Ourselves

THE AVERAGE.

The world's work is carried on by average folks. Occasionally we have a Burns, a Shakespeare, a Caesar, or a Napoleon, but they are rare. The output of humanity is, on the whole only fair; fair sermons, fair poems, fair manufactured products, fair crops raised, fair business and professional accomplishments.

This is because most people are not willing to put forth the utmost effort. They are content with the average. Not "somewhat better, but "that will suffice." Instead of most of us giving all we can of self, we try to figure out what the smallest amount is that will answer.

The average in people is seen in two things—inheritance and attainments. Some people are blessed with about 100 per cent native ability, and their attainments are 50 per cent of what they should be. Sometimes there are those who rank about 50 per cent in endowments, but their returns are 100 per cent. Others are blessed with about 50 per cent of what we like to call "genius," and their attainments are about in that ratio.

Now the trouble with our world is that most of its people are in the third class, when they could just as well be in the second class mentioned. A mediocre kind of work is being accomplished, when it should be first class. The reason for this is that those of limited endowments claim exemption from responsibility. That principle is not only wrong, but it is perilous.

Refuse to use your right arm for a few weeks, and you will find it hard to use. Fail to exercise it for a few months, and you lose the use of it. That atrophy of disease is manifested in our heaven-born gifts. The less we do, the less do we want to do. Inclination to serve arises from moral atrophy. It is the result of failing to exercise the gifts we do have.

The person most highly blessed is not he with many endowments, but it is he who uses what he does have. The first may be spectacular, but the latter is far more useful. Few persons are rich in versatility. None has all he wants. But he who will not use to the full his talents, they few or many, is doing himself and others a great injury.

When a person makes a success in life, and towers above his fellows, he is accomplishing no more than he ought to. Every person ought to be successful. If nine persons out of ten fail, they should be blamed for it, but the tenth one deserves no honorable mention. He is simply doing his duty, while the others did not.

An average person who fixes his eyes on an average standard will do average work—which is far below the standard that should be maintained. About 90 per cent of the world's work is attributable to second rate methods in the hands of one whose creed is, "I'm as good as the average." He is right, and that is the reason he is not father along in the world.

The average person is needed for the reason that there are precious few of those above the average. But the second need is the greater.

WORLD FLIGHT.

The around-the-world flight now being planned by the army air service is in line of service to the nation. America is the birthplace of aviation. It was first "in the air," and it should remain first in the air. Its record in development and advancement of aviation gives it, in many ways, claim to that distinction. So do the records of achievement by American aviators. But there is room for many other achievements and much further advancement if it is to hold the place to which authorship gives it title.

The army's plan for a flight around the world may seem ambitious, but it is not overmuch so. Other nations have already made attempts to circumnavigate the globe in air, but have failed. While great distances over seas have been traveled, the whole journey, from starting point around the earth to starting point, remains to be carried. The prestige that would come with such a flight would be worth the trial—and more. Success in such effort would register a great advance in aviation as a means of communication and transportation.

Recent accomplishment in aviation make for the coming trial. The high rate of speed that has been attained, exceeding 4 miles a minute; fueling in mid-flight and other achievements work promisingly into the plan for an around-the-world flight. The proposed flight does not warrant hesitation in trial as a seeming impossibility, for to all who have followed aviation in its advance it will appear possible. Being possible, America should direct its efforts to being the first to accomplish it.

KUFAHL FOUND NOT GUILTY; CROWD CHEERS

Mrs. Schauder's Attempt to Implicate Friend Fruitless.

Woman on Trial for Poisoning
Her Husband in Order to Marry Kufahl, Is Was Alleged.

ELKHORN, Ind.—After deliberating two hours and 45 minutes, a circuit court jury Monday evening acquitted Ernest Kufahl, Watertown, of being implicated, with Mrs. Myrtle Schauder, in the poisoning of Edward Schauder, the woman's husband.

A popular demonstration followed reading of the verdict and Judge Chester A. Fowler, Fond du Lac, rapped vigorously for order. The crowd that had filled the courtroom during the trial started cheering and handclapping but was silenced by the court and bailiffs.

As the words "not guilty" were pronounced, Kufahl leaped for the jury box to seize Foreman John McFarland's hand. He was ordered to return to his chair by Judge Fowler. A minute later when the judge left his bench, the crowd rushed forward and surged around Kufahl, clapping him on the back and congratulating him.

