

Just Between Ourselves

THE GO-GETTER SPIRIT.

One would not look for tranquility, calm and suppression of sound and movement in the country which invented the word "pep" and which is famous for its high powered salesmanship, big business and mass industrial production. To the contrary, we are known abroad as a nation of nervous wrecks working and living a week every twenty-four hours (by contrast with Europe) and fearing a moment with nothing to do.

In fact, most Americans admit it, are proud of the national trait and are convinced that the rest of the world should quicken its pace. It is to this American energy and avidity that we attribute our world superiority in business, industry, science, invention and social welfare.

High-speed effort is conducive to material progress and is the source of much economic good, but it can not be expected to give the United States of the twentieth century a school of philosophers, a group of deathless painters, a reverently religious people, a source of statesmen and diplomats or a large library of immortal literature.

There are given only to nations with leisure for introspection, undisturbed contemplation, no extrinsic urge to haste. Piece work and machinery produce quantity. Wages, few economic cares and hand work produce quality. We seek quantity.

An ancient classic tells of the philosophizing monk who fell asleep in his monastic cell with his arm outstretched on the window ledge. Awakening, he found a mother bird had made her nest and was hatching her young in his open palm. Without impatience, mental perturbation or physical discomfort he remained motionless until the little eggs had given forth their living creatures and the young birds had acquired sufficient strength to fly away into the free air.

Such was the patient philosophy of the ancients, even of the American fathers, but how different is the American of today!

WHAT HAS IT TO OFFER?

There has been strong agitation for increased pay for mailmen. Postmaster General New says they are entitled to more, but the department loses money.

The postal employees are efficient workmen and render good service, but as to advancement in the postal system their future is blocked by quarrels of partisan politics.

Such political limitation of opportunity should be the strongest argument with workmen against extension of public ownership to various lines of private industry.

The great point to consider in the question of public ownership is how it would hurt the future of the American people by limiting the chances of the worker to better his material condition through his own ability, foresight and energy.

Tens of thousands of day laborers are constantly rising through their perseverance and ambition, to high positions in, or owners of our leading industries. Can any illustration be cited to show where the workers in the government owned postal system have risen from the ranks to positions of influence or financial reward in the postal department?

Would such a system where the dead hand of officialism crushes opportunity for advancement, have built up America's wonderful industrial system with its modern conveniences and labor saving devices, unaided by any other nation in the world?

This is the point to consider when supporters of socialistic schemes advocate an extension of public ownership to various lines of American industry.

SUPERPOWER SERVES SEVEN MILLIONS.

Eleven electric companies serving 7,000,000 people in six eastern and southern states have formed a co-operative superpower group for securing coal supplies and reducing overhead expenses.

These companies have an investment of $125,000,000 and produce 2,000,000 horse power for industrial and domestic use in the heart of the coal regions. They have decided to unite in securing coal supplies nearer to the mines and thus ultimately reduce the price at which power can be sold.

It is expected that within a year the electric power groups of Niagara Falls, the New England and southern superpower systems will all be linked with the Chicago district. This is going to improve the service and stabilize the supply of electric current and transmission resources affecting service to 7,250,000 consumers.

There will not only be more economical consumption of coal but thousands of coal mines and a vast number of industries including the Pittsburgh steel district will be able to purchase cheaper operating power.

Six of the largest power plants will be located over coal beds where they are assured from 50 to 75 years' fuel supply.

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO STEAL RIVER

$50,000 WORTH OF LIQUOR WAS LOST TO WORLD

Daugherty Committee Told It Just Simply Disappeared in Thin Air.

Deposed Department of Justice Investigators Have Much to Say About Savannah Case.

WASHINGTON, April 18. Minute details of the Savannah liquor conspiracy case, in which 28 persons have been sentenced to the federal prison were recited to the Daugherty investigation committee today by Charles Greer, who described himself as a prominent Georgia republican and former employe of the department of justice.

The witness declared there had been long delay in prosecuting the cases, after they had laid all the facts before the department and his report was followed by his discharge by W. H. Burns, at the instance of John L. Phillips, the republican state chairman, whom he charged was involved in the liquor cases.

An indictment against Phillips in a lumber fraud case is pending in the District of Columbia.

H. I. Seife, also a former department of justice investigator, corroborated Greer's testimony as to his dismissal from the department after the Savannah reports were submitted. The liquor referred to, Seife said, was seized at the union station here in 1920, and the entire consignment valued at $50,000, disappeared.

