

Just Between Ourselves

A CHECK TO CASH.

A farmer and a lawyer, both young men, learned something of the value of money recently.

The farmer had sold a large piece of his inherited farm for $48,000. He came to the city, hunted up the attorney—a college friend—and asked to be identified at some bank for the purpose of cashing a check. The lawyer was glad to be of service. At his bank the teller was affable until he saw the size of the check. Then he took the attorney aside and told him the bank didn't carry enough cash on hand day by day to enable it to cash such a check.

They proceeded to another bank, a larger one; but there, too, nothing could be done about cashing the check. They tried to persuade the young farmer to deposit his money, and to take his time deciding what he wished to do with it. He knew what he wanted to do; he wanted to go to a broker with $48,000 in cash and buy securities. And since by this time it was getting late, he was going to take the cash to his lawyer friend's office and keep it over night in a little wall safe there.

About that time the lawyer friend began to get nervous. To protect papers from fire his safe was useful, but as a repository for $48,000 he refused to recommend it.

In the end the young men had discovered the best way to treat such a sum of money. It was deposited in a reputable bank where it drew interest and was perfectly secure until its owner had time to investigate and invest properly, after seeking sound advice on the subject. If any bank had been so foolish as to cash that check immediately upon presentation, the money might have been lost or stolen or spent for worthless stocks.

THE COLOR LINE.

Will the playwrights and novelists of today solve the problem of race and color? Many have essayed the task. Their works have met popular favor. But today the problem is farther than ever from being solved.

As discussed in America the question has dealt mainly with the conflict between the white and black races. Many popular English and Continental European plays and novels have revolved about the barriers between the men and women of white, brown, yellow and black. The subject is not without world-wide significance and interest.

Inter-marriage of the racially opposed has never been countenanced by either whites or the peoples of other color and still American literature and drama are generously endowed with books and plays dealing with this most tense of situations. But the world of art has not alone concerned itself with the struggle. Drama and literature reflect the mind and thought of the public.

Admitted the problem of race is centuries old, that it is not new to literature, the stage or the moving picture, but all this experience and this precedent were as nothing in comparison with that all-revealing episode in New York when a great American dramatist after the greatest difficulty obtained a negro actress to play opposite a negro actor in a role requiring the kissing of the negro's hand by the white woman.

The race problem is deeper than art and like art it is longer than life.

FARMER PULLING THROUGH.

A state association of bankers met in convention with the agricultural situation as the first thing in the "regular order of business." This was quite natural, since in practically every state the bankers and the farmers are mutually dependent for their money and subsequently their respective livelihoods.

The convention of bankers herewith mentioned came to the conclusion that if there is a panacea for the real or imaginary ills of agriculture it is not legislation, national or state. A representative of the farmers asked the bankers to allow the farmers to solve their own problems. This is not the first time within the year that this same message has been conveyed to the American public.

Concerning agriculture the public has heard little since the war but rumors of decline, chaos and failure. Denials have been forthcoming at infrequent intervals from the farmers with the explanation that the stories of storm and strife are the fabrications of politicians. Crop failures have never been national in the United States and commodity prices have seldom been known to follow the leader up or down. These observations are evidence alone of an effort on the part of individuals or interests to base agriculture predictions, whether favorable or otherwise, upon isolated instances and sectional conditions.

CARL OLSON MAKES CONFESSION

New Names Enter Intq Oil Scandal

MUCH WORK WAS DONE TO KEEP M'CLEAN CLEAR

Apparently Wealthy Publisher Did Not Relish Appearing.

A Mitchell Palmer Is to Be Called Before Committee Next to Tell His Oil Story.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Several new names were found by the oil committee when it resumed its reading of the telegrams, which had been exchanged with Washington, by E. B. McLean, who was at his home in Florida, where he was spending a few days' vacation.

"Underwood," "Curth," "Willis," "Eyes" and "The Duck," were among those who were mentioned by the employees of McLean in this city and whom they sought to interest in the matter.

The committee made no effort for the time being to identify these persons. After some discussion, however, it announced it would ask A. Mitchell Palmer, who was attorney general in the Wilson administration, and who has acted for McLean, in connection with the oil inquiry to come before it for questioning.

Saying that Senator Underwood of Alabama, who is a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, had "never endeavored to influence my conduct in the oil investigation in any wise."

