story?" he asked. "All right, but you must come in close," he said, after hearing the enthusiastic assents of every one. "A young man went south to enter business," began the aged philanthropist. "He was selling looking glasses. "Very few people in the locality which he had chosen to begin his work in knew what looking glasses were, and the young man's lot was a trying one," he continued. "In his zeal to sell his wares the young man pushed a glass into the face of a prospect. "Why it's grandfather!" exclaimed the man. (At this point in the story everybody started laughing, but Neighbor John held up a cautioning hand declaring that the best was yet to come.) "The man bought the glass and took it home. Fearing his wife's wrath at having bought it, however, he hid it in the barn. "His wife noticed that he was spending an uncommon amount of time in the barn, so she slipped up on him, took the glass away from him, and looked into it. "So," she exclaimed. "This is the hussy you have been running around with!"

An amateur photographer requested a picture and Mr. Rockefeller assented. "Fire away!" he shouted gaily, after backing to the proper distance. Then, with parting waves of the hand and measured stride, he turned and walked across the greensward to the clubhouse, where soon afterward he joined a foursome for his daily morning round.

He sat on a bench adjoining the No. 3 tee, where he begins his round this winter, until the others had teed off; then, following custom, he ignored preliminary warning up swings and sent the gutta-percha pellet sailing down the fairway approximately 150 yards.

He selected a brassie, and the next shot was a spanking drive of 100 yards. Neighbor John holed out in six, making the 451-yard hole in one over par. The morning round had begun.

A flock of sea gulls, flying high above the links in military-like formation, attracted Mr. Rockefeller's attention. He gazed upward at them a moment and then moved on sturdily, following the little white ball over which he has become a veritable master.

The eighth and final tee was reached. Neighbor John's ball rolled barely short of the 150-yard stake. His next shot brought him better than mid-way to the green; his third, a beautiful approach, with a brassie, laid the ball 10 feet away from the pin. He missed the putt, but holed out on the next for a five, one over par for the 307-yard hole.

The weather varies almost from one extreme to the other—for instance, the day before a keen wind bearing icy tidings of the northland swept the course; just before Mr. Rockefeller reached the final green on this day an obviously aged man whose white hair contrasted sharply with the tan of his skin, wearing shorts and a sleeveless shirt, strode briskly along the woodland road adjoining the course, taking his constitutional. His attire was admirably suited to the day.

Mr. Rockefeller wore a gray cap with flaps fastened over the ears, tweed pants, vest and an outer coat of gray.

Every precaution is being taken by the Ormond Beach golf club management this winter to save Mr. Rockefeller from annoyance by strangers and newspapermen. Only members are allowed to enter the course.

To the young man Mr. Rockefeller says in effect: "Let nothing you dismay. Don't be disheartened. When I was a young man people would say 'Look at that sober-faced fellow. He will never amount to anything.'"

Mr. Rockefeller carries a bit of verse, written by himself, which he repeats often to those with whom he comes in contact: "I was early taught to work as well as play; "My life has been one long, happy holiday— "Full of work, and full of play— "I dropped the worry on the way— "And God was good to me every day."

It is the consensus of opinion that in his 91st year Neighbor John never appeared happier or jollier. He has found happiness in spreading cheer among the members of the little colony at Ormond.

Pleas of Guilty And Continuances Cut Court Docket

Four possible jury cases were wiped off the Delta county circuit court calendar yesterday when pleas of guilty were received from John Kuuva and Norbert Fosterling. Both pleaded guilty to violation of probation. Each were listed on the calendar for two charges, prohibition law violations and resisting an officer, offenses to which they had entered pleas of not guilty.

The case of Hans Lorenson, postmaster at Stonington, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, has been continued to the next term. Carl Sjoedin, who pleaded guilty on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile, the property of Kenneth Leaway, from the Riverview pavilion, has been released on two year probation.

Judge Bell announced that remaining sentences for the term will be given out Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Wayne Jury Will Hear Charges of Detroit Irregularities

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—The 22-man Wayne county grand jury will have before it when it reconvenes tomorrow charges by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy that a close connection between gangsters and members of the police department made possible the series of gang slayings which culminated last summer in the killing of Gerald E. (Jerry) Buckley, radio political commentator. While the prosecutor declined to mention any names, he said the blackhand squad "was not functioning properly" prior to and at the time of the Buckley slaying. Deputy Chief of Detectives Robert A. MacPherson was head of that squad prior to Buckley's death and Inspector Norval Marlett at the time of the shooting. Both officers have since been suspended from active duty, at the grand jury's recommendation.

The killing of Buckley, the attempted assassination of Inspector Henry J. Garvin and a number of other shootings resulted from a close alliance between Italian gangsters and those in the police department who were responsible for controlling those gangsters," Prosecutor Toy said.

"Prior to and at the time of the Buckley slaying, the black-hand squad was not functioning properly. The members of the squad did not act as they should have, and from evidence we have uncovered it appears they did not dare to act. Discusses Dry Law Bault Ste. Marie—While declaring that it appears to him that the constitutional questions involved have already been clearly passed upon by the Supreme Court of the United States, Judge Fred M. Raymond, district federal judge presiding at the January term of federal court here, said this morning that the decision of Federal Judge Clark, of New Jersey, was an exceedingly interesting one.

"One of the most interesting aspects of the case," the judge here continued, "is that Judge Clark apparently bases his opinion that the Eighteenth amendment is unconstitutional on the Tenth Amendment, which he construes as providing that certain amendments taking power from the states shall be ratified only by conventions. The interesting fact is that that constitutional amendment was ratified by the legislatures and not by conventions called in the several states. "However," the judge continued, "the matter is settled. The U. S. circuit court of appeals of the second circuit in which Judge Clark presides, has very recently held that the Eighteenth amendment was legally ratified upon the grounds that the U. S. Supreme Court has finally settled the question."

ELEVEN PLACED ON PROBATION

Red O'Donnell Gets Only Prison Term in Delta Circuit Court

Out of 16 who appeared before Judge Frank A. Bell in Delta county circuit court for sentence Thursday morning, only two were given prison sentences. One fine was assessed, sentence was suspended in one case, and the remaining 11 defendants on criminal charges were placed on two-year probation.