A grand jury investigating it, he said, found no grounds for an indictment. Seife also charged that some of the liquor disappeared in Washington which resulted in a grand jury investigation and that the liquor had gone to the office of Speaker Gillette.

Police Obligated to Don Overalls and Clean Jail

A slump in the business of "being drunk and disorderly" has caused an unusual condition at the city lock up. For some time past there has always been one or more confined who were able to get out to work cleaning up the place, but for the past few days the jail has been empty. Even so dust and dirt accumulate and there has to be some cleaning done. Hence this morning Assistant Chief Effenbarger laid aside his "spiffy" uniform and donned overalls. His gun was replaced by a long handled mop and for two hours he engaged in a combat with the dust and dirt, finally coming out the winner. The next careless one to be locked up will be pleased with the cleanliness of the local "house-gow."

Carcasses of Cattle Grim Meal for Gulls

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. The dairy farm of Williams and Erickson, five miles south of this city on the Dixie highway, is the scene of unusual activity. A flock varying from 500 to 1,000 gulls fill the air and the field, although the farm is several miles from the nearest water. The gulls are eating the carcasses of 27 dairy cows which burned to death in a barn fire on the farm last winter. The animals were hauled out into a field and covered with snow. The melting of the snow has exposed the carcasses. The noise of the gulls, as they fight for the meat, is heard for long distances.

$50,000 Asked to Fix State Tourist Parks

LANSING, Mich. The request of the State Conservation Commission for $50,000 for the improvement of state tourist parks was renewed yesterday, when detailed figures, showing the expenditures necessary at each park, were presented to the State Administration Board.

It is the plan of the commission, if the expenditure is authorized, to install both houses and other conveniences in some of the parks which are now virtually unimproved. The matter was referred to a committee by Governor Greenback.

Electric Chair Don't Excite a Condemned Man

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 18. Joe Sullivan went to his death in the electric chair at the state prison here at 5:37 this morning, for the murder of Luther T. Hay, a Little Rock detective, last July. Sullivan walked bravely to the death chamber and, after a non-resistance, taking apparently a keen interest in the work of the guards in preparing him for his death. The current was applied at 5:35 and two minutes later he was dead. His body will be sent to Kansas City to his mother.

PALMER SAYS MEANS' STORY IS ALL FALSE

Wonders Why the Committee Will Broadcast His Worthless Mouthings.

Declares the Public Will Look Upon Senate as Distributor of Slander and Mud Slinging.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 18. A Mitchell Palmer, former alien property custodian, issued a statement referring to the testimony of Gaston B. Means, before the Daugherty investigating committee.

"The lurid story of a plot on the part of Attorney General Daugherty to blackmail me into influencing congress on his behalf is a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end," says the statement. "To allow a witness like Means to repeat his unfounded charges, long since disproved, is well calculated to discount the sincerity of the present investigation and to justify the wide-spread criticism of the senate for becoming a mere distributor of slander and slinger of mud."

K. 78 years old, a lifelong friend and comrade in Civil war days, caused the sudden death today of Louis Bolinger, 78 years old, commander of the local G. A. R. post. Both yet unborn will be buried by the post. Bolinger was active in city and county public affairs.

HANHARA WILL NOT BE CALLED FROM THE U. S.

Japanese Premier Declares American Understands Hanhara Note.

Sons of Nippon Will Assume Conciliatory Attitude and Try to Iron Out the Problem.

TOKYO, Japan, April 18. Recall of Ambassador Hanhara, which was reported to be contemplated by the Japanese government, at least for the present, Premier Kiyoura gave this information to the American correspondents today following a meeting of the cabinet. Hanhara's note containing the much discussed "grave consequences" phrase was introduced in America, the premier declared.

He asserted that "a close study of the ambassador's letter would convince anyone that it does not desire to interfere in American domestic affairs." Continuing the premier said, "Fortunately the majority of American newspapers appear to understand this and their comments are sympathetic to Japan, which is comforting to the ministry."

Realizing the seriousness of the situation, the premier asserted "the government has decided to maintain a conciliatory attitude and to do its utmost to bring about a satisfactory solution to the immigration problem."

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD UP CASH PAYMENT PLAN

It Is Believed President Will Not Veto Present Soldier Bonus Bill.

An Amendment Making Full Cash Optional Is Believed Sure Way of Killing Measure.

