

MARKET HAS ANOTHER HECTIC DAY

MERGER PLANS TO BE HANDLED WITH CAUTION MITCHELL TO RULE SPARINGLY ON BIG DEALS

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1929, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Oct. 28.—Although Attorney General Mitchell was careful to avoid the impression that the department of justice has explicitly reversed the policy of the Coolidge administration with respect to advice given corporations engaged in mergers, the full effect of Mr. Mitchell's latest utterance is construed to be at least a variation from that of the preceding administration.

When the Hoover regime began business generally was inquisitive to learn whether the policy instituted by Colonel William Donovan, assistant attorney general, would be carried on. Colonel Donovan invited representatives of corporations to consult with the department and lay all merger plans on the table for examination, with the result that if no violation of the anti-trust law seemed to be in prospect a letter would be written stating that the department saw no occasion to institute anti-trust proceedings but that if the matter did come into the course the department of justice expressed in advance no opinion as to its legality.

No Licenses to Violate. Mr. Mitchell says that "carefully guarded as this language was, the attitude of the department has often been misrepresented and construed"; that the attorney general has no power to license anyone to violate any statute, and that his determination that a transaction does not violate the statute "may be reversed by himself or by any successor."

Mr. Mitchell declares that notwithstanding these limitations, those who submitted their proposals and received a letter derived some comfort out of the prospect that no immediate prosecution would follow. He adds that the department found also that when the plans are originally submitted they have some elements that are not fully developed and that later on propositions that are seemingly innocuous in advance "have in practice worked an apparent violation of the anti-trust laws."

The attorney general in outlining his policy to the American Bar Association at Memphis revealed for the first time what the department of justice intends to do under the Hoover administration. It amounts to this: If a proposal submitted appears to be a violation of law, there will be no hesitation in telling business

California Air Express is Lost In Wild Mountain Canyon Country

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 28 (AP)—An eastbound Western Air Mail passenger liner with two passengers, two pilots and a steward aboard bound from its western terminus at Alhambra, California, to Kansas City, was lost somewhere in eastern Arizona or western New Mexico tonight.

James E. Doles of Los Angeles was at the control as chief pilot. Doles has had 2,720 hours flying, the greater portion of his training and experience having been in the army. He joined Western Air Express on June 14, 1928. He is married and has a son 23 months old.

Veteran Flyers Allan C. Barrie, co-pilot, has a record of 1,900 flying hours. He makes his home in Burbank, Los Angeles suburb. He is married and has a daughter three years old.

Barrie's training also was in the army. R. L. Britton of Los Angeles, formerly of Denver, is the steward. He is married.

C. C. Cole, superintendent of operations, expressed hope that Doles had set the plane down in eastern Arizona or western New Mexico when he discovered bad weather ahead of him, and that delay in hearing from the plane was due to the character of the country and inability of the three crew members immediately to reach a telephone or telegraph office.

Plan Search Western Air Express ships were being held at Los Angeles and at Albuquerque, prepared to start an immediate search when more definite indication of the plane's possible whereabouts is received. Should word be received from the crew, a plane will be dispatched at once to care for the passengers and crew members.

A check back of the route that they failed to reveal a clue to the plane's whereabouts, air express officials said.

Western Air Express officials were advised by their field manager at Holbrook, Ariz., that the plane passed over Navajo, Ariz., this morning, flying low. A severe storm was raging at the time. Navajo is 60 miles east of Holbrook and 180 miles west of Albuquerque.

Region Inaccessible The liner left Alhambra at 5:30 a. m. today, and was due at Albuquerque at noon. The passengers were Dr. A. W. Ward, nationally known dental authority of San Francisco and W. E. Merz of Mount Vernon, N. Y. Dr. Ward was enroute to Fort Worth, Texas, to address the North club there tonight. He had expected to leave the plane at Amarillo, Tex. Merz had been registered at a Los Angeles hotel and was believed enroute to his home.

The plane was last reported headed for the Mount Taylor region in western New Mexico. (Continued on Page Two)

NEW HOSPITAL SITE SETTLED State's $7,500,000 Building in Washtenaw County

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 28 (AP)—The location of the new $7,500,000 hospital for insane was definitely fixed today by the state administrative board. The site which is located in York and Pittsfield townships, Washtenaw county, will cost $175,000. It comprises 1200 acres. The hospital will be only a few miles from an Arbor and Ypsilanti and within a short distance of Detroit. Harry H. Musselwhite, a chairman of a committee of the hospital commission which selected the site, declared more than twenty locations were considered and investigated. It was the sense of both the commission and the advisory board that the institution must be located near Detroit to take care of the patients from the metropolitan area and relieve the overcrowded condition of the Pontiac hospital.

Construction Soon Reports were submitted by the state agricultural department showing the land to have been valuable for agricultural purposes. The average price per acre, about $149.50, was considered an advantageous figure for the state.

The 1929 legislature approved the expenditure of $7,500,000 for the new institution. Only $2,500,000 was appropriated for the fiscal years 1930 and 1931, however. The remaining $4,000,000 is subject to the approval of the 1931 session. It is planned to start construction as soon as possible on a 3,000-bed institution. Eventually the commission hopes to increase the capacity.

Detroit, Oct. 28 (AP)—James Fernando, charged with the kidnaping of 5 year old Jackie Thompson from in front of his home September 30 was held in jail under $600,000 bond today following his plea of not guilty upon arraignment before Judge Charles L. Bartlett in recorder's court. Fernando's bond was fixed at $300,000 and two sureties making the total $600,000. A second, but unidentified man, also charged with the kidnaping, is being sought by police who are hopeful of finding him. Jackie was found in Fernando's house last Wednesday night by police shortly after Henry S. Thompson, the boy's father, had paid representatives of the kidnapers $25,000 ransom.

Search Fruitless Jackie, his father, and police officers made a 200-mile automobile trip through the country west of Detroit yesterday in hopes of discovering the farm where it is believed the boy was held prisoner for three weeks. Jackie, however, was unable to identify any of the places to which he was taken.

Two women and two men arrested Wednesday night were released Saturday night. They were: Mrs. Ann Fernando, wife of Fernando; Mrs. Mary Gaguanow, Joseph de George, and Anthony Abruzzese.

TARIFF BILL ON DEATHBED Senators Quarrel Over Attitude of President Hoover

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—A pronouncement of ultimate death was read today by one of its sponsors, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, and the post mortem that quickly ensued found leaders of all factions passing the blame around.

