

Just Between Ourselves

YOUR TOWN.

I am Escanaba. If the stranger within my gates looks upon me as pleasing to his eye, and if I am such a sight, that having seen me, he will remember me all his days as a thing of charm, the credit is yours.

Some of my children are called to high tasks and mighty privileges by opportunity and ambition, to my good repute and to my great honor in far places, but my strength is not chiefly in these. In those who remain, who are content with what I can offer them and with what they can offer me is my power.

It was Napoleon who said: "I would rather be first in a little Britany village than second in Paris."

Wood, beck and stone—I am more than that; even more than flesh and blood—I am the composite soul of all who call me Home. As clearly as the pool throws back the reflection of the rising sun, I shall reflect you—make of me what you will.

I am your town—Escanaba.

WHAT IS ADVERTISING?

Advertising is a necessity. Neither you nor I can do without it. Babies advertise the fact that they hunger by crying. Older children who can talk advertise their desires, likes and dislikes—by telling others about them. The voice is the only medium they know of—as children. A singer advertises her singing—by singing. Folks hear her—and want more.

Husky whips the town bully. His prowess at fistfights soon becomes generally known. Friends advise him. Dad, however, must reach a wider area in advertising his business than the human voice can penetrate. He can talk to but one customer at a time. How can he reach them all, successfully?

Dad writes his message and publishes it in a medium that reaches those who are prospects for the goods he makes and sells. Prospects are only waiting for that message to learn where they can buy to the best advantage.

Dad's newspaper advertising creates sales. The newspaper is the medium that serves both Dad and Dad's customer. Are you looking for customers?

Then by all means advertise.

That is the only way your prospects can find you—and buy.

POLITICAL RADIO.

William G. McAdoo has applied to the Department of Commerce for permission to install a radio broadcasting station at his home in Los Angeles. The station is to cost about $30,000, and Mr. McAdoo expects to use it in his campaign for the presidency.

Here is the beginning of a new game, and no mortal man can see the end. The present year, is probably destined to see an amazing adaptation of the radio industry to politics. What one candidate does, other candidates may be expected to do. There may soon be a powerful radio outfit in every candidate's home, to line things up for the conventions. The conventions themselves will be broadcast to the four winds of heaven. After the nominations are made, the good old "front porch" will be transformed into a broadcasting station, showing planks, pledges and opinions upon all the world.

YOUR TAX REPORT.

Don't neglect or delay that income tax return.

You may not have any tax to pay, but if you are single and have an income of $1,000 or over, or married and received during 1923 the sum of $2,000 or over, it is incumbent on you to make a return.

March 15 is the last day, but the longer the matter is deferred, the greater will be the congestion and last minute jam at the tax offices.

In general, the conditions are the same as those prevailing last year, hence the duty should be easy to those who have made previous returns. Where there is any doubt, however, as to the necessity for making a return, much trouble can be saved both officials and individuals if the latter will call one of the tax offices in person or by phone and state their circumstances, when they will be advised what course to pursue.

Remember, March 15—which is very close at hand—is the last day.

A rather timely painting of Uncle Sam right now would show him done in oil.

The movies will probably continue to be found going into what the public goes into.

What do you make of it, that Burgo has not or has heard about the Bok peace plan?

Murder And Suicide In Green Bay Today

MAN KILLS HIS WIFE AND THEN TAKES OWN LIFE

Bodies Found by Son-in-Law When He Returns From Work.

No Reason Can Be Ascribed to Motive for Double Tragedy; Couple Came From Washington.

GREEN BAY, Feb. 26. The finding of the bullet-riddled bodies of A. B. Tuttle and his wife, of Carlisle, Wash., in the home of R. C. Rice, on the outskirts of the city early today, gave evidence of the murder of the woman by her husband and his suicide by means of a shot in the temple some time during the night.

The bodies were found in the living room early this morning by Mr. Rice, a son-in-law of the dead woman, when he returned from the Northwest Engineering company where he is employed nights. Mrs. Rice is ill at a local hospital where she has been for about a week.

Shot by four bullets, from a high-caliber revolver, the body of Mrs. Tuttle was found kneeling in front of a chair, from which she had evidently fallen. The four bullets had passed through her body and lodged in the upholstery of the chair. Tuttle's body was lying near her, a shot in the right temple showing the cause of death. There was no apparent reason for the double tragedy that could be found.

TODAY'S ROBBERY STORY IS A REAL "PEACHY" YARN

This Time Bandits Carry Away the Whole Safe Weighing 2800 Pounds; They Left Building.

MORRIS, Ill., Feb. 26. Bandits carried away a 2800-pound safe containing $15,000 in currency and securities from the State Bank of Kinman, Ill., early today, with the aid of an automobile, motor truck and a hand truck.

The burglary was discovered shortly after 5 o'clock this morning and Sheriff Mack was notified but the robbers long since had made their escape. The bandits showed cleverness in removing the safe. They left their motor truck three blocks from the bank and drove to the bank in their automobile. They had brought with them the hand truck with which to remove the safe, which was about four feet high.