WASHINGTON, April 18. On the basis of reports that President Coolidge probably will approve the pending soldier bonus bill, some of the democratic senate leaders are considering the advisability of withholding their proposal for incorporating in the measure a full cash payment option.

Reports of the president's attitude were received through American Legion officials. The democratic senators stated that they feared the inclusion of a full cash payment option requiring an immediate government bond issue would endanger the prospects of the bill becoming a law, while senate republican leaders, expressing the opinion, also, that the insurance bill had better prospects than a combination insurance and cash measure.

It was stated that no word had been received as to the president's attitude.

DEAD MAN FOUND IN ICE COMPANY BARN BY DRIVER

The Man Had Probably Been Ill and Sneaked into Barn During the Day.

Letter Addressed to John Bearber From Friend in Manitowishque Is Found in His Pocket.

This afternoon about 2:30 a driver employed by the S. M. Johnson Ice Company had occasion to go to the hay loft in the barn of Escanaba avenue to pitch hay near the hay chute. As his eyes became accustomed to the dimly lighted loft he discovered a man, or what looked to be the body of a man lying upon the floor, covered with some blankets.

The driver returned to the office of the ice company and reported the discovery and Mr. Johnson, in company with some other men, returned to the barn and upon a closer investigation found the body of a man. Coroner Bartley was called and after an investigation had the body removed to the Anderson morgue. It was believed by the coroner that the man was ill and, being without funds, awaited a chance to enter the barn during the day-time and hid himself in the loft.

Over a week ago the drivers complained to Mr. Johnson that some blankets and overcoats had been stolen from the barn and as the place was securely fastened during the night the theft was more or less a mystery. A can of water was near the place where the body was discovered, and this also supports the theory that the man was ill.

He was an Indian and appears to be about 35 years of age. There was no indication that he had been drinking, either by odor or the presence of a bottle. He was also well dressed and in one of his pockets was found a letter from some person in Manitowishque, bearing the name of Joan Bearber, Clark River. An investigation will be made to determine if he has relatives in this section of the state.

That the dead man was undoubtedly Joseph Bearber, Jr., was indicated by the undertaking man, later this afternoon when a hunter's license was found in his pocket dated last October. He gave his address as Englewood, and his age as 31. The license was issued at Rapid River. There was no money in his pocketbook, which further bears out the theory that he was ill and did not know how to provide for himself in a city among strangers.

Pastor Leaves Church but Not Anything Else

DALLAS, Tex. (U. P.) God's children led wars, the Rev. John Quincy Adams would be out of luck.

But all God's children are not alike. Pentecostal church pastor John Quincy Adams, let alone wings to fly after the Rev. John Quincy Adams.

The pastor is charged with stripping his congregation of all their worldly possessions to finance the return of Christ. After the houses and furniture of all his parishoners had been sold and the money turned over to him to give to God on Easter morn, the Rev. Mr. Adams vanished in a flash.

FERRY HAND DROWNED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. Edward Nelson, 19 years old, employed on the Ann Arbor ferry No. 6, was drowned at Manitowishque yesterday afternoon when he stumbled on the wharf and fell into the water. The body was recovered about 2:00 p. m. from a log after the boiler had been dragged for several hours.

BIGAMIST TO LOSE FIRST WIFE'S ESTATE

Second Marriage Admitted, He Drops Claim.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. Application of the statute which prohibits bigamists from inheriting property from their lawful wives is to be sought at a hearing in probate court May 12, by distant relatives of Mrs. Myrtle Demaree.

In Southey, Sack, lives her husband, Melvin R. Demaree, 42 years old, who would have been the sole heir of her $10,000 estate had he not married a Canadian in 1917, several years after he and Mrs. Demaree became estranged.

"Now in a letter to Louis E. Howell, executor of the first wife's relatives, he says he does not wish to have any part of her property and he has consented to lend his assistance in closing the estate. He adds that he believed Mrs. Demaree, who died June 5, 1922, had divorced him before he remarried.

WORLD FLYERS HAVE SUPPLIES AT ALL POINTS

Advance Preparations Took Months of Hard Work Before the Start.

In Every Port Where a Stop Is Scheduled, Parts and Supplies and Fuel Is at Hand.

When the motor in the plane of Major Martin broke down and he was forced to land in the northern part of Alaska, the great world flight would have been over for him, at least for months if it had not been for advance preparations that were made by the army and navy for months prior to the time the big ship took off from California in March.

It will not be long before Major Martin receives a new motor and resumes the journey around the world. Preparations for flight.