The assertion, a repetition of a statement by Senator Reed in a speech in Philadelphia over the week-end, led to a free-for-all political discussion which saw Republican regulars and independents quarreling over the attitude of President Hoover: Democrats and Republicans demanding that the president state his position on the bill, and all finally agreeing that the senate must get down to serious business and pass some sort of measure.

Although he predicted the bill would die in conference with the house, Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, in a charge of the measure, to the finance committee, assured the senate that no effort was to be made to kill the legislation in conference and that it would be handled as any other bill when it reaches that stage.

Senator Johnson, of California, started the debate by calling attention to conflicting newspaper accounts, one to the effect that the coalition of Democrats and western Republicans was succeeding in writing the type of bill the president wanted, and the other quoting Senator Reed as saying the bill was dead.

Beagle, prosecuting attorney of Genesee county, to order an investigation into the methods in obtaining more than 16,000 signatures to petitions for the recall on the grounds of incompetency.

The prosecuting attorney said he would conduct an investigation and if any criminal acts had been shown he would authorize a warrant. The clerk submitted the report of a police investigation of 300 signatures. Sixty-nine persons interviewed, denied having signed petitions, others were found to be names of persons dead, under age or removed from the city, the report showed.

Second to None

"A second best navy is like a second best poker hand," he said. "You might just as well expect a lame mule to win the Kentucky Derby as a country with a second best navy to win a war. We do not want a paper navy, but like a well-known brand of soap, we want one 99 and a fraction per cent pure and one that floats."

LONG ILLNESS IS FATAL TO OHIO SENATOR ALL WASHINGTON MOURNS DEATH OF BURTON

Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio died tonight after an illness of several months. Word of Burton's death grieved official Washington from President Hoover down. From time to time the president had called on the 77-year-old legislator to keep in close personal touch with his condition.

Among the last visitors to the bedside were Senator Feas of Ohio and Bishop William T. MacDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal church. Miss Grace Burton, a niece of the senator and a nephew, William Burton were with him through the last hours. He had been unable to take nourishment through the day.

Message From Premier Ever since Mr. Burton suffered a relapse in his long standing illness last week, messages of friendship had been reaching his home from Ohio and elsewhere. One today was from Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain, through the British embassy.

Mr. MacDonald expressed appreciation for the work the Ohio senator had long done in the cause of peace, and expressed a devout wish for his recovery.

Death came shortly before 10 o'clock. It followed a sinking spell which swept him into unconsciousness from which he did not recover.

End Came Suddenly A rising temperature and faltering pulse already had alarmed attendants at his bedside, and they hastily summoned his physician, Dr. Robert Baker. Before the doctor reached his residence, however, those gathered in the sickroom found that he had died.

Fifteen minutes after the announcement of his death, his physician arrived.

Robert Norton, secretary of the senator, who had been in attendance constantly since the relapse last Thursday night, had left the apartment for a few minutes

HINT CENSURE FOR BINGHAM Senate to Denounce Slogan; First Time in 27 Years

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON (Ass'd Press Staff Writer) Washington, Oct. 28 (AP)—The dire promise of a resolution proposing censure for Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, stifled a savage verbal exchange in the senate today between the Connecticut senator and his accusers of the lobby investigating committee.

An expectant quiet came over the story scene when Senator Norris of Nebraska, one of those who came under Bingham's assault, announced that he intended to offer a resolution tomorrow, if would be the first time in 27 years that the senate would be called upon to censure a member.

"Silly Dirty Trial" The resolution had not been drafted tonight but it was indicated that it would ask the senate to denounce the use of Senator Bingham of a salaried employee of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association to assist him in helping to frame the tariff bill.

Bingham accused Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, one of the lobby investigators, of using a capitol policeman as chauffeur. Blaine denied this and said it was a statement calculated to put a smoke screen to cover up a "silly, dirty trial mapped out designedly from the office of the senator from Connecticut to the office of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association."

The resolution had not been drafted tonight but it was indicated that it would ask the senate to denounce the use of Senator Bingham of a salaried employee of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association to assist him in helping to frame the tariff bill.

"Got Raw Deal" Says Pantages To Cell Mates

Los Angeles, Oct. 28 (AP)—The stoical attitude in which Alexander Pantages received a jury's verdict convicting him of a statutory offense against youthful Eunice Pringle, co-ed dancer, passed today, and in its stead was a challenging front. "A raw deal—that's what I got" he told his motely array of cellmates throughout the first day in jail.

"I am going to fight this thing" he repeated, "if I have to go to the highest court in the land."

The 54 year old multi-millionaire theater chain owner seemed confident of his success in another hour.

As the hours behind the jail bars wore on, Pantages gave vent to charges against the jury.

"Convict me!" he said. "I am sure the jurors did not know what they were voting for" he said. "In addition, I have evidence that one juror said he would vote to send me to prison even before he got on the jury."

The talesman's verdict carried a one to fifty year penitentiary sentence and asked that Pantages be recommended for clemency. It was returned yesterday after 2 1/2 hours deliberation.

Meanwhile all state witnesses were given their freedom without guards.

Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of the theatrical magnate and who recently was convinced of manslaughter after her automobile had killed a man, was reported suffering from shock after the news of her husband's fate had been given to her. She had been in ill health since the end of her trial, although reports that she was being denied by family attorneys and physicians.

WEEDING OUT SENDS PRICES ON TO BOTTOM PATHETIC SCENES ENACTED BY LOSERS

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL (Associated Press Financial Writer.) New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—A further collapse in stock prices, exceeding in intensity last Thursday's demoralizing session, took speculative accounts, and placed his house in order after the wild orgy of speculation for the advance which has taken place in the last five years. Net declines in many of the active issues ran from $10 to $60 a share, with the market closing practically at the bottom.

Total sales were 9,212,800 shares, which have been exceeded only by the record-breaking total of 12,894,600 shares last Thursday.

Leading New York bankers met in the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. after the close of the market

MERGE FINANCES

New York, Oct. 28 (AP)—The New York World tomorrow will say that it has earned authoritatively "a concentration of financial power of the city's largest banks" was effected at the meeting late this afternoon at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. to avert disaster through an excessive market slump.

The aggregate of the resources represented at the meeting, The World will say, was "several billions of dollars." Arrangements for protection of the market were completed at the meeting.

