HELP THE POSTOFFICE.

Thousands of ready letter writers may have overlooked the fact that the past week was Better Mailing Week. It was so designated by Postmaster General New, but even a postmaster-general is not omnipotent. His long-suffering subordinates have probably had dumped upon them almost their usual quota of mis-addressed mail matter, which normally amounts to 4,000,000 pieces a week. Of that quantity, perhaps 300,000 pieces went to the dead letter office as usual.

The carelessness of mail senders last week, or any recent week, cost the Postoffice Department more than $20,000 merely for the salaries of special clerks dealing with addresses known to be wrong or incomplete. The loss of time among other clerks and carriers, due to their efforts to puzzle out wrong addresses and deliver the mail where it belongs, must be far greater. Greatest of all, however, is the loss to the senders themselves.

Three-fourths of this sort of carelessness should be avoidable. Keep address lists up to date and inspect addresses carefully after they are written.

POWER FOR WORLD PEACE.

World peace seems to be getting farther and farther away from attainment. The overpowering burdens and agony of the World war are being exploited by the belligerent nations as justification for another war. Among certain European countries the "next war" is now accepted as a foregone conclusion.

England and France in the face of bankruptcy and economic chaos are spending billions on armament for each other. Allies with a common cause less than a decade ago they now find it expedient to protect themselves from each other.

Germany is no less a monarchy by choice of her own people than she was before the occupation of Belgium and her monarchy is no less a militaristic one. The lesson of war in Europe is more war.

There is revolution in Central America. Many governments in Europe and Asia Minor are on the fence between turmoil and order. Continued peace is probable in several of these countries but nothing in the shape of war is improbable.

Every day it is becoming more and more apparent to the American people that a world court or a league of nations in any form, which depends upon force of arms for authority, is playing right into the arms of war.

Let Europe accuse the United States of an evasion of a world duty but let Europe not deny that the United States is still the only world power which stands unequivocally for world peace and practices what Europe is preaching.

A GOOD JOKE.

Reports from London indicate the formation of a league of British Fascisti, whose aim it will be to seize power, as the original Fascisti did in Italy, if the Labor government attempts passage of radical legislation.

In such a case what will the attitude of the government be? Everyone knows what a conservative government would do in case a movement started with the object of overturning it by force. It would try anarchy, it would break up the meetings of those who threatened the constitution, it would throw the leaders into prison. In short, it would rally to the defense of the basic law. But the show is now on the other foot. It is the radical element which is in power, and it is the conservative element which is said to be planning an unconstitutional movement—an appeal to force.

The Labor government may be wise; it may let the British Fascisti organize, try to see how far they can get. For sooner or later they would run up against that strong and firm public opinion which is bedded in the British constitution, and the reaction against the strong arms would do more to insure the success and continuance of labor in power than anything the Labor government could do of its own motion.

FILTHY LUCRE.

According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, there is no really filthy money. Maybe so. But there is a deal of figuratively filthy lucre in circulation. Bacteriologically speaking, a dollar may be clean as the proverbial penny, but it may be nevertheless figuratively reek with "dith."

It may really be bright and shiny and none the less figuratively be red with blood or soiled with crimes or stained with dishonesty or fouled with extortion. The cleanest money may be the "dirtiest." If it were always as clean figuratively as the Journal reports it to be really, there would be real cause for rejoicing.

Escanaba Paper Company Goes Over the Top

MANAGER J. H. SLATER TELLS ROTARIANS HOW THE COMPANY HAS OVERCOME DIFFICULTIES

With the Improvements Made Through the Suggestion of Mr. Slater, the Mill will Always Have Ample Power to Run 100%; Lack of Water Not Unusual.

Also Outlines the Advantages of Recent Consolidation Between Paper Company and Traction Company.

Last Monday J. H. Slater, manager of the Escanaba Paper Company read a paper before the Rotary Club, in which he explained the local paper mill situation as well as the advantages of the recent consolidation of the paper and traction companies. Several members of the Rotary Club have commented on the paper and requested that The Mirror publish it for the benefit of all the people of Escanaba, many of whom have stock in the company. Mr. Slater has given this newspaper permission to publish the paper which is as follows:

"It is a fact that the establishment of an industry in any locality almost invariably carries with it the necessity for that industry or business to become adjusted and in complete harmony with its environment. This is necessary so that it may obtain all the advantages, and eventually work itself into a position where it can become firmly and permanently established on a profitable basis.

