WALTON IS INDICTED ON SEVEN COUNTS

GIVES BONDS OF $6,700 FOR HIS APPEARANCE; IS READY TO FIGHT

Two Others Are Indicted on Five Counts Today.

Health Commissioner and Chauffeur Are Charged With Diversion of Funds of Public.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 23.—J. C. Walton, removed on Monday as governor, was indicted today by the Oklahoma county grand jury on seven counts, charging diversion of public funds; intimidating an officer, and preventing the assembling of the lower house of the state legislature.

Dr. E. A. Davenport, state health commissioner, and T. P. Edwards, former chauffeur to the deposed governor, were indicted on five counts each, charging diversion of public funds. Walton gave bonds of $6,700 on seven charges.

Gov. Trapp made his first public address since becoming executive last night when he told a group of business men at a banquet that "the affairs of Oklahoma will be so conducted in the future that it will not only be safe but attractive for all the legitimate enterprises and industries to operate here."

"We have no cause for war," the governor asserted. "There has been no necessity for martial law. The laws of the state are fully adequate for the protection of industry, and I want to assure you of this one thing. Even if the rock-bound state of Iowa elected Brookhart an election upheaval does not mean that the masses want to destroy industry."

Klan Wins Vote.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 23.—The state senate today in what is regarded the first test of strength of the Ku Klux Klan element and those opposing the organization rejected an amendment to the Klan bill under consideration, which would have provided for the filing with county officers semi-annually a list of officers and members of all secret orders. The vote was 13 to 22.

The Oklahoma senate yesterday began consideration of the anti-Ku Klux Klan measure but the day ended without an agreement being reached on one section of the bill which the senate hopes to present to the lower house.

With several anti-klan bills before the upper house and virtually every senator with an idea as to necessary provisions for such an act, the senate decided to dissect its committee substitute measure, and by incorporating features of various other bills, hopes to evolve a measure which will unmask the Klan and make public its membership lists.

A plea for a measure "with teeth, not mush and milk," found many ardent supporters.

"Unless some act is passed really unmasking the Klan, there will be the greatest political battle within the next three years that Oklahoma has ever known," declared Senator Tom Anglin, of Holdenville, president pro-tem and author of one of the measures.

The prediction that civil war would come in Oklahoma if the Klan is not unmasked was made by Senator Frye, of Sallisaw, who declared he had been informed persons in southeastern Oklahoma "already are organizing and waiting to see what this legislature does."

Many senators arrayed against the proposed measure and declared that while they favored anti-klan legislation, they were opposed to public membership rolls for secret organizations.

An impeachment bill, charging Chas. H. Ruth, supreme court commissioner, with trafficking in executive clemency, was presented yesterday.

Members of the lower house killed a resolution asking the expulsion of Representative Guy Stiger, of Carter county, after members of an investigating committee disclaimed responsibility for the measure. It was indicated that a substitute resolution soon would be presented.

Democracy to Win, Says This Woman

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 23.—The political pendulum will swing to the Democratic party in the coming election, predicted Mrs. Denton McMillen, a famous Democratic committee woman from Tennessee, in the opening address of the first session of the third regional conference of the Democratic women here today.

ORE SEASON WAS BROUGHT TO AN END LAST NIGHT

Steamer Crete Takes Last Load from the Local Docks.

Less Than Six Million Tons Were Shipped From All Local Docks, Report Shows.

With the departure of the steamer Crete from the Chicago & Northwestern ore docks early last evening the ore shipping season was brought to an end and it will be many weeks and months before the welcome whistle of the big freighters echoes over the bay.

The season closed at the St. Paul docks a few days ago with a total shipment of 1,817,890 tons compared with 1,535,909 in 1922. The shipments from the Northwestern docks totaled 2,724,168 this year against 2,627,832 in 1922. Thus the total shipments from all the ore docks for this season was 5,667,348 tons, or about what ought to pass over the Northwestern docks alone.