Herrin "Dictator" Held On 10 Charges

MARION, Ill. Glenn Young, leader of Ku Klux Klan liquor raids and an official dictator of Herrin in the battles there Feb. 9 and 10, has returned to "Bloody Williamson" county and has been placed under arrest. Twenty prominent Marion business men gave bond of $20,000 on ten charges of larceny and assault against him in connection with the activities of the Klan liquor raids that brought state troops here.

Young's case was set for the May term of court.

Rug Dealer Robber, Beaten, Left in Alley

LANSING, Mich. Joseph Alexander, a rug dealer, is at the Edward W. Sparrow hospital suffering from body bruises, which, he says, were inflicted by three hold-up men. He was found lying in an alley in the business district yesterday morning. He says he was robbed of $500 in cash and $2,500 in jewelry. Police are investigating.

Oil Magnate Burned to Death in Home

NEW YORK. Ralph C. Clark, 52, an executive in the Pure Oil Company, was burned to death yesterday in a fire which ruined his elaborately furnished apartment and emptied the six-story apartment house at 115 West One Hundred Fourth street, of twenty families. The fire was confined to Clark's apartment.

CONFERENCE AT ISHPEMING WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Boys Returning Praise the Entertainment Given Them.

Resolutions Were Passed Covering Nearly Every Feature; Program Declared Exceptional.

ISHPEMING. Officers of the Older Boys' conference are well pleased with the manner in which all details were carried out for the gathering here, which was by far the largest ever held in the Upper Peninsula. "We appreciate the entertainment and courtesies shown visiting delegates by Ishpeming people," said G. D. Westerman, assistant state secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The closing conference meeting was held Sunday evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church when delegates and their hosts attended a farewell service. At the last meeting of the conference held Sunday evening, the resolutions committee, consisting of Marshall Everett, Robert Haggerson, Clyde Debra, George Knipson and Clark Mason, presented the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Conference Resolutions.
"We, the delegates of the tenth annual Upper Peninsula Older Boys' Conference, meeting in Ishpeming, Mich., February 22-24, 1924, grateful to God and others who have helped to make the conference a success, do hereby express our thanks to Him and to the following individuals and organizations:
"The state executive committee and the Upper Peninsula committee of the Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices we have met.

"The Lions' Club and the Y. M. C. A.
"The older boys' committees, and their adult advisors, for their cordial welcome and services.
"The Boy Scouts, who acted as guides.

"The ministers who conducted the devotional services: Lewis Knapp, R. J. Peterson, J. H. Mapplebeck, S. Magnuson, W. M. MacKay and Captain Dermody; and to "The Northern State Normal school glee club, including male quartet and string quartet, and their director, Conway Peters; the Ishpeming High School orchestra, the First Methodist Sunday School Orchestra, and Clayton Quayle, for their music.
"Furthermore, we, as a body, hereby register our purpose to 'Fight the Good Fight' for Christian character and conduct among the older boys of the Upper Peninsula."

MEN CHARGED WITH HOLD-UP SAY NOTHING

Moras and Olson Confined in County Jail, Are Silent.

Bonds of $10,000 Under Which Each Is Held, Has Not Been Raised by Them as Yet.

Henry Moras and Carl "Red" Olson, charged with the crime of robbing and slugging C. A. Carlson in his little store on the State road last week, are today confined in the county jail awaiting their preliminary hearing on March 11th, and up to noon neither had been able to furnish the $10,000 bail necessary for their freedom.

The boys were taken to the jail yesterday afternoon, shortly after they had been taken before Justice McEwen and both entered pleas of not guilty. It was stated by the police today that so far as their work on the case is concerned, it is closed.

It was also stated that every bit of evidence had been carefully gone over and thoroughly checked, even before any arrest was made. While the nature of the evidence has not been divulged by the police, they feel so absolutely sure of their ground, that there is little reason to doubt their word that they have "the goods."

Last night there was a rumor on the streets, that two boys, who were near the store, had seen the trouble and afterward trailed the masked robbers, until their identity was certain, but this rumor would not be verified by the police.

It is alleged the two boys, who were said to be about 15 years of age, arrived near the store just as the shots were fired and not caring to expose themselves to danger, hid near by and then when the two men came out, took their trail. If this report be true, and it seems to have some foundation, the police surely have an exceptional case, but the public will not be let in on this until the preliminary hearing.

Rumors have been prevalent since the robbery and there has been much talk about this and that, much of which added to the troubles of the police in trying cases. Even the names of the alleged witnesses to the hold-up have not even been whispered, but a Mirror reporter was assured last evening by a man claiming to be acquainted with one of the boys, that the rumor is well founded.

LA FOLLETTE IS TO GET PLACE ON THE BALLOT

Wisconsin Senator's Friends File Petition for Him With Secretary of State Today.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 26. Suffrage petitions to place the name of Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, on the republican presidential preference ballots in Michigan were filed with the secretary of state here today. The primaries will be held on April 7th.

