Flu Here Not Alarming But Precautions Advised

Colds Especially Dangerous Now With Outbreak of Flu In This Section of the State

TREAT COLDS PROMPTLY BUT AVOID "DOSING"

As yet the outbreak of flu reported in Escanaba has not reached alarming proportions. Health authorities advise everyone to take these commonsense precautions: Eat wisely; get plenty of sleep and fresh air; avoid undue exposure; and above all treat every cold promptly. Unless checked quickly, colds tend to pull down the body resistance and may pave the way for an attack of flu with all its serious complications.

Attack Colds at the Start

At the first sign of sniffing, sneezing or other signs that you are "catching cold," start treatment at once with Vicks Vapo-Rub. Place some Vicks up each nostril and snuff well back. Do this several times a day. It will often keep a little cold from becoming a big one. If the head is clogged with mucus or phlegm, or there is much coughing, melt a teaspoonful of Vicks in a bowl or kettle of hot water and inhale the steaming vapors for five minutes at a time.

Double Action Effective

At bedtime, in order to get the benefit of its long-continued stimulation and inhalation effect, rub Vicks vigorously over the throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. For Vicks attacks a cold in two direct ways: (1) through the skin like a poultice or plaster, drawing out the tightness and soreness; and (2) at the same time, its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are inhaled direct to the irritated air-passages.

Protect Children, Especially

Children should be put to bed at the first sign of a cold, and Vicks rubbed on throat and chest. Its use brings prompt relief, and avoids constant "dosing" which often upsets the digestion. When used at bedtime, Vicks often prevents sleep-disturbing coughs, thus permitting needed rest for both mother and child. Don't take chances with colds NOW! Adv.

BOHN IS READY TO VOTE "WET"

Eleventh District Representative Sees Evils in Dry Era

Washington—The first break in the supposedly solid dryness of the upstate Michigan congressional delegation occurred when Representative Frank P. Bohn, of Newberry, told interviewers he was ready to vote for a resolution to remove the Eighteenth amendment from the constitution.

It had been noted that Dr. Bohn voted "aye" on a wet bloc amendment designed to forbid telephone-wire tapping by the prohibition bureau. This led to the interview in which the upper peninsula member declared for repeal.

Dr. Bohn said he voted for the amendment against wire-tapping as a protest against such invasions of personal rights and privacy in prohibition enforcement, but added he has always regarded himself as a liberal on prohibition.

Explains Dry Votes.

His failure to vote with congressional wets on previous occasions has been due to his conviction that as long as the eighteenth amendment stays in the constitution funds should be provided for its enforcement.

The Michigan congressional delegation hitherto has been regarded generally as consisting of 11 drys and only two wets. Representatives Robert H. Clancy and Clarence J. McLeod, both of Detroit. And Dr. Bohn enjoyed the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon league in the elections last year.

"But that indorsement," he explained, "was given without my knowledge, and, of course, without any commitments on my part. I think a majority of voters in the eleventh district understood my position correctly."

Dr. Bohn was elected to congress in 1926 and on March 4 next will have completed his second term. He was re-elected last November, defeating a wet opponent. He has voted consistently for prohibition legislation, including the Jones act, but he did this also on the theory that the eighteenth amendment should be enforced until repealed.

"As a banker and physician at Newberry I have had a good chance to watch the operation of prohibition," he said. "I voted for prohibition in 1916, and until two, or perhaps three, years after national prohibition went into effect I thought it a highly salutary reform.

"A number of confirmed drunkards and ne'er-do-wells in my town appeared to have been benefited by the change. They opened bank accounts, their health improved and they began to take decent care of their families.

Benefits Not Lasting.

"But the benefits of the new regime did not last. In two or three years it was apparent to me that the reform of a few, which had been accomplished, was far outweighed by other evils which began to spring up. Chief among these was the spread of drinking among young boys and girls."

Dr. Bohn said his preference was for complete repeal, rather than any revision of the eighteenth amendment. He distrusts many of the proposed substitutes for prohibition.

"There is a great deal to be argued that the best solution is to make intoxicants so cheap and plentiful that there will be nothing smart or fashionable in the drinking of them," he said. "My father, who died last year at the age of 96, once kept a tavern on the old National road in Indiana. He has told me many times that in the days when whiskey was not taxed and sold without restriction at 10 cents a quart, drunkenness was rare and was regarded with disgust."

