SENATE ASKED TO ELIMINATE ALL RED TAPE

EMERGENCY ACTION NEEDED, SAYS COL. WOODS

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1931, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Jan. 9.—Red tape in government will have to be cut this winter just as it was in war time.

This is the impression which Colonel Arthur Woods, chairman of the president's emergency committee on unemployment, sought to convey to the senate appropriations committee as he unfolded perhaps the frankest, straight-from-the-shoulder talk on the present unemployment problem that a congressional committee has heard since depression began.

Speed Relief Work Colonel Woods, without accusing anybody of dilatory tactics and without discussing the causes of the depression or unemployment, told congress, through the senate committee, that the various programs for relief would probably be effective if they could only get started; and when asked specifically what congress would do, he pointed to the necessity of removing some of the red tape that surrounded the construction and road-building program.

Colonel Woods had a few things to say about the attitude of employers in relation to the drastic reduction of their personnel. He declared that business leaders were beginning to realize that the manner in which they hurt the purchasing power of the country by curtailing employment was in itself a factor in making things worse.

Contracts Awarded While Colonel Woods did not care to take the extreme view to a disturbance of the social order was involved, he intimated that the common sense of the American businessmen had forestalled such a contingency and that the discharge of employees was being carried out on a scientific basis through careful selection of those who could best afford to be discharged, such as unmarried men and those already eligible for retirement.

One of the most interesting bits of testimony came from Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads in the department of agriculture, who urged the removal of limitations made in connection with federal aid expenditures on public roads.

"I favor a removal of the limitations," he said.

Approximately two and a half billion dollars of public and private construction are planned for 1931, with 40 per cent being in the contract stage already.

Garden State Savings Bank Joined With First National

Manistique, Jan. 9 (Special)—Formation of a new national bank has been completed in Manistique for the purpose of consolidating with the Garden State Savings bank, according to an announcement made by representatives of the new institution. The new bank will still be known as the First National Bank, the only difference being that the new bank will be called the First National Bank in Manistique while the old one was known as the First National Bank of Manistique. MERGER PLAN OF NORTHERNS HALTED AGAIN

COMMISSION RULING BLOCKS RAILWAY CONSOLIDATION

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—The prospective merger of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railways, which has seemed on the verge of completion several times during a stormy career of nearly 30 years, has once more been called off.

The heads of the two roads, and the stockholders unification committee, jointly announced today that the merger application filed with the interstate commerce commission, July 5, 1927, would be withdrawn, owing to inability to meet the terms under which the commission approved the application in February, 1930.

The stumbling block was the commission's stipulation that the two roads direct themselves of their joint control of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, over which the Northerns have access to Chicago. The commission's own consolidation plan published a year ago sets up an independent system on the basis of the Burlington.

While official comment was lacking, some observers in Wall street pointed out that since the Eastern carriers evidently hope that the commission will abandon its suggested Washash system, the Northerns may have similar hopes regarding the proposed Burlington system.

15,000 Mile System

A unification of the two Northerns would result in a system of nearly 15,000 miles of line, and assets of a total book value, according to latest available statements, of approximately $1,700,000,000. The Burlington has additional mileage of more than 9,000 miles, and a book value of more than $700,000,000. A combination of the first two would make one of the largest systems in the country, and a combination of the three would make the country's largest system, exceeding the Southern Pacific in trackage, and the Pennsylvania in book value.

SENATE WANTS TO RECONSIDER

Asks Hoover to Return Nominations of Power Commission

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—The senate tonight voted to reconsider its confirmation of three members of the new power commission and requested President Hoover to return the nominations. The nominations of Chairman George Otis Smith, of Maine, and Commissioners Claude L. Draper, of Wyoming, and Marcel Garraud, of Louisiana, were brought up in the senate again on motion of Senator Wash, Democrat, Mont. He contended they had dismissed Solicitor Charles A. Russell and Chief Accountant William V. Hoover "for doing their duty."

Osier Boy Will Get New Trial At April Term

After deliberating 16 hours, a jury in the case of Joel Druckenmiller, 19, charged with the murder of A. E. Mertens, 61, of Osier, reported at 6 p. m. Friday that they were unable to reach an agreement, and the jury was discharged by Judge Frank A. Bell. The case will now come up for a new trial in the April session of Delta county circuit court.

The offense is alleged to have occurred the night of Oct. 4 at the Mertens farm home near Osier, the prosecution claiming that the aged man was attacked and robbed by Druckenmiller and a companion, Walter Kroll, 37, and that Mertens died as a result of a skull fracture sustained in the attack. Kroll committed suicide in the Delta county jail a week after he was arrested by hanging himself with a piece of wire used by a previous prisoner for hanging up clothes.

The defense, represented by Attorney Torval E. Strom, of Escanaba, raised the point of a doubt regarding the cause of Mertens' death, claiming that it had not been conclusively proven that the skull fracture reported by examining physicians was the real cause of death. The defense also held Kroll responsible for planning and executing the alleged robbery and attack, charging that Kroll dominated the younger man, Druckenmiller, and forced him to accompany Kroll in and force the jury against the law.

NEW FOOD LOAN BILL PROPOSED

Caraway Moves After LaFollette Attacks Administration

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—With one food loan fund waiting on a house sidetrack, another was loaded upon a legislative conveyance today in the senate in the hope that the other branch of congress might be prevailed upon to give it a clear signal.

No signs of this were immediately apparent in the house, however. Leaders there had made no attempt today to gain an agreement to send the general drought loan measure to conference to smooth out the differences over the food provision. Three previous attempts have failed.

Senator Caraway of Arkansas, the Democrat who sponsored the amendment already in dispute, offered another to provide $15,000,000 for food loans. This one was proposed to the deficiency appropriation bill, already passed by the house, and would have to take the same course as his previous amendment to allow the same amount. Under the rules the proposal must lay over for a day.

Caraway's move was made after Senator LaFollette, Republican, of Wisconsin, had assailed the administration for "failing" to provide adequately for drought and unemployment relief. He read reports of unemployment distress in many cities which he said showed the greatest suffering was in small (Continued on Page Five.)

Workers Have Made Success Of Governing Industrial City

Reading, Pa., Jan. 9.—This conservative industrial city of 111,000 population faces 1931 with a city government that is solidly Socialist—and believes that because of that fact it will get better and cheaper government than it used to have.

Reading has had Socialist control in its city government for two years now. But last November it voted in two more Socialists to make it unanimous, and also sent two Socialists to the state legislature; and as 1931 gets under way Reading finds itself with the first all-working-men's city government in the United States.

SENATE MEETS NEW OBSTACLE

Blaine Blocks Consideration of Appropriation Measure

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP)—The drive of senate leaders to complete necessary business before the March 4 adjournment and to avoid an extra session of the new congress today ran into new obstacles. Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, one of the Republican Independent group which will hold the balance of power in both the senate and house in the new congress, blocked consideration of the interior department appropriation bill.

The eleven appropriation bills carrying funds for operation of the government next year must be passed before the March 4 adjournment if the extra session is to be avoided. None has gotten through the senate to enactment. Senator Blaine objected to taking (Continued on Page Five.)

Another Medal For Rags, Dog Hero of World War

BY LORENA HICKOK. New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Rags, a shaggy, tuff-colored mongrel terrier whose picture—autographed with his paw mark—hangs in the British museum among the great heroes of the World war, got another medal today.

It was presented by the American anti-rvivision society, amid speeches and lots of applause. Rags probably won't wear the medal much, since he hates things dangling around his neck. All the fuss incident to his bestowal bored him not a little.

Flashlight Scared Him. But Rags was a gentleman. Gravely courteous, he permitted small boys and girls with flushed cheeks and skinned eyes to crowd round him and pat him in the wrong places, and with tongue lolling out and a gently humorous expression in his wise old eyes he watched grownups grow exalted and very sentimental.

He was a bad dog only twice. When they lifted him upon a table he squirmed a bit. And he almost collapsed from fright when (Continued on Page Five.)

INCREASE FORCE AT AUTO PLANTS

Ford Motor Company to Put On Over 50,000 Next Monday

Detroit, Jan. 9 (AP)—A return to normal production in Detroit's automobile industries was indicated today with announcements by three companies of payroll increases. Heading the list was the Ford Motor company, which announced that between 50,000 and 70,000 men will return to work Monday in the company's plants in this area. The normal payroll lists about 85,000 workers.