Withdraws Name in North Dakota.
FARGO, N. D., Feb. 26. Senator Robert M. LaFollette desires that his name be withdrawn from the North Dakota presidential primaries, because "the campaign in North Dakota is not being conducted in a manner that will insure vigorous presentation of the issues for which he stands."
This announcement was made today in telegrams sent to several of the leading politicians of the state.

THE WEATHER

For Escanaba and vicinity: Fair to light and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Person, 1901 Hartnett Ave., yesterday.

Oh, Watson, Page Mr. J. Dempsey

"Before long I am to be saluted as the world's heavyweight champion," sez Mr. or Senior J. A. Fingo Monday at Buenos Aires. Sunday he playfully tapped Mr. Farnow, long-haired, pompous citizen of Minneapolis, and Paris, on the chin for a row of Russian Gravy Bouts.
Fingo flourished Watson with a left to the jaw in the first round and it was a terrific left hander that speeded Lodge up at the night and finish him in the fifth round.
Lodge never had a chance. He landed several hard rights to Fingo's jaw, one of which sent Fingo in a half-slip to his knees. For most of the fight, however, Lodge held on desperately and several times emitted a painful "Oh" when he was pinched in the body.

FAMOUS AUTHOR DIES AFTER A SUDDEN ATTACK

George Randolph Chester Passed Away Early Today.

Taken Ill Late Last Night While at Work On One of His Popular Fiction Stories.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. George Randolph Chester, author and playwright, died early today.
Mr. Chester left his Ohio home at an early age and engaged in various occupations. Beginning in newspaper work as a reporter on the Detroit News, he advanced to become one of the most popular writers of fiction in the nation.
"Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" and "Blackie Dace" were two of his most famous characters.
Mr. Chester was 55 years of age. He worked late last night on a new story and shortly after midnight he complained of pains in his chest, and Mrs. Chester applied hot towels, which failed to relieve him. He then took a hot bath and went to bed. Shortly afterward he died.

Anaconda Will Pass Paying a Dividend Now

NEW YORK, Feb. 26. The Anaconda Copper Mining Company omitted its quarterly dividends due at this time. Three months ago 75 cents was paid. Dividends on the Anaconda Company stock were resumed at the rate of 75 cents a share quarterly in April, 1923, after having been suspended since November 22, 1920, when a quarterly dividend of a dollar was declared.

The announcement follows closely the omission of the quarterly dividend by the Calumet and Hecla and is said to be due to the low price for which copper must be sold compared with the high cost of production.

Heaviest Snowfall Hits Three States

OMAHA, Neb. The heaviest snowfall of the winter blanketed northern Nebraska, southern South Dakota and western Iowa last night. A continuous fall of twenty-six hours brought nearly seven inches of undrifted snow. Reports of snow from two to twelve inches deep come from many sections of Nebraska.

CHANGE RULING ON CERTIFICATE FOR YOUR AUTO

No Longer Necessary to Give the Date of Manufacture.

New Ruling Was Made by Secretary Deland and Made Public Yesterday; Good Idea.

LANSING, Feb. 25. Under a ruling made today by Secretary of Staff Charles J. Deland, the year in which motor vehicles are manufactured to longer will be stamped in certificates of title. Hereafter cars will rank according to the date of issue on the certificates rather than the date of manufacture.
The change, according to Mr. Deland, will benefit thousands of purchasers. Without it the purchaser of a car early in 1923, for instance, undoubtedly will get a car made in 1922 and his title would be stamped "1922." The trade-in value of the vehicle would be considerably reduced by the fact that the title showed it to be a 1922 car, when in reality it never was taken into a substitution, perhaps, until 1924.
Handicap to Dealers.
The practice of dating titles according to manufacture, rather than the date of sale has been the subject of many complaints. One dealer, Mr. Deland said, had 700 cars stored for sale this spring. These were 1923 models, but were made in 1922, and when customers who contracted for some of the machines were advised that their titles would credit them with 1923 instead of 1922, they refused to accept them. The new ruling was made, the secretary stated, because the old method was becoming dangerous to automobile production.
The department of state continues dating titles until this time, Mr. Deland said, in order to protect the purchasers of used cars. Now, however, every car that has a license has a title, with the year of manufacture stamped on it. Owners of new cars must get certificates before licenses will be issued. So on new cars the date of manufacture can be omitted and the date of issue will stand. For old cars the original certificate, bearing the year of manufacture, will stand for the life of the car.

Two May Die; Result of Lover's Quarrel

CHICAGO—Mary Mitas, 15, and Edward Koelza, 20, were near death today, their romance shattered. A week ago they were sweethearts, but Mary resented Edward's request that she stop dancing with other men and on Sunday accepted an invitation from another man to attend a dance.
Koelza followed her to the hall and when she refused to dance with him, whipped out a pistol and shot her in the head. Then he turned the gun on himself and fell at her feet. The bullet lodged at the base of his brain.

J. E. Mogan Has Appendicitis; Is Recovering

James E. Mogan of the Escanaba National bank was stricken with an acute attack of appendicitis Saturday afternoon and was rushed to the hospital, where an immediate operation was performed. For a time Mr. Mogan's condition was serious, but today indications point to a speedy recovery.

