SINGLE COPIES, FIVE CENTS

Just Between Ourselves

A few days ago the United States Supreme court ruled against the establishment of branch banks. They said branch banks made an unhealthy financial condition.

Yesterday the little bank at Rapid River failed to open its doors. It was practically a branch bank, owned by an Iowa banker. When he ran short of funds in Iowa bank, it appears, he got more money from his bank in Rapid River.

Now the Rapid River depositors are wondering where they are going to get off and how much they will or not lose. It may be some time before they find out.

The Delta County bankers, Mr. French, Mr. Smith, Mr. Malloch, Mr. Noreus, or Mr. Olson would not lend Delta county money to Iowa farmers. It would be an unusual procedure. A Delta county farmer or business man would have a hard time borrowing money on his real estate from a bank in Iowa. Still, Rapid River people seem to have loaned their money in Iowa.

Local banks are for local people and local people ought to be for the local banks. We have enough of them in the county to take care of all deposits and all loans. Rapid River folks thought they need a bank. They got one and it may cost them money. Now there is some talk of forming a new banking organization there. Really, there seems to be "crying need" for it.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

Day of remembrance. Poetic season of love. Harbinger of the birth of spring. Such is the Day of Valentine, observed in many lands on this day.

Every year on February 14 the Christian countries of the world in one manner or another pause to pay tribute to St. Valentine, Christian martyr of the third century. For many centuries after the martyrdom the day was marked by religious festivals. With some peoples and some sects the religious custom still maintains while among others the observance has assumed an aspect quite different. The American custom of exchanging love tokens or valentines on St. Valentine's Day, although having no connection with the life or death of the Christian saint, is nevertheless the most quaint and romantic of those associated with St. Valentine. On this day each year millions embody their mutual affection, love and friendship in artistic messages and ornaments, all of little intrinsic value, to be sure, but all of immeasurable extrinsic value to lovers, friends and relatives. The value of the valentine is in the message it brings or imparts.

When and from what the modern custom of exchanging valentines originated is not definitely known. It is possible that it could be traced back to some ceremony of the early Christian church. There is a direct connection between this modern custom and the early belief that the birds began their spring mating on St. Valentine's Day. What wonder that humans exchanged tokens of tender love upon first viewing the billing and cooing doves and the busy nest-building of the other birds.

There was a religious devotion attached to the early commemoration of the martyrdom of St. Valentine and his anniversary in this modern and materialistic age renews the bond of brotherhood. What a pity that the artistic valentine, so long idealized, should degenerate into hideous vulgarities posing as comics. Let us hope that posterity will not, through us, inherit St. Valentine, the Roman martyr, as the personification of the vulgarly comic and that St. Valentine's Day shall endure until eternity as the symbol of love and friendship.

TAXATION AND EMPLOYMENT.

Advocates of the present high surtax claim that if rich men could be prevented from investing their money in tax-exempt bonds there would be no reason for reducing the high surtax, the payment of which they now escape by the tax-exempt bond route.

If the government had had a heavy surtax on high incomes it is doubtful if Henry Ford would ever have built up the large plant he did, because he built it up out of his surplus earnings, for in the crucial stages he needed every cent of his surplus to make it go. On a much smaller scale this is true in every business.

If during the period when the average established business made its largest growth government taxes—state and national—had been at their present figures which take from 25 to 50 per cent of the larger incomes through surtaxes, there would never have been millions of people in this country today.

Enough savings or reserves built up to make profitable employment for many which is taken by the gov-

"Colossal Bread Trust" Casts Gloom

DECLARES STAFF OF LIFE SHOULD SELL AT 5 CENTS

Average Price in United States Is Nine Cents Today.

In London a Pound of Bread Made From American Wheat Is Sold for Four Cents, Report Says.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—A report charging a nation-wide profiteering in bread and that the creation of a "colossal bread trust" is impending, was submitted today by Basil Manley, director of the People's Legislative Service, to Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and to other Progressive senators and representatives.

In the report, which was outlined by the organization, recommended congressional action to curb bread prices.

It was stated that a report showed that the American people are paying a million dollars a day too much for their bread, the retail price in the United States, which is nine cents a pound, whereas at the present basis of wheat prices, it should be five cents. The report stated that bread made in England was being sold at an established price of four cents a pound.

STROKE FATAL TO FRED SCHWEITZER

Marquette Lumberman Died Tuesday Night in Los Angeles, Cal.

MARQUETTE, Mich.—Fred J. Schweitzer, 64 years old, a resident of Marquette all his life, and a lumberman many years, died Tuesday night in Los Angeles, California, where he and his family had been living during the last three months.

News of Mr. Schweitzer's death came yesterday in a telegram from his brother, John F. Schweitzer, who also lives in Los Angeles. Fred Schweitzer was well known in Marquette and in the Upper Peninsula, especially in lumber circles. He lived for many years in the family home at the corner of North Front and Prospect streets, which he sold before going to California. His death was caused by a stroke of paralysis.

He leaves a widow and three children, Allen, Ripley and Olive, all of whom are in Los Angeles. There are three brothers, John F. of Los Angeles, Julius H. of Cleveland, and William H. of Marquette, and a sister, Mrs. J. J. Brown, of Marquette. Funeral services will be conducted Friday in Los Angeles.