The reading of the telegrams was then resumed. The first, which was signed "Major," who is one of McLean's confidential agents in Washington, and which was sent to Mr. McLean in Palm Beach, said the sender had arranged with Smithers at the White House, to "have on end of the private wire opened at 6 o'clock." This message was dated January 3 and on the same day, Major again telegraphed he had been talking with Palmer and said Mr. Palmer had told Senator Leavitt that Mr. McLean was "in." Continuing the telegram said, "I did not see him this morning, as I was busy with Senators 'Underwood,' 'Curth' and others, but I talked with him over the telephone last night and he thoroughly understood what is expected of him."

Willis Denies Knowledge. WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Senator Willis of Ohio, issued a formal statement today declaring he had no idea who was the "Willis" referred to in the telegrams sent to E. B. McLean from Washington. He said "I have been handed what is purported to be the contents of two telegrams, sent by John Major to E. B. McLean at Palm Beach, in which telegrams reference is made to a man named 'Willis,' said the senator.

"So far as I can remember, I do not know who John Major is nor do I have any idea as to whom these telegrams refer."

Chiropractors Graduate From Palmer School

Roy Olson and Frank Noonan, Jr. both of this city, graduated from the Palmer School of Chiropractic at Davenport last week and will take up the work as soon as a location can be decided upon. The young men have spent several months in study and feel well equipped to carry out their work.

The graduating class at the Palmer school numbered 491 students and the Capitol theatre was engaged for the occasion. Mrs. Frank Noonan of this city went to Davenport to see her son graduate and was greatly impressed by the ceremony surrounding the exercises.

Walton Looks Like Candidate

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 28.—J. C. Walton, the deposed governor of Oklahoma, probably will enter the race for the democratic nomination for the United States senate.

Although the former executive has made no formal announcement to that effect, political observers say,

Will You Buy All U. S. Ships

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Bids on the entire shipping board fleet of 1,275 vessels, under slightly changed contract terms, were asked for today by the board.

Offers will be received up to March 14th and no awards will be made before this date.

DAUGHERTY IS IN CHICAGO AND SAYS NOTHING

Is Taking Up Duties of Vet Bureau Investigation Now.

His Future Statements Will Be Based on Actions of the Senate Investigating Committee.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general of the United States, arrived here today in connection with the federal grand jury investigation of the Veterans' bureau.

He refused to add to his previous statements and that he expects to hold his place in the cabinet was indicated when he said he was in Chicago on government business and expected to remain until the business was completed.

He declared he had no public statement to make and didn't know whether he would make a public statement later in the day or not. What he might say later, Mr. Daugherty indicated probably would be in connection with the government action in the Veterans' bureau, but he indicated that what the senate oil committee might do or might announce would have considerable bearing on what he might have to say.

Insists on Fair Trial. Mr. Daugherty was called to the White House for two hours Tuesday night, and he went there again Wednesday. At these conferences, the president laid before the attorney general just what his party advisers had told him about the desirability of Mr. Daugherty's retirement. Mr. Daugherty insisted that he was entitled to a fair trial and that he should not be prejudiced by a summary dismissal. He declined to resign voluntarily.

Mr. Daugherty spent two hours at the White House Tuesday night. He came out looking as if he had suffered a great disappointment, and this gave rise to the impression that he was about to be forced out. "But he went back to see Coolidge Wednesday morning. He returned again at 2:30 p. m. leaving the White House and rushed to the station and took a train for Chicago, leaving behind him two statements, the first of which explained that he was going to Chicago, and then to Florida, but saying nothing specific about resigning. This is his personal attorney, Paul Howland, Cleveland, went to see Mr. Coolidge. After that conference the second statement was issued, in which Mr. Daugherty definitely announced he would not resign.

LABORER CHARGED WITH RIFLING MAIL

Took Money From Letters Kal. amazoo Police Say.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 28.—Charged with rifling the mails in the Kalamazoo postoffice of several hundred dollars in the last three months, Walter E. Mansfield, a laborer in the local Federal building, is being held in custody awaiting a hearing before United States Commissioner Joseph Stockwell.