Sister Hugs Kufahl.

Kufahl shook hands and thanked each juror as they filed out of the box. Then his sister seized him about the neck and hugged him while the aged father, Ferdinand Kufahl, broke down and wept.

Mrs. Schauder, who is the state charge, if Kufahl planned to marry after the death of her husband, will probably go on trial Wednesday, charged with the murder of Mr. Schauder.

The jury retired at 3:15 p.m. after being instructed by Judge Fowler that it could bring in one of three possible verdicts. These were guilty of murder in the first degree, guilty of mixing the poison with intent to kill, or not guilty. Four ballots were taken by the jury and at no time did more than three jurors stand for conviction. The verdict was returned at 5:55 p.m. Kufahl was represented by W. C. Zabel, former district attorney of Milwaukee.

Zabel Assails Mrs. Schauder.

Mr. Zabel attacked Mrs. Schauder's testimony during the trial, putting the entire blame for Mr. Schauder's death upon Kufahl, as being full of lies, and he said her second confession, in which she implicated Kufahl, was a lie. In her first confession, made on the night of her arrest, Mrs. Schauder assumed full responsibility for her husband's death.

Mrs. Schauder was willing to sacrifice everything to save herself. Mr. Zabel said, "She is selfish. She was willing to kill her husband to get Kufahl, then she was willing to kill her own children to get Kufahl. She is cold-blooded. She saw her husband die, writhing in agony and yet she was without emotion. She was willing, after seeing that horrible sight, to give the same kind of poison to her children and now she is trying to convict the man she murdered for her lover, the man she lied on and on in order to save herself."

"Her second confession is a lie. Her testimony is full of lies. The district attorney does not believe her second confession himself and yet he is asking you, gentlemen of the jury, to convict a man of murder on the strength of it."

Dr. Schoonmaker Granted License to Practice Osteopathy

An article which was printed in the Bergen Evening Record of Hackensack, N. J., gives an interesting account of the granting of a license to Dr. Milton J. Schoonmaker of this city to practice osteopathy and major surgery. Dr. Schoonmaker is a graduate of the Kirksville, Mo., College of Osteopathy, having completed his studies last May, and took a post graduate course in E. R. A. work, this being sponsored by the famous Dr. Abrams.

When Dr. Schoonmaker located in this city he was too late to take the Michigan State Board Medical examination, so rather than wait until June to begin his work he decided to take the Ohio Medical examinations which were held in December. Because of the reciprocity laws of Ohio and Michigan this entitles him to practice in Michigan also.

CARTER WILL CONTINUE TO DIG UP "TUT"

But Government Officials Must Beg His Pardon.

Then They Must Agree to Keep Away From Him and Not Interfere With Future Work.

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 19.—Replying to the telegram from the Egyptian minister of public works, giving him 18 hours in which to resume work in King Tut's tomb, Howard Carter wired to the minister today that he was ready to take up the work again, providing he received an apology from the director of antiquities and being assured there would be no vexatious interference in the future and that no difficulties would be placed in the way of further progress of the work, otherwise he would start proceedings against the government.

The Egyptian government Monday night issued an ultimatum to Howard Carter giving the explorer 18 hours in which to resume work in the tomb of Tutankhamen or abandon the project.

Mr. Carter, in conference with Lord Carnarvon of the tomb of the ancient pharaoh in the Red Sand valley of kings near the Nile, stopped work and closed the catafalque because of a dispute over the question of permitting news associations other than that with which he had an exclusive contract to obtain for publication facts about the discovery. There is also a difference of opinion over the matter of visitors.

The work was interrupted at a moment when the lid had been raised from the sarcophagus, disclosing a gold mummy case. The lid remained suspended by ropes; the tomb is locked by Carter, who himself was removed approach to the tomb by Egyptian police Friday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Senator Green of Vermont, was in a critical condition this morning from the wound he received when he was hit by a bullet during a brush between bootleggers and the prohibition agents.

GOV. TRAPP OF OKLAHOMA ALL SET FOR KLAN

Says He Does Not Believe They Will March in Masks.

If They Do, He Says He Will Meet Them Marching in the Opposite Direction; Denies Rumor.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 19.—An informal statement declaring that an official announcement had not been received by him to the effect that the Ku Klux Klan planned to stage a parade in full regalia here Friday night, contrary to the laws already passed, was made by Governor Trapp today.