"This is especially true when the business is intricate or where considerable capital is invested and the nature of the business is such that it must continue to function and, if possible, profitably produce for a long period in the place that has been chosen. To fulfill all these conditions usually requires considerable time and in some cases longer than in others.

A Hurried Start.

"What we have said is emphatically true of an industry like the Escanaba Paper Company. The history of this business is that it was conceived and hurried forward to a producing stage in the manufacture of paper at a time of wide-spread industrial expansion. The launching of the business was accomplished by enterprise, sanguine, but in the final analysis hard-headed business men, who doubtless had a vision of a large industry calculated to take advantage of some of the natural resources of this part of the State of Michigan, and to convert some of these resources into a useful product for which there is a constant demand, and to do this with profit to themselves and also profit to the community fortunate enough to be favored with such an industry, distributing constantly large sums of money.

Was Good Proposition.

"Notwithstanding anything that may be said to the contrary, we feel absolutely certain that excellent judgment was used in establishing a pulp and paper mill in Escanaba, and while the full success expected has been deferred, we may now feel absolutely assured that that success will be attained at no distant date. But expressions of opinion should be supported by some evidence.

Many Advantages.

When we consider this paper company's advantages, as, for instance, abundant quantities of suitable wood pulp immediately adjacent to this in quality and obtainable at a reasonable price in a country adapted for its growth and replacement, an excellent labor market in a place where men desire to work, the close proximity of the business to an immense consuming market where the competition in this, null, particular grade is, and must continue to be, with distant northern and eastern state mills, thus giving this business a marked favorable differential in freight rates; its advantages, position in regard to gash shipments of coal, thus giving the mill fuel at a considerably better price than the great majority of newspaper mills; the excellent supply of good clean water, so imperatively necessary in making paper; and the further fact of first-class mill buildings, well built and containing a complete equipment of thoroughly modern pulp machinery and paper machines that are not surpassed by any such machines between the eastern bound-

Can't Build New Belt Railroad Around Detroit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The senators of the Interstate Commerce commission today recommended that the Detroit Grand Belt Railroad Company and the Detroit connecting railroads be denied authority to construct a new line in the Detroit terminal area.

SMOOT APPEARS TODAY TO TELL HIS OWN STORY

Knew Before Hand About Dohney Coming to Washington.

Also Tells Committee of His Call on Albert Fall in Company With Len. root.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Senator Simon, republican of Utah, former chairman of the oil committee, disclosed publicly today that he was advised in advance that E. L. Dohney was coming to Washington to testify about his $100,000 loan to Albert B. Fall.

The Utah senator said he received the information from Edward W. Zimmet, a private counsel to Harry S. Sinclair, who was in New Orleans at the time with Mr. Fall. The senator denied rumors at the capital that he had been in telegraphic communication with Fall, since the former secretary announced in December that he had received the $100,000 loan from Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post.

The only communication I had with Albert Fall was when Zimmet called me on the telephone from New Orleans and told me Dohney was coming to Washington to tell all," said Senator Simon.

He then said, "Albert Fall is here and wants to talk to you."

Senator Simon also told of a conference in which he and Chairman Frost had with the former secretary, Albert B. Fall, at the latter's hotel a few days before Fall sent the letter to the committee in which he said McLean had made the hundred thousand dollar loan.

"We told him, said Mr. Simon, that everything in the records had been explained except where he got the money to enlarge his ranch. He told us that he had borrowed it from an old friend, adding, I am out a partner. I can get money when I need it."

"Well, Albert, why don't you tell the committee where you got it?" Senator Simon said he asked the former secretary, "It is a private matter," was his reply. Mr. Simon said. Continuing he declared, We went to see Albert Fall, as friends, to get him to clear up the matter of the story for the sake of himself, the committee and the public."