The officers say Mansfield confessed abstracting bills out of letters, beginning last November, a month after he was employed at the postoffice. His arrest followed the opening of two trap letters. Postmaster Fols issued a warning to the public following the arrest, urging local patrons not to send bills or other money through the mail unprotected.

FORTY HOUSE MEMBERS WILL PROPOSE 2.75 PER CT. DRINK

Have Started Campaign to Get Other House Members with Them; Want More Alcohol.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Forty members of the house joined today in an announcement that this week they would introduce bills to legalize the manufacture and sale of beverages of an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent. The announcement was made in a letter to all other house members calling on them in the movement to modify the Volstead act.

IRON MOUNTAIN. Twenty million feet of logs is the estimated output of this winter placed by lumber companies, loggers and shiners, operating in this district. Last year's output was about the same. In addition to the logs, it is estimated the output will total 2,000 cords of hardwood, 100,000 poles and 25,000 posts.

TAX RETURNS OF OIL MAGNATES A NEW IDEA TODAY

Committee Would Like to Know What They Have Been Paying On Their Several Incomes.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Inspired by the oil committee into the tax returns of Doheny and Sinclair and their oil companies was proposed in a resolution today by Senator McKelver of Tennessee. The consideration of the resolution was blocked by Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who said he desired to include other names in the resolution.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Feb. 28.—The mutilated body of a man, identified as J. A. Hillard, who had been employed in a lumber camp about seven miles west of here, were seen early Sunday on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad track by J. J. Cleary, an engineer, when his train passed the trestle crossing. It is thought the man was run over by a passenger train.

DECLARES HE AND MORAS HELD UP CARLSON STORE AND ROBBED CASH DRAWER; TELLS THE STORY

Dakota Mine Fire Alleged to Have Been Set By Men

BELMONT, N. D., Feb. 28.—Fire, alleged by state fire department of Beloit, to be of incendiary origin, is raging in the mine of the Haynes Coal Mining Company of Haynes, North Dakota, according to information received here today. The state officials who are on the ground, said the fire was started in three places.

The fire is raging sixty feet under the ground, but the smoke and flames shoot up and out of the main shaft for a distance of from 75 to 125 feet.

Says That Moras Told Him All the Money They Got Was $17.

Confession Was Made to Sheriff Carney After Olson Knew of Evidence the Police Had.

Fearing that the prison doors would soon shut upon him for a long term of years and that the local police and sheriff's department were so sure of their ground that conviction was certain, Carl Olson, who with Henry Moras, is lodged in the county jail under bonds of $10,000 for robbery, broke down and confessed to Prosecuting Attorney George Carr and Sheriff Carney the part he had in the crime.

It was alleged by Mr. Carlson that he lost about $75 in cash and in his confession, Olson says that all Moras told him they got was $17. Moras being the man, according to Olson, who got the money while he was struggling with the aged storekeeper. The confession, which is signed by Olson and witnessed by Joseph P. Carney and Henry F. Broualt, is as follows:

"Escanaba, Mich., Feb. 28, 1924. "I, Carl Olson, wish to make the following statement concerning the robbery of C. A. Carlson at his store on the State Road in the City of Escanaba, Michigan, on February 21, 1924:

"At about 6:30 on the evening of February 21, 1924, Henry Moras and I went to the Carlson store after the way we had decided to rob Carlson's store; this decision was reached after we had talked it over in our room. I was armed with a revolver, but Moras was not armed. We went out on Fifteenth street as far as the State Road, when we turned east and walked to the Carlson store; we stopped in front of the store and arranged our underclothes as my eyes over our faces just under our masks; both handkerchiefs were red. We looked in, and went into the store; we both went in together and I carried my revolver in my hand; our plan was that I would hold up Carlson with the gun while Moras would get the money from the cash register. I did not see Carlson when I first went in, but when I got toward the back of the store I saw him standing beside the stove; I pointed the gun at him and he started shivering about the same time; then he grappled with me and we both went to the floor; the gun went off once while we were struggling on the floor but I did not fire it intentionally; as Carlson and I grappled, I saw Moras go around the back end of the counter on the east side of the building, toward the cash register, as I supposed. We struggled for a few minutes until I saw Moras outside the door; I then broke away from Carlson and went out and joined Moras. On our way to our room we went to the alley between Ninth and Tenth streets, just south of Third avenue, south; Moras took off his handkerchief and gave it to me; I wrapped my gun in it and threw them in the snow bank. I saw a boy run up about fifty feet into the alley and turned into a house. From there we went to our room where Moras pulled the money out of his overcoat pocket and said: 'Well, there's $17.00; that's all we got'; this was in answer to my question as to how much money we had got. He gave me a five dollar bill, took a couple of dollars himself, and we went down town, leaving the rest of the money in the room; we went to Apostle's restaurant and had a lunch.