Daugherty Bought Stocks

On the eve of action on the senate resolution authorizing a probe of his official acts, Atty. Gen. Daugherty admits that he has traded in Sinclair oil stock, but denies his transactions resulted from any knowledge of the Teapot Dome losses and declares he sold all his holdings last fall at a loss of $28 a share.
Mr. Daugherty, in a statement issued Monday night, brings out into the open the rumors that have been circulated here for days regarding speculation by government officials one of whom, Senator Ekins, Republican, West Virginia, recently admitted he had traded in Teapot Dome stock but not from any advance information of the leases.
The attorney general also declared he "was not called upon by Secretary Fall or anyone else for an opinion, written or oral, in regard to the wisdom or legality of the oil leases, and I never volunteered an opinion either written or oral, to Secretary Fall or anyone else," and that he "had no part of any kind or character, directly or indirectly, in the negotiations leading up to the execution of the oil leases."

DAUGHERTY DID BUY SINCLAIR, HE NOW ADMITS

And Also That He Sold It at a Considerable Personal Loss.

Former Secretary for Harry Sinclair Has Been Summoned to Appear Once More.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. Presented with sheaves of telegrams between Albert B. Fall and Edward R. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, most of them between Washington and Palm Beach, Florida, the senate of investigating committee suddenly went into executive session today to examine them.
In ordering the hearing room cleared, Chairman Lenroot said that any of the telegrams found to be relevant to the inquiry would be read in public. The telegrams were presented by the division superintendent of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies and apparently numbered several scores. Some of them contained hundreds of words.

McLean Attorney Present.
Wilton J. Lambert, attorney for Mr. McLean, was present at the reopening of public hearings at the invitation of Senator Walsh, who had had a conference with him, the subject of the conference was not disclosed but it is said it had to do with the examination of Mr. McLean.

Coolidge Holds Conference.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. President Coolidge prior to today's cabinet meeting, had an hour's conference with Paul Howland, of Cleveland, who was attorney for Attorney General Daugherty, when the former faced impeachment proceedings a year ago.

White House and department of justice officials declined to discuss the subject of the conference. Attorney General Daugherty, on arriving at the executive offices to attend the cabinet meeting, worked aside all questions on the subject.

The discussion today followed one held yesterday of a similar length between the president and Mr. Daugherty. It is declared they talked over the more by Republican senate leaders to bring about Mr. Daugherty's retirement. Mr. Howland had been in Washington about 120 weeks.

There are many reports about some further development might be announced after the cabinet meeting, but no official would discuss that possibility.

Calls Back Wahlworth.
A subpoena was issued this morning for G. D. Wahlworth, former secretary to Harry Sinclair. Wahlworth will be questioned as to the identity of Mr. Hayes, to whom he has testified he delivered $25,000 in Liberty bonds.

At the time of his testimony, Wahlworth thought his presence was to an employe of the oil magnate, but since then there has been reports that it was another "Mr. Hayes." In this connection, Senator Walsh announced that there was no further intention of summoning Will H. Hays, the former postmaster general.

IRONWOOD MAN BREAKS RECORD IN SKI JUMPING

John Stulich Jumped 183 Feet Without Falling at End.

This Is the World's Record, According to Figures for Past Several Years.

IRONWOOD, Mich.—The world's records were broken here Sunday afternoon in the annual ski tournament.

John Stulich, Ironwood, leaped 182 feet and stood.

The mark was one foot more than the record for artificial slides made here last year by Walter Bradford, also of Ironwood.

Waino Maki, Ishpeming; Jacob Randa and Leo Anderson, Ironwood, and Roy Forsberg, Ishpeming, all broke the world's record in the boys' class. Maki's best leap was 153 feet.

In the senior events, Werner Forsberg, 1923 amateur champion, leaped 192 feet but fell. Matt Holkainen, Ishpeming, leaped 185 feet and fell.

Sig Stedt of Chicago made 144 feet in his first run, but fell. He was slightly injured in his second ride. William Brandas of Ironwood won the long standing jump with 179 feet.

A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Escanaba people tell how Doan's Pills have stood the best. Mrs. S. Gagnon, of corner Ogden and Sixth streets, Escanaba, endorsed Doan's many years ago and again confirms the story. "Could you ask for more convincing testimony?"

"Doan's Pills certainly are a fine kidney remedy and I am glad to endorse them," says Mrs. Gagnon. "Several years ago I was troubled with weakness in my back. My kidneys were out of order and every time I tried to bend, sharp, darting pains caught me. As Doan's Pills were so highly recommended I decided to try them. They soon relieved me of all the trouble and since then I have taken them occasionally for attacks of backache caused by a cold and they have never failed to give fine results." (Statement given Oct. 26, 1916.)

On May 18, 1920, Mrs. Gagnon said: "My kidneys haven't given me any trouble for a long time. I still use Doan's occasionally, and never regret how they failed to give the desired results."

Six Passengers On Train Suffer Burns

ASHLAND, Wis.—Six passengers on the northbound, Soo Line passenger train were burned in the explosion of a lamp in the smoker of the train when it was about two miles north of Ashford.

