UPPER MICHIGAN GREATEST PLACE FOR THE TOURIST

George K. Shiras, III, Declares This to Be Substantial Fact.

Center for Peninsula Is Working Up Business Among Florida Tourists This Winter.

That the Upper Peninsula of Michigan might well profit by the experience of Florida in the development of the tourist industry, is the opinion of George K. Shiras, III, of Alpena, and Orinwald Beach, Florida.

Mr. Shiras has been a life-long devotee of the summer attractions of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. He is an authority on bird and animal life, and has contributed a number of articles along this line to the National Geographic Magazine, of which he is the associate editor.

Recently, Mr. Shiras wrote to the Upper Peninsula Development Commission for literature relative to Upper Michigan. It was his intention to circulate the literature among the winter residents at Orinwald Beach, Florida. The literature was prepared, and in reply thereto, Mr. Shiras writes:

"I think this will be the last night, Bob," Williams said nervously. "I don't know today."

Wells read the brief telegram. "Some one called the beams," he commented. "But it was old Marakito who called. Thought you wrote Uncle Sam about it, Ray. You did, didn't you?"

Save the Shavings, Is Object of New Paper Invention

EUGENE, Ore. (United Press)—A new process of producing paper pulp from wood, in which shavings and similar cull material of the ordinary paper pulp mill may be included to give a satisfactory pulp for making the heavy grades of dark paper, has been developed by Dr. Alfred Tingle, former research chemist for one of the leading pulp and paper mills of Canada.

Dr. Tingle has been experimenting at the University of Oregon laboratories, at the invitation of Dean O. F. Safford, who recently developed a process for utilization of mill waste in the carbonization and wood distillation industries.

The application of Dr. Tingle's "dilution" method, which he believes may prove applicable to waste products of the lumber industry, will produce a product which can compete with kraft pulp when applied to high grade spruce chips, Dr. Tingle predicts.

The process involves a double treatment of wood. The chips or shavings are first digested under pressure with a solution made from lime and sulphur. The product is then crushed into a fine soft pulp in a certain very cheap acid, which itself at present is only a waste product from another manufacture.

Is Single Worm Worth $10,000?

PHILADELPHIA (United Press)—It's not every day that a lowly worm can break into the headlines of city newspapers, but such an animal, described as "pinch colored and about an inch and a half long," has just captured such a notice here and is the cause of a lawsuit against a restaurant for $10,000.

The worm is alleged to have appeared on a platter of food being served a customer of the restaurant. It is alleged to have "shocked" severely the man who had ordered the food and now he is trying to collect $10,000 from the restaurant for serving him a worm.

The restaurant is seeking to prove that the worm was on the inside of legislative body.

NO REST NO PEACE

There's no peace and little rest for the one who suffers from a bad leg and disturbing urinary disorder. Excelsior people recommend Doan's Pills. Be guided by their experience. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. L. LaPoint, 121 South 12th St., Escanaba, says: "I had terrible back ache and sometimes I could hardly get up or down. Sometimes I was unable to sleep and my back felt stiff and drawn. I couldn't sleep as there was a pain in my back which seemed to be pulling me down. I didn't sleep well and was restless during the night. This trouble caused me to worry and I became nervous and nervous. Black spots appeared before my eyes and made me dizzy. My kidneys didn't act right but Doan's Pills were recommended so I bought a box to try them and a few boxes produced at the Old Drug Store entirely rid me of the complaint. I am now at all dealers. -Parker Millburn Co., Mfg., Buffalo, N. Y."

ENGINEER AND DELIVERY BOY ARE HARD JOBS

Two New Lines Work Are Mentioned in Today's Stories.

The Mirror Received Over 50 Different Articles on the Subject Yesterday Afternoon.

The Mirror editor believes the hardest job in the world is going to be a printing job, which is the best article received on "Who Has The Hardest Job?" The response is coming in so well that it would take months to publish all the letters, but this does not mean that they will not be considered. Every letter sent in will be given consideration and if it has not been published it will be. Today was the printing day for the Mirror and there are more or less hundreds of letters...

The Engineer
Undoubtedly most of you have at some time taken a ride on a train, and another on that comparison, and the convenience of the railroad. If you have a very close matter to go on, you will find while the miles rush past you, you are by far the most comfortable. But when you have a long journey, you think to the person in charge of this huge conveyance, in other words, the man who is responsible for the numerous lives which may be put out so easily.

At all times, the object of the passenger is to be in the mind of the engineer. When the moment he enters the train, he takes charge of the responsibility. He is to it that everything is in the best condition. Every part of the train is checked. Every wheel is pulled out of the axle and checked. In this way, he is not to be worried. The worry is whether or not the rails or some other trivial matter will cause a hubbly-campy accident. During the Spring of the year, the train begins to come out of the constant period.

The above conditions exist in the fair and full weather. If it is a blizzard at midnight, you are most difficultly situated. The engineer must be ready to take a blizzard at midnight, and he must spend with his friends. It is not for at all, but he must go on. He can only carry out the engine and very much what is coming. The engine is able. No matter what the conditions are, he has the responsibility to carry out and keep at all times power to be at all times.

How many of you have ever thought of the engineer sitting in the engine on a steam train, and how much work he has to do at night or out in some section where he is the only one to obtain a square meal on a hot day.

