

Just Between Ourselves

THE HOURS AFTER SUPPER.

Most careers are made or marred in the hours after supper. It may seem to some that the few hours between supper and bedtime afford small opportunity for education. But these were sufficient for Lincoln and for Franklin and for millions of men who by turning these hours to advantage through special studies, advanced themselves above their fellows.

"Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of." Benjamin Franklin, who said this, not only understood the value of time, but he put a price on it that made others appreciate its worth.

Bradstreet's in a summary of business conditions ascribes most business failures to what may be called "the size of their scrap-heaps." Nothing is more inexcusable and disastrous than waste, and the most disastrous waste of all is waste of time. The unworked hours form the "scrap-heap" that has wrecked many a man's career.

That heap of waste which so many young men dump at the end of every day and consider useless would, if rightly used, give priceless results in increased efficiency, higher service and better pay.

Ambition, resolve, effort, purpose, persistency, confidence, courage, mental equipment and success may be manufactured out of this heap of waste time. Millions are doing it. Any man can who will.

The most important item in the equipment of any establishment is men. It avails a manufacturer but little to have perfection in machinery if he finds it impossible to get trained minds to control and drive it. Several big concerns have organized schools in their plants; others have arranged with school boards to allow students of suitable age to spend a part of the time in the shops; many are calling upon correspondent schools to prepare employes for advancement.

The impressive thing is the opportunity this offers to young men willing to devote spare time to special studies that fit them for particular work. A great employer of skilled labor, of office managers and salesmen says: "There are plenty of $10,000 jobs. The trouble is to find $10,000 men."

Many highly educated people are inefficient, and many efficient people are not highly educated. The world calls for educated people who are efficient and efficient people who are educated. Most of all is needed education for efficiency for service.

Real education is not so much the learning of what we do not know as the doing of what we do not now do.

THE FIFTEENTH YEAR.

The Boy Scouts of America celebrate the completion of fourteen years of corporate existence in the United States, calling attention again to its remarkable growth and the inestimable good which it is accomplishing for the improvement of manhood and citizenship.

The Boy Scout movement was launched by Sir Robert Baden-Powell in 1902, and the first English organization was chartered in 1908, but the movement was initiated in the United States by the incorporation of the organization at Washington, February 8th, 1910.

The Boy Scout plan is designed to utilize the normal tendencies and activities of boys during the period of adolescence in the development of character, health, and capacity for service.

In many localities, at first, the pioneer troops were composed, or thought to be composed, of children accustomed to restriction, or, as an urban might put it "goodie, goodie boys in Buster Brown collars." This prejudice, however, was overcome as results attained by the organization demonstrated the value of the movement. Today the exclusive private school troop scours the countryside in its leisure, stops to help a farmer load his wagon, returns young birds to nests from which they have fallen, and performs such other facts of helpfulness as opportunity offers. In the slums boys trained on similar lines who are anxious to help the "white wing" keep the city clean and to help the policeman preserve order. In schools, churches, industries—wherever there are boys—there are troops of scouts, sturdy young Americans trained for service.

The Scout oath is: "On my honor I promise that I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight." A million young men who will keep that oath guarantee the perpetuity of the Republic.

SIMMONS SELLS KLAN INTERESTS

Oil Leases Are Legal and Sane, Says Denby

DENBY TELLS HIS POSITION ON OIL LEASE

Gives Full Explanation of Reason for the Oil Transactions.

Declares If Wells Were Not Used by Government They Would Soon Be Drained.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (Special Correspondence.) Having received a telegram of confidence signed by 225 residents of Michigan, Secretary of the Navy Denby has replied, assuring that his part in the leasing of the oil reserves was legal, that it was within the policy adopted by congress, and that it was for the best interests of the United States. His reply was as follows:

"I have already acknowledged and expressed my gratitude for the telegram signed by you and 224 citizens of Michigan. I have also received hundreds of other letters and telegrams from Michigan and all parts of the Union. Such a demonstration of faith requires that I shall give you the reasons why that faith is not misplaced.

"When I came into office I was very shortly convinced that the oil reserves lands which had been set aside by congress for the benefit of the United States Navy were being drained by private interests. My conviction that these only were being drained was based upon a number of reports and statements of those who knew governmental and other experts. That they were being drained is indisputable.