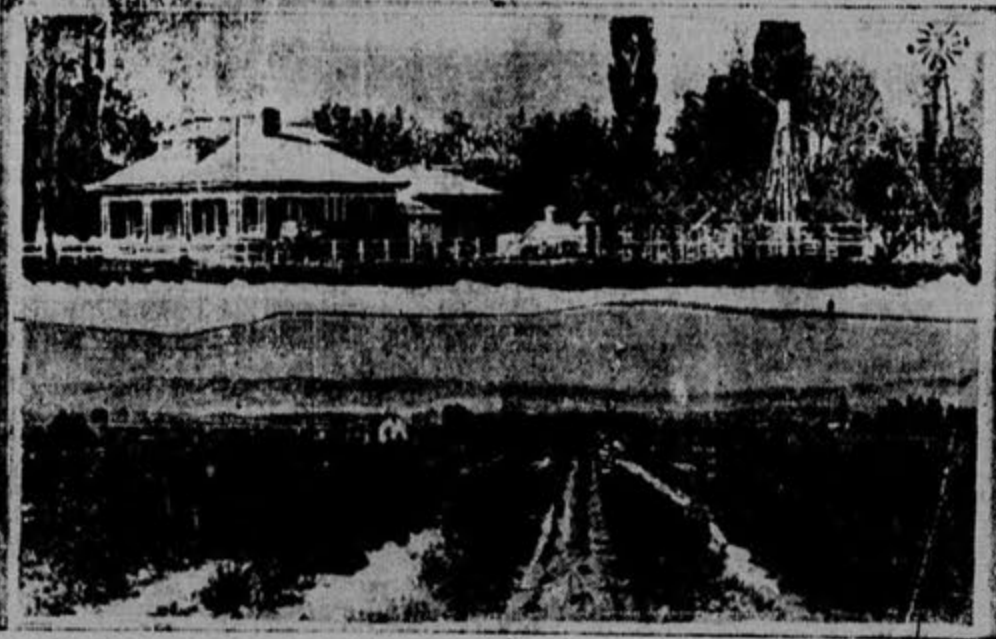

Editor Comes to Escanaba to See Its Good Points

Pat O'Brien, of the Iron River Reporter, came to town last night to look over Escanaba and get some pointers as to how a good town ought to be managed, or perhaps it would be putting it better to write, to find out how to make his own town better by adopting the commission form of government. He has been in consultation with City Manager Harris and will go back home well repaid for his trip to Escanaba.

TWENTY PEOPLE HURT IN WRECK NEAR POWERS

Responsibility for the Collision Has Not Been Fixed; Engineer Green Badly Cut.

Passenger and Freight Come Together on Northwestern.

Twenty people were hurt, none seriously last night at about 6 o'clock when Passenger Train No. 224, southbound, and a northbound freight, known as No. 23, met head-on two miles south of Powers. The blame for the accident has not been fixed as yet, but it is said to have been a misunderstanding of train orders.

At Kloman, where there is a sharp curve, and where the accident happened, the passenger train was going at about thirty miles an hour and the freight was said to have been moving along at possibly ten miles an hour, and was stopped before the trains collided.

Matt Sullivan, engineer on the freight, along with his fireman, jumped just before the train was struck, but Engineer James Green stuck on the job until his train stopped and was badly cut about his head and face. The sudden application of air brakes and the shock as the trains came together was the cause of the minor injuries to the passengers who were thrown about the coaches.

Ypsilanti Votes Ford Site for Power Dam

YPSILANTI, Mich., Feb. 14.—At a special election here yesterday the voters approved the selling of the waterworks plant site for a dam on the Huron river and a tract of municipally-owned land to the Ford Motor Company, for $30,000. The vote was 1,688 to 112.

Nothing definite is known as to the plans of the Ford Company, but it is understood that it will erect a wooden mill for manufacture of upholstery cloth. The mill probably will be located about three miles south of the city.

4 Hurt as Snowdrifts Cause Auto Crash

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 14.—Jack Morea, 29 years old, of Leslie, is at Mercy hospital, unconscious from injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding went off the road and was wrecked four miles north of Jackson last night. Adam Russell, 29 years old, also of Leslie, also is in the hospital, badly bruised. Two other youths were slightly injured.

The accident was caused by two cars attempting to pass where the road was filled with snowdrifts.

RAILROADS WIN NEW HEARING ON RATE CUT

LANSING, Mich.—The recent order of the Michigan Public Utilities Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission reducing freight rates in the Lower Peninsula of Michigan, was suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission, pending a rehearing which was asked two weeks ago by four Michigan railroads. The order would have been effective March 1.

The railroads which obtained the rehearing were the G. R. & I., the Grand Trunk, the Michigan Central and the Pere Marquette. The original order called for a reduction of about 6 per cent in rates through Central Michigan and the Thumb district. It would have saved shippers about $1,500,000 a year.

SHAFFER GETS ON THE INSIDE OF OIL LEASE

Chicago Publisher Tells Investigating Committee About It.

Fall Told Publisher He Would Be Well Taken Care of and Results Show He Actually Was.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—John C. Shaffer, publisher of the Chicago Post, and other newspapers, testified today that Secretary Fall had told him in March, 1921, the very month he entered the cabinet, that he was going to lease Teapot Dome to Harry Sinclair. At that time Teapot Dome was not under Mr. Fall's jurisdiction.

Mr. Shaffer told also, how he, himself, had got a one-eighth interest in the Pioneer Oil company, a Standard subsidiary in connection with the Teapot Dome, and gave up nothing in return. He said an old claim, pending on Secretary Fall, who promised merely for the asking that he would be taken care of.

New Directors Are Elected at the Railway Co-Op.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders in the Railroad Co-operative Store, which was held at the North Star hall on Tuesday evening, Charles O'Connell, president, went over the year's business in a thorough manner and showed where their store had made a nice business and financial gain during the past twelve months.

Several good sound talks were made by some of the stockholders, in which the listeners were urged to patronize home industry in all lines. After the meeting a luncheon was served and dancing indulged in until a late hour. The directors for the coming year were named as follows: C. R. O'Connell, Henry Rose, T. E. Strom, John A. Fisher, D. P. Burns, T. J. Kirkpatrick, Joseph Piffo, M. J. Tonkin, Charles W. Molloy, Frank Kidd, W. D. LaFond, Escanaba, and John Olson, Stoughton.

Attorney for Doheny Says Colby Services Never Sought.

It Is Shown That Fall Did Not Want to Have Legal Opinion of Any of the Oil Leases.

Washington, Feb. 14. (2:15 p. m.)—The oil committee decided today that Frank J. Vanderlip would not be questioned until tomorrow.

Vanderlip Was Ready.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—With Frank R. Vanderlip waiting to explain his recent references to the sale of President Harding's newspaper in Marion, Ohio, for $550,000, Oscar Sutor, counsel for the Standard Oil Company of California, appeared before the committee and was questioned regarding the refusal of his company to bid on the Fall leases. Mr. Vanderlip arrived in the committee room at two minutes before the committee met. Chairman Lenroot said he would be called during the day, about the reports he circulated about the Marion Star. The following telegram from one of the purchasers of the Marion Star was also ordered to be put into the records.

Owners on Way. "Roy C. Moore and I will arrive in Washington and request that either or both of us be permitted to tell the senate oil investigating committee what we know about the sale of the Marion Star. We will arrive late Thursday afternoon."

The committee apparently had reached no decision as to whether to recall E. I. Doheny and ask whether he had attempted to employ Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state, and law partner of former President Woodrow Wilson.

Never Hired Colby. Attorney Hogan, representing Mr. Doheny today, issued the following statement: "Neither Mr. Colby, nor any firm with which he was ever retained by or employed by Mr. Doheny or any company in which he was interested at any time before or since he was a member of Mr. Wilson's cabinet. Nor has Mr. Doheny at any time sought to employ Mr. Colby in any matter whatsoever."