The lives of the occupants were probably saved by the action of brakeman Doane, who stopped the train at most immediately.

He was burned about the head and hands.

EASTERN CANDIDATE ON NOVEL PLATFORM

Would Cut Prices, Raise the Wages, Stop War and Jail Daugherty.

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa.—Every now and then a candidate for office comes out with a card showing a slight variation of the time worn "your vote and support is respectfully solicited." John W. Heiderich, Jr., is passing one around that is admitted to be entirely original. Heiderich's card is about three by five inches and tells everything from the pronunciation of his name to all the details of his platform. He would like to go to congress.

On the face of the card is Heiderich's picture and the note that the name is pronounced "Heidrick." He says he is a "LaFollette Progressive" was drafted and served overseas with a unit of the 89th Division. After that statement in capital letters are the words "Not a Shave Tail." Beneath his picture is the statement: "I was born the year of the battle of Homestead, when Labor was defeated by Capital."

The platform which he announces is, he says, "what you will get after you clean the tools of the Business out of office." The platform follows in part:

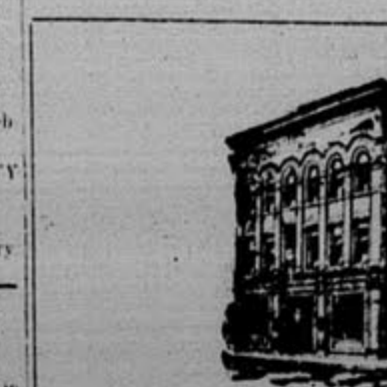

- "No sugar all the year round.
- "No beer same as before the war.
- "No gasoline, same as in California.
- "No carfates and free transfers.
- "2 cent phone calls, same as first-class letter.
- "Lower R. R. fares, higher R. R. wages.
- "More pay for clerks, less profits for companies.
- "No injunctions, jail for Daugherty.
- "Stop immigration, keep up wages.
- "No war, richest men first over the top.
- "Legally treason anyone who dares to interfere with enforcement of law enacted by congress."

In a foot note he explains the use of the new verb "treason" by telling that he was the chief justice of the "supreme court" of England who was hanged for declaring unconstitutional a law passed by parliament and the other members of the court were hanged from the kingdom."

In another prominent footnote he says: "If beer is the only item you favor in the above list, don't vote for me. I don't want your vote."

DOG SAVES HIS MASTER FROM A WATERY GRAVE

Fisherman at Superior Has Thrilling Experience in Ice.

Faithful Dogs Were All That Saved Him From Being Drowned; Canines Brought Aid.

SUPERIOR, Feb. 26.—Charles E. Tindell, resort manager on Mandan Island, was saved from drowning by his dogs Sunday afternoon. Tindell was fishing on Lake Superior one mile off shore when his sled and four dogs went through the ice.

The dogs managed to climb out with Tindell holding on to the reins. The dogs, by continuous barking, attracted the attention of fishermen who succeeded in rescuing him after the dogs had pulled him to solid ice.

This is the second experience Tindell has had on Lake Superior within a month. Three weeks ago Tindell and his wife were lost on the lake in a snow storm and were only rescued with difficulty.

Little Girls Confess They Robbed Stores

Two little girls, aged ten and eleven years of age, both small for their ages, have been rounded up by the police department and Miss Carrie Welley, and have confessed to "shoplifting" a large quantity of goods from local stores. The value is about $300, but the bulk of stuff surrendered to the police looks like a thousand dollars worth.

A most varied assortment had been collected by the girls, ranging from five-cent trinkets from the ten-cent stores to a remnant of silk from an other store. Sweaters and other garments were also found in the retrieval lot.

HANCOCK TO HAVE 1925 CONFERENCE

Marquette Pledged Support by Copper Country for 1926 Gathering.

MARQUETTE.—The fact of the 100 delegates who came here to attend the tenth annual Upper Peninsula Old or Boys' Conference, will leave for their homes today.

The sessions on Saturday and yesterday consisted mainly of group meetings and discussions, held in the churches, where the delegates were given dinner and supper Saturday. The first session was held yesterday afternoon in the High School and a farewell meeting was held in the First M. E. Church last evening.

On Saturday afternoon delegates participated in the ice carnival parade at the municipal rink and also visited points of interest in Ishpeming. A parade was held and the winners had a group picture taken in front of the High School.

Hancock was awarded the 1925 conference by the unanimous choice of the delegates. Marquette and Negaunee bid for the meeting, but finally threw their support to the Copper Country city. The Copper Country delegation agreed to support Marquette for the 1926 meeting. The Negaunee delegation won the conference basket ball title for which fourteen teams played and at the Saturday evening meeting the winning team was presented with a cup from wood was second and Calumet third.

Dismiss Attachment Against Henry Ford

NEW YORK.—Federal Judge Know has dismissed the $115,000 writ of attachment obtained against Henry Ford by Herman Bernstein, Jewish editor in Bernstein's $200,000 libel suit against the manufacturer. The court held that Bernstein had failed to show that sufficient proof to warrant the seizure and retention of the money under the writ.