Approximately 6,500 employees went back to work in Ford plants Monday, marking the end of the annual inventory period. Only former employees are being taken back, the announcement said. The Cadillac Motor Car company had announced that operations had resumed this week with a normal payroll of 6,000 workers. The number, the announcement said, is an increase over the payroll when the plant was closed for inventory December 18.

"We expect to maintain this number indefinitely," A. U. Widman, works manager, said. "At present we are operating on a five day week, seven hours a day, basis. During the next few weeks it is likely that we will increase these hours. We hope to be operating on full time by spring."

U. P. DIRECTOR AND ECONOMY PLAN OPPOSED

WANTS TO PROVIDE FOR VETERAN WARDENS

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON. (Ass'd Press Staff Writer) Lansing, Mich., Jan. 9 (AP)—Governor Wilbur M. Brucker received the first official rebuke of his administration today when the state conservation commission frowned upon two of his proposals. The body turned thumbs down upon his suggestion that a resident deputy director of the conservation commission be established in the Upper Peninsula. It indicated dislike for some phases of the new executive's economy program—notably that holding that employees of the conservation department should be discharged—by deciding to provide for such venerable employees as must be displaced in the interests of efficiency.

Faced with a proposed reorganization of the field forces, entailing the dismissal of about 15 lower peninsula game wardens, the commission went on record as favoring giving license sale privileges to faithful, old employees who are forced out of active service. Director George Hogarth was instructed to name them as agents in various counties for the sale of hunting and fishing licenses. It was estimated that in the larger counties this position would yield from $1,000 to $1,300 a year. The licenses now are sold by county clerks.

The plan of reorganization provides that there shall be one regular game warden to each lower peninsula county, instead of the two or three now in some counties. Free lance wardens, to serve where needed, will be attached to the district warden's offices.

Discharge Plan Assailed When Hogarth submitted his plan of reorganization which was largely based upon Governor Brucker's recent demand that payrolls be slashed and inefficient employees be weeded out. Commissioners Harold Titus and Philip Schumaker protested vigorously against "throwing out faithful employees who have grown old in the service."

"Every time a new administration comes into office, this old agitation for economy is rehashed," Schumaker said. "This is not a practical time to discharge men. In two or three months the economy war will blow over anyway. Let's put the whole thing over about three months."

Commissioner Harry Whiteley offered a motion that the reorganization program be adopted, with the understanding it be put into effect very gradually. Commissioner Titus succeeded in attaching an amendment directing Hogarth to grant superannuated wardens license selling privileges.

Voght Against Shakeup The amended motion carried by a vote of 4 to 2, with Schumaker and Commissioner E. C. Voght voted negatively. They insisted no (Continued on Page Five.)

Lake Shipping Falls Off 26,055,316 Tons Cleveland, Jan. 9 (AP)—Shipping on the Great Lakes in 1930 fell off 26,055,316 net tons from the tonnage of 1929, which was an all-time record year, the Lake Carriers association announced today.

The net tonnage for the year was 112,519,125. Of this $2,172,940 was from ore. 36,839,923 bituminous coal, 1,232,137 anthracite coal, 12,432,493 limestone and 9,841,457 grain.

The report accounted for the greatest amount of loss in drastic curtailment in the demand for Lake Superior iron ore. The movement of ore was 25.56 per cent below that of 1929. The loss in limestone movement was about 23.5 per cent.

Midnight Shows Will Be Staged At Delft Theatre

A new Delft theatre policy, which will be in effect, beginning tonight, until further notice, the Saturday night pre-view, was announced Friday by Manager L. J. Jacobs.

This pre-view, a midnight show, will consist of an advance showing of the Sunday program, immediately following the second show Saturday evening, and patrons may attend both shows without any additional admission fee.

"The King of Jazz," featuring Paul Whiteman, will be the main attraction at the first of the series of pre-view shows tonight. Mae Tinee, movie critic of the Chicago Tribune, gives it a three-star rating, and has the following comment to make concerning it:

"The King of Jazz" is a riot of beautiful color, music, staging, effects, and—yes—men! Handsome is a word one would rather apply to members of the so-called stronger sex, but lighting and hues conspire to make it an inadequate description of the males who perform in this picture. John Boles in the "Monterey" number is—beautiful. And there are others.

Pictorially, "The King of Jazz" is bewitching, and its music has a beat and lure that sway the senses. The film falls down on its comedy. There's hardly a laugh in the carload. And "The Rhapsody in Blue" would have been far more effective played "straight" by Mr. Whiteman and his band, as they alone can play it, than all mixed up as it is with John Murray Anderson's stage manipulations—which are interesting, but out of place in this particular number.

Mr. Whiteman and his boys are much and delightfully on the job throughout the production. Jeanette Loff sings and performs in a manner that, combined with her good looks should win her much consideration from Universal. The Russell Markert dancers entertain expertly. The "Monterey" episode, featuring John Boles and Miss Loff—lovely! "Bench" and "Bridal Veil" numbers are stunning.

"Monterey" and "Dawn" are the most humble songs sung. "The King of Jazz" is an entrancing eye-fel. You can believe that.

FINES TO TOTAL NEAR $100,000

Game Law Enforcement Brought $91,366 in 11 Months

Lansing—Conservation law violators paid $91,366.56 in fines and costs in Michigan during the first eleven months of the year 1930, a report issued today by the law enforcing division of the department of conservation shows.

In addition to the payment of fines, conservation law violators served during the eleven months an aggregate of 6,479 days or the equivalent of 17.7 years in jail. Practically all of the jail sentences were alternatives for the non-payment of fines.

Helps Library Fund All of the money paid in fines went into the county library funds as provided under the constitution.

The law enforcement division's report shows a total of 3,998 convictions for the eleven months, with the number for the year probably running well above the 4,000 mark.

The average penalty paid by a conservation law violator during the year 1930 was $22.85. This figure shows gradually increasing penalty for the past several years, as well as a constant increase in the number of convictions for violations.

Hunters Increased For instance, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, there were 81 convictions for conservation law violations, with penalties aggregating $13,934.49. Again, in 1918 the total number of violators reached 2,413 with fines and costs making a total of $37,605.47 or an average of $15.58 for each violator.

The enormous increase in the number of conservation law violator during the past 19 years is credited to the fact that not only has the number of enforcement officers increased, making it possible to apprehend a larger percentage of those breaking these laws, but the number of hunters and trappers has also increased enormously during the same period.

In 1911, for example, there were but 23,000 deer hunters in the woods during the open deer season. In 1930 there were perhaps 70,000 deer hunters in the woods. The same increase continues to hold true for the small game hunters.

A consistent ratio for violations month for month, is held each year. November, with the woods filled with deer hunters annually reports the largest number of violators. In 1930 the figure was well over 600. October ranks second in the number of convictions. High peaks for violations are also reached in May, June and July, with the fishing seasons in full swing. January, February and March report the smallest number of violators.

Menominee County 4-H Leader Named Best in Peninsula

Mrs. Leonora Lienna of Stephenson was named the outstanding 4-H club leader of the Upper Peninsula at the annual county club leaders' banquet in Marquette.

The best club leader was chosen by a committee composed of A. G. Kettunen, of East Lansing, state club leader; Miss Olga Bird and Clare Hood, assistant club leaders stationed in the upper peninsula, and George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau. Mr. Bishop presented Mrs. Lienna with a pewter tea service in recognition of her record.

Has Remarkable Record Mrs. Lienna has had long experience in club work, participating in it for three years previous to her teaching career and continuing it since that time. For five years she was a member of a 4-H clothing club, during which time she was county champion for three years. She also was a member, for two years, of a 4-H canning club and was a member of a canning demonstration team which won first place at the county fair two years.

As the leader of a poultry club she won a trip to Detroit with a demonstration team, but was unable to reap the reward because she began teaching school. During her nine years as a club leader she has led clubs in clothing, handicraft, hot lunches and two summers of canning club work. During that time she has had about 350 boys and girls under her direction.

Her club members have won four county championships in clothing, two county championships in handicraft, and one one county health championship. Her club members also have won numerous places at fairs with their exhibits.

New York.—Kissin' is good for the digestion.

So declares Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, dictionary editor, in an article in Radio Digest. On scientific authority, Dr. Vizetelly avers that in kissing only beneficent organisms are encountered and that the advantages of the practice far outweigh its infinitesimal risks, for it provides the kissers with microbes useful for digestion.

"It will probably be found," he says, "that the beneficent organisms required flourish in greatest abundance on the lips of the young and comely."