Attacks Women, Girls; Police Hunting Moron

MADISON, Wis.—Police are hunting for a degenerate who has attacked women and girls on the East side of the city on three occasions during the last week. The latest report was made to police headquarters Sunday, when a man attacked two out-of-town women who had arrived on an early morning train and were making their way down East Johnson street to the home of a friend.

Girl Struck by Truck Gets $17,960 Damages

SAULT STE. SIX MILLIONS ARE READY TO LOAN FARMERS

Meeting of Bankers in Chicago Promises Relief Soon.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 14.—Six million of the ten million dollars as capital of the new banking service corporation, formed at the conference of February 4th, by President Coolidge to relieve northwestern agriculture, have been subscribed. John V. McHugh of New York, chairman of the organization committee, announced today at the meeting of bankers here to complete organization.

AGED CONVICT MAY BE FREED

Janette Favors Granting John Benedetto Another Parole.

MARQUETTE, Mich.—John Benedetto, 72 years old, life prisoner, who was returned to Marquette prison a few days ago from Boston, as a parole violator may be given another chance for freedom.

Benedetto was sentenced for the murder of a min captain in Gogebic county and served 15 years. He was paroled by Governor Grosbeck with the understanding that he go to Italy. When a member of the state police took him to New York and put him on a boat, he stole ashore before the ship sailed and made his way to Boston. He was arrested there a few days ago on complaint of local officers as a parole violator, and returned to Marquette.

Fred E. Janette, pardon and parole commissioner, yesterday said that although Benedetto is technically liable to imprisonment for the rest of his days, he is not disposed to press the violation charge. If his relatives or friends raise the necessary funds he will be placed aboard a ship bound for Italy again. This time, according to Mr. Janette, the officers will make sure that he sails.

PURDUE TIES MAROONS
BY WIN OVER N. U., 34-18

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—The Purdue University basketball team formed a partnership with the Maroon quintet in sharing first place honors in the Big Ten conference, when the Hoosiers defeated Northwestern, 34 to 18, here Tuesday night. Over two-thirds of Purdue's points were scored in the first half of the contest which was featured by the stellar playing of Spreading, who netted eight field goals and two free throws. Purdue led at the half, 24 to 2, the lone Northwestern marker being made by Mathews, who scored the initial basket of the contest. Frequent substitutions were made by the Purple mentor to bolster his lineup, and in the last period most of the Purdue substitutes were sent in.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams of Belvidere, Ill., returned to their home after a week's visit with relatives in the city.

'HOSS SENSE' NEEDED IN SPORT, SAYS U. P. WRITER OF SPORTS

Charley Moran, Centre College Football Coach, Illustrates.

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (United Press)—Nothing is more practical than the application of good, old-fashioned horse sense to correct the fancied or actual ills that are found occasionally of offense in various lines of sport.

Much is heard of the sea rate and it waiting for football just around the corner if that immensely popular sport does not follow different paths.

Some professors, heavy thinking heads and serious minded reformers think that by legislation and by conference forms of agreement, any leaning toward professionalism can be curbed and that pure standards of ethics can be maintained.

It is a well known fact that if there is a will to get around rules, the most drastic and the tightest code of morals and ethics can be cheated. No set of rules, on the other hand, need be applied when there is a will to do the right thing.

This point was well illustrated recently. Charley Moran, for many years coach of football at Centre college, resigned and accepted a position in the same capacity at Bucknell.

Several of the Centre stars decided that they would go along with Moran and enter Bucknell. Centre didn't like the idea, of course, and the purists cast some reflection on football in general.

Logically and ethically, nothing could stop those young men from transferring along with their former coach. As long as they complied with the eligibility rules as they are applied to period of residence and conformation with scholastic requirements they were eligible candidates.

Moran stopped it, however, by telling the players that he could not stop them from the pursuit of knowledge at Bucknell, but he could prevent them from the exercise of their athletic ability and while they might be accepted as occupants of chairs in the lecture halls, they would not be allowed to play for him on the football field.

The young men decided to remain at Centre.

Application of some common sense, although all the traditions of practical politics were violated, in doing it, recently saved the boxing game in New York.

Boxing was in bad with the politicians who used the outside excuse that the law was being badly administered. The father of the boxing bill jumped clear of its responsibility and said that a "landis" was needed to make the game clean.

The game in New York did have a "landis" at its head for several years, but he was booted out of office by those who couldn't get their axe on the stone.

He did everything that a human being could do to keep in control the most unruly of all the sports, but he didn't work for the interests of the "jobbers" and he was forced out of authority.

Governor Smith used more good horse sense when he listened to the appeal for a "landis" and reappointed William "Duke" Muldoon to do his old job.

From a political standpoint it was a heinous offense to pass up all the worthy democratic candidates for a job that pays no money in salary, but from a practical standpoint it was the thing to do and the governor did it.

Commenting upon the reappointment of Muldoon, Tex Rickard, the leader of the boxing industry in New York, said that nothing else but the action of the governor in putting Muldoon back in office could have saved the game.

"Muldoon is erratic," Rickard said. "He has caused me more trouble than any man with whom I have ever dealt. But he is fearless, he is honest and he knows the game. I'm glad to see him back because it is only a man of his rare and unusual qualifications who can keep in check some of the elements in boxing that would stab it to death."

With many examples that could be used to point out the futility of petty wrangling and political fighting, the A. A. U. and the N. C. A. A. will get some common sense soon and quit battling for the control of amateur athletics in the United States.

Aggies Bow to Attack of Western Normal

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 14.—The Western State Normal basketball team defeated the Michigan Aggie, 25 to 16, here last night in a game marked by rough playing on the part of both teams.

The first half was fairly even, the score standing 8 to 6 at the half time. The visitors spurred in the final period and took a comfortable lead at the outset.

INDIANAPOLIS PREPARES FOR SPEED EVENTS

Automobile Sweepstakes to Be Held May 30th; 500 Mile Classic.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 14. The starting line at the track of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, where the annual 500 mile international sweepstakes automobile race is held every May 29, has been moved into the back stretch about 500 feet. The judges' stand, which also has accommodations for the newspaper reporter, also has been moved and set farther back from the edge of the track.

Although only one automobile race a year is held at the speedway, a corps of workmen are given, year around employment to keep the place in condition. When the next contest is four months away, much of the routine in connection with it is ready to be handled. The finishing line on the track was moved back for the accommodation of the fans sitting along the stretch. The old finishing line was only a short distance from the first turn in the 2 1/2 mile oval.

The judges' stand was set back from the edge of the track as a direct result of the introduction of the small one-seated racing cars which performed here for the first time last May. The numbers painted on the cars were necessarily small and the judges and others had difficulty in checking them correctly. Entry blanks already have been issued for the next race.

