St. Louis Gangster Arrested as Lingle Slayer

LEO BROTHERS IS IDENTIFIED AS MURDERER

SUSPECT HAS BEEN HELD EVER SINCE DECEMBER 21

Chicago, Jan. 7 (AP)—Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney tonight revealed the arrest of Leo Brothers, St. Louis gangster, whom he said had been identified as the slayer of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Tribune crime reporter.

The suspect, Roche said had been identified by a number of witnesses as the gunman who fired a pistol shot into Lingle's head as the victim walked through a subway leading to the Illinois Central station at Randolph street and Michigan avenue June 9 last.

Tough Gangster

Brothers name is a new one in chronicles of Chicago crime but he has a long record in St. Louis as a robber and labor terrorist. He is also wanted here on a murder charge. In Chicago he was known as Louis "Buster" Bader.

Brothers, Roche revealed, was captured Dec. 21, and since has been held incommunicado while officials continued their investigation.

Roche termed Brothers "the hardest man I ever met," and State's Attorney Swanson interrupted to observe that he had "absolutely no emotion."

Asked why he thought Brothers was the slayer, Roche said: "Don't you think you know something about his record by this time?" He then added:

"If this man did not kill Jake Lingle, then Jake Lingle is still alive."

Brothers, Swanson revealed, is not left-handed, a characteristic hitherto attributed to Lingle's slayer. He also said he was not in a position to give his gang connections, because, he stated, "the investigation is not completed."

ARRESTED 60 TIMES

St. Louis, Jan. 7 (AP)—Leo Brothers, alleged slayer of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, has been arrested more than 60 times in St. Louis, but never convicted, police records show. He fled the city in August, 1929, after he had been named by a coroner's jury as the slayer of John De Blasi, 29, a service car driver.

De Blasi was killed Aug. 2, 1929. John Prosperito, service car driver and former school mate of De Blasi, was with De Blasi when he was slain, and told police he recognized Brothers as the slayer.

Prosperito said Brothers had been extorting money from service car drivers and had quarreled with De Blasi. On the night of Aug. 2, Prosperito added, he and De Blasi were driving into an alley from De Blasi's home when Brothers and two friends drove up. Brothers jumped out of the car, Prosperito said, cursed De Blasi and began to shoot. De Blasi was slain by two bullets. The two men Prosperito said who were with Brothers were never identified.

COURT UPHOLDS STATE STATUTE

Anti-Fraternity Act Is Ruled Legal; Justice Potter Opposed

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 7 (AP)—The anti-fraternity law passed by the legislature making membership in fraternities by high school students illegal and authorizing school authorities to withhold their credits if apprehended, was upheld by the state supreme court today.

A test case involving the constitutionality of the act was carried to the high court from the Ingham circuit bench. Verne Steele, Lansing high school youth, admitted membership in a fraternity. The school authorities denied him his credits. He was a senior and was not permitted to graduate. A controlling opinion by the supreme court held the act was good, and that depriving Steele of his credits was not "cruel and unusual punishment," inasmuch as he was not denied the right to return to school the next year and regain his credits by complying with the law.

Three Judges Dissent Justice William W. Potter and two other members of the bench dissented. In a sharp opinion written by Justice Potter the law was declared a menace to the rights of parents and the people.

"Unlimited state control over minors was the dream of Plato's commonwealth and the basis of the Marxian philosophy upon which Russian Sovietism is built. The act goes beyond the legitimate sphere of state regulation. If this legislation is valid then it would be competent for the state to deny education to those who play golf, ball, checkers or cards or attend meetings or circuses. It would privilege the state to forbid college students from belonging to the Knights of Columbus, the Masons or the Elks, or from joining churches or attending Sunday school.

"Boards of education ought not be constituted of social snobs. Parents still have some rights. The law is in conflict with the fourteenth amendment of the United States constitution," Justice Potter wrote.

Those who joined with him were

Newspaperman Hit By Stray Bullet In Panama Passes

Panama City, Jan. 7 (AP)—Hartwell F. Ayers, American newspaper man who was wounded by stray bullets last Friday in the fighting which established a new government in Panama, died today at the Gorgas hospital.

Death came peacefully early in the morning at the end of a long fight in which his vitality surprised the doctors. Late last night Dr. Harrold Arias, the provincial president, came to the hospital to wish his friend well and to apologize for the pressure of affairs of state which had prevented his coming earlier.

Ayers used to work on the Anliston Star, of Anliston, Ala., which is published by his brother, Colonel Harry M. Ayers, then for more than a year he was in the Atlantic bureau of the Associated Press. At the time of his death he was on the staff of the Star-Herald here.

France Honors Joffre in National Funeral Viewed by Thousands

Paris, Jan. 7 (AP)—France, in a final tribute of love and respect to the "Savior" of Paris, gave Marshal Joffre today a national funeral which in its grandeur reminded of that "day of ashes" when the body of Napoleon Bonaparte was brought back from St. Helena.

Tonight the body of the valiant victor of the Marne lay, like that of Napoleon, under the great dome of the Invalides, in a distinguished ceremony of the Chapel of St. Louis, dedicated to the old crusader king. It was placed there so that Madame Joffre might pray beside her soldier husband in silence.

Some months from now the body will be transferred to "Chestnut Grove," the marshal's country home, where it will be entombed as that of Washington at Mt. Vernon.

No Standing Room Church and state united today to make the last rites of France's loved soldier a full expression of the republic's gratitude and respect.

The thousands of French people who filled the gray old cathedral of Notre Dame and the million or more who lined the route of the cortege from the cathedral to the Invalides testified abundantly the love that Paris bore for "Papa" Joffre.

There was not a foot of standing room at Notre Dame when the arrival of President Doumergue signalled the beginning of the requiem mass, shortened at Joffre's own request. The highest officials of the government were there in sombre garb and representatives of many nations, many of them attending as the personal representatives of rulers and sovereigns.

The choir sang the familiar "Libera Me Domine," and then the "Dies Irae," before the organ swung into the impressive notes of the requiem. Monsignor Joseph Marie Tessier, Bishop of Chalons-sur-Marne, read the absolution and gave the final blessing.

America Represented Outside in the square in front of the cathedral the cortege formed, republican guardsmen in the lead. On either side of the coffin marched a company of infantry and behind, after the marshal's immediate family, marched the president, members of the government, and the diplomatic corps, among the latter Walter E. Edge, American ambassador. Then there were military detachments from all the allied and associated powers, including one of twenty-four United States officers, active and reserve, who represented the American army.

An orderly led "Sorciere," the marshal's horse, caparisoned in black. There was intense silence as the cortege moved slowly up the Rue De Rivoli to the place De La Concorde and the Grand Palace, where it turned and crossed the Alexander III bridge to the great square in front of the Invalides. There Louis Barthou, minister of war, paid the government's eulogy.

He hailed Joffre as a "Savior of World Liberty" and said that he was there to "voice the unanimous gratitude of the nation."

The war minister linked the names of Joffre and Washington, who, he said, were alike in that both steadfastly refused to seek public adulation and public honors.

Should such a motion pass the senate, Mr. Hoover will request an opinion from the attorney general and it is confidently expected that the executive branch of the government will take the view more or less outlined in a decision of the supreme court of the United States a few years ago; namely, that the president's power of removal is absolute and that he need not ask the advice of the senate in removing from office.

While the case in question, involving the appointment of a postmaster in Oregon by President Wilson, was not exactly parallel with the present episode, nevertheless Chief Justice Taft, in his opinion, made it clear that over his appointees when once the senate had confirmed the nominations.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Jan. 7 (AP)—The white monoplane Tradewind, washed by rain that was driven before a strong northwest wind, sped down out of gray skies to a safe landing in Hamilton harbor this afternoon. It thus completed the first leg of a pay-load flight from Norfolk, Va., to Paris.

Its motor roared again almost as soon as the pontoons touched the water, and its red-haired woman pilot, Mrs. Beryl Hart, drove the plane upward from the choppy seas and flew to a safer spot in front of the hangar on Hinson's Island.

Mrs. Hart and her navigator, Lieutenant William S. MacLaren, appearing fresh and untired after their long journey, stepped into a waiting motor boat and proceeded to a hotel where they were greeted by a large crowd that had scaped the skies for their arrival.

The landing was made at 1:55 p. m. (12:55 E. S. T.) six hours and fifty-five minutes after the take-off from Hampton Roads.

POWER TAKEN BY PRESIDENT IS QUESTIONED

SOLOIN INSURGENTS WANT VOICE IN REMOVALS

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1931, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, Jan. 7.—Can the senate of the United States remove from office any person who has once been confirmed and taken the oath of office and begun the performance of his duties?

This question has been raised by the action of Senator Walsh of Montana, who, in an endeavor to bring about the reconsideration by the senate of its vote of a fortnight ago, has moved that President Hoover be requested to return to the senate the nominations of the members of the federal power commission for further consideration.

Needs No Advice Should such a motion pass the senate, Mr. Hoover will request an opinion from the attorney general and it is confidently expected that the executive branch of the government will take the view more or less outlined in a decision of the supreme court of the United States a few years ago; namely, that the president's power of removal is absolute and that he need not ask the advice of the senate in removing from office.

Robinson Seeks Relief For Arkansas Farmers; Demands Quick Action

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP)—Disputing the accuracy of President Hoover's information regarding distress in drought areas, Senator Robinson of Arkansas today told the senate today that if Secretary Hyde had made a personal survey of a great area would not now be in conflict over relief legislation.

The Democratic leader described the suffering in his state and placed emphasis on the outbreak at England, Ark., last Saturday.

Meanwhile, the $45,000,000 drought relief appropriation became deadlocked in the controversy over the additional $15,000,000 for food loans which Senators Robinson and Caraway, of Arkansas, are demanding.

Describes Conditions Efforts of Representative Garner, of Texas, the minority leader, to have the senate food loan amendment considered by the house were blocked by Speaker Longworth. Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee, then failed to gain unanimous consent to send the measure to conference to untangle the knot.

In another quarter, Chairman Fish of the house committee investigating Communist activities attributed the England incident to what he described as a Communist organization—the United Farmers League.

Robinson said that the incident at England, was not the first of its kind in the drought area.

"President Hoover does not know the secretary of agriculture doesn't know and the head of the Red Cross doesn't know and probably will not know," Robinson asserted, "the conditions which I am about to disclose."

After reading telegrams from Governor Parnell and descriptive stories, Robinson contended that the emergency fund of $45,000,000 held by the Red Cross for meeting the situation could not be adequate despite the contrary testimony of Chairman Payne. The senator read a letter from Charles E. Southinger, chairman of a local relief committee in Mississippi county, Arkansas, which he described as the "richest cotton producing county in all the southland."

The letter said $2,500 had been received from the Red Cross but that this amount "could be spent in one day judiciously and without haste."

Stamping his feet, Robinson shouted: "If the federal government will loan funds to these honorable men whose credit may be regarded as good in spite of their misfortune, the Red Cross will not have to supply the food."

No Realization "Forty five million dollars for seed and fertilizer and only $4,000,000 for food and clothes for charity," he added.

"I am satisfied that the country has not realized and congress has little knowledge of the true situation in the drought area."

LEGISLATURE WILL RECEIVE TWO REPORTS

IDEAS OF LEADERS MAY CLASH ON AFFAIRS

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 7 (AP)—The views of a governor who is new to the responsibilities of the office and those of an executive who stepped from power only a few days ago will be laid before the legislature Thursday. Differences of opinion relative to state affairs may be revealed.

For the first time in ten years or more exaugural and inaugural messages will be presented on the same legislative program. Former Gov. Fred W. Green plans to come from his home in Ionia to submit his recommendations. Following him Governor Wilbur M. Brucker will read the message he hopes will establish guide posts for administration friends in the legislature to follow.

Few to Follow With the organization of both the senate and the house completed and with the membership duly sworn in, the attention of the legislators was directed exclusively toward the coming executive utterances. The possibility that there may be divergence in the ideas of the old and new executives added spice to their speculations.

Former Governor Green is an avowed advocate of a state income tax to relieve or reduce property taxation. His successor has made no definite pronouncement, and it is believed that in his message he may do little more than skirt the issue. Governor Brucker has repeatedly indicated he believes the state institutional program is progressing too rapidly and at too great a cost to the taxpayers. Former Governor Green is vehemently of the opinion that institutions must be expanded to relieve congestion and to provide accommodations for those who should be state wards but cannot gain admittance to an institution.

On these, and many other issues, the two may go their individual ways. Green said Wednesday night he had not yet completed his farewell message, but would have it finished in time for submission. Governor Brucker has his message prepared. He indicated it will treat a host of subjects. That he will reiterate his demand for economy in appropriations, for reduced payrolls where possible and for avoidance of the creation of new departments to add to state expense there appeared no doubt. Because of his interest in crime legislation and crime prevention he may offer recommendations along these lines.

The governor has often expressed the belief that contract motor vehicles should be made to pay a larger levy to the state. He has advocated placing them on the same basis of taxation as common carrier trucks.

Highway Funds The new governor also has frequently stated his opposition to any violent upheaval in the existing system of highway finance

RUSHTON HEADS SENATE COMISH

Escanaban Named Chairman of Judiciary Committee

Lansing, Jan. 7 (AP)—Twenty years of service in the state senate were rewarded today by appointment to the chairmanship of its most important committee when Lieutenant Governor Luren B. Dickson named Senator Arthur E. Wood of Detroit, head of the finance and appropriations committee.

