

HOUSE APPROVES CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

HOOVER HOLDS WHIP HAND ON CAPITOL HILL

NO EXTRA SESSION; MANY BILLS TO DIE MARCH 4

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1931 by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Feb. 25.—There will be no extra session of Congress. This is now definitely established because of the excellent progress which has been made in pushing the appropriation bills to final passage.

Only two money bills remain and there is every disposition to pass them this week.

The spirit on Capitol Hill is one of eagerness to finish the legislative job and go home. Much important legislation will die on March 4 either through veto or failure of one or both of the houses to act but none of the bills are considered important enough for the president to summon an extra session.

When the members of Congress go home they have an opportunity to survey conditions first hand. Nearly every state has organized its relief work to take care of unemployment and reports indicate that a much more satisfactory job than is generally realized has been done in the raising of funds to feed and shelter those in distress.

May Ask Appropriation. If some emergency arose requiring a special session the president probably would call one for the autumn, but no such circumstance is even on the horizon.

Mr. Hoover is getting ready to veto the bonus loan bill and is preparing to justify his veto by a message which will point out that he would have approved the lending to veterans who are in need, but that his surveys show this is a relatively small number. In this respect Mr. Hoover is taking exactly the same position as did Owen D. Young in his recent testimony before the house ways and means committee. Mr. Young declared that there must be some practicable way by which the veterans bureau could ascertain how many veterans were in need. Mr. Hoover is now following that course and hopes to be able to include the information in his veto message. This is considered a good piece of political strategy because Congress is going to override the president's veto anyway and yet the president will not be placed in the position of opposing any lending to the veterans. His

Nickname Best, Says Candidate

Detroit, Feb. 25 (AP)—"What is your name?" asked Ted Madden, federal naturalization examiner, of a prospective candidate for citizenship. "My nickname," the candidate replied, "is Vazil Ferencsik." "But your full name will have to go into the official records," Madden explained. "All right, Vazil said with a sigh. "My real name is Vazil Rasko Ferraravencimococou-garmococou. POLICE PROBE SLAYING STORY

Identify Body of Woman As Man's Queer Tale Is Strengthened

Rahway, N. J., Feb. 25. (AP)—The queer story of Ir. Jenson, odd job man who said he shook hands with a corpse when invited to meet "the girl friend" one dark night, was strengthened today by the identification of a nude body of a woman found in a Virginia thicket and by the arrest of William Frazer at Raleigh, N. C.

The woman was Mrs. Phoebe Quicker Stader, 32-year-old former hairdresser and "the girl friend" of Jenson's story. Luxury-loving, she had tired of her drab life with an unemployed husband and when they were evicted from a commodious apartment, she announced she was "through for good."

That was on February 16. She was never again seen alive in Rahway. When he was arrested today at Raleigh, authorities accused Frazer of killing the woman, driving about the country with her body and finally pitching it into a woods near Bowling Green, Va. He denied the charge.

The accused man, prominent in a small way in Rahway's civic affairs, two years ago inherited $25,000 and promptly quit work. Recently, his money zone, he was forced to take a factory job.

The motive for the crime, Prosecutor Abe J. David said, probably lay in Frazer's diminishing resources. David expressed the belief that the woman, knowing Frazer's money was gone, wanted to break off their affair, and that Frazer discovered her intention.

On Feb. 18, Jenson said, Frazer came to his home in his automobile and called him outside. "Meet the girl friend," he was quoted as saying.

As Jenson reached out to grasp a hand cold in death, Frazer is alleged to have said he killed the woman and would say himself. Planned Suicide. According to Jenson's account he and Frazer drove to Iselin, where Frazer left the car and told his cousin to listen for a suicidal shot. He returned, said he had lost his nerve and asked Jenson to shoot him.

Jenson refused and they drove back to Rahway to Frazer's mother's home, leaving the robe-covered body outside the car. Jenson went to sleep and when he awoke Frazer and the car were gone, but there was a note asking him to get some money and take it to a hotel in Raleigh. Jenson got the money and took it to Raleigh last Friday.