STAMFORD SELECTED FOR WILLS-FIRPO GO

But - Connecticut Authorities May Enter Objection.

SPORT—STAMFORD SELECTED. NEW YORK, Feb. 14. Lew Ritz announced last night that the boxing syndicate for which he is spokesman, has selected Stamford, Conn., as the site for the Firpo-Wills bout and that an arena seating 115,000 spectators would be built there.

The promoters expected the public to pay at least $1,000,000 and perhaps $2,000,000 to see the fight as the best seats would cost $50, he said. The arena would be modeled after the Yale bowl, he explained.

HARTFORD, Feb. 14. The syndicate behind the Firpo-Wills fight is likely to meet considerable difficulty in producing the fight in this state.

There is a clause in the state laws governing the sport that prevents "outside" promoters from coming into Connecticut to promote fist fights.

Two of the three members of the board declared their opposition to mixed bouts.

The state board officially knows nothing of the proposed bout.

Olympic Games to Be Held Sundays, Also

PARIS, Feb. 14. (United Press)—Olympic games will be held on Sunday, regardless of the religious views of some of the entrants on sport on the Sabbath.

The French Olympic committee has reached this decision after the question was brought up by the British Olympic committee, on behalf of the Scottish members of the team.

It was held that if the Sunday dates were eliminated, the games would last too long, causing hardship to many nations which already have made all preparation, and figured their expenses accordingly.

The committee was also influenced by the fact that Sunday is the biggest sporting day of the week in Paris and for many French people this will be the only day it will be possible for them to see the games. For that reason the program has been arranged so that many of the semi-finals and finals will fall on Sunday.

Clergman a Sprinter.

Several well known athletes will be affected by this decision, including the Scottish sprinter, Eric Liddel, who is an Episcopal clergyman.

The committee has declined to heed the informal protests of American and British yachtsmen against holding the sailing races in the Seine at Meulan, instead of Havre, as originally planned. American and British yachtsmen felt it was unfair to ask eight-metre yacht crews to race on a river. It was pointed out that the same scheme was attempted in 1900, when the bigger yachts, although the best at sea, were defeated by a small light yacht on the Seine. The rowing commission of the French committee has completed plans for the rowing events, which will be held on the Seine at Argenteuil, near the Colombes Stadium. There will be five events, single and double sculls, pairs, fours and eights, all with coxswains. These events will be rowed between July 13 and 17. The dates have been advanced about five weeks, which will put the American team at a disadvantage, because the tryouts are scheduled as late as June 13 in Philadelphia, and the American oarsmen will have a shorter period of preparation than was originally planned.

Dig Deep Enough To Find Pay Dirt

The story runs that early in life Mark Twain, the famous American author, and another fellow went prospecting for gold in some of the western hills. Having every good reason to believe the spot they had selected would produce "pay dirt" they started to dig.

After days and days of backaching use of pick and shovel, Mark became weary and quit, giving his share in the venture to his partner, who kept on digging and in a few days more struck it rich.

The point is—some people try the WANT COLUMNS once or twice and because an avalanche of returns does not come in immediately they despair and quit.

Reasonable use of the WANT COLUMNS under any classification will, sooner or later, pay a handsome profit on a small investment, so if you want a home or have one for sale, or desire to purchase or sell a used car, need a position or help—give the Want Ads a fair chance—they will produce—because the "pay dirt" is there.

States Must Regulate All Interstate Trains

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 11. The State Public Utilities Commission was notified yesterday that the Interstate Commerce Commission has ruled that the Federal Transportation Act does not empower it to rule on train service in interstate traffic between Wisconsin and Michigan in the Upper Peninsula.

This Wisconsin and Michigan commission asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue an order relative to service across the boundary, and the Federal commission came back with the reply that the state commissions have jurisdiction. Members of the Michigan commission expressed the opinion that the interstate service should be regulated by the Federal commission.

Traverse City Is Puzzled Over the Death of Sparrows

TRAVERSE CITY, Feb. 11. Sparrows and song birds in this vicinity are rapidly becoming victims of what is said to be a wholesale poisoning plot. Hundreds of dead birds have been found, and the large numbers that used to appear in the yards where food was left for them have diminished to only a few. Although there is a bounty on sparrows, payable during the first three months of the year, not many birds have been presented for the payments, probably because of the law against using poison which kills the songbirds, as well as the sparrows.

'U' HOSPITAL HEAD EXPECTED TO QUIT

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 11. The resignation of Dr. Christopher G. Parnall, professor of administrative medicine at the University of Michigan and director of the University Hospital, has been submitted to Dr. Marion L. Roy Barton, president of the university, close friends of Dr. Parnall said.

Dr. Parnall is out of the city. The resignation is understood to be due to friction between Dr. Parnall and Dr. Hark M. Cabot, dean of the medical school. Dr. Cabot said that the statement that Dr. Parnall intends to resign is probably true. He refused, however, to discuss the reports of friction between himself and Dr. Parnall. Dean Cabot accepts an investigation of the research work at the hospital and submitted a report to Dr. Barton.

Dr. Parnall came to Ann Arbor in 1918 from Jackson, where he was director of a hospital.

Chicago Miss Is Champion Girl Athlete of World

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. The champion girl athlete of the world, Miss Helen Filby, took her first step in the history of the world's greatest girl athlete. And it is talking about a little, gaining black eyes, high school girl who is not yet 16 years old.

She is Helen Filby, daughter of Chicago building contractor. Her world records and three American records make her the greatest girl athlete to date. She was born March 12, 1908.

"She is the only person, girl or boy, who ever made a world record in an athletic event," says her father.

"This coming season, outdoor and indoor, ought to bring some great performances from her. She expects to break every record she now holds and to add a few more to her list."

Helen's greatest single day, when she had 100 feet in the A. A. U. national outdoor meet in Chicago when she broke two records. She made 16 feet, 6.28 inches in the broad jump, a world record for girls, and made the 100 yard dash in 11.9 seconds, a new American record for girls.

Then, with only a 12 minute rest between events, she entered the 25 yard high hurdles and finished second in 11.77 seconds. In the running high jump she finished fourth, going 4 feet 8 inches.

"To show she was a better hurdler than the girl who defeated her," says her father, "Helen ran a trial against time at another meet last fall. She went 25 yards over six hurdles in two seconds, breaking the record by one second."

In an exhibition at Washington Park here she threw a two pound discus 26 feet 3 inches and threw the girl's javelin 37 feet 9 inches. The latter being the best American throw, although it does not stand as a record. She also made 8 feet 1 1/2 inches in the standing broad jump without dumbbells.