Herbert J. Rushton, of Escanaba, who headed the finance committee in the 1929 session, was named chairman of the judiciary committee. The group that must settle disposition of capital punishment measures, Norman B. Horton, of Fruit Ridge, was reappointed chairman of the conservation committee; George Leland, of Fennville, to the highway committee; Dr. James T. Upton, of Kalamazoo, to public health; Ari H. Woodruff, of Wyandotte, to state affairs; Chester M. Howell, Chesaning, to fish and game; Albert J. Engel, Lake City, to prohibition; and Peter H. Lennon, of Lennon, to the chairmanship of the taxation committee.

Senator Ernest T. Conlon, of Grand Rapids, was named head of the apportionment committee.

Two committees are incomplete and will be filled later by the lieutenant-governor.

Appointments follow: Agriculture: Smith, chairman, Leland, Davidson, Campbell, Heldkamp.

Apportionment: Conlon, Harding, Roxborough, Dacey, Bonine, Branson, Horton, Orr, Howell, Van Eenensamp, Carpenter, Campbell, Heldkamp.

Banks and Corporations: Turner, Binning, Lawson, Stevens, Carpenter.

Storm Sends Girl Away from Home

Los Angeles, Jan. 7 (AP)—A storm brewing off the Pacific coast sent the endurance plane, Lady Rolph, and its two fliers, Bobbie Trout and Edna May Cooper, in full flight for better weather late today.

With their refueling ship, they beat a hasty retreat southeast to Imperial Valley, planning to spend the night soaring over the desert near El Centro.

When they left Los Angeles at 2:30 p. m. they had passed the 72nd hour of their attempt to break the world endurance refueling record of 645 hours. The young women trusted to luck in their decision to leave the home airport. If they are forced down at any point other than the airport here, their flight will have been for naught and the women's endurance refueling record which they exceeded on the second day will still stand.

PAIR KIDNAPED

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Police detectives said tonight that Lita Grey Chaplin and Georges Carpentier were kidnaped outside a Bronx theatre, driven more than a mile and robbed by four men. The hold-up men escaped in Mrs. Chaplin's automobile. She said jewelry valued at $16,900 had been stolen.

Five Italian Airmen Killed; Three Injured

Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, Africa, Jan. 7 (AP)—Five Italian aviators died and three others were injured at the start of the great aviation venture which carried ten seaplanes safely from this point on the west African coast to Brazil yesterday.

The Stefani News Agency, official Italian press service, said tonight that two planes crashed shortly after the takeoff.

Two others, which were forced to land on the ocean while General Italo Balbo took the ten remaining ships safely into Natal, were taken charge of by Italian naval vessels. The Stefani agency said both were expected to be towed to Fernando Noronha, Brazilian penal island, not far from Natal.

(This official announcement by the Stefani agency clears up the confusion which has existed since General Balbo and his ten ships skinned to rest at Natal after a speedy trip of 17 hours, 15 minutes, yesterday. First reports said that twelve ships left Bolama, with two of them landing at sea enroute, but later dispatches from various sources asserted that two had not been able to take off. The official report shows that fourteen—two of them were repair and replacement units not scheduled to make the trip originally—took off.)

Earth Shocks Are Reported In Canada

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 7 (AP)—A local earthquake believed to have originated in the vicinity of Baie St. Paul district of Quebec province, was recorded shortly after 7 o'clock tonight. It was of moderate intensity.

The first tremors were recorded at 7:14:52 and continued for six minutes. The distance of the epicenter was calculated at 275 miles and the time at the origin at 7:13:49 p. m.

Serious quakes occurred in the Baie St. Paul a few years ago.

Portland Me., Jan. 7 (AP)—Slight earth shocks in and around this city were felt between 7:10 and 7:15 o'clock tonight.

Ohio's New Governor Tells How He Made His "Stake"

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In this exclusive interview, obtained through NEA Service, Governor-elect George White of Ohio tells in his own words of his thrilling adventures and the hardships he encountered when he went to Alaska as a young man during the great gold rush of 1898, and also his experiences as a student under Woodrow Wilson at Princeton. It is exceedingly timely, in view of his inauguration on Monday, Jan. 12.)

BY HAL W. CONEFREY NEA Service Writer (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—It's a long way from fabled Gold Hill, far up in the Klondike country, to the governor's mansion here in Columbus, but on January 12, when George White of Marietta takes office as governor of Ohio, the gap between the two will be spanned.

The new governor's career has been colored with plenty of the thrills of adventure. He hit the trail of '98, along with many others, and if he didn't make his money, at least he came back with a "stake" that enabled him to get a good start in life.

But that is not the only interesting thing in the past of Ohio's incoming governor. A staunch Democrat, he studied at Princeton under Woodrow Wilson, and in 1916 joined with his classmates in voting Wilson the university's most popular professor.

"No; it wasn't Wilson who made a Democrat of me," White says. "I think I turned Democrat in political economy, under Pro-

Corn Takes Lead As Grain Ruler; Wheat Is Deposed

Chicago, Jan. 7 (AP)—The dynasty of wheat is at an end. The board of trade has chosen a native king, wheat, will be deposed next Monday as the trade acknowledges the native maize as market leader.

The formal gesture of a new allegiance will be the transfer of corn trading into the larger pit now occupied by wheat buyers.

Graphic evidence of the trade's desertion from its old monarch was seen in a comparison of futures trading volume yesterday and a year ago. The flying fingers that scolded bids and acceptances across the frenzied pit in dramatic sessions of its more than four score years bought and sold less than one-fourth the volume of wheat yesterday that was traded a year ago; they traded nearly four times the quantity of corn.

America First In Exports to Russia

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Soviet foreign trade turnover during the year ended last September 30 was shown to be larger than in any other post-war year in figures made public today by the Amtorg Trading corporation.

The United States displaced Germany as the principal source of Soviet imports. The value of imports from the United States was set by the Soviet customs statistics at $144,385,000, comprising more than one-quarter of Soviet imports during the year. Imports from Germany during the year totaled $120,710,335. Great Britain occupied third place with Soviet imports of $82,400,000.

Although first in the volume of exports to the Soviet Union, the United States ranked seventh as a market for Soviet products. Total exports from Soviet sources amounted to $22,968,185. Great Britain ranked first with a total value of $122,651,370.

Rail Leader Seeks Regulation Of Bus And Railway Fares

Chicago, Jan. 7 (AP)—Equitable conditions can never be obtained between bus and railway companies until bus fares are regulated on the same basis as that applied to railway fares. L. M. Allen, vice president of the Rock Island Lines, testified today before Examiner Leo J. Flynn of the interstate commerce commission. Allen was one of the officials who furnished data by which the federal group hopes to coordinate the activities of the two industries.

"At present," Allen continued, "there is no law under which the government can control bus activities and fares. They operate as they will, on whatever basis they will. They have cut fares until it is impossible for railroads to compete with them."

am also satisfied that if we would calmly determine the facts there would be little difficulty in agreeing upon proper relief."

On the house side Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority leader, Chairman Snell of the house rules committee and Chairman Wood each charged the Democrats with "playing politics" with the drought relief legislation.

Tilson declared that unless the Democrats were willing to permit the measure to go to conference in regular order no effort would be made by the Republicans to have further consideration.

The administration followers oppose the senate provision on the ground that it constitutes a dole.

Fish said he had no intention of minimizing suffering and needs of farmers in drought areas but declared he was convinced of the Communist influence behind the England incident "after reading copies of the Daily Worker, a New York newspaper."

Fish said as far back as December 6, an article in the Daily Worker called on the farmers at England, to organize by township and county, to fight against taxes, interest on mortgages, foreclosures and for cheaper supplies.

Robinson quoted a field agent of the Red Cross, who had surveyed the situation in Arkansas, as saying the Red Cross is caring for 100,000 people here and soon will be called on to aid 250,000.

"Do I need to argue in the face of these facts," he asked, "that $4,500,000 which is all the Red Cross has available is inadequate?"

Robinson said the telegram from the governor of Arkansas to the Baltimore Sun was "calculated to confuse the mind of the public."

Michigan Needs Additional Health Service—Slemons

Lansing, Jan. 7 (AP)—More than 2,000,000 persons in Michigan do not receive adequate health service, Dr. C. C. Slemons, state health commissioner, said today in opening the tenth annual Michigan public health conference.

The commissioner said the extension of health service to these people and improvement of service in every community were the outstanding objectives of his department.

BUSINESS HAS GOOD OUTLOOK

Industries Beginning to Respond; Many Men Returning to Work

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—The delicate needle on the gauge of national employment shot upward today under the pressure of encouraging news.

The prospect of work for an additional 100,000 men was announced at Washington by Thomas Macdonald, chief of the bureau of public roads. That many men, he said, will cash in on the increased road construction funds voted by congress.

Chairman Woods of the Hoover committee of unemployment told a senate committee he thought there would be no improvement in employment conditions until spring; but even as he spoke, industry in every section of America began answering in brighter tones that it has hummed for many months.

Payroll Increase.

A survey of the Cleveland chambers of commerce showed 49 members planning to increase their payrolls this month. One thousand employees already have been recalled by one clothing company.

The Beech Grove repair shops of the Big Four railroad at Indianapolis reopened today with 1910 men having the encouraging prospect of steady eight-hour a day employment five days a week. Six hundred workmen returned to jobs in the Ford plant in Indianapolis.

The first weekly steel trade figures today noted a sharp business upturn. Iron production, placed at 41 per cent of its rated capacity, was reported by "Iron Age" to have recovered its December losses. Automobile steel, railroad steel, tin plate and structural tonnage are contributing most to current mill activity, the magazine said.

BRANCH HEADS URGE ECONOMY

inson said of apportionment. Swinging to economy, the lieutenant governor urged the legislature "to give the taxpayers a real inning."

"There is no immunity, pension, or disability fund for tiding them over. Its cold simplicity—deliver or migrate. They are hoping pleading to you for relief. But they must not expect relief from you from this locality authorized or encouraged by them."

"That there are regrettable conditions on prohibition lines no one can deny. That the wets use these as propaganda is natural. That the dries cannot hold themselves blameless is true. Resting on their oars, over confident that the 18th amendment and the Volstead act would effect all the cures they had dreamed of, they largely suspended activities in the teaching in the schools of the multiplied effect of alcohol. Nor have they realized the necessity of solidifying dry forces back of law enforcement. As a result we have nearly half of our people that have no knowledge of the corruption and heartaches of the old liquor traffic."

Justice Clark and McDonald. The court overruled a Wayne court decision and ordered the city clerk of Hamtramck to call a special recall election against the city mayor. Sometimes ago petitioners sought a recall. The city clerk refused to accept their petitions or call the election because he claimed signatures were fraudulent. The high court decided the clerk's duties are purely ministerial; that when petitioners bearing a sufficient number of names are presented it is his duty to call the election. A somewhat similar ruling was made when an attempt was made to halt the recall election against former Mayor Charles Bowles, of Detroit.

Wisconsin Banks Are Ordered Closed

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7 (AP)—Two Wisconsin banks, with combined deposits of nearly $1,500,000, were closed today by the state banking department.

The Citizens bank of Monroe, with deposits of $1,363,000, was closed to protect depositors after a heavy withdrawal. The State bank of Roberts was closed because of "froze assets."

KANAR'S HOUSE SEAT OPPOSED

house approved the appointment of the committee. Speaker Ming said he will not name the group until next Tuesday. Belawski's petition asked that he be seated in Rep. Kanar's place.

The petition charged that Kanar was arrested on a robbery armed charge in 1924 and placed on probation last year when a jury returned a verdict of guilty of assault in the same case. He claimed disorderly arrests were made in 1920 and 1922 and that he had been arrested thirteen times since 1919. Accompanying exhibits referred to Kanar as "Alias Jada and cited on arrest as suspicion of larceny."

We'oomes investigation immediately after the petition was read, Rep. Kanar rose to his feet and said: "I welcome an investigation." He later amplified his statement with the claim that he was arrested six years ago on a simple assault charge arising "out of a political scrap." His friends said that Kanar as a youth was "handy with mitts and his political enemies took advantage of it."

Kanar's friends rushed to his aid today. Justices Joseph A. Lewandowski and Arthur J. Rooks, and City Attorney William Cohen, all of Hamtramck, said they had evidence to refute the claims of Belawski. The city council of Hamtramck passed a resolution last night in support of Kanar and retention of his seat.

If Kanar is shown to be an alien, the house has power to automatically declare Belawski the qualified representative, the latter said. If the office be declared vacant for other than citizenship reasons, a special election would be necessary, Belawski said.

Wickersham Group Adjourns Without Completing Report

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP)—Upsetting the forecasts of some of its own members, the Wickersham law enforcement commission recessed for a week today without getting rid of its chief worry—a report on its 19-month-old prohibition investigation.

Authoritative predictions that the dry law report could be submitted to President Hoover today, or at least by Saturday, were revised shortly after the commission adjourned to read: "Next week, possibly by Monday, but probably not until Wednesday or later."

Nevertheless, assurance was given that the much-controverted report—or at least the major part of it—is practically completed and hardly will be subject to further change, since much of it is ready for the printer's ink. Some of the individual opinions to be appended, however, were said to be unfinished. No official reason was given for the recess.

Famous Playwright Will Take A Bride

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Damrosch today announced their daughter, Leopoldine Blaine, will be married to Sidney Howard, author and playwright, Saturday.

The ceremony will be performed at the Damrosch home, in East 80th Street at noon by the Rev. Frank Damrosch, Jr., the bride's cousin. Only the families of the bride and bridegroom and close friends will attend.