Dr. Vizetelly, who knows 60,000,000 words, uses a few of them to produce the following definition of a kiss:

"It is the seal that expresses sincere affection; a pledge of future union; a gift, which, as given, takes from us the impression of our

AT THE MICHIGAN
An underworld drama which is in many ways remarkable is "Outside the Law," the Universal all-talking production, which opened its engagement yesterday at the Michigan Theatre. In addition to its many other excellent qualities, it achieves real distinction as a crook story which very powerfully touches the heart strings. The love story of two underworld sweethearts is presented with a rare quality of delicacy and charm.

AT THE DELFT
A thrilling Universal Western serial, "The Indians are Coming," will be shown at the Delft Theatre at every Saturday matinee for 12 weeks. It features Tim McCoy and Allene Ray.

Lola Moran and Phillips Holmes are the romantic leads in "The Dancers," Fox Movietone drama of youth directed by Chandler Sprague, which appears at the Delft Theatre today.

The story contrasts the lives of two girls, both dancers, who love the same man. It is an intimate picture of modern life, morals and love in which the bravery and spirit of both girls are tried to the limit. Walter Byron and Mae Clarke head the distinguished supporting cast, which also includes Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Tyrrell Davis.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Sun Melts Snow—Escanaba experienced a January thaw Friday. A bright sun and temperatures above freezing made some of the city's meagre supply of winter snow disappear. It was colder last night, and today will be partly cloudy, according to the local weather bureau.

Fires Still Burning—Snow storms so far have failed to halt the marsh fires burning in the ground near the west Escanaba city limits. The fire is burning close to the old state road at some points, and occasionally fares up in the brush of the marsh.

E. Shawl of Cheboygan, retired, to consider the case at 3:30 p. m. Friday.

BIG BILL'S LOCKOUT

CHICAGO is being treated to another of William Hale Thompson's "America First" campaigns. The result will determine whether Big Bill or someone else deserves the honor and other benefits that will accompany the title of world's fair mayor of Chicago.

The height to which political sportsmanship has now risen in Chicago is shown by the method which Big Bill used—successfully—to have his name placed at the top of the Republican ballot and thus snare those lazy voters who are content to place a cross before the first name.

The rule is that on the day for filing petitions the first candidate to place his petition before the city clerk gets the desired position on the ballot. So on the morning of this day all doors to Chicago's city hall were kept locked for awhile, forcing crowds of jobholders and representatives of rival candidates to wait in the street. The only person let in by the watchful doorkeeper was Big Bill's emissary. And only after Thompson's petition had been properly filed were the doors thrown open.

So Big Bill is again saving the nation from King George and the league of nations. If Chicago people elect him again, they will deserve the maladministration he will give. But it will be unfortunate if world's fair visitors are fleeced by Thompson's racketeer supporters and if the racket menace receives further encouragement in one of its worst sources.

IT'S IN THE AIR

TO ANYONE who has been reading statements of opinion by educators all over the country recently relative to the role which athletics have come to play in high schools, colleges and universities, the action of President Munson in discarding the annual upper peninsula high school basketball tournament should be no surprise.

Mr. Munson gives his reasons plainly and bluntly. The tournaments, he says, are encroaching too much upon the time of students and faculty at the Teachers college. Thirteen tournaments have been sponsored and handled by the college and each has required a large amount of work on the part of many of the faculty as well as students. The college has not benefitted financially from the tournaments, nor have they been a liability, from the standpoint of cash. The only possible benefit they bring to the institution, that of making it the annual gathering place for a large number of upper peninsula athletes who might, as a result of their visits here, become interested in attending the college later, is offset, Mr. Munson believes, by interference with routine work in the college.

In his letter to the state high school athletic association informing it of his decision to discontinue the tournament, President Munson expresses an opinion about physical education in high schools which is in absolute accord with a growing sentiment among school administrators when he suggests that Michigan's high school physical training program should be designed to reach and benefit a majority of the students, instead of the few who are able to play on teams in competitive games. He does not advocate abolishment of interscholastic competitive athletics, but believes basketball teams should play their regular schedules and call it quits.

As might be expected, President Munson's action is decidedly unpopular with the business men of this community. The annual tournament has been an outstanding event in Marquette for years. It has furnished entertainment for thousands of persons and has brought a lot of dollars into this city which, naturally enough, the business men appreciate. Yesterday they were sharply criticizing the Teachers college president, declaring he should have given consideration to the community value of the tournament before throwing it out. Apparently, however, Mr. Munson believes that the interests of the community, so far as its benefits from a basketball tournament are concerned, are of no consequence as compared to the well-being of the Teachers college.

Also there are many who disagree with Mr. Munson's opinion as to the value of high school competitive athletics and championship tournaments. They hold that the benefits of interscholastic athletics are not confined to the physical training given participants, but that they generate and maintain a wholesome school spirit which helps stimulate and hold boys' and girls' interest in going to school at an age when they are apt to become bored with books; that they create helpful community enthusiasm for school affairs; also that they create a general interest in athletics among students which makes possible greater success in carrying out the kind of physical education program which Mr. Munson advocates. — Marquette Mining Journal.

DRIFTING DOWN A RIVER

A HOME MADE boat is slipping down the waters of the Mississippi river, leisurely and quietly. It isn't going anywhere in particular and it has all the time in the world to get there.

And on the deck an old man sits with his feet propped against the rail. J. W. Preston is 70 years old. Once he was an automobile upholsterer. His shop was always crowded with work to do. But every now and then he would leave his tasks at East St. Louis, Illinois, and go down to the river bank. He would see the shine of a light far out. Then he would renew his vow that some day, when he was old, he, too, would be a vagrant on the waterways. He would be lulled to sleep by the steady splash of waves, he would have stars for candles, and the wind across the water for an evening song. Some day . . . And now the time has come. Preston goes drifting down the long brown river, doing the thing he has always wanted to do. He and the river have lots of time. Neither is in any hurry.

Preston isn't any different than most other men. Nearly every man who has passed the eagerness of youth starts to dream dreams, and the last one is based on the peaceful way in which he shall rest a little while, so he can be ready for the last clear call. Most of them never achieve the period of waiting. Preston did.

We all desire a period for dreams, a time of laziness, at the ending of the way. We want to take a deep breath; to see a far light; to close our eyes and feel the current carrying us on and know that we don't have to touch the oars. We can drift and drift and drift, and if we miss one port we'll make another. So many of our adventures must take place only in our hearts. So often we are so busy we haven't time to think of them during the productive years. But there comes a time to all of us, as it did to Ulysses, that first rover of the waterways, when we want to sail beyond the sunset till we die.

And because Preston has a period of usefulness behind him he can enjoy the heritage of laziness which is his. He has earned the right to drift on gold-brown waters through the day and black channels touched with drifted silver in the night.

We are glad that he wasn't afraid to make his boat and start down the river. And we hope that when he heads for the final shore it will be just as the dawn breaks on the river.

An old man who had the lazy wanderlust somehow could catch the pulse of a new adventure more easily if his boat swung into harbor as he drifted from the night.

After all, muses the office sage, there is only a letter's difference between a resolution and a revolution.

As far as a woman is concerned, "taking it on the chin" means merely another application of the powder puff.

A New Jersey man has invented an electrical device to shock mosquitoes to death. And many of them, no doubt, will bite for his.

Anniversary

ETHAN ALLEN'S BIRTH

On Jan. 10, 1737, Ethan Allen, famous American soldier, was born at Litchfield, Conn. He moved to Vermont in 1769 and took an active part in that state's controversy with New York over land grants.

At the outbreak of the Revolution Allen organized an expedition against Ticonderoga. On the morning of May 10, 1775, he surprised the British garrison and forced its commander to surrender in the name of the great Jehovah and the Continental Congress.

Allen later was sent on secret missions to Canada and did good service in Montgomery's expedition. He was captured near Montreal and sent to England. Some months later he was sent back to this country and, after being held prisoner in Halifax and New York, was exchanged.

On his return to Vermont, he was breveted a lieutenant colonel by Congress and became brigadier general in the Vermont militia.

MURDER AT BRIDGE

CHAPTER XLV

Bonnie Dundee set his traveling bag upon a chair and picked up the sealed envelope which bore no other inscription than his name. The note it contained was on paper as plain as the envelope, was typed and unsigned.

"If Special Investigator Dundee will consult page 479 of the latest WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA, he will find a tip which should aid him materially in solving the two murder cases which seem to be proving too difficult for his inexperience."