"When we held up Carlson I wore kind of combination coat and vest with canvas body and leather sleeves, a gray cap, and blue trousers; the gun I carried was a .32 calibre Colt's Automatic pistol, loaded with eight shots, one shot being in the barrel with the safety on, but I did not intend to shoot Carlson if he resisted me.

"Henry Moras wore a brown overcoat, light gray cap, and a dark brown mixed trousers. He was not armed.

"This statement is made voluntarily and no threats or promises have been made to me to induce me to make it.

"CARL OLSON."

DRESS MAKERS SHOOT MAN IN TODAY'S RIOT

Manufacturer Is Shot in Leg When He Tries to Prevent Trouble.

Riot Squads of Police Called to Stop Fights at One of the Establishments in Operation.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—One man was shot and several persons were beaten severely in a clash between alleged sympathizers with striking garment workers and employees of dress making factories according to reports from the police who rushed to squelch the plants. William Goldstein, owner of one factory, was shot in the right leg when alleged strike sympathizers stormed his shop.

The mob made its appearance at the shop shortly after the place was opened for business, and threatened the employees with violence if they refused to stop working. The workers refused to quit and the fight followed. Goldstein rushed to his aid and was slightly hit by a bullet in the hands of one of the sympathizers.

SLAIN WOMAN FOUND IN CAR

Old and Well Dressed, She Lies in Hammond Morgue Unidentified.

HAMMOND, Ind.—An old woman who looks like a prosperous grand mother lies in the Hammond morgue with two bullet holes in her head. The body has not been identified.

The old woman, clad in expensive clothes, was found Wednesday in an empty box car, her body still warm. She wore expensive jewelry and a valuable fur coat, which were untouched. The coat had apparently been thrown over her body after it was tossed into the car.

Bloodstains near the car indicated that she may have been killed nearby and her body concealed, but two empty revolver shells on the car floor convinced police.

Over her gray hair the woman wore a brown wig. Her features were refined and her attire in excellent taste. Her dress was blue serge and she wore small diamond earrings.

In her pockets were found two tickets from Gary, Ind., to Chicago. The victim appeared about 55, but well preserved for her age.

Logger Is Fined $79 For Clubbing Horse

IRONWOOD, Mich.—Upon proceedings instituted by A. E. Frederick, Wisconsin state humane officer, George Delosha, logger, was found guilty here of cruelty to animals and paid a fine amounting, with costs, to $79. Delosha was accused of beating a horse with a club, breaking four of its ribs and logging with it in this condition. The offense was committed in Wisconsin but Delosha went into the woods of northern Michigan where, with the aid of Michigan authorities, he was arrested. The injured horse was killed.

Ford on Democratic Petition in Michigan a Political Paradox

DETROIT, Feb. 23. A political paradox beams ahead of the presidential primary in this state on April 7, with the possibility of President Coolidge being the choice of the republicans of the state and Henry Ford, whose "I am for Coolidge" proved a political sensation recently, being the democratic choice.

A few days before Mr. Ford said: "I will not be a candidate against him on any ticket, whatsoever." Ford petitions, circulated throughout the state, were presented to the secretary of state as the candidate for the regular democratic preferential choice, having got this far, the democratic leaders came to an abrupt halt with Mr. Ford's announcement that he was for Coolidge.

But they could not withdraw the name, as the law specifically states that only the candidate himself has his right, once the petitions are presented and accepted. To date, Mr. Ford has not withdrawn his name, and has given no intimation that he intends to. Thus the democratic backers of Mr. Ford found themselves in the unenviable position of having agitated and consummated the candidacy of a man whose expressed sympathies are all with the opposition.