When we look about us and see the number of engineers in the world of life with gray hair and wrinkled features, we can well understand their responsibilities. It is not only their own safety, but the safety of the public places, it is very important hands of the man at the throttle must be considered. On duty, he must be energetic and thoughtful, and his best efforts to the completion...

BOYS ALWAYS GO BACK TO CAMP FOR TRAINING

That's the Way Citizen's Military Training Camp at Custer is Growing.

Escanaba Is Not Sending Very Many But, Rest of State Appreciates Outing.

Boys who have once attended the Michigan military training camp at Battle Creek are usually anxious to go again. They find that the military training, with the athletic games, moving pictures, vaudeville and lectures, together with the good "chow" and the feeling that they are fitting themselves for the national defense, if they are needed, are just what they like. There is enough serious work, with training and study, to keep the mind and the body healthfully occupied, but there are also many opportunities for recreation, and the friendships formed are not the least of the many advantages of camp life.

For one thing, attendance at the camp is an indication that the student is normal in every way. He must be physically sound, in order that he may pass the physical examination; he must be mentally alert, for obvious reasons—a stupid soldier is hard to deal with; and morally he must be sound, too, for that is one of the camp's most definite requirements.

The health of men at the camp is carefully looked after, from every standpoint. The regular medical officers by instructions and lectures impress upon the mind of the student the necessity for care of the body and the proper care of the stomach, with such general advice and counsel as tend to keep him well and healthy; he student leads a regular life, with good hard work and good hard play; and his diet is carefully looked after. An orthopedic surgeon gives instruction and advice as to the care of his feet; and lectures by a dental surgeon give him valuable information in the care of the mouth and teeth. He is liberally looked after from head to foot.

Athletic diversion is abundant at the camp. Boxing, football, baseball, old athletics and other sports are encouraged. There is a hostess-house for indoor entertainments and for the reception of friends and family.

Physically, the student must be at least 17 years old and weigh not less than 100 pounds, stripped; at 17 he must be at least 59 inches tall, bare foot, and at least five feet in height; at 18; he must have a chest expansion of not less than two inches; eyesight and hearing must be good, but the wearing of glasses is permitted. The teeth must be serviceable, that is, the student must be able to masticate his food properly.

The greatest attention is paid to discipline—the discipline that corrects individual weaknesses, enlightens the mind and furnishes that certainty of conduct that should assure success in life's battle. It gives respect for parents and the home and makes the young soldier a member of the great military brotherhood of American patriots—an integral part of his government—and his nation.

Details regarding the matter of admission to Camp Custer, at Battle Creek, from August 1 to 30, may be had by addressing Capt. J. G. Stevens, executive secretary to C. S. Mott, Civilian Aide for Michigan, General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

Local Merchant Participates In Nation-Wide Movement

"Pride in Appearance" Brought Here by Young & Fillion Company

Spring has brought forth a remarkable development in the field of men's wear—the "Pride in Appearance" Movement. This movement towards better clothes for men has been gathering force for many months, and is now finding expression in all sections of the country. The features emphasized in men's wear for spring call special attention to correctness and smartness—to "Pride in Appearance."

Mat Fillion, of Young & Fillion Co., who are participating in this nationwide movement and who for the next few days are featuring a special "Pride in Appearance" event at their store, aid in an interview concerning the significance and cause of this movement.

"American women are known the world over for their dress. Nowhere else have women been so quick to realize the importance of clothes, and as a consequence, nowhere else have many women been well-dressed."

"With the American man, the case has been different. Franklin, in Revolutionary days, appeared before the courts of Europe clad in homespun. And until recent times the American man generally has not usually given much attention to appearance. The same man who is proud of the appearance of his wife and daughter, who insists that they be well-dressed has often himself been negligent. If his wife of daughter should make a public appearance badly dressed, he would regard it as casting discredit upon himself, but he has seldom given much thought to his own clothes, or considered that clothes might be taken as an index to his social standing."

"This condition was perhaps natural in a new country. Life was hard and as a result men had little time to give to appearance. In the South men took pains to look their parts and to dress in accordance with their social standards, but this was a notable exception to the rest of the nation."

A Remarkable Change.

"During recent years, however, there has been a decided change. As the nation has ceased to be a pioneering country, men have had more leisure and have realized the importance of proper dress. Not that clothes make the man, but they do give the first impression of a man. A well-dressed man gives an impression of carefulness, of prosperity, and above all of a well-ordered existence. He has an air about him of being dependable, while a person badly clothed is just suspected of being careless in other things also. To be sure, no man is admired for giving over-anxious attention to his clothes, but few men today would argue that an ill-fitting suit was a help in business. For clothes are perhaps the most important single item in giving a good first impression."

"Pride in Appearance."

"This change may be summed up in a phrase: 'Pride in Appearance.' Men regard clothes today as something more than a necessity. They regard them as a source of constant pleasure and satisfaction, and as a standard by which the world at large measures their social standing. Men have come to realize that they owe it to themselves, their families and their positions to dress well."

"This movement for better dress, the 'Pride in Appearance' movement, is sweeping the country. It is evidenced by the attitude of men in buying clothes. In the past little attention was given to anything but whether a suit of clothes would wear. Today