A wry grin at the unfriendly glances of his anonymous correspondent was just twisting his lips when a double knock, with which he had become very familiar, sounded on the living room door, which he had not completely closed.

"Come in, Belle!" A morose, slack-mouthed mulatto girl in ancient felt slippers sidled into the room.

"Howdy, Mistah Dundee," Belle greeted him listlessly. "You got back, like the paper said you would, didn't you? And I ain't sayin' I ain't glad! Dat parrot of yonhs sho is a Gawd's own nuss—suppin' at mah fingahs, an' screechin' his rood head off."

"Course I ain't sayin' it's his fault, kep'in' dat young gen'man on de second flo' awake las' night . . . But lak I say to Mistah Wilson, when he lights into me dis mornin', runnin' off at de mouf 'cause I fo'got to put Cap'n's covah on his cage las' night, I ain't de onliest one what fo'gets in dis house. . . . Comin' home Gawd knows when an leavin' de front do' unlocked de rest o' de night, so's bugglers and murderers and Gawd knows who could walk right in hyer."

Dundee, itching to consult his own copy of "Who's Who," flung a glance at the parrot's cage, intending to pacify the mournful girl by soothing his "Watson" roundly. But he changed his mind and consoled the chambermaid instead.

"Just tell Mr. Wilson that for once he's wrong. You did not forget to cover Cap'n's cage, Belle. Look!"

The girl's dull black eyes bulged as they took in the cage, completely swathed in a square of dark silk.

"Gawd's sake, Mistah Dundee!" she ejaculated. "I didn't put dat covah on dat bird's cage! An' neithah did M' Brown, 'cause she been laid up with rheumatiz evah since you lef', an' evah las'!"

'Looking Backward'

Health Tips

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

As a result of the vote of a large committee of scientific men, the Popular Science Monthly recently awarded $5000 each and a medal to Dr. George H. Whipple, dean of the School of Medicine of the University of Rochester, New York, and to Dr. George R. Minot, professor of medicine in Harvard University Medical School, for having made the greatest current achievement in science for the benefit of the public.

On several occasions in the past five years the discoveries of these two men have been referred to in these articles. The principle of the use of liver in the control of pernicious anemia was developed by Dr. Whipple and the application of this principle to the treatment of human beings was the work of Dr. Minot.

Previous to these discoveries, pernicious anemia was considered an invariably fatal disorder. Dr. Minot experimented on animals, principally dogs, whose diets consisted of meat and bone, and found that the liver, the kidney and the heart tissue contained chemical substances which stimulated the formation of red blood cells.

Dr. Whipple first began his work 13 years ago when he was professor of research medicine in the University of California. It occurred to Dr. Minot to adapt Dr. Whipple's investigations to the treatment of patients with pernicious anemia. When Dr. Minot began to feed liver to patients with the disease in 1921 and continued through 1925, he began at first with a quarter of a pound a day and increased it later to a half pound per day. Finally, in 1926, he announced that the feeding of liver to patients with pernicious anemia would prolong their lives, keeping the red blood cells steadily up to the required number.

It is, of course, a mistake to speak of the use of liver as a cure for pernicious anemia, for it does not overcome the basic cause in the human body which produces the disease. However, as long as the person affected continues to take either in the form of whole liver or of liver extract, his blood seems to go on building up red cells and he is enabled to lead a useful life. The method of treatment has not been known for a sufficiently long time to dictate to what degree the treatment will affect the longevity of these people in general.

LYRICS OF LIFE

THE LOVE OF MOTHER

A man will need a mother In ev'ry hour of livin'. There never is another So giving, and forgiving. Oh, sweet the dreams of lovers, And younger lips are clever, And yet a man discovers But one love lives forever— The less he hears her, less He needs her. The more he learns how much He needs her.

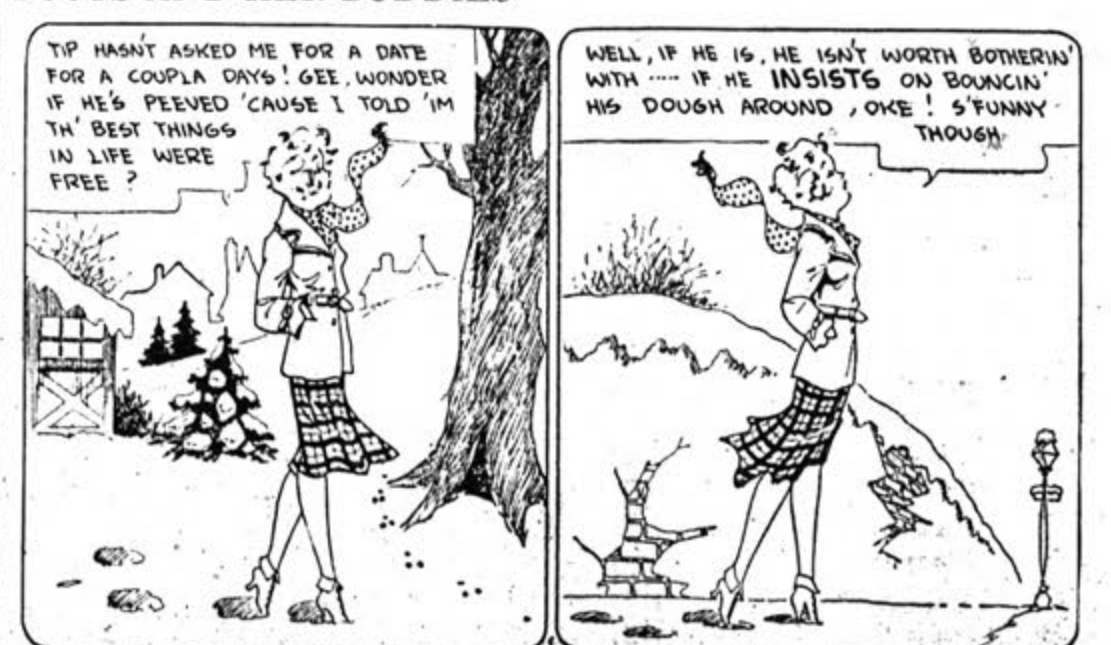

A man may have a mother. And yet not have her, even. Perhaps may have no other Than one who dwells in heaven. Yet, when the new love leaves him, To seek some other passion, Or when the old deceives him, As all loves have a fashion, He knows that somewhere far Above him A little mother leans To love him.

The memory of mother. Oh, keep it ever brighter. You'll never find another. A truer love, a whiter. To cheer you up to save you. Let still her arms enfold you— Remember all she gave you. The time will never come, My brother, You will not need the love Of mother.

U. P. DIRECTOR AND ECONOMY PLAN OPPOSED

shakeup of any description should come at this time. The commission rejected "in the interests of economy" Governor Brucker's proposal to create the office of resident deputy commissioner for the Upper Peninsula.

The following resolution was adopted by the commission: "We the members of the conservation commission are in accord with Governor Brucker's ideas regarding the closest possible relationship between conservation department headquarters in Lansing and the Upper Peninsula."

Opposed Thorsen Appointment It was the second time the commission had declined to comply with Governor Brucker's wishes relative to the proposed Upper Peninsula office.

It is the feeling of some members of the commission that in addition to the expense the separation of the activities of the conservation department would indicate controversies.

Brucker's Proposal It said: "Easy access to one possessing considerable authority will undoubtedly tend to do away with a large number of complaints that might otherwise be lodged without much substantial justification."

"The conservation problems of the Upper Peninsula because of the character of the country involved and the industries, differ considerably from those of the lower peninsula and more populous parts of the state. It is difficult for those residing in this part of the state to thoroughly grasp and understand some of the everyday problems that the hunters, fishermen and land owners have to deal with."

Today's Bridge

Article No. 92 BY EDWARD C. WOLFF, member of the National Championship Auction Team

A venturesome North started auction by bidding one no trump. True, this is not the sort of a bid which any player (and particularly your correspondent) would have made, but any player who is opening bid is always gamble.

The Play North opens the ace of clubs and continues with the nine, East trump. South's suit of the ten hearts on East's lead of the ace of trumps. South gives East a very accurate reading of the hand. It is now reasonable to assume that North, having bid one trump, must very likely have bid four hearts to the jack.

