sailed away to what was ultimately their last fight; they went down before the English off the Falkland Islands in December.

The letters never left Ponape. The Japanese had held them ultimately, and not long ago turned them over to the German postal authorities. Each communication bears a special stamp reading, "Mail of the Pacific cruiser squadron of August 1914."

ODD SIZED CARDS AND ENVELOPES CAUSE TROUBLE IN POSTOFFICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The post-office department has requested a campaign against the use of small and odd-sized holiday postcards. Postmasters have been urged to seek cooperation of manufacturers, dealers and the public generally in eliminating the objectionable specimens.

These cards will not pass through the canceling machines, and they cause much annoyance to postal employees during the busiest season of the year. The department estimates that only one envelope smaller than the standard three-quarters by four inches is used.

Serbian Poet Praised Competent Reporter

PRAGUE, Nov. 14.—A competent Serbian poet has written a fine eulogy on the excellent reporter, Philip Maynard, in honor of his report on the progress of events in Bulgaria during the recent Bulgarian attack.

While the official organs of the foreign office here may perhaps say much in disparagement of the news which was so accurately reported by the author, his report is a credit to the profession of the reporter.

WOLVES HAVE BECOME SERIOUS MENACE IN MISSOURI

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Wolves are making a menace in many sections of Missouri this year that they have never had in the last 25 years and the state and federal governments have combined to exterminate them. The troublemaker says they began to appear in 1915, but their numbers increased by the year. A biological survey of the Department of Agriculture is being conducted to help the state and federal governments.

126,000 Miles of Cloth for Cement Sacks. To keep cement moving from the mills to the many building jobs always under way, cement manufacturers require an astonishing quantity of sacks. This year the industry has considerably more than 225,000,000 sacks. These represent enough cotton cloth to make a skirt for every woman and girl in the United States—126,000 miles of 30-inch fabric.

Appearance Depends on Number of Things. Every man's appearance generally is just what he allows his tailor to make it. The selection of some fashionable, yet becoming pattern and the artistic draping to each individual form plus expert tailoring to put these combinations together—makes a man's appearance. W. D. HUGHES WAS SLIGHTLY BETTER THIS AFTERNOON

Former Well Known Railroad Man and now Farmer Seriously Hurt in Run-away Yesterday.

It was reported from the Laing hospital this afternoon that W. D. Hughes, of Fayette, who was seriously injured yesterday, when the team he was driving, ran away, is doing as well as could be expected, when his age and the nature of his injuries are taken into consideration.

He was brought to Escanaba last evening suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg below the knee and bruises about the head and body. He was conscious when brought to the hospital and showed a great deal of pure grit in making the long trip to the city when he was suffering from so many serious injuries.

According to reports he was driving a team hitched to a big load of wood. They became unmanageable and Mr. Hughes was thrown to the ground where the loaded wagon passed over his leg and part of his body. The long trip to Escanaba was the cause of many hemorrhages from the broken leg, from which the bones protruded, and it was thought at first there would be little hope for his recovery, but today his condition is most encouraging and his many friends hope there will be nothing to retard his recovery, which it is stated at the hospital will take many months.

Haynes Says Lincoln Was Total Abstainer

HARROGATE, Tenn. — Abraham Lincoln placed slavery and liquor "in much the same category," Prohibition Commissioner Haynes declared in an address at Lincoln Memorial university here.

"Lincoln was a temperance advocate and a total abstainer at a period in the history of the country when it required great courage to take such a stand," Haynes said.

Haynes said that Lincoln's example in signing a pledge of total abstinence would mean much for the cause of prohibition if followed today. The Illinois prohibition act which Lincoln drafted in 1835, but which failed, was "a wonderfully perfect piece of legal mechanism," Haynes said.

CARDS, ENVELOPES MUST BE UNIFORM

Postmaster Urges Disuse of Small Sizes; Cause Much Trouble.

In order to stop the practice of mailing small cards and envelopes, particularly during the holiday season, Postmaster Semer urges that all cards and envelopes be at least two and three-quarters inches wide and four inches long. Cards larger than that would be even more preferable.

Cards and envelopes smaller than those generally used for mailing purposes retard and disarrange the work in postoffices, particularly during the holidays, when postal facilities are taxed to the utmost.