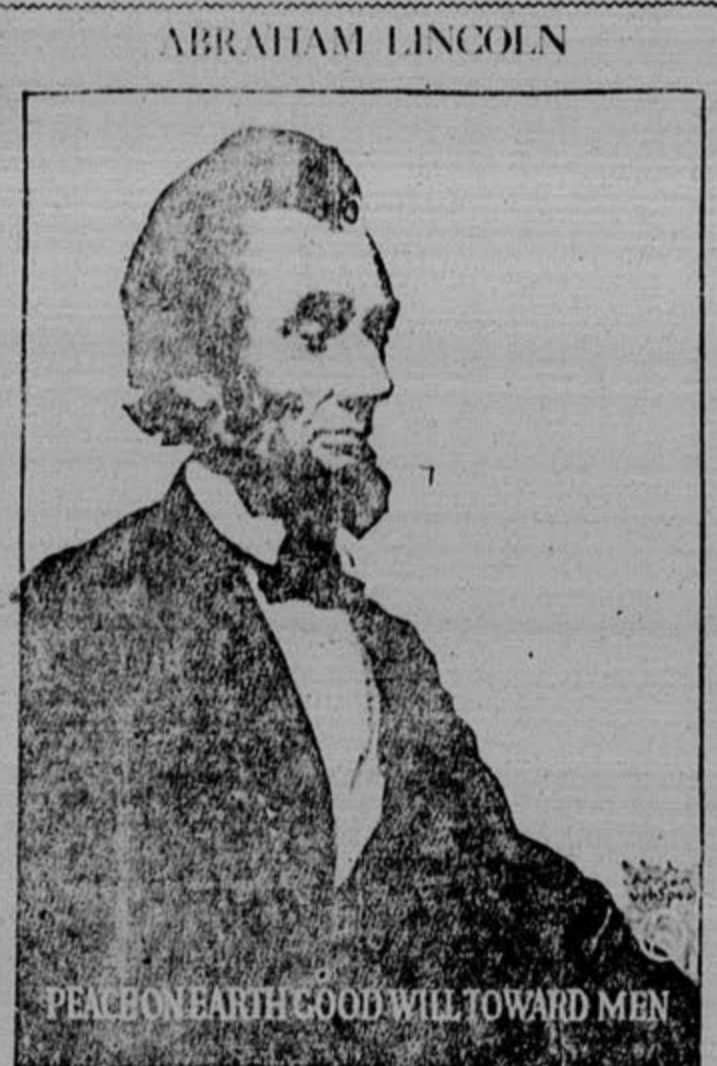

"Congress, under date of June 3, 1920, gave the following powers to the Secretary of the Navy: "That the Secretary of the Navy is directed to take possession of all properties within the naval petroleum reserves as are or may become subject to the control and use by the United States for naval purposes, to conserve and use by the United States for naval purposes, to conserve, develop and operate the same in his discretion, directly or by contract, lease or otherwise, and to use, store, exchange or sell the oil and gas products thereof, and those from all royalties or from lands in the naval reserves, for the benefit of the United States."

Had to Protect Oil.

"Under these powers the Secretary of the Navy was charged with the duty of protecting the oil thus committed to his care. In carrying out the duty of congress, I had three courses open to me: (1) To do nothing and guard what would have been ultimately an empty shell because most of the oil would have been drained away from it; (2) To endeavor to create the machinery for handling the situation under the Navy Department by governmental drilling, etc.; or (3) To lease the right to drill under proper conditions to private enterprise.

"In the execution of this last course I had two alternatives, one to lease the drilling privilege and have paid into the treasury the value of the royalty oil belonging to the Navy under lease contract or to retain and preserve the oil above the surface, since it could not be preserved below for the use and benefit of the United States.

Had A Large Area. "The Interior Department has under its jurisdiction 17,625,000 acres of public oil lands already leased to private enterprise. The total naval oil reserve lands now under discussion amount to 51,627 acres. The policy of the Administration was coordination of governmental activities and not duplication. Therefore, I took up with the secretary of the Interior and the President the question of transferring the administration and custody of the Navy Department the general policy as to drilling on such lands.

One hundred and fifteen years ago today in a log cabin in the back woods of Kentucky, Abraham Lincoln was born. Fifty years ago next April, as President of the greatest Republic whose integrity and unity he had helped to preserve through the awful fire of civil war, he fell by the hand of an assassin having, like Moses, but glimpsed the promised land into which he might not enter. Exalted from the lowliest station to the highest, and dying thus, at the hour of victory, his career is unparalleled in the annals of all times.

Lincoln was a new type in American life, a blend of poet and woodsman, of philosopher and prophet. He was among the first of our political writers to win and hold the people by the freshness and vigor of his thinking rather than by the dramatic qualities of his rhetoric. Douglas was the able speaker, Lincoln the more original thinker, Chase was the old Roman type of statesman and looked the part; Lincoln, homely of features and lack of grace, was the fathering serene leader and wiser teacher. He was, in truth, a man of destiny, fitting as does the glove the hand, the day and hour.

The biggest and best thing about Abraham Lincoln was his great heart. He was a lover of his kind, a brotherly soul, a defender by nature of the weak and helpless. He cut through rules of red tape to save a widow's son. He bore the flimsy and gibes of lesser men uncomplainingly because of the titanic issue at stake. Humility is the word that best describes the quality of this world-character, and humility, like radium, is rare. Humility is that quality that "vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, seeketh not its own." It is the very opposite of intolerance; the antonym of pride, the quintessence of virtue. It was the great Galilean who first gave the world a supreme example of humility.

"A blend of mirth and sadness, smiles and tears,
A quaint knight-errant of the pioneers;
A lonely hero, born of star and sod;
A Peasant Prince; a Masterpiece of God."

FOUNDER GETS OUT FOR SUM OF $146,000

Also Disposes of Rights in the Knights of Kamelia.

Beal Is Declared to Have Been Made; But Principles Are Not Available for Information.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 12 (2:45 P. M.)—Announcement was made today from the Imperial Palace of the Kings of the Ku Klux Klan that Col. Wm. Jos. Simmons, Emperor and founder of the Klan, has resigned as Emperor and as a Klansman and disposed of all his interest in the order for the consideration of $145,500 in cash.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 12. A settlement of all differences between William J. Simmons, Emperor and founder of the Ku Klux Klan, and Dr. Hiram Evans, Imperial Wizard of the order, for a consideration of $146,000 paid to Col. Simmons, was reported by friends of the parties involved, according to a story appearing today in the Atlanta Journal.

According to those close to Col. Simmons and Dr. Evans, the story says the terms of the compromise are substantially as follows:

First, Col. Simmons annuls his contract with the Klan for $86,000, constituting a year's compensation at the rate of $1,000 per month, under the terms of his previous agreement with the order.

Second, he also received $50,000 for his rights in the Knights of Kamelia, an order similar to the Klan which he recently founded.

Col. Simmons is said to be at Jacksonville, Fla., attending a conference and in his absence no definite announcement could be learned as to his part in the transaction. Dr. Evans is also away on a business trip connected with the Klan, according to the Atlanta Journal.

BABE RUTH IS OUT FOR MORE GLORY AT BAT

Would Hit Sixty Home Runs Next Year, He Says Today.

Henry Farrell Writes Interesting Story Today about the Great "Champion of Swat."

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Feb. 12. Babe Ruth wants to hit 60 home runs next season, and win in addition the American League batting championship.

The Babe is no half-way fellow. When he picks out a job for himself, he certainly does not look for soft spots.

The way he goes about things, he would take on Dempsey after a couple of warm-up bouts, if he ever went into boxing. It will be recalled that the Babe cherishes a secret ambition to become a boxer, and he believes that he could have made good in the ring.

When he came to New York recently from his New England farm, Ruth said he knew he could hit 50 homers, if the Yankees were still in the Polo Grounds, but he doesn't like the Yankee stadium.

"I may not be able to crack my home-run record, but I know I'll get that batting championship," the Babe said. "If I had started out last season with that object in mind I would have led the league."

By his conduct last winter, the way he played during the 1923 season and the good care that he has been taking of himself this winter, the Babe certainly has earned public faith and confidence in himself.