Shenandoah Queen of the Storm Winds

How Twenty-one Men Foiled Death and Destruction Told in the Story of the Epic Night Flight of the Great Navy Dirigible.

WEDNESDAY evening, January 16, 1924—one to be remembered!

All day long the storm winds had charged northward over the Jersey pine belt to howl around the giant mooring mast and waste themselves in fruitless assaults against the blunt bow of the Navy dirigible Shenandoah.

Cloud banks in endless procession scudded with the gale, fleeing in tumbled masses past the long spear-shaped hull.

Then the early darkness of a night of snow, when the wind shifted to a northwesterly, brought a change of fortune. Here, a change through the open sky, the storm died as it came, from the windows of the hangars of the Lakeland naval air station.

And behind the curtain of the moonlight, the glow of the Shenandoah's pilot car was seen, a small, shining object that was at her bow. All was well within the dirigible.

Every foot of machinery on board the dirigible, the engine was at work. The lights of the dirigible were on, and the crew were in their places. The dirigible was in the air, and the crew were in their places.

Four of the crew had been passed successfully, but the dirigible was in the air, and the crew were in their places. The dirigible was in the air, and the crew were in their places.

He went forward after that, and from stem to stern. It was the only way along the cat's walk, which had torn holes in the hull. He reached the platform to find two gas bags. That more were not ruptured by the same instrument is a marvel. The flashlight beam, which had been pointed at the dirigible, was now pointed at the cat's walk. The Margin of Safety. Every man on the ship knew that it was a matter of minutes before the dirigible would be in the air. The crew were in their places, and the dirigible was in the air.

How it was done. The empty gasoline tanks weigh fifty-four pounds apiece, but each of these destined for discard held an additional weight of 113 gallons of gasoline. Piling them through the bottom of the bag was no easy matter, yet it had to be done. Again the flashlights were brought into play, being focused upon the first tank and its connections, while the men, standing themselves as best they could on the cat's walk, turned the stop cocks, released the upper valves and then cut away the feet pipes. The first gas tank plunged down and through the cloth sheeting. Whatever hole it may have made in its plunge was lost in the greater lary of the storm.

The dirigible was in the air, and the crew were in their places. The dirigible was in the air, and the crew were in their places. The dirigible was in the air, and the crew were in their places.

Ship Holds Its Own. On the dirigible the men knew well enough the storm was breaking. The wind was lessening and, by the time they were over Staten Island, the power of the engines had at last called a halt to further drifting. But turning back, with a cross upper motor, and that the more powerful of the two controlling the vertical motion, was still a hard task. After that first hour in the trap it, however, the dirigible was in the air, and the crew were in their places.

Home-ward Bound. The rest is soon told. From Staten Island back to Lakeland was a feat, yet a feat which was but nothing as compared to the wild ride with the gale. They turned the dirigible about 11:30, yet in an hour and a half had made little headway. At 1:10 above South Amboy, they were traveling at only four miles an hour. Five minutes later, with the storm gone from their path and the stars peeping forth, the speed was up to twenty-five miles. Thirty-five minutes later they were over Freehold, and at 2:20, with the whole naval station personnel out to welcome them, they came sailing across the pines to hover overhead preparatory to landing.

An hour later the Shenandoah was back in her hangar. Joyful messmates shook hands enviously with the heroes of the wild ride, and Captain Metcary and Commander Weyerbacher, the constructor, crawled up into the bag and, by the aid of their flashlights, made a minute inspection of the damage for an immediate report to Washington.

Rides With the Wind. Buoyancy was finally established and holding more and to cast away. The Shenandoah at last was on an even keel, although still with her back to the wind being swept along with the gale despite all that her engines could do.

Let Go Water Ballast. Then it happened. The wind velocity increased to a fury, and the ship gave a twisting wrench. The crackling roar which strained the masts, was far more ominous as heard in the pilot car. A tremendous lurch and the dirigible span clear of her anchorages. In a second the bow had tilted and she dove downward.

Flashlights Only Light. There is not a single battery light along this 900-foot of eventful inch-wide walk, not on the platform. Not an electric wire can be found within the bag. Nor is inflammable, but hydrogen gas is, and the time may come when, by down gas will be used in the Shenandoah. Moreover, crossed wires could ignite the gas bars or the outer cloth casing. These same dangers prohibit naturally the use of oil lights, gasoline lights

It was a case of ride it out, until the storm abated sufficiently to try and move homeward through it. From the compass they had a general idea of their position, for the drift had been almost due north, but until the light cleared there was no way of telling just where they were.

The Radio Repaired. Added to all the other troubles, the radio outfit had been out of commission for several hours before the disaster, so there could be no communication with land stations. At least, they thought no word could be sent to Lakeland or their safety. Radio Gunner Robertson thought otherwise. He began tinkering with his outfit as soon as the ship's stability was established, and while the others watched with interest the signs of a diminishing storm, he manipulated wires, batteries and tubes, until about an hour after they had broken away, he turned with a triumphant exclamation to Commander Pierce.