West must therefore discountinue the lead of trumps and endeavor, on the 11th trick, to put North in the lead. This will compel North to lead hearts up to West instead of West leading hearts up to North. East at trick 4 leads the ace of diamonds, and the return of a small diamond places West in the lead. The lead of a spade forces North to play the ace. North's remaining club forces East's king of hearts. The queen of diamonds, followed by another diamond, places West in the lead with a small trump.

At trick No. 10, West's remaining spade is taken by East with the king. At trick No. 11 (the crucial trick), East leads another spade, West trumping with the eight. North must now lead from his jack-eight of hearts up to West's ace-nine.

Glorifying Yourself

By Alicia Hart

In these days of glamorous slippers, with their silver bands and rhinestone buckles, a thick saddle, suddenly appearing under a mass of lacy ruffles, is entirely out of the fashion picture.

Ankles aren't a novelty now, but they haven't stopped being an attraction. So if you want to step along in grace and charm, exercise until you have the perfection you desire, and then keep on, in order to retain it. The five suggested exercises should be performed ten times every morning and night, at first, gradually being increased until you can do them one hundred times. Standing erect, with limbs together, and arms extended forward, separate the arms sidewise, and inhale through the nose. As you bring the arms back to your first position exhale through the mouth.

Next, stand erect, supporting your hands on the back of a chair, squat to a sitting position, keeping your back straight. Now stand erect, hands at side, and raise on toes, lifting your arms above your head, inhaling while you raise and exhaling while you return to your first position.

Erect once more, put your limbs together, your hands on your hips, and raise first your right, and then your left leg, sidewise, up and down. The next exercise requires the erect position with limbs together again. Standing in one spot, kick backward as far as possible with the heels as though running.

Two mat exercises, which require a recumbent position, are also included. In the first one, bring your knees up to your chest, then lower to the first position.

When that has been done the required number of times, bring limbs up to the chest, and perform a complete circle alternating your right, and then your left leg, as though you were riding a bicycle.

Butter some small cups, fill them with the mixture, and bake for 20 minutes or so in a moderate oven. Turn the patties on a hot dish, pour some wine-sauce over, and serve.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

BY SISTER MARY

A well chosen salad gives tone to a meal and often places an otherwise mediocre luncheon or dinner in a class by itself in the memory of those who have enjoyed it.

Carefully prepared fruits and vegetables used in salads add vitamins and mineral salts to the diet with a minimum of calories if the salad dressing is not rich and heavy.

A fish or chicken salad should not be served when there is a meat course. In lobster, crab and similar salads, the celery and lettuce ingredients too often are overshadowed. A mixture of chopped pecans, cold turkey or chicken, hard cooked eggs and similar salads, the celery and lettuce ingredients too often are overshadowed. A mixture of chopped pecans, cold turkey or chicken, hard cooked eggs and similar salads, the celery and lettuce ingredients too often are overshadowed.

Truck Line Approved
Iron Mountain.—W. D. Cochran, manager of the Iron Range Transportation Co., and operator of a motor truck freight line, today was notified by the Wisconsin railroad commission that he had been granted a permit to establish a truck freight line between Iron Mountain and Green Bay.

Cochran appeared before the commission a few days ago with his request for a permit. It was fought by the representatives of the Chicago & North Western and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railways, but nevertheless was approved by the commission.

The freight line, which will probably be in operation within a short time, will carry consignments from Green Bay to Iron Mountain, and points enroute with the exception of shipments from Green Bay to Amberg. However, it can accept shipments for any point on the trip from Iron Mountain to Green Bay.

Takes Charge of Mine
Norway.—Harold J. Richards, former superintendent of the Sunday Lake mine at Wakefield, has begun his new duties at the Penn mines at Vulcan, to succeed David Cavan, who, with his family, left yesterday for Ironwood, where he will be superintendent of Newport and Carey mines.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards are moving into the home created by the Cavans.

No other changes have been made in the personnel of the office staff.

Richards took an active part in the civic and social life in Wakefield, organizing and supervising the building of a community club house. He is also interested in sports.

Cavan came to Norway seven years ago and assumed a leading position in the social and civic life of the community. He was president of the Norway township board of education and a member of the Dickinson county road commission besides being a member of the board of directors of the First National bank of Norway.

Soup Kitchen
Iron River.—Preliminary work at the new city park at Ice Lake was to have been completed today by lumberjacks who eat at the civic soup kitchen.

Yesterday about 20 of them under the supervision of William Wehlin, street and water works superintendent, spent eight hours cleaning up the premises and removing dead timber.

The lumberjacks were called upon to work at the park by David M. Youngs, city manager, who believes that if they accept the hospitality of the city, they should return the favor. About 20 lumberjacks have reported for work each day for the last several days.

Approximately 65 persons were fed at the soup kitchen yesterday afternoon. This number is smaller than the average of the last few weeks.

The chef at the kitchen reports that provisions will last for just a few more days, and donations are needed.

New County Nurse
Ironwood.—Official notice of appointment of Miss Marie Dwyer as public health nurse for Govele county was received yesterday by E. O. Judd, chairman of the county committee for the Children's Fund of Michigan.

MURDER IN BRIDGE

By ANNE AUSTIN

he got home 'long 'bout midnight, an' he clean 'n' go to turn de key in de do' an' shoot de bolt."

"Thanks, Belle. That will be all now," and Dundee did a great deal to dispel the chambermaid's gloom by presenting her with a dollar bill.

When she had gone, the detective read the note again, then looked at it and its envelope more closely. They had a strangely familiar look.

"The truth," he said to himself, "is no coincidence that he had a copy of the very book to which his unknown correspondent referred him."

"But why did my unknown friend risk arrest as a burglar if he wanted to give me an honest tip?" Dundee remarked aloud to the parrot, who croaked an irrelevant answer:

"Bad Penny! Bad Penny!" "I'm afraid, my dear Watson, that those words will not be so helpful in this case as they were when your mistress was murdered."

"Another question, Cap'n—why did the unknown bother to take my 'Who's Who' out of the bookcase, I should naturally have looked for it, and put it on that particular shelf?"

Warily, for his scalp was prickling with a premonition of danger, Dundee crossed the room to reach out for the red book, which might have been expected to solve the problem, at least.

"The shelf, with its drapery of rather fine old silk tapestry, offered no answer in itself, for it held nothing except the red book, a Chinese bowl, and a humidifier of tobacco."

Suddenly Dundee stooped and stared with eyes that were widened with excitement and a certain amount of horror. Then he rose, and standing far to one side, picked up the fat volume which lay on the shelf.

But more had happened than the whizzing flight of a bullet through one of the holes of the hot-air register. The "Who's Who" had been jerked almost out of Dundee's hand before he had lifted the heavy volume many inches from the shelf.

Looking for it, he would now have been dead. And the gun and silencer, after hurtling down the big hot-air pipe behind the register, could have lain hidden for months, even years, in the heat reservoir of the furnace.

With the weapon carefully wrapped in his handkerchief, Dundee went up the stairs almost as swiftly as he had gone down them, meeting no one on the way to his rooms on the top floor.

"My most heartfelt thanks to you, Cap'n!" he greeted his parrot. "If you had not squawked last night and so frightened the murderer that he made the vital error of covering your cage, I should never have annoyed you again with my Sherlock ruminations on cases which do not interest you in the slightest."

The parrot cackled hoarsely, but Dundee paid him scant attention. He picked up the now harmless "Who's Who" and turned to page 410, a corner of which had disappeared with the string which was still fastened to the hair-trigger hammer of the Colt's .32.

At last he held in his hands the weapon with which Nita Leigh Selim and Dexter Sprague had been murdered.

The ingeniousness of his own attempted murder moved him to such profound admiration that he could scarcely feel resentment. If, in the excitement of hunting for a promised clue, he had gone directly to the shelf, standing in front of the hole in the register into which the end of the silencer had been jammed, so that it showed scarcely at all, even to eyes

Giant Dirigible To be Constructed By Detroit Firm

Detroit, Jan. 9 (AP)—Plans for the construction in Detroit of the largest metal clad dirigible ever designed are being discussed by engineers of the Detroit Aircraft Development corporation and the United States Army.

Recent favorable action of the appropriations committee in congress in including in its report $200,000 for preliminary work on the project is believed to have virtually assured the army its metal-clad ship. A smaller ship of similar construction was built for the navy here in 1929 and has been in service for fifteen months.

The general plans for the army's ship already have been approved by the war department, and tests of models are under way here. The completed dirigible would cost $4,500,000.