While President Coolidge has been named as the preference of Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck and Bart D. Cady, chairman of the republican state committee, United States Senator Hiram V. Johnson has whipped an organization into shape, named his county and state managers, established his headquarters and named Michigan's battle ground by making one of his first campaign speeches here. Republican supporters recall that Michigan expressed its presidential preference for the California senator in 1920 and they say that that favorable sentiment still exists.

A significant point in connection with Michigan's state politics is the almost lack of early discussion of issues. The Teapot Dome disclosures created somewhat of a furore in Michigan political circles, mainly because they involved Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, a Detroitite. The action in the case of Denby has been somewhat of a blotting out of political lines in going to the navy secretary's defense.

PIG FEEDING IS DEVELOPED AFTER MANY WEEKS WORK

If You Do Not Own Pigs, This Certainly Will Not Be of Very Much Interest to You.

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 23. Making a feeding experiment so successful that the farmers for whose benefit it was conducted believed it a fake, is an experience the dairy department of the M. A. C. has just completed. While the experiment was to determine the feeding value of skim milk for pigs, it also proved that farmers who place their faith in a ration of corn as an ample food are far from the right track in producing pork.

The experiment started October 22, 1922. It was concluded January 22, 1924. In the interim the pigs were shown at several fairs and its demonstrations at farmers' meetings.

On the first date four pigs weighing from 31 to 43 pounds were put on feed, two getting corn and skimmed milk and the other two corn and water. On March 8 the respective weights were 216, 214, 59 and 47 pounds. The weight on food of the two heavier hogs cost about four cents a pound to produce. The two light weights had gained only 17 and 7 pounds, although fed all the corn they could eat.

At the end of the first trial the 50 pound pig was given a ration of corn, water and a complete mixture of minerals needed by the pig. It had, however, still was deficient in protein and vitamins. The 37-pound pig was changed to skimmed milk and corn. In 169 days the pig getting corn, minerals and water gained 26 pounds. In the same period the other pig, now on skimmed milk and corn, gained 293 pounds, for a total weight of 343 pounds.

The 37-pound pig, the best of the lot, who weighed 76 pounds September 14 last, then was given the complete ration as supplied by corn and skimmed milk. One hundred and thirty days later this pig weighed 317 pounds—a gain of 241 pounds.

While the adequately fed pig produced pork at a cost that brought a profit, the pigs on the corn and water grew so slowly that the pork from the third one slaughtered cost at least 11 cents a pound, and the final one slightly more.

Mrs. Fred Cowman of this city has returned from a trip to Canada, after visiting with relatives there. She was accompanied home by relatives.

LABOR

MR. SINCLAIR IN RUSSIA.

Friends, Romans, Countrymen and incredulous ones, hail and hark! Here is meat for those who are thirsty and drink for those who are hungry.

What saith the tongue to tongue? What heareth ear of ear? Well, an careful, to say the least.

That of Harry Sinclair, the Beau Romain of Travel, the Cavalier of the Navy, the Prophet, he with whom Albert B. Fall went to Russia and to other furrin' parts, looking for oil, even into the midst of Persia, from whence so many Persian rugs never came.

Long since it came to light that in the contract which Mr. Sinclair was said to have brought away from Russia it was stipulated that his rich concession from the bear that walks like a man" was contingent for its final validity upon American recognition of the soviets within a fixed period.

Now comes more news, the new article, called from Moscow by no less an authority on bolshevism than Walter Duranty. The burden of Duranty's tale is that "A $25,000,000 loan to the soviet government was the sine qua non for the immense oil concession in the Grozny field granted to the Sinclair Oil Company by the preliminary agreement signed in October by the soviet government's concession department and the Sinclair representative." He gives Litvinov a nod for the article.

There is no pressing necessity for a verdict as to which side got the better of the bargain. Time will tell just as time will tell how badly the Teapot Dome deal, Chester M. Wright in the February American Federationist.

AUTO INSURANCE VOID IF LIQUOR IS FOUND IN AUTO

Here Is Something of Interest to Everyone Carrying Any Kind of Accident Insurance.

The following special telegram has been sent to The Mirror from Lansing. This is quite true and for several years many policies have carried a clause voiding them if the accident was due directly or indirectly through intoxication. The policy issued by The Daily Mirror carries no such clause. The telegram says:

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 28.—Insurance covered by policies of an increasing number of firms doing business in Michigan is withdrawn when the insured car is used in illicit traffic in violation of the prohibition law, according to the state insurance commissioner's office here.