When he says he is going to do a thing, there is no reason to believe that he does not mean it.

Senator James J. Walker, father of the Sunday baseball bill and the boxing law, declared that when he was making a speech at the recent dinner of the Baseball Writers' Association, Senator Walker lives at St. Luke's Place, on the lower west side of New York, near Greenwich Village. He has an orange to illustrate the point he made that Ruth was one of the greatest in the game for the kids of the whole country.

There is a public playground right in front of his house," the Senator said. "Kids by the hundreds, from the nearby tenements, gather there daily. I always walk through the playground on my way to my office, and I have acquired a list of acquaintances among the little archers."

"One morning last summer, I was stopped by a little Italian boy. 'Gimme a quarter, Jimmy, please,' he said.

"A quarter was more than the usual appeal for a penny or so, and I asked him what he wanted with 25 cents.

"I want to buy a Babe Ruth cap," he replied.

"That little archer never had seen Babe Ruth play, and he never will be, cause when he gets old enough to have money to go to the ball park, the Babe will have passed. But even though he had never seen his hero, the Babe was the biggest thing in his life," Walker said.

It was Senator Walker who, just a year ago when Ruth entertained the baseball writers, pointed out to the Babe the duty that he had to his public.

"It's the dirty-faced kids in the streets, down in the slums, to whom you owe your most sacred duty," Walker told him. "Don't do anything to shatter the faith they have in you. Those kids haven't much to inspire them, and you mean more to them than the President."

The Babe then made the promise that he had taken his last drink and that he was going to make good for the dirty-faced kids.

Senator Walker is still a raving baseball fan, but he has cooled toward boxing, which he said at the recent dinner, had been very close to his heart.

He gave no reasons, and he didn't mention the sport by name, but he did not over the idea very plainly when he said:

"If there were a Judge Landis at the head of the sport, it would not be bothering me."

It has been known for some time that Walker would not bill his hand in his vote if the legislature wanted to kill the bill which he put on the law books, after a most strenuous campaign.

Governor Smith is not a boxing fan, and he has no use for the sport, and he has not been asked what he would do about it.

"Throw it in the sink," Walker replied.

The game hasn't been thrown in the sink yet, but it is without a single friend in Albany, and its friends in New York aren't worth much. Just one more little straw and it will be in the sink. If the game goes down now, after a trial under ideal conditions, which have it every chance to make good, it is not likely that it ever will get another chance.

It is hard to tell just what is the matter with boxing, but something is rather wrong when it is too hard to find a good defense for the sport.

When opponents of the game have to fall back on such silly defenses as not boxing is the war, it is a sad mistake, like the old saying, "over an over condition."

Menominee to Play Local Cagers Here Next Friday Night

Menominee High school Escanaba High school's most ancient rival will provide the week-end basketball attraction here this week, meeting the Orange and Black at the High school gymnasium Friday night. The Thompsons are at home this week, after a month of out-of-town games, and there should be a big crowd on hand to witness the tilt.

Menominee has a good basketball team, one of the best in the state. It has produced in recent years, and locals are facing another hard battle in one of the hardest seasons a local team has undergone in years.

Menominee defeated the locals in the first of a two-game series at Menominee a couple of weeks ago. While it doesn't necessarily follow that the Escanaba quintet can repeat the victory, it is conceded that a lot of basketball will be played by both teams and that Escanaba can be counted upon to display its share.

NEW HEAVY MAY BE DEMPSEY'S BETTER

Has Powerful Left; the Only Thing Champion Fears.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (United Press) Jack Dempsey, in one of his syndicated articles, says that the fighter who wins the championship from him must do it with a left hand. He reasons that his left hand is his best, and he will remain champion until some challenger comes along with a faster landing punch.

Dempsey, it will be remembered, survived five of the greatest pugilists in the business. The lightning like thrust of Carpentier and the bludgeoning view of the postural Fargo would seem even that the champion is right when he figures that he will have to be beaten by a left hand.

There is only one fighter coming up who shows a real left hand, and he is Paul Berlenbach, the latest light heavyweight sensation. He is the best looking prospect to come out since Dempsey started knocking them dead six years ago.

Berlenbach is just a few pounds over the middleweight class. He is only twenty-two years of age and he will fill out as he goes along. The way he has come along since he left the amateur ranks makes it seem that he may be the one who is to give Dempsey the real test.

Berlenbach started out to be a knockout victor, and in his first real test against Frank Carbone, he stopped a fighter who had never been knocked out before.

Berlenbach started out to be a wrestler. He is built ponderous about the neck and shoulders and he has a most powerful pair of arms. He seems to be a little bit careless about his feet, but Dan Hickey, his trainer and instructor, feels sure that he can be loosened up.

Thatcher McQuillan, one of the pitchers for the New York Giants, was the one who really got Berlenbach into boxing. He had tired of the amateur wrestling game, and one night McQuillan asked him to put on the gloves in a little amateur tournament that was being held in their club at Astoria.

Berlenbach consented, and he knocked out nearly every one in the club. He took a liking to the gloves and decided to try the game. In his first bout in Jersey he was knocked kicking, but he was not discouraged, and he finally consented to place himself in the hands of Dan Hickey, boxing instructor at the New York Athletic Club.

Hickey has done wonders with him, and it is improbable that he will make any mistakes in bringing him along. He is being built slowly and well, and in another year is expected to be the light heavyweight champion. There aren't many of the top-notch light heavyweights now who could stand up under his murderous left hand.

As has been referred to several

MINNESOTA TAKES GAME FROM U. OF M.

Spring Big Surprise in Winning Cage Contest, 27 to 16.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 12.—The University of Minnesota basketball team sprung one of the biggest surprises of the western conference basketball season here last night by defeating the University of Michigan team by a most severe beating of the year. The score was 27 to 16.

It was the second triumph of the season for the Gophers, and the second straight defeat for Michigan. The score at the half mark was 21 to 7.

Michigan's vaunted offensive did not get under way for the startling burst of the Gophers in the first half as denaturalized the Wolverines, that they were able to cage only two field goals in this period. The number of chances the Wolverines had to make short shots could be counted on one hand, Michigan making only five goals during the entire contest.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS

Battle Creek. The Calhoun county public hospital, located on the Battle Creek Marshall paved highway, will be formally opened tomorrow afternoon. A reception will be held from 2 to 5 p. m. The hospital capacity is 60, although emergency accommodations can be made for more. The structure is insured for $187,500.

