

DIRIGIBLE SERVICE WILL CARRY MINERS INTO ARCTIC PLAN NOW BEING PERFECTED

Representatives Now in Alaska Looking Over Ground.

Trip Could Be Made Quickly and as Cheap as it Could by the Old Method of Dog Sledge.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Prospector, miners and trappers will be taken into the Arctic Circle by dirigible next summer, if a company, whose representatives now are in Siberia or Alaska, carries out announced plans.

Those organizing the project say they believe the dirigible will prove a solution for the placer operator, who finds the long slow routes of water ways and dog trails a serious problem in time and financing. The farthest north trappers are confronted with the same difficulty.

The first airship will ply according to the announcement, between Fairbanks, the Chandelar and Koyukuk. It is planned eventually to extend the service to other districts.

If dirigible transportation is thus established, the traveler may reach the Arctic Circle within eight days after sailing from Seattle. He would travel by boat six days landing in Anchorage, then by train 24 hours to Fairbanks, whence he would be whisked through the air for the last and hardest part of the journey.

With the passing of many of the famous old placer camps south of the Yukon, the prospector has pressed ever northward into the shadow of the Polar wilderness. However, the prospecting field within the Arctic Circle often require hydraulic operations, and even where a "pay discovery" has been made, it is a matter of weeks, sometimes months, to get a force of miners and the equipment over the snow and ice trails into the remote sections.

The company's representatives declare that they can carry a tonnage of men and equipment into the Arctic in a few hours, at a cost of about one-fourth that entailed by dog sled transportation.

The dirigible also may be used to take summer tourists for visits to "The Arctic silence."

The announcement of the contemplated dirigible service has stirred in Alaskan towns a clamor for mail to be delivered by air in such points as Nome, the Upper Kuskokwim and the Koliuk country. At present mail is carried by dog sled and requires from two weeks to a month after it leaves the Alaskan railroad. The perfecting of air-mass has given to such directions that it is costing the government a heavy sum to supply points that are cut off from mail in transportation. Steamers reach Nome in summer, but the Bering Sea town is isolated and dependent on communication by overland trail most of the year.

AVERAGE COW OF STATE PRODUCES 20.9 LBS. BUTTER

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 9. An average cow of the Michigan Cow Club Association produces 20.9 pounds of milk and 54 pounds of butter per day, according to the 1923-24 season's records of the 2,000 cows under test in the state. In round numbers, this compares with 20.7 pounds of milk and 54.7 pounds of butter during the year just ended.

This is a far better showing per acreage cow than that recorded in Michigan in 1923, when the average was 17.5 pounds of milk and 47.1 pounds of butter. The report also shows that the cow raising association does not "boast" cows to the butcher. 711 cows having been sold at 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

WASHINGTON NEWS NOT IN TELEGRAM BUT SEEN INSIDE

United Press 'Observer' Tells Many Tidbits of Life.

This Will Be Regular Feature in The Daily Mirror From Now On; Watch for It.

By 'THE OBSERVER' (UNITED PRESS) WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (United Press) Representative Snyder of New York was commenting in the House the other day on a speech by Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania. Snyder said Kelly's speech was "old stuff."

"It reminds me," Snyder said, "of a conference that I have with my good wife each year when we come to a function. 'She does not care particularly about the subjects of hope for a year in Washington. What are some of the first things we always have to expect of arguments as to how long it will take to reach it?'"

At the beginning of this session of congress we had the same speech and I said, 'My dear, that is a good point, but there is nothing new in it.'"

Any time you start war talk in the House of Representatives, Representative Isaac Sherman of Ohio, late Civil War veteran of the Civil War, now remaining there, begins to get interested.

The other day, in a meeting of the military affairs committee, a somewhat heated discussion of the Marine Shells project was under way, and R. V. Taylor, mayor of Mobile, Ala., who was on the stand, referred to Henry Ford as a modern Napoleon.

Representative Sherman, who does not hear well, didn't get the whole thing, but when he heard Napoleon mentioned, he apparently assumed somebody was talking about war, and he therefore got up and told what an excellent general Napoleon was, aside from who led in the Civil War, a new page the fighting was in Napoleon's wars, and for that matter, in the World War, in cooperation with that in the Civil War.

"Why in one battle I was in," said Sherman, "thirteen generals were killed. That's more than were killed in the whole World War. Talk about a war, huh?"

And he sat down, satisfied that, having introduced "war" as the biggest and best ever, the committee might now resume a discussion of Marine Shells.

Just Adonah Dewey, sailed into Manila harbor on May 1, 1898, one of the first to come over the side of the flagship, the Olympia, was Pedro Gutierrez. He was one of the Filipino rebel leaders, under Aguinaldo, fighting the Spaniards. Now he is Resident Commissioner of the Philippine Islands in congress.

Adonah Dewey took a great fancy to the young Filipino and members of congress on both sides of the aisle are learning why Gutierrez, who has since become the leading native lawyer in the islands, has a charming personality that "lets" an rebel. He is seeking Filipino independence by exercising the art of diplomacy and statesmanship and many believe that he will win.

Self-made men are not new in congress, but few have the interesting story of their rise in life that Sel Bloom of New York has. Sel now a power in the theatrical world, went to work at the age of eight in St. Paul, Minn. At the age of 11, he was book-keeper and manager of a factory with 50 employees under him. At 19 he was ready to retire from business, with enough of this world's goods to keep him comfortably. But his folks wanted him to go into the clothing business. He went back at life business in which most of his early success. Then he "put over" the Midway at the Chicago World's Fair and really began his career as a showman. His hobby now is rehabilitating disabled soldiers.