"It's working," he announced. Thus, out of the air to Mitchell Flying Field at 9:30 o'clock came this message in Navy Code:

"All O. K. Will ride out storm. We think we are over New Brunswick. Holding our own. Verify position and send us weather information. Pierce."

The message was relayed to Lakeland, and the gloom of disaster gave way to the wildest joy. But the Shenandoah was not over New Brunswick. What Commander Pierce had mistaken for the lights of New Brunswick were those of

LONDON IS NOW CENTER OF THE BOOTLEGGING BUSINESS OF THE UNITED STATES, IT IS DECLARED

Was Formerly Centered in the Bahama Islands in Atlantic.

United States Agents Are Not Able to Break Up Ring Composed of About 2,000 Men.

LONDON The center of bootlegging liquor to America has been shifted from the Bahama Islands to London.

Every week thousands of gallons of rum are shipped from this country by a fleet now known as the "Rum Runners' Armada."

The head of the organization, which so far has outwitted the keenest American prohibition sleuths sent to England to stop the traffic, is a mysterious figure called "Capt. Candid," formerly a Baltic ship broker. He has secret headquarters in the Limehouse district.

The Limehouse center is a bar-restaurant as a gathering place for sailors the world over. Its name is held in the highest esteem for the quality of the liquor that it sells.

Sleuths Foiled. The only people who cannot get into the bar are the American agents, although one or two of them cleverly disguised, are believed to have penetrated as far as the outer bar.

But in the "inner" bar picket men—those who have been enlisted to help the traffic—come and go.

These men are sent to Cardiff or Hull or any other port where it has been decided to refit the ships which are now "in commission" as the new London-America rum fleet.

These vessels patrol the 14,000 miles of coast of the United States, getting rid of their liquor cargo quietly, and eventually arrive at Vladivostok "in ballast." During all of this time they are in communication by wireless with the heads of the rum ring in London.

Rum, Gin Preferred. Whisky and brandy are not so much favored for the traffic as rum and gin. These bring higher prices, and there are unlimited stocks.

Sales of rum and gin cannot be traced as easily as can the sale of whisky.

About 600,000 gallons of spirits enter the London docks every week. This usually finds its way into storage until matured. Manifests and requisitions for the withdrawal of quantities of any particular consignment may not be made for years. There are sufficient stocks on hand to make this unnecessary.

When 50,000 gallons are marked for withdrawal for export, it is almost impossible for any one to determine from which particular shipments the liquor has been released.

Often the supplies do not fall into the hands of the rum ring until another firm has first handled the transaction, so as to disguise it.

Spent Time in United States. "Captain Candid" is a past master at the art of disguising cargoes and veiling their destination. English by birth, he has spent much of his time in the United States.

The profits made are so enormous that the captain can afford to pay his subordinates well. His daring and resource have so far completely outwitted the American sleuths, who have received instructions from Washington that they must smash the ring at all costs.

In making London their headquarters the ring were against the small army of United States investigators who for some time have been trying to find out who is at the bottom of all the rum smuggling to America.

2,000 Firms Shipped. The difficulties encountered by these men may be realized when it is said that there are more than 2,000 firms of shippers interested in the liquor cargoes.

As London is the sole market for rum and imported gin, prices are lower in the British capital and bargain shipments can be secured.

Thus it is a common matter for shipments of gin and rum to remain on board ship, being sold as soon as the vessel docks.

The rum ring has a huge capital and the profits on cargoes vary from $5,000 to $50,000.

MARINETTE MAN TAKES MERCURY; TAKEN TO JAIL

First Tried to Take His Life With Revolver But Was Stopped.

Then He Took the Mercury and the Police Were Called, Taking Him to the Lock-up.

MENOMINEE Edwin O. Colvin, residing at 2806 Gilbert street, Marinette, tried to commit suicide Sunday afternoon at his home. Prevented from using a revolver he took poison and this fact was not ascertained until after he was brought to the court.

At 10 p. m. Colvin was taken to the hospital. Treatment was given him and he was afterward returned to the jail where he will be held until the return of the city of District Attorney Murphy. The poison he took was a bicarbonate of mercury tablet, which is a deadly poison, but hospital attendants believe he was given sometime in time to expell most of the poison.

Seize 40 Gallons Alcohol in Garage

KAUKAUNA Wis. Forty gallons of grain alcohol were found by Chief of Police R. H. McCarthy in an automobile left in a garage here. The machine was a new one, without a license plate, and had been in the garage since the snow storm of Feb. 9th. Rumors that the affair was suspicious led to the securing of a search warrant and the search of the car with the subsequent findings. The alcohol was found in five gallon tins stored in the rear luggage compartment of the automobile.

You wouldn't wash clothes in dirty water— Why have them dry cleaned in dirty naphtha?

DeLaval Continuous Clarification keeps our cleansing fluid clean at all times.

De Laval Continuous Clarification is generally considered the greatest advance in dry cleaning methods made in the past decade. It keeps our cleansing fluid clean all the time and so immeasurably improves the quality of our work.

HOUSEWIVES who have the washing done at home can best appreciate the advantage of the new system of dry cleaning now in operation at our plant.