"At an earlier meet here of the I. A. C. she won the 50 yard dash and in winning the 50 yard high hurdle race set a pace of 8.14 seconds, equaling the world record. The same day she broke the world's 50 yard low hurdle record by 2.5 seconds."

Helen Filby was a delicate child until she was about 11 years old. Her mother took her to California for a year then, and she began her remarkable physical development by playing on the beach and taking athletic training. At 16 she became the world's greatest athlete.

NELSON WASHES DISHES IN JAIL

'Kangaroo Court' Edit. Makes Detroit Attorney Bus Boy of Berrien Prison.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Feb. 11. With an apron around his waist and a dishcloth in his hand, Walter M. Nelson, Detroit attorney, is today little more than a bus boy in the Berrien county jail by virtue of the sentence imposed upon him by "Kangaroo Court" after his arrival here Saturday night. Nelson is serving a 30-day sentence on a charge of contempt of court imposed by Judge Harry J. Dinneen in connection with damage suits against the House of David.

In addition to washing the prison's dishes, mopping and sweeping the jail quarters, Nelson is being subjected to unmerciful hazing by the other inmates. Whenever he turns he is greeted with the nickname of "King Ben." Sheriff George Bridgman, who admits that his feelings toward the attorney are anything but kindly, joined in the "fun" Sunday by calling Nelson into his office and asking him if he wished his body to be turned over to a local undertaker in case of death.

Nelson replied with some heat in the negative and was led back to his cell.

It's Easy to Be Famous If You Know How

OLIVET, Mich., Feb. 11. (United Press)—It's all very simple, the business of being famous, if one can trust President Voelker of Olivet college.

"If our mental growth goes on, you are 25 years old," he said in a recent talk before chapel, "you will be a leader of men; and if it should extend to 40 years, you will be among famous men of your time."

The average person's mental growth stops, Dr. Voelker said, at the age of 15 years. Many stop at 12. Mental growth is not measured by work or the grade of an examination paper," said the president, "but is the result of the appetitive mass that soaks up knowledge in the classroom or wherever man may be as trees of such moisture that develops growth."

Benton Harbor Hotel Will Be Started Soon

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Feb. 11. (United Press)—Immediate reconstruction of the Vincent hotel, which collapsed here during the bitter cold spell late in January while under construction, is to be started as soon as weather conditions permit. The structure, which was being built of concrete, fell gradually throughout a night and day.

Contractors shouldered the entire loss. Stockholders stand to lose nothing, according to the builders, except trade that will be lost because opening must be delayed until after the summer.

Collapse of the building, which had reached seven stories, was the result of the sudden drop in temperature. It is agreed, in two days the thermometer dropped 25 degrees to 10 below zero. While this in itself would have no ill effect, architects said, cold weather necessitates a longer "curing" period, so that the cement had not hardened when the thaw came, although it appeared hard enough to justify stripping of the forms. The thaw resulted in fractures and collapse followed.

Miss Leola Trombey left yesterday for Rock, where she will visit with relatives.

Mrs. Ralph Gasman of Park River, is visiting relatives and friends in the city.

OIL MIXTURE CAUSES DEATH, OIL CO. SAYS

Kerosene and Gasoline in Tank Which Exploded.

CHARLOTTE, Mich., Feb. 11. The Standard Oil Company of Indiana has paid the Barry & Eaton Insurance Company of this city $27,000, the full amount of the claim paid by the insurance company to J. E. Graham of Lansing, owner of a house at Millett which was destroyed by fire May 26, 1923. The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Stanton and their family. Eva Stanton, 14-year-old daughter, burned to death in the fire. It is understood that the oil company also has made a settlement with the Stantons.

An investigation of the fire developed that it was due to carelessness on the part of one of the oil company employees who placed gasoline in a kerosene tank in the general store at Millett, the oil company officials admitted. This mixture, bought by the Stantons as kerosene, was used by Eva Stanton to build a fire. The tank containing it exploded in her hands and the house was destroyed. Mrs. Stanton was badly burned and an 8-year-old daughter escaped by breaking through a window. The other children were outside at the time of the explosion.

MOVIE ACTRESS STAIN IN NEW YORK APARTMENT, HER BODY TIED TO BED

Louise Lawson, a young woman with many acquaintances of wealth and position who went to New York City six years ago from Walnut Springs. She was found dead in her expensive apartment, her hands bound behind her head, her feet lashed to the bedposts, and a towel stuffed in her mouth. Her body is given as the motive of the killing. Her display of snobbery is believed to have led to her death, the murder being very similar to that of Dot King, the model, nearly a year ago. She was a friend of the late Angier B. Duke and one of those on the spy list which ended in his downfall at the Italian Harbor yacht club at Greenwich, Conn. last September.

Five Former Mistresses of the White House Who Survived Their History-Making Husbands

In the annals of American history are recorded the names of five women who survived their husbands who were Presidents or former Presidents of the United States. These are Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt No. 1; Mrs. Warren G. Harding No. 2; Mrs. Woodrow Wilson No. 3; Mrs. Benjamin Harrison No. 4; and Mrs. Thomas J. Pendergast No. 5.

Boys Find Lot Of Moonshine In Drain Pipe

PLANTERS, Mich., Feb. 11. (United Press.)—A lot of moonshine was discovered in a drain pipe of three Flint youths who are 12 years of age. The boys were not to be much talk of being out of the pipe and may be arrested.

While looking for pipe to lay with the three boys investigated a six-inch drain pipe in the rear of a building and uncovered a cache of seven pints of moonshine. They promptly confiscated it and took it to police headquarters. A further search by a long-arm detective revealed five more pints.

Could Not Make Up His Mind And Lost Both Farms

THREE RIVERS, Mich., Feb. 11. (United Press.)—Thomas Dr. H. M. Honek didn't know which of his two farms he wanted to keep, he lost both.

After he and his wife had considered the matter for some time without reaching a decision, they agreed to advertise both and sell the one that was applied for first.

Before very long some Chicagoans purchased the farms. In one fruit farm near Combsville and the couple, relieved that the decision had been made for them, started out for their future home near Ypsilanti—the 50-acre dairy farm.

When they got there, a purchaser was on the spot with everything ready for Dr. Honek's signature. The doctor agreed, but couldn't go back on the advertisement and now he and his wife are out two farms.

FINGER PRINTS IDENTIFY DEAD BODY AS THAT OF PAROLED MAN

Finger prints taken from the body of a man buried at Bergland as an unknown person a few days ago after he had been run over and killed by a South Shore train, identifies him as Ed Parpala, a paroled convict from the Marquette branch prison.