Contributions Slow

Ironwood—The sum of $7 was received by the Gogebic county chapter of the Red Cross today from three contributors to the drought relief fund. John A. Doyle, of Ironwood donated $5, Mrs. Mary Truettner of Bessemer gave $1, and an anonymous donor gave $1. The county chapter now needs $282 to fill its quota of $300. Donations may be sent to The Daily Globe office or to Mrs. Ellen Erickson, secretary, at her office in the Memorial building.

Woman Given Death Verdict

Mrs. Clara Uhr, 49, above, is the first woman in Texas to be sentenced to death in the electric chair. She was convicted at San Antonio of the murder of her husband, Daniel Uhr. The state charges that the actual killing was committed by Lexie Jones, who was to be paid $500 from insurance that Mrs. Uhr was to collect. Jones faces trial this month.

A squad of seven have been working under the direction of J. H. Shipman, of the school faculty. In the elimination, judged by three members of the faculty, Robert Oshins was ranked first with Robert Hughes and Betty Leighton second and third, respectively.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE MICHIGAN

There's more to "Extravaganza" than meets the eye in the fifteen production playing at the Michigan Theatre, and that's saying a great deal. The eye sees an array of beautiful women dressed as ravishingly as they should be, and a ravish production and these things are most engrossing, but the production is also blessed with a story that has a lot of meaty drama to it. It fairly bristles with situations and never reaches a dull moment.

A. P. Younger wrote the story and it has been admirably directed by Phil Rosen, who was aided by a very wisely-selected cast of real troupers. June Collyer's sparkling beauty is shown to excellent advantage and Lloyd Hughes is mainly as the harassed young husband. Owen Moore goes tragic in a magnificent way as the deceived husband and Dorothy Christy as his wife is decidedly clever and always gorgeous.

Jameson Thomas is the fascinating charmer of perfection. This is his first Hollywood role. In England he is a great favorite and, after seeing him in "Extravaganza," there is no reason to doubt an equal popularity for him here.

AT THE DELFT

The screen at the Delft last night was a kaleidoscope of widely varying but always absorbing hues. Now it was filled with the vivid dyes of robust, exciting action, now with deep colors of the interplay of intimate human emotions, often with sweeping canvases of spectacular natural beauty.

Such is the composition of Raoul Walsh's Fox Movietone drama of pioneer days, "The Big Trail." Every foot of film he speaks the fact that no expense has been spared on the production. It is made on an impressive scale and directed with brilliant hard hitting, suspenseful forthrightness. As entertainment it is unsurpassed.

The picture opens with the start of a pioneer wagon train westward, and re-creates a series of stirring episodes, including the fording of the turbulent Snake River—in Wyoming; bogging down of the train in a desert mudhole, a massacre in which hundreds of real Indians participate, a buffalo stampede and the lowering of the wagons, equipment and humans down the side of a precipitous cliff.

SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Everyone knows that sunshine melloWS—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING"—that extra, secret process—removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing.

What Is Gum-Dipping?

Gum-Dipping is the Firestone trade name for that patented, basic process which makes Firestone Tires fundamentally different from all other tires. It is one of the reasons why Firestone, through many years, has easily been able to make good the statement: "Most miles per dollar." It is not something done to a tire after it is made. It is something very vital done before the tire is made.

If cotton rubs against cotton, the tire soon heats up and collapses. That is why the square-woven fabric tires were so short-lived. Then came the tires with parallel cords that could not saw each other. The best square-woven fabric tire would go scarcely four thousand miles.

Eight pounds of fine, pure rubber are, by the patented Gum-Dipping process, integrated into every one hundred pounds of cotton cords. This means three extra pounds of pure rubber added to an average set of tires—and added where it means most to the strength and the life of the tire. This extra rubber all goes into the cords of the tire—where you never see it.

To grasp full significance of Gum-Dipping, it is necessary to know something about how a tire is made and what goes on within a tire on the road. The body of the tire bears the principal strains in service. To it is attached the tread which provides traction and takes the wear of the road.

A poor cord tire will give at least twice that mileage. Making the cords parallel was a great advance—but it was only part of the battle against internal friction.