There was no discussion in the cabinet meeting which would cause him to make a statement, he added. Members of President Coolidge's cabinet declared after today's meeting that the matter of the oil land lease disclosure had not been discussed at the session.

I do not believe there will be any disposition on the part of the Klan to stage any demonstration violating the spirit of the laws," the governor said.

The governor did not comment on a rumor at the capitol that the Klan leaders had agreed to parade without masks. The state law forbids the wearing of masks.

There will be no further orders issued and boys will be punished if they are caught.

DAUGHERTY IS STILL DEFIANT AFTER MEETING

Expected Developments Did Not Materialize This Noon.

Many Looked For His Retirement After the Cabinet Meeting Which Was Held Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Attorney General Daugherty remained silent during the cabinet meeting today in the face of the new attack on him and today's cabinet meeting passed without an announcement of his resignation.

The department of justice official insisted that he had no intention of surrendering to criticism, but senators who have taken the reins in their own hands in advising the president to ask him to retire remain confident that the advice will be followed.

Mr. Daugherty arrived a half hour before the cabinet meeting and would talk only about the weather. When he emerged an hour later, and was questioned by newspaper men, he showed plain signs of agitation and annoyance but insisted that the question of his resignation had not been discussed and declared he had no such intention for the present.

Just previous to the cabinet meeting the president had been in conference with the special counsel in the oil lease case and had been told of the new oil lease and made a killing in the stock market on advance of the new oil lease.

Nothing to Say.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Attorney General Daugherty left today's cabinet meeting, saying he had no statement to make to the press.

There was no discussion in the cabinet meeting which would cause him to make a statement, he added. Members of President Coolidge's cabinet declared after today's meeting that the matter of the oil land lease disclosure had not been discussed at the session.

Beats Wife and Gets Ninety Days in County Jail

John Lasko, a farmer living in Maple Ridge township, was brought to town this morning by Sheriff Carney, who arrested him on a warrant charging him with beating up his wife last Sunday.

The patient wife appeared in Justice McEwen's court this morning in a condition that did not permit her "better half" to make a denial to the charge. The poor woman looked as though she had been beaten up and her husband admitted it, though he could not tell the judge why he did it. Lasko will remain in the county jail for the next 99 days to reflect upon the fact that he is living in a country where wife beating is not tolerated.

"HIGHER UPS" MADE KILLING ON OIL SPECULATION HINTED AT IN LATEST INFORMATION

All New Rumors Are Rushed to the President Who Assumes Tranquil Poise at All Times; Daugherty Resignation Expected.

Special Committee to Go to New York to Look Into Books of Well Known Brokerage Firm of the Metropolis; Denby Does Not Appear to Be Involved in New Scandal.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The demands for the resignation of Attorney General Daugherty has been the most acute of all questions arising out of the oil scandal and there seemed to be indications today that there would be important developments very soon.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The senate oil committee undertook today to run down a story of heavy speculations by high government officials in the stock of the Sinclair Oil company before and after the Sinclair interests leased Teapot Dome.

J. B. Benkard, of the brokerage firm of J. B. Benkard & Co., and his personal attorney, S. D. Bowers, and A. H. Cooke, the office manager of the Benkard firm, were in conference with the committee in an executive session and it was decided to send experts to New York to examine records of the firm.

Information regarding stock market speculation involving a cabinet of federal and other high officials, both republicans and democrats, has been given senators connected with the Teapot Dome investigation and will be considered in a closed session of the committee Tuesday.

If this information proves correct, it will produce a sensation exceeding anything that the scandal has thus far uncovered.

The substance of the information is that these high officials had inside information as to the stories of a slush fund, except that some of the officials who were mentioned in connection with it are named in the new disclosures.

Says They Will Do Well to Finish Third; Said Same Thing Last Year.

By HENRY L. FARRELL

United Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (United Press)—In the midst of all the nice things that are being said about the Cincinnati Reds, the voice of John McGraw causes a harsh discord when he is heard:

"Pompey for the Reds? They'll do well to finish third."

For the sake of those who might attach some infallibility to the words and opinions of McGraw, it might be recalled that the leader of the Giants said the same thing last year about the Reds.

When Pat Moran finished the season in second place, McGraw admitted that he was mistaken in underestimating his strength of the Cincinnati club, but he said that he was still of the opinion that the Pittsburgh Pirates should have finished second.

McGraw then thinks no more of the pennant chances of the Reds this year than he did last winter and he quotes the same reason—"no punch."