All had pleaded guilty in open court. William (Red) O'Donnell was sent to Marquette for a one to two years sentence on a liquor charge.

Due to the large number awaiting sentence, Judge Bell called the roll of the group, and said:

"Here you are, all young men. I am going to put you on probation, and whether or not you make a success of this probation depends on you boys. I do this to avoid sending you to the state prison. I find that liquor in most cases has played a part in your offenses against the law. My final advice to you is to leave liquor alone."

Those placed on probation were: Eusebe Hendry, Walter Feathers, Tom Feathers and Levi Feathers, all of Nahma, burglary.

Frank Stenac, Frank Louis, Ed Jones and Tom Ward, larceny.

Stanley Mileski, Arthur Gardner and Clarence Schwartz, Wells, unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Irvin Pomrening, carrying a loaded pistol in an automobile.

Drop Burglary Case

In the case of William O'Donnell, charged with robbery as well as a violation of the prohibition law, Judge Bell declared that he would drop the burglary charge, to which O'Donnell pleaded not guilty.

Sentence him only on the prohibition law charge, to which the defendant had entered a plea of guilty. The term will be one to two years in the state branch prison at Marquette.

Thom Arnesdos Volois, charged with operating a still and selling honor, was given a fine of $100 and costs of $100, and placed on probation for two years. Failure to pay the fine and costs will bring him a four months sentence in the county jail.

Fredrick Murray, designated by the judge as a "hip pocket" dry law violator, was sentenced to spend four months in the Delta county jail.

"I don't know what to do with you," Judge Bell told Murray. "Do you want to go to Marquette?"

Murray indicated that he did not desire such sentence, and the judge then told him that he would be taken to the county jail to "behave" for the winter.

To the youths present for sentence Judge Bell said: "Now you boys take notice, this man is a good example of what whiskey does to a man. It should be a warning to you."

Beavers

Work Hard at Fishdam Park

Isabella, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special)—Out of the thousands of individuals who drove by Fish Dam Park on U. S. 2 last summer, it is certain that very few noticed the work of the beaver within a few feet of the highway. It is equally sure that fewer still saw the animals at work since practically all of their work is done in the twilight of early morning and evening.

Trappers and hunters state that always when a colony is at work, some veteran beaver takes his place "on guard" and immediately on the approach of danger, uses his tail to make a sound which is recognized by all as a danger signal and the whole colony hurries to safety long enough before a human individual can get near enough for a sight of them.

Within a very few feet of the road near the Little Fish Dam Bridge, is a balm of gilead tree which was cut down some time last summer. After the big trunk had fallen to the ground, the beaver or beavers trimmed off all of the branches. It is believed that some of these were carried away but for some reason, possibly because there was too much disturbance because of passing automobiles, the work was abandoned in favor of some more secluded spot. A few persons who saw the fallen trunk carried away chips as souvenirs. It is the belief of some local woodsmen that in this particular case, the work done was by one solitary beaver who became discouraged doing the work alone, and that he left the spot for some other place where he could find other workers to cooperate with him.

How Beavers Work

A way in the recesses of the woods, about two miles north of this particular spot, in a place passed only by an occasional hunter is a regularly organized colony of beavers. When visited last fall, several large trees had been cut and trimmed off. Some of these trunks had been cut into lengths and there were indications that some had also been carried away for the winter use.

The beavers are the largest and perhaps the most interesting of the rodent family. When they first take possession of a stream, their first work is to secure a pond of water by constructing a dam. Saplings and brush are dragged off near the ground, dragged into the water and laid in the channel lengthwise after which they are weighted down with earth and stones. This work is continued until the entire channel has been filled. They then make their dam watertight by covering the upper and with earth, grass and clay. They carry material with their fore paws and pat it solid with their feet.

Live On Wood Bark

The object of the dam is to form a pond so deep that it will not freeze to the bottom in the coldest weather. If at any time, a leak is sprung, it is quickly repaired. A burrow with its entrance under water is dug for some distance into the bank, turning upward under an old stump or other place of concealment, where the mother rears her young. The beaver lives chiefly on the bark of the birch, basswood, maple and poplar. In some cases, large trees measuring one or two feet in diameter, are cut down, the branches trimmed, the trunk cut into convenient lengths, and with the branches, dragged to the bottom of the pond beneath the reach of the most severe frost, thereby being assured an adequate food supply for the winter. Passages lead from the bottom of the pond to upper chambers where the strange creatures remain during the winter months.

The haunts of a colony of working beavers may easily be detected even by the most uninitiated by the numerous chips lying on the ground and also by the conical shape of the limbs when cut. The cut is made somewhat as a woodman would do with a sharp axe, by taking out large chips. The beaver bites in at the top of the cut, then again at the bottom catches the chip with his teeth and tears it away. These chips often measure more than six inches in length, an inch across and nearly an inch in thickness when the animals are working on aspen or other soft woods. When the tree has fallen and has been completely trimmed, cut up and dragged away to be stored in the beaver pond for winter food, a small heap of chips will be found around the stump, and other small heaps will locate the spot where any cutting has been done.

Beaver Well Equipped

The beaver is well equipped for his work. The teeth of a beaver are either through the gums, or about to come through at the time of birth, and they grow out steadily subsequently, much in the manner that human finger nails grow. The back of the cutting teeth is not quite so hard as the front edge, and in this way the teeth are automatically kept sharp as they are worn away. The beaver is able to make a clean cut through a green branch thicker than a man's thumb at a single stroke. The lower cutting teeth are imbedded deeply in the lower jaw, and the uppers equally deeply in the skull, the roots running up nearly to the eyes. The jaws are flanked by heavy and powerful muscles which furnish the power necessary for the cutting operations. The lips close behind the cutting teeth instead of in front, as in the human mouth. This enables the animal to work under water without opening his lips either in

Mr. Merchant:

Your Newspaper Can Print More Profits For You!

Through Your Own Newspaper Your Manufacturers Can Create A Demand For The Goods You Sell.

YOUR own newspaper represents the one medium through which you can reach your entire community. It is the one publication of genuine interest to everyone with whom you deal. In its columns you tell your message and through it you are able to bring more business into your store than by any other single method.