"Hitlers" are being attached to thousands of automobile policies in Michigan which point out that the policy to which this endorsement is attached shall be null and void if the automobile insured thereunder is used in illicit traffic in violation of the national prohibition act of October, 1919, by or with the knowledge or consent of the assured or anyone in his household at employment."

In the opinion of officials of the insurance commissioner's office, every insurance company operating in the state is likely to adopt the plan. The carrying of any liquor in an automobile renders the provisions operative and state dry leaders at the Michigan Anti-Saloon League offices here see the stand of the insurance companies but another step in the tightening of liquor law enforcement.

Hard Work Makes German President Happy on Birthday

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—Friedrich Ebert, president of the German republic, Tuesday, celebrated his 52nd birthday anniversary, but to him it was just another day in his life and in that the republic. His early life was one of hard work and it continued when he became the first chief executive of the republic. In fact, after he had been president for some time, he confided to friends that in that position he had worked harder, longer and more steadily than in the days when he made saddles, delivered bread or worked in his Bremen restaurant.

Ebert has always adhered to his original pledge to the republic that if hard work, plus loyalty and application to details, political and otherwise, would hold the republic together, he would give the best that was in him. Thus the mere passing of another milestone in his life made no difference. Continuing his life-time custom he was into his day's work long before official Berlin was even sipping its morning coffee.

Early rising is a habit acquired by President Ebert as a youth when he labored 12 to 14 hours daily as an apprentice in a saddler's shop. Later, in his eagerness to help the working classes, he became interested in a co-operative bakery movement and often was at his task of delivering bread at 7 o'clock in the morning.

Although he does not appear in the news of Germany as prominently as the chancellor and some other officials, none of his enemies has ever accused President Ebert of loafing on the presidential job. On the other hand he is given credit for having patched up innumerable party controversies which had reached the breaking point and is said to have handled with skill several government crises, which in the days after the fall of the former kaiser threatened to disrupt the republic.

Ebert was one of the six who formed the first provisional government of the republic. He became the first president provisionally February 11, 1919, when he was chosen by the Weimar national assembly. A presidential election was scheduled for 1922, but this was postponed because of the unsettled conditions and Ebert who had made good, was requested by a coalition of several parties to remain in office until 1925. This he agreed to do.

President Ebert cares little for public show or entertainment and finds his greatest pleasure in hard work, work which he now hopes will result in general good for Germany and its people.

People Drive Monarchs to Seek New Livelihood

BERLIN, Greece's only dismissal of its king and queen has provoked comment among the democratic newspapers of Germany concerning the new spirit which has come over the world since 1919, when a great majority of the world's population lived under kings and queens.

The Boersen Courier calls attention to the fact that 20 years ago there were only about 150 million persons living under republican governments, and those were chiefly in North and South America. Today the paper estimates that about 57 per cent of the world's population, which is 4,650,000,000, is living in republics, and these figures permit all of the British empires to be classed as monarchial, monarchies as being of such uncertain character that further changes may be expected any time. Portugal, China, Russia, Austria, Hungary. Today there are only about Germany and Turkey have all deserted the monarchial group within the last 15 years, leaving only about 150,000,000 persons as subjects of kings at the opening of 1924.

Brazilian Consul Talks on Country's Progress

LONDON.—To keep pace with the increasing interest which is being shown by Englishmen in the countries of South America, the City of London College is giving regular lectures on the subject of the growth and future of the Latin Republics.

The first address was made by Senator A. S. P. Brandao, consul general in England for Brazil, on the subject of the industry and finance of his native country. The speaker said that Brazil, in time, would be one of the first countries in the iron and steel industry. The means of transport present no difficulty because of the large number of navigable rivers and the 57 railway lines now in operation in the country. He pointed out that there were now 30 foreign banks in Rio de Janeiro alone, and that industries were increasing daily, the country becoming less dependent on foreign markets.

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY, WELL-GROOMED

Great less Combing Cream Costs Only Few Cents a Jar at any Drug Store

Even stubborn, unruly or shampoo-hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Millions use grassless, stainless "Hair-Groom" because it does not show on the hair. It is absorbed by the scalp, therefore the hair remains soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it. Not sticky or smelly.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and laggard. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

U. S. VETERANS BUREAU SHOWS ITS REAL VALUE

Profiteering Attorney Is Convicted in New York State.