The Giant leader isn't even willing to admit that Cincinnati has a smaller pitching staff.

Cpl. Mays and Jake May will not be winners, Sheehan may, but that's just a guess," he says. "With DeMuth, Rixey and Lupton the Reds are no better fitted with pitchers than I am."

McGraw figures that Jack Bentley is going to be the big surprise of the 1924 season. He insists that he can make a winning pitcher out of Joe Oeschler and he looks to Art Neft, for a better season. On the law of averages, he feels he should get at least one good pitcher out of the twenty new ones he had signed.

Granting that McGraw is a genius, that he is the most successful manager in the business, it must be admitted that he has not always been a perfect judge of players. His average is about .500.

If the Reds were good enough to be the runner-up club last season, it should be logical to figure that they would be at least fifteen games better this year. Mays, Sheehan and May might turn out to be bads and that would not make the entire Red staff the best that the Giant staff was last season and the best that it threatens to be next season.

McGraw says he has a better record than the Reds. Figuring that Frank Frisch is the greatest player in the National League, his claim might be granted. Kelly perhaps is a better first basemen over the season than Dauber, but Piniella is a more serviceable and more valuable third baseman than Heine Groh, even if he might lack the brilliance of Groh as a money player. When it comes to the shortstop position, a great many smart baseball men would rather rely on Cavaney than young Jackson.

McGraw claims he has a better outfield than the Reds. Figuring that Frank Frisch is the greatest player in the National League, his claim might be granted. Kelly perhaps is a better first basemen over the season than Dauber, but Piniella is a more serviceable and more valuable third baseman than Heine Groh, even if he might lack the brilliance of Groh as a money player. When it comes to the shortstop position, a great many smart baseball men would rather rely on Cavaney than young Jackson.

McGraw claims he has a better outfield than the Reds, but he will find evident argument on that subject. The Giants have only one great outfielder, Tep Young, and an erratic left fielder. Take your choice.

The Reds have it all over the Giants when it comes to catchers and when it comes to the "master mind" the Reds do not have to argue for having Pat Moran as a manager.

If McGraw figures that the punch is every hit, it would be interesting to hear his theory about the Detroit Tigers.

Cleveland's punch and Cincinnati's defense would make Ohio a sweet entry as a state in the major league next season, but it must not be forgotten that New York could get a rare state combination out of the Yankees and the Giants. If Charley Elbert didn't have to sign the pay checks.

It has been figured out that every time U.S. pitches for Cleveland next season there will be nine 300 batters for some poor pitcher to shoot at.

Even if the Reds are as overrated as McGraw seems to think they are, they will give the Giants a fight for the pennant. The Pittsburgh Pirates might come to life and the Cubs might do something to get into the race.

In the American League, however, the only consolation the Indians and the Tigers have is that the Yankee pitchers will all go wrong.

It would be a blow to the Yankees if Sam Jones had one of his sliding seasons, if Bob Shawkey's arm died and if Joe Bush got on the side.

The Yankees might stagger through on hitting alone but it would be a horrible experience for Miller Huggins.

TILDEN WINS AND LOSES IN BATTLE
WITH U. S. L. T. A.

Committee will Not Use Secrecy in Selections.

By HENRY L. FARRELL

United Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (United Press)—Even if Bill Tilden finds at the end of the current year that he must set aside the recipe, if he wants to continue winning the open tennis, he will have the satisfaction of knowing that his row with the heads of the governing body in tennis has paid off.

Another in drawing up elaborate plans for the development of the doubles game in this country.

While America's singles players rule the tennis world, it has been noticed for three years that there was much to be learned in the American doubles game of what America was going back instead of improving in tennis play.

The association suggested that leading players, after the fashion of the Kinney brothers, form permanent pairs and play all sets together. The Association and carry out this policy in the development of doubles players and so country can compare today with the frustrations in tennis play.

Tilden reared right up when the association announced its intention of seeking legislation to abolish the practice of secrecy and he said that he had never seen paper men before he became a tennis champion and that he would continue to write even if the association ruled against it.

It is understood, however, that Tilden was pulled off at a conference with the heads of the game, and that he was induced to at least keep quiet.

Even though the rule has been passed by the association, the administration of the rule provides a few days for Tilden and if he can convince the association that he was a writer because he was a player and that his copy bought by newspapermen because he is a good writer and not for the fact that he is the champion, he might be allowed to continue his writing work.