Before the burial, Ontonagon authorities made every effort to identify the man but without success. A few days after interment a man told Sheriff O'Rourke, of Ontonagon county, that he had seen the man and believed he was Parpala, who was sentenced from Ontonagon county to serve from one to fifteen years for burglary.

J. O. Simon, Berillion expert in the Marquette prison, went to Bergland, the body was exhumed and finger prints made identification possible.

Prison authorities last track of Parpala a few months ago and were looking for him as a parole violator. He was about 40 years old and was paroled in December, 1922.

Well Alarm Good System, But One Time Made Error

MADRID (United Press.)—When the church bells of the hamlet of Cibur ring out, their chimes do not always mean to the populace a call of worship. On working days, they mean the approach of the tax collector.

Tax collectors have no friends in Cibur and when they approach a village, an aged watchman, notified by scouts, signals the priests who sound the church bells. And thereupon the good people drop their work and shut their doors. Men, women and children have but a single thought when the alarm is given and the collectors can never find them in the dense forests.

But the system has led to legal complications. A few days ago a man appeared to inquire about the death of a girl who had been strangled. The policeman advised him a tax collector, gave the sign, and the magistrate found the village deserted. He sought out the local priest to question him, but he too had slipped through the back door and reached the seclusion of the forest.

The attorney general of the country has ordered the arrest of all the town councilmen, the mayor and the priest.

EXIT, MR. ROBIN.

MANISTEE, Feb. 11. (United Press.)—What's a little thing like six feet of snow with more falling, when one is young and healthy. Such seemed to be the sentiment of a dainty green butterfly which fluttered around town during the last blizzard. It was captured while making apparitions for the spring weather promised by the mild week before.

Forfeits $3,000 Bond Because Convict Fled

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 11. (United Press.)—The $3,000 bond furnished by Mrs. Carmella Oliva, Italian grocer, for the appearance of Anthony Mazzara, in the United States District Court here, and which was declared forfeited by Judge Claude Z. Luse when the man failed to appear to serve his sentence, was paid.

Mazzara is Mrs. Oliva's business partner. He was found guilty of a violation of the prohibition law and was sentenced to six months in the Milwaukee house of correction last fall. He disappeared after Judge Luse had issued a stay of execution to permit him to attend some business matters.

Trying to Stop Smoking in the Lansing Schools

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 11. (United Press.)—Statistics compiled by the city of Lansing, Mich., show that 21 per cent of the boys in the Lansing public schools, in a campaign, were made to break up smoking among high school boys. Smokers contribute for more lights to honor groups and are more likely to fall in groups than do non smokers, the survey shows.

In the general group of boys, 21 per cent received excellent standings, 21 per cent good and 58 per cent fair. Among the smokers, however, the percentages were 11 per cent excellent, 17 per cent good and 72 per cent fair. Contributions of the boys classified as non smokers in the general group were 27 per cent good and 73 per cent fair. Smokers ranked 12 per cent good and 88 per cent fair.

Germans Ask for Aid to Print Bible

BERLIN, Feb. 11. (United Press.)—The circulation of the Evangelical Bible, and with it the commercial and moral stability of Germany is in grave danger, according to the Deutscher Bibelhilfeverein, which plans to save the country from this catastrophe.

In an appeal to all German evangelists and faithful, the Verein declares: "The whole work of the German Evangelical Bible is surrounded with very storm, the circulation of the Bible is endangered. Who wishes to be one of the best held we have in the German household, the German Bible in its new among families and individuals?"

"Yet this center of power and freedom is threatened. The German Bible organizations are unable to print and distribute new Bibles, because of lack of funds. This work must be carried on through voluntary gifts. The German Bibelhilfeverein has taken this work upon itself."

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

UNTOLD OIL WEALTH UNDER SEMI-ARID LAND OF FOOTHILLS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here are three chapters of the story of the fight for control of "Naval Reserve No. 1," which is involved in the battle now raging at Washington, during which honored names have been smeared with oil and political fortunes have been broken. The battle for this territory, in one form or another, has raged ever since the United States took California from Mexico. Varied interests have been affected in the different stages of the battle. It would take many volumes to tell the details of nearly a century of contest, but we believe these chapters will throw a little light on the romance and tragedy of California oil.

By M. D. TRACY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyrighted, 1924, by United Press)

CHAPTER I
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14, (United Press)—Forty-three and one-half square miles, 27,840 acres, make up that portion of "Naval Reserve No. 1," which the government leased to E. L. Doherty's Pan-American Oil Company and which, with Teapot Dome, is the center of the present oil lease investigation in Washington.

It lies in the Elk Hills region of Kern county, beginning about 25 miles west of Bakersfield, oil center of the San Joaquin valley, California.

The land itself, semi-arid and parched in summer beneath a sun which sends temperatures up close to 120 degrees at times, has been peopled in past with homesteaders, dry farmers and small stock raisers, attempting to wrest from the earth a rather meagre living.

It is in the foothills of the coast range mountains, the Elk Hills lead up to the loftier peaks of the Santa Barbara's, which, in turn, break abruptly into the sea less than 100 miles westward.

Great Oil Pools.

Beneath this rather forbidding land is believed to stand pools of oil of untold extent. To the south, east and to the north lies the Lost Hills, the Coalinga, Taft, Santa Maria, McKittrick and other oil fields which have their stories of making millionaires overnight and which are not yet exhausted. Across the Santa Barbara and a little to the southward are the Ventura and Sumnerland fields, where oil is pumped from the opposite side of the coast range mountains.

Geologists have declared Naval Reserve No. 1 probably one of the richest of the California fields.

Whoever may be found to own this oil now, geologists believe that it originally belonged to Adam and Eve.

It was formed through the ages, by the processes through which nature makes its coal, its oil and many of the other riches of the earth. As the mountains rose from the sea it seeped and trickled from the higher levels into the pools of the foothills and there awaited the coming of man.

Naval Reserve No. 1 was created at the height of the San Joaquin Valley oil boom, while William Howard Taft was President. Under the so-called "Taft Withdrawal Order," which created the reserve, it was withdrawn from entry as public land and turned over to the navy to be there as America's reserve supply of oil for her fighting ships when a time of emergency might arise.

Only Three Wells.

Until leased to the Doherty interests, this field was untouched. Then operations on it were started in what oil men consider only a half-hearted fashion. But three wells have been sunk on the vast lease to date. There are producing approximately 3,000 barrels each per day. Only about a dozen men are employed on the lease, although on the same company's adjoining property about 200 are at work.