Plans will now be in order to do more or less repair work on all the docks and while this will not necessitate a great deal of labor, it gives employment to quite a few of the regular dock men during the winter.

JUDGE BLASTS MISS JAEGER'S HOPE FOR BALM

Judge Dingeman of Detroit, Orders Non-Suit Judgment.

End of Litigation Is Thought to Have Been Reached in Crystal Falls Court.

CRYSTAL FALLS, Mich., Nov. 23.—Judge Dingeman of Detroit, sitting in the Iron county circuit court, issued an order Wednesday for the judgment of nonsuit with costs against Miss Geraldine Jaeger, who sued Michael H. Moriarty, former state senator, for $75,000 for breach of promise.

Miss Jaeger's attorneys on Monday announced their withdrawal from the case and the judge ordered the young woman to appear not later than Wednesday with new attorneys. She failed to appear when court opened, Wednesday, and an hour later the judge issued the order for a nonsuit judgment.

End of Case, Belief.

It is believed generally the nonsuit granted by Judge Dingeman will close the case.

Reports that Miss Jaeger had withdrawn counsel and would be ready to proceed with the trial are believed to have been unfounded.

A report early Wednesday that Miss Jaeger had secured new counsel caused almost as great a ripple of excitement as did the announcement Monday, at the opening of court, that the attorneys who had prepared all the pleadings in the case since it was instituted last June had decided to withdraw.

Friends of Senator Moriarty, who had volunteered to serve him with out fee, should be requisite their services, say that the former politician has estimated that his gifts to Miss Jaeger in the past three years have totaled at least $14,000, most of it in cash and given on written or telegraphic request from her.

Much of the time since Senator Moriarty and Miss Jaeger first met, the young woman is said to have spent in Chicago, from which place most of her telegraphic appeals for more money were sent.

Tells Reichstag They Have to Be With Him Whole Heartedly or Not At All.

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—Balloting in the motion for a vote of confidence introduced in the Reichstag by the three government parties was postponed on 10:30 this evening.

The chancellors' demand for a clean cut vote of confidence threw the parliamentary situation into confusion and revived the possibility of a military dictatorship, headed by General Von Seeckt.

Demands the Vote.

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—An unequivocal vote of confidence was demanded of the Reichstag today by Chancellor Stresemann, who informed the legislature that he did not propose to retain office on the strength of the indirect approval accorded him in the filing of independent "no confidence" resolutions by the socialists and German nationalists.

And, he pointed out, neither of these will be able under the present situation to command the majority necessary to unseat him. The chancellor then said he would not remain in office another day unless given a clearly defined vote of confidence.

The three government parties of the Reichstag immediately introduced a motion to this effect.

DID NOT ASK FOR OR WANT A SEPARATION

Chicago Paper Publishes New Version of Affair.

Former Governor Says Wife Had Papers Drawn Up Without Him Seeing Them; He Signed.

The following story was published this morning in The Chicago-American and is by a correspondent of the Cosmopolitan News Service:

DETROIT—Protosing his deep and undying love for his wife, Chase E. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, stated today that it was she who had forced a separation upon him, asking him to sign legal papers making their separation by "mutual wish."

"I love my wife," Mr. Osborn said with emotion in his vibrant voice. "I have always loved her and always will. It is a chronic disease, I guess, that will never leave me. I fell head over heels in love with her as a young lad and the love has lasted throughout my life."

The state's famous son, known far and wide as the "Iron Hunter," globe trotter, geologist, historian and statesman, came into town today for a few days' stay. He will attend the banquet given tomorrow night by the engineering alumni of the University of Michigan in honor of his old friend and camping pal, Dean Mortimer E. Cooley.

"This separation is not by my wish," Mr. Osborn continued. "I would rather not discuss it, but if it must be public I am a good enough sport to meet the wish of the newspapers to know the truth."

Not Mutual, He Claims.