"What did you do with the body?" he asked. "Never mind, you know too much already," he said Frazer replied. Then Jenson came back to Rahway and told his story to police. The manner of Mrs. Stader's death has not been determined.

Restriction of Size Of Trucks Proposed

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 25 (AP)—A petition was presented by Senator Norman B. Horton, signed by the Michigan League of Home Dailies, advocating periodical registration of automobile drivers in the interests of highway safety and recommending legislation to restrict the size of trucks. Senator Conlon introduced a bill to require trucks or trailers extending more than 24 inches over the rear axle to be equipped with rear bumpers. A commercial fish bill by Senator Calvin A. Campbell, of Indian River, would permit the taking of not more than 30 per cent trout in gill net catches, make the minimum size for whitefish 18 inches, for yellow pickerel 16 inches, shorten the closed season on whitefish to November 20 to December 15 and makes other changes. It is said to be backed by the commercial fishermen.

CORONER WILL BE ON CHICAGO APRIL BALLOT

OPPOSES THOMPSON AND CERMAK AS INDEPENDENT

Chicago, Feb. 25 (AP)—The combat for the mayoralty of Chicago gained a new dimension today. Scarcely had Mayor William Hale Thompson and Anton J. Cermak fronted each other as Republican and Democratic rivals for the executive chair as a result of the primaries, when Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Democratic Cook county coroner, announced his independent candidacy and forged a three sided contest. Petitions placing him in nomination were filed with the election commission by the Peoples' Non-Partisan ticket, which also placed candidates in the field for clerk, treasurer and municipal judge. Coroner Bundesen, once a member of Mayor Thompson's cabinet and a power in local democracy, dispatched his announcement and appeal for support to the "mothers and fathers" in thousands of Chicago homes even before the votes in yesterday's mayoral primary had been counted.

Tens of thousands of Chicagoans, his letter read, "have urged me to run for the office of mayor."

Non-Partisan Ticket. The urgent requests that I take this step have been insistent, have come from men and women in every walk of life and are from every section of the city.

"I have decided to be a candidate on the Peoples' Non-Partisan ticket, and I am thoroughly aware of the grave responsibility, I have decided to run because I believe independently with no political debts to pay. I can do a real service for Chicago—particularly to the mothers—by exerting every ounce of energy in my body to make Chicago a better place in which to rear our children." Dr. Bundesen is the father of six and has written booklets on maternity besides articles on health for newspapers.

All three camps have proved their mettle in metropolitan political wars. "Big Bill," master of his party, three times mayor, came back this year from relative retirement and won a 67,000 plurality in the primary although Judge John H. Lyle waged a better fight on the issue that has aroused Chicago, the dominance of crime or law.

Cermak risen through the Democratic ranks to presidency of the county commission controller of a strong party organization won his nomination with 235,360 votes, although there was virtually no contest to attract interest.

Elected Coroner in 1928. Dr. Bundesen became city health commissioner in the administration of the Democratic mayor, William E. Dever, and served for a time in Mayor Thompson's regime. Parting with Thompson, he was elected coroner in 1928 by the largest majority ever given a candidate in Cook county and ran 100,000.

Senate Confirms Meyer Nomination By Vote of 72-11

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The long-contested nomination of Eugene Meyer of New York to be governor of the federal reserve bank was confirmed by the senate today, 72 to 11.

The action came after two days discussion on the floor in which two opponents of confirmation participated. They were Senators Brookhart of Iowa and Fraser of North Dakota, both Republicans, who criticized the financier's former activities in Wall street and his service on government boards.

Friends of Meyer decided no defense was necessary and they made no speeches. Only four Republicans and seven Democrats voted against confirmation. Twenty nine Democrats joined 42 Republicans and the one Farmer-Labor Senator, Shipstead, Minnesota, for confirmation.