Traverse City. Because he had business with relatives in Mayfield, Fred DeLoe, 11, started to walk all the way there from Traverse City, snows and cold were too much for him, however, and he ended up by being rescued and returned to his parents. What the "business" was, he refused to state.

The old favorite Dancing and Skating party will again be held tomorrow evening with Boh's Kittens, washing the music for the dancers and the band organ for skaters. There will also be a matinee tomorrow afternoon.

FUR PRICES IN ADVANCE MAKES HIT WITH THOSE RAISING FOXES

Fifty Per Cent Increase in Price Good News to Frank Andrew, Local Fox Farmer.

A first grade silver fox skin in now worth from $500 to $1,000, according to the quality and size. This has been announced by the Lamm-on Fur concern of London, England, who are in the market for all they can buy.

This is good news for Frank W. Andrew, who has a fox ranch at DeLansing's corners, between here and Gladstone, as it increases the value of his ranch to a considerable extent. Mr. Andrew also owns a farm on Prince Edward's Island where he was successfully engaged in raising foxes for the past twelve years.

As an illustration of the value of a skin, Mr. Andrew sold one last week for $795 to a dealer. The skin was very poor and was taken from the carcass of an old fox which had died.

18 CARS DESTROYED IN GARAGE BLAZ

WASHBURN, Wis. The battery-charger of the De Mars Brothers garage, backfired while in operation causing an explosion and caused it complete destruction. Three men were in the garage at the time of the explosion and the best they could do was to save three cars, because of its fast growth of flames. The fire started immediately next to the oil tank and it only took a few moments before the whole building was a mass of flames.

Twenty-one cars were in the garage at the time of the explosion. The building and practically all of the cars were insured. Mr. DeMars stated it would take a number of weeks to rebuild at once.

Laces and Lingerie Last Longer when washed our "Soft Water Way"

The lime in our hard local water forms in washing a lime soap that settles in and weakens the fibres of delicate fabrics—makes them brittle. Thus your fine linens and laces and lingerie wear out long before they should.

We use "rain soft" water exclusively in our laundry—which prevents the formation of this sticky lime soap. And we use only pure soap—and less of that because of the extreme softness of our water.

Thus the fine fibres of your filmy fabrics are preserved—your work comes from the wash soft and white and fluffy—your laces and lingerie stay dainty and fresh when washed "the soft water way."

Let us prove to you the wonderful difference in your laundry work when washed "the soft water way." Ask us to call for a trial bundle. Be convinced.

The War on Waste

WASTE is the result of mis-directed energy. It is like dirt—matter out of place.

The history of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) success may be summed up in two words "Industrial Husbandry" which is another way of saying "Eliminating Waste."

In a big organization such as the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there are innumerable opportunities to waste time, effort and material.

By intensified organization, by providing proper facilities, abundant raw materials, pleasant working conditions, and by encouraging initiative—the Company makes it possible for every man in its employ to develop the best there is in him and to conclusively prove his worth by his achievements.

Through intensive study and extensive research and experiments, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has found ways to recover more than a score of useful products from waste—products that fill a definite place in the commercial or domestic affairs of mankind.

Time was when gasoline was waste in the petroleum industry. Today, it is the major product.

Perhaps the outstanding example of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) achievements, in eliminating waste, is in the increased yield of gasoline per barrel of crude made possible by processes discovered and developed in its laboratories.

This achievement is the greater because of the imperative urge for more gasoline.

In 1918 there were 6,146,617 cars and trucks registered in the United States. In 1922 there were 12,739,114—or an increase of nearly 100%.

In 1918 the industry produced 326 million barrels of crude, as against 501 million barrels in 1922—an increase of only 53% plus.

Statistics show that while less than 10 gallons of gasoline were recovered per barrel of crude in 1918 that the industry increased the yield to more than 12 gallons per barrel in 1922.

This increased yield was due largely to the process as developed by this Company, and without such an increased yield the price of gasoline unquestionably would be higher.

Thus does the war on waste, waged so intensively by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), redound to the lasting benefit of mankind and also enable the Management of this Company to give a satisfactory accounting of its stewardship to the stockholders now numbering 45,286, more than 11,000 of whom are employees.

DEAN ROGERS OF DETROIT SAYS RADIO IS A GREAT ASSET FOR CHURCHES; NOT A SUBSTITUTE

Pastor Has Been Broadcasting His Sermons for Two Years.

Declares a Radio Set Would Give Smaller Churches a Service When Their Pastor Is Away.

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—The radio is not a substitute for church services, but an asset, declared the very Rev. Warren L. Rogers, dean of St. Paul's Episcopal church here, today in discussing the value of broadcasting church services. Next to being actual in church is to hear the church service over the radio, added the prelate who has been broadcasting his Sunday services for nearly two years through station WVA, the Detroit News.

Dean Rogers went into a lengthy discussion of the benefits and criticisms of radio broadcasting as it affects the large and small churches. "There are many people who are physically unable to attend church, and it is a great boon and pleasure to such," he said. "I receive letters by the hundreds from people who are sick or old and the joy they have listening to the radio cannot be expressed. I think it is doing an immense amount of good to these."

In Rogers cited a case of a Port Huron man who has constructed a radio-receiving set. This man, a former soldier, who lost one foot, is on his back most of the time with phlebotomy-schedule weather to alleviate the other. "His interest has been increased to a great degree by means of the radio," Dean Rogers said.

Dean Rogers then contrasted the habitual churchgoer and the persons who will not go to church. He said that "the people who are among the faithful, as we say in church, are going to church regardless of how many radios there are. If they are ill, or the weather is too bad to get out, the radio is there to help."

"There are people, and there are lots of them who never would go to church," continued Dean Rogers. "You could take away their automobile, their movies, their circus, their radio and if the last thing left was church, they would not go. These same persons, though they may not go to church, may listen in on the radio, and there is the point. You are reaching large masses of people who won't go. They listen in on the radio. Maybe it is only a year maybe it is every Sunday. I can name individuals who have not been in a church for years, but every Sunday they are on the radio. I call that a positive asset."