No formal statement was issued, however.

to canvass the situation but no formal statement was forthcoming as a result of the conference. Unofficially, it was intimated that the conference took a more hopeful view of the situation, that no holding had been brought to their attention to indicate that any stock exchange house was in trouble. Their cooperation in maintaining an orderly market was assured.

Some "Bear" Influence One banker present at the conference privately expressed the view that important investment interests, which had been standing on the side-lines until the storm blew over, were prepared to enter the market immediately as large buyers of high grade stocks.

In the absence of any adverse news developments over the week end, and in the face of the optimistic comments on business forthcoming in the closing days of last week from President Hoover and leading industrial and banking executives, Wall street's only explanation of today's de-

GRAFTERS EXECUTED

WEEDING OUT SENDS PRICES ON TO BOTTOM

While today's decline lacked some of the hysteria, which accompanied last Thursday's break, it was viewed with even greater alarm in some quarters. Wall street generally believed that strong buying support would be supplied over the week-end, and that the low prices reached last Thursday probably would hold, at least for a time.

Instead, the market started to plunge downward from the opening gong, and closed practically at the bottom. A slight rally occurred around 1 p. m. when reports, which later proved to be unfounded, were circulated around the financial district that Morgan brokers were heavy buyers of stock, and that another conference of bankers was being held in the Morgan offices.

The selling increased in intensity when financial news tickers printed a statement quoting Thomas W. Lamont of the Morgan firm as stating that no statement would be forthcoming as the situation did not warrant it.

Business conduct committees of both the New York Exchange and the New York Curb market met after the close of the session but it was unofficially stated that their principal business was to straighten out some of the complaints which arose among brokers in last week's trading.

Usual Crash Rumors As in all sharply declining markets, rumors were circulated around the financial district that certain houses and individuals were in trouble or being "taken over" by the banks.

Scenes of confusion, rivaling those in last Thursday's break, took place on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange and in the large brokerage houses of the city. Floor traders, with their nerves frayed by the strain of the week, seemed more belligerent and irritable than usual from the privileged few who were permitted to watch the proceedings from the stock exchange gallery. The public is barred from the exchange.

Customers Hard Hit Pale and haggard faces were the rule in the customers rooms of the leading commission houses as few traders had escaped entirely in last week's decline. Pathetic scenes took place in some offices when men and women brought in stock certificates, which had been put away in safe deposit boxes through profits derived previously in the "bull" market, were placed on brokers' desks to provide additional collateral or to be sold to make good losses sustained last week.

Measured by the indices prepared by the Standard Statistics Co., for the Associated Press, today's decline was much more severe than that of either Wednesday or Thursday of last week, as shown by the following table:

Date	50 Industrials	20 Railroads	20 Utilities
Oct. 13	211.0 Off 13.8	148.2 Off 4.3	265.5 Off 20.7
Oct. 24	205.4 Off 6.5	146.8 Off 1.4	254.7 Off 10.8
Oct. 28	182.1 Off 23.4	141.7 Off 6.2	214.1 Off 39.6

The index of 50 industrials touched a new low level on the year.

CHICAGO PRICES CRASH

Soviet Steamer Carries Bodies

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 28 (AP)—Authorities of the state of Michigan believe there is no need of sending a second graves commission to Soviet Russia next spring to look for the graves of American soldiers buried in the Archangel peninsula. G. T. Shilson, chairman of the commission which has returned after locating 86 bodies and starting them on a homeward journey, said tonight.

A dispatch from Leningrad tonight said that authorities there understood that the state had under consideration a second commission to search for the graves of nearly 200 American soldiers. "The state of Michigan's work is done," Mr. Shilson said. "In northern Russia there were only 228 men of the one regiment stationed there who were killed or died from disease. A year after the troops were withdrawn, the bodies of 112 of these were returned. The commission which has just returned sent home 86 bodies. So that leaves only 136 graves un-found, and the commission was of the opinion that these graves could not be located."

erto strong issues was followed by practically the whole of the broad list and the close found millions of dollars wiped from the market value of Canadian securities.

LONG ILLNESS IS FATAL TO OHIO SENATOR

thinking that he probably would live through the night.

Burial at Cleveland Among his last visitors tonight was Bishop William T. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church. The bishop yesterday had administered the sacrament to the dying man at his request before he lapsed into the unconsciousness which lasted until the end.

The aged man died without apparent pain. Drugs had been administered earlier in the day. For the past 24 hours he had been unable to take any nourishment and his weakened condition late today had brought the statement from his physician that the end probably was not more than 24 hours away.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until tomorrow, but Senator Burton made known his wishes to be buried at his home in Cleveland.

Veteran at Capitol Arrangements were made tonight for a public funeral service for Senator Burton in the senate chamber on Wednesday. This is an unusual plan but friends of the senator, who was unmarried, felt that the capitol building in which he spent so many years should properly be the place for his funeral services. The senate service will be preceded by a brief service at his residence.

On Thursday morning the Ohio senator's body will lie in state in the First Congressional church in Cleveland. Funeral services will be held that afternoon in the church and burial made in Cleveland.

Senator Fess, of Ohio, announced that the chaplains of the senate and house would officiate at the capitol services, assisted by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church of Washington.

WAS PASTOR'S SON

The decision of Theodore E. Burton not to stand for re-election as a senator from Ohio in 1914 served to bring into national prominence Warren G. Harding, who was selected in his stead as the Republican senatorial nominee, was elected and six years later was elevated to the presidency.

Burton had served one term as senator, having been chosen for that office, after distinguished service in the house of representatives, by the Ohio legislature before the amendment providing for popular election of senators became effective. He was one of the few men in American history to seek election, as he did in later years, to the house after service in the senate.

It was in 1920 that Burton came out of political retirement to run again for congress in one of the Cleveland districts. At the time, Harding, who had reluctantly agreed six years previous to be a candidate for the senate, despite a determination to remain out of politics after his defeat in 1910 as the Republican gubernatorial nominee, was making his successful bid for the presidency.

As it turned out, Harding entered the White House and Burton again became a member of the house where he had served eight terms, part of the being one of its most powerful leaders as chairman of the rivers and harbors committee.

Aside from his more than a quarter century of service in congress, Burton had a conspicuous part in the nation's international affairs. He held a number of important assignments on missions abroad, headed the American delegation of the 1925 Geneva where only a few weeks ago a transport air liner was wrecked with the loss of eight lives. A search by scores of air lanes for several days was fruitless, but a passing plane flying on schedule spotted the wreckage.