Tilden has a plan which he announces that he would withdraw from competition if the United States Lawn Tennis Association does not abolish its rule of secrecy in appointing the Davis Cup team and in declaring that it does not consider its victory contributions to new players open to it in naming two men out of the amateur class.

A spokesman for the association is now in discussion of the situation, the appearance of which would make impossible for amateur players to continue playing tennis big money as well as on terms where no individual can choose between the profession of a tennis player or a tennis writer.

N.Y.— NEW YORK, Feb. 19. The race for the American Legion baseball title, scheduled for June 3, has an unexpected twist of fortune. The Cornell baseball team, which had been the leaders of the Big Ten, has lost the lead to Wisconsin, which has won its first victory over Illinois.

CHICAGO. The big ten-baseball struggle was turned topsy turvy yesterday night when Michigan and Purdue, conference leaders, were defeated and Wisconsin took the lead. The Badgers won their first victory over Illinois.

Iowa sprung the big surprise when it walked into the Chicago ballpark and defeated the Maroons, 34 to 14. Purdue, on Michigan's court, allowed the Wolverines to carry off the big end of a 31 to 20 score.

Ohio State made the history of the lower section still more complicated when it defeated Indiana, 11 to 7. And Wisconsin was saved from the grasp of a basket dropped by Capt. Gilson as the time keeper was preparing to blow the final whistle.

By the twists of this weekend, the fight for the conference title has been enlarged to include fully three parties.

Secretary McGraw, in announcing the results, says: "Because of the changes in the Big Ten, the conference title is no longer a certainty."

CHAPTER II.

LONDON, Feb. 19. (By mail to United Press) A dull and poor pamphlet by Sidney Webb, a pamphlet so dull that nobody read it at the time except a few workingmen and a few experts on constitutional law contains all the TXT that the new Labor government will need for some time.

At least, in the judgment of Professor J. H. Morgan of the University of London.

That little pamphlet, now out of print, bore the drab title, "Grants-in-Aid." It wasn't literature. It was more like a small mound of earth thrown up by a diligent mole.

For Webb, being well off in this world's goods and free to do as he pleased, had gone burrowing burrowing through long-forgotten Acts of Parliament, musty decisions of the Privy Council and rulings of the Lord High Chancellor and had revealed painstakingly all the things a Socialist government could do if ever came into power, all the things it could do without anybody's leave. For in stance:

2. Remodel the educational system except the great public schools controlled by the "governing classes," where their own sons are reared.

3. Control the health administration of the country, stamping out slums, protecting childhood and maternity.

4. Remodel the poor law so as to reduce the number of "unemployables" in England to a minimum.

5. And so forth and so on.

These are all things which can be started by a Labor minister without blare of trumpets and their total effect will constitute a "revolution."

DAIRY PRODUCTION IN BIG INCREASE

Report Shows Milk Production Jumped Billion Pounds.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 19. Astounding increases in dairy production in Michigan are shown in a compilation just completed by T. H. Broughton, head of the dairy division of the state department of agriculture.

In 1922 the production of milk was four billion pounds, as compared with three billion in 1921. There was a proportionate increase in 1923. Mr. Broughton believes, although accurate figures for that year are not available. Fifty-five million pounds of creamery butter were manufactured in 1921 and in 1922 the production jumped to 68,000,000 pounds, an increase of 23 per cent. The increase in the production of evaporated milk was the greatest with 36 per cent in 1922, but all dairy products advanced. Nine million gallons of ice cream were made in 1922. Marked increases in the production and consumption of cheese and condensed milk were shown.

In spite of this great production, according to Mr. Broughton, Michigan still is producing only enough dairy products for home consumption. Unlike other dairy states, Michigan does not have to depend on foreign markets. Mr. Broughton said: "The demand for whole milk in southern Michigan has increased so much that in many southern counties the whole milk business predominates. Of all the milk produced in the state, 44 per cent is for butter, 9 per cent for condensed forms of milk, 35 per cent for direct consumption and the rest for cheese, ice cream and other products."

It is important to know that Michigan ranks among the leading states, but that the dairy business for the entire country ranks unusually high in comparison with other agricultural industries. The best proof of the value of the dairy business to the producer is a comparison of prices. The United States government report shows an index of 109 for butter and 137 for all farm crops. This means that the price for butter fat is 39 per cent higher than for the previous ten-year average and for other crops only 97 per cent as high as for the previous ten-year average. The average price paid for butter in 1923 was 43 cents, in 1922, 37 cents, and in 1921, 39 cents."