American to Produce Film Depicting Life of Modern Irish Folk

DUBLIN, Feb. 27.—F. Leroy Granville, an American producer, was in Dublin recently making a preliminary investigation with a view to producing a motion picture depicting Irish life. He declared he would return here next summer for that purpose and invited Irish authors to submit stories. He said Americans were anxious to see a modern and faithful presentation of Irish national life, eliminating the stage Irishman.

"The atmosphere in Ireland," said Mr. Granville, "is as good as it is in California, and there is some of the finest scenery in the world in Ireland."

M'LEAN TOLD TO GET WIRE FOR OWN USE

Was Advised by His Secretary to Protect Himself.

Oil Committee Read Many Telegrams the Senders Never Thought Would Be Dug Up.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Telegram sent to Edward B. McLean, A. B. Fall and others at Palm Beach, Florida, relevant to the oil inquiry were read into the record today by the oil committee.

The first was from John Major, an employee of Mr. McLean and sent to McLean at Palm Beach suggesting a leased wire from the Washington Post to the McLean cottage in Florida, so that the publisher could have easy and quick access to the White House.

The message also said that Mr. Smoot, secretary to the president, would be in Florida shortly. Another message from Major to McLean said that Major had had a talk with "Smothers" at the White House.

In another telegram Major reported to McLean that he had delivered the message to McAdoo and Palmer as per instructions. (The McAdoo referred to in the telegram and in others is believed to be Francis McAdoo of New York.)

Under the date of January 22, 1924, Major wired McLean that A. Mitchell Palmer, former attorney general, and counsel for Mr. McLean, had gained the impression from Senator Walsh that McLean would not be called before the committee. This message added, "Other people are working on Major."

One message from Major to McLean, which said that Major had had a conference with C. W. Smithers, chief telegraph officer at the White House,

William Duckstein, another employee of McLean, wired his employer that the man Smithers at the White House would like to have the job of operating a private wire for you from the White House."

Another message stated, "Just left the secretary at Wardman Park." He will go to Palm Beach. He declared you would not be called and the major will be closed after Sinclair testifies." This was also a message from Major.

Major wired that he was arranging for Fall's trip to Palm Beach, but had doubts whether the secretary would be a guest of Mr. McLean and then another message, "Saw Senator Walsh this morning, but he would not commit himself." This was signed by A. Mitchell Palmer.

The committee then adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, before all the messages had been read. Before adjournment Chairman Leon said the message referred to in some of them is Francis McAdoo of New York.

100 New Automobiles Stuck in Snow Drifts

PORLTAND, Mich.—One hundred automobiles are stalled in the second drive away this week to be blocked on M-16. The cars Thursday night ran into high drifts about eight miles west of here. No automobiles were able to get through and after futile attempts most of them returned to this city. The first drive away was stuck here Tuesday night, but got through Wednesday.

The automobiles were en route from Lansing and Detroit to Grand Rapids and western points.

He declared today that he wants to become mayor because he believes there is plenty of room for improvement in the local civic government. He also admitted he participated with two companions in holdups in Indianapolis and Detroit.

GIRL WHO TOOK IODINE IS NOW OUT OF DANGER

Former Escanaba Girl Despondent Over Desecration Would End All.

John Barker Is Being Held by the Authorities at Iron Mountain; Accused by Girl.

Agnes Goodwin, 18, formerly of this city, attempted to take her life in the rooming house at Iron Mountain where she has been staying after she had been spurned by John Barker, whom she accused of being responsible for her unfortunate condition. Her story was told to the prosecuting attorney, who issued a warrant for the arrest of Barker, who is now in custody. The girl, unable to obtain anything from a drug store that was known to be deadly poison, bought a bottle of iodine and, going to her room, drank all there was in the bottle.

She was found later and rushed to the hospital and for a short time it was feared she would not recover. Today, however, it is stated, that she has overcome the effects of the drug and her recovery is assured.

Whether this move on the part of the attorney general would be entirely satisfactory to Mr. Coolidge, it is difficult to say. He conferred with her about the case and it is a possibility that he will be compelled to make a statement to the press.

The statistics show that Oxford is a city of youth, literature and the professions; these three classes making up more than 37 per cent of the entire population. The largest group of inhabitants is that at the age of 21, and more than one-sixth of the whole population falls within the ages of 18 and 25. Girl students at the university total only 321 against a total of males of 2,788. This city has 212 tavern keepers, 28 hotelkeepers and 482 persons, men and women, engaged in the tailoring trade.