But are the manufacturers of products which you sell by brand name doing the same thing? Is your newspaper printing as large a profit for you as you might reasonably expect? If the manufacturer's advertising is not appearing regularly side by side in the same publication where your message is placed, then he is not creating a sufficient demand for those goods which he wants you to sell. Manufacturer's advertising, placed in your newspaper to reach your community, is your one guarantee of peak sales.

THE entire matter, after all, is one of good business. Naturally, you could not expect to attract attention to your store by placing your goods on display in some distant city and advertising to your home community through the national and metropolitan publications which only a portion of them read.

In the same manner, the advertising by your manufacturers which reaches only a small section of your community does you as comparatively little good. This advertising must appear regularly in your own newspaper before it hits all of the mark.

You can make your newspaper print peak profits for you by insisting that your manufacturers give their individual products support in the same newspaper which you employ. Advertising of this type gives you an excellent opportunity to tie in with your own advertising and displays, and to take the utmost advantage of the increased demand for the particular goods which you handle.

Here's the Way!

When a particular brand of goods is under consideration, ask yourself: "Is the manufacturer advertising regularly in my newspaper?" Insist that he does, for herein lies sales success. Ask your newspaper about it today.

Through your own efforts and initiative you can make your newspaper print more profits for you. Insist on manufacturer's support in this home publication which everybody reads!

MURDER AS BRIDGE

By ANNE AUSTIN

THE BLACK PIGEON, THE AVEENING PARROT AND THE MUSKIE BACKSTAIRS ©1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

When she made the first deposit of $5000 on April 28, she explained it with an embarrassed laugh as 'back alimony,' an installment of which she had succeeded in collecting from her former husband. And, naturally, when she made the second deposit on May 5, I presumed the same explanation covered that sum, too, though I confess I was puzzled by the fact that both big deposits had been made in cash.

In cash! Had Nita, by any chance, been telling a near-truth? Had she been blackmailing her own husband—a husband who had deserted her, believing his deserted wife to be dead—and justifying herself by calling it 'back alimony'?

But—wasn't it, in reality, no matter what coercion Nita had used in getting the money, exactly that? Back alimony! And the price of her silence before the world and the wife who was not really a wife?

In a new light, Bonnie Dundee studied the character of the woman who had been murdered—possibly to make her silence eternal.

Lola Dunlap had liked, even loved her. The other women and girls of that exclusive, self-centered clique of Hamilton's most socially prominent women must have liked her fairly well and found her congenial in spite of their jealousy of her popularity with the men of the crowd, or they would not have tolerated her, regardless of Lola Dunlap's championship of her protégé.

Glady Earle had found her "the sweetest, kindest, most generous person I ever met"—Glady Earle, who envied and hated all the girls who were more fortunate than she.

Serena Hart, former member of New York's Junior League and still listed in the Social Register, had found Nita the only congenial member of the chorus she had invaded as the first step toward stardom. And Serena Hart had the reputation of being a woman of character and judgment, a kind and wise and great woman.

Finally, Ralph Hammond had loved Nita and wanted to marry her. Was it possible that Nita Selim's only crime into which she had been led by infatuation for Dexter Sprague, had been to demand, secretly, financial compensation from a husband who had married and deserted her, a husband who, believing her dead, had married again?

But who was the man whose picture—to spin a new theory—Nita had recognized as that of her husband among the male members of the cast of "The Beggar's Opera" when Lola Dunlap had proudly exhibited the pictures of that amateur performance?

With excitement hammering at his pulses, Dundee took the bunch of photographs which Lola Dunlap had willingly given him, and studied the picture that contained the entire cast—the picture which had first attracted Nita's attention. And again despair overwhelmed him, for every one of his possible male suspects was in that group.

But he could not keep his thoughts from racing on. . . . Men who stepped out of their class and went on parties with chorus girls frequently did so under assumed names, he reflected. Serena Hart was author of the information that Nita's husband had been a sudden marriage. Was it not entirely possible that the man who married Nita in 1918 had done so half-drunk, both on liquor and infatuation, and that he had not troubled to explain to Nita his motives for having used an assumed name or to write in his real name on the application for a marriage license? Had Nita's private detective journeyed out to Hamilton in a fruitless attempt to locate "Matthew Selim"?

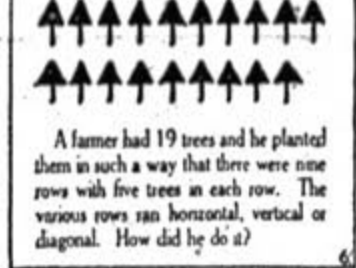

Bonnie Dundee lay awake for hours Friday night turning these and a hundred other questions over and over in his too-active mind, and slept at last, only to awake Saturday with a plan of procedure which he was sensible enough to realize promised small chance of success.

And he was right. Not in Manhattan, or in any of the other boroughs of New York City, did he find any record of a marriage license issued to Juanita Leigh and Matthew Selim. Not only was it entirely probable that Juanita Leigh was a stage name, and that Nita had married consentitiously under her real name, but it was equally possible that the license had been obtained in New Jersey or Connecticut.

When he gave up his quest at noon Saturday and returned to his hotel, he bought at the newsstand a paper whose headline informed him that Sergeant Turner was, at that moment, even more discouraged than himself. For the big type told the world: Joe Savelli "Gets" Brother's Slayer.

And smaller headlines informed the sensation-loving public: "Swallow-tail Sammy" Savelli's death avenged by Brother who surrenders to police; "Slick" Thompson, alleged member of Sammy's gang, shot to death on Sixth Avenue. Still smaller type acknowledged that Joe Savelli, after giving himself up, with a revolver in his hand, had disclaimed any knowledge of or connection with the murders of Juanita Leigh Selim and Dexter Sprague.

Believed Dead—Menominee—Hope that Fred Boye, 61, farmer of Daggett, will return home or be heard from has been abandoned, his son, Frank, 30, said in Menominee today. George Boye, another son, took his father to a railway station at Milwaukee the day before Christmas. Boye was coming home from Christmas with about $400 in his possession, proceeds of the sale of Christmas trees. He has not been heard of since. His family believes that he was killed for the money he carried.

Two hours later, Dundee received a long telegram from District Attorney Sanderson:

Informed by Evening Sun and Captain Strawn that Savelli angle is complete washout. Stop. Have you made any progress along other lines? Stop. Have informed reporters you working independently with strong chance of solving both cases? Stop. Would like you here for adjourned inquests on both murders. Monday Stop. Mother improved as on job again.