Another criticism of radio with reference to the small town church has been voiced, Dean Rogers said, it having been stated that the so-called intellectuals remain away from their own small church services to listen to the music and sermon from the metropolitan church.

"I know of half a dozen small churches where they have installed a radio so that when the minister is away they have their set in operation and hear St. Paul's," Dean Rogers said. "A wise country parson is going to see the folly of trying to compete with the city parson and once in a while will let his people hear the city service. It is supplementing his work. He is getting this free. It does not seem to me to be any problem. The real churches have no criticism of the radio but those churches that are 'half dead' are the ones that have a fan and not much concerned about saving that little church that is half dead. I do not feel that radio is taking much away."

GLADSTONE CO. RECOGNIZED IN DETROIT PAPER

Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record Devotes Much Space to Upper Bay Industry.

In an article entitled "The Industry Back of Your Sports" the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record gives an interesting story of a number of Michigan companies that devote their energy to producing goods purely for sport.

Referring to the Marble Arms & Manufacturing company, of Gladstone, the article says:

was taken to jail by the officer, and later Primican was arrested. Bonds were arranged for the men shortly afterwards.

Hoffman had not been served with the warrant up to noon today.

The city administration is determined to stand back of the police officer, whom they contend was only doing his duty and will place their entire legal resources at the command of the prosecuting attorney.

MEMORIES STILL LINGER.

"GOOD TURNS" MAKE SCOUTS ALERT TO HELP THOSE WHO ARE IN NEED AT ALL TIMES

Here Is Part of a Long List of Boy Scout Activities.

Always Ready, Always Willing, Always Thoughtful and Always Kind, Is Part of Training.

Here are some Good Turns the Community performed by Scout troops during 1923, selected from hundreds that were reported:

Paradise, Calif. Troop 12 Our troop won the "Prevent that puncture campaign" conducted in Pasadena by the Auto Club of South California.

Crawford, Tex. Troop 1 Gravelled Main Street and cleared town of rubbish.

Stickville, Pa. Troop 4 Americanization Club each member trains a foreigner for citizenship.

Greenville, Miss. Troop 1 Served as inspectors in City Clean-Up Campaign, also a deputy health officer during smallpox epidemic, helped to build and set up swings and other apparatus for the Children's Playground Association.

Roeville, Center, N. Y. Troop 2 Checked every automobile coming into the village for 12 hours straight (for the Village Board).

Charleston, C. S. Troop 2 Reported holes in pavement, and broken windows, which were repaired at once. Entertained a nearby new week troop to encourage them. Assisted in organizing three troops and created sentiment and interest for three others to organize. Gave pulse reading to all local schools to emphasize with an in-spring talk the two laws.

Birmingham, Ala. Troop 37 Collected cans and glass in one big pile to be hauled to the city dump.

Chicago, Ill. Troop 567 Troop exhibit articles made of nature collections made by Scouts for parents or friends. Window display of above downtown (Boston Store, "World's busiest corner") during Scout Week.

Akron, Ohio, Troop 19 Stimulated interest in Scouting by giving demonstrations before the various business clubs at noon luncheons.

Highgate Center, Vt. Troop 1 Held scout exhibit and entertainment, and patrol efficiency contest.

Saint Anthony, Idaho, Troop 3 Picked up all tin cans found in town, and also chopped wood for widow.

Outstanding needs: The outstanding need of the Movement is for men of character who will give service as Scoutmasters. There are 8,000,000 boys in the United States eligible for membership, and the National leaders of the Movement are advised that hundreds of thousands of these boys are anxious to become scouts, but lack leadership.

Reading Program: In addition to this program of outdoor activities for the leisure-time of boys the Movement provides for the reading period of a boy's time, both by producing and encouraging the production of the right sort of books, and the publication of a high-grade monthly magazine for all boys everywhere.

Boys' Life: The leaders in the Movement believe that it is practical, useful to provide a character build and citizenship-training program for boys that does not include leaders' in his reading.

The importance of this Movement for Boyhood and the educational value of the program are so evident every effort is being put forth to induce volunteer leaders to attend courses in Scouting, and to arrangements made by details of the Movement, both local and national, normal and universities are now making facilities available for their courses in Scouting.

FRENCH HOLD UP FOR PLANE PLANS STEALING: PARIS - An engineer and two mechanics were arrested here, charged with leading the secret plans for the construction of French airplane engines and their use in a foreign power.

Used men worked at the Breton Company. Further arrangements which are predicted soon, are expected to uncover a huge conspiracy.

CAMPAIGN TO FIGHT CANCER BEGINS FEB. 15 NEW YORK - The fourth of a series of six regional campaigns being conducted by the American Society for the Control of Cancer, will begin in the Great Lakes region Feb. 15. It will close with a cancer week beginning March 5. Physicians, surgeons, scientists, state and local boards of health, health associations and churches will actively participate.

FARMERS FIGHT SNOW TO SAVE WOMAN'S LIFE

Start Out with Sleds and Shovels to Meet Doctor.

Physician Arrives in Time and Life of Woman Is Probably Saved; Was Great Battle.

GREEN BAY - Just a group of farmers, doing for their neighbor as they would be done by, but in reality heroes, probably saved the life of a farmer's wife near here yesterday. An urgent call reached a local doctor, saying that Mrs. Edw. Champeau, living six miles from the city, was critically ill. The physician hired a light sleigh and started out. From the city, the road seemed absolutely impassable. But the doctor did not count on the farmers who had lived in this part of the country all their lives and knew what to do in emergencies. Twenty-five of them started out in hoboleds from the Champeau home, shoveling their way through the huge drifts, until they reached the county building, where they escorted him to his patient, who was in a serious condition with pneumonia.

Treatment which he received later would have been of no avail, had even the woman and the physician, stated today that she would recover.

AUTO MORTALITY DROPS IN 1923; FEWER INJURED

422 Were Killed by Automobile in 1923, Report Shows.

In 1922 Records Show 529 Met Death by Auto; State Department Suggests More Signs.