L. wyer Charged Poor Woman $2,000 for Collecting Compensation Insurance for Death.

With the conviction of Joseph H. Margolin, a New York attorney, the U. S. Veterans' Bureau again demonstrates its intention of protecting bureau beneficiaries from those who would charge more than the law allows for assisting claimants.

Joseph Freeman, a private in Company G of the 15th Infantry, was killed in action on July 21, 1918. He left $10,000 worth of insurance, $1,000 to his father and $9,000 to an aunt, Mrs. Yetta Cohen. His death was established by the Adjutant General's office of the War Department on January 16, 1923. Until then he had been carried as injured and lost in action.

Margolin assisted Mrs. Cohen in getting her insurance. For this he charged $2,000 and collected $1,500. The law, however, as passed by congress, specifically provides that only $300 can be charged for such assistance as may be required in the preparation and execution of the necessary papers in a claim before the bureau.

Upon representation of the bureau taken after an investigation, the Department of Justice brought the matter before the grand jury, which returned an indictment. The case came up before a jury in the District Court, Judge A. N. Hand sitting, and a verdict was returned against Margolin. Attorney Harry L. Jones represented the bureau.

6 Prominent Texans Out for Nomination For State Governor

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 28. Discussion of issues advocated by presidential candidates William Gibbs McAdoo and United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood, together with the entry of six prominent Texans in the race for the democratic nomination for governor, has brought the political pot here about to a new boiling point, despite the fact that the primary is four months away.

The soldiers' bonus, the 18th amendment and the Ku Klux Klan are included in the issues spoken of on all sides at present. Mr. McAdoo's stand on the bonus, Mr. Underwood's stand on the 18th amendment, and the stand of the six candidates for governor on the Ku Klux Klan question absorb interest at present and overshadow the entry of numerous candidates for the lesser state offices. Both Mr. McAdoo and Underwood have established state headquarters in this city and are lining up the state for intensive campaigns.

In the governorship race on the democratic ticket, which really means the election, as the state is overwhelmingly democratic, the following have announced their candidacies:

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson of Marshall, Adjutant General T. H. Barton of Amarillo, Lynch Davidson of Houston, V. A. Collins, of Dallas, and State Senator Joe Burkett, of Eastland.

The Ku Klux Klan, a prime factor in the last election, is mentioned by three of the gubernatorial candidates in their platforms. T. W. Davidson, Burkett and Lynch Davidson have declared against the Klan, while the others have not mentioned it.

The platforms of the candidates for governor cover a variety of issues from tax reduction to minor legislation.

Few women candidates have signified their intention of running for office, but it is understood that several may seek election to the legislature. The campaign is expected to take on added interest after the meeting of the state committee in May.

Mrs. Louis LaPointe was called to Marquette Wednesday by the illness of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Evers.

EUROPE NO LONGER GETS EXCITED OVER SENSATIONAL NEWS

BERLIN Central Europe has become skeptical about battles in Russia and refuses to get excited over reported secret treaties between France and Russia; prospective war between England and Russia, over the Afghanistan situation and the reported row in the Russian Communist party which Russian papers say centers about Trotsky's ambition to become Lenin's successor.

Just before the Afghanistan situation was reported from Moscow to have assumed such alarming proportions, there had been a period of several months in which Soviet Russia had disappeared entirely from news dispatches. Reports of commercial agreements and similar news of a more or less routine character failed to attract any attention. Russia was losing the world's attention.

Then came the Russian version of the Afghanistan situation, which was quite unlike the calm statements from the unperturbed British foreign office. Reports of negotiations which had led to some arrangement between Russia and France began to filter out from strange sources. But neither the German foreign office nor the other chambers of Europe seemed to get excited, and there was little disposition among German businessmen to be troubled over announcements that Germany's business relations with Russia would be injured by the ascendancy France was reported to have obtained by her negotiations with the Bolshevik leaders. German businessmen have had much experience in trying to do business with Soviet Russia and have learned a good deal since the Treaty of Rapallo was signed.