Howard was the divorced husband of the late Claire Eames, American actress. He served in the World War as an aviator. For a number of years he was on the editorial staff of "Life." Among his play successes were "They Knew What They Wanted," which won the Pulitzer prize in 1925, "Ned McCobb's Daughter," "The Silver Cord" and "Half Gods."

The bride is the third of four daughters of Walter Damrosch. She is the granddaughter of James G. Blaine, former secretary of state and governor of Maine, and Leopold Damrosch, one of the noted pianists in American music. She was educated at Spence School.

Fund Appropriated To Enforce Dry Law

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP)—A concerted drive by house wets failed today to do more than barely test the fund provided in the first deficiency bill for prohibition enforcement.

The measure carried $33,000,000 to meet emergencies in various departments, including $543,000 for the prohibition bureau, a part of which was to provide 130 additional dry agents.

The wets succeeded in having eliminated a provision to expend $10,000 for prohibition publicity.

Dry forces held their line despite the battering of the wets, led by Representatives Linticum, Democrat, Maryland, chief of the anti-prohibition bloc, and LaGuardia, Republican, New York.

distribution. He contends the state should retain control of a major portion of the huge sum collected annually from automobile owners and has indicated that in the state's distribution to the political sub-divisions the county, rather than the township, village or city, should be the disbursing unit.

Little remains for the newly organized legislature to do save listen to the gubernatorial recommendations and adjourn until next week. House committee appointments will not be made until then. Until Speaker Fred R. Ming announces his committees there can be no serious effort at legislation.

The senate and house decided in their opening session Wednesday that the biennial junket trips to institutions shall be continued. Senator Arthur E. Wood, who probably will serve as floor leader for the administration in the upper branch, offered a resolution providing for the payment of junket expenses. Speaker Ming approved a similar action in the house. In spite of the economy demanded by Governor Brucker the legislature took the view that the institutional trips should not be eliminated. Leaders declared it would be false economy to pass upon large institutional appropriations without sending representatives to determine the need for the funds.

The messages of Green and Governor Brucker will be delivered before a joint convention of the house and senate in the house chambers Thursday afternoon. Justices of the supreme court and state officials will flank the former and present executives in formal march into the hall.

MINSTREL ON FEBRUARY 13

Committee 13 of Escanaba Plans to Show Friday 13 Lucky

The fallacy of all menacing superstitions connected with Friday the 13th will be proved on the first of 1931's three such days, Friday, February 13, in the date of the Lucky 13 Minstrel show at Escanaba high school auditorium.

All high school talent will be used in the show which will be sponsored by Committee 13. A 13-piece orchestra under the direction of R. P. Bowers will play for the evening. Thirteen girls of the Mortarboard society, directed by Miss Roma B. Irons, faculty advisor of the Esky Mortarboard, will be the ushers. E. J. Nicholas is faculty advisor of Committee 13.

Tryouts for positions on the cast of the minstrel show will be held on Friday of this week.

Due to a conflict in dates, the Eskymo-Norway basketball tilt will take place on Thursday, February 12, so that the "Lucky 13th" will be free for the minstrel show.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Gather Trees Today—City crews will make the rounds in Escanaba today to gather up discarded Christmas trees. All trees which have been placed out in the front yard or at the curb line where they can readily be seen will be disposed of by the city employees today.

Will Wed Soon—Howard Viscaw of Escanaba and Amy Johnson of St. Ignace have filed application for marriage licenses at the office of the county clerk in Escanaba.

Order of Runeberg—The Order of Runeberg will hold its regular meeting at the Unity hall at eight o'clock this evening. Installation of officers will be held with a dance following.

Escanaba High to Have Sub-District Speaking Contest

Escanaba High School Oratorical and Declamatory Contest This Year

Escanaba high school will be the host to the sub-district oratorical and declamatory contest this year. The tentative date for the meeting has been set as Friday, March 27. C. C. Strickland, principal of the Gladstone high school, is chairman of this district. This is the first time the contest has been held in Escanaba in six years.

The local high school orator will be coached by Mr. J. H. Shipman and Miss Roma B. Irons will coach the declaimer.

LOUIS LAVALLIE, SCHAFFER, DIES

Was Member of Board of Education for Twenty Years

Louis Lavallie, 80, a resident of Schaffer for the past forty years and prominent in the affairs of the community, died early Wednesday morning at the family home.

He had been in poor health for over a year, suffering from ailments caused by his advanced age.

Mr. Lavallie was born in Ubold, Province of Quebec, March 20, 1850, and came to this country 80 years ago. He resided at Escanaba for ten years, moving 40 years ago to Schaffer where he engaged in farming. He retired from active work a few years ago, because of his age.

He was active in the affairs of the Schaffer community, serving as a member of the Schaffer board of education for 20 years. He also served as a trustee for ten years of the Sacred Heart church of Schaffer of which he was a faithful and a devout member.

He leaves his widow, and one adopted daughter, Bernadette.

The body was taken to the Boyle undertaking parlors at Clark River to be prepared for burial and last night was taken to the family home at Schaffer, where it will remain until the funeral.

Services will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning at Sacred Heart church, Rev. Father Phillip de Neri Juras, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in the Schaffer cemetery.

Harvey Will Talk At Farm Experts Conference Today

George E. Harvey of Escanaba will speak on the subject of "The Upper Peninsula State Fair" at the closing session of the three-day conference of agricultural agents, 4-H club leaders and extension specialists at Marquette this afternoon.

Mrs. Anne Fleming of Nahma, who was judged the outstanding 4-H club leader of Delta county, attended the leadership conference at Marquette yesterday.

Today's program follows:

9:30—"Publicity on Experimental Work at Chatham," by G. W. Putnam, director.

9:30—"Forestry Projects," by R. F. Kroodsmo, of East Lansing, extension forester.

10:15—"Agricultural Engineering," by A. J. Bell, extension agricultural engineer in the upper peninsula, of Marquette; George Amundson, of East Lansing, and N. A. Kessler of the U. S. department of agriculture.

11:15—"Home Economics," by Margaret B. Harris, assistant state leader in home economics.

Thursday Afternoon

1:30—"Make the Farm Grow More of the Family Living," by J. G. Wells, Jr., leader of county agricultural agents in the upper peninsula.

2:30—"U. P. State Fair," by George Harvey, secretary-manager of the fair board.

Mr. Wells' topic will be particularly stressed "because of the low prices of farm produce," he said yesterday. A definite plan by which the farm will pay more and a lower scale of living will be worked out, he stated.

North 20th Street Grade Is Lowered

Continuation of various municipal improvement projects in the city of Escanaba gave work to about 60 men this week.

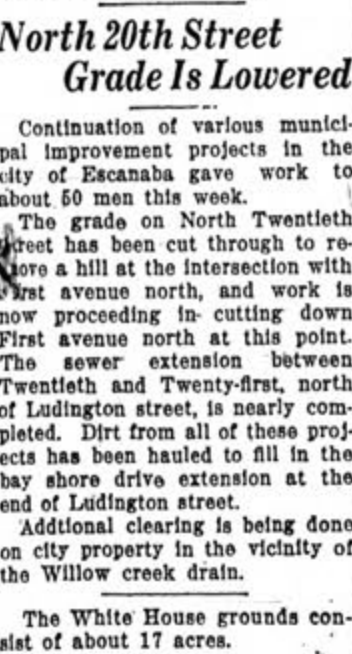

The grade on North Twentieth street has been cut through to remove a hill at the intersection with First avenue north, and work is now proceeding in cutting down First avenue north at this point. The sewer extension between Twentieth and Twenty-first, north of Ludington street, is nearly completed. Dirt from all of these projects has been hauled to fill in the bay shore drive extension at the end of Ludington street.

Additional clearing is being done on city property in the vicinity of the Willow creek drain.

The White House grounds consist of about 17 acres.

OBITUARY

JAMES HICKEY

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at nine o'clock at St. Patrick's church for James Hickey, 1309 North First Avenue. Rev. Fr. Gerald Harrington was the celebrant at the regular high mass.

The pallbearers were four grandsons and two nephews, Lester, Melvin, Arley and David Horwood, Robert and James Pryel.

Out of town relatives were George Hickey of Chicago and Arley Harwood of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Interment was made in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery where Mrs. Hickey was buried two years ago.

MARY JOANNA MEEHAN

Mary Joanna Meehan, two and one half month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Meehan died at the family home 1615 Ludington street, Wednesday morning at four o'clock after a brief illness due to pneumonia.

The little one was the only girl in the family, two older children are boys. The body was prepared for burial at the Allo Funeral Home and was removed to the family home yesterday afternoon.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock at St. Patrick's church with burial in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

CASE ENTERING THE THIRD DAY

Druckenmiller Statement Read Into Records of Murder Trial

Testimony for the prosecution had not been completed Wednesday night when court adjourned in the case of Joel Druckenmiller, 19, who is charged with the murder of A. E. Mertens, 61. Sheriff Elmer Swanson was recalled for questioning and cross-examination at the opening of the second day of the trial. His testimony, together with the reading of statements made by Druckenmiller, took up the greater portion of the time in the case yesterday.

Other prosecution witnesses called were: Arthur Swanson, Gladstone undertaker who took charge of the body of the dead man; C. I. Tordeur, deputy sheriff; Joseph Sturgeon, Gladstone newspaperman; Chief of Police Torval Kellerson of Gladstone; Miss Anna Young, stenographer for the prosecuting attorney; Joseph Carney, undersheriff.

Prosecutor G. W. Jackson read to the jury the complete statement made by Druckenmiller on the day of his arrest, when he was brought to the prosecutor's office. Other details of the story brought out by Druckenmiller, in which he told of planning the robbery of Mertens with Walter Kroil, of making the club, and of buying liquor at the Mertens farm, were covered in the questioning of the officers. A large number of exhibits have been offered as evidence.

The mother of the accused man has been in constant attendance at the trial, sitting near him in the front of the court room. The room was filled to capacity again yesterday. Jurors not serving in the Druckenmiller case were excused until this afternoon, and prospects are that the case will be completed today.

THE DAY OF THE BICYCLE

IT IS a little bit surprising to learn that the Newburgh Wheelmen's Club of Newburgh, N. Y., has finally passed out of existence; surprising, not because the organization has disbanded, but because few of us realized that any of those old associations of cyclists still existed.

This Newburgh group, it develops, had been in existence for 44 years; and while 44 years do not make a very long time, yet the changes that first brought that club into being and then finally left it high and dry on the sand are a measure of the tremendous upsets that modern life has inflicted on its people.

The Wheelmen's Club! What a far-off and forgotten sound that title has, anyway! It carries one back to the early days; days when that strange new invention, the bicycle, was taking the country by storm, when men were exulting in a new and enjoyable method of transportation, wheeling themselves over city streets and country roads, and getting a whale of a good time out of it all.

But it didn't last. A new invention, the automobile, came along; and although it did not directly affect the bicycle, it indirectly killed it by filling the roads with such a turbulent stream of traffic that a man on a bicycle would not be safe for two minutes. We have given up bicycling for pleasure, not because it isn't fun—it is, and very good fun, too—but simply because our automobiles have left no place where a man can ride a bicycle in safety or comfort.

The automobile, of course, has been an inestimable boon; but its loss of order to shed a tear or two for the vanished bicycle, and these "wheelmen's clubs" of the old days? And is it being too old-fashioned to express the pious hope that one of these days there will be a revival of bicycling in this country? It is very fine to get from place to place in the automobile; but for the man who likes to dawdle along the way, and take his pleasure leisurely, the bicycle holds unsuspected possibilities. Can't we, somehow, restore it to something like its old position?

ballot, offering home rule to any county in which a majority of voters shall ask for a council manager form of government. There is a great need in Chippewa county for a sound, efficient system of taxation and government. When one looks at the amounts of money raised in the rural precincts for taxes, and considers the lack of value received for a good share of it, he is bound to arrive at the conclusion that it is the matter for expert advice and a concentration of administration into one highly qualified board of councilmen, with an administrative head who knows county management and how to get the best use of a tax dollar.

THE LURE OF THE SEA A READING of the list of casualties in the recent clash between the U. S. marines in Nicaragua and a band of Sandino's troops reminds one, once more, of the way in which inland parts of the country contribute to our naval forces.

In the old days the navy and the marine corps drew their enlisted men chiefly from the seaports. New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore—these ports were, literally, home ports for most of the sailors and marines with the U. S. fleet. But now the recruits come from the interior—from places where men of war are never seen, and never will be seen.

A TYPICAL BOY THE MOST interesting thing to us in this story of the kidnapping of the Bush grandson in St. Louis was the attitude the boy himself displayed towards his kidnaper. Questioned after he had returned home, the boy revealed that the first thing he said to his kidnaper was—'Where are you going to take me?' or 'What are you going to do with me?' but 'What kind of a gun have you got?' And when the kidnaper told him, the boy's curiosity was appeased.

That is interesting because it is so typically boy-like. Guns and desperadoes have always had a fascination for boys; and this boy, finding himself in the presence of a real desperado, was assailed first of all by a desire to know just what sort of weapon his captor carried. Could anything be more in the tradition of Tom Sawyer?

INSURANCE PAYMENTS AN IDEA of the scope of the insurance business in this country is given in a recent statement by B. D. Flynn, vice president and actuary of the Travelers' Insurance Co., showing that more than $2,800,000,000 was paid out to American policyholders and beneficiaries under all kinds of insurance in this country during the past year. This total exceeds the total for 1929 by nearly $300,000,000.