LABOR

AMERICAN PROSPERITY.

Wage earner prosperity is national prosperity, and there is no other national prosperity. The higher the wage level, the larger the purchasing fund, the greater and more rapid the spread of general intelligence, the swifter the rise of the general average of national life. Low wages, poor living conditions, scrimped opportunities for comfort and decency mean the extinction of every chance of the spiritual equally with the material progress of this nation. Enlightened employers might well see that in the long run their own prosperity is inseparable from the prosperity and cultural advance of their wage earners.

For this great national asset, the promise and prospect of which opens more and more upon us as we learn more of its workings, we are nationally indebted to organized labor in America, the wisest, the most successful, the most useful of all labor organizations in the world. Elsewhere the wage earner may launch himself and his organization up on the field of political effort; here he will work out his destiny on quite other lines. It is to be hoped that the end of the political labor movements in other countries may be glorious and substantial advantages to the wage earners there, but exactly how they are to achieve such results is yet to be shown to a waiting world.

I have observed with close attention similar activities in many countries, and at the end have never been able to detect wherein the wage earners have more comfort, better homes, lead better lives, or have more opportunity for intellectual development than they had at the beginning of their political ventures. The experiment may be more successful in Great Britain. Let us hope that it will be. But whether it is successful or a failure, it has no direct significance to the labor movement in America.

Here labor is steadily working out its problems and as steadily advancing by the only feasible road towards the state so long dreamed of and hoped for in which the producer shall have that chance to live in the true sense of living and that recognition and honor that are of right due to him as the real foundation of modern society and civilized state. Charles Edward Russell, in February American Federationist.

FEEDING STUDENTS OF GERMANY

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHAPTER II.

BERLIN, Feb. 19. (United Press)

The students of one American university have agreed to sacrifice their Sunday dinners for three months in order to contribute one thousand dollars to the Student Friendship Funds to European Student Relief.

Conrad Hoffmann, general secretary of the Student Relief, told German officials and charity workers that this was only one sample of what America was doing to aid all suffering students in Germany this winter. "That," he said, "is the spirit of the New World."

Hoffmann reported that the students of 32 countries are economic.

Certain youth engaged in the stiff battle to obtain an education and to keep body and soul together at the same time.

In Austria the Student Relief has been placed on a self-help basis, and efforts are being made to establish the same system in Germany. For the moment, however, it is impossible to institute such a system fully.

One of the chief contributions of the Student Relief work was 300 tons of food sent aboard the "friendship steamer" Hansa during the holidays. President Ebert and other officials attended a dinner at which the arrival of this vessel was commemorated.

Exachancellor Cuno expressed Germany's thanks for this "meaningful relief work" and for all that America is doing now for German children. Recognizing the moral meaning of this relief as well as the material benefit, Cuno stressed the hope of re-established relations between nations and a real peace in the world.

METAL CLIPS ON MAIL IS TABOOED BY POSTMASTER

Postmaster Gets Orders and Asks Co-operation of the Public in Stopping of Practice.

The postoffice department frequently encounters new mailing schemes and that cause considerable annoyance and delay in handling mail matter. One of the most common is the sealing of mail with metal clips. Postmaster J. A. Steiner has been advised by the postmaster general that metal clips in the mails are objectionable. The letter follows:

"Some persons and concerns desire to mail pamphlets, folders, and other printed advertising matter of the third class without enclosing it in envelopes or wrappers, the edges of the matter being fastened together in such way as to facilitate its handling. Plain paper seals or stickers are usually used for such purpose."

"There is no objection of this practice provided the matter is not of a flimsy character and it is so arranged that the entire inner surface can be easily examined. Of course, ample clear space (not less than 3/4 inch) must be left on the right portion of the address side of the matter for the address, postage stamps, etc."

"In some cases where the postage is paid by means of pre-stamped postage stamps, they are used to hold to midwinter.

"As a straw showing the trend of activity in the automobile industry in the action of the Great Northern Railway in equipping itself to handle a large and increasing motor business is significant, and goes a long way to prove that production of motors and accessories, both for pleasure and business purposes, is ever on the increase. Automobile manufacturers, distributors and dealers are already planning for a busy season, and that 1924 will prove another record breaker in the motor industry is generally conceded."