The most careful preparations for the flight around the world have been made by the Army Air Service. It has been assisted by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce several score American business corporations, with representatives abroad, have cordially lent their assistance by providing letters of credit or personal letters of introduction which will facilitate the advance officers of the actual pilots themselves in case of emergency.

P. P. Small, president of the American Express Company, extended official cooperation with all American express offices throughout the world.

A vital feature of preparation was the pathfinding expedition of two officers to go over the most difficult portions of the route. Lieut. C. E. Cunniffe covered the territory from Hull, England, to Montreal with particular attention of Greenland, where two landings must be made, one on the east coast and one on the west coast, under the most difficult conditions. Lieut. Clifford C. New, was sent to the Philippine Islands to map the Asiatic mainland to provide for industry arrangements for a winter journey extended by a winter journey to Japan, China, Great Britain, France, etc. Both of these missions together with First Lieut. St. Clair Streett, were members of the flying expedition which Lieut. Streett commanded from Washington to Nome, Alaska several years ago.

Upon the data returned from Lieut. Cunniffe and Nutt, together with that provided by other air service officers and air attaches, throughout the world, a detailed study of the route was made in the office of the chief of air service. The United States Coast Guard obtained data on the St. Lawrence, Seattle, Wash. and the Island in the Mentian group, which is the point of departure of the flight from the United States passes before.

Mrs. J. A. Glaser and daughter, Mrs. Mabel Briggs Snow, left yesterday for Mattson, Wis. where they will be the relatives enroute to the 2000 anniversary and other states before leaving their home in Washington.

THEFT OF RIVER LATEST STORY TO COMMITTEE

Reclamation Director Says Fall Tried to Steal Colorado River.

His Testimony Was Not Completed, as It Was Irrelevant to the Daugherty Investigation.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—George H. Maxwell, director of the national reclamation association, was recalled before the senate Daugherty committee today to explain a statement made by him in a letter to an Arizona senator, charging a "Fall-Davis" scheme to steal the Colorado river.

The witness was heard at a hastily assembled meeting of the committee, which previously had announced it would stand in recess until next week. His testimony was "on the trail of the serpent" and that a similar opportunity to steal the Colorado river from Arizona, might not come again in a thousand years.

Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, objected to taking up the Colorado river controversy as irrelevant and Chairman Brookhart agreed unless he was able to connect with the department of justice in some way.

Maxwell said the letter was sent under a misapprehension as the committee he said in mind was the reclamation committee. He admitted that he had no personal information as to the department of justice. He was then excused.

FREE FOR ALL FIGHT STAGED IN MARINETTE

Present and Former City Employees Engage in Battle.

Warrants Followed for the Arrest of Attacking Parties; Discharge of Men Is Cause.

MARINETTE With two ribs broken and a bruised ear, Herman H. Schroeder, Marinette street commissioner, was in the office of C. A. Hurlong yesterday morning to sign a criminal warrant charging William Kalm, sewer foreman, whom he discharged on Tuesday, with assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Yesterday, a similar warrant was issued for the arrest of the street commissioner, who last week was on trial for incompetency and misconduct in office for an alleged attack on Henry Wiegert, street employee, whom he discharged Wednesday. Wiegert was the one who signed the complaint against Schroeder resulting in last week's hearing.

Deau and Erler Fired.

From all indications, war clouds hovered over the street department since the hearing in which Schroeder was vindicated by the city council of all charges against him last Saturday, the day after the hearing, the street commissioner caused the resignation of Royal Deau and Carl Erler, truck drivers, who testified against him.

Schroeder Rides With Him.

Kalm was dismissed by Schroeder on Tuesday. According to witnesses, Kalm and his brother, Reuben Kalm, drove up to the police station Thursday afternoon in an automobile. The street commissioner was there, and he was asked calmly by Kalm, the former sewer foreman, to ride with them to the tool shed so that Kalm could acquire his part of rubber boots which were at that place.

Schroeder consented to ride, being the only one having the key for the shed as Kalm had turned him in on dismissal. He got into the car and rode away with them.

Schroeder to Hospital.

According to Schroeder, when the three got into the tool shed William Kalm immediately started to attack him, knocked him down and kicked him, causing internal injuries which needed the attention of Dr. H. P. Schroeder. The street commissioner was taken to the M. & M. hospital for attention.

According to Kalm, when Schroeder handed over the boots to him Schroeder said he was glad to get rid of him, ending his statement with a vile name. It was this, says Kalm, which caused him to start using his fists.