Meyer, a former member of the war industries board, war finance corporation, and federal farm loan board, was given a recess appointment to the reserve board by President Hoover last September.

Capone Charged With Contempt Hears Case Against Him in Court

Chicago, Feb. 25 (AP)—Al Capone, bulky and swarthy, leisurely leaned back in a chair in federal court today and calmly listened to the government's case intended to show he was in contempt for failure to appear before a grand jury in March, 1929.

Jacob Grossman, an assistant district attorney, argued Capone's claim of illness was untrue. Witnesses supported his contention regarding Capone's health, testifying the gangster chief made an airplane trip to the Bahamas, a boat trip to Nassau and attended the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling boxing bout at Miami during the period of his claimed illness. Contempt may carry a jail sentence.

Capone's trip to court was a duplicate of previous visits to the federal building. Mounted police were in the streets surrounding the building; federal officers stood at elevator entrances and lined the corridor to Judge James A. Wilkerson's somber court room. Only a select audience gained admission, government employees, newspaper reporters, attorneys and city officers. All were scrutinized and some were searched for pistols.

Dogged by Photographers. Moving picture and newspaper photographers dogged the steps of the Capone entourage to the court room, from it at noon to a municipal court where he answered a vagrancy charge and back to the contempt proceedings.

Smiling, affable, apparently at ease, the "Scarface" told reporters "I'm just a goat" when asked about yesterday's primary election. "Foolish," he called the charge that he gave $150,000 to Mayor Thompson's campaign.

His ample bulk—265 pounds, he said—was encased in a soft blue suit. His tie was modest and gray and his shirt white. A white handkerchief hung from the breast pocket. Gray spats topped highly shined black shoes. Occasionally during the tedious court proceedings, the gangster's partly bald head turned and his black eyes swept the court room, but generally he followed the routine. If there were bodyguards, and police officers said a dozen or so accompanied him, they were far back in the court room. Al was at the counsel table. He chewed gum, leisurely and rocked his chair, slowly back and forward. From the left hand on the table sparkled a diamond. Across his expansive girth stretched a

Conferees Named to Iron Out Differences in 'Lame Duck' Bill

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—An early agreement on the proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the last, or "lame duck," session of congress was predicted tonight as congressional conferees attempted to adjust differences between the house and senate.

It was sent to conference today when the senate objected the Gifford substitute to the Norris resolution which was adopted overwhelmingly last night by the house. The proposal by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, has been approved six times by the senate.

In asking the senate to send the house substitute to conference, Senator Norris said: "All difficulties can easily be ironed out. I think."

The chief difference between the senate resolution and the house substitute is the provision in the latter limiting the length of the second session.

Ford Worker Killed At Iron Mountain

(AP)—Peter Hamley, 39, was killed and another workman, Frank Babcock, was critically injured today in an explosion of a "hog" machine at the Ford Motor company lumber plant here. Authorities said the "hog," a machine used to crush waste lumber, exploded from an undetermined cause.

KENT QUERIES VENIREMEN IN BUCKLEY CASE

POLICE NEGLIGENT, DEFENSE WILL TELL JURY

Detroit, Feb. 25 (AP)—Allen W. Kent, counsel for one of three alleged slayers of Gerald E. (Jerry) Buckley, intimated in the trial of the three men today that the defense would attempt to show collusion between police and the gunmen who assassinated the militant radio crusader last July 23.

Questioning prospective jurors, Kent, who is defending Ted Pizino, asked them what their reactions would be if a fair inference is shown by the defense that some members of the Detroit police department were in collusion with the killers of Buckley, and if they would consider in reaching their verdict any defense representations that the police were "intentionally negligent" in allowing the killers to escape. The other defendants are Joe Bonmarto and Angelo Livechi.

Kent was a member of the county prosecutor's staff during the early months of the Buckley investigation, and was an unsuccessful candidate for nomination for prosecutor last September.