Government Road Expands Service

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 27.—One more through train each way, and a special Sunday train each way between Anchorage and Seward, will be a feature of the summer schedule adopted by the government's Alaska railroad.

The new schedule designed to handle the 1923 tourist traffic shows three trains each way a week, instead of two as at present. Trains will leave Seward, the southern terminal, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, arriving at Fairbanks, the interior terminal, on the following day. Trains will leave Fairbanks southbound on the same days.

Beach Jones Stock Co. to Play Here

Their goers of Escanaba have a treat in store for them next week, when the Beach Jones Stock Company opens a week's engagement at the Delphi next Monday night. In their repertoire they have such plays as "Nice People," a New York success, and the play made famous by Lenore Ulric a few seasons ago, "The Best of Paradise." This piece is one of the best spectacular plays ever produced and will be a wonderful evening's entertainment for those who see it.

(Continued from Page One) day at Niagara Falls and the Pacific Coast. It would seem that with all these favorable factors or advantages success should be positively assured, and we are certain that this is the correct conclusion.

Had Many Setbacks.

The business, however, has had to almost contend with the serious disadvantage of considerable periods of insufficient regular power. Now power is the life-blood of the newsprint manufacturing business; without sufficient fairly cheap power no permanent progress is possible. We have known this for a long time and, therefore, determined many months ago that we must find a way to sufficient power or make a way, and leave no stone unturned until this had been accomplished.

Lack of Power is Common.

Some of power in starting newsprint mills, particularly, is not unusual. Almost always, regularly of river-flow has to be provided sooner or later by water storage at suitable places so that water may be impounded during times of heavy rainfall and spring flood conditions, and controlled and allowed to flow off during other periods so as to give some degree of uniform flow without waste, thus greatly lengthening the maximum power producing conditions.

Identically every newsprint mill in country and Canada sooner or later has been compelled to improve its water powers by water storage as they reached the height of their making possibilities. It has not ever been possible for us to consider this method of improving our power, and especially at this time. The fall for the past three years has been considerably below the average of this part of the country and in consideration of water storage appeared much like a gamble to receive any earnest thought or action, and it was some time ago reached a stage in this enterprise where a decision was reached that something had to be done, and that something must be of a constructive character.

Attack Problem Seriously.

It was imperative that the problem be attacked from all sides and that it be solved, that the obstacle of insufficient power be removed and some fairly economical regular source of power be secured. This matter received for many months our constant and most earnest attention. We investigated thoroughly anything that was apparently promising, and looked into the possibilities of internal combustion engines, the use of oil fuel under boilers, the use of powdered coal, the possibility of securing electric power from some distant point, and the building of a power plant on the lake shore. However, all these different plans and methods had features that made them undesirable, being too costly, too uncertain, or in some other manner containing a weakness, so that we finally decided after consultation with one of the foremost and nationally well-known power engineering companies that our surest and least expensive move would be to take advantage of what we had, and of our position, to arrange and improve our present boiler plant and place it on the most economical fuel-consuming basis possible by adopting thoroughly modern and well-proven equipment, and so make steam at the very lowest possible cost with a boiler plant as small as ours, and our very careful investigation proved to us that this could be done if we attacked it in the right way and handled it properly thereafter.

Make Sure of Steam.

Having made sure that we could make steam for power at a reasonably low cost, we further decided to purchase the best, latest and most improved condensing turbo electric generator that had yet been manufactured by the General Electric Co.

Make Many Changes.

To secure permanently all the economic results we were after, a great number of important changes had to be made. For instance, a duct 250 feet long and 4 feet in diameter was excavated in the river bed, thus assuring us of an abundant supply of clear, cold water. This was obtained in an amount adequate for a much larger power unit than we already have. This feature also enables us to attain a vacuum on the outlet end of our turbine to within 7-10 of zero, and so makes great steam economy possible.

Superheaters, beyond all question the best made, were purchased and installed in the boilers, raising the temperature of the steam to just within safe limits.

Improved Boilers.