Some parts of the Mount Taylor region are next to inaccessible. Foot parties are able to traverse some sections because of deep canyons, precipitous cliffs, heavy underbrush and timber. In other places there are outcroppings of lava, making travel a slow and dangerous undertaking even on foot.

SEEN AT NAVAJO

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 28 (AP)—Western Air Express officials were advised tonight by their field manager at Holbrook, Ariz., that their eastbound plane was seen about 10:30 this morning over Navajo, Ariz., about 60 miles east of Holbrook, flying low. Navajo is about 180 miles west of here.

The manager reported there was a severe storm raging at the time. Weather reports were reported "quite bad" with general rain and low visibility from the Arizona-Mexico line to Kentucky.

CANCEL SCHEDULES

Winslow, Ariz., Oct. 28 (AP)—L. C. McGill, manager of Transcontinental Air Transport's field here, announced tonight that T. A. T.'s schedules had been halted because of bad flying conditions over the westbound T. A. T. plane had arrived here from Albuquerque three hours late. The unfavorable weather was reported between Gallup, N. M., and Winslow. The plane's pilot said he was forced to fly as low as 400 feet over the rugged terrain.

SURVEY PLANE WRECKED

Eugene, Ore. Oct. 28 (AP)—Miss Edyth Rose, Portland aviatrix, and two men fliers were killed late today when their large single-motored biplane crashed near Cottage Grove and burned. The men killed were Captain F. O. Mercer and Lieutenant W. B. Clark of Portland.

The bodies were burned beyond recognition and were identified from papers found in the wrecked plane. Miss Rose was co-pilot of the plane, which was on aerial survey.

Run-Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions. Mrs. Charles L. Stultz, of 1127 St. Mary's Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I was anemic—nothing but skin and bones. After three bottles of Tanlac I could do my housework. Tanlac helped my constipation very much. My rosy cheeks came back and I gained 40 lbs." Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

Day in Washington

Senator Burton of Ohio died. Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, read a pronouncement of ultimate death over the tariff bill.

Senator Bingham engaged his accusers of the lobby investigating committee in a savage verbal exchange. Washington officials reiterated that underlying business is sound as the stock market crashed again.

The supreme court dismissed sixteen of 43 appeals. The state department ordered issuance of visas to Count and Countess Karolyi.

Clark and Mercer were members of the Shields-Clark flying service of Portland, an aerial photograph firm. A. P. Wolford, a farmer, said he heard the plane's motor stop. The pilot evidently maneuvered to come down in a small field surrounded by trees. The plane diverged to the ground and caught fire.

Escanaba Legion Will Be Host to State Commander

Plans for the entertainment of Department Commander Ray Kelley and other state officers of the American Legion when they arrive in Escanaba November 2 were made by the executive committee of the local post last night.

There will be a banquet at the Ludington Hotel at 6:30 p. m., November 2, with the visiting officers as honored guests, and all veterans in Delta county are asked to participate. Invitations are being extended through Legion posts at Gladstone, Rapid River, Nahma and Garden, and auxiliaries are also invited.

Officials are hoping for a prompt response from Delta county posts, as a large gathering is anticipated, and the committee in charge desired an accurate check on the number expected so that preparations will be complete.

A religious service will be held at Woodlawn school house Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The Rev. John Hugo will be in charge.

Condemnation Law Will Be Tested In Circuit Court

The scene of the proceedings to test the constitutionality of Act No. 192 of the public acts of the last legislature, by which conservation officers may seize automobiles used in the violation of game laws, was transferred from justice court to the circuit court yesterday.

The case in question was that of the condemnation proceedings instituted by the conservation department against Lloyd Johnson of Escanaba, whose car was seized while he was headlighting for deer in Baldwin township. Through his attorney, N. C. Spencer, the defendant stated a counter-action to replevin his property. Through agreement between Attorney Spencer and Assistant State Attorney General Yarmouth, it was decided to fight out the replevin case in circuit court before Judge Frank A. Bell at the next January term.

A similar case instituted against Urgelle LaBonte of Spaulding was continued in Justice of the Peace H. E. Ranguette's court. LaBonte's automobile is under a chattel mortgage, and the mortgagor has started action to recover it. Attorney Yarmouth asked for a continuance of the case so that he might have time to make a study of some points in law that are involved.

Attorney Yarmouth announced yesterday that criminal action will be instituted in circuit court instead of justice court in cases where the furs or game illegally taken is valued at more than fifty dollars. All game law violations, irrespective of the value of the contraband property involved, have been prosecuted in justice court in the past.

Attorney Yarmouth and Hugh Green, chief conservation officer, went to Manistiquie late yesterday. Similar cases will be heard in justice court there.

Muskrat Season Opens on Friday

Thirty-three licenses for the trapping of muskrat have been issued by County Clerk Rayne H. Labre. The muskrat season is open in the upper peninsula from Nov. 1 to 30, inclusive.

It is unlawful to use fire arms, spears, chemicals, smokers or devices other than traps in the taking of muskrats. A metal tag with name and address of owner must be attached to each trap.

MAN 71, DECLARES KONJOLA BANISHED 15 YEARS MISERY

Undescribable Agonies of Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble Yield to Merits of Master Medicine.

"For fifteen years I suffered from stomach trouble and for five years I suffered from rheumatism," said Mr. Jesse Milks, R. F. D. No. 1, East Leroy, Michigan. "Meals were more a torture than a pleasure—foods simply refused to digest—gas bloating, belching spells and sour conditions were my daily companions. My arms and shoulders were affected by the rheumatism, making it almost impossible for me to use them."
"Konjola certainly rewarded my confidence by restoring my health before I hardly knew the treatment was well under-way. First of all it banished every trace of stomach trouble and then it drove the rheumatic pains from my system. That the relief is permanent and sure I am firmly convinced. For the first time in fifteen years I am free of those severe and chronic ailments."
Konjola is sold in Escanaba at People's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Christmas Card Racket Started

Right at this time of the year residents of many cities are receiving boxes of Christmas cards which they have not ordered, yet which the manufacturers hope will be paid for. This is in line with the now obsolete practice of sending ties in a similar manner, a plan that was so thoroughly exposed by the country newspapers that the concern backing it went bankrupt. There is no obligation on the part of a person receiving this unordered merchandise. It need not be paid for and it need not be returned. If an authorized agent calls for it, the package may be turned over to the agent but it is perfectly proper to place a storage charge against the merchandise. There is no better way of eliminating this practice than by refusing to assist in its development. The merchandise is seldom worth the price asked as the margin of profit must necessarily be great because of the unreturned goods.