"My wife had the separation papers drawn up without my seeing them. When they came to me there was a clause stipulating that our separation was by mutual consent." "See here," I said to her, "this is not by mutual consent. I don't wish it. If you insist upon it I will agree. Your wish has always been my object in our married life and I won't deny it now."

The Osborn separation is the breaking of ties between a man who styles himself a "barbarian," a lover of the wild, a seeker of adventure, and a woman, delicate, sensitive, injured to deprivation and crudity through love for her husband.

It is the forking of a long road which both have trod to the ends of the earth. Both are going down the hill of life, as Mr. Osborn says. He still craves to "rough it," to get close to nature. She yearns to spend her remaining years placid, content in the luxuries of civilization.

Go to Georgia Camp.

Following a visit with friends he will go to Poulton, Georgia, to winter in his camp—one of those camps from which Mrs. Osborn fled to the luxuries and amenities of a more civilized mode of living.

"There is scarcely a country in the world we haven't visited together," the former governor said musingly. Behind his keen brown eyes lurked the thrilling memories of days in the wilderness and nights in the jungles, torturing hours in storm and half-breath escapes from death.

"I do not think Mrs. Osborn knows fear. If she has ever felt fear she has never shown it to me. We have been places where other women would have quailed or died in terror. Not she. She is a wonderful woman."

Once Taken by Bandits.

"I remember once when we were in the wilds of China, the part interested by bandits and robbers. I was out searching for minerals, and while absent Mrs. Osborn was kidnapped by Chinese bandits. When I finally found her she was surrounded by a murderous group of savages."

"Some of them were touching her face, her clothes, her hair, curious to see what manner of woman she was. Did she cry or faint? Not she! When she saw me, she raised a . . . and shook it at me. 'Don't you run away again and let me be taken by bandits,' she cried at me. She was mad clear through, but I was afraid."

TRAGIC DEATH OF DULUTH MAN WAS "ACCIDENT"

Several Theories, Any of Which Might Be Fact Have Been Advanced by the Police.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The verdict of Dr. L. A. Sakeroth, deputy coroner, and of the jury, following the shooting of Walter C. Harris, aged 39, father of the American Exchange National bank, who was killed at his home, 1120 1/2 East Second street, at 8:15 Wednesday night, when it is said, his 24-year-old daughter, Jane, pulled the trigger of a .360 Winchester rifle he was cleaning in the kitchen, the bullet entering his right breast. This is the theory advanced by the deputy coroner and the police. He died almost instantly.

Was Cleaning Gun

From the condition of the front sight of the gun, police believe that Mr. Harris was polishing the brass sight, holding the gun towards him, believing it unloaded. It was possible, they said, that one of the children either jumped against the rifle, which was resting on the floor, or else touched the trigger. The bullet entered the breast, coming out of the back about six inches above the point of entry, and lodged in the upper part of the wall where it rains the ceiling.

In Sakeroth's case as to his theory of the affair, that the condition of the shells, showing they had been in the gun for some time, is evidence they had never been removed since it was last used a year ago. This fact, he believes, caused Mrs. Harris to think when he began cleaning the shells, that the gun was loaded.

Believing this to be a natural death, that he would have the barrel pointing somewhat toward him, while sweeping at the front sight. Whether one of the children accidentally pulled the trigger, or whether the hammer was pulled, is not clear, but not coming on safety and in having it while cleaning the rifle it was fatal, causing it to explode. Dr. Sakeroth said he could give no explanation as to why the rifle exploded, but he said he also affirmed that either way might be the explanation.

Mrs. Harris' Statement

Mrs. Harris, although almost prostrate with grief, was able to aid the investigation by reciting the events that led up to the fatal accident. She said that after the evening meal Mr. Harris took his rifle and went into the kitchen to clean it with steel wool. Their two children, Jane, 24, and Elizabeth, aged 12, played around in the kitchen and dining room. She called to the children to leave the kitchen because she was about to have them around where their father was cleaning a gun.