Another economical feature: Boiler furnaces were enlarged to extract to the limit every heat unit possible from the incandescent coal; every drop of water from condensed steam used in paper process operations was brought back to the boilers, retained in a suit-strenuously contested, and rather than arouse a still more intense bitterness and antagonism, wiser counsel prevailed. An earnest effort was made to get together, which was after some delay successful, and after many meetings of individuals and interested groups, with many concessions suggested on both sides, it was found finally possible to come to an agreement fairly satisfactorily to both parties.

Install New Power.

"Immediately it was apparent an agreement could be brought about and consolidation of interests secured, the long-deferred water power improvements were actively undertaken and it was decided to discard the obsolete water wheels and electric generators at the so-called No. 1 power house and to install wheels and generators of the most improved type, built to meet the special river-flow conditions at that power plant. This work is being pushed with the utmost energy and we fully expect will be in partial operation by March 15th and in complete operation by April 1st. Even at this time the new power house building is partly erected, and in two weeks will be completed. The new water wheels have arrived in Escanaba, the switchboard and other electrical connections have been shipped from Chicago, while the large new generators are nearly completed and will be here during the first and second week of March. We confidently calculate this whole installation will be ready to take advantage of the spring flood, and regularly thereafter provide greatly increased power even from the same amount of water that we have had in the last two or three years.

Doubles Up Work.

"At the time work was commenced on Dam No. 1 power plant, work was also begun at No. 3 power plant excavating the tail race and thus adding from four to five feet head on the wheels in that plant. This work, we expect, will also be completed by the time the spring freshet arrives, and when completed will add very greatly to the power to be obtained from this plant, probably doubling the power at least.

Keep Improving.

"Numerous minor improvements of a mechanical nature and in methods of operation will be adopted, with all these powers under one control, so that even for a given amount of water considerably more power will be secured than in the past, as there will be no conflict of interests, and the Traction Company and its customers by the improvement in water power and the installation of the steam plant will be absolutely assured of an adequate and dependable source of power at all times.

"With all these changes and improvements completed, the consolidated companies will get the last measure of power to be obtained from the existing power plants, and will also be in a position to install another steam unit and still further improve river conditions, until every power resource has been secured and highest efficiency attained. We expect to do this if our further interests or the public or industrial demand requires it. The changes that have been made and which will be completed we expect will place the Paper Company on a thoroughly profitable basis, and benefit enormously the Traction Company. It will also assure 100 percent operation of the pulp and paper mill, which has not been possible in the past, and thus provide additional work in this community and disbursement of money through wages.

"It has been a source of gratification to all concerned to feel that no disturbance of the personnel of either of these companies has been necessary.

"Finally, we expect in the future to pursue an aggressive, liberal and considerate, but business-like policy, with due regard for our own interests and the interests of the community of which they are a part seemed unavoidable. Rather than throw money away in repeated court actions, as any action began would have been

OLIVET COLLEGE CELEBRATES 80TH ANNIVERSARY

OLIVET, Mich., Feb. 27.—Olivet college today is observing its eightieth birthday anniversary, and the picturesquely history of this pioneer among Michigan educational institutions is being retold in speeches, reminiscences and in a miniature pageant.

Dr. Ernest Bourne Allen, pastor of Oak Park, Ill., Congregational church, made the principal address this afternoon. Mrs. Mary Hosford Noble, Toledo, class of 1875, was another speaker.

Tonight's program will center around an episodic interlude depicting scenes from the founding of the college, with various fraternities and sororities giving the several episodes which include: "The Oberlin Decision," "The Choice of Hilltop," "The Arrival of the Colony," "The Early Church," "The First Winter," "The Attempt to Secure the College Charter," and "The Opening of the College."

The pageant will sketch the early struggles of Rev. John J. Shepherd in founding the school. Shepherd, with Philo P. Stewart founded Oberlin, O., College in 1833. It was ten years later that Rev. Shepherd left Oberlin bent upon founding another college.

The Oberlin institution owned some property near the place where Dimon dale now is, and Shepherd came north to look after it. Then it was he became lost in the dense wilderness and came finally to the hilltop where the college now stands.