The army ship is to be made entirely of metal, according to present plans, and will be 550 feet long. Power will be supplied by eight engines having a total of 5,000 horsepower. The cruising range of the ship will be 3,600 miles, with a speed of about seventy miles an hour. It will be possible, however, to step the big ship up to 100 miles an hour because of reduced resistance and superior strength of its metal covering.

The dirigible will carry a control car 100 feet long and will have a crew of forty men. The gross lift will be approximately 115 tons. Nearly 500 men will be employed in the construction.

Early construction work on the dirigible is being predicted because of the favorable report of the house appropriations committee.

Prison Inmates Pursue Studies

Berkeley, Cal. (AP)—There's little to the social side of "university life" at San Quentin prison, but much is being accomplished in class work on the "stone walled campus."

Nearly 1,500 separate courses are being given to as many prisoners by the extension department of the University of California at a total cost of more than $10,500 yearly without expense to the confined students. No other prison in this world is believed to have as many inmates pursuing an education.

School Spirit Good. A good school spirit, while not of the stadium-building type, is reflected in the work accomplished, says Prof. G. A. Smithson, extension director.

Certificates given for courses completed do not intimate that the recipient has even been in prison, and credits bestowed are good for matriculation into the university.

Language courses are the most popular, with Spanish leading. Mathematics and economics are next. For some time after one of the year's best sellers had been authored in San Quentin there was a veritable deluge of enrollments in writing courses.

There had long been a prison rule against writing for outside publication, but this book was smuggled out. It met with instantaneous success, but the prison management was adamant in its refusal to lift the rule, and enthusiasm for writing has waned somewhat.

"BIG BILL" ILL, BUT WON'T QUIT

Although his health has been badly impaired by inflammatory rheumatism, "Big Bill" Thompson, mayor of Chicago, has refused to drop his candidacy for re-election. This picture is the first showing him at a health resort at Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he is taking treatments.

"The Lost Coin" to Be Dramatized at M. E. Church Sun.

It was over 'in no man's land.' The war was raging; the enemy was advancing into new territory. Old men, women and children were fleeing from their homes which had been suddenly plunged into the danger zone. They gathered up whatever of their possessions they could carry or load on to wheelbarrows or hand carts etc., and then they manœvered their way to the box cars which were at present beyond the reach of shell fire, and which were to carry these poor folk from their homes into the safe zone.

Shells were already bursting in the air, horsemen were flying in every direction, the shrill whistle of the shells could be distinctly heard coming nearer and nearer all the time. Bombs were being dropped from "Taubs" everywhere there was considerable confusion. Finally the last of the little children were loaded into the box cars and the train was on its way out of danger.

That evening the writer while on inspection heard a noise as if someone was sobbing, and upon investigation discovered a little girl who in the confusion had been left behind all alone. It was pitch black and the air was filled with the sound of bursting shells and bombs dropped from aeroplanes. She was crouching in a recently made bomb hole behind a ragged bush half of which had been torn to fragments by the bomb. Upon seeing the writer she gasped "Soldat Anglaise" and was extremely happy by my side and grasping my hand in appreciation of the fact that she would be cared for. This child had been lost and was found.

Jesus Christ the Great Master tells many stories of the lost and found and one of these stories will be dramatized on Sunday evening at the usual hour of 7:30 at the First Methodist Episcopal church. The story will be "The Lost Coin." An Oriental woman will search diligently for that which has been lost until she finds it and will rejoice because it was found. Miss Clara Crawford will take the part of the Oriental woman, and the pastor of the church will tell the story of "The Lost and Found." Mr. William Dromandy, director of the play "Apple Blossom Time," will sing a solo at this service. A most cordial invitation is extended to all.

John Barrymore, whose first Vitaphone comedy, "The Man from Blankley's" at the Gero Theatre, knows England and the English people well, for he has spent many vacations there as well as theatrical seasons. He personally chose this English comedy for his second Warner Bros. Vitaphone production and no star ever enjoyed the making of a picture more than Mr. Barrymore did this farce. His understanding of English character as well as his own keen sense of humor aided greatly in developing the hilarity of the production which has to do with a ray and arky lord who by mistake stumbles into the wrong house. Alfred E. Green directed.

Fair-ground Project Will Soon Be Ready

Laying of sewer pipes from Maple avenue to the fairgrounds which is being done by the county indigent under the supervision of city officials was completed today. Water pipe is still being laid and filling in is being done. It is expected that the project will be entirely completed by next week.

On account of the heavy rock structure much blasting had to be done, but the work progressed much faster than was originally anticipated. Upwards of 20 men were used on the project.

The Best Kind of Philanthropy

The best kind of philanthropy is the kind which makes philanthropy unnecessary. This is the kind that puts money into circulation, stimulates business, creates jobs, and puts people into those jobs.

Such philanthropy begins at home---through the resumption of normal buying for normal needs on the part of everybody whose income remains steady.

People Don't Want Charity ---They Want Jobs

You can make it possible for them to get these jobs---by resuming your normal buying for your personal and household needs. Steady buying steadies business. Steady business means steadier jobs and more of them.

It will help to put many people back to work right away.

Every Big Ten Basketball Team Active Tonight

MICHIGAN WILL PLAY WILDCATS

Wolverines Have Tough Battle on Hand; Purdue Is Nervous

Chicago, Jan. 9 (AP)—The big push for the Big Ten basketball crown opens tomorrow night with every team in action.

The night's schedule, Illinois at Purdue, Wisconsin at Ohio State, Chicago at Indiana, Michigan at Northwestern, Minnesota at Iowa.

Tomorrow night's card is topped in interest by the Michigan-Northwestern battle. Michigan startled the Big Ten basketball world Tuesday night by turning back Purdue, 29 to 22, but may have a tougher fight against Northwestern's Wildcats.

Purdue, favored to defeat Illinois, faced the game nervously as a defeat would just about kill its chances to keep in the race.

Chicago, victor over Illinois by the surprisingly low score of 12 to 9 Monday night was favored to beat Ohio State, while the Minnesota-Iowa game was regarded as a toss-up.

Boxing Situation Still Standstill

New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—The heavyweight middle took on all the elements of the first act of a mystery thriller today with harassed sports writers in the roles of the detectives searching for the corpus delicti or at least a motive.

"Pa" Stribling, head of the family that boasts W. L. "Young" Stribling as its fighting member, arrived in New York, flashed across the stage, and immediately disappeared. A mysterious voice, identified as that of Nate Lewis, Chicago promoter who wants to stage a heavyweight title bout between Max Schmeling and Stribling.

Len Harvey Loses Hairline Decision

Wayne Munn, Former Heavy Mat Champion, Summoned by Death

Munn. Munn, commissioned a lieutenant...

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 9 (AP)—Wayne H. (Big) Munn, the maddening wrestler who crashed his way to a brief reign in 1926 as claimant of the world's heavy weight mat title, died here today.

Bright's disease ended the career of the 35-year-old former University of Nebraska athlete. Six years ago in Convention Hall at Kansas City, Munn tossed Ed "Strangler" Lewis out of the ring, won the match before 15,000 spectators and was acclaimed the leading heavy weight grappler of the world.

It was generally conceded Munn had little science and relied on his 6 feet 6 inches in height and his more than 250 pounds to aid him. His main attack was a crotch hold, which being once clamped on, enabled the giant to lift his opponents high in the air and slam them to the mat.

In winning from Lewis in 1925, Munn lost one fall—the second—when Referee Walter Bates ruled he had fouled in tossing Lewis out of the ring. Munn had won the first fall and easily took the third when the great Lewis returned under protest. After the third fall, Lewis was taken to a hospital in an ambulance.

MAY POSTPONE SPEED TRIALS

Insufficient Funds and Official Sanction Still Lacking

BY ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) New York, Jan. 9 (AP)—Unless the spirit of speed decision is injected into present negotiations, the flash and the roar of the fact-fact machines on earth will be missing this winter from the famous natural speedway at Daytona Beach, Florida.

Speaking today for the contest board of the American Automobile Association, Secretary Ted Allen in effect served an ultimatum on the City of Daytona Beach by announcing that unless an application for the official sanction of speed trials is received by next Monday, January 12, he will advise Captain Malcolm Campbell not to leave England for the United States and a series of speed tests on the southern sands.

Campbell, continuing his quest of the world's record set in 1929 at Daytona Beach at 231 miles per hour by the late Sir Henry Segrave, has arranged to ship his Napier-powered car, Bluebird II, to this country on Jan. 14 and leave himself ten days later.