Hearing in the case of Schroeder will be held before Police Judge C. A. Hurlong at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. He has retained Attorney John G. Miller in his defense.

Wiegert Discharged.

The Wiegert-Schroeder fracas resulted after the street commissioner told his employe about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning that his services were no longer needed. The incident occurred in the local shed, where Kalm and the street commissioner later staged their affair.

According to Nat Miller, who with Matt Halmer was the witness in the affair, Wiegert and Schroeder, who meted to argue, Schroeder left Wiegert to get out of the shed.

"I don't have to get out," Wiegert here, before Wiegert is said to have declared.

Schroeder became more paternal according to Miller and insisted on Wiegert clearing out.

"I don't have to get out. This is city property, isn't it?" retorted Wiegert.

"I'll kick you out, then," said the street commissioner, vehemently, according to the witness.

Wiegert is reported to have then started to unroll his vest displaying a pungent attitude, which it is said was unimpaired by a rain of blows from Schroeder.

Wiegert, according to Miller, then ran for a pickax, got hold of it, and wielded it maliciously. The two battles clinched, Schroeder wrested the pickax from Wiegert, and the battle ended.

When Wiegert came up to sign the warrant for Schroeder's arrest he manifested a bloodshot eye and a swelling on the forehead.

Hearing in the Kalm case has been set for 2 o'clock this afternoon before Justice of the Peace C. A. Hurlong.

New Commissioner May 1.

Mr. Schroeder will remain as street commissioner until May 1, when Charles Hutchinson, recently appointed by Mayor L. M. Elvert, will take charge.

Girl Scouts Open Exhibit of Work.

The Girl Scouts will open a fine morning at the Wiegert case and hundreds of people stopped in front of the big display window today to see the different work pertaining to the Scouts that has been prepared by the girls. The big day is Saturday and Sunday. The girls are invited to realize the candy booth and other things.

AUTO-RADIO SHOW WILL BE ATTENDED BY GREAT CROWDS

People Within Radius of 100 Miles Are Coming to Escanaba Next Week to Attend Big Exhibit.

Escanaba is going to be a real exhibition city next week, when hundreds of people will come here to spend a day or more at the Auto-Radio exhibition, which will surpass anything ever in every way that of last year.

Although the exhibits are making requests of from one to three miles for people living in town, within a radius of 100 miles and beyond people have indicated their coming to Escanaba next week for the big event.

Every space in the Coliseum has been sold and the display of special nature, rare arriving last week, will be made ready for the opening day.

Last year the radio exhibit was not very large, but as that it was interesting and boosted the radio business.

At the exhibition next week there will be more than fifty different makes of radio displayed and demonstration will be given in the building of all houses. You can see a pocket set that will pick up New York, Dallas, Texas, and even Los Angeles. Other interesting things into hundreds of dollars will pick up anything that is in the air.

The display of motor cars will include all of the leading makes, several high styles, and will be better than last year. In fact there are more cars handled in Escanaba this year than a year ago and there are some new cars on the market that the public will be interested in seeing.

As money will be expended at each display to explain the merits of their product and hand out literature, even during the day in those who are prospective purchasers.

Escanaba is going to have a big week, not only at the show, but in the stores as well. The merchants have joined hands in the sale and most show window displays for the week and will offer bargains to the visitors that will make them remember Escanaba for months to come.

Ford Will Build Plant in London, Is Late Report

LONDON, April 18 (United Press)—Henry Ford is planning the establishment of a great plant here for the production of 200 per cent British jitneys.

Negotiations are under way by representatives of an unnamed principal, believed almost certainly to be Ford, for the purchase of a large tract on the Thames for use as the factory site.

Ford now has a plant at Manchester, where about 2,000 workmen are employed. The proposed London plant to cover 225 acres, would employ about 14,000 persons, and be the largest Ford manufacturing plant outside the United States.

The Ford cars now produced at Manchester are made largely of British materials. It is said that the London plant will use British materials entirely. It has been suggested that the plant carry the name "A 100 per cent British Ford."

Ford's big-scale production plan in England, if carried out, will save an import duty of 33.3 per cent required on all foreign cars brought here for sale. There is some anxiety among British manufacturers of light cars at the prospect of large-scale Ford production and competition here, but generally speaking the attitude of the people and the authorities seems favorable because they believe it will relieve the unemployment situation to some extent at least and bring the flyover nearer the range of the average purse.