Courtesy of "gasoline alley" extended to the concrete way, must be added and added to no mean degree by a better understanding of highway motorists. Deaths from automobile accidents reported to the Michigan Department of Health, increased so manifoldly from 1918 to 1922, then fell approximately 20 per cent in 1923, that some cause for the drop must be apparent. Was it the introduction of the "slow" sign, with the added teamwork it affords the drivers of the highway? It was a longer array of electric indicators might be advised. These should include "An oncoming car," "Bright lights ahead," "Want to pass," "Spooning, don't look," and "Bad cross-cut."

Deaths from automobile accidents in Michigan numbered 422 during 1923. The year before the figure had been 529, and this marked the high point in four years of increasing mortality from motor accidents. In 1921 the figure was 462; in 1920 it was 377; in 1919, 428; and in 1918, 478. Mortality from automobile accidents does not represent the total number of deaths involving automobiles. Whenever they collide with a larger vehicle, such as a train or a street car, the deaths resulting from the collision are added to the latter. All grade-crossing casualties are regarded as railroad accidents.

Of the 422 automobile residents killed in 1923, 311 of these were males; 111 females. Of the former, 30 were boys under 10 years of age, while 26 of the 111 females were girls under 10. While August was the worst of the year with 86 deaths, this is not necessarily due to the fact that more cars are about in the summer, also the seasons of better roads. The high figure for August probably is caused by more people being out of doors. But 7 persons were killed by automobiles in February.

VIENNA (By and to United Press) - The latest costume of Eve in the playlet, "Adam and Eve," at the Volks opera here was so exact that the Director Weingartner rang down the curtain on the "dress" rehearsal.

Frank Lank, author of the play, appeared in Garden of Eden scene at the Volks opera here.

Director Weingartner had followed the rehearsal and was led out into the night before the performance was advertised to be shown for the first time to the public. On this evening the entire cast appeared in costume. All except Eve. She appeared with out costume. The curtain went up. Eve appeared. Weingartner saw and the curtain went down. Whether Adam was clothed equally as originally has not been established. Weingartner did not wait to see.

Frank Lank finally avowed she could not wear a lot of twentieth century clothes when depicting a scene from Eden. Weingartner offered Frank Lank the opportunity of presenting another little playlet named "Mamou" but he wouldn't take it to Eve with all her realism.

Neither playlet was staged.

TWO MILLION TRAMPS MAKE HOME IN "CHI"

Retards Development of Younger Men and Boys, Claimed.

Seeming Romantic Life of "Hobo" Presents an Attractive View of the Youth of Land.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (UP) - Chicago is the recognized "Hobohemia" of America. Two million knights of the hobo kingdom have the seat of their government here.

"Though this government has no authority, its law is evident to the impatient eyes of youth. Herein lies the menace."

This, in substance, is a report on "The Origin of Crime," submitted to the Chicago Crime Commission by a committee of Chicago professors.

"One of the weakest spots in Chicago's program for development of good citizens," the report stated, "is giving the tramp or hobo permission to flourish here."

"There is probably an army of 2,000,000 tramps in the United States," the report adds, "and Chicago is the chief rendezvous."

In the life of the tramp there is something strongly romantic, as viewed by the eyes of the teen-aged boy. It is a life of variety and adventure. It calls loudly to the youth portion larity if he is not too strongly bound by association and environment."

"In Chicago the places where the boys may meet these aimless transients are not different from any other city, but are more numerous," the report said.

Some of the remedial measures recommended by the committee were: Co-operating with "Hobohemia hotel managers to prevent boys' frequenting their places; the patrolling of "hobo headquarters by plain clothes men, and stringent enforcement of working certificate laws.

SEND TROOPS AS FEAR OF FANATICS GRIPS FILIPINOS

Hope to Find Black Gold in N. Carolina

Local operations for oil will begin boring operations at a locality a few miles from here shortly.

NEW BERN, N. C. (United Press) - Local operations for oil will begin boring operations at a locality a few miles from here shortly. A test well is to be sunk under the direction of an expert. Reports of oil indications have been circulated for several years. The new venture is said to be amply capitalized. Seepage and other signs on the site of the proposed operations have prompted the local company to acquire oil and mineral rights on large areas of swamp and timber lands.

"OLD" NEWSBOY IS PLEASED WITH OUR LITTLE EDITORIAL

Is One of Many Who Have Complimented Mirror on Scope and Quality of Our Editorials.

The Mirror likes to receive criticisms as well as compliments and we get both in every mail. The following letter received this morning, is unusual inasmuch as it was written by a man who once sold papers on the streets. The writer knows the feeling of unnecessary abuse and therefore the editorial appeared strongly to him. The letter follows:

Editor Mirror, Escanaba, Mich., Feb. 10, 1924.

Dear Sir: It isn't often that one reads an editorial that strikes home as much as yours of the 9th inst., captioned "Look Yourself Over."

Time does fly and I well remember when a mere youngster I stood on the street corner and time and again thought the things you so clearly expressed in this write-up of yours.

It would be the utter else a world of good to be put in this chap's place for a few hours, and perhaps give him a deeper feeling for the other fellow, regardless of supposedly inferior exterior.

Fig-Leaf Costume Stopped the Play

VIENNA (By and to United Press) - The latest costume of Eve in the playlet, "Adam and Eve," at the Volks opera here was so exact that the Director Weingartner rang down the curtain on the "dress" rehearsal.

Frank Lank, author of the play, appeared in Garden of Eden scene at the Volks opera here.

Director Weingartner had followed the rehearsal and was led out into the night before the performance was advertised to be shown for the first time to the public. On this evening the entire cast appeared in costume. All except Eve. She appeared with out costume. The curtain went up. Eve appeared. Weingartner saw and the curtain went down. Whether Adam was clothed equally as originally has not been established. Weingartner did not wait to see.

Frank Lank finally avowed she could not wear a lot of twentieth century clothes when depicting a scene from Eden. Weingartner offered Frank Lank the opportunity of presenting another little playlet named "Mamou" but he wouldn't take it to Eve with all her realism.

Neither playlet was staged.

LETHAL GAS EXECUTION WAS DECLARED TO BE A SUCCESS IN CARSON CITY EXECUTION

As Result of Tong War Two Chinamen Pay Penalty.

Details of the Latest Method Used for Capital Punishment; Three Other Ways Are Used.

CARSON CITY (United Press).— Nevada has added a new method of taking life under the law to those legally sanctioned.

This new method is "death by confinement in a lethal gas chamber," which in Nevada replaces "hanging by the neck until dead."