Inadequate Fund So far, however, Allen explained today, completion of financial arrangements with the city of Daytona Beach has lagged. The city's proposed contribution of $4,000 toward the handling of the speed trials is not considered adequate.

Another factor making early action imperative is that the beach at Daytona develops desirable racing conditions only for a short period in January and February.

Last winter unsatisfactory conditions contributed to the failure of record-breaking attempts by another Britisher, Kaye Don, in his Silver Bullet.

Capt. Campbell is the last survivor of a quartet that has exceeded 200 miles per hour officially at Daytona Beach. He set a record slightly in excess of 206.9 m. p. h. in 1928. Frank Lockhart was killed the same year while seeking the record. It was broken the following year by the late Ray Keech, who was clocked at 207.5 m. p. h. Segrave later shot the figure up to 231 m. p. h. in his Golden Arrow.

In South Africa last year, Capt. Campbell reeled off five miles at an average of 216 m. p. h. and in one burst of speed covered a mile at the rate of 225 but his best official average, going and coming over the measured mile, was 218.

Rock Knocks Off Stephenson, 35-11

Rock, Jan. 9 (Special)—Exhibiting fast floor work and accuracy in basket shooting, the Little Giants continued on their victorious march here tonight by defeating the Stephenson quintet by a 35 to 11 score.

The Rock cagers grabbed off the lead in the first quarter and held it throughout the interesting battle. Rabdeau was the outstanding basket tosser of the evening, scoring eight field goals for the Giants.

In a preliminary fray, the Rock Spartans won from an Escanaba Tr. County League team, 29 to 24. The lineup:

MARINETTE IS BEVENOC'S FOE

Escanaba Team to Meet Powerful Quintet Here Sunday

The Marinette Legion basketball team will furnish the opposition for the undefeated Bevenoc's at the Coliseum gymnasium Sunday afternoon. Manager Byrns has announced. The Wisconsin team has been hailed as exceptionally strong and boasts a galaxy of stars, many of whom have played on college teams in recent years.

After tipping over all teams they have met this season and walking off with lopsided victories in most of the games, the Bevenoc's followers believe that they are just about due to crack. Whether the Marinette quintet is able to turn the trick, however, remains to be seen.

Included in the list of stars who will perform with the Legionnaires from Marinette are Ernie Lund, of Carroll College, the big nose of the outfit; Prudhomme, formerly with the army team of Wisconsin; Red Collins, Wisconsin University; Arnold Olson, Ripon College; Ehler and Burns, Marinette high school, and others. They have taken the scalp of the Menominee team in addition to other victories this season.

In the preliminary game the Dictators will oppose the Cardinals in a Tri-County league game. The preliminary will start at 1:30 p. m. with the main game at 2:30 o'clock.

SCHMELING WARNED Garnishot, Partenkirbhas, Germany, Jan. 9 (AP)—Max Schmeling was warned by the German boxing commission that he must avoid everything in his negotiations with foreign boxing commissions that might be misinterpreted and that might prejudice the prestige of German boxing.

The commission requested him to instruct his American manager to that effect.

'STIQUE BEATS ALGER QUINTET

Final Period Rally Enables Wassberg Crew to Win, 25 to 22

Manistique, Jan. 9 (Special)—A thrilling fourth quarter comeback enabled the Manistique high school basketball quintet to defeat the Munising cagers here tonight, 25 to 22, after trailing for the first three periods.

Munising took the lead early and was on the heavy end of the 8 to 4 score at half time. They extended their lead to 16 to 10 during the third period but the Wassberg crew began clicking in the final quarter and with Bergman leading the way, they connected seven times from the field and once from the foul line to squeeze out a victory.

Munising displayed clever court ability during the first three quarters but their defense crumpled on the home stretch, enabling the Schoolcraft crew to forge ahead. More adeptness at the foul line would have changed the final outcome. Munising scored only four times on 11 personal fouls chalked against Manistique.

Table showing Manistique players and their stats (FG, FT, PF) including BERGER, Orr, Hudson, Bergman, Ekdahl, Graphos, Jones, Morrison.

GOLF TOURNAMENT STARTS TODAY

133 Players Are Attracted by $10,000 Los Angeles Open

Los Angeles, Jan. 9 (AP)—Warm sunshine flooding the winter soaked fairways of the Wilshire Country Club today prepared the course for the opening of the Los Angeles $10,000 open golf tournament tomorrow.

The big money event of Southern California was scheduled to start today but rain, night and day earlier in the week flooded the course and converted several traps into water hazards. The committee in charge postponed the tournament a day, deciding that sand, without a mixture of water, furnished enough handicap in serious golf.

As the sixth playing of the Los Angeles $10,000 event was about to start much of the public interest attached to the tourney was focused on the lean figure of Solomon Scot, MacDonald Smith, veteran of a thousand golf wars and still going strong.

If the runner-up in the last American open and co-holder of the place position in the British open can win the competition, he will stand as a golfer apart, the only man to capture first money in the "big shot" of Southern California golf three times. One of his previous triumphs was over the Wilshire course.

When he tees up tomorrow for the first round of the tournament, Harry Cooper will accept the issue tomorrow. Bobby Crutchank and Denny Shute, the other winners being far away. Three former monarchs of American golf, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour will have a try at the tournament which returns less glory but pays more money than the national open.

One hundred and thirty three players from all sections of the country will direct their sights at the $3,500 first money but they will be willing to take anything they can get if the richest purse proves beyond their reach.

Sharkey Saus He Will Meet Strib

Boston, Jan. 9 (AP)—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, today verbally agreed to battle Young Stribling in New York next month for the Madison Square Garden.

Sharkey's promise to meet the southerner was given during a conference between Johnny Buckley, his manager, and William F. Carey, head of the New York sports palace. In an effort to help straighten out the modified heavyweight situation, Buckley also agreed to accompany Carey back to New York and sit in during the latter's conference with "Pa" Stribling, probably tomorrow.

Carey came here primarily to attend a directors meeting of the Boston Garden, which has also been hit hard by the boxing slump. Several changes are expected to result from Carey's meeting with his Boston associates, but he was unprepared, he said, to comment on a rumor that Dick Dunn, promoter at the Detroit Olympia Club, would shortly be installed as matchmaker at the Boston Garden.

Better Football Cards Planned for Southwest

(Note: This is another of Associated Press series of stories on college athletic conditions.) BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 9 (AP)—Sharp retreatment in winter and spring sports such as basketball, track and baseball, followed by a fall bloom in the more profitable sport of football, is prescribed by Southwest conference athletic directors as the proper treatment of the college athletic budget about by the current financial depression.

Although exact figures were not available, a survey of conference business offices reveal gridiron receipts were off something like 25 per cent for the recent season, some schools suffering worse than others. But, instead of letting the situation bother them, the financial directors simply plan to pile on bigger and better football attractions this year.

Better Schedules As Dr. R. M. Blackwell, business manager for Southern Methodist university, put it:

"There's nothing to be gained in letting up now. Curtailed receipts during the past season and a corresponding decrease in scholastic tuitions left many of us, especially the denominational schools, in a wobbly condition. Our best bet is to arrange more football games next season and pull out of it. A football game is one thing that can be counted upon to make money."

That Southwest directors are in accord with Dr. Blackwell's idea is reflected in next season's conference schedules. Each of the seven members has arranged a complete program of conference games and then added a few practice and inter-sectional tilts for good measure.

Among the inter-sectional contests will be Texas vs Harvard at Cambridge; Southern Methodist vs Navy at Baltimore; Rice vs Arizona at Tucson, and Arkansas vs University of Chicago at Chicago. Southern Methodist received five invitations to play on the Pacific coast, including one from Southern California, but did not have an open date.

Meantime, winter and spring activities are being held to a minimum. The Southwest conference will play a full program of basketball, each team meeting its six rivals twice, but every effort has been made to cut expenses. At least one team has arranged to make all of its road trips in automobiles owned by members of the coaching staff and individuals.

On the plea of harried financial directors, the conference faculty committee slashed the baseball schedule in half, reducing it from 20 games to 10.

Spring Training Southern Methodist, which has conducted the invitational track meet the last two springs, asked to be relieved of the event in 1931. Rice Institute, an endowed school and consequently free of any outside demands on its athletic fund, agreed to take over the event for one year. The University of Texas, the one member of the conference that enjoyed bumper receipts during the recent football season, announced it would hold its invitational cinder meet as usual.