Since Dundee felt that there was little chance of following through either on the scandals which Gladys Earle had hinted at, or on Nita's strangely secret marriage of 12 years before, he immediately dispatched a wire to Sanderson, assuring him that vital progress had been made and that he would leave New York, arriving in Hamilton Sunday morning at 8:50.

Sanderson's wire with its confession of an interview with Dundee's trip to New York, had upset him and left him with a cold feeling of fear that, stumbling half in darkness, the district attorney had unwittingly warned the murderer of Nita Selim and Dexter Sprague that his special investigator was on the right track.

An hour before he reached his destination on Sunday morning he went into the dining car and found a copy of The Hamilton Morning News beside his plate. And on the front page was a photograph of dead Nita, her black hair in a French roll, her slim, recumbent body clad in the royal blue velvet dress. Beneath the picture was the caption:

"What part does the outmoded royal blue velvet frock which Nita Selim chose as a shroud play in the solution of her murder? That is the question which Special Investigator Dundee, attached to the district attorney's office, and due home this morning from fruitful detective work in New York, is undoubtedly prepared to answer."

Dundee was still seething with futile rage when he climbed the stairs to his apartment. On the living room floor, touching the door, he found an envelope—unstamped and bearing his name written on a typewriter.

Drug Store Hobbed—Thieves some time late last night or early this morning battered down the rear entrance to J. J. Breitung's pharmacy, Breitung's Breitung, and robbed the place of five boxes of cigars, eight cartons of cigarettes, a quantity of candy bars and $5 in cash, according to a report given by Cook to Sheriff Rudolph Freeman.

The axe used on the door had been picked up from a woodpile at the rear of the establishment. The thieves left no clues.

Cook discovered the robbery when he opened the store early this morning. In their apparent haste the thieves had overlooked a cash drawer containing a considerable quantity of money and stamps.

Fur Buyer Fined—Iron River—His arraignment delayed because of an injury received in an automobile accident, George Evanoff, of Caspian, charged with buying furs without a license, yesterday before Justice Curley yesterday and was fined $25 and $12.05 costs.

Evanoff was placed under arrest early in December when conservation officers, under the direction of Jack Andrews, Jr., of Iron Mountain, district chief, raided his home in Caspian, and found the pelts of seven beaver, six muskrats, two weasels and a mink.

The officers obtained a search warrant upon reports that Evanoff was in the wholesale fur business.

Death Claims Pioneer—Houghton—Another esteemed pioneer of the Copper Country was called by death Sunday when William H. Dee, a native of this district, died in St. Joseph's hospital following an operation which was performed Saturday. The operation, however, was only a contributing cause to his death, for the deceased had been critically ill for several weeks with a complication of diseases.

The late Mr. Dee was a member of one of the oldest families of the Copper Country. His father, the late William Dee, came to the district in the late 40's, landing at Eagle Harbor, and ever since then the Dee name has been prominently associated with the development of the community.

Born at the Phoenix mine location at Keweenaw county June 3, 1860, the deceased came to Houghton at the age of 15, taking a position as messenger boy for the Western Union Telegraph Co. While thus employed he studied telegraphy and was soon promoted to the position of telegraph operator which he followed for many years. In recent years, Mr. Dee was employed by the Houghton County Electric Light Co., and for the last 35 years he was probation officer for the circuit court of Houghton county.

Rehearsals for this mammoth revue have been in progress during the past few days under the direction of William E. Dormandy of Ashland, Wisconsin. Mr. Dormandy is well-known through out this part of the country, having directed shows in Escanaba, Gladstone, Rapid River, Marquette and Ironwood.

Apart from the three-act comedy itself, many splendid features are included in a full evening's program. Many clever choruses, dialogues, tableaux, monologues, a band, quartette, and orchestra, add numerous finishing touches to this charming production.

The showing is being sponsored by the Methodist Episcopal church and residents are eagerly looking forward to an evening of rare enjoyment. The date for the production was originally made for Friday evening, Jan. 23, but due to a conflict was changed to Wednesday, Jan. 21.

Graveling of Big Spring Road Will Soon be Completed

Graveling on the Big Spring road will be completed by the end of this week, according to a statement made by John E. McCarthy, county engineer. Work on the five-mile stretch of road leading off of U. S. 2 at Savage's corner was commenced the week before Christmas. Gravel was obtained from a pit on the property of John Archambeau at Cooks and 22 trucks were used in hauling the stone. Approximately 60 men are now employed by the county road commission. Next week county road employes will begin preparing the Indian Lake road at Harrison beach for tarvia which will be laid next spring.

Assurance that approximately five more miles of plowing would be done on the Hiawatha road was practically given to John E. McCarthy yesterday by state highway officials. At Tuesday's meeting it was agreed that the county would share in the expense of plowing the additional stretch of road if help were received from the state. If the program goes through it will mean additional work for many of the unemployed and would enable employes of the Webster Lumber company to travel back and forth from their work.

Old Barney Given Rest After Years Of Good Service

Garden, Jan. 8. (Special)—Old Barney, the faithful old olive horse of thirty six years, and who was honored with the Special Prize of The Governor's Cup at the Pet Show held in Escanaba last July 4th has finished his working days and is pensioned off. He has been taken to the farm of Finley Mc Cashum at Puffy Creek where he is receiving the very best of care. It is not necessary to baby Barney, or to treat him as a helpless invalid. He takes his place with the farm team and eats his hay and grain with a real appetite. In spite of decreased capacity for grinding, he is still able to look after his own interests. Recently while out in the barn yard with the other horses, one of the latter attempted to resent Old Barney's intrusion and commenced to nip him. Like a flash, the old horse's hind leg was thrust out striking the younger horse a savage thrust on the breast. Barney's new owner, incidentally, has had intimate connections with the horse during the whole of his life, has vowed that a harness shall never be placed upon him again. When warm spring days come and the grass grows, he will be given a nice clover field and there eat and drink and sleep at pleasure. Mr. Mc Cashum is a great lover of horses, and has the reputation of knowing them more intimately perhaps than any other man on the Garden Peninsula. On a previous occasion, he befriended a decrepit old animal and gave it a good home. This animal finally became so helpless on account of lack of teeth, that it was fed regularly a ration of bolted potatoes. Solby Lafave Hurt Solby Lafave was painfully hurt on the head and shoulders Wednesday last when he was thrown to the ground from a load of wood which he was about to haul from the woodlot to his home. He had made up the load and climbed upon it and was just about ready to start up his team when one of the animals started up to get the team home and un hitched. He came to the local hospital for treatment later. He is still able to do the most necessary chores around his place, though with difficulty.