More than $2,000,000,000 of this was paid out under policies protecting people—such as life insurance, accident insurance, liability insurance and the like. The remainder was paid under policies protecting property. Accidents causing personal injuries were responsible for the payment of $600,000,000.

Few of us, probably, had realized that insurance payments reached any such tremendous totals. Probably Mr. Flynn is entirely correct in remarking that this payment, of $2,800,000,000 has been an important factor in the stabilization of business conditions.

Anniversary

BATTLE OF NEW ORLEANS ON Jan. 8, 1815, the last battle of the War of 1812 between the United States and Great Britain was fought at Chalmette, near New Orleans.

After failing to batter down the American lines by a cannonade, the British, under Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Pakenham, decided to try an assault, which was made the morning of Jan. 8. The British attacked with spirit but were met with such a heavy cannonade and with such a storm of bullets from the rifles of American troops, mainly backwoodsmen from Tennessee and Kentucky that in less than half an hour 2600 men, including Pakenham, were shot down, and the assault failed.

The American loss was but slight—killed and 13 wounded.

MURDER AT BRIDGE

(By NEA Service) By ANNE AUSTIN

CHAPTER XLIII "No, I never met Nita's husband," Serena Hart replied. "As a matter of fact, she told me extraordinarily little about him, and did not discuss her marriage with the other girls of the chorus at all. I got the impression that Mr. Bell—Mat, she called him—wanted it kept secret for a while, but I don't know why. This was early in 1918, as I've told you, though I have no way of fixing even the approximate date, and New York was full of soldiers. I remember I jumped to the conclusion that Nita had succumbed to a war romance, but I don't think she said anything to confirm my suspicion."

"When did she tell you of her marriage—that is, when in relation to the date of the wedding itself?" Dundee asked.

"The very day she was married," Serena Hart answered. "She was late for the matinee. Our dressing tables were side by side, and as she slipped out of her dress—"

"This dress?" Dundee asked, and handed her the photograph of dead Nita in the royal blue velvet dress she had kept for 12 years.

"Yes," and Serena Hart shuddered. "Her hair was dressed like that, too, although she had been wearing it in long curls, and had to take it down before she could go on for the opening number. She whispered to me that she had been married that day, that she was terribly happy, very much in love, and that her husband had asked her to dress her hair in the French roll, a favorite half-dress with him. Between numbers she whispered to me again, telling me that her husband was 'so different,' 'such a lamb' totally unlike any man she had met on Broadway, poor child. . . . For she was a child still—only 20, but she had been in the show business since she was a motherless, fatherless little drifter of 16. . . ."

"No, she did not tell me how old he was, where he came from, his business, or what he looked like, and I did not inquire. As the days passed—weeks, probably—she became more and more silent and reserved, though once or twice she protested she was still chance in a legitimate show on Broadway, and one day I met her on the street. Not having much to talk with her about, I asked her if she and her husband were reconciled. She said no, that she had never seen him again. Then, in a burst of confidence, she told me that she had hired a private detective out of her meager earnings to investigate him in his home town, or rather the city that he had told her he came from. The detective had reported that no such person as Mat or Matthew Selim had ever lived there, so far as he could find out. I asked her if she was going to get a divorce and she said she was not—that being already married was a protection against getting married in haste again. After that, I rather lost sight of Nita, and practically forgot her, our paths being so very divergent.

"And you never saw her again?" Dundee asked, very much disappointed.

"Oh, yes, two or three times—at openings, or on the street, but we never held any significant conversation," Serena Hart answered, reaching for her hat. "Oh, yes! I was about to forget! I had quite a shock in connection with Nita. One afternoon—let's see, that was when I opened in 'Hullabaloo,' in which you know I brought The New York Evening Star, which devoted considerable space to theatrical doings, to see what sort of review the show had got, and on the first page I saw a picture of Nita, beneath a headline which said, 'Famous Model Commits Suicide.'"

"What!" Dundee exclaimed, astounded.

"Oh, it wasn't Nita Leigh," Serena Hart reassured him. "There was a correction the next day. You see, an artist's model named Anita Lee had committed

Health Tips

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Whereas almost everyone is conversant with the symptoms of constipation, whether acute or chronic, few people realize the great seriousness of the condition known as acute intestinal obstruction.

This condition results from some serious interference with the blood supply or the nerve supply to the bowels, causing the stopping of the passage of material from the intestine.

In 56 cases reported by one investigator, there were 24 deaths and in the records of practically all observers the mortality is high in the vast majority of cases.

In many instances the onset of acute intestinal obstruction is like an attack of severe peritonitis. The physician who studies the case can tell from the nature of the onset of the disease, the relationship of the symptoms and the progress of the condition what is going on inside the abdomen. If the patient's condition is not so serious when first seen as to demand immediate operation, it is possible to study the case by the use of the X-ray.

WHAT the average person needs to know in order to prevent much of the serious mortality from this disease is the fact that the occurrence of severe cramps or paroxysms accompanied by prostration, explosive vomiting and general depression, should demand immediate medical attention. Any delay merely increases the likelihood of fatality.

JUST MEAN Hardly rain, and hardly snow. Really what you hardly know. Weather sort of out of joint. Just about the freezing point. Partly snow, and partly slush. Partly rain, but mostly mush. Queerest weather ever seen. Well, you know the kind—just mean.

Humankind, in lots of ways. Also have their hardy days. Hardly come right out and bite. Only act as if they might. Yes, they have a hardy streak. Pass you by and hardly speak. Hardly mad, just half between. Well, you know the way—just mean.

Maybe it's the boss, perhaps. Who keeps starting little scraps. Maybe it's your girl, or man. Nothing pleases, nothing can. But it makes you want to shout. "Well, let's fight, and have it out. Have it over, and come clean. You and I—not act just mean."

BUREAU PLANS ARE OUTLINED

Committees Discuss 1931 Program at Marquette Meeting

Marquette, Mich.—Meeting here Tuesday, the tourist, conservation, advertising and agricultural committees of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau discussed plans for 1931 and prepared recommendations which will be submitted to the officers and directors of the bureau at the organization's annual mid-winter session in Marquette, January 15.

No definite action was taken Tuesday, but as a result of the discussions and consideration of reports of the last year's activities, the committee chairman will be able to draft recommendations for submission at the January 15 session. Chief among the recommendations will be those having to do with the adoption of budgets for 1931 to cover the Development Bureau's program of tourist and resort development, tourist and resort advertising campaign, agricultural extension program and conservation activities.

Await State Action

John P. Norton, of Escanaba, chairman of the advertising committee, explained that his committee would be unable to decide definitely upon a budget for 1931 until the state legislature takes action on the question of appropriating money for state advertising and the distribution of funds among the tourist and resort associations. Last year, under the Rushton-Hartman act, the Development Bureau received one dollar for the state for every dollar expended for tourist and resort advertising. The Rushton-Hartman plan expired with the close of 1930 and it is expected that similar legislation will be enacted by the new legislature. It is known that Governor Brucker favors the plan.

The Development Bureau committees met Tuesday morning in the bureau's offices and the session was concluded at 3 p. m. after a luncheon in the Northland hotel. Among those who attended the meeting were F. R. Tessonman, Norway; John P. Norton, Escanaba; G. Harold Earle, Hermansville, president of the Development Bureau; George N. Harder, Wells; Clarke L. Heckathorne, Munising; J. Paul Chandler, Sault Ste. Marie; William Cummings, Sault Ste. Marie; D. L. McMillan, Sault Ste. Marie; George W. Putnam, Chatham; George E. Bishop, Marquette; Frank H. Vandenberg, Marquette; B. A. Heath, agricultural agent for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, Marquette, and the following upper peninsula agricultural extension specialists from the Michigan State college staff: James G. Wells, Jr., leader of county agricultural agents; Russell E. Horwood, dairy specialist; D. L. Clannahan, Dr. F. K. Hansen, veterinarian; Clare Rood, 4-H club leader, and A. J. Bell, assistant state agricultural engineer.

Brother of Local Man Summoned by Death at Norway

Casper Gustafson, 70, a resident of Norway for nearly fifty years, and a brother of O. W. Gustafson, well known Escanaba business man, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon at his home in Norway.

Mr. Gustafson had apparently been in the best of health up to a short time before his death. During the forenoon, he had been downstairs as usual, conversing with friends. Early in the afternoon he complained of not feeling well and he passed away a short time later. Death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Gustafson had visited in Escanaba on many occasions and he was known to many people here. His last visit was occasioned by a family reunion party held at the Gustafson home on the occasion of O. W. Gustafson's birthday anniversary, just before the holidays.

He was born in Sweden and came to this country when a young man. He had been a resident of Norway for close to fifty years. He was in the service of the Oliver Mining company during the greater part of his residence there and had been retired with a pension.

Surviving him are five sons and three daughters: Benjamin of Mason City, Iowa; Walter and Clarence, of Detroit; Arthur, of Chicago, and Oscar, of Norway; Edna, who is married and who resides in Green Bay; Hazel, a nurse at Pinecrest sanatorium, Powers; and Carrie, who is at home, and who assumed the duties of the household at the death of Mrs. Gustafson about a year ago.

Four brothers also survive: Mr. Gustafson, of this city; Oscar F. Gustafson, of Norway; Gustaf Andrew Gustafson, of Stemetz, Bohus Lan, Sweden; and Richard, of Jonstorp, Sventorp, Sweden.

Mr. Gustafson will go to Norway to attend the funeral services which will be held Friday, with Rev. Carl J. Hanmar, pastor of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church, assisting clergyman.

Tax Penalty Goes On After Saturday

Saturday, January 10, will be the last day for payment of taxes without penalty. After that date an additional charge of four per cent will be added. Collections so far have been coming in steadily at the office of the Escanaba city treasurer, and some busy sessions are expected before the close of business Saturday.

St. Francis Hospital

Mrs. Ralph Anderson, 309 South Eleventh street, submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis and is resting easily. No visitors are allowed for a few days.

John Lentz of Pound, Wis., was admitted yesterday after having been injured while at work in the woods. A tree fell on him and fractured a rib.

Mrs. John Weber of Manistique was admitted yesterday.

Miss Evelyn Collins, South Eighth street, had her tonsils removed and is resting easily.

Mrs. Anna Berdeck of LaBranche was admitted yesterday.

Harvey Saul of McFarland was admitted suffering with injuries to his leg.

Mrs. William Langhorne, 611 South Fifteenth street, was admitted as a medical patient.

Mrs. Peter Belanger of Lathrop submitted to a minor operation and is resting comfortably.

Rasmus Jensen, 624 North Nineteenth street, underwent a minor operation and is resting easily.

Mrs. Einar Christensen, 405 South Eighteenth street, is a surgical patient.

Charles Lange of LaBranche had his tonsils removed yesterday.

Alec Perrin, who is a surgical patient, is doing nicely.

Patients who have been dismissed are Mrs. William Saunders of Manistique; Ole Phinglum of Flat Rock; Robert Hastings, of Manistique; Mrs. Stephen Okarsa, of LaBranche; Mrs. J. A. McGillis, 413 South Twelfth street; Mrs. Ell Sauve and baby, 810 Second avenue south; Miss Evelyn Oslund; Henry Dejarlais, 710 First avenue south; Dudley Neveu, Masonville; Marie Adele O'Connell, 1410 First avenue south.

Miss Irene Roland, South Ninth street, who is a surgical patient, is resting easily.

Staley Claim Refused

Sault Ste. Marie—Acting on the report of City Attorney A. E. Sharpe and City Manager Henry Sherman that the city is not liable for damages resulting from an injury to a pedestrian who falls on icy pavements, the claim of George W. Staley, 1007 Swinton street, for damages resulting from a fall on Easterday avenue, November 26, was refused by the city commission Monday night.

Mr. Staley, in a second letter to the commission, set forth, as he did in the first communication, that he slipped and fell on a broken piece of sidewalk on Easterday avenue between Superior and Johnson streets. He said that the sidewalk was broken and that the breaks filled up with water and froze, causing a dangerous condition.

suicide, and, as the Star explained it the next day, the similarity of both the first name and the last had caused the error in the photograph. There was a picture of Nita Leigh, with Nita's statement that "the report of my death has been exaggerated," and a picture of the real Anita Lee.

"When did the mistake occur?" Dundee asked, in great excitement.

"Let me think," Serena Hart frowned. "Hullabaloo" opened in—yes, about the first of May, 1922. . . . Just a little more than eight years ago."

Dundee reached for his own hat, in a fever to be gone, but to his surprise the actress stopped him, a faint color in her pale cheeks.

"Since you're from Hamilton, and are investigating the murder you have undoubtedly met little Penelope Crain?"

"I know her very well. It happens that she is private secretary to the district attorney, under whom I work. . . . Why?"

"I saw her go lead in the Easter play at Forsyte's four or five years ago," Miss Hart explained, "her face turned to the detective as she dusted it with powder, and I was impressed with her talent. In fact, I advised her father, who had come from Hamilton to witness the performance, as proud parents are likely to do, to let her go on the stage."

"So you met Roger Crain?" Dundee paused to ask.

"Oh, yes. . . . a charming man, with even more personality than his daughter," the actress answered carelessly, so carelessly that Dundee had a sudden hunch.

"Have you seen Mr. Crain recently?" He deserted his family and fled Hamilton, in rather unfavorable circumstances."

"What do you mean?" Miss Hart asked sharply.

"Oh, there was nothing actually criminal, I suppose, but he is believed to have withheld some securities which would have helped satisfy his creditors," Dundee explained. "Have you seen him since then—January, that was, I believe?"