PAIGE-DETROIT MOTOR CARS IN TRAINLOAD LOT

Demands Are Said to Be Heavy This Time of the Year.

Great Northern Railroad Loaned
New Cars to Other Road to ship Solid Train Load.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 19. Train loads of automobiles were the answer of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company to demands of its dealers for Paiges and Jewettts for January sales according to Mr. Harry M. Jewett, president.

One distributor, the Paige-Detroit Company of New England took three solid trainloads during the month. Other trains were dispatched from the Paige and Jewett plants to the St. Louis distributor, Chicago, Minneapolis, Des Moines and Philadelphia.

As an instance of what can be expected is a recent clipping from the Boston Herald:

"In creating greater prices in New England, automobile industry, the recent arrival of 100 cars of the Great Northern bound for the Great Northern Railroad, to open an active year in the motor industry recently placed an order for 500 tangible freight cars with the American Car and Foundry Company and are now receiving delivery. Being temporarily in a position where the cars were not needed for immediate requirements, the Great Northern gave permission to the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company of Detroit to use 26 of them for a single shipment to New England points. The solid trainload started from Detroit on December 28, arrived in Boston December 31, and on January 2 reached Detroit again in 1924 announced to 61,440 especially good train-partition record pounds."

LARGE SALMON PACK.

VICTORIA, British Columbia. The salmon pack of this province, according to figures issued by the Board of Trade, was 1,511,681 cases in 1923, or about 50,000 cases in excess of that for 1922.

JEWELRY MATERIAL.

SUDBURY, Ontario. Nickel production in 1923 amounted to 61,440 especially good train-partition record pounds.

gather the edges of pamphlets, folders, etc., thus serving a double purpose. This is not prohibited, although, it is preferable that the stamp be affixed in the upper right corner of the address side, which is the customary place and that ordinary seals or stickers be used to fasten the edges of the matter. It is not permissible to use unenclosed postage stamps to hold the edges together.

"In no case should metal clips be used to fasten the edges of matter mailed without cover. The use of such clips is not permissible."

Have Bright Boys On the Other Side as Well as in U. S.

LONDON (United Press) One of England's publications, Evening Standard, has added several to the unknown facts of history. On its examination paper he wrote:

"Bunyan was the inventor of the Pilgrim Chorus."

"In 1620 the Pilgrims crossed the sea, which was known as the Pilgrim's Progress."

"Charles I was going to marry the Infanta of Spain. He went to see her and Shakespeare says he never smiled again."

"During the war of American Independence Lord Nellestine wisely gave the Irish volunteers Home Rule."

RADIO BATTLE ON BETWEEN OWNERS

Wireless Amateurs and Radio
Fans in Controversy.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Feb. 19.

A merry little war is being waged here between licensed amateur wireless operators and radio fans. The radio faction objects to the interference resulting from the sending of wireless messages while programs are being broadcast. The amateurs, declaring they are operating in strict accordance with governmental regulations, refuse to "give the air" to the radio patrons, maintaining they are as much entitled to send their code messages as the radio fans are to receive the other's banal music and farm lectures.

The controversy came to a head recently when Mayor Green complained of the amateurs' activities. This was followed by the sealing for two weeks of the high school radio room.

Some of the licensed amateurs have purchased a spark transmission set and put it in a secret location to continue their operations. They assert that if the location is discovered, the set will be moved to another secret spot.

One amateur summed up the attitude of his comrades in a statement in which he charged that "the broadcast fans don't want a fair chance, they want everything." "They should remember," the statement continued, "that the transmitters were first in the field, and that what we are doing is in the nature of educational work, while listening in to broadcasting is pure entertainment."

U.P.D.B. WILL HOLD MEETING ON MARCH 10

Many Subjects Are to Be Taken Up at Wakefield by Directors.

Program Will Begin With a Luncheon at Noon Followed by a Lengthy Business Session.

A combined business meeting of the officers and directors of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, and an industrial conference similar to the session which have attended these meetings in the past, will be held Monday afternoon and evening, March 10, in the Wakefield Community building at Wakefield, under the joint auspices of the Wakefield Chamber of Commerce and the Bureau. The announcement comes from Mayor A. L. Rummell of Wakefield, who is chairman of the Wakefield committee on arrangements.

The meeting will be similar, also, to the one recently held at Hancock, when over 100 farmers of Houghton and Keweenaw counties turned out to participate in the discussions. The Hancock meeting was declared by many the most successful and largely attended of any similar affair in the past. It is Wakefield's ambition, according to Mayor Rummell, to outdo Hancock's achievement.