Nault of Wilson, were united in marriage Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at a nuptial mass at St. Anne's church, with Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. G. Jacques as celebrant and performing the marriage ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Stella Nault and J. Villeneuve. The bride wore a dress of blue silk crepe with a blue felt hat. Miss Nault wore a brown silk crepe dress with hat of same shade. A breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents and a six o'clock dinner at the home of the bridegroom's parents at Wilson. In the evening a reception was held in the Wilson hall where many guests were entertained.

They will make their home at Wilson after November 1 where Mr. Nault is a school teacher in the public schools.

The Innocent Cheat

By Ruth Dewey Groves AUTHOR OF 'RICH GIRL - POOR GIRL,' ETC.

CHAPTER XII "I hope," Brent said firmly, "that Helen will not forget your unkindness to her mother."

daughter's picture you will find another," he said. "Eagerly the old man sought to remove his daughter Evangeline's likeness, but his hands trembled so his effort was fruitless. Helen sprang forward to help him, no longer able to control her desire to look at her mother's photograph. 'Let me see it, please,' she begged. Mr. Cunningham reluctantly allowed her to take it from him."

off as my granddaughter, help to my fortune. If your claim is false I warn you... 'You can't say such things to Leonard!' Helen broke in, furious with anger and loyalty toward Brent. 'How could he have done that you say? Would he have waited 15 years? I've begged him many times to tell me who my mother and father were, and he wouldn't. Does that look as if he wanted anything from you?'

"As you say," he snapped at Brent, "the matter rests between me and... " he turned to Helen, "this young lady." "Your granddaughter," Brent answered flatly. He felt well satisfied with the progress he had made. He was convinced that Mr. Cunningham would not turn Helen away once he accepted the belief that she was indeed his granddaughter. And the readiest way to make him believe was to rob the situation of all appearance of an attempt to take advantage of it. Brent had reasoned.

"There was another locket," he said. "I don't know what became of it, probably Evangeline took it with her. It contained my picture." "Of course," Helen breathed softly, "she would want it." Mr. Cunningham smiled faintly. "You think she did not hate me?" "I'm sure of it," Helen cried. "How could she hate her father?" "But you hate me," he reminded her, "and I'm your grandfather. That's quite a close relationship."

"I shall be most happy to assist in settling it," Brent offered, "if Helen wishes it. But remember, I told you I hoped she would not be intrigued with the idea of becoming your heir." "I am not," Helen vouchsafed. Mr. Cunningham's frown deepened. "Permit me to suggest," he said, "that you are not keeping the spirit of your promise to my daughter. I hardly believe she wanted Helen to come to me merely to tell me that she does not wish to inherit my money. Am I not right?" He appealed directly to Helen.

idents and the temptation to gather great clusters of rare wild flowers could not be resisted. This has resulted in the disappearance of a number of varieties from their woodland haunts and nature has no way to bring about a restoration. Michigan, on three different occasions, attempted to enact legislation to protect bitter-sweet, dogwood, arbutus, orchids and certain ferns but the law-makers were indifferent. In the meantime, extensive patches of arbutus were wiped out by those who uproot plants in their mad scramble after this fragrant wildling. Sand plains that were once covered with a carpet of pink blossoms seem to disappear overnight and it is only in the most remote sections that the plant continues to thrive with its old time vigor. Michigan needs some sort of law bringing reasonable protection to wild flowers. If this isn't realized within the next few years many of our finest varieties will live only as memories.

"None," Brent said. "You can, if you like, verify the facts I have given you. Helen has been in a girls' school—Miss Spinn's—since I brought her from Mexico. As soon as she was able to understand I told her that she was grown. It scarcely seems to me that further proof is needed. Had I, on my own behalf or Helen's, been interested in your fortune, sir, I might have come to you years ago. In that case I would not have run the risk of your dying intestate or leaving your money to charity." "Why do you call her Helen?" Mr. Cunningham fired at him unexpectedly when he finished. "I have always called her Helen," Brent returned smoothly. "I do not care for the name Evangeline."

It's an optimistic country, according to a visiting British journalist. He must have ignored the coaches' opinions on the sports pages. Skeletons have been put on the tariff free list. There's one in every family closet, anyway.

HEALTH

For many years it has been claimed, following the work of certain French investigators, that there was a direct relationship between the amount of salt in the human body and the height of the blood pressure.

Many cases of high blood pressure have been treated by cutting down the amount of salt in the diet and it has been reported that benefit has followed this measure. Investigators all over the world have tried the prescribing of salt-free diets.

The majority of them seem to favor the method, but there are some who have insisted constantly that the giving of salt does not affect the blood pressure in any way.

Recently another study has been added to the previous work on the subject, the investigations being carried on in a Cleveland hospital. The most recent investigation, which concerns 13 patients, seems to show that the deprivation of salt affects the height of the blood pressure in only a few exceedingly rare cases.

When people with high blood pressure are put to bed and kept quiet and given a soft diet over a period of from 10 to 14 days, the blood pressure is likely to be lowered. If during this period the salt is removed from the diet, the removal of the salt may be credited with the lowering of the blood pressure. If the cases are actually controlled, some being allowed salt in the diet and some deprived of salt, the drops in blood pressure are likely to be the same in both groups.

Several investigators have given large amounts of salt to patients under these conditions to find out if the giving of the salt would raise the blood pressure, and they report that it did not have this effect.

At the present writing those who feel that the deprivation of salt in people with high blood pressure is not warranted seem to have most of the evidence on their side.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

TWO FRIENDS

Two friends I have, and one is Memory. Who keeps a thousand treasures safe for me. A vanished face, some distant spot, I love. Though lost to sight, I have the memory of. There have been moments greater than the rest. And there they are, within that golden chest. My fortune fades, my dearest things depart. But memory has locked them in my heart.

I have two friends, another one to bless; The other friend I call Forgetfulness. My ills are many and my hurts are great. And, but for him, my heart might learn to hate. But, thanks to him, today's are all I know. And yesterday's are very long ago. Some souls have loved me, some have loved me not; These I remember, those are long forgot.

Two friends I have, and when the day is done I give to Memory the joys I won To keep for me. Forgetfulness, as kind. Leaves all my little sorrows far behind. One keeps my joys forever bright for me. One sinks my troubles in the deep, blue sea. Some things are ended, some will never end. I hardly know which is the better friend.