"January?" Miss Hart appeared to need time for reflection. "Oh, yes! He sent in his card on the first night of my show that opened in January. It was a flop—lasted only five weeks. . . . We chatted of the Forsyte girls who are now in Hamilton, most of whom I went to school with or have met at the Easter plays."

"Do you know where Mr. Crain is now?" Dundee asked. "I have a message for him from Penny, which I should like to reach him."

"Why should I see him again?" Miss Hart shrugged. "And I haven't the least idea where he is living or what he is doing now. . . . Of course, if he should come to see me backstage after 'Temptation' opens—What is the message from Penny?"

"That her mother wants him to come home," Dundee answered. "And I am sure Penny wants him back, too. . . . The mother is one of the sweetest, gentlest, most tragic women I have ever met—and you have seen Penny for yourself, and she disgraces her very hair on them. It would be splendid if Roger Crain would come back and redeem himself."

Half an hour later Bonnie Dundee, in the file room of The New York Evening Star, was in possession of the bound volume of the newspaper for the month of May, 1922. Under the caption, on the front page of the issue of May 3, which Serena Hart had quoted so accurately, was a picture of a young, laughing Nita Leigh, her curls bobbed short, a rose between her gleaming teeth. And in the issue of May 4 appeared two pictures side by side—exotic, straight-haired, slant-eyed Anita Lee, who had found life so insupportable that she had ended it, and the same photograph of living, vital Nita Leigh.

When he returned the files he asked the girl in charge a question:

"Does this copyright line beneath this picture"—and he pointed to the photograph of Nita which had appeared erroneously

"mean that the picture was syndicated?" The girl bent her head to see. "Copyright by Metropolitan Picture Service," she read aloud. "Yes, that's what it means. When The Evening Star was owned by Mr. Magnus, he formed a separate company which he called the Metropolitan Picture Service, which supplied papers all over the country with a daily picture service in mat form. But the picture syndicate was discontinued about five years ago when the paper was sold to its present owners."

"Are their files available?" Dundee asked.

"If they are, I don't know anything about it," the girl told him, and turned to another seeker after bound volumes of the paper.

"It doesn't matter," Dundee assured her, and asked for a sheet of blank paper, on which he quickly composed the following telegram, addressed to Penny Crain:

Please search files all three Hamilton papers weeks of May Fourth to Eleventh Nineteen Twenty-two for story and pictures on suicide Anita Lee artists model say nothing to anyone not even Sanderson if he is last stop Wire result—Hotel.

In his hotel, while impatiently awaiting an answer from Penny, he passed the time by scanning all the New York papers of Thursday and Friday, on the chance of meeting with significant revelations concerning the private life of Dexter Sprague or Juanita Leigh Selim, united in death, by the press, at least. There was much space devoted to the theory involving the two New Yorkers with the murder of the racketeer and gambler, "Swallow-tail Sammy Savelli," but only two pieces of information held Dundee's interest.

The first was a reminder to the public that certain theatrical columns of Sunday, Feb. 3, had carried the rumor of Dexter Sprague's engagement to "Dolly Martin, popular 'baby' star of Altamont Pictures, and that the papers of Tuesday, Feb. 11, had carried Sprague's own denial of the engagement.

"So that is why Nita tried to commit suicide on Feb. 2—and her attempted suicide, with its tragic consequences for Lydia Carr, is probably the reason Dexter Sprague gave up his picture star," Dundee mused. "Did Nita let him persuade her to go into the blackmail business, in order to hold his wandering, mercenary affections?"

The second bit of information which the papers supplied him was gleaned by Dundee himself, from a new summary of Nita Leigh's last year of life as chorus girl, specialty dancer, "double" in pictures, and director of the Easter play at Forsyte-on-the-Hudson.

"If Nita got a divorce or even a legal separation from her husband after her talk a year ago with Gladys Earle, she got it in New York and so secretly that no New York paper has been able to dig it up," Dundee concluded. "And yet she had promised to marry Ray Hammond?"

A bellboy with a telegram interrupted the startling new train of thought which that conclusion had started. The wire was from Penny Crain.

BOHN PREDICTS BETTER TIMES

Business Is on Upgrade, Says Congressman at Newberry

Newberry, Jan. 7 (Special)—"Business is going to be better," is the opinion of Congressman F. P. Bohn who leaves tonight for Washington to take up his duties during the winter session of congress. There will be a slow but steady improvement right along until the first of March," he stated, "and with the beginning of the second half of the year it is the general opinion that normal conditions will come rapidly. The high mark and erratic buying of two years ago is not expected, but a healthy and steady condition will come about making for a much better and safer living for all concerned, the doctor believes. His opinion is based upon his experiences as a banker and business man and has been substantiated by reports and conversations with high government officials.

The depression did not strike Luce county until some months after it had been noted in the cities and it is the belief of local business men that the return to normal conditions will somewhat drag behind the larger centers. A report that the night run of the saw mill of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical Co. was about to start could not be verified but a company official is reported as saying that "there would be something doing in about ten days." P. S. Hamilton, in a telephone conversation, said that while the shipments from this year was a little less than half of normal his company was looking for a decided brightening of conditions by April 1. No more cuts in wages are contemplated. The present crew working at the local plants is only about 10 per cent less than usual and the woods work is going full time and with full crews.

At the plant of the Horner Flooring company it is reported that the shipment of hardwood flooring continues slow and rough lumber is hardly moving at all. The saw mill of this company has not closed at all and a full crew is kept at work here. The flooring plant runs only three days per week. This office also reports that plans are being made for a "pick up" in the spring.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

Reports from the high school in Indianapolis where Frances Sanford is attending tells of exceptionally good work which this former Newberry student is doing. She is the grand daughter of Mrs. James Dimling living north of Newberry.

Miss Edith Brown entertains the members of the teacher's bridge club at her home on Wednesday evening.

Andrew Westin had his tonsils removed at the Perry-Spink-Swanson hospital on Tuesday and is remaining there for a day or so.

A daughter was born on Jan. 6 to Mr. and Mrs. Burton Harkness of Newberry.

Russell Martin, motor mechanic at the Grand Marais coast guard station was in Newberry on Tuesday seeking medical examination. He has not been feeling well for some time.

MEDICAL MEET

The Luce county Medical Association held its regular meeting on Tuesday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bohn. A dinner of ham and eggs and all the rest of the good things going with such a meal was served by Mesdames Bohn and Spinks. Following the meal the program was given, the main paper being read by Dr. J. T. Redwine on "Lethargic Encephalitis" followed by an informal discussion.

As this was the last meeting held before Dr. Bohn goes to Washington and Dr. Tom goes to Florida it is part of the nature of the farewell to these two gentlemen. Dr. Bohn leaves Wednesday night for the winter season of congress. Dr. and Mrs. Tom will leave later in the month for a trip through the south and a stay of a few weeks in Florida.

CALLED HELP

Mrs. Hattley of Detroit has called to Newberry by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. H. H. Smith at 111 West Truman avenue. Mrs. Smith, who has been ill for some months, is slowly losing ground. Another sister, Mrs. Bentley, also of Detroit, and her niece, Mrs. Thomas Skare of Montantown, W. V., are also here.

Trees Planted In Michigan's Parks

Lansing—More than 40,000 trees have been planted in Michigan's state parks during the past two years by the Parks Division of the Department of Conservation. These trees included maples, elm, willows, locust, cedars, spruce and pines.

In addition to the trees, park employees planted 1,500 shrubs around park buildings and on steep slopes.

Tobacco pipes manufactured last year in the United States had a value of $5,202,185.

Tuberculin Tests At Rock Schools

Rock, Jan. 7. (Special)—Circulars have been sent out this week, from the office of Superintendent George Weingartner, announcing the fact that tuberculin tests of the children will be made in Maple Ridge township sometime in the very near future.

The examination will be made under the supervision of Dr. John W. Towey of the Pinecrest Sanatorium, Powers, Mich., and will be held at Rock. The test is optional and free, and no test will be made without the written consent of the parents or guardian. Anyone having children in Maple Ridge township and vicinity of school age, wishing to give them the benefit of this examination are asked to call at Supt. Weingartner's office and fill out a blank.

As soon as enough persons have signed their intentions of taking advantage of this, the date of the test will be announced in the columns of the Daily Press.

Today's Bridge

Article No. 90 BY WM. E. MCKENNEY Secretary American Bridge League

The following hand was selected from the national auction championship events. Just a slight difference in play made the actual difference of four tricks between two tables.

WEST NORTH EAST S-K-7-5-3 H-10-4 D-5-3-2 C-A-K-3 S-Q-8-2 H-8 D-K-10-7-4 C-7-5-10-9 SOUTH-DEALER S-10-9-6-4 H-K-Q-9-6-3 D-A-9 C-8-5

The bidding at the two tables we have in mind was exactly the same. The hand was played at auction and South, the dealer, bid one heart, North taking the contract to one no trump.

East opened the seven of diamonds, dummy played the nine and West false-carded and won the trick with the queen. West then shifted to the club suit and returned the queen of clubs, which the declarer won with the ace. The declarer in both cases rather felt that West was out of diamonds and decided to attempt to set the long heart suit before the ace of diamonds was killed, and returned the ten of hearts.

East played the eight, dummy the three and West won the trick with the jack. The eight spot falling from the East hand should immediately warn the declarer that East is out of hearts or else holds only the bare ace. West returned the jack of diamonds which dummy won with the ace. Declarer returned the ten of spades from dummy, and at both tables West jumped up with the ace in order to provide his hand with an exit card should he be later thrown in with a heart. West returned the jack of clubs which the declarer won with the king.

Here is where the play differed at the two tables. Both players decided that their only chance of making their contract was to find the ace of hearts in the West hand. At one table, the declarer's next lead was the four of hearts, which West won with the ace. West cashed his two good club tricks and led the jack of spades. The declarer refused to win, hoping to leave West in the lead so that he would have to lead into the dummy's queen, nine of hearts, but East was on the job and overtook with the queen of spades and cashed his good diamonds. The declarer in this case made only one diamond, one spade and two club tricks, or four tricks in all, going down three tricks.

Smart Sports Costume

For outright classiness, there is an elegant green Norwegian ski costume made of waterproof suede that is cut to enhance your figure. The long trousers button very tight around the hips, with matching bone buttons. The slip-over suede jacket tucks into the waistline of the trousers and has smart revers, notched and clean cut. There is a gay striped scarf in gold, green and beige, with just a touch of black in its line, and a tight beret of the same woven fabric. Mittens are of beige and so are the cuffs of the long trousers. Against a snow scene, nothing could be more attractive than a float figure garbed in this green outfit.

Presented With Pin A Past Noble Grand's pin was presented to the Junior Past Noble Grand, Anna Nelson, Dorah Norman, who is grand outside guardian of the Rebekah Assembly of Michigan, making the presentation. Baskets of flowers were also presented to the Noble Grand, Mrs. Norman making this presentation. A dancing party followed the installation.

Girl Scout Puts Jack Knife to a Number of Uses Equipped only with a jack-knife, ingenuity and a knowledge of nature lore, a pioneer Girl Scout might be cast away on a desert island for a month and be none the worse for lack of the usual food and shelter. The jack-knife is not only easy to transport, but, if understood, it is adaptable to almost any purpose. With it, one is enabled to make shelters, to fashion downy beds from boughs, to manufacture camp gadgets, such as towel and clothes racks, lanterns and caches, and, last but not least, to prepare and cook the variety of foods which a nature student can find in almost any country.

While the possibilities of being marooned on desert islands are remote for most Girl Scouts, they do have opportunities to put their jack-knife skill to use when they go on overnight hikes and pioneer trips. With the jack-knife as her sole implement, the Girl Scout could make whittles, sticks, planks and spears for her food. She can make an ingenious grille of green twigs, stripped of leaves and bark. The twigs are woven in and out of a forked stick and used for broiling steaks and chops. She can fashion long spears of green wood for cooking bacon, "kabobs" and bread twists. On smooth planks balanced at an angle over a fire of hot coals, she can bake fish or meat without losing any of the natural flavor, while her assistant makes two-tined forks from twigs and plates from bark, with which to set a dining table of clean swept grass.

The jack-knife indeed comes in handy for everything connected with a strictly pioneer existence. It is indispensable for first aid, and in starting the fires so necessary to the camper's comfort. "Being Prepared," the motto of the Girl Scouts, means to many of them having a knife that is sharp and shiny. For despite the improbability of desert island disasters, many live in hope that an emergency will arise making it possible for them to demonstrate their pioneer woodsmanship.

AT THE DELFT Buttons anchored to home-ports with anything less than the best grade of brass rivets or steel cable, have a delicate tenure of office this week at the Delft Theatre, where The Four Famous and Furious Fanny Marx Brothers are doing, in "Animal Crackers," something fifty million rickshacked lovers of comedy believed impossible. They've made a talking and musical picture that takes up where "The Coconut" left off, and ends with the last survivor being carried up the aisle by force, three strong ufters, and well—who is your favorite escort to the "booby-hatch?"

The story is something about a stately and socially proper hostess, with a house-party on her hands at a palatial country estate. A big game hunter, just back from an African expedition, his secretary, and two vaudeville musicians engaged to attend to the musical appetite of the guests, is the business assigned Groucho, Zeppo, Harpo and Chico Marx, respectively.

They arrive simultaneously and with their usual hurricane momentum at a time when the festive gathering is being diverted by a butler weighing just a fraction less than a half ton, a feud between the hostess and a rival matron over the authenticity of a fine painting, and more pretty-girls-in-lingerie and bathing suits than most revues boast. You understand what we mean by pretty, when we say Lillian Roth heads the feminine talent.