NEW SYSTEM TO BE INVOKED

Games Ending in Tie to Be Decided on a Point Basis

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 8 (AP)—The Michigan High School Athletic Association voted to eliminate overtime periods in the games next March when the annual high school basketball tournaments are held throughout the state.

If teams finish a regular game with a tie, the winner will be decided on a point basis. Five points will be allowed for the most field goals, four points to the team making the greatest percentage of its foul shots, and three points will be given to the team with the least number of personal fouls against it. Should the point system result in another tie, the winner will be decided by permitting each member of the two teams shoot a round of foul throws with the victory going to the team making the greatest number of its shots.

Final matches will be played at Demonstration Hall, Michigan State College, March 21 while semifinals will be held in various cities. The association decided that all applications by schools for advancement in their athletic classification must be filed by February 10.

Heavyweight Fight Tangle Awaits Pa Stribling and Son

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—The heavyweights, confused and muddled in arguments, marked time today, waiting for the arrival of "Pa" Stribling before settling whether Max Schmeling will fight Stribling in Chicago, Detroit or Cleveland, or whether Stribling will tackle Jack Sharkey in New York.

Stribling and his fighting son, Bill, are due tomorrow from Miami, and are committed definitely to a championship duel in Chicago early in June with the German who was stripped of his title by the New York State Athletic commission Tuesday.

William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, went to Boston today in an effort to sign Jack Sharkey to a contract for a match with Stribling here in June, a bout the New York commission said it would recognize as for the vacant title. Carey has little hope, however, of winning Stribling over to such a match.

Nate Lewis, matchmaker for the Chicago stadium and the original $500,000 bidder for the Schmeling-Stribling match in Chicago, made little headway toward signing the match. It appeared that the Hearst Milk Fund, which has Schmeling under contract, will stage the match itself in the Midwest. Stribling already has come to terms with Lewis but it appears that he will agree to any promoter Schmeling suggests.

McCarthy Refuses To Predict Yanks Will Cop Pennant

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Joseph V. McCarthy, new manager of the New York Yankees, paid his first visit of the indoor season today to a club he hasn't seen since it whipped the Pirates four straight in the world series of 1927.

Forced to fumble around a bit on details, McCarthy still was able to display plenty of optimism regarding the Yankees' future, although he refused to predict they were on the verge of another pennant winning surge.

He said the Yankees had no deals pending, the pitching staff needed another starting pitcher, the infield must be strengthened, the outfield and catching staffs would do as they stand, and there was plenty of snow and cold weather around his home town of Buffalo.

Incidentally "Marse Joe" settled one problem that has been bothering the athletes, his reported aversion to golf during the training and playing season. The players can golf as often as they can find time he said.

HANK'S BAD LUCK IS OVER NOW

During his football career Hank Bruder, star halfback at Northwestern university, was known for his bad luck, football injuries and an attack of smallpox keeping him off the playing field much of the time. Now, however, good luck has begun to come his way. Here he is with Mrs. Bruder, the former Miss Omega Gilbert of Evanston, Ill., to whom he was secretly married early this year.

Father Gerald Indicates His Boys Are in for a Tough Evening

The St. Joseph basketball team will make their first bid for peninsula recognition since the holidays this evening when they will meet the Vulcan quintet at the Coliseum gymnasium. The game promises to be one of the hardest fought on the Parochial's schedule.

Father Gerald, coach of the St. Joseph quintet, indicated he expected his boys would be in for a hard scrap against the Vulcan crew. Most of the members of the visiting aggregation are veterans with two or three years experience. He would not make any prediction, however.

The starting lineup of the Parochial team will probably consist of Larson at center, Peitler and Brasau at forwards, and Sharkey and Fraser at guard positions. McGovern and Hira will undoubtedly see service, also. Fifteen men will be carried by the Parochial squad and will be ready for a call if Father Gerald should decide to send them into the fray.

After taking a big lead against the Alumni in the pre-holiday battle, the Parochial reserves which were sent in the game fell down miserably and allowed the graduates to cut down the advantage, finally taking the decision in an overtime period. The Parochial member said last evening as a result of that showing by the reserves, he was going to do as little substituting as possible unless the situation can be bettered by making a substitution.

In the preliminary game the St. Joseph Alumni will match points with the Ramblers, leaders of the Tri-County League. This game also promises to be full of pep.

Freak Goal Gives Canadiens Victory

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens received a 2 to 1 victory over the New York Americans as a gift from their rivals tonight on one of the most unusual of the freak goals that have marked the National Hockey League season. The unearned victory put them into a tie with the Montreal Maroons for second place in the Canadian Division standing.

Late in the second period with the score tied at 1-2, George Mantha, Canadian wingman, let fly a shot at the American net. Goalie Roy Worters stepped in, falling on the ice. Evidently misjudging his position as he tried to ring the puck out of danger into the far corner of the net, Worters made a perfect throw into his own net for the deciding tally. Mantha got credit for the goal.

Although the score otherwise was even, the Flying Frenchmen had a bit the better of the play. Billy Burch scored the opening goal for New York on a pass from

RANGERS BEAT FALCONS, 2 TO 1

Detroit Hockey Team Is Trimmed on Home Ice in Fast Battle

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—The New York Rangers put an end to the Detroit Falcons record of eight undefeated home games here tonight by a 1 to 0 victory over the Detroit team in a brilliant display of defensive hockey before 12,000 spectators, one of the season's largest crowds.

The Falcons, fighting to oust the Rangers from third place in the league standings, fell victim to the Rangers' passing attack, and were baffled by the defensive show put on by the New York team after Bill Cook scored from Joe Jerwa's pass early in the first period. After Cook's score, the Rangers gradually turned to the defense, and in the final period they sent only one attacking forward down the ice, while they checked every effort the Detroit team could offer.