A little later the children went into the kitchen again. She heard them say something to the youngest child, the boy, and she saw him immediately. "Oh, my God!" she said, she could run to the kitchen, the children ran to her crying, "Daddy shot." She screamed and fell, she called Dr. Sakeroth.

To Go Shooting Sunday

Police later found the steel wool Mrs. Harris said her husband was using to clean the gun. Frank, the deputy clerk of district court, an old friend of Mr. Harris, said that he had planned to visit the rifle range Sunday to foot their gun, which they had used since last fall. They had been going on hunting trips for many years, but had not made a trip this year. He said he was the one Mr. Harris had not used in cleaning his rifle since a trip a year ago.

Filthiest Distillery Found in Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Nov. 22.—Anton Anzely, Slav, was convicted on a charge of making moonshine and fined $100. He was unable to pay the fine and was sentenced to 120 days at the county workhouse. The collection of mash and the manufacturing apparatus taken in the raid was said by police to have ranked with the filthiest that has ever been confiscated in a raid in Sheboygan county. Anton wears large rings in his ears, his hair trails down his neck. With a haggard face, wild eyes and treacherous-looking man appeared in municipal court to answer the charges brought against him. Through an interpreter he admitted his guilt. Police searched him and found a steel pocket pistol, designed to give the appearance of a jack-knife.

BERNARR MACFADDEN

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

Regarding the treatment of constipation. Cathartics of all kinds, especially when mineral, should be avoided. All drugs are harmful; they lessen one's vital efficiency, they dry up the glands that furnish the digestive juices and in many ways they spell disaster to the physical organism. It is utter folly to take drugs to cure a complaint of this nature when there are various other methods of relief far more pleasing, and far more satisfactory in their results. For instance, there is what is termed the internal bath, the cleansing of the colon, the large lower bowel, with a quantity of water. As a means of temporarily remedying constipation, this particular method can hardly be improved upon. It can be most highly recommended where one is suffering from a sudden attack of an acute disease of any kind. This lower bowel might be termed the principal sewer of the body. Many poisons may be eliminated from the body in this manner. Many attacks of acute ailments can be almost immediately relieved by this one remedy. Many claim that the continued use of enemas entirely destroys the natural functions of the bowels, and where it is used at too frequent intervals and continued for a great length of time, there may be some truth in these statements. There is, however, no need of cleansing the bowels in this manner except when you actually have need for the relief. Very often the injection of a pint or a quart of water will be sufficient to bring about a satisfactory activity of these parts, though where an acute disease is being treated and there are symptoms that are at all serious in nature, it is well to use all the water the patient can retain for a few minutes, for under such circumstances the bowels are thoroughly cleansed and the process of eliminating poisons is continued much more actively.

I believe, however, that one should not depend altogether upon this means of cleansing the body. One should adapt his diet and exercises, that the alimentary canal will perform its duties in every way, without artificial assistance. The sufferer should avoid concentrated foods. Highly seasoned dishes that require complicated preparation had better be shunned entirely.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and laggard. When you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous wastes, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scale and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with wheat and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

THE LADIES OF THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH will hold their annual supper and fancy work sale Tuesday evening, Nov. 27th, at the Old Fellows' Hall, North 10th street. The public is cordially invited.

Co-operative Scheme Strikes Profiteers in Food in Germany

(By the Associated Press)
FRANKFURT-ON-THE-ODER, Nov. 22.—The profiteering and hoarding done in foodstuffs has been dealt a hard blow by the co-operative efforts of a committee representing city and labor officials and a committee of the Landbund, or farmer organization. Under the new plan, certain quantities of potatoes, etc., are delivered weekly at fixed prices and distributed through municipal authorities.

The result has been that the city workers and farmers have eliminated the middleman; retail price of potatoes and meat to consumers have been reduced nearly 50 per cent and the farmers are receiving better prices than before. Another advantage is that the supply of potatoes and meat is made certain.

Professor Gangel and other economists are a strong extension of the plan to other municipalities.