Small cards and envelopes cannot be run through the cancelling machines, which necessitates cancelling the stamps by hand and other extra handling and in the course of their forwarding and distribution. The addresses are likely to be obliterated by the cancelling mark. Small cards and envelopes do not fit in the separating cases in use throughout the postal service and cannot be tied securely with letter packages. There is not sufficient space for forwarding addresses.

The local postal employees also call attention to the use of substantial wrappers and envelopes as mail is handled often and frequently subjected to pressure and friction in mail bags and sometimes delivered from moving trains and, if not enclosed in strong wrappers and envelopes, it may be damaged.

Practical Joker Shot in Lung With Rifle

BLOOMINGTON, Wis. — Ralph Bohlinger, a farmer, is lying in a hospital in Prairie du Chien with a rifle ball through his left shoulder blade and lung as the result of a practical joke. He and his brother, Earl, hid in a cornfield with chickens, made the birds squawk when the two hired men, Whelan and Reedy, returned to the farm after marketing hogs. Whelan fired a shot in the direction of the squawking. The bullet struck Ralph in the left shoulder blade, penetrating the lung. Physicians say he will recover if no complications set in.

The wedding ring of plain gold, which is a survival of Saxon times, has outlived several attempts at change of fashion. For instance, at the marriage of Queen Mary of England to Philip of Spain, the English statesman debated the question of the ring, and wished to have it jeweled, but Mary herself intervened by declaring that she would not have it set with gems, for she chose to be wedded with a plain hoop of gold like other maidens.

Not Made to Measure But Tailored To Fit We do not make suits to measure so much as we tailor them to fit. While it is necessary to use a tape line for various measurements, we do not follow this except in first cutting. Those "try on" is where the real tailoring art comes in—rounding out lines and putting in the curves to fit each line of the body. Fall fabrics are ready—to order your suit in advance means no delay. Will Chiropractic Cure Tuberculosis, Bronchitis, Asthma, and other Diseases of the Organs of Breathing? We never realize the importance of our organs of breathing until little by little we find our life sustaining breath cut off by a lung of bronchial disease. First the condition may start as acute bronchitis, cold in the lungs, "flu," or pneumonia which if not corrected in time will develop into chronic bronchitis, tuberculosis, asthma or some other chronic or bronchial trouble. The old theory of tuberculosis being caused by germs has long since been exploded. The germ does not cause the disease any more than the buzzard causes the cow to die on the desert. Nor does the germ eat healthy tissue any more than the buzzard would eat a living cow. They are both scavengers and thrive only where there is proper food to eat. Just as there are buzzards circling the heavens daily over herds of living cattle without menace to the animals, there are hundreds of every variety of germs in the mouth of the healthiest person in this city which are of no more menace to the individual than the buzzards are to the living cattle. Then, you ask, "What is the cause of tuberculosis?" The miliary gets its name from the germ that happens to thrive upon decaying lung tissue—the tubercular bacillus. The decaying of the lung is an EFFECT, one of which there must needs be a CAUSE. And this cause is the impingement of the nutritive function of the lungs by an impingement of the nutritive nerve. Deny food or nutrition to the body and see what will happen. Its little body will waste away. Retard the nutritive supply to the lungs or the arm or to any other part of the body and see what will happen. If the germ caused tuberculosis, or any other disease, this world would be depopulated within a year. This miliary is merely the manifestation of a certain degree of impingement of a certain class of nerves that ramify the lungs shutting off a certain degree of the life or nerve force from the lungs. Other degrees of impingement of certain classes of nerves supplying the lungs would result in pneumonia, susceptibility to colds and other lung incursions. ASTHMA is the manifestation of a certain degree of impingement of nerves leading to the bronchial tubes. The functions involved are motor and calorific. Interference with the motor nerves causes a spasmodic contraction of the muscular coat surrounding the smaller bronchial tubes, associated with a contraction of the largest muscle of breathing—the diaphragm. Interference with the calorific nerves causes the inflammation and swelling of the membranes of the bronchial tubes decreasing the size of the openings, which also tends to obstruct the air passages. There is often considerable exudate and some coughing resulting from this inflammation. Medical science has acknowledged its absolute failure to cure asthma. In fact there is only one known thing that will remove this disease and that is CHIROPRACTIC. SIGNED: Anderson, Mileski, Boelke, Chiropractors TRY CHIROPRACTIC FIRST—NOT LAST!

It's More Costly To Neglect Eyes Than Business The busy man has not time to be worried with poor sight.