Its sanction, first by the legislature and then by the courts of this state followed by being placed in practice last Friday, makes four methods of carrying out death sentences legal in the United States—the other three being hanging, execution by the firing squad and electrocution.

Two Chinese are the men who went to their ends by this "civilization's latest way of taking a life for a life."

Geo. Tom and Hinghey Sing, both young men from San Francisco's Chinatown, are the two Chinese.

For two years the Chinese had been fighting to save themselves from the fate to which they were sentenced, but a month ago the highest Nevada court ruled that death by lethal gas is "not cruel and unusual" but is "an humane sleeping death" and ordered the sentence carried out.

That decision was in answer to the attack on the law on the grounds that it violated the constitutional provision against "cruel and unusual" punishment.

A War Development.

The executions, like so many innovations which civilized man has adopted, is a development of the war. The use of poison gas, the swift, sure way in which it dealt death, gave members of the Nevada legislature, who were seeking some means of eliminating the horrors of hanging, their idea.

They passed a bill at the session of 1921 substituting death by gas for hanging. The bill was urged and carried as an humane measure. It was favored as providing a more kindly means of ending a life than by breaking the neck, shooting off a head or burning out the human tissues with electricity. It was argued that a man could be placed in an airtight chamber and that while he slept gas could be turned into the cell and he would never awake. He would die without knowing it.

Opponents of the bill argued that there were tortures in death beyond physical tortures; that the uncertainty of not knowing when death would come creeping into one's dreams would be greater torture than knowing that at a given moment one's neck would be broken at the end of a rope.

But the advocates of lethal gas won and the measure became a law.

Nevada was ready to lay before the world an experiment a subject being all that was needed.

The state waited a few weeks. Then war broke out in Chinatown, San Francisco. Two tong wars were fighting. In Chinese tong wars the law is rigid—"a life for a life." Orders of the tong chiefs are to be obeyed and not questioned.

Two Ordered to Kill.

So, when the war spread beyond the confines of San Francisco's Chinatown and the tong chiefs ordered that Hinghey Sing and Geo. John should take their guns to the little town of Mina, Nevada, and kill Tom Quong Kee, they never hesitated. Tom Quong Kee belonged to the opposing tong. His tong had killed a brother tongman of theirs and it must pay "a life for a life."

In Mina, Tom Quong Kee lived peacefully and quietly, doing most of the town's washing at his laundry. He was a familiar figure, smoking his pipe during the noon hour of warm summer days, sitting in front of his rude building. The children and the grown folks alike of Mina knew him.

But, whether he lived peacefully or not, he was marked to die at the hands of Hinghey Sing and Geo. Jon, members of a rival tong.

Hinghey and Geo. arrived at Mina, slipped up at night to the window of Tom's laundry and shot Tom to death.

The next day they were arrested. Hinghey Sing, who had lived much of his life in Nevada, confessed the story in all its details. The two were convicted and so, it came, that two Chinese members of the world's oldest civilization were ordered by a judge to pay with "a life for a life" by being the first to die by civilization's newest legal means.

Hard Court Fight.

The tong of which they were members threw thousands of dollars into a court fight against the sentence and against the law. Some of the shrewdest of Nevada's lawyers were employed. But at each step they were defeated, until, after two years of futile fighting, these two Chinese were led into the room where they went to sleep and never awakened.

The execution was accomplished with scientific thoroughness. Two men were used. They are paroled.

DENBY TELLS HIS POSITION ON OIL LEASE

Gives Full Explanation of Reason for the Oil Transactions.

Declares If Wells Were Not Used by Government They Would Soon Be Drained.

(Continued from Page One) and conditions favorable and beneficial to the government of the United States. They provided for great storage tanks filled with oil at points where naval experts thought they should best be located. These tanks were to be paid for out of naval reserve oil. Not a dollar in money came from the treasury.

"The contractors built tankage and other works by direction of the Navy and under Navy specifications and Navy control as to expenditures. No profit, but only bare costs was allowed in the construction of these tanks.

Got Best We Could.

"The royalties and other considerations are believed to be the best the government could possibly get. Under these leases the Navy will be provided with fuel oil to be used in emergency, which means war, in a quantity readily accessible, which will probably last the fleet one year. Oil does not deteriorate to an appreciable extent in storage. The defenses of the United States were made greatly more secure by this action.

"These facts have been well known to the public ever since the transfer to the Interior Department was made and the leases were executed.

The Basic Questions.

"The basic questions are: 'First Did the Secretary of the Navy act within the law when he asked for the transfer of the administration of the oil lands to the Department of the Interior, which had control of all the other oil lands of the public domain? As to the question I emphatically assert that the transfer was legal.

"Second Was the execution of the agreements with the Mammoth Oil Company and the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company legal and done with due authority? I affirm that the leases were legal and did carry out the expressed will of congress.

"Third Were these leases beneficial to the United States? I must answer they were beneficial. They prevented the further loss of millions of dollars worth of oil. They placed oil on the coast and in the Hawaiian Islands where it could be reached quickly in case of emergency. They greatly increased the power of the Navy to defend the United States, which in its essence is its principal duty.

"The leases cannot be held illegal until a court of competent jurisdiction has so declared. They can not be held not to have been made in accordance with sound policy because the policy was sound and obedient to the expressed will of congress. They will be shown to have been for the benefit of the United States.

"My connection with the transactions from beginning to end was dictated by a profound belief that they were for the benefit of the United States, and was as clean and patriotic as any other act of my official or private life."

Senator Stanfield, republican, the other absentee, was without a pair. It was announced on behalf of Senator Caraway, who was the only democrat absent, that had he been present and permitted to vote, he would have voted for the resolution.