"Bull Funeral" Planned in Upper Peninsula

MARQUETTE—A mammoth "bull funeral" scheduled to occur in each county throughout the upper peninsula is probably the outstanding feature of the peninsula department bureau's better livestock campaign for 1924. The final details of the plan, whereby the bureau will distribute $1,000 in prizes to various livestock associations of the counties at the end of 1924, were discussed during the recent county agents' conference at Marquette, and definite rules governing the contest were drawn up.

The plan involves primarily the substitution of pure bred bulls for "scrubs," rather than just the eradication of "scrub" stock. A central committee has been named to direct the campaign throughout the peninsula. In addition, central committees will be organized in each county.

Drastic Law Governs Chippewa Dance Halls

CHIPPEWA FALLS—Dancing in Chippewa county's rural districts is placed under stringent regulation Wednesday through an ordinance passed by the county board of supervisors.

Dance halls must be licensed, written permission must be obtained before a dance can be held, dances must end at midnight, 16 is the minimum age of a person allowed at a dance, pass-out checks are abolished and inspectors are provided for under the new regulations. A hall can be licensed only upon application to the county board or its chairman. Soft drinks can be sold only when proper license has been obtained. Church, school and parent-teacher parties are exempt from provision of the new law.

Alleged laxity in dance hall management, drinking and immorality on the premises were charges brought against rural entertainers by advocates of the ordinance.

BLOCKS OF HARDING MEMORIAL STAMPS SOUGHT FOR FRAMING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Blocks of unperfected Harding memorial stamps, in any number up to 400, were placed on sale recently at the Government Philatelic Agency here.

Many of the requests were based on a desire to obtain the stamps in that shape for the purpose of framing in memory of the late president.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray.

While wavy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Duke Seeks U. S. Millions for Sale of Hannover Treasures

(By the Associated Press.) VIENNA, Nov. 23.—Duke Ernst August of Cumberland, 78, and hard up, is said to be negotiating with Paris jewelers for the sale of an American of treasurers of the Guelphs. These he brought to Austria when he was forced to leave Hannover, over which principally he ruled until it was absorbed by Prussia after the Austro-Prussian war in 1866. The price mentioned is $30,000,000.

Austria has objected to the exportation of the art objects, but the duke has replied that they were never in public museums, that Austria has no claim on them and that the country will lose the 50 per cent export tax if it interferes. He claims the right to dispose of them as he pleases.

The duke's son, the Duke of Brunswick, married the only daughter of the former kaiser in 1912. The duke's willingness to sell the Hannover plate is regarded as an indication that he has abandoned all hope of having his family restored to power in Hannover.

SQUAD OF U. S. ARMY AVIATORS PLANNING TO ENCIRCLE GLOBE

DAYTON, O., Nov. 23.—Some time in the early summer of 1924, four or possibly six army airplanes will hop a race from Bolling Field, Washington, and turn their noses to the west. Before their pilots again glimpse the nation's capital, they will have traveled 30,000 miles, crossed two oceans and almost a score of countries and encircled the globe in the air for the first time in the world's history.

Such is the picture in the minds of officials at McCook Field here, who, under the direction of Army Air Service headquarters at Washington, are making plans for the first round the world aerial cruise.

Tentatively, a route has been laid out and two air officers are going over it with the idea of making recommendations for necessary changes and completing other preparations. Lieut. C. E. Crenshaw, of the local field, now is in Iceland heading eastward, while an officer of the Philippine aerial forces is working in the opposite direction. They will meet in Europe and after comparing data, return to their home stations.

The flight, designed primarily to demonstrate the ability of planes to operate away from their regular supply bases during war times, will be made in comparatively short jumps. The distance between most of the stations will be 500 miles or less, the longest trip being approximately 850 miles.

As laid out at present, the route to be taken would not necessitate any sustained flight over open water. After crossing the country from capital to Seattle, Washington, the squadron could head northward through Canada and after touching at Wrangell, Alaska, would hop to the Aleutian Islands and then to the Japanese archipelago where several stops would be made. The mainland of Asia would be reached at Shanghai, China.