Ebbie Goodfellow, Detroit's scoring ace, was smothered by the Ranger defense, and failed to threaten at any time during the play. Big Ching Johnson and Jerwa were the Ranger defense bulwarks during the latter stages of the play.

Herman Perlick Ready to Fight

Lansing, Jan. 8 (AP)—Herman Perlick, Kalamazoo, boxer, told the state boxing commission today that he was prepared to meet either Wesley Ramey, of Grand Rapids, or Harry Dublinsky, of Chicago, in an Olympic athletic club match at Grand Rapids February 11.

Perlick was at first scheduled to meet Ramey but the latter was declared temporarily unfit to box in the Grand Rapids show. Dublinsky was substituted and Perlick refused to meet Dublinsky. Promoters carried their case to the boxing commission.

ENGLISH BOXER FIGHTS TONIGHT

Critics Pick Len Harvey as Possible Middleweight Titleholder

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Len Harvey, a first class fighting man from England, will find the short cut to middleweight honors open for him tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden.

The Englishman, with 350 victories behind him in a ten-year career and the vacant middleweight throne yearning for an occupant, battles Vince Dundee, Baltimore Italian, in a 12-round feature match.

The bout will be Harvey's first engagement in the United States. Critics who watched him in training have accepted him as a genuine fighting man. He is well set up, with the powerful shoulders and forearms of a hitter, and an aggressive, fighting style. He is a 2 to 1 favorite to defeat Dundee, brother of the former welterweight champion.

The supporting card brings two veterans back into the picture. Dave Shade, former California middleweight who lost a decision to Harvey in England, battles Joe Anderson, of Louisville, in a ten round semi-final.

Tom McArdle, Garden-matcher, tonight announced that Gaston LeCadre, of France, would meet Jack Portney, Baltimore lightweight, in the opening ten. Portney was to have battled Louis (Kid) Kaplan but Kaplan suffered an injured hand in training, McArdle said.

Automobile traffic in New York is being speeded up by the construction of elevated highways above the streets for fast travel. One such overhead lane extends north and south along the Hudson river waterfront where cars can travel at a fast clip without interference from cross traffic.

Western Conference Schools Found 1930 Football Prosperous

(NOTE: This is another of Associated Press series of stories based on athletic conditions in college and universities.)

BY PAUL MICKELSON (Asst. Press Staff Writer) (NY)—Chicago, Jan. 8 (AP)—Football, the liberal cousin of all college sports, had a fairly prosperous season during 1930 around the western conference so that but few of his dependents need curtail their immediate activities.

Here and there—notably at Iowa and Wisconsin—minor sports will be curtailed and long road trips abolished but on most conference campuses the athletic program will move along on about the same plane that has been maintained the last few years.

$325,000 Ice Rinks
Illinois, Northwestern and Michigan were the ball cows of the conference so far as receipts were concerned and all planned to carry through their minor sports programs without curtailment, except perhaps as regards long trips to various relay games.

Illinois, in addition to maintaining its minor sports program, without curtailment will build a $325,000 ice skating rink and an 18-hole golf course at a cost of $40,000 this year. A fund for this purpose has been built up from football receipts.

Northwestern's football receipts were well above the budget requirements and the full program will be carried out, which will include an eastern trip for the wrestling squad and the usual spring training trip

CHICAGO YOUTH IS GOLF STAR

Win Day Wins Match at Mid-Winter Amateur Miami Tourney

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8 (AP)—Win Day, 15-year-old Chicago shot maker, stole the show in first match play today of the annual Miami mid-winter amateur golf tourney with his one up victory over Millard Chase, Buffalo, in 19 holes.

The pair played evenly through the day at Miami country club course, coming through the 18th hole even. The Chicago youngster pulled a birdie three in the 19th hole to cop the match and advance to tomorrow's quarter finals.

Jack B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., and medalist in the tourney, found little trouble in laying Ken Barry, Miami, aside with a six and four match.

Jim West of Miami, defending his 1930 championship of the amateur classic, was pushed to win, 1 up, at the 18th hole from T. C. Woodward, Middletown, Ohio.

Other championship flight results:
Mack Fisher, New York City, won one up, from Jack Villas, Chicago.
C. A. Fifer, Quincy, Ill., won 4 and 3 from George Ann, Merrill, Wis.
Lee Chase, Buffalo, won one up from Dick Bennett, St. Albans, N. Y.
C. Durand, Brooklyn, won 4 and 3 from C. A. Annis, Boston.
C. A. Bazley, Akron, Ohio, won 2 up, from Frank Lewis, Miami.
Eighteen hole quarter finals will be played tomorrow.

Basketball Topics

Michigan's Jump Ball Play.

BY EVERETT S. DEAN (Basketball Coach, Indiana U.)
Stretch Murphy, Purdue's six-foot seven-inch ace who was three times All-Western Conference center and once leading scorer, had several good plays from which he frequently scored. There was one play frequently used, especially when Murphy had an advantage in height over his guard.

Johnny Wooden, All-America selection at guard last season, controlled the ball in front of the defense, then very deliberately would attempt a long shot which purposely fell short of the basket and into Murphy's hands for a tip-in shot. Murphy's break from the corner required good timing.

This play was effective against most any defense and especially so against defenses without tall men. It is diagramed at top of chart, with W designating Wooden and M, Murphy.

Murphy controlling the ball on the foul line proved Purdue's most valuable play on their championship team of last year. As Murphy received the ball on the foul mark he could turn and shoot over his guard or pass to the open man cutting for the basket. It is a favorite play in professional basketball, where it is called the pivot play.

The lower diagram explains the works of the play.

Manistique Legion Will Play Bevenocs and Crystal Falls

Enjoying a week's vacation after handing Newberry a tasty trim on New Year's evening, Captain John Kelly's Manistique Legion five is ready to do battle with the strongest teams in the upper peninsula. Next week Wednesday, January 14, local fans will have an opportunity of seeing the strong Escanaba Bevenocs in action here.

With the Warner brothers and the Johnsons in the visitors' lineup teamed with other well-known up per peninsula cage stars, Wednesday's game should be a battle royal.

That this game would be a good drawing card is beyond doubt. The Bevenocs thus far enjoy a perfect record, winning most of their games with comparative ease. The Legionnaires, however, extended them to the utmost in their contest at Escanaba, but feel confident that they can take the visitors into camp on their own floor. The Bevenoc game is the only blot on the locals' record this season.