A Massachusetts congressman told London reporters he had roamed the world in search of happiness and failed to find it. Same old story. Jazz bands everywhere.

A college boy doesn't have to be a football player not to give a touchback to his father. It's strange how many children become deaf when the leaves begin to fall.

PITY THE REFEREE!

AN INQUIRING sports reporter in a Lower Michigan city between halves of a football game asked ten spectators in the box seats to define for him the salient difference between a touchback and a safety. All of them were "old-timers" in tandem. Not one of them was able to answer the question. Seven of them frankly confessed that they had been puzzled for years by this comparatively elementary point in the football rule book.

It would be interesting to carry this investigation several steps further in an effort to learn just how much—or how little—the average fan knows about what is going on in a football game. The findings of the investigators, we opine, would be astonishing.

Football rules are about as complex and confusing as it is possible for them to be. The baseball umpire is called upon to exercise his judgment, guided by his eyes. The football referee, on a virtually every play, must mentally sift a flock of confusing rules before he can hand down a decision. And in many instances, several conflicting decisions could be justified under the rules.

No position in sport is more trying. The referee is a judge, a jury, a prosecutor, a defender and a court of last appeals. He must speak instantly. If he slips, Heaven help him!

He does not slip often. Check him up and you'll find that he's right 99 percent of the time. Certainly he is not, rightly subject to the sideline criticism he is forced to take unless the critics insist that they know more about the game than he.

And if the critics aren't able to differentiate between a touchdown and a safety— Well—pity the referee. That's all.

THE FERRENIAL THAW.

HARRY K. THAW, according to a verdict of a New York jury, must pay a woman $75,000 because he spanked her. Whether the jurors decided that she did not deserve the corporal punishment, or whether they had an idea that Harry was too rough in the administration of it, is not quite clear. At any rate, $75,000—if he pays it—will probably cause Harry to distribute his spankings more sparingly in the future. A fellow can't be too careful who he spanks nowadays.

And while Harry was sitting around, awaiting the spanking verdict, he was sued for $10,000 by a New York physician, who, twenty years ago, testified in court that Harry was insane. Doc says he never has been paid for that testimony. Harry says he figured Doc was merely doing him a little personal favor. He thinks $10,000 is too much, anyway, for a fee of that kind. It would be a good joke on Doc if Harry, when the case comes to trial, put in an insanity defense and used Doc as an expert witness.

The point toward which we have been heading, however, is that almost everybody has sued Harry K. Thaw for something, or plans to sue him. If juries keep taking his money away from him at the rate of $75,000 a take, it will soon be too late for many of us to hope to collect the judgments we hope to get.

PROTECTING WILD FLOWERS.

MICHIGAN has gone a long way in its program of protection of fish and game. The hunters and fishermen have seen to that. The law also shields many varieties of other birds and creatures from their human and their natural enemies by closing seasons and carrying on control of predatory animals.

Nothing, however, ever has been done to stop the indiscriminate destruction of several species of wild flowers which, in a few years, will become extinct if they are not "given a break."

Wisconsin has taken a forward step in this matter. The rarest of Wisconsin's wild flowers—trailing arbutus and several varieties of the orchids—are now protected. Wisconsin found that the automobile brought the most accessible bits of woodlands right to the front door of her residents and the temptation to gather great clusters of rare wild flowers could not be resisted.

FOUR CENTURIES TOO LATE.

THREE ships owned by the Hudson's Bay Company have finally succeeded in forcing the famous northwest passage, and a cargo has gone from Vancouver, B. C., to London around the northern end of the American continent.

The only thing the matter with this bit of news is that it comes some four centuries too late.

Most newspaper readers probably failed to notice it at all. But if it had happened, say, back in the days of Queen Elizabeth, the commander of the squadron would have become the most famous sailor in the world, and all the riches and honors that the British government could bestow would have been his.

The exploit makes interesting reading, at that. It carries one back to the old days. The Hudson's Bay Company itself, as a matter of fact, has a name that seems out of place in the twentieth century—a magic name that speaks of far-off places and legendary heroes.

For centuries it was the goal of daring explorers. Martin Froblisher gave the best years of his life to the search for it. Britain was obsessed with the idea. To gain a route to the orient around the upper edge of the continent seemed one of the most important things on earth. Ship after ship went to the northland, battled stormy seas and unending winter, and finally returned beaten—or, perhaps, did not return at all.

Now the job has been done, and officials of the Hudson's Bay Company are wondering whether the new route will ever prove a commercially practical thing. But nobody is excited about it. The northwest passage is there and it can be navigated, just as the old-time adventurers suspected; but the world has grown beyond the need of it.

Things often happen that way. Human progress seldom goes forward in a straight line. It goes obliquely, and one generation attains the goal of its predecessors only to find that its own goal is something entirely different.

The navigators of Elizabethan England would have been dumbfounded if they had been told that the northwest passage, some day, would seem unimportant; and we today, no doubt, would be equally amazed if we could see the way our grandchildren are going to look at some of our most cherished ambitions.

It is no use trying to predict the future; no use to say, "In 100 years America will be like this, and people will be doing this and this." History has a way of fooling people.

Three men have been charged with strangling murders in Washington. Couldn't some arrangement be made to send them over to the House some night when the members are filibustering?

Most of the members of Congress play golf, a Washington reporter discovers. You can fasten almost any kind of a joke on Congress.

CLUB HEARS ABOUT CUBA

H. L. Holderman Tells Kiwanis About Neighboring Island

American tourists in Cuba who content themselves with an inspection of the city of Havana, miss most of the beauty, the color and the spirit of the island. H. L. Holderman, superintendent of the Chicago & North Western line, told the Kiwanis club yesterday. Mr. Holderman's extended residence in the interior of Cuba provided him with a vast fund of information from which his talk was built and the Kiwanians found it intensely interesting.

Mr. Holderman told the Kiwanians something of the geography; the sugar, tobacco and coffee industries; the physical characteristics of the cities and the countryside; the racial makeup; social customs and the foods of the Cuban people. His description of some of the tropical fruits little known in this country, particularly the many varieties of bananas which take the place of potatoes on the Cuban diet, was especially illuminating to his audience.

"Americans should know Cuba better," he urged. "It is less than 72 hours from Chicago—nearer in many respects than Southern California—and it would be very much to our advantage to maintain a neighborly feeling with these southern neighbors."