BRITISH FLYER IN GREECE.

ATHENS (United Press)—A. S. N. McLaren, British round-the-world flyer, arrived at Old Phaleron Wednesday in his plane, the Vulture, after flying from Corfu, where he was held up for about two weeks awaiting spare parts for his machine.

The British flyer, with his two aides, who are attempting to beat the American airmen in circling the globe, will fly to Egypt on the next leg of their journey east.

Old Phaleron is on the Greek coast a few miles south of Athens.

Most of the things men fight for could be purchased with the money expended in the fight. A philosopher is one who reflects that handling a snow shovel is about as difficult as pushing a lawn mower.

The Lord of Thunder Gate

"Words, scolding, scolding, Fred Silence, was tongue, goatface."

As Ellen entered, Wells' eyes became bright, his color noticeably higher. She looked at him gravely for an instant; her eyelids fluttered under the scrutiny of the three.

"Put your hand on your heart. How does it feel?"

"It jumps, Kayama San."

"Does it tell you that you are a sin-ner, child?" very paternally.

"Queer. It should burn your hand, if—"

Miss Carey stepped to the girl's side. She oozed superiority and duty strangely blended.

"If they take Ellen I'll be in a deuce of a fix," thought Wells. "They'd never in the world give her up again if I came back to Japan. If I could even find her." He was half more than half of the decision to announce abruptly that this was his wife; that he had her and proposed keeping her. But—he might wait a moment more before deciding.

"Come, broken blossom," sniffed Miss Carey. She was proud of her oriental phraseology. "Come, cry upon my bosom," she was of that vintage when bosoms were still spoken of—"and we will go, far, far from this den of iniquity."

"The girl's good," Wells thought, saying aloud that his honorable house was not to be molested.

Ellen looked from the woman to Wells. Wells examined the meeting with feigned interest. The missionary took it for indecision.

"Forget the idols, which will perish and be the sin to bars and I needs," she quoted withunction. "You belong with us. Come. Rest your weary head. You belong with us."

"No," Ellen said. "I belong to Ka-

"No," Ellen said. "I belong to Kayama-San. He bought me." Nor could she be moved from that position.

In her room, she alternately was satisfied with and afraid of her decision. If—her cheeks were hot with the idea—if Kayama were only—not Kayama. He was so good. When she had entered the room of the conference, she had seen in his eyes that which caused her own to quiver. No, she had laughed it.

Wells was no nearer to his decision. He smoked pipe after pipe of silky tobacco, the tap-tap-tap of the emptied bowl sounding every two or three minutes as the tiny contents were dropped into the brazier of coals. He clapped his hands.

"Bring me my wife," he said to Hissu, the oldest manservant. "She shall rest with me here."

"You have forgotten?"

"I am very tired, Hissu. My mind is occupied with grave affairs. What is it that I should remember?"

"Ael; that you should forget! You saw it first with me, Kayama San. Misako was with us. I was young then, but I dreamed of the day when you and your bride might see the blossoming of the Trees together, even as I did . . . the perfume in the air . . ." She smiled, heavy with reminiscence.

"I had forgotten, little mother. I am delighted that you have been my reminder. Yes, I will go, I and my bride. Yes, I will go. Assuredly I will go. I have been awaiting it anxiously." He had never heard of it before.

"Good! Excellent! I knew it! I have told those who believed it was for this you without?"

"Who?"

"Hissu. It is said . . . I dare not repeat the gossip."

"You are as my mother, Hissu. You should have no gossip from me."

Ore Carrier Is Ready to Leave With First Load

The steamer Harvester which arrived here early in the week has been loaded at No. 5 dock and the captain may decide to try and get out of the bay late this afternoon or tonight. The ice is still pretty solid and it is declared that a loaded vessel cannot break through as easily as one traveling light.

Footing The Mode For Easter

The boyish frocks and suits, so high in favor for Madame this season, require footwear of harmonizing type.

The new shoes this Spring are of aristocratic lines—so skillfully welded of soft and pliable leather that they give a surprising comfort.

As the wear of these shoes for men and women goes on they reflect only the mellowing influence of time—they grow old as gracefully as a man who has taken good care of himself.

Their price is just in accordance with their exclusive style and fine workmanship.

BAPTISTS WILL GIVE CANTATA EASTER MORN

Many weeks have been spent by the Baptist choir in the preparation of the Easter Cantata entitled "Easter Joy." A real musical treat is in store for those who attend. It will be given in the auditorium of the Cleveland Commercial College at eleven o'clock Sunday morning.