Play Crystal Falls
Manager A. F. Hall has a surprise for Manistique court followers in the announcement that the brilliant Crystal Falls semi-pro team which has been running roughshod over upper peninsula teams for the past five years, will play here sometime during the latter part of February. The agreement calls for a home and home arrangement whereby the Legionnaires will play at Crystal Falls on February 7. The Crystal Falls Ramblers are led by Eddie Chambers, former captain of the University of Michigan cagers. He was selected as All-Conference guard during his last two seasons in the Big Ten.

Other games scheduled away from home is a return engagement with Newberry on January 22 and another contest with Manistig sometime during the middle of February.

Former Horses of Bradley Win First In Race Features

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—A pair of thoroughbreds that once wore the silks of E. H. Bradley dominated the running of the feature races at the fair grounds, New Orleans, and Havana, today.

Brass Monkey, a three-year old filly now racing for A. Hirschfeld, accounted for the Chalmette purse at the New Orleans course, while Boy's Howdy, a consistent two-year old in 1930, won the Quabob purse for H. C. Hatch, the Canadian sportsman, at Havana. Boy's Howdy was the favorite at 6 to 5 while Brass Monkey paid $7.70 for $2 in the mutuels.

As the result of today's race in which he stopped six furlongs behind the runner-up, Boy's Howdy has been made the favorite for the Cuban Derby to be decided in March.

With the added advantage of having W. Johns, one of turf's leading apprentice riders, in the saddle, George O'Connell's Paul Hartenstein accounted for the best offering—a six furlong sprint—at Akua Caliente. The Green-croft stable's Sandy River was second with Befandot third. Johns also had a leg up on Pop, a two-year old owned by J. N. Crofton, which won the third race.

Toronto Maple Leaf Team In First Place

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 8 (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs moved into first place in the Canadian Division of the National Hockey League tonight by upsetting the Montreal Maroons, one goal to none. The Maroons had entered the game leading the Leafs by one point in the standings.

After two periods of dull defensive play, the contest livened up and Andy Blair snared Ace Bailey's perfectly executed forward pass to poke the rubber into the Montreal cage. Thereafter the crowd of more than 8,000 were treated to one thrill after another as the Maroons sent five men up to the attack in a vain effort to tie the score.

MOVE TO SAVE CAGE TOURNNEY

Marquette Chamber of Commerce Names Special Committee

Marquette—A committee consisting of C. C. Rushton, Frank H. Heath and W. Douglas McIntosh has been appointed by President E. J. Hudson, of the Chamber of Commerce, to confer with the tournament committee of the upper peninsula here Saturday in an effort to make arrangements whereby the annual basketball tournament, which has been an outstanding event of the late winter in Marquette for the past 15 years, will be held here continuously.

The protest of Marquette businessmen against the action of President Munson, of the Northern State Teachers college, in discarding the tournament was presented to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce by Secretary Heath at the monthly meeting of the board. The value of this city as a tournament center was stressed by the directors, who believe that the central location, hotel facilities and gymnasium facilities make Marquette the best place for tournament purposes.

What can be done to retain the tournament in Marquette is a problem. The suggestion was offered at the Chamber meeting that inasmuch as the tournament follows the close of the hockey season, it would be possible to make use of the Palestra by installing a maple floor over the concrete floor and erect portable baskets and back-stops. It is conceded that the Palestra would take care of a big crowd of spectators in comfort, something that has been impossible at the Teachers college.

Ottawa Senators Defeated by Bruins

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 8 (AP)—A first period spurge of goals gave the Boston Bruins a 3-1 victory over the Ottawa Senators here tonight in a National Hockey League game.

The Bruins started with a rush and before the period was over had scored thrice, Clapper getting two goals and Welland one. Alex Connell, who tended Ottawa's goal during this period, was replaced by Billy Beveridge and thereafter the Bruins could not score. Ottawa scored its lone goal in the third period. Captain Frank Finnegan slapping the puck in Boston's net.

Tech Basketball Team Defeated by Albion by 24-13

Albion, Mich., Jan. 8 (AP)—Maintaining a commanding lead throughout, Albion college defeated Michigan Tech in a slow game here tonight, 24 to 13.

Albion led at half time, 12 to 6 and the upper peninsula boys were unable to close the gap in the final period.

Rice of Albion was high point scorer, with three field goals and two free throws to his credit. Schraeger was Tech's stellar performer, with one field goal and four free throws.

RACE PROGRAM IS REARRANGED

Autumn Season Cut and Six Days Added to Spring, Summer

BY ORLO ROBERTSON (Asst. Press Staff Writer) New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—In an attempt to give the metropolitan district a better balanced racing program, the jockey club today slashed ten days off the autumn season and added six days to the spring and summer meetings.

As the result of the turf board's action the thoroughbreds will race over the New York tracks 169 days in 1931 as compared with 173 days last year. The season will open as usual at Jamaica and close at Empire City, but the inaugural race will be run on April 19, one day earlier than in 1930, while Empire City will close on Oct. 31, a week sooner than last year.

"The new arrangement of dates is the best in the history of metropolitan racing," said Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia, member of the turf organization. "It not only does away with much of the conflict with Maryland racing but will provide a higher type of sport during the fall days."

Dates Added
Members of the small tracks were reluctant to give up any of their fall dates, but when Belmont Park agreed to chop three days off its September meeting, Jamaica, Aqueduct and Empire City officials readily consented to the shortening of their meetings to 12 days.

In return, however, Belmont Park was given three additional days for its spring session while two extra days were added to Jamaica and Aqueduct and one to Empire City. Saratoga's meeting, which will not open until Aug. 5, was cut from 28 to 27 days and will close on Sept. 5, with Belmont Park opening the fall season on Labor Day.

George Bull, president of the Saratoga Racing association for the past year, was elected as a steward to fill the position left vacant by the death of Harry Payne Whitney.

The 1931 racing dates follow: Jamaica, April 18, May 14; Belmont Park May 15, June 13; Aqueduct June 15, July 10; Empire City, July 11, Aug. 6; Saratoga Aug. 6, Sept. 5; Belmont Park Sept. 7-19; Aqueduct Sept. 21, Oct. 3; Jamaica Oct. 5-17; Empire City Oct. 19-31.