Football Report
Torrval E. Strom gave the club a graphic description of many side-lights on the Michigan-Illinois football game at Urbana last Saturday. Bradford Loveland of the high school faculty spoke briefly about the boys' employment situation, in which the club members have shown a lively and helpful interest this year.

HUGE GULL BATTLES MAN

While driving a mail truck near Kirkwall, Scotland, recently, James Greig was attacked by a huge seagull. He disturbed the bird while it was devouring a hare in the road. The gull flew at his shoulder and pecked him in the face, and Greig had difficulty in steering the car and warding off the enraged bird which tried to strike his eyes, as gulls do in killing sheep. After a lengthy struggle Greig knocked the gull to the floor, where he held it until he could stop the truck. He then killed it. It measured five feet four inches from wing to wing.

No "Instruments of the Devil" Now! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

With the introduction of machinery man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

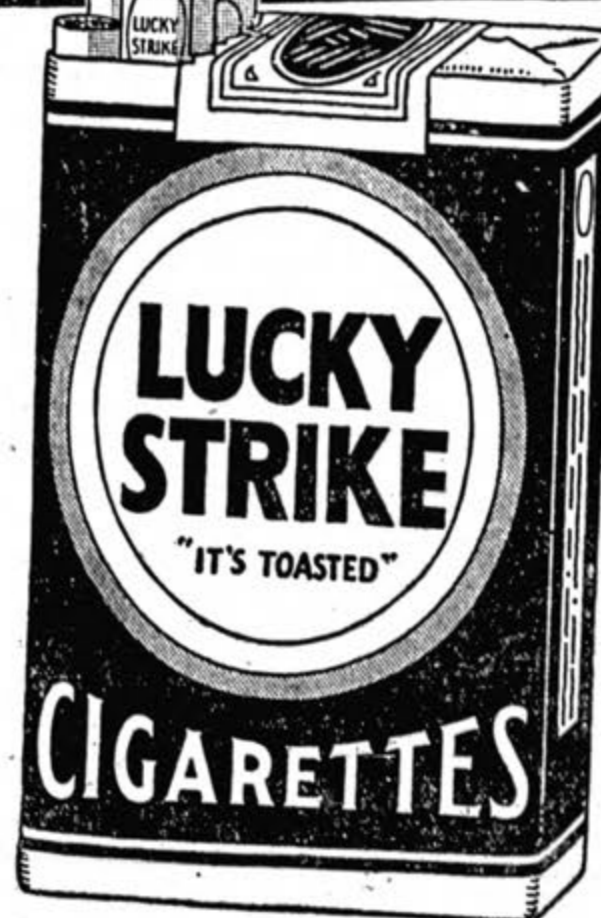

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

OBITUARY

MRS. CYPRIAN LEMAY. Funeral services were held Monday morning at nine o'clock at St. Francis Xavier's church at Spaulding for Mrs. Cyprian Lemay, resident of Powers who died at her home last week after an illness of three weeks due to heart trouble. Rev. Fr. J. Schaul, pastor of the parish, was the celebrant at the requiem high mass and conducted brief services at the grave. Many sorrowing relatives and friends attended the impressive services and the many floral and spiritual offerings received at the family home proved the high esteem in which Mrs. Lemay was held by a host of friends.

About seventy-five members of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters attended the funeral services in a body and went to the home to recite the rosary for the repose of her soul. Mrs. Lemay had held the office of chief ranger for several terms and had always been an active member of the organization. The pallbearers were, Louis LaCount, Xavier Labre, Frank Beatson, Gideon Grondin, John Leigous, and Joseph Tonguay. Burial was in the family lot in Spaulding cemetery.

Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. "Dreco Gave Her New Grip On Life" She Says

"Sour Hot Liquid Came Up Into My Mouth That Made Me Deathly Sick."

"It seemed that I was never free from indigestion," said Mrs. Arthur Buntin, 830 Oregon St., Green Bay, Wis. "I suffered severely with stomach trouble. I was not able to eat any solid foods. If I did, a sour hot acid would come up into my throat that would make me deathly sick. My bowels were not regular and I had splitting headaches most of the time. I read about this new medicine Dreco, and after giving it a two weeks' trial I felt like a different person. My stomach is in great shape now and I can eat anything I like. The Dreco Pink and White Pain Pill Drove all the pain out of my system and I want to tell others about this wonderful root and herb medicine."

It Takes 'Black Magic' In Decorations, Games And Refreshments, To Make Hallowe'en A Success

BY JULIA BLANSHARD, NEA Service Writer

New York, Oct. 26—Black magic fills the air these late October days. Ghosts walk. Witches, pirates, black cats and skulls and crossbones leer at one from dark corners.

It is Hallowe'en time again. Everyone should give a party on Hallowe'en. It is such fun to decorate for it. It is so simple to plan entertainment. For Hallowe'en is the one day in the year when it is perfectly legitimate to turn a false face to the world. Guests covered with sheets and pillow-cases or with elaborate and colorful costumes made for the occasion, can step out of their own characters into those of witches, ogres, Cinderellas or princes and make a particularly hilarious brand of whoopee.

Decorations Are Most Important.

Whether it is a party for the young or for the older young, it is a great mistake not to decorate the house for a Hallowe'en festivity. If there are children in the home, their Hallowe'en fun will be doubled if they can help hide a few apparitions about the house to "scare" an unsuspecting guest, help make favors and decorate place cards.

Make a ghost of the standing lamp, with eyes, nose and mouth shedding yellow gleams. Put nice black skulls over wall lights, or black cats, or witches, with just enough light penetrating to make it spooky. Have sheeted ghosts peering out of corners and black witches outlined against the curtains. Decorative crepe paper makes all of these quickly.

If your friends do not masquerade, have a paper bag mask for each one to don. Mix up cat faces, ghosts, witches with tall hats, pumpkins, goblins, owls, and moon faces. A funny face can go a long ways towards breaking the ice and starting gaiety.

Creating a Festive Atmosphere.

Perhaps your Hallowe'en party is only the bridge club. Make your turn at entertaining be remembered! Let your card tables go spooky, with black covers, witch table markers. Or use a gay yellow cloth, with witches and goblins running riot over it, nice skeletons for markers, black cat score cards, black candles lighting the tables, and all prizes fakes of some kind. Get your guests into festive mood by giving them yellow ruffs to dress them up. Use ingenuity in cutting your sandwiches with cutters the shape of cats or pumpkins, cookies like goblins, and so on.