The day's program will begin with a luncheon for the officers and directors of the bureau, at noon, followed by the regular business meeting. The afternoon conference program will begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock. E. A. Hamar of Chassell, president of the Bureau, will preside over the first session.

A banquet for all delegates and for any others interested in the program will be given at 6:30 p.m. by the city of Wakefield, in the community building. Musical numbers and other entertainment features will be provided. The evening conference session will follow immediately thereafter.

A diversified program of talks is being arranged for the occasion. Among the subjects which will be discussed will be: The deepwaterway, lakes-to-ocean project; land-clearing, boys and girls' club work; the schools, and education; the tourist trade of Clayland; co-operation and its effects; dairying, and reforestation.

REV. BEAZLEY WILL NOT DEBATE WITH THE REV. E. N. BURT

Uses Forceful Language in Turning Down the Challenge Fung at Him in the Papers.

The following communication, which is self-explanatory, was received this morning from Rev. A. L. Beazley of the Seventh-day Adventist church in this city:

In the columns of your paper dated February 14, there appeared a challenge to A. L. Beazley, signed by E. N. Burt of Onaway, Mich., Missionary of R. O. C. of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The writer has no objection to one's creed or nationality in so far as their claim to the $1,000, but when it comes to affiliating myself publicly with a conscientious member of the notorious polygamists, such as Brigham Young and Joseph Smith, the founders of the Mormon religion, I draw a line. I have met Mr. Burt personally at Wells, also Mr. Bonner, who is another Mormon elder, and I have refused to meet them publicly, but have given him opportunity for the past five weeks to give me a single text, proving that Sunday is the Sabbath, according to the Bible and he has failed. Perhaps he thinks he can prove Sunday is the Sabbath the same way that he proves that Jesus was born in Jerusalem instead of Bethlehem of Judea. Read Book of Mormon, page 254, paragraph 10. Since it is the purpose of the gentleman to prove to the public that Sunday is the Bible Sabbath, and that the Sabbath of the fourth commandment was abolished by Christ, I will only assist him to secure the $1,000 that was offered at Escanaba, but also the $10,000 that was offered by representatives of the Seventh-day Adventists at Detroit, and was on exhibition in the bank window, where it was deposited.

Since Mr. Burt has made his challenge public, it is hoped that he will be as liberal in seeking public his Biblical text, which says, Sunday is the Sabbath.

EVANGELIST A. L. BEAZLEY.

Poindexter Mentioned to Succeed Denby

WASHINGTON Miles W. Poindexter, ambassador to Peru, is mentioned by a well-informed official close to President Coolidge as a possible successor to Edwin Denby as secretary of the navy.

Mr. Poindexter was prominent on the senate naval affairs committee until he was defeated for reelection in 1922.

Just before Mr. Harding made Mr. Poindexter ambassador to Peru there was talk of Mr. Denby stepping out to make room for him at the navy department.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt will become acting secretary of the navy during the time between Mr. Denby's retirement and the swearing in of a successor.

Mrs. R. Wiltsie returned, from Milwaukee where she was called by the sudden illness of her daughter, Leola, who is attending the Milwaukee Normal School. Mrs. Wiltsie reports that her daughter is rapidly improving.

FOSTER CITY NOW HAS A RADIO SET AND IS PLEASED

DeForest Three-Tube Set Does the Business and Keeps Owner Up All Night to Listen.

Julius Flath of the Economy Light Company, has returned from Foster City where he went to install a three-tube DeForest, non-aerial radio set in the house of Paul Kreitz, manager of the stone quarry there from which material is quarried to make face powder.

The trip to Foster City this time of the year is filled with hardship, and Mr. Flath drove in from Felch, over roads that were almost impossible. Arriving in Foster City he got the set in readiness for the evening and when the first long concert came in a new era was opened to the people.

All night long Mr. Kreitz and his friends listened to the programs, but he said he would not buy any radio set that would not get Los Angeles. He had heard other towns talking and they always ask, "Can you get Los Angeles?" About 2:30 in the morning Los Angeles was tuned in and Mr. Kreitz had the pleasure of listening to a second-rate jazz orchestra playing a selection in a cafe. He bought the set forthwith, but said he would be well satisfied to listen to the towns in the west forever.

The girls report having enjoyed themselves immensely.