Why does Firestone put in this extra value? And what does it mean to you? It means just this. The performance—the extra value—has been shown for years on the road and in the laboratory. It has been proved that Gum-Dipping:

The usual tire is built up of layers or plies of cotton cords between which rubber has been forced. Rubber is incompressible. Hence the tire body practically does not expand or contract to meet road shocks. It flexes—that is, it changes form.

It was realized that if the fibers of cotton in a cord could be insulated one from another, then a step-up in tire life could be had comparable to that made by shifting from square-woven fabric to parallel cords. That is what all tire makers have been striving for. That is what Firestone has achieved.

—increases the flexing life of a cotton cord by 58%.

—increases tire life by from 25% to more than 40%, according to the severity of the service

—the more severe the service, the higher the percentage.

The strain of the flexing tends to pull the plies apart and also to pull the cords themselves apart. A tire flexes about seven hundred times in a mile—which gives some idea of the strains and the friction which a tire must endure.

Every cord used in Firestone Tires has been treated with a rubber solution which penetrates every cord and coats every fiber; and thus not only the cords, but also the very fibers within them are insulated.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are not just tires. They are thirty years of organized experience. They are sold only through Firestone Service Dealers and Service Stores and only as Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—bearing the Firestone name and bearing the Firestone emblem that appears on this page.

The great enemy of tire life is internal friction. Years ago the fabric was square-woven—and the cotton cords sawed, one across another.

Wherever you live—city or country—a fresh and complete stock of Firestone products is near-by.

Today's Bridge

Table with columns for WEST, EAST, SOUTH, and NORTH, listing card game results.

Suit takeouts are of two kinds: non-forcing (average of minimum) and forcing, indicating as a rule a game or slam at some bid.

Any jump bid in another suit of one more than necessary to overcall your partner is a forcing bid and requires the opening hand to keep the bidding unconditionally open.

First round: North one club, East pass, South two diamonds (forcing), West pass.

Second round: North two spades, East pass, South four spades, West pass.

Third round: North pass, South pass. This hand is a splendid illustration of the forcing takeout bid by South of two diamonds, namely, one higher than was necessary to overcall his partner's one club.

North must now keep the bidding open and while the K-J-9-6 spades is not a strong suit, yet partner has demanded another bid and therefore North is well justified in bidding two spades.

Had South bid only one diamond, a minimum takeout, North would not have been justified in rebidding his hand, because he has only a bare original bid for his opening declaration; in other words, no further strength than already declared.

Glorifying Yourself

It may be perfectly true that a single cream or a couple of creams are all you absolutely need. But when you come home dog-tired before a dinner date, wishing you had broken it, and see on your dressing table a few little de luxe bottles with magic beauty within them, don't they just pick you up in incredible manner?

Dainty new blouses follow the lines and feeling of the suit they accompany and make much of fine lingerie work for trim. Left: Distinctly modern is the fine embroidery and lingerie work on this Patou blouse of sheer white georgette to be worn with the new spring tulleur. Right: This white crepe satin blouse harmonizes with the jacket it is worn under, featuring the same revers movement and the same basque.

Fashion Whims Making Chinese Women Wealthy

Shanghai (AP) Fashion's whims have brought prosperity to the women of Chekiang province, who can now count on earning two whole dollars a week by weaving hat bodies for the fashionable milliners of Paris and New York. The Chekiang weavers, skilled in making cheap Chinese hats, entered the "big money" class when fashion approved Filipino hats, and it was found that the Chekiang women quickly became skillful in working with the tree fibres from the Philippines.

Fashionable milliners sell the hats from five to 10 times what the weavers receive, but the latter are well satisfied. They can make a hat in seven days, and the $2 they receive is twice what they would get in a factory or silk millature.

If you add equal parts of diced raw apples and tuna fish and one-half the amount of celery, you will have a delicious salad that is not too heavy for children.

Rev. Laforest of Flat Rock Gives Interesting Talk

A talk by Rev. Father George Laforest of Holy Family church, Flat Rock, and a program by the fifth grade students were the important features of the meeting of St. Anne's Parent-Teacher association unit. The meeting was held in St. Anne's hall, beginning at 3:30 yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Father Laforest, who has often spoken before the association meetings, spoke on "Enthusiasm as a Life Value." In his talk Father Laforest pointed out the fact that enthusiasm plays an important part in the early life of children. How it seems to be the guiding force of their early work and play. He illustrated his talk with numerous illustrations and examples and quoted such characters as Lindbergh, David Garrick and St. John the Baptist, who was a teacher of youth. How the enthusiasm of a blind girl furnished the inspiration for Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" and how the vision of the crowning of the king of France moved Joan of Arc to give her life for France.