Following is the text of the resolution: "Whereas, the United States senate did, on January 21, 1921, by an unanimous vote, adopt senate joint resolution numbered 561, to procure the annulment of certain leases in the naval oil reserves of the United States; and

"Whereas, the said resolution, among other things, declared as follows: "Whereas, it appears from evidence taken by the committee on public lands and surveys of the United States senate that certain lease of naval reserve numbered 3, in the state of Wyoming, bearing date April 7, 1922, made in form, by the government of the United States, through Albert B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior, and Edwin H. Denby, Secretary of the Navy, as lessor, to the Mammoth Oil Company, as lessee, and that certain contracts between the government of the United States and the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company, dated April 25, 1922, signed by Edward C. Finney, acting Secretary of the Interior, and Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, relating among other things to the construction of oil tanks at Pearl Harbor, territory of Hawaii and that certain lease of naval reserve number 1, in the state of California, bearing date of December 11, 1921, made in form by the government of the United States through Albert B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior, and Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy, as lessor, to the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company as lessee, were executed under circumstances indicating fraud and corruption; and

"Whereas, the said leases and contract were entered into without authority on the part of the officers purporting to act in the execution of same for the United States and in violation of the laws of congress; and

"Whereas, such leases and contract were made in defiance of the settled policy of the government, adhered to through three successive administrations, to maintain in the ground a great reserve supply of oil adequate to the needs of the navy in any emergency threatening the national security;"

"Therefore, be it

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the United States senate that the President of the United States immediately request the resignation of Edwin Denby as Secretary of the Navy."

Dr. C. M. Bright of Toledo, Ohio, left for his home after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Denby.

WILLIAMSON CO. GETS ANOTHER TASTE OF LAW

This Time There Is Sudden Stop of All Trouble.

Whole County Is Overrun with Soldiers and Cities Present War-Time Spectacle.

HERRIN, Ill., Feb. 12.—Williamson county, for the first time in its feverish history, today experienced the iron hand of military rule and it does not require much imagination to liken it to a bit of country back of the lines in war-time days.

In the three principal towns of the county, Herrin, Marion and Johnston City, find their streets flanked with mounted machine guns and howitzers, soldiers with rifles and fixed bayonets patrolling the street, motor trucks loaded with soldiers and driving all over the county, even on the out-of-the-way by roads posting placards announcing the coming of the military rule.

Red Cross stations have been established and the army buglers are heard in the morning instead of the factory and mine whistles. At night the sound of taps brings to an end the noise of the city and the people instinctively turn towards their homes.

DANCING-SKATING TONIGHT.

Another old favorite Dancing and Skating party will be held again to skating patrons to attend the rink until next Sunday afternoon, due to the fact that the American Legion has engaged the hall for other purposes. Bohrs Kitchens will furnish the music for the dancers from 8 to 11 o'clock, while the band organ will play for the skaters from 7 to 10 o'clock.

This feature has always met with the approval of both dancers and skaters and it is anticipated a large crowd will be in attendance.

The rink will be open Sunday afternoon for the regular skating program and in the evening a "Flag Tag Party" will be the feature.

DETROIT TO HAVE MOORING TOWER TO HOLD SHENANDOAH

Blue Prints Are Being Prepared for Giant Sky Scraper Reaching Five Stories Into the Air.

DETROIT—Already spread across sheets of blueprints, Detroit's tallest building will be written in concrete across the downtown skyline before the end of 1925, when the 32-story town house of the Aviation Town and Country Club is completed.

Rising 352 feet above the street, the building will be topped by a 200-foot Zeppelin tower in which aircraft as great as the United States Navy's Shenandoah may be moored. The height of the finished structure, with its tower, will be 552 feet, the equivalent of 50 stories.

The skyscraper, its architects claim, will surpass in magnificence and splendor any similar clubhouse in the world, with its great swimming pool, large enough for water polo, its golf course to accommodate 75 persons at one time, its many other social features and the 16 floors of living quarters for permanent and transient members.

Cost of the "town house" will be $2,000,000. The financing, which will be without assessment of members, is in the hands of the Book Estate, whose dream of making Washington Boulevard the "Fifth Avenue of Detroit," this is brought nearer realization.

The Aviation Club building will strike a new note, Fred W. Warner, president, said, in its appeal to the entire family, as well as the individual club member. The club also will retain its country house and 280-acre property at Green Lake near Pontiac.

Franklin P. T. A. Will Meet.

A meeting of the Franklin P. T. A. will be held Friday evening, Feb. 15, at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the school. There will be an interesting program rendered, with Supt. Oddy giving a short talk. After the program there will be a social and a lunch will be served. The numbers of the program will appear in a later issue of this paper. All fathers as well as mothers are cordially invited to be present.

GIND OVER SUPERVISOR ON EMBEZZLING CHARGE

HURLEY—Edward Evenson, supervisor of Mercer, Saturday was bound over to circuit court for trial on a charge of embezzling $5,000 of district school funds. The case has been hanging fire for nearly two years.

plastered interior. Early in the morning they were placed in the prison yard and connected with three pipes through which air was pumped in a continuous flow.

Into these cells the prisoners were led at the appointed hour and then, at some moment unknown to them, three valves in the three air pipes were turned on by three guards. Two of the valves have no effect. The third is so arranged that it shuts off the flow of air and turns in hydrocyanic acid gas—one of the most deadly of poisons. In a matter of a few moments after this valve is turned, the men were dead.

The three valves are used so that some of the three men who turn them can be certain that he was the man who turned the valve which changed the flow of life-giving air to a flow of death dealing gas. It is a matter of mental protection for the guards; that they may go on living without doubt the knowledge that they took a life.

Senate Says Denby Shall Be Removed requesting that he retire from the cabinet. Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, author of the resolution, said in a statement that he had no objection.

Toward the close of the senate debate, Senator Johnson of California, a candidate for the republican presidential nomination, asked his colleagues to turn out of office all of those connected with the oil leases and Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, leader of the republican insurgents, declared that President Coolidge and the republican party as well as Secretary Denby and Attorney General Daugherty must bear their share of the responsibility.

In the end, the republicans cast their votes for the Denby resolution. The republican organization fought to the last to prevent adoption, but went down in defeat after a parliamentary fight almost without precedent in American history.

Nine Absentees.

Nine senators were absent and six others—Glass, Harrison, Jones of New Mexico, Owen, Smith and Stanley, all democrats—were unable to cast their ballots because they were paired with absentees. They announced that if permitted to vote they would support the resolution. The pairs were announced as follows:

Caraway, for, with Watson, against; Glass, for, with McLean, against; Harrison, for, with Ekins against; Jones of New Mexico, for, with Ferrand, against; Owen, for, with McCormick, against; Smith, for, with Sterling, against; Stanley, for, with Ernst, against.