THE BIDDING BEGINS.

The bidders are many and the bidding is spirited, might be the market report today on the presidential campaign. The real bidding will come however with the national conventions and the presidential primaries next spring, but conditions are such that there can be no "buyers" until the presidential election next November.

Among the latest bidders is William G. McAuliffe, former director of railroads and secretary of the treasury, occupying both offices under Wilson. The price which Mr. McAuliffe offers for the presidency is "adjusted compensation for former servants."

There is another bidder from the East who wishes more honor and perhaps more power, is domiciled at Washington than in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. His name is not made but he himself admits, in the planning of a political campaign first in the hearts of his constituents, Mr. Tilden, that the name of this bidder is a member of the government of Pennsylvania.

Whether former President Wilson is bidding himself or for another politician there can be no doubt, but he is bidding, and his bid is for a new kind of government. It will be remarked what success Mr. Cox has with his position last three years ago.

Considering at their face value all the bids thus far submitted, there is little doubt that the next president will be a man of administration of them all is that of President Taft, a man of economic but progressive administration and a steady and consistent reduction of federal taxes.

There have been and will be other bidders, but the winners will be the voters next November.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

The French occupation of the Ruhr, the French demands on reparations payments, the French movement of the armistist movements in Germany, the French movement of the return from exile of the Kaiser, are all the same.

What do they all mean except that France is in a war with Germany? That Germany is in a war with France? That Germany is in a war with France? That Germany is in a war with France?

There is hardly an element of the French population who would be surprised to hear of another declaration of war between Germany and France. Many of the French probably reason that it was better to fight to a conclusion than at some future time make over a complete reconstruction.

Beyond the boundaries of France and Germany the concern is not such with the possibility of a war between these nations, but with the possibility of the embracing of other nations in the dispute.

PAINTED FURNITURE.

The mania for painting furniture has been carried to the extreme of folly, says Walter Nutting, who is a noted authority in such matters. He is quite sure about it.

"Folks need to know," he says, "that painting a piece of furniture is bad for it. There is a natural craze to paint furniture white. Ladies will paint chests of drawers, beds, chairs and even their rooms white, but none of these in good taste or attractive on that account."

"If there is life in the clock beneath the paint, why cover it up? If the furniture is evergreen, why make it look like a funeral by painting it white?"

This should hold some of the ladies away from the paint brush for a while, and give some of the naturally white things from painting things at their wits' end. And that could be a blessing to the man, who besides being a natural and usually inclined to prefer varnish to paint, as a preservative and beauty of the natural beauties of wood.

There are men who insist that it is useless to attempt to change the natural color of any fine wood. They will have their inning, when Mr. Nutting has reformed all the painting women.

After a study of the New Jersey coast, geologists declare that the state is gradually slipping into the ocean. As well as the Atlantic will therefore be right, just as Governor Edwards said.

There is a telegraph line in Alaska 375 miles long that has not more than fifty white settlers within reach of it, according to General Squire. Government ownership is a great thing.

OLD-TIME TRAVELERS SEEMINGLY CONTENT WITH FEW COMFORTS

HAMBURG, Nov. 22.—Seventy-five years ago the Hamburg-American line established its first ship, the Deutschland, in the service between Hamburg and New York. This was a sailing vessel of 771 tons, and was regarded as a monster craft in those days.

The Deutschland had 26 cabin seats and 200 seats on the lower decks. And what was especially notable, a bed was placed at the disposal of each passenger, with sufficient linen for the trip.

The Deutschland had a "kick look" which was handed to passengers at the end of every voyage so they could remember their travels. If the United States had a similar service, it would be a great improvement.

The Deutschland also was 100% elaborately furnished and furnished with the colored covers on the high seats of the main cabin.

"Dog Immigration" Continues to Grow As American Dollar Appreciates Abroad.

Dog Immigrants on S. S. America.