Hallowe'en parties, however, are usually more joyful if games are played, fortunes told, pranks carried out, and favors and prizes featured that are appropriate to the day. Plan contests as old-fashioned apple bobbing, eating apples off strings, jumping over brooms, riding brooms, and such trick man table number add a Hallowe'en note. (Below, left to right) Ma Cat and six little ones gets a kitten which turns out to be a little package of candy or small cigaret package. Mr. Skull and Crossbones, with a polka dotted tie, adds a humorous note as a favor. Dressing up the prizes might include a whisk-broom made into a witch and two decks of cards in a pumpkin chariot.

the players try to bite the apple rather than the soap. The main thing about a Hallowe'en party is to keep things moving. It should be planned carefully so contests are run off in a hurry, prizes awarded and the next one started. If several rooms are used, have a different amusement in each. And by all means have an old witch telling fortunes, by tea leaves, by cards, by palmistry or any hokum you can think of. A Hallowe'en without fortune-telling is inconceivable.

"Stunt Chases" Are Amusing

Stunt chases are good for young and old if the party is not too large. You can call them "Riding the Broomstick," or "Chasing the Black Cat," or anything else your imagination dictates. Give out little favors of broomsticks, black cats or other design. Each will have a different "stunt" on it. These may include anything from "tying your handkerchief around the lamp" to "open the book on the library table to page 199." The line of march starts and each one must do his stunt as the line goes forward, without getting out of line. The hostess leads the line so all can come near enough their special object of interest to do the stunt. But the line does not stop. Each stunt must be done quickly. If anyone fails, he pays a forfeit, to be redeemed later.

Nut and nut cracker relay races, peanut rolling, potato races, three-legged races, and all the other favorites are still good.

Most important in the evening's entertainment are the refreshments and the table decorations. There are dozens of stunning Hallowe'en crepe paper designs now. Rig up the old table so it does itself proud! A black cat centerpiece, with a whole brood of little black pussies, can be wrecked after the supper to give each person a little candy favor. Owls with oozing eyes through which candle light flickers are spooky. An entire black table, with phosphorescent eyes in the cats or ghosts can be quite scary. Black candles should be used, too.

Modern Hallowe'en Menus

The old days when cider and doughnuts were enough to eat are gone forever. Give your guests some real food. Use your imagination in serving hot creamed chicken; scrambled eggs and bacon, along with a salad of cream cheese, for instance, that takes the form of a funny-faced pumpkin with blanched almond ears and cherry eyes.

The greater variety you can get into the Hallowe'en appearance of your food, the greater the success of your party.

For it is the spirit of the day that makes this occasion so beloved by youngsters. It is worth while to create an atmosphere so gale in its spooky Hallowe'en-ness that no guest can fail to succumb to its stimulating effect.

HEALTH

Many a patient has puzzled inordinately over the prescription handed to him by the physician. Prescriptions were in the past written almost altogether in Latin. The reason was that Latin was a classical language used by all learned men and medicine in the middle ages was studied altogether in Latin. It had the added advantage of the respect and inspiration that comes with secrecy and mystification. Furthermore, it was argued that Latin added to the prescription an unvarying accuracy which was not possible with English.

Today it is realized that mystery and secrecy are not the chief factors of importance in medicine. Instead, the public is being educated in matters medical and the writing of prescriptions in English tends to oppose charlatanism and quackery. Many people wonder as to the meaning of the "R" with a cross that appears on top of the prescription. It has been urged that this sign represents an invocation to Jupiter, chief of the gods; but more recent studies indicate that the cross at the end of the "R" is not a symbol but merely a period to indicate that this is an abbreviation.

The letter "R" is the first letter of the Latin word "recipe" which means "take." It is the instruction to the druggist to take the amount specified of each of the ingredients in the prescription and to mix them according to the directions which are usually given in Latin below. The most common direction is represented by the letter "M" which follows the prescription and which stands for "misce" meaning "mix."

In an earlier day, prescriptions were noted for the large number of ingredients which they contained. Not infrequently the doctor would inquire as to the various symptoms and put something in the prescription to control each of the symptoms.

The modern physician is likely to have only a few ingredients in each prescription, since he is concerned largely with controlling the cause of the disease and with relieving the most serious of the symptoms. He uses potent remedies which have definite effects.

If a child is involved, it becomes stupid, the hair falls out sometimes completely, the teeth decay, and the person becomes generally weak and backward. Because of the deficiency of the secretion, weight is put on, the pulse is slow and all of the reactions of the body delayed. Fortunately, recent investigations in medicine have revealed the cure for deficiency of thyroid action. In such cases, the giving of thyroid by mouth in the form of tablets or in other preparations promptly relieves the symptoms. Almost at once the thickness of the skin and the psychic depression begin to disappear, weight is lost rapidly and the patient soon approaches the normal.

It is a significant fact that many of the patent medicines sold to reduce weight contain thyroid and are therefore extremely dangerous for those who have sufficient thyroid activity in their bodies. In the presence of any of the signs of deficiency of the thyroid in a child not a day should be lost in securing the proper measures. If too much time is wasted, changes may occur in the body which cannot be overcome.

THOMAS OLIVER DIES SUDDENLY

Fall From Ladder Fatal to Green Bay Man, Well Known Here

Thomas C. Oliver, Chicago & North Western railway passenger conductor, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Green Bay from injuries suffered Saturday in a fall from a ladder. News of his death was contained in a message received last night by his nephew, C. B. Oliver, of Escanaba. Mr. Oliver, it is understood, was hanging storm windows on his Green Bay residence Saturday when the ladder upon which he was working slipped, throwing him to the ground. It was believed at first that his injuries were not of a severe nature and the sudden relapse Monday afternoon was entirely without warning. His wife died two years ago when both she and Mr. Oliver fell from a porch and as a result of that accident, Mr. Oliver was a hospital patient for many weeks. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed last night. C. B. Oliver will be among the Escanabans who will attend the service. Other relatives here include: Mrs. L. J. Jacobs, a niece. The late J. F. Oliver and the late W. W. Oliver were brothers of the deceased who was the last surviving member of one of Escanaba's oldest and most highly respected families.

Mr. Oliver's early life was spent in Escanaba and he entered the service of the North Western here more than a half century ago. During later years he moved to Green Bay and as conductor on the Green Bay-Ishpeming passenger run, over a long term of years, he acquired a wide acquaintance among railroad workers and with the traveling public.