The program by the pupils of the fifth grade, under the direction of their teacher, Sister Candida, was as follows: Marching Song Class. Bird Story—Pupils. Song, "That Wonderful Mother of Mine" Class. Piano Solo, "Springtime in the Rockies"—Elaine Brown. Arithmetic Contest Class. Piano Solo, Valse Marcella Le-Duc. Violin Solo, Valse Mignon—Francis Laviolette.

The attendance award was again won by the third grade, which will retain the pennant. At the business session of the meeting it was decided to support the Escanaba high school band concert which will be presented February 4 and be being sponsored by the Kiwanis club as well as the Girl Scout rummage sale this week.

Parisian Hats Are Of All Shapes and Galaxy of Colors

Paris, Jan. 28 (AP)—Hats varying all the way from stiff brimmed sailors reminiscent of Gibson Girl days to chapeaux with Merry Widow brims were exhibited with costumes combining two to four colors by Parisian manufacturers today as the smartest spring headgear.

For the girl who refuses to wear a brim there were close-fitting turbans of shiny straw covered with bright colored lacquer flowers and knitted skull caps held in place by chain straps.

Gloves were the outstanding feature of today's collections. There were blue and white polka dotted gloves worn with blue and white suits, red wool gloves accompanying linen sport frocks with red wool scarves. Brown and white checked silk gloves were worn with matching costumes. With dancing frocks mannequins wore wrist length gloves of black and white net. Dresses and hats are in a striking combination. There are black sailors with round crowns, made of coarse straw for wear with black wool dresses with three-quarter sleeves of white knitted wool. White linen hats with brims eight to twelve inches wide are exhibited with dark blue voile dresses spotted with white. Broad brimmed hats of blue polka dots match sport coats worn over white linen sport dresses.

Five-year-old Pontiac Murder Mystery Still Lacks Solution

Pontiac, Mich. (AP)—Indications of a revival of the investigation into one of Oakland County's most interesting crime mysteries are seen here in some of the activities being engaged in by those preparing for the forthcoming grand jury sessions.

The jury, it is generally believed, will inquire into the killing on April 11 or 12, 1926, of Phillip J. Foley, 35-year-old business man. The Foley case contained every element of a fiction murder thriller—every element, and it appears that there are those who are hopeful that this yet may be written.

Even the business in which Foley was engaged has a romantic appeal—it was gold. He was an official of a gold-refining company of which his father-in-law, Charles A. Nisbett, was head.

Back to Beginning If the grand jurors take up the case and review the records, this is the story they will have to start on, as related by the various witnesses at the time.

Foley and his wife, Florida, disagreed about some relatively unimportant matter on Sunday April 11, 1926, and she went to the house of her father two blocks away after a short quarrel.

Used Assumed Names In the dining room two chairs were at the table, and on it were two glasses and a half empty bottle of whiskey.

Investigations moved in several directions. Mrs. Foley and her two companions were questioned at length, and officers announced that they gave the fullest co-operation in the inquiry.

Argentina has issued a decree calling for bids which will mean an outlay of more than two hundred millions of dollars. It had not been for the business depression the automobile industry expected to make its principal increase in sales in the western hemisphere, where there are no tariff barriers of consequence and where American cars can compete easily with European makes.

DENIES CHARGE OF RECRUITING

Wrightson Says He Did Not Know Goff Was a Football Player

BY ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—When he first initiated efforts to obtain an appointment for Kenneth Goff, Rhode Island State backfield star, to West Point, W. T. Wrightson, New York business man and member of the Army Athletic Association, claims he did not know the boy was a football player, nor was he interested in "recruiting" gridiron talent for the Army forces. This statement by Wrightson, whose name was figured conspicuously in the Providence Bulletin's disclosures of alleged recruiting on behalf of the military academy, followed the publication of several additional statements and letters today, all revolving around the case of the Brockton (Mass.) boy who as late as yesterday wrote his friend, Cadet Paul Carroll, that "I do hope to get the chance to enter West Point."