Every new congress brings some interesting new faces to Washington. Not the least of these is Representative Geo. Edward Howard of Nebraska. Howard, for many years the private secretary of William Jennings Bryan, looks enough like the commoner to be his twin brother. He wears his hair over his ears and sticks to the old-fashioned flannel shirt and broad-brimmed slouch hat. He started life as a coal puncher and wound up as a newspaper man. The first job he had was after editor on "Jimmy" Cox's paper out in Dayton, Ohio. Now he edits his own in Columbus, Neb.

Howard is winning his spurs early in congress as a wit. He recently coined a new name for rural voters—'corned canaries.'

Farmers Need Help Quickly, Says Dakotan

CHICAGO, Feb. 8. Immediate relief, as proposed by the ten million dollar loan company to be formed by the banks, railroads and private citizens, for the farmers of the north-west, will have to come soon, if it is to be effective, was the statement made here today by W. Eland Ribbee, of South Dakota, when he passed through here last night on his way home from a conference in Washington.

SAFETY MEASURES REDUCE ACCIDENTS IN COAL REGIONS

Pennsylvania Has Fewer Accidents Compared With Men at Work Than Any Other State.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9. Fewer fatalities, in proportion to the number of miners exposed to risks, and the number of days' work, occurred in the Pennsylvania anthracite region in 1923 than in any year during the last half-century. Joseph J. Walsh, state secretary of mines, declared in announcing his preliminary report for the year. There were 209 fatalities last year, a number greater than in some other years. Mr. Walsh pointed out, but in the years which had a lower total number of miners and the number of days worked were considerably less.

The report showed 137 companies operating in the anthracite field and all of the fatalities reported occurred in 56 of these operations. Approximately 70 per cent of the fatal accidents occurred before noon. Secretary Walsh said, due to the fact that the greatest activity in the mines is during the morning hours.

"The miner puts in his best efforts in the morning because he is 'rested,' the secretary explained, and this means the greatest output of coal takes place at that time, so there is more danger of accidents in the first four hours of his day."

The causes of fatalities were classified as follows: Falls of roof and rock, 221; crushed or killed by cars, 63; gas explosions, 43; premature blasts, 16; crushed or killed by machinery, 12; miscellaneous, 121. Of these killed 215 were miners, 88 miners' laborers and the others of various occupations about the mines.

The decrease proportionately of accidents as compared with previous years, Mr. Walsh attributed to the work of the 6,000 inspectors, fire bosses and mine foremen who co-operated with the department of mines in its safety efforts. Through this diligence, he said, there was no fatality or serious accident from gas in any of the state's bituminous mines in 1923.

The report showed the approximately 160,000 miners in the anthracite region worked an average of 273 days during the year.

The More You Tell—The More You Sell—Use Mirror Want Ads

Dig Deep Enough To Find Pay Dirt

The story runs that early in life Mark Twain, the famous American author, and another fellow went prospecting for gold in some of the western hills. Having every good reason to believe the spot they had selected would produce "pay dirt" they started to dig.

After days and days of backaching use of pick and shovel, Mark became weary and quit, giving his share in the venture to his partner, who kept on digging and in a few days more struck it rich.

The point is—some people try the WANT COLUMNS once or twice and because an avalanche of returns does not come in immediately they despair and quit.

Reasonable use of the WANT COLUMNS under any classification will, sooner or later, pay a handsome profit on a small investment, so if you want a home or have one for sale, or desire to purchase or sell a used car, need a position or help—give the Want Ads a fair chance—they will produce—because the "pay dirt" is there.

LEGION POST IS HIGHLY INCENSED BY PRIEST'S TALK

It Is Alleged That DePere Pastor Spoke Unkindly of Former President Woodrow Wilson.

GREEN BAY—Highly incensed over disparaging remarks alleged to have been made by the Rev. William Van Roosmalen, pastor of St. Mary's church, DePere, Wis., about Woodrow Wilson the members of the American Legion, at a special meeting, passed a resolution protesting against his action and providing for copies of such resolution to be given to the press and to Bishop P. H. Rhode, Green Bay.

Before taking action, the Legion post carefully investigated. Post officers said members of the congregation were interviewed. Many were incensed, they said, over the remarks made by their pastor while Mr. Wilson was on his deathbed.

Father Van Roosmalen, when handed a copy of the resolution Thursday, declared, "It is the work of my enemies. My statements were misunderstood. I did make reference to Mr. Wilson and to the fact that he was lying on his deathbed. I said that some would look upon his death as the passing of a great man, while others would condemn him."

"I did not, and still do not believe we should have entered the war. Mr. Wilson was the man who caused the nation to lose $22,000,000,000 that is not likely we will recover. And because of him 200,000 crippled and maimed men are roaming the streets of our cities."

Those were the statements he made before his congregation Sunday.

Indian Chief Takes Issue with Senator

(Continued from Page One) Though the nation's law-making chiefs were having in their old grand possession in the Great White Father's Washington Teepee, at the expense of the Red Men. Unfortunately the Indian department cannot diplomatically take any official notice of the Big Chief's long distance verbal duel with the offending senator.

Chief Two Guns explains his protest is made because he is afraid the pale face reading public might get the impression this early day horse-stealing propensity still is a sort of an outdoor sport among the Indians.

"We have reformed much slyer than the white man. Moonshine still gives him his firewater, but there are no more wild night rides by Indians on the other fellows' ponies, even on the darkest nights in Montana. I want all our white friends to know we only take ponies nowadays on good trades in broad daylight. Moonshine Amendment is Not So-Good for the Pale Face. Life in Sun Shine might cure him."