New York And still the flood of dog immigrants from Continental Europe to the United States continues. Newspapers of late have given a great deal of space to the large number of immigrants entering this port from foreign countries, but the fact that dogs of every description are arriving here in ever increasing numbers seems to have been overlooked. Those persons who have noticed this fact, however, have jokingly expressed the opinion that either an embargo will be asked for by native owners, or the number of foreign dogs allowed to enter each month, or that a quota for such dogs will have to be established as in the case with immigrants.

WHEELER IS IN MAIL FRAUDS; WAS BUSY MAN

Did Business Under the Name of Taylor Cedar Co.

"Slicker" Held in Menominee Jail Had Many "Irons" in the Fire, It is Now Learned.

MENOMINEE, Mich., Nov. 27.—(AP) Wheeler, alias Reed, Martin Miller, had check letter man, was arrested before Judge Barstow late yesterday afternoon and given an opportunity to furnish bail. The hearing has been set for next week to give authorities opportunity to gather up the evidence of the trail leading to his various activities. It is not known whether he obtained bail, but it is understood he offered the judge a check.

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Nov. 27.—(AP) Wheeler, had check letter man taken near Iron Mountain by Sheriff Cleveland, Deputy Sheriff Wickman and Sheriff Peters of Menominee, after Wheeler had riddled the alleged forger's automobile with bullets from a rifle, it was known in this city, according to Mr. Cleveland, who said today Wheeler operated a small store near Bass Lake, on the Twin Falls road, under the name of George Reed.

Wheeler, or Reed, disposed of his store a few months ago to Alderman Henry Foucault, according to the sheriff, and left for other parts.

Wheeler's arrest, following charges of bad check operations in Menominee, brings to light a series of alleged shady dealings among them a possible mail fraud scheme by which he secured large quantities of supplies from various companies, for the "Taylor Cedar Company," of which he is alleged to have been the "whole works."

Wheeler, it is said, would order goods shipped to the Taylor Cedar Company at Chassara, Sagola, Iron Mountain or other points and then would have neighbors call for them. The goods, it is alleged, would be sold to small jobbers or disposed of through his Bass Lake store. Sheriff Reed declared this morning the matter had been turned over to local authorities with a view to clearing up on Wheeler's dealings, which may involve a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Wheeler, or Reed, is alleged to have passed a bad check in Iron Mountain last summer, but according to Sheriff Cleveland, the matter was settled without court action.

"GOOD ROADS" EARLE AND BICYCLES TELL STORY OF MICHIGAN'S FINE HIGHWAY

Thought Out Great Arterial Highways Long Ago.

Was First Bicycle Enthusiast and Later Took to "Horseless Carriage" for Pleasure.

(By the Associated Press)
DETROIT, Nov. 23.—The story of good roads in Michigan is the story of bicycles and Horatio S. ("Good Roads") Earle.

The "Father of Michigan's Good Roads," who resigned recently from the Cass Avenue Methodist church here because of what he termed the "spousal from the pulpit in general of too much 'unrelated propaganda,'" has spent much of the time since he rode a high-low wheel bicycle preaching the gospel of bumpless highways.

Late in the nineteenth century, when Earle peddled his way back and forth over un-macadamized roads an idea was bumped into his head of how comfortable it would be to ride over a smooth surface. Subsequently a meeting of the Michigan Division of the League of American Wheelmen was held at Port Huron.

Earle took the initiative at this "Good Roads Congress" as it was called. From it emerged a comprehensive plan for launching a good roads program in the state. Many non-riding delegates were skeptical as to the good faith of the bicyclists, believing they were being urged to spread the good roads creed by a few persons who drove "noisy, un-fiddle-contraptions" which aroused the ire of the countryside.

Eventually a bill was proposed in the state legislature. It was bitterly contested. Edward Denby, now secretary of the navy, then a representative in the legislature, characterized the bill as a "most dangerous proposition." The bill finally was passed, and later declared unconstitutional by the attorney general.