Goff will not enter West Point, but the unofficial attempt to obtain an appointment for him through Congressman Stobbs, of Worcester, Mass., has developed something of a teapot tempest. The Providence Bulletin today published another letter from Cadet Carroll to his ex-classmate at Rhode Island, Goff, indicating Major Ralph Sasse, West Point's football coach, had taken an interest in the case to the extent of suggesting what Goff could do to further his chances of appointment. Charges Far-Fetched At West Point Major Philip B. Fleming, the graduate manager, issued a statement saying the charges of proselyting by Army were "decidedly far-fetched" and giving the details of exchanges between Carroll and Goff, showing, Major Fleming said, that it was a clear case of "boyish enthusiasm and admiration for his school, together with an effort of a civilian to help a deserving boy to get into the military academy."

Supplementing this, Major Sasse said: "I told Carroll what he could suggest to Goff, just as I would tell the same thing to any boy. Naturally, I could take no steps otherwise. As a matter of fact, I never gave the matter another thought. It would be utterly ridiculous for me to attempt to recruit football players." Meanwhile Wrightson told his part in the case, exhibiting the correspondence he had with Goff and others. He denied he was actuated by any motive other than a desire to see an ambitious boy enter West Point. "I have never seen Goff," he said. "I did not know he was a football player at all until this story came out. I first heard about him from Cadet Carroll, his friend who came to see if I could do anything for Goff."

Big Ben, the clock in the tower of the British House of Parliament, was named for Sir Benjamin Hall, commissioner of works in London in 1855. financing by the treasury over the last ten years." Mellon denied Harrison's assertion the people had been over-taxed. "These rates were not reduced enough," Harrison said, "because of the untrue estimates of the treasury." "They were the best estimates that humans could make," the secretary replied.

DEATH CLAIMS T. D. SPRINGER

of '87 he helped laying of track connecting the Minneapolis and Pacific and the Minneapolis and Atlantic roads, which joined together made the Soo Line. In July of 1887 he came to Larch and worked laying the steel from McDonald Lake to the Menominee River.

"Pulled" First Train He was at the throttle of the first passenger train to leave Gladstone and had "pulled" Nos. 7 and 8 out of here from that time until his retirement on August 1, 1925. He left the road free without an accident or infraction of rules against him a record seldom equaled.

He was married on January 31, 1888, to Agnes Pratts, of this city, who survives him. One son was born to the union, George T. Springer, Minneapolis attorney. Mr. Springer, or "Jerry" as he was affectionately known, was widely acquainted throughout the upper peninsula and northern Wisconsin. He had countless friendships won and held through his genial manner and kindly smile. He took a keen interest in civic affairs and was always ready to lend a hand in any project tending to promote the welfare of the community. Active Fraternally Mr. Springer was very active in fraternal affairs. He was a member of Gladstone Lodge No. 396, F. & A. M., Delta Chapter, R. A. M., Escanaba Commandery, Knights Templar, and the Brotherhood of Engineers and of Firemen and Engineers. He was the oldest past master of the Gladstone Lodge, for which he had served six terms of office.

The body was prepared for burial at the Swenson undertaking parlors. No funeral arrangements have been made pending the arrival of son George who is enroute here from Minneapolis, accompanied by Wm. C. Pratts, brother of Mrs. Springer. They are expected here Thursday morning.

Fussy, fretful... of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child. Castoria—made especially for babies and children! It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness. That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants—as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever older children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset, a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

LONDON WOMAN EARNS LIVING SHOOTING PEAS

(Continued from Page One) became as expert as her son and her husband had been. "I have never failed my customers," said Mrs. Smith. "Like my customers, I, too have no alarm clock, unless you call the railway trains one. It's the trains that tell me the time. I know every one that goes past and when a certain train goes screeching by I know it is time for me to get up. I brew myself a cup of tea, wrap up warm, take my bag of peas and my pea-shooter and start on my rounds. "It is not easy. It is not only that in winter mornings it is very cold, but it is also dark and often a thick fog, coming up from the river, makes it very hard to locate just the right windows. I work at this from half past three to half past six every morning except Sunday. What I do is shoot a rain of peas against the window pane of my customer until he wakes up, sticks his head out of the window and tells me he has heard me. The rattling of a bunch of peas against a window pane will wake up even the soundest sleeper, especially because the man rather expects to hear them." The fee Mrs. Smith draws is a few pennies per week from each customer and, as peas cost her 6 cents a pound, she does not get rich at the job, what with some customers changing their lodgings and "forgetting" to pay what they owe her.