Given shelter at the cabin of a settler, he started out again, and once more was lost and found himself back at the hilltop. Impressed with the beauty of the spot, and believing firmly that he had been given divine direction to it, he decided this was the place for the new college. The college was founded in February, 1914, when Shepherd returned to the hilltop with a party that included four families, four young men, three women students and two hired laborers.

CITY MANAGER FORM POPULAR IN THIS STATE

Thirty-nine Cities of the State Have Adopted Modern Idea.

Michigan Branch Is Going to Have Three Day Session in Detroit, Beginning Tomorrow.

The city manager form of government is becoming more popular daily in Michigan apparatus and today this state holds fourth in the United States. There are 37 cities in Michigan with the manager form of government, compared with 23 one year ago. California is second with 11 cities, having added 11 in the last year, while Texas with 12 and Ohio with 28 follow.

In addition there are other cities in Michigan operating under the commission form of government without a city manager. The success of the manager form of government in some Michigan cities has been very apparent during the past year in the campaign they have pursued for a new form of government.

Let's Chat.

The cities in Michigan today operating under the new plan of government are: Alpena, Alanson, Bay City, Benton Harbor, Big Rapids, Cadillac, Calumet, Cheboygan, Escanaba, Gladwin, Grawn, Grand Ledge, Grand Haven, Grosse Pointe Shores, Harrison, Huron, Kalamazoo, Kingland, Lapeer, Marquette, Mt. Pleasant, Muskegon, Newaygo, Northville, Petoskey, Plymouth, Saginaw, Royal Oak, St. Ignace, South Haven, Sturgis and Traverse City.

Thirty-three of the 47 cities which adopted the new system of government adopted the new manager elected by the citizens for a period of three years.

No Michigan cities adhered to the old form of government adopting the manager form of government. There are about 300 Michigan cities present continuing the adoption of the manager form of government, except that during the year 1923, two cities had added to the list.

PRESBYTERIANS TO MEET IN LEADING MODERNIST CHURCH

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 27.—The Presbyterians of the First Church of the Reformation will hold in one of the largest modern churches of the city, recently completed from the Fourth Street Right Bank, their annual assembly, and the Rev. Dr. James A. Parker, recognized leader of the Fundamentalists, will speak to the church.

No Presbyterians called a meeting of their denomination for several months. After considerable difficulty in getting the Presbyterians to meet in the First Church, the Rev. Dr. Charles Wisker, moderator, presumably in consultation with his colleagues, and other church activities will be held at the First Church, which will be open during special meetings while the assembly is in session.

Two Cars a Minute Cross Detroit River On the Ferry Boats

DETROIT, Feb. 27.—"No vehicle passed across the Detroit river on the ferry at the rate of two a minute during the year 1923," according to William H. Moore, traffic officer, attorney for the Detroit Ferry Company. The total number of motor vehicles passing over the Detroit during the year was 1,000,000, more than twice the total of 1922.

Motor traffic across the river nearly doubled in 1923, from 500,000 to 590,700 motorcars, with 300,000 over the bridge.

Twenty thousand passengers also used the ferries daily in the year reported.

Various Countries Seeking to Revise Hours of Labor

GENEVA, OHIO, Feb. 27.—Interest has recently been shown by the International Labor Bureau, here, by the leaders of various countries to revise the hours of labor. It was noted that a telegram a full hour was introduced in many of the existing labor laws, thus limiting the friction caused by actual work.

In Germany, it is pointed out, the eight hour day remains in principle,

GIANTS MAKE UP DETROIT AMERICANS

Thirteen Men Are More Than Six Feet Tall, Is Said.

There Are 38 Players on the Pay Roll and They Weigh Over Three Tons, Says Manager.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 27.—Two thousand, six hundred and eighty-nine inches of baseball players are represented on the roster of the Detroit American League club now in training at Augusta, Ga.—From them Manager Cobb will select the athletic yardage with which he hopes to wrap up the 1924 pennant.

Included among the players are 13 six-footers. The footage then decreases to five feet, seven inches. The tallest men on the squad are Herman Pilette and Samuel Braxton Gibson, pitchers who measure six feet two with their shoes off. The "tiny Tim" are Fred Haney, in fielder, and Hal Collier, rookie pitcher, who stopped growing at five feet seven inches.