A substitute measure was brought forward and passed. The state started road building on a small scale, laying short stretches of concrete here and there to test for durability in the various temperatures of the state. Earle became highway commissioner, and the construction of good roads began in earnest.

Miles and miles of concrete arterials were built throughout the state. The prayer of the bicycle riders was answered, but the bicyclists, who had started the agitation were retreating before a new good roads enthusiast—the automobile driver.

Earle has two monuments erected in his honor, commemorating his efforts in road building in the state. One monument, made of native boulders, towers to a height of 29 feet at Mackinac City, making the terminus of the Mackinaw trail. The other is at Cass City and is symbolic of the appreciation of people of the Thumb district for the man who largely was responsible for linking the Thumb with Detroit by a modern road system.

OBITUARY

HANS C. JACOBSON.

The body of Hans C. Jacobson will be taken to the family home at Stoughton tomorrow morning from the Anderson Undertaking Parlor, where it has been prepared for burial.

Funeral services will be held at the family home at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and at 1:45 at the Norwegian Lutheran church. The Ora Andrews will leave here at 11:45 Sunday forenoon for Stoughton, in order to enable relatives and friends to arrive in time to attend the funeral.

Mr. Jacobson passed away at 5:15 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of his son, Peter H. Jacobson, 218 Lake Shore Drive, after a brief illness. Sunday evening Mr. Jacobson suffered a paralytic stroke at the family home at Stoughton. Physicians from this city were called and it was decided to take him to this city, where he could receive medical attention. The trip was made by auto leaving the home at 7 o'clock and arriving here at 9. He was brought to the home of his son, where he suffered a second stroke Tuesday evening. Surrounded by members of his family he passed peacefully away at an early hour Thursday.

Pioneer Settler.

Mr. Jacobson was one of the pioneer settlers of Stoughton. He was born at Silkeborg, Denmark in 1853 and immigrated to this country, settling in Stoughton more than fifty years ago. He was known through-out the country as an honest, hard working man and had a host of friends throughout the county who will be grieved to hear of his demise.

He leaves, besides his aged wife, three sons, Peter M., Harry and George Jacobson of this city and one daughter, Mrs. J. Neilsen of Stoughton and four grandchildren. Burial will be in the Stoughton cemetery in the family lot.

Mrs. D. Cormier will leave tonight for Detroit on a vacation trip. She will visit with her brother and friends.

DEER WINNING ANNUAL BRUSH WITH HUNTERS

Deer in upper Michigan are winning their annual battle with the hunters. With only eight days of the season remaining, it is estimated that the number of deer carcasses shipped south across the Straits of Mackinac will not be more than half the number shipped last fall.

Unusual weather conditions have made for poor deer hunting. There is no snow in upper peninsula woods, consequently hunters cannot follow the tracks of deer. The woods are so dry that a deer can hear a hunter before he comes within shooting distance. A large number of hunters who went into the woods when the season opened have given up the chase and returned home with unfilled barrels. Even with a fall of snow between now and November 30, it is believed that the deer kill will be unusually small.

Less than twenty deer carcasses have been handled in the Marquette office of the American Railway Express company. The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad has carried thus far, not more than forty per cent of the number of carcasses handled last year. Extra baggage rates put on the southern-bound passenger trains this week have not been needed.

It was estimated at St. Ignace last night that about 1,500 deer carcasses had been shipped into lower Michigan.

Tuesday evening, Nov. 27th, a social party will be given at which some of the Powers residents will be present. Lunch will be served and prizes awarded and everything.

The club of Powers are planning a program to be given at the sanitarium in the near future.

"Who'd you get?" This question was asked by some of the High School students when members of the Eski-Metter Band Society appeared in school with baby chrysantheums. This was to celebrate the founding of a new girls' club.

The club is composed of girls chosen from the Junior and Senior classes. The advisor is Miss Erickson.

The purpose of the club is to further the interests of the High School in all possible ways—doing all for the glory of old Eski High.