Today the press of central Europe is tired of rumors. It has been prejudiced into a nervous stony softness by the agents of various governments that it is acquiring discreditation. People are weary of wandering reformers with axes to grind. Threats of war which caused nations to shudder three years ago now pass unnoticed. Governments change, kings are eclipsed or retired, diploma mats of the old school get insulted and try to stir up a row, but the old tricks have lost their punch. Europeans have been told civilization is doomed so often, that now they yawn when the statement is made.

Italians have lived so long at the foot of Vesuvius that they have become calloused to its smoke and roar. Central Europe is becoming similarly calloused to the rumblings of Soviet Russia. It realizes that the threatened lava stream from the east may run over Europe some day, but there is no longer any general disposition to be awake at night and worry over it because the volcano has been unusually noisy.

Would Uproot Leprosy Within Thirty Years

LONDON, Feb. 28. Now that an effective cure has been found for leprosy, the British government is considering the possibility of stamping out the disease, which is at present affecting some 300,000 subjects of the empire. The government has been asked to expend about $5,000,000, while various societies will add for their amounts to carry on the work which, it is estimated, will take about thirty years.

The cure of leprosy has been declared practical. Several apparently hopeless cases have been cured by the new treatment, which consists of the hypodermic injection of chaulmogra oil, extracted from the kernel of a nut found on trees in Burma, Assam and parts of India.

Since the disease is not hereditary those responsible for this ambitious plan hope to make leprosy unknown to the next generation.

About 200,000 cases of leprosy are known to exist in India.

AIRPLANES AID TAX COLLECTORS

BAGDAD The British air force is still being used to aid in the collection of taxes, according to the Daily Express correspondent. Recently some tribal chiefs refused to pay and an army force, aided by airplanes, was sent against them. The chiefs paid up after receiving severe punishment.

Mrs. Jorgenson left for Minneapolis, it with her son, Harvey, who is a student there, last evening, where she will visit there.

Some men like closed cars and some chew tobacco. It's hard to keep a cook even when you are married to her. The girl who marries for money usually gets a poor husband. She still clings to the hope that she yet marry her to reform her. Her wives are happy, and some of their husbands are afraid of them. Success is largely a matter of selecting the right men to drop from the joy roll. The eyes seldom see temptation when the nose is pressed firmly against the grindstone. DON'T RISK NEGLECT

Don't neglect a constant headache, sharp, darting pains or urinary disorders. The danger of dropsy or Bright's disease is too serious to ignore. Use Doan's Pills as have your friends and neighbors. An Eganaba case. Henry McFarland, 520 Second Ave. N. says: "When I got up in the morning, my back was stiff and sore. Pains always caught me when I stooped and it was hard to do my work. I tried easily and my back was so weak it was almost impossible to sleep at night. I became tired and my kidneys were so weak I had to get up two or three times at night to pass the secretions which burned in passage. I bought a box of so of Doan's Pills at the Hill Drug Store and they cured me in good shape." Price 60c. at all dealers. OBITUARY

Charles Krussel, age 64, also known as Charles Russel by fellow workers, passed away at his home, 211 North Fourteenth street, Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock after a brief illness. He had gone to work as a repairer on the ore docks Monday morning and returned at noon complaining of a headache. He went to bed and slept well Monday night. Tuesday morning he complained of violent pains in his head. Physicians were called and he was already beyond help as he was suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Drussel was known to a large number of persons in this city, having lived here many years.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: Miss Helen Krussel of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Helmer, Helga, Alvin and Stanley in this city. His mother and two sisters in Sweden also survive him.

The body was taken to the Anderson Undertaking Parlor and was returned to the family home this morning. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence and at 2:30 o'clock from the Swedish Lutheran church, with Rev. C. A. Land officiating.

'How do you keep your clothes nice so long?'

Some of your friends seem to get months more of service out of clothing than you, and their garments look fresher and better all the time.

Perhaps you have thought more expensive clothing made the difference. More likely it is because your friends have cultivated the dry cleaning habit.

Modern dry cleaning methods enable us to do more than keep your clothes spick-and-span. They make it possible for us to remove the embedded grit and so prolong the life of garments.

That is why you'll find that regular dry cleaning not only keeps slip covers as just a your clothing looking few of many house-fur better, but actually removes the dirt which for the dress the cost of being sake of appearance, well dressed, health and economy.

Blankets and comfort-should also be dry cleaned regularly.