This is generally attributed not so much to a desire to let the lease lie idle, as to a method of meeting market conditions. On the Pan-American Company's adjoining leases numerous wells have been driven down to within a short distance of the oil bearing sand and then closed. When market conditions become more favorable these wells can be quickly brought into production. It is the belief here that the Pan-American company plan to extend this mode of operation to the naval reserve field.

ernment for taxes does not go back into productive enterprise. The big snag is a scheme whereby you take the money from men who have demonstrated that they have the ability to use money for productive purpose and give it to the government which does not put it into production use.

As for providing industrial prosperity and jobs for people, the least wise course we can follow is to take all the money from those who are accustomed to using it in profitable enterprises. These accumulations of fortunes are the reservoirs from which

Buying Graves on the Installment Plan

MUNICH (By Mail to United Press)—The privilege of being buried in a family grave, one on top of the other, is again within the means of the poor Maencheners. Buying graves on the installment plan is now possible through a decree of the city council.

High cost of grave-digging has made it necessary until now for very poor persons to bury their relatives in single, shallow graves. The estimated cost of burial in a family lot cost dearly, for it entailed a deep excavation. Contrary to the American custom families are buried here in layers and the first one down must necessarily be deep enough to leave room for the others.

Poverty worked no more severe hardship on the devout Maencheners than to deprive him of a layer in the family grave. The city authorities recognized the situation, and now a few marks will buy space in a good, deep grave. The survivors must finish the payment within six months of the burial.

new industries and new projects start. The tear of the effect of swollen prices is groundless because as soon as a man begins to use any part of his income for anything but productive purposes, he loses it. It is always harder to keep money than to make it. It is the history of large fortunes that as long as they are in the hands of competent people who use the money in the development of the country, thus furnishing employment for other people, they hold the money. As soon as they fail to do this or the money depends to less competent hands it begins to diminish.

A TEALESS NAVY? YE GODS!

The poor in England are to have cheap tea even at the expense of the British navy. That is the edict of Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer under the Labor ministry in England. But what more logical and inevitable than a chancellor who is both Labor leader and pacifist? The new ministry fell heir to the budget of the old regime and because of the proximity of the time for presentation will be unable to effect many drastic changes. However, that the Labor party may not break faith with its election promises the budget must be modified to reduce or abolish the duty on tea. The national revenue will be diminished, so expenditures must be cut in proportion. That the royal navy should be its first victim was pre-ordained.

The royal navy is a product of the ancient regime, that is, of the regime that existed before Britain had a pacifist government. It has contributed nothing to the greatness and prosperity of the English people, excepting everything. The royal navy made it possible for the poor man in Britain to have tea and the necessary sweetening. Without the navy, yesterday, the poor man today would probably have a limited breakfast, if any. Without the navy, there would have been no Britain, as we know Britain today. It might not be exaggerating even to say that without the navy there would have been no Philip Snowden.

Small wonder, then, that the back ward-looking in Britain, the pole shadows of the ancient regime, arise to suggest, "Hands off the navy!"

Can it be that these protestants forget they are being allowed to live under a socialistic government? Do they not remember that it is one of the principles of socialism and various other isms to take the fruits of yesterday's achievements and let the system fall where it may?

PRIVATE INSTRUCTION.

One tiny match lighted in a private garage recently, gave a $5,000 lesson in fire prevention to a Seattle motorist. While working on his car the man dropped a tool and struck a match to look for it; an explosion and fire immediately followed in which the garage and car were destroyed and the owner injured. Costly tuition, certainly, but the lesson probably will not have to be repeated.

The charge of drinking and licentiousness brought against college girls in general by a Virginia college president is answered by the announcement of Cornell coeds that they will not dance with men who drink.

Col. Joseph Simmons who has sold 50 interests in the Ku Klux Klan for $146,000 says he is going to organize the "Knights of the Planning Sword." Well "A rose by any other name will smell as sweet."

Mrs. Olsen, whose talk at the high school last evening thrilled her listeners, is a little bit too attractive to win all the women's votes and a little bit too business-like to win all the men. She was defeated by Magnus Johnson and really she is a "better man" than Magnus and not the cooker of senatorial publicity, either.

CAR IN BUSINESS USE TAX EXEMPT

Special Status Under Internal Revenue Laws Is Explained.

Deductions allowed taxpayers in connection with the maintenance and operation of automobiles are the subject of frequent inquiries from taxpayers in filing an income tax return. The following is for the guidance of owners and prospective owners:

Such cost for garage, bills, gasoline, repairs, may be deducted as a business expense when an automobile is used wholly for business purposes and partly for pleasure or farming. When used partly for such purposes and partly for pleasure or convenience of the taxpayer and his family, the cost may be prorated and that part attributed to business or the other pursuits mentioned deducted as a business expense.

The same rule applies with regard to the deduction for depreciation, which is allowed when an automobile is used wholly in business, trade, profession or farming, and must be apportioned accordingly when used partly for such purposes and partly for pleasure. If an automobile is used almost exclusively for pleasure, a deduction for depreciation is not allowed.

The purchase price of an automobile even when used wholly in business, cannot be deducted from gross income. It is a capital expenditure, deduction of which is expressly disallowed by the revenue act. The 5 per cent which attaches to the sale of an automobile cannot be deducted by the purchaser because it is a tax levied on the sale by the manufacturer, and must be returned and paid by him.

An automobile license fee is regarded as a tax and may be deducted whether the automobile is used for business or for pleasure or convenience. In the event of a collision between a truck and an automobile used for pleasure or convenience, the owner of the truck may claim a deduction for damages, provided the truck was being used for business at the time of the collision. No deduction is allowed the owner of the automobile, because it was not being used for business purposes.

Baby Mothered by Twenty-six Co-eds

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 14, (United Press)—Co-eds at Penn State are learning the art of housekeeping in a modern home with a modern baby.

Jackie Hillerest, 10 months old, is probably the luckiest, or maybe the unluckiest, child in the United States, for he has 56 "mothers" to care for him, and yet he has no real mother.

No one knows exactly where Jackie came from and no one knows what will become of him. At present he is a son of the Nittany Lions.

The baby was installed after the students complained to the college authorities that they needed a "lot" around to get first-hand experience in the ultimate or happy home life for a woman.

They had a model home, equipped with gas and electricity and every convenience in which to study the arts of domesticity and economy, but it was decided that a necessary acquisition to the equipment was needed, so Jackie was installed as lord and master.

Jackie, however, is just like other boys, in that he had only one "mother" at a time. The girls are assigned to the cottage in groups of six for a week at a time and each takes her turn at being hostess, chambermaid, cook, assistant cook and mother to Jackie.