AT THE MICHIGAN "The Office Wife," which opened at the Michigan Theatre Tuesday night, held the audience interested to the last fade-out. It is a romance in which the office and the home are conflicting forces. The center of the drama is the secretary to a busy executive. There has never been enough said about the place this girl takes in the life of her employer—how she advises him and helps him—how she is often the executive in many matters that call for real ability—how she takes care of her employer's needs. In short, she is the Office Wife—and it is mainly about her that this picture revolves.

A splendid cast has been assembled for this picture—headed by Dorothy Mackall as the charming and competent secretary, and Lewis Stone as the handsome executive. Natalie Moorhead plays the part of the flirtatious wife with her usual charm. Hobart Bosworth, who has been famous on the screen for years, plays Mr. McGowan. Dale Fuller, in particular, should be mentioned. Her part is a small one, but she has shown herself a superb artist. You will remember her characterization of Miss Andrews as long as you remember the picture.

Lloyd Bacon must be credited with the excellent direction.

Peanut Butter and Potato Croquettes One-half cup peanut butter, 2 cups mashed potatoes, few drops onion juice, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, milk.

Use white of egg for crumbing. Mix ingredients in order given, using just enough milk to make moist. Shape into balls and roll in fine dry bread crumbs. Dip in white of egg slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons water. Roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 40 seconds. Drain on crumpled brown paper and serve with tomato sauce or creamed peas.

INK SPOTS. Milk often takes ink spots out of colored clothes when used immediately. There is little use worrying with anything but a regulation ink remover later on.

CRASH DETAILS RECEIVED HERE

Ferdinand Gorsche Tells of Mishap Which Cost Teacher's Life

A more detailed account of the automobile tragedy which cost the life of Evelyn Tuxbury, former teacher in the Cooks Consolidated school, was received here the other evening by Lawrence Gorsche in a long distance telephone conversation with his brother Ferdinand, the driver of the death car.

The accident occurred just outside the city limits of Alpena when the car skidded on the slippery road, crashed through a bridge railing and hurtled 30 feet onto the ice. Mr. Gorsche remained in the car, but Miss Tuxbury either leaped or was thrown out as the door on her side was open. The crash occurred about 11 o'clock Sunday evening.

Miss Tuxbury was still conscious and able to talk as she lay in bed in an Alpena hospital Tuesday morning, however, she lapsed into unconsciousness and passed away. No autopsy was performed and it is thought that an inquest will not be held.

An uncle of Miss Tuxbury is bringing back the body to Cumberland, Wis., where funeral services will be held from the family residence.

Miss Tuxbury was returning to Oscoda to resume her teaching duties after spending the holidays with her folks. She arrived here early Sunday morning by rail and had planned to take the remainder of the trip by automobile accompanied by Mr. Gorsche who is also teaching at Oscoda. They were within 40 miles of their destination when the mishap occurred.

THEATRES

When the rhythm of the dance weaves its spell over two beautiful women and embroils a sentimental sweetheart and a ne'er do well son of wealth, dramatic intensity is sure to follow.

This situation in the Fox Movietone version of the famous stage play, "The Dancers," featuring Lois Moran, which is showing at the Gero theatre today comes at the climax of the picture when Phillips Holmes engages Walter Byron, the ne'er do well, in a battle over Lois' affections.

Their struggle over this girl, temporarily blinded by the pleasures of gay night life and dancing, is brought to vivid contrast by the pathetic plight of Mac Clarke who, as a professional dancer, is forced to look on while the boy she loves is made a fool of by Lois' selfish behavior.

Paul Baldwin left yesterday afternoon for Detroit to attend a meeting of the executive council of Michigan Bankers of which he is a member.

WILL VOTE ON HORSE RACING

Question To Be Decided By County Electorate In April

To have or not to have horse racing at this year's Schoolcraft County Fair was the most momentous question to come before the board of supervisors in their one-day session at the court house here Tuesday. Disposition of the problem was made when it was decided to allow the electors of the county to vote on it in the spring election on the first Monday in April, April 6.

Other business accomplished by the board was the acceptance of bonds for all county officials, passage of a resolution to employ more of the county indigent on the roads, and a decision to share part of the expense in snow removal on the Hiawatha road.

In commenting upon the horse racing proposition, Homer LaFolite told the board that he believed that horse racing at a fair was just as essential to its success as a parade and fireworks at a Fourth of July celebration. He advocated an appropriation of $12000 to carry on a horse racing program using only horses from the upper peninsula.

Supervisor James Arrowood of Manistique township compared the horse racing program to a department in a store which did not pay for itself and declared that the practice of having horse races was banned by the board because it was a losing proposition. The ruling is to the effect that horse racing is only permissible for horses owned in Schoolcraft county. Mr. Arrowood declared, however, that in as much as public opinion had not been sounded on the subject, he believed that it was a matter for the constituency of the various townships to decide and declared that if the majority of the electorate in his township voted for horse racing, he would also be in favor of it.

"In as much as the costs of the fair are being borne by the taxpayers it is no more than right that to obtain their sentiments on the matter," Mr. Arrowood declared. This was the stand eventually taken by the entire board and it was decided to place the question before the electorate at the spring election.

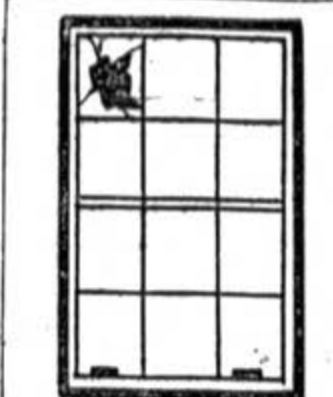

Directors of the Schoolcraft County Fair association and those representing the chamber of commerce who addressed the supervisors were Homer LaFolite, Frank Lied, Claude Smith and Charles Isackson.

Presbyterians to Hold Third Prayer Meeting Tonight

The third of the series of meetings sponsored by the Manistique Ministerial Association will be held in the Presbyterian church this evening at 7:30. These meetings are being held in keeping with the Universal Week of Prayer.

People all over the world are uniting in prayer this week on behalf of Christian unity. The topic assigned for this meeting is "Missions" and the Rev. P. L. Lomas, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church will bring the address of the evening on the above subject. These meetings are being well attended and it is hoped that the interest of the people of the community will be maintained all through the week.

Director of Music Revue Arrives Here

William Dorman of Ashland, Wis., arrived in the city yesterday to direct the play, "Apple Blossom Time," which will be given here on Friday, Jan. 23, under the auspices of the First Methodist church.

Rehearsals began last night for this stupendous musical revue which scored tremendous successes recently in Gladstone and Escanaba. A cast of approximately 75 home talent players, excluding the orchestra, will take part in the production.

Carlson Residence Has Chimney Blaze

A chimney fire which broke out in the Carlson residence on North Cedar street was promptly extinguished yesterday morning at 10:15 o'clock by the fire department.

The flames entered the Harold McNamara apartment through a stove pipe hole, burning a rug and slightly damaging the walls.

No Fireworks

Menominee—More than 200 men crowded into the council chambers Monday night while half as many more and a number of women were unable to gain entrance, attracted by promise of "fireworks" which failed to materialize. It was expected that there would be heated discussion participated in by A. G. Cherner, deposed band leader, who held public meetings in protesting the action of the council in temporarily suspending him from duty. A petition signed by Cyrus Widger and 944 others, "resenting" the action of the council was immediately referred to committee without discussion the council proceeding with its other business.

ESKY NEXT FOR LOCAL DEBATERS

Gladstone Trio Will At- tempt to Sweep First Series

Gladstone high school's undefeated debate team will travel to Escanaba Friday evening where they will face Escanaba high in the final argument of the preliminary series, and make an attempt to stretch their record to four victories and close the season without defeat. Victory against the Delta County seat trio will assure the local squad's qualification in the elimination series which will follow.

Gladstone's victories have been scored at the expense of St. Joseph (Escanaba), Negaunee and Munising.

The local trio, in the order in which they will speak will be Virginia Goodman, Marie Bredahl and Margaret LaFaver. They are coached by W. H. Bainter.

The personnel of the Escanaba team will be Edward Fuqua, Ish Shackelford and Robert Oshins. Debate coach Joseph Shipman has announced.

Gunther C. Meyland, member of the faculty of Northern State Teachers' college, Marquette, will be solo critic and judge.

The question will be the same as has been used by all schools throughout the state, Resolved: That national chain grocery stores operated in the state of Michigan are detrimental to the people of the state.

Elimination Series
The elimination series will begin February 20 and while it is in progress the schools will debate among themselves with the defeated schools dropping out after each debate until only two undefeated schools remain. These two schools will be taken to Ann Arbor at the expense of the university for the state championship debate on May 1. Each of the six debaters participating in this final debate will be presented with a gold watch by the Detroit Free Press and both schools will receive a large bronze trophy cup, one engraved first honors, the other engraved second honors, presented by the University of Michigan extension division.

In the final state championship debate of last year held in Hill auditorium in Ann Arbor on April 26, Lawson high school won first honors and Detroit Northwestern high school won second honors. The audience assembled for this final debate numbered 4500 people which is the largest audience that has ever attended a debate in this state.

THEATRES

RIALTO

One dark-eyed senorita should be enough to keep two men busy fighting over her, but in "A Devil with Women," Victor McLaglen's latest Fox Movietone offering, now playing at the Rialto Theatre, the noted actor and his rival buddy successfully come to blows over three chapters.

Mona Maris, Luana Purnell and Mona Reed have the roles of the trio of heartbreakers in this exciting story of the tropics. McLaglen inaugurates a new type of role, that of a captain in the army of a little Central American republic who is assigned to capture a notorious bandit leader. His encounters with the outlaw, and his serio-comic rivalry with Humphrey Bogart over the fabled damels, together with a fast moving and thrilling story, make this picture a unique one in the long list of McLaglen successes.

Feature No. 2
It has always been a question whether Charlotte Greenwood, who plays the title role in "So Long Letty," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production which is coming to the Rialto Theatre tonight is a better singer than she is a clown.

The long Miss Greenwood has become world-famous for her clowning, her agility and strength, and her ability to step over chairs and sofas without difficulty.

A. GLENFIELD IS PENSIONED

Local Resident Spent 42 Years in Service of Soo Line

Forty-two years of faithful service in the employ of the Soo Line railroad have brought their reward to August Glenfield of the city, January 1, when he was retired from active service. Glenfield entered the employ of the local carrier in 1889 as a member of a carpenter crew. Three years later he was appointed foreman of a bridge crew, the position which he held at the time of his retirement.

Mr. Glenfield was born in Sweden, May 10, 1864. When a young man of 25 years, he came to the United States and to Minneapolis. This was in 1889 and soon after arriving started working for the Soo Line as a carpenter. Upon transfer of the crew headquarters to Gladstone, Glenfield came here and has been a resident of the city since.

Asked what he intended to do he replied, "Take it easy." He is an expert gardener and will spend his time cultivating the garden and tending his apple trees. He resides with his wife and two daughters, Klison and Violet at 1302 Michigan avenue. A third daughter, Mrs. Olaf Widar, resides in Chicago.

CITY BRIEFS

Hector McCarty left Monday for Chicago to visit with his sister, Mrs. Sadie Schroer, who yesterday submitted to a major operation at the Masonic hospital in this city being a member of Minnawaca Chapter No. 96, Order of Eastern Star.

Ed G. Johnson is confined to the United States Veterans' hospital at Minneapolis with a severe attack of arthritis.

Thomas Lavendus has returned to Waukesha where he is a student at Carroll College after spending the holidays here at the home of his sister, Mrs. Arthur Bracke.

Miss Edith Hood returned Sunday to Minneapolis after a holiday visit here with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Tordure and Mrs. Clara Whitchurch.

Richard Schawin returned Sunday evening to his home in Stevens Point, Wis., after visiting here for several days as the guest of Roland Murray.

Kenneth Cannon, who submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis last Friday, is getting along nicely and will probably return to his home here this Saturday.

Donald Montgomery has returned to his home in Chicago after a holiday visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery.

Mrs. William Birmingham has returned from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where she spent the past few days visiting with Mrs. Elizabeth Shandouay and Mrs. Richard Birmingham.

Dwyer Mackin, who has been ill for the past few weeks, is improving steadily.

Helen Birmingham returned Sunday to Milwaukee after visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Birmingham.

Mrs. Wm. Duchency and daughter Dorothy returned Tuesday to their home in Manistique after visiting here for a week at the H. P. Ralche and C. A. LaFave homes.

RADIATOR

REPAIR

THERE are few things more annoying about your car than a leaking radiator. You might be able to "get by" on trips about town, but you're never certain of returning, if you travel the highways. Perhaps a simple job of a few minutes will correct the fault. We're experts in finding the trouble.

SOCIAL

11:30 Club
Miss Dorothy Stude entertained the 11:30 Club at her home on Dakota avenue, Tuesday evening. Cards and dancing furnished the main social diversions. In the card contests high honors were won by Olive Heald and consolation by Winifred Gogara. A dainty lunch was served at the close.

Johnson-Van Drees
Miss Agnes Johnson, daughter of Erick Johnson, city, and Herman Van Drees, Cornell were united in marriage at a quiet ceremony Monday morning at 11 o'clock at Flatrock, Rev. Fr. LaForest presiding at the ceremony. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner and supper were served at the Van Drees home at Cornell.