The 33 players on the club's payroll strain the scales at more than three and one quarter tons. Their total weight according to records in the offices of President Frank J. Navin is 6,622 pounds. Not a man on the squad is light enough to make the weight limit, and most of them, if they were boxers instead of baseball players, would enter the ring as lightweights. Warren "Rip" Collins is the "heavy" in the cast, the indicator showing him to weigh 207 pounds. Rufus Rivers Clarke, a pitcher from Estill, South Carolina, is the only other two hundred pounder. He weighs 202 pounds. Emory Rigney is the lightest man, weighing 155.

Youth rules the squad. Thirty-three of the 38 players are in their twenties. William Smythe, a rookie pitcher from Augusta, Ga., is the "baby" of the team, being several months shy of his twentieth birthday. The oldest man in uniform is Fred Carlisch, coach, who is 43. He is the only man on the team to have reached the two score years mark, although Cobb is just three years under the forty figure, with George Dauss, veteran pitcher, two years behind Cobb and Derrill Pratt trailing Dauss by months. Bobby Jones is another player who has watched more than 20 years slip by, and Harry Heilmann, premier batsman of the American League, will enter his thirties August 3 of this year.

Buildings last longer shadows in London than in America, but then they have had buildings there longer.

You wouldn't wash clothes in dirty water—Why have them dry cleaned in dirty naphtha?

De Laval Continuous Clarification keeps our cleansing fluid clean at all times.

De Laval Continuous Clarification is generally considered the greatest advance in dry cleaning methods made in the past decade. It keeps our cleansing fluid clean all the time and so immeasurably improves the quality of our work.

Housewives who have the washing done at home can best appreciate the advantage of the new system of dry cleaning now in operation at our plant.

Suppose that all of the time the clothes were being washed a stream of fresh, clean water were fed into the top of the tub or washing machine, while from the bottom was drawn a stream of dirty water containing all of the impurities washed from the clothes. Wouldn't they come out whiter and cleaner?

That is exactly the way we now dry clean your clothes, except that pure, dry naphtha takes the place of water as a cleansing fluid.

We have connected our cleaning machines in such a way that

FOND DU LAC AROUSED OVER FLAMING CROSS

It Was Set Up in Prominent Place in Heart of the City.

No One Seemed to Know Who Put It There and Demonstration Was Feared as Result.

FOND DU LAC, Wis.—A flaming cross set up in the center of one of the busiest corners in the business section early Saturday night threw this city into a spasm of speculation as to the intentions of a demonstration.

The cross, according to spectators, was left by two men who drove up in a closed car, set out the material, touched the match, and then disapeared.

They were not recognized, nor were they seen after they set the cross afire.

The cross itself was about four feet high, made of wood and burlap soaked in kerosene. It burned for a long time after it had been dragged off the street. No demonstration followed the burning of the cross, although there were rumors that the entire Fond du Lac order of the Klan was about to stage a public gathering.

The burning of the cross, supposedly by members of the Klan, followed closely on the heels of warning letters sent out during the holiday period in which many well known citizens were advised to be careful about the nature of their celebrations.

The Klan, it has been stated at various times numbers from 600 to 1,000 members in this city, although there has never been any opportunity of checking up on the statements. Among opponents of the Klan feeling runs very high.

Mrs. C. Miller returned to Bark River after a shopping trip in the city.

Miss Alda Marie Duncan is seriously ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rowan.

PRESBYTERIAN WORLD ALLIANCE MEETING AT NEWPORT NEWS ARE BATTLED WITH LATE ARGUMENT

Fundamentalists and Modernists Have Drawn Swords.

There Will Be No Compromise Either in the United States or Abroad, Is the Final Word.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Feb. 27.— Taking notice of the religious controversy between fundamentalists and modernists, the report of the committee on foreign missions of the Presbyterian World Alliance, presented to the alliance today, examines the problem from the missionary standpoint to determine how far co-operative movements among interdenominational missions "can be salvaged from the wreck."