Jackie appears to like his new surroundings, but does an immense amount of sleeping. He is being raised with modern methods and spends his awake hours smiling at the fair co-eds who flock to Hillerest cottage to pay their respects to the "popular youth."

LIFE HOLDS NO HAPPINESS FOR AGED SLAYER; RETURNS TO CELL AFTER EIGHT MONTHS' FREEDOM

Life is a losing game for John Benedetto, aged convict who last Saturday was returned to his cell in the Marquette branch prison. He served 16 years in that cell, but last June he thought he had found peace in his seventeenth year when he walked out into the sunshine, paroled.

The sky seemed to the old man as blue as that of the Italy of his childhood, although he is rapidly going blind. He was to meet his only son, Nicolo, 28 years old, whom he had not seen since his imprisonment 16 years before.

All this was eight months ago. Today, bowed with grief and despair, the old man is back in prison, sent there by his son who informed the state board of pardons the old man had violated his parole by re-remaining in the United States after being ordered to Italy.

Fought Poverty.

As a boy, he had lived with his widowed mother in the plains, east of Rome. Always was the struggle for a living, always the fight against poverty and hunger.

The mother died, and after a while the young man married. Again, the struggle for a living. He and his young wife loved the hot blue sky of their native land, but they heard of wealth and plenty across the seas and they came to this country. They brought with them their infant son and began their struggle for a living in a new country.

They battled along for a while in the east and finally settled in Ironwood. It was the same old fight, with cold and snow added to their troubles. Sometimes there was no work and the little family shivered and wished for the warm sky of their own land. Sometimes there was little food and shivering. Again, when there was work for the father, the family lived comfortably. In 1908 the winter started in cold and bleak. The snow was deep before Thanksgiving day. Word was sent about the mine that all unmarried men would be "laid off." Benedetto felt secure for his little family. Then one morning he came to work and found another man wielding a pick where he was accustomed to work. The stranger was a young Italian just out from Italy who had no family. Benedetto learned the foreman had sold his previous job to the stranger for $10. Benedetto was mad with rage, he turned and killed the foreman with his knife.

This is the story told by the old man.

Son Gets Blame.

When he was sentenced for life his wife took their son and went back to Italy. Occasionally there came a letter and the old man lived in the thought of his son.

Three years ago Nicolo, the son, sought his fortune in this country just as his father did before him. He settled at Cambridge, Mass., and his father, when he was released from prison, went there. The parole had ordered the aged Italian summarily out of Michigan and out of the country to his old home. Benedetto had only a little money, not enough to take him back to Italy. His son got a job for him. He saved and finally accumulated $350, which he gave to his son to keep.

One day he stood working at a machine in a shop in Boston.

An officer came and put his hand on the old man's shoulder.

"Sorry, dad, but you've got to go back to prison," the officer said. The old man begged for his son.

"It's no use; it's him—that's sending you," said the officer.

Various influential Italians are making appeals to Fred Janette, of the board of pardons, to have the aged man freed.

The Secret of Good Baked Beans

KITCHEN BOUQUET does for baked beans what it does for gravies—greatly adds to their flavor and improves their color.

In Boston, where the preparation of all kinds of beans has reached a perfection that is the despair of all other sections, KITCHEN BOUQUET is most liberally used.

Preparing for the oven, add a tablespoonful to a quart of beans. Prepare your beans the Boston way.

Famous Princess Is Dying Alone And in Poverty

By CARL D. GROAT

(United Press Staff Correspondent) BERLIN, Feb. 14, (United Press)—Once favorite of the German court and noted for her striking beauty, the Princess of Pless is dying in a Berlin sanatorium of tuberculosis of the spine.

This famous beauty, born of the British West family, is ending her days in hopeless and straightened circumstances. Some time ago the princess obtained a divorce from the Prince of Pless, one of Germany's wealthiest men. Gossip had it that the divorce was a pre-arranged affair, especially as the Prince was interested in marrying a young and beautiful girl.

This girl, however, is a Catholic and hitherto efforts to have the second marriage permitted are reported to be unavailing. The Princess is allowed a modest alimony, but this is now scarcely more than pin money.

During the war the Princess of Pless was regarded with suspicion by the Kaiser, who felt she was too friendly to people of her own race. The Princess was a ministering angel to hundreds of British officers and tomnies in German hospitals and prison camps.

And the old court society still recalls the mysterious death of Archduke Adolf Friedrich of Mecklenburg-Strelitz. Gossip had it that the Kaiser sent him a revolver with which to end his life rather than to have him tried on spy charges, because of his friendship for the beautiful Princess.

ish-born Princess. The doctors say she may live three months. She is dying alone, ignored and deserted by the host of friends who danced attendance in the days when she held sway in a castle unopposed in Germany.

INDIANA, 21; NOTRE DAME, 20. BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Indiana defeated Notre Dame, 21 to 20, in a basketball thriller before a crowd of 4,500 here Tuesday night. The locals kept a comfortable lead until near the close of the first half, when Logan, star forward, was injured. He was back into the fracas five minutes before the final gun and his two field goals saved the game for the Crimson. Indiana was leading, 16 to 9, at half time.

PRESBYTERIANS WILL PLAN FOR LARGER CHURCH

Meeting of Congregation Has Been Called to Follow Sunday Morning Service at Church.

Owing to the increase in the number of people attending services at the First Presbyterian church, it is necessary that certain improvements be made during the summer if the church-going public are to be accommodated.

The following letter has been mailed to the members of the congregation calling attention to this fact, and calling a meeting for next Sunday. The letter is as follows: "A meeting of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church is called for at the close of the service next Sunday morning, Feb. 17th. Those who are eligible to participate in this meeting are the members of the church and those who are supporters of the church, whether members or not.

"The purpose of this meeting is to present for congregational action certain facts and figures relative to a proposed plan for the improvement and enlarging of our present church plant. This project has already been thoroughly examined and unanimously sanctioned by the members of the congregation. After the proposition is explained, a secret ballot will be taken. We believe that the only way to secure an intelligent vote and the honest sentiment of the congregation in this matter is by secret ballot after the plan has been presented and the situation made clear.

"This is so vital an issue in the future life and progress of our church that we cannot urge too strongly the attendance of all the members of the congregation. It assumes the proportions of an imperative DUTY. We ask you to come with an open mind, and cast your vote according as God gives you the light to see and do the right.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

COMB HAIR AND IT STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

Greaseless Combing Cream Costs Only Few Cents a Jar at any Drug Store

Even obstinate, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Millions use greaseless, stainless "Hair-Groom" because it does not show on the hair. It is absorbed by the scalp, therefore the hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it. No sticky or smelly.