Suppose that all of the dirty clothes were being washed a stream of fresh, clean water were fed into the top of the tub or washing machine, while from the bottom was drawn a stream of dirty water containing all of the impurities washed from the clothes. Wouldn't they come out whiter and cleaner?

That is exactly the way we now dry clean your clothes, except that pure, dry naphtha takes the place of water as a cleansing fluid.

We have connected our cleaning machines in such a way that the fluid drawn from the bottom of them is delivered to a high-speed centrifugal clarifier which instantaneously removes the dirt washed from the clothing. From this clarifier, the fluid goes back into the cleaning machine as fresh and sweet as when new. Circulation is continued in this way all of the time that clothes are being cleaned. As compared with wet washing, the effect is the same as though the clothes were alternately washed and rinsed six times.

This process is everywhere hailed as the greatest advance made in the art of dry cleaning during the past ten years. Let us prove to you what wonderfully satisfactory results it gives.

This Age of Oil

Speaking editorially, the Chicago Tribune, in its issue of February 3, says:

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil and consumption grows at a rapid pace. We have a problem, therefore, not merely of conservation but of supply, and its solution is vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States."

This able statement seems to us to justify further comment.

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil"—oil in some form enters into the manufacture of every article of commerce. Without it the commodities you use could not be manufactured and sold for the price you pay now.

"Consumption grows at a rapid pace"—to illuminate this statement it is only necessary to show that in the ten states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there were, on January 1, 1924, 4,855,739 automotive vehicles registered. This is 807,367 more than were registered on January 1, 1923.

"Conservation"—it is a well-known fact that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by means of processes discovered and developed in its own laboratories has contributed more to increasing the yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude than any other refiner. This increased yield was secured without in any way affecting the quality of the gasoline and without touching that portion of the crude which goes into the manufacture of lubricating oils.

"Vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States"—comment here seems unnecessary as all must recognize the part played by petroleum in "This Age of Oil."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has achieved its signal success in "This Age of Oil" by practicing the principles of fairness, equity and justice.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its position as a leader in the petroleum industry—it is proud of its success—it is proud that the service it has rendered has gained the respect, confidence and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

Daugherty T. Sinclair Admits

(Continued from Page One) the Tvaot Dome lease was executed and had bought 18 shares of the stock in the year the lease was signed to round out his holdings.

Mr. Daugherty drew up a detailed defense of his stewardship, in which he takes up the charges made by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana. His statement took the form of a letter to Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, his ardent champion, who was responsible Monday for blocking action on the Montana senator's resolution, which will come up Tuesday. The letter was dated Feb. 22.

After making the letter public, Mr. Daugherty conferred for an hour with President Coolidge at the White House. He said afterward that he had discussed "an important matter," but not that uppermost in the public mind. The demand in the senate for his resignation was touched upon incidentally, he stated.

MOTHER THRIFT WANTS TO MEET YOU ON FRIDAY

She Will Be in Several Local Stores and You May Get Nice Present by Observation.

When you get your paper Thursday night, the real, honest-to-goodness "Old Mother Thrift" will appear in all her simple glory on the front page. You had better cut her right out so you can compare her with the many nice old ladies who look much like her, in the stores named in the paper that evening.

One woman called up The Mirror yesterday and said she had a way of "spotting" the real "Mother Thrift" instantly and when she told us how she was able to do it, we had to tell her that the little characteristic identification she had in mind was exactly similar to six other women in the series of 25.

The only way you can be sure by careful comparison. There is but one Mother Thrift and she is quite different from the 24 others in the series.

ROMANCE ENDS WITH DIVORCE AT GREEN BAY

Daughter of John F. Martin Divorced after But Three Weeks.

Following Elopement Father Followed Couple to Chicago and Brought Her Back.

GREEN BAY, Wis. A sensational elopement and a honeymoon which lasted less than three weeks, had an afternoon here today when Mrs. Adris Anderson was granted a divorce from Marcel Anderson, a member of the Chicago board of trade and widely known musician. The divorce was based on grounds of non-support, and was not contested. Mrs. Anderson is a daughter of John F. Martin.

He opposed her marriage to Anderson and when the couple eloped a year ago, followed them to Chicago. Three weeks later he brought the bride back to Green Bay and refused to allow her to see her husband.

Wilson's Spirit Carries on Fight, Says Tumulty

NEW YORK—"Those who execrated Woodrow Wilson, who knocked at the door of his sickroom, pursuing him like a deer, set upon by snarling hounds, or snow in the shadow of exile, while the dead president's spirit carries on the fight," Joseph Tumulty, Mr. Wilson's secretary, declared at memorial services at the Academy of Music Sunday.

Mr. Wilson's enemies are scattered and silent before the reverence the nation pays him for his struggle against these evils," Mr. Tumulty said.

"With the shroud drawn, partisan rancor, personal hatred, and envy of life men are held at bay and forever silenced; and now, with bare heads, we stand in reverential awe before the tomb to honor him," said Mr. Tumulty. "Who shall say that these struggles and efforts for peace in Woodrow Wilson are in vain."