The bride attended the Gladstone public schools. The couple will make their home at the home of the bride's father, Erick Johnson, 521 Wisconsin avenue.

EXCESS ACID SICKENS—GET RID OF IT!

Sour stomach, indigestion, gas. These are signs which usually mean just one thing; excess acid. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. Too much acid is making food sour in the stomach and intestines.

The way to correct excess acid is with an alkali. The best form of alkali for this purpose is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Just take a spoonful of this harmless, almost tasteless preparation in a glass of water. It works instantly. The stomach becomes sweet. You are happy again in five minutes! Your heartburn, gas, headache, biliousness or indigestion has vanished!

Know Phillips Milk of Magnesia and you're through with crude methods forever. It is the pleasant way—the efficient way—to relieve the effects of over-acidity.

Phillips Milk of Magnesia has been standard with doctors for over 50 years. 25c and 50c bottles at all drug stores. Be sure you get the genuine.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Cheered by welcome news from the steel and automobile industries, as well as by the impressive strength of bonds and the firmness of commodities, the stock market touched new highs for the recovery today, before losing most of its gains in late profit-taking and bear selling.

Rails, which led the rally, closed strong, but leaders in the other group, with few exceptions, were mostly lower. However, few declines exceeded a point and the average loss for 90 issues was less than half a point. Activity improved over yesterday, sales totaling 2,140,190 shares.

From the steel trade came word that operations during the past week had eliminated the December shrinkage and put activity back to the late November level. The improvement, however, was regarded as only seasonal and those who look through conservatively tinted spectacles did not read too much into this news. Nevertheless, the turn was encouraging and the steel shares, particularly independents, were considerably higher most of the day.

An official report placed December automobile production not only above the November aggregate but over that of December, 1929, as well, an excellent showing. Inventories at the close of the year were down 25 per cent.

Extreme gains in the pivotal industrial utility stocks ran to a point or so, which was considered satisfactory in view of the market's performance since the holidays.

Buoyancy of the rails was sufficient to prevent them from losing much more than a point of their maximum gains. There were advances of 2 to 3, net, in New York Central, New Haven, Atchafalaya and Southern Railway, while Erie was up 4 and Atlantic Coast Line 9. Rock Island 7 per cent preferred closed at par, where it was 6 higher.

Railroad equipments strengthened and the oils found the weekly production figures encouraging. Coppers were steady.

The Canadian dollar's discount was reduced to 7-16 of a cent, leaving it still under the gold shipping point. A rise in silver metal strengthened the far eastern exchanges. Continental Europeans were steady.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Stocks irregular, rails in demand. Bonds firm; small gains general.

Foreign exchanges irregular; Canadian improves. Cotton higher; trade buying.

Sugar easy; increased spot offerings. Coffee lower; easier Brazilian cables.

Chicago: Wheat firm; light receipts and bullish government weather report. Corn firm; better consuming demand.

Cattle steady to strong. Hogs steady to higher.

Campbell Plans Attempt to Break Speed Record

PRESENT MARK SET IN 1929

British Captain to Try to Break Seagrave's 231 M. P. H. Record

BY DILLON GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 7 (AP)—Captain Malcolm Campbell, last of the four daredevil racers officially credited with driving an automobile faster than 200 miles an hour, will risk his life on the beach here early next month in challenging for the "speed king" crown.

The British captain, in his Blue Bird II, will try to break the 231 miles an hour record set in 1929 by the Golden Arrow with the late Sir H. O. D. Segrave at the wheel. Campbell will be the second Britisher to attempt to pass Segrave's mark. Jay Don made an unsuccessful attempt last March in the Silver Bullet.

Speedsters Killed
Campbell, who thrice has held the highest crown in the racing firmament since his mile straightaway mark of 150.76 in 1925 on Pendine Sands, Wales, plans to leave England January 14 for America. For the 14-mile narrow sand strip, called by many the finest straightaway course in the world, Segrave first flashed across the stretch at more than 200 miles an hour. The Britisher took the title for the "flying mile" at 203. The same sands saw Campbell make a new mark of 205 miles an hour but Ray Keach pushed it to 207 and then Segrave came back to establish the present record of 231.

Keach was killed at the Altonna track while several others, including Leo Bible and Frank Lockhart, hurtled to their death on the Daytona Beach sands in trying to win the speed honors. Segrave lost his life several months ago in England in a speed boat accident.

Captain Campbell will come to the famous battlegrounds of speed with a goal of 250 miles an hour. He says he has gone 225 in Africa, where he sought a new mark last year, and he believes his car is capable of going faster than the record mark.

FIGHT TERMS STILL IN AIR

Max Schmeling May Box Someone Somewhere But None Knows Where

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Worn out vocabularies rested today and the question of where and when Max Schmeling would fight someone for the heavyweight title was answered only by silence.

Nate Lewis, matchmaker at the Chicago Stadium Corporation, and Sidney Strotz, president of the corporation, discussed with Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, their $500,000 bid for a championship match with Young Stribling until daylight came this morning and then all went home to bed without anything to announce for the papers. For the purposes of hallyhoo it seems likely that nothing of moment will be announced until the clamor raised by the New York state athletic commission's withdrawal of championship recognition from Schmeling had died.

Bill Carey, president of Madison Square Garden and the owner of a contract on Der Mastie's services for a match here in June, still ponders his next move in the mud-died situation.

Carey still would like to pit Jack Sharkey, now recognized as the "outstanding heavyweight" by the local commission, against Stribling with the winner fighting Schmeling for the title in June, despite the commission's refusal to permit such a program.

Carey and Jacobs discussed prospects of the Schmeling-Stribling match with George F. Getz, wealthy sportsman, by telephone to Chicago. Getz sponsored the late Tex Rickard's invasion of the mid-West metropolis with the second Tunney-Dempsey match in 1927 and there seemed a likelihood today the Garden considered a similar move with Stribling and Schmeling to the exclusion of Lewis, Strotz and the stadium corporation.

ROCK WILL PLAY AT STEPHENSON

Menominee County Cagers Are Rated As Powerful Outfit

Rock, Mich., Jan. 7 (Special)—Rock high school cagers will again go out of their class for opposition this week, when they meet Stephenson, a class C school, at the local gymnasium on Friday evening. Local fans are assured that the aggregation from Menominee county will be a very worthy opponent for the Little Giant basket tossers.

The large crowd that packed the gym here last Friday to see the Little Giants trim a classy outfit from Gwinna were given a big surprise. The brand of basketball displayed by the locals that evening surprised, not only the fans, but Coach Weingartner and the players themselves. The game was, without a doubt, the fastest seen here in the past few years and Rock had complete control of it at all times. If the team can flash that kind of basketball consistently through the rest of the season, it will again go a long way in the district and regional tournaments.

However, from all reports, the team will have to play their best kind of a game this Friday evening also, as word from Menominee county has it that Stephenson has a classy outfit this year. It suffered a few reverses at the beginning of the year, but is developing rapidly into a team that is to be feared by all opponents. With this thought in mind, Coach Weingartner has been driving his charges hard in practice sessions this week, in an effort to have them at top form when they come out on the floor for the fracas. Rock is going into this game with a determination to avenge the 23-9 defeat handed them by the Stephenson outfit about five years ago in the second round of the Class D tournament at Kingsford. That game, however, is the only one in which the two teams have ever before met.

No doubt, the starting lineup for the Little Giants will be the same one which worked so well last Friday against Gwinna. That combination was: Johnson and Sayon, forwards; Capt. Kaukola, center; Rableaud and Self, guards. It is very likely that several others will have seen action before the game is over, because Coach Weingartner has several promising substitutes, who are capable of taking care of any regular positions on the team.

A preliminary game is also on the program for the evening. Although it has not been definitely decided as to who will be the contestants of this game, it is likely that they will be two class teams. The preliminary will begin at 7:15 and the main fray is slated for 8:15. Gordon Gleich, of Escanaba, will referee the feature contest.

College Football Has Proven Very Popular in Far Western Region

(NOTE: This is another of a series of stories based on an Associated Press survey of college athletic conditions.)

BY ALAN GOULD,
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—The undeveloped football machines of Alabama and Notre Dame, rather than any effects of business depression, handed far western football its biggest job of the sensational gridiron season just closed.

The East and South may make the most of this competitive deflation, after many a lean year. Otherwise, so far as the Associated Press survey of college athletic conditions is concerned, the colleges and universities of the Far West have enjoyed a prosperous year on the whole.

Expanded Program
"The tendency at Washington, and I believe at all other schools in the Pacific northwest, is to expand rather than curtail," Earl Campbell, graduate manager at the University of Washington, told the Associated Press.

"We all see a great future in this region. Interest in football seems to hit different sections of the country at different times. First it took hold in the East and Middle West and then it surged out to California. It now has jumped to the Pacific northwest and we expect to see several years of capacity crowds."

Significant of this exceptional growth is the fact that plans are under way to enlarge the stadiums in Seattle and Portland, where record crowds of 42,000 and 35,000, respectively, saw featured college games last season.

There will be no curtailment of 1931 athletic programs at the California "Big Three"—California, Stanford and Southern California—despite some examples of decreased gate receipts.

California's football "gate" dropped from $665,000 in 1929 to $615,000 for 1930 but the Golden Bears will continue to enjoy competition in 17 sports—6 major and 11 minor—involving one of the biggest of all college athletic programs.

STIQUE MEETS MUNISING FIVE

Hard Battle Is Expected for Coach Wassberg's Crew

Manistique, Jan. 7 (Special)—With the holiday season a thing of the past, Coach Oscar Wassberg's basketball team are earnestly preparing for the clash with Coach Jackson's Munising five here Friday evening. Daily practices are being held and efforts are being made to mould a combination with plenty of offensive power.

Comparative scores of the season's play thus far are fickle as usual and form no basis for comparison. Munising broke even in the two games played, Newberry sking out a close win over the Jackson crew while Baraga High was subjected to a neat trimming.

The locals took Newberry into camp 26-24, but an overtime period was necessary to turn the trick. Baraga, a team which was swamped almost two to one by Munising, lost to the green and white fire by only three points. The only blot on the Wassberg crew's record is the Escanaba game when the Pucklewartz men upset the dops hard and won 11-9 in a hard fought defensive battle. Indications point to a great contest Friday evening, the outcome of which will greatly clarify the basketball situation and establish one of the teams as strong contenders in the upper peninsula basketball race.

Munising Strong.
Munising comes here with an imposing personnel of court stars. Both Larson and Vertinen, forwards, are good floormen and possess an uncanny knack of hooking the ball through the hoop. Carmody at center, has played stellar ball thus far, while Billzell of football fame is taking care of the rear court duties.

The green and white cagers are working on a strong defense for the Munising crew and believe that they have the key to the Munising offense in the box. The regular lineup will be used with Jones playing in either a forward or guard position. Hudson will be at one forward, Graphos and Ekdhali at the guard positions; Marsh Bergman at his old post at center; and Wes Orr and Berger will be held in reserve.

Some Night Games
Stanford is slowly working toward a two-year school, with only junior and senior enrollment, a plan sponsored by President Ray Lyman Wilbur, but this is considered to be a long way from fulfillment. It is opposed by a large section of the alumni.

Across the big divide, in the Rocky Mountain conference, the boom in football and other sports has continued. Very little if any retrenchment is planned, although the schedule-makers have decided night football is a good thing and listed many games for Friday night this year.

Conspicuous in this section is the attempt of larger colleges, in the better-drawing areas of Colorado and Utah, to effect closer relations. In this group are Colorado university, Utah, Denver, Colorado college, Colorado Aggie and Utah Aggie. They have a half dozen other associates in the conference but their plan is to branch out in inter-sectional competition. Toward this end, Colorado university and the Oregon Aggie already have fixed home-and-home engagements for 1931-32. Colorado college goes east to play West Point this year, Utah has arranged to play Washington and Denver will play host to Temple university of Philadelphia this November.

Faculty action, at the college of Denver, last fall spurred a "recruitment" scheme, said to have been fostered by a fraternity for the purpose of "importing" a number of star high school athletes from Salt Lake City. A score of athletes, as a consequence, were declared ineligible for one year, and several of them left Denver.

Six Boxers Are Under Suspension
Philadelphia, Jan. 7 (AP)—The state athletic commission today announced the indefinite suspension of six boxers, among them Billy Hulley of Mt. Clemens, Mich., and Paul Balsant, Pittsburgh. No reasons were given.

REGATTA WILL HAVE 9 CREWS

Depression Not Expected to Affect Famous Rowing Meet

New York, Jan. 7 (AP) The 1931 intercollegiate championship regatta at Poughkeepsie again is expected to feature a nine-crew race for the four-mile varsity honors won in such sensational fashion last June by Cornell University.

Thus it appears that any depression felt otherwise in the college athletic world will not affect rowing this year, if as is anticipated, California, Washington, Wisconsin and Massachusetts Tech accept the invitations to be extended to them shortly by the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association.

The association is composed of Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and the United States Naval Academy. Its annual meeting, Chairman Maxwell Stevenson of Columbia announced today, will be held January 22 to settle upon the details for this year's regatta, which probably will take place on the Hudson, Thursday, June 25.

Reject Several Plans
The stewards are expected to reject several proposals made for altering the Poughkeepsie regatta program, including a suggestion that it be spread over two or three days, with the various events rowed in heats because of the large number of entries. This is not considered practical nor are the conditions of rough weather that have now prevailed for two straight years on the Hudson regarded as more of a handicap to one crew than another.