J. W. Lerman has arranged standard selections from Verdi, Rimoni, Mascagni, Rodney, Rubenstein, Meyer beer, and Offenbach in a very pleasing manner. Tenor solo parts will be rendered by G. C. Adams and J. J. Sourin; soprano solo parts by Miss A. Rohb, Miss H. Shepherd and Mrs. L. Amundsen; alto solo by Mrs. C. H. Skinner. Other members of the choir are Miss F. E. Clark and Miss L. M. Sherlock, alto; E. A. Hubbard and C. L. Sherlock, basses. Miss C. Walker is the accompanist.

Lake Level Lowering Costs Muskegon More

MUSKEGON, Mich.—Muskegon has discovered that the lowering of the level of Lake Michigan is costing it money in various ways.

R. J. Buck, city engineer, says that it costs the city additional money to pump its supply of water from Lake Michigan with every inch fall in the level. Muskegon provided various figures to present at the hearing in the bill presented by Chicago interests before congress to grant increased flowage through the drainage canal. Among the figures submitted was the additional cost of pumping water for Muskegon because of the seven-inch drop in the level due to the drainage canal.

"It takes more horse-power to pump the water and additional horse-power takes more coal," said the city engineer.

EMBEZZLEMENT TRIAL DELAYED

SUPERIOR—The case of William M. Barker, alleged embezzler of funds of the Allouez State bank, of which he was formerly president, has been adjourned until April 21. Barker held an affidavit of prejudice against Judge P. S. Barker when arraigned in municipal court and Judge J. B. French was designated to sit in the case.

We may yet find the portraits of pretty men placed in cigar packages to encourage sales.

Just because you have the law on your side is no reason why you should not be decent and honest about it. It seems unreasonable, but the small-er the political job, the greater swelling it causes in the region of the head.

PRIDE IN APPEARANCE

WHY "PRIDE IN APPEARANCE" IS SWEEPING THE COUNTRY

The "Pride in Appearance" movement is today sweeping the country. Everywhere men are paying more attention to clothes. They demand better clothes and buy them with greater care than ever before.

This movement is the recognition of an obvious fact that has sometimes been overlooked: That clothes are important to every man, and that every man owes it to himself, his family, and his position to dress well.

Clothes are important because of the influence they have on others. In fact, clothes are a stimulus for any man who wishes to create a good impression as a good business or career man. Business men and professional men, who must create good first impressions if they are to succeed, know this and are therefore always well dressed. A man who calls at a business office in a shabby suit of clothes is seldom likely to get a hearing. A visitor who makes a call with out being neat and trim in appearance is hardly likely to inspire confidence. A young man looking for a position is more likely to get it if his clothes give the impression that he is dependable and regular on his hands.

Clothes are important also for the career they have on the man who wears them. A man who is certain his clothes look well needs the world with greater confidence than one whose clothes do not. Good clothes give ease and poise, both essential to success.

It is the realization of these facts that has given rise to the "Pride in Appearance" movement. No man is to be contented in a crowd by being inconspicuously dressed. On the contrary, he takes pride in the contrast of his appearance. And as a result he insists on correct clothes, and knows more about them. He is no longer satisfied that a suit of clothes should wear well. It must also be well tailored and correctly cut. He puts a hat or shirt not as an item in a closet, but with care to see that it looks well with the suit or overcoat with which he intends to wear them. He has discovered that a presentable appearance is not a matter necessarily of having more clothes or spending more money, but of buying more carefully and insisting on greater values.

Of course, "Pride in Appearance" will mean different things to different men. The business man must of necessity be more conservative than the young man. His clothes must convey the idea of solidity and dependability. The young man, provided he exercises good taste always, can afford to be more independent and his clothes will have more dash to them. But for every man, provided he exercises good taste always, can afford to be more independent and his clothes will have more dash to them. But for every man "Pride in Appearance" means that he will present a correct appearance on every occasion.

No Easter like this one

IT WILL SHOW A WELL DRESSED CITY—MEN WHO MADE OUR "PRIDE IN APPEARANCE" EVENT A COMPLETE SUCCESS.

Nothing we have ever seen has matched the way the men of this city have responded to the "Pride in Appearance" idea. Our effort is fully justified, the labor of months is fully rewarded.