The report, submitted by the Rev. Dr. R. P. Mackay of Toronto, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, referred to the "war of the churches that was being staged in the press these days," declaring that the atmosphere is charged with religious controversy." It continued:

"Fundamentalists and modernists at home and abroad have drawn swords, and it is a war to the death. 'No compromise' is the battle cry, and it is heard in practically every land where Christianity is taught and Christian work being done. In China, a Bible Union has been organized in defense of the faith and has in three years grown from 400 to 22,000 in numbers. Its doctrinal basis embraces all the doctrines included in the Apostles' Creed and more, and many are prepared to sacrifice conciliation and fellowship with any and all who cannot subscribe to their doctrinal statements. Others, however, repudiate the thought of separation, claiming it to be the mission to purge the church from within and not to abandon her to the unenlightened and uncouth."

"Modernists, on the other hand, are equally pronounced, and perhaps it may be said equally intolerant. They stand for liberty of thought without regard to ecclesiastical obligations. Their frequent claims to superior in-

"cannot always be charged

"modesty."

"The attempt here is at attempt . . . or reconciliation. From the . . . any standpoint our problem is to ascertain whether cleavage is necessary or avoidable, and to determine how far, in either case, co-operative movements, developed so largely in recent years and to so great advantages, can be salvaged from the wreck."

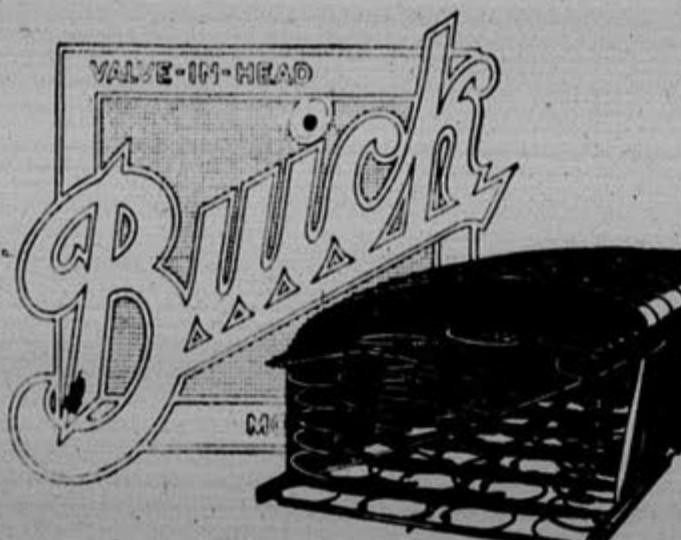

The report then referred to two papers read on this subject at the Oxford meeting of the International Alliances last summer, one by Dr. Robert E. Speer of the Presbyterian church in the United States and the other by Dr. E. J. Palmer, bishop of Bum bay. Summarizing these papers, the report quotes passages from the New Testament to show that part of the Bible "inculcates the spirit of tolerance and brotherly love," and adds still referring to the address of Dr. Speer and Bishop Palmer: "These and similar scriptures are not adduced to prove that men should not content for what they believe to be essential truth, but rather that the cultivation of this spirit would remove asperities and make it possible to appreciate each other's viewpoint, and help in finding

Denounces Attack on Road Land Grant

WASHINGTON — President Daniels of the Northern Pacific railway today announced the pending attack on the road land grants as an attempt through some form of congressional action to circumvent the decisions of the courts. President Coolidge has asked Chairman Leacock of the senate public lands committee to look into the situation under which the interior department, unless action is taken will soon be called on to turn over to the railroad 3,200,000 acres of public land, some of it including forest reserve.

Sign of Summer; Ice Price Boosted

MUSKEGON, Mich. — Here is another indication that summer is on its way. The ice dealers recently increased the price of ice from 50 cents to 60 cents for 100 pounds. No reason was given for the increased price, but it is said that all local dealers uniting on it. The natural ice has been plentiful and most of the ice houses have been filled.

Buick Cushions Are Comfortable On All Roads

The cushions on Buick open cars are supported on double-deck springs. The upper springs, light and easy acting, smooth out slight road irregularities, while the larger and stronger lowers absorb the bumps that cause the ordinary seat to "strike bottom". Two pads of curled hair between springs and French plaited upholstery give that final softness and assure the purchaser a cushion that will stand up.