Neither the spring football camps nor coaching schools will be hampered by the depression. As the various business managers pointed out, spring training brings little additional expense. Coaching staffs already are on hand, on salary basis, and the players use their old uniforms. Coaching schools are self-supporting.

Andy Roessknoll at center for State justified the faith of his coach and played a good floor game. King and Hudrusu were the outstanding stars for Marquette.

Marquette can attribute its loss to its own error of omission. When State was leading in the last few minutes of the game at 17 to 15, the Spartans began to stall but the Marquette five stood its ground and refused to budge out of its tracks.

Coach Ben Van Alstyne pulled his men into play in the interest of sportsmanship but later when his team recovered the ball he ordered them to hold on to it. After two minutes of stalling by State, the Marquette players finally pulled out. Grove sunk a final basket and put the Spartans three points in the lead just before the sound of the final gun.

PURPLE CAGERS DEFEAT VULCAN

St. Joseph Scores Heavy in Second Period to Win by 15 to 9

Concentrating their attack in the second period, the St. Joseph high school basketball team defeated the Vulcan cagers at the Coliseum gymnasium last evening, 15 to 9. In spite of the fact that they faltered only one point during the final two periods. It was the first victory of the season for the Parochial cagers.

Vulcan scored first blood soon after the opening whistle with Dunn making good on a toss past the foul line. Peliter dropped a long one for St. Joseph soon after, however, and Brazeau followed with another to give the Parochials a lead which they never relinquished. The score at quarter time was 6 to 2.

Brazeau, Larson and Frasher began their basket barrage in the second period and the Geraldmen mounted their lead until it appeared that the game was going to develop in a rout. Rossi's free toss was the only count scored by the visitors during the quarter and the first held ended: St. Joseph 14; Vulcan 3.

Missing Many Shots The game slowed up materially in the last two periods with neither team showing any marked ability to connect from the court. Thomas' field goal was the only one netted during the entire two periods. Vulcan counted on four shots from the foul line and St. Joseph converted one Vulcan foul into a score during the last half.

Both teams were missing many of their best shots and it was plainly evident that the basketball rest during the Christmas holidays did not help the cagers in developing their eye for the hoop.

Vulcan fared better from the foul line than the Parochials, if they can find any consolation in that. They made good on five charity tosses out of nine attempts while St. Joseph connected only once in three attempts.

RAMBLERS WIN In the preliminary to the St. Joseph-Vulcan game, the Escanaba Ramblers, leaders of the Tri-County League, defeated the St. Joseph Alumni, 26 to 14. O'Brien, with four field goals and a free throw to his credit was high point man of the fracas. The game was not a league clash.

Notre Dame during the past eight years has won 121 basketball games and lost 46, for a percentage of 725. In compiling this record they have used the accompanying diagramed play for several seasons.

Coach George Keegan developed a remarkable pair of guards in Smith and Donovan to help put this offense over. Both men have been mentioned on All-Western teams.

Notre Dame keeps possession of the ball well and plays very deliberately most of the time. This system demands good guards and forwards.

WORKERS MADE SUCCESS OF RUNNING CITY

have given it good government, while the Republicans and Democrats before them gave it bad government.

Really this city government dates back to 1910, even though it didn't take office until two years ago. It was in 1910 when a group of cigar makers, iron workers and other wage earners got together to fight for lower taxes. They organized a co-operative cigar factory, founded a Socialist local and bought a hall for their meetings.

Jim Maurer, one of the present councilmen, was soon elected to the legislature. He was a leader in the fight which brought about a state workmen's compensation law, and agitated for other reforms. And after 16 years of it, he and his associates here decided to let the legislature go and concentrate on city government.

Tax Boosts Unpopular
The time was propitious. Reading's city administration has been installing plenty of city improvements, but taxes had been going up alarmingly. From 1917 to 1927 the city's per capita expenditures for the maintenance and operation of general city departments had risen from $9.36 to $23.31. Citizens were protesting.

The city government—at that time it was in the hands of Democrats—listened to their protests and shaved the taxes slightly. Then a reassessment was ordered on real estate—with the result that total assessments were boosted by $51,000,000, much of it spread out upon the home owners.

So the Socialists got together and made their campaign, demanding lower taxes and a more efficient government. They were victorious, too; then won the mayoralty election and two places on the council; and since the city is ruled by the mayor and four councilmen, who joined with him to make a commission of five, the Socialists had a clear majority.

Property Is Reassessed
They were not long in getting busy. Once they took office they hired a tax expert to reappraise city property. This expert soon showed that home owners had been being discriminated against in favor of downtown property owners. A big store, for instance, had managed to get a reduction of nearly $5000 while assessments on homes were being increased. A leading hotel had enjoyed a reduction of nearly $2500 at the same time, a factory had profited similarly, a theater had done likewise.

So values were reassessed—with the result that 75 per cent of the city's home owners were given substantial tax reductions. Today the city tax rate is only $1.52 per $100, one of the lowest in the state.

Then there was a matter of a new city hall. The outgoing administration had voted $750,000 to build a new one, but work had not been started when the Socialists took office. They noticed that a big high school building in the center of the city had been vacated and was about to be torn down. That looked like sheer waste, so they bought the building for $450,000 and spent the remaining $240,000 to remodel it into a beautiful city hall. The school officials, meanwhile, took the $510,000 and built two new school houses on cheaper land. As a result, the city got three new buildings instead of one.

Elect to Legislature
All this proved highly pleasing to the voters; so last fall, when Hovetter and George went on the councilmanic ticket, the voters elected them, making the city government solidly Socialist. At the same time the city elected two Socialists to the state legislature; Darlington Hooper, farmer and lawyer, and Mrs. Lilith Martin Wilson, a writer and lecturer.

Councilman Maurer has had an interesting career. He went to work at 13 as a machinist's apprentice, and did not learn to read until he was 16. He has visited Russia to study the Soviet system, and is president of the State Federation of Labor. Like Mayor Stump and Councilman Snyder, he is proud of the fact that he is of old "Pennsylvania Dutch" ancestry.

The next plan of the Socialists is to elect a congressman in 1932.

QUACK GRASS BATTLE TOLD

County Agent West Explains Methods of Its Eradication

Newberry, Jan. 9 (Special)—The talk on quackgrass eradication as practiced in Luce county which was given before the annual meeting of county agents in Marquette held on Wednesday and Thursday of this week brought several interesting items to light. It was found that work on this foremost pest to farmers has received serious attention in several counties and none at all in others and that in many instances little was known as to the best method of dealing with the problem.

Anti-Quackgrass Machine
It was in 1928 that the first quackgrass machine was purchased here. Fred Taylor getting one followed shortly after by one purchased by the Newberry state hospital. At present there are 35 of these machines in the county, three being recently purchased for use as soon as the weather permits.

Mr. West reports that previous to the study of this problem most farmers followed the following method: As soon as they could get on to the land in the spring they began plowing and then several times during the summer harrowed the field. This had the result of turning quack roots deep into the soil and also meant that one whole season was lost for a crop on the field. Now the farmer lets a crop of hay mature on the quack and harvests it. He then takes the machine and runs over the stubble the first time over doing little more than scratching the surface. He then goes over it again crossing his first job and setting his harrow about one inch deeper into the soil. Each successive time he goes over the field he sets the teeth deeper and crosses his previous job until he has reached into the soil four inches or so. Quack grows with roots close to the surface if allowed to mature in a hay field. By using this method before the snow comes most of the roots have been dragged to the surface and become a part of the soil thereby increasing the humus content. Next spring, by going over the field three or four times, either in grain or a cultivated crop and it is not necessary to plow before putting it into crops.

In cases where there are stumps or stone piles in the fields a good chemical may be used to kill the quack but this method is too costly for use in open fields in this county.

Many Machines Here
In 1928 there were nine machines purchased here. The next year eleven were brought in and last year Luce county farmers purchased an even dozen. Three more have just lately been bought. This method has passed the experimental stage, local men being convinced that this is the cheapest and best way of dealing with this pest. Several of the machines are used by more than one farmer so it is estimated that at least fifty farms are now being benefited.

Mr. West spoke on this subject for about fifteen minutes and questions asked by his audience called for explanations lasting 20 minutes.

There is, after all, so feebly little one can do at a time of sorrow to show the heartfelt nature of one's sympathy. But flowers have a tender, silent way of showing,—almost whispering—the message no words can express. A token of flowers arranged by Wickert's, Florists, will express what you would wish to say.