We combed the market to bring you the very best and finest things in men's wear. We did more—we secured the co-operation of manufacturers, so that we could also offer the most extraordinary values. Men came and bought enthusiastically; the time was right—the merchandise was right, the values were right—and the idea was right!

You put it over for us!

And there is still one day before Easter. We expect a great rush at this time—and we are prepared. Our assortments are still large. We can take care of all the late shoppers; we can still offer you extraordinary values and extraordinary quality—smart hats, the newest neckwear, the finest hosiery, the last word in shirts.

And an immense assortment of Society Brand Clothes, all the new models for Spring made up in the choicest fabrics of the season. These are the finest clothes we have ever offered—America has never seen better. There's a wide range of prices, unusual values in every range.

If you haven't everything you need for Easter, come in tomorrow and let us help you select. You will be served in the true "Pride in Appearance" spirit.

DETROIT ATTORNEY WANTS A SEAT IN THE U. S. SENATE

Hal H. Smith Opposes Couzens on Mellon Tax and Party Loyalty.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. Hal H. Smith, Detroit attorney, who announced his candidacy to succeed Senator James Couzens, in a letter received Monday by George Edborough, farm leader of Benoni, said here today he opposed Senator Couzens on two issues—the Mellon tax plan and party loyalty.

"I do not like to talk of my probable candidacy for the senate at this time," he said, "on account of Senator Couzens' illness. I do not believe in kicking a man when he is down."

Has Two Issues.

"I believe the time has come, however, when the republicans and democrats must take up the cudgel in defense of party principles. The demagogue is placed in the land and is striking at the foundations of our government. I am at variance with Senator Couzens on two main issues—the Mellon plan of taxation and the question of party loyalty.

"The Mellon plan is the only fair and logical way out of the present difficulties of the high tax situation. We have a corps of government experts who have worked this out with the aid of the Secretary of the Treasury. President Coolidge wants this plan adopted and I believe the Coolidge supporters in Michigan also want it adopted. The recent election showed President Coolidge was Michigan's choice by an overwhelming majority, and the voters want his campaign carried out.

"Let Party Dictate."

"Furthermore, I do not believe any man should follow his own judgment in office in the senate. Rather, he should follow the dictates of his party.

"All regard to the Truist Dome scandal, I believe the country has had all it wants of denunciations. The senate is a deliberative body, not an investigative body. I do not mean that I believe the washing of dirty linen was not justified. It was. But I think the senate has completed its work."

ALLEGED "MOON" PARTY STAGED BY SCHOOL STUDENTS

Farmer Near Powers May Be Arrested for Supplying the Liquor.

ALLEGED MOON PARTY. PROWERS, April 12.—District Attorney Kenneth Doyle and Sheriff Bob Miller of Montcalm were here yesterday on an investigation into an alleged moonshine party staged by high school students Sunday afternoon. It is understood a suit of the student implicated was held at the school superintendent's office but the boys persisted in refusing to give the name of the party room, whom the liquor was obtained. It is said that several high school girls were also questioned. Six boys were in the party.

Caught With the Goods.

According to the story reported about the students, boys and girls, were in an automobile driving about the country but when caught by the principal of the school were parked on the highway. It is understood the young people were caught with the "good."

Following by investigation the matter was reported to the county sheriff and the investigation of yesterday followed. It is claimed the young people obtained moonshine from a farmer living in the vicinity and that evidence sufficient for a warrant was obtained.

The formal today regarding the escapade of the Powers high school students. Prosecuting Attorney Doyle refused to make any statement other than denying that any intoxicated girls were implicated in the affair. He refused to mention any names or make further comment.

Victim of Auto Accident Known Well in Escanaba

Mr. John E. K. Johnson, who was killed in an automobile accident in Marquette last week, was well known to many people in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson made their home in Escanaba for several months last year and became acquainted with a large circle of friends.

Mr. Johnson is a field man for the Chevrolet Motor Car Company and is still a frequent visitor in Escanaba. Mrs. Johnson was in town killed when the truck on which he was riding collided with an engine on a grade crossing. Mr. Johnson did not learn of his wife's death until he had returned to the flat in which they were living and not finding her at home, set out to make inquiries.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 17.—Miss Grace Gehardt, 27 years old, reported to the police the loss of a diamond ring valued at $125 and asked the officers to search for a man with whom she said she went for a walk Sunday evening. Sitting on a park bench, Miss Gehardt said she allowed the man to hold her hand. When she reached home she discovered the ring was missing.