84 Horses Eligible For Steeplechase

Liverpool, Eng., Jan. 8 (AP)—Eighty-four horses were named today as eligible to start in 92d running of the Grand National Steeplechase to be decided over the historic Aintree course of four and one-half miles on Friday, March 27.

The entries include two former winners, Grogalach of 1929 and Shaun Gollin, the surprise victor of 1930's grueling test. In addition the topnotchers of the steeplechase divisions of England and Ireland are listed, along with many jumpers that would have little chance in any other race than the Grand National, where big fields and difficult hazards take a large toll of the starters.

Easter Hero, rated as one of England's best, will carry the silks of John Hay Whitney, American owner. Melleray's Belle and Sir Lindsay, also owned by Whitney, which finished second and third, respectively, to Shaun Gollin last year, again will compete for the coveted purse. Other outstanding candidates are Bright's Boy, Bally Hanwood, Great Span and Grakle, a pre-race favorite of 1930.

The race was worth about $47,000 last year but in 1929 carried a value of $65,000, when a record field of 66 started.

Living Christmas Trees to Prevent Annual Slaughter

At a meeting of the conservation committee of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau in Marquette Tuesday, January 6, the following resolution was prepared for presentation and discussion at the forthcoming mid-winter meeting of the bureau:

"Without wishing to deprive the Christmas season of any of its holiday cheer by eliminating the ever-present Christmas tree, whose evergreen shades are symbolical of life, joy and gladness, we recommend that the Development Bureau go on record as opposed to the wholesale slaughter of our growing forests of spruce and balsam which this practice necessitates."

"We believe the practice is inconsistent with the program of forest planting in which individuals, communities, and our state and federal governments are so heartily joining for the reforesting of our denuded areas."

"We recommend to private citizens and to communities generally the planting of living Christmas trees. We believe that the living Christmas tree idea is entirely practical, especially in those days when the outside tree, decorated with Christmas lights, etc., is becoming so popular."

Former Resident Of Escanaba Dies At Iron Mountain

Mrs. Josephine Reindl, 68, resident of this city for many years, passed away at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. James Roberts, at Iron Mountain, Wednesday afternoon shortly after one o'clock.

Mrs. Reindl, who lived at 1901 Roiler avenue, had been ailing for sometime with cirrhosis of the stomach and ten days ago was removed to the home of her granddaughter at Iron Mountain.

Mrs. Reindl was born in Germany and came to this country many years ago. She lived in Medford, Wis. for a number of years and came to Escanaba to make her home about 20 years ago. Her only daughter, the late Mrs. Wilfred Beauchamp, died 18 years ago and a son, who enlisted in the World War, has not been heard from since 1914. The two granddaughters, Mrs. James Roberts and Miss Adaline Beauchamp of Iron Mountain, are the sole survivors. Her husband died in Germany many years ago.

Mrs. Reindl was a devout member of St. Joseph's church, and was a member of the Third Order of St. Francis, the Married Ladies' Altar society and St. Mary's Court, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters.

The body was prepared for burial at the Buchanan & Villomure funeral parlors at Iron Mountain and was taken to this city yesterday afternoon. It will remain at the Alto funeral home until the hour of the funeral services which will be at St. Joseph's church this morning at nine o'clock. Interment will be in St. Anne's cemetery, where her daughter is buried.

Burial Place of Man's Oldest Ancestor is Believed Found

BY F. B. COLTON Associated Press Science Writer

New York, Jan. 6 (AP)—The two-million year old burial place of modern man's remotest ancestor is believed to have been found deep in the desert of Mongolia. Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, famous explorer, said today.

Dr. Andrews has just returned from Mongolia after leading the fifth expedition of the American Museum of Natural History in search of evidence that the human race originated in Central Asia. In recognition of his work he has been appointed vice director of the museum in charge of research and exploration.

The expedition located the site of a dried-up lake, once larger than Lake Michigan, on the shores of which Dr. Andrews feels almost certain will be found the remains of a primitive race who lived two or three million years ago. He plans to return in about three months and begin a systematic search of the region if political conditions in China permit.

"If for any reason this search is stopped it will be a scientific tragedy," he declared.

Remains of ancient men are likely to be found only on the shore of the lake or in old river courses leading to the lake because there are no caves in Mongolia in which bones otherwise would be preserved, Dr. Andrews explained.

The expedition found a spot on the old lake shore where about forty shovel-tusked mastodons had been caught in the quicksand two or three million years ago. These beasts were like elephants, except that their lower jaws ended in huge bone scoops which they used to dredge up plants from the boggy land along the shore. Several young mastodons and a mother bearing an unborn baby also were discovered, giving a complete series of specimens of this animal from youngest to oldest.

Primitive men probably lived there at the same time as the mastodons and may have been caught in the quicksand in the same way it is believed.

Visitors In Parks Traveled Total Of 150,000,000 Miles

Lansing.—The nine million people who visited Michigan state parks last year traveled 150,000,000 miles on Michigan highways between their homes and the various parks, according to the calculations of the state parks division of the Department of Conservation.

The mileage is based on the assumption that the average automobile carrying three people, made an average trip of fifty miles between home and park.

Further computation shows that this travel must have caused a gasoline bill of about $2,000,000 and a gas tax of four hundred thousand dollars paid into the state highway fund available for the maintenance of construction of state and county highways.

The legislative appropriation for park maintenance and operation during the same year was $197,775.00.

RHEUMATISM WM. HILL says he took nearly every medicine he heard about. Sargon scores.

"Sargon rid me of five years of indigestion, rheumatism, and chronic constipation in five weeks' time, so no wonder I'm enthusiastic about it. I spent hundreds of dollars and took practically every medicine I heard of, but my troubles had such a firm grip on me I kept right on suffering. I felt nauseated and sick after every meal. My left knee would get stiff with rheumatism and the pains would make me wince. I seldom had a bowel movement without taking some kind of strong purgative. Sargon and Sargon Pills ended my troubles and I wish I could tell every sufferer in the world about these two great medicines. My health is now finer than in 25 years." —Mr. Hill lives at 1303 Linden Ave., Minneapolis. Sold by Ellsworth Drug Store, Escanaba.