Last June, Cornell, Syracuse and M. I. T. finished 1-2-3 in the varsity classic, proving themselves better rough water crews than several other highly favored combinations such as Columbia, California, Washington and Navy, which swamped near the finish. The year previous four of nine varsity crews failed to finish.

As a result of some unsatisfactory experience last year, however, it is likely a drastic regulation will be adopted to keep coaches' launches or other craft following the races from moving out of position and causing a "wash" in the crew lanes. The penalty probably will be disqualification of the crew whose representatives so interfere with the race.

The proposal to include a race for "lightweight" or 150-pound crews in the Poughkeepsie regatta has been rejected as impractical.

Rapid River Proves Too Good for Eben

Rapid River, Jan. 7 (Special)—The Rapid River high school basketball team found Eben high school an easy victim here tonight, the local cagers winning handily by a score of 31 to 7. They blanked the visitors during the first half and gained a lead which enabled them to just coast in the last two periods.

The Rapid River boys went on a scoring rampage in every period except the first when they were held to a lone field goal. Rushford led the attack with six field goals and a free throw. Salmi scored four of the visitors' seven points on two field tosses.

EUGENE JAMES GRABS HONORS

Ex-Newsboy Boots Home Two Winners at New Orleans Track

New York, Jan. 7 (AP)—Regaining the form that ranked him as one of America's greatest apprentice jockeys before a recent illness, Eugene James, the former Louisville newsboy, rode two winners as he grabbed off the riding honors at the fair grounds, New Orleans, today.

The little youngster, who frequently rode three winners on northern tracks last year, scored first on J. Leiter's Count Palatine in the third event and then followed up with Mrs. R. Pollard's Ladron in the sixth race. In addition, he was second to C. T. Grayson's Panda in the Pine Hills purse with a leg up on the Southland's stable Grecian Beauty and yielded only to C. V. Whitney's Skrl and Kenneth Russell in the Belzoda purse, which featured the card. James was astride Mrs. Pollard's Guide Right in the latter race.

Mrs. Payne Whitney exhibited a classy two year old in Bryonia to win the Poinsettia purse at Oriental Park, Havana. It was the second start for the New York youngster, but he ran like a veteran after being made the 4 to 5 favorite. Vernon Smith Jet him trail back of the pace setter to the furlong pole and then sent him out in front to defeat Becky E. and Cloiseth. Jockey Madely, generally rated as the outstanding apprentice jockey at St. John's Park, carried off the riding honors at the Florida course with two winners and one third. He scored with Senator Vasquez Bello, a 3 to 5 favorite, and Fair Bill, and placed third astride Lady Clarence. Fair Bill, an outsider, paid 9 to 1, while Lady Clarence returned 2 to 1 to show.

TECH CAGERS LOSE BY 37-12

Western State College Has Little Trouble With U. P. Team

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 7 (AP)—Western State Teachers College easily bested the Michigan College of Mines basketball team, 37 to 12, Wednesday night. It marked the second defeat for the upper peninsula five on its tour of the lower peninsula.

The winning team was slow in getting started, making but 13 points in the first half. They began hitting the hoop in the second period, however, and walked away from the Migs. Althoff, Kalamazoo forward, and Decker, guard, led the victors' attack with 12 and 10 points, respectively. The Kalamazoo team will meet Detroit City College in the M. C. C. opener, here Friday night.

POWER TAKEN BY PRESIDENT IS QUESTIONED

power commission dismissed some of the subordinates, charging that such a step was necessary to eliminate friction. Several senators said that had they known that the dismissals would occur they would not have voted for the confirmation of chairman George Otis Smith and his associates on the power commission.

Complications Threatened
So far as the Senate is concerned the request for reconsideration of confirmation is based upon an act performed after the oath of office was taken and is therefore considered to be in the nature of a criticism of an activity by a duly confirmed officer. It is being suggested in official quarters that if the Senate has the right to reconsider a nomination when once the oath of office has been taken, the power of removal would really be vested in the senate and a system of recall would grow up making it difficult for any officer of a commission or the executive branch of the government to exercise his judgment without fear of congressional disfavor.

The pending motion has been so worded that it permits of reconsideration if the president would send the nominations back to the senate. There is nothing mandatory about the resolution and the president can decline to return the nominations if he desires. A serious question has arisen whether, even if the president wished to oblige the senate, it would not be necessary for the officers who have taken the oath to resign and entirely new nominations be sent to the senate.

Favors Power Interests?
Had the motion for reconsideration been made and adopted either on the same day that the nominations were passed upon or even the next day, before the notifications had been sent to the new members of the power commission, it would have prevented the actual administration by Chairman Smith and others of their duties.

From a political point of view the failure of the president to remove Chairman Smith from office in response to a senate resolution would be regarded by the insurgent Republicans and some of the Democrats as a manifestation of friendliness on the part of the president toward the so-called "power interests" for it is being asserted that the subordinate officials who have been dismissed were unfriendly to the power companies.

This reason for their elimination has been vigorously denied, Chairman Smith stating that it was necessary to clean house in order to function effectively. It has been reported that some of the dismissed employees may be reinstated but members of the senate have not been dissuaded from their effort to debate the issues raised.

Taxing Securities Ruled Invalid By State High Court

Lansing, Jan. 7 (AP)—A ruling which may cut a million dollars or more from the revenue of Detroit and other banking centers was made by the state supreme court today when it held that the portion of act 322, passed by the 1929 legislature, which provides for taxing securities secured by real estate liens is invalid.

The case was brought to the supreme court by the First National Bank of Wyandotte, on appeal from the Wayne circuit court. The 1929 act was passed specifically to reach such securities. The supreme court held that taxing such securities amounted to double taxation and was in conflict with federal laws governing national banks.

Michigan's Jump Ball Play.

BY EVERETT S. DEAN
Basketball Coach, Indiana U.
Coaches should follow a definite policy on all jump balls. There are many jump balls in a game and a definite offense or defense for held balls will insure possession of the ball more.

The Michigan jump ball play has been in use several years in the Big Ten Conference and is still effective. This play is best used on the offensive foul mark.

Notice the formation in the accompanying diagram. The center taps ball to (F1) and he taps it back to center who backs up two steps. Upon receiving it he shoots or passes to either of side players who may cut for basket. (F1) upon receiving tap from center may pivot and take a short shot.

On jump balls in the defensive end of the floor, the ball should be tapped to a spot away from the basket. If the ball should be intercepted would mean a shot by the opponents.

NEW GOVERNOR TELLS HOW HE MADE "STAKE"

essor Daniels, on the tariff issue. But to get back to the Klondike gold rush, which was much more exciting, at the time, than being a student under a future president of the United States. It was in 1897 that White caught the fever. He was just out of college and was working in the Pennsylvania oil fields when he joined the rush to Alaska, where wealth beckoned and danger lurked.

White and E. E. Andrews, a friend, sailed from Seattle in January, 1898, on the old steamer, City of Seattle, crowded with miners, gamblers, white-collar men and adventurers, all thirsting for wealth and excitement in the gold fields.

Braved Chilkoot Pass At 40 Below Zero

The ship landed its cargo of gold-seekers at the little port of Dyea, near Skagway. There began the race for the interior—and the gold fields—the course of which led over the dread Chilkoot Pass, with its snow and ice and bitter cold, where hundreds died and thousands, disheartened and discouraged, turned back.

Andrews and White didn't turn back. Each packing 50 pounds of provisions on his back—mostly flour, bacon and beans—they fought their way over the pass through snow and ice, with the temperature 40 below zero and a biting wind numbing their bodies.

"The Latin and Greek I'd studied at Princeton didn't help me much there," White grinned, as he told about that trip.

"Every man had a gold mine waiting for him. So it was every man for himself. You couldn't hire anybody to carry provisions for you, because every man was carrying his own supplies."

The trip over Chilkoot was made in February. White was within a mile of death on that journey, for a snowslide caught 60 men and carried them to destruction a short time after White and his companion had passed along the tortuous trail.

Made Boat From Trees And Continued On White and Andrews finally reached Lake Bennett, which forms the headwaters of the Yukon River. There they cut down trees and made a flat-bottomed scow. They obtained additional supplies, "mostly grub," according to White, and continued on their way in the scow.

"Our idea was to follow the ice down through the chain of lakes, through Whitehorse Rapids and Niles Canyon," White explained. "We had a cargo of perhaps 1200 pounds. It was a job, but we got through. A lot of others didn't. Many men lost their lives in the canyon."

Finally they reached Indian River, about 30 miles south of Dawson City. They were in the gold country then.

"I had my first experience hauling on a line there," said White. "Like one of those Volga boatmen. Only we didn't sing. We swore, instead."

If there was gold along the Indian River, White didn't find it. Turning back, he went prospecting among the creeks that flowed into the Yukon and the Klondike rivers.

"Most of the good ground along the creeks was already staked out and all the best claims were taken," White said. "The squawmen, already on the ground, had them. The late comers scattered into the hills."

"We didn't have any luck in gold hunting, so my partner and I went into the wood business. We got a concession from the Canadian government. We had to pay $1 a cord for wood from our concession, about 40 miles from Dawson on the Klondike River."

"We had to pay men $3 a cord to cut the fir and pine when we could hire men who needed a grubstake. I could cut and pile three cords a day, myself, green as I was. That was in the fall of '98. We rafted our wood down to Dawson."

"We sold the wood at an average price of $40 a cord to the dance halls and gambling dens in Dawson. That was better than we'd been doing mining."

Soon White went back to gold-bunting.

Two Swedes Took Out Gold Worth $40,000

"There was a lot of scurvy among the miners," he explained. "We found a couple of Swedes who had opened up a mine. One of them had been taken down with scurvy and the other got scared, although they'd taken out about $40,000 in gold from their claim."

"We bought their claim with the money we'd made in the wood business. It was a bench claim on what was called Gold Hill."

During the winter White and Andrews pushed ahead with the mine, getting out the gold-bearing muck to be washed for gold in the spring when the thaw came and made water plentiful.

"Soon as we began to make money we hired six men at $1 an hour to help us," he said. "By this time about 80 per cent of the men were out of money and were working for the other 20 per cent, trying to get grubstakes so they could go back to prospecting again. We had a doctor and two lawyers working at the ends of shovels for us."

White and Andrews worked their mine for two winters, throwing and digging and hoisting the dirt to be put through their sluice boxes in the spring. They made money, but they had to work to get it.

"Then we sold out to the Guggenheims," White says. "We thought we'd got about all we could. But they came in and sluiced our dumps and got gold our crude methods had missed. The day we left I picked up a $15 nugget on one dump that had gone through the sluice. We weren't using quicksilver, you see, and a lot of gold washed right through the boxes."

He Heads for Home By 1900 White had his stake, and enough of Alaska. So he started back for "the states."

"For one thing, I had enough of the cold," White said. "When it gets 61 degrees below zero, you know it's cold. I saw it that once, and registered on a government thermometer." Dawson at the time he was there was reasonably orderly, according to White.

"There wasn't as much shooting there as a lot of other camps," he said. "Most of the gambling places were on the square because the Northwest Mounted Police kept an eye on things."

"Did I carry a gun? Well, no. I started out with a .42 caliber Colt at my belt. But at a camp just before we went to Chilkoot I met an old prospector who called me 'Sonny.'"

"He said to me, 'If you have all your guns on Sonny, I suppose you're going to protect yourself against Sonny Smith and his crowd.' Soap was a notorious character, gunman, killer and robber."

"I said that was my intention, if it became necessary. Then the old-timer wanted to know how fast I could draw. He suggested that we both count three and then draw our pistols, just as a test."

"We did. Something went wrong. My gun seemed to stick, but I finally got it out. The old man looked at me commiseratingly."

"My dear boy," he said, "if you've got a grip, put that gun in it right away. They'd have a monument built over you before you could draw that gun if you needed it."

"I took his advice and got rid of the gun. I found out afterwards it was good advice, because the nippers surges up there were pretty quick to string up a killer who shot an unarmed man. But if the other chap had a gun in his belt, it was generally self-defense."

White likes to recall his association with Woodrow Wilson at Princeton.

"I had lectures of two hours a week under him as a senior, in jurisprudence," he says. "I wasn't a Democrat then, but I gained the impression that he was from his lectures, although he did not talk politics."

"With his wonderful diction, he didn't need to press the boys to come to his lectures," he said. "His classes were always well-attended."

Wilson was always neatly and carefully dressed, according to White, and was "always dignified" in manner.

"He carried great weight among the students," he explained. "You know, he was a real football enthusiast and coached at one time."

"He was always very nice to me, both when I was a student and later when I was president and I was a member of Congress. He said he remembered me as one of his students."

DETROIT MAN FINDS HEALTH

Konjola, The New Medicine, Proves Just What This Man Needed — "Nothing Like It," He Says.

MR. CHARLES CAMPBELL

"There is nothing like Konjola," said Mr. Charles Campbell, 919 Grand Boulevard, East, Detroit. "I suffered the misery of a run-down system for years. Constipation was a source of misery and discomfort and my nerves were fast becoming shattered. I had no vitality, was losing weight and had reached a point where I knew that something had to be done."

"I had not finished the second bottle of Konjola before I realized that this was a master-medicine. By the time I had finished the six-bottle treatment I had an excellent appetite and enjoyed every meal. The tired feeling left me, my bowels functioned regularly and I rose in the morning refreshed and ready for work. There is nothing like Konjola as tonic and body builder. Thousands have said the same. Konjola makes good on merit alone. Konjola is sold in Escanaba, Mich., at People's drug store; and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.