There was also an intimation by the prosecution that it would lay stress on the municipal political campaign of last summer, which resulted in the recall of the then mayor, Charles Bowles, a few hours before Buckley was slain. The radio commentator had taken an aggressive part in the recall campaign. Prosecutor Toy asked the jurors whether they had taken any active part in the campaign. Veniremen also were asked whether they had listened to Buckley's political broadcasts and if they had ever been involved in trials of Italians. The three defendants all are Italians.

A score of prospective jurors were questioned in today's session, but none was accepted finally. Judge Edward J. Jeffries this afternoon overruled formally three defense motions to quash the indictment and overruled another defense motion which would have forced the prosecution to disclose the identities of "Richard Roe," "Mary Roe" and "John Doe," who were indicted with the three present defendants, and Peter Licavoli for the slaying. Licavoli has not been arrested.

Today's session attracted a crowd which jammed the court room and overflowed into the corridors. Court attaches said it was the largest crowd they had ever seen in the court house.

Questioning of veniremen will be resumed tomorrow morning.

Justice Charged With Profanity And Intoxication

Newberry, Feb. 25 (Special)—Fred W. Becks, justice of the peace and candidate for reelection, was arrested today by state police on a warrant signed by Mrs. Rhea Ellis, wife of a local restaurant proprietor, who charges that the justice was drunk and used profane and indecent language in her place of business.

The warrant was issued on February 17 but not served until today. Becks pleaded not guilty before Justice James V. Kinzie and demanded trial. Friends of Becks declare the case is one of spite work because Becks fined Ellis fifty dollars and costs for drunk driving earlier in the year. The case will be tried on March 11.

STATE DEMOS MEET IN FLINT

Pre-Convention Session Holds Much Talk of Wet-Dry Dispute

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON (Associated Press Staff Writer) Flint, Mich., Feb. 25 (AP)—With leaders professing to see a swing to their party "just around the corner," Michigan Democrats gathered here tonight for an informal meeting preceding their state convention Thursday.

Alfred Debo, chairman of the pre-convention, Horatio J. Abbott, national committeeman, William A. Comstock, Walter I. McKenzie and other party chiefs urged the delegates to keep up their spirits and enthusiasm. They pointed with considerable pride to the vote polled by the party in the state campaigns of 1920 and prophesied that issues for which the Democrats have steadfastly stood will eventually gain their true importance even in Republican Michigan.

Prohibition appeared to be the most likely issue to cause debate in the convention, although some leaders were working prodigiously to stave off the controversy. A year ago the party organization nearly split over the wet-dry dispute. Proponents of modification and dry advocates wracked a pre-primary convention with oratory so fiery that several groups of delegates threatened to walk out. The convention ended with nothing accomplished. Later, in another meeting, a mild plank relative to a referendum was inserted in the platform.

GRAVE DOUBT IF BILL WILL GO ON BALLOT

IMMEDIATE EFFECT MUST BE GIVEN TO MEASURE

BY SAM B. MCCOOL (Associated Press Staff Writer) Lansing, Feb. 25. (AP)—The Foster capital punishment bill was whipped through a heavy gauntlet of debate in the house today to approval but with grave doubt that a final vote tomorrow will favor a referendum at the spring election April 6.

A target for the jibes of veteran opponents of the death principle, the bill was endorsed with the referendum intact but generally scarred and bruised from its deluge of sharp words, ridicule, and criticism. At the end of the debate, leaders professed doubt in private conferences that the bill will be able to muster the necessary two-thirds margin after tomorrow to give it immediate effect. The vote is necessary if the measure is to be placed on the spring ballot.

Rules are Suspended. The bill was fought out on the floor after the house judiciary committee had rushed it there without recommendation as to its passage and without amendment earlier in the day. Rules were suspended and the measure was given immediate consideration under a warning that quick action was needed to place it on the spring ballot.

As the measure proceeded along its rough channel, proponents listened to a charge of "passing the buck to the people's time after time. Opponents of the referendum rallied together strength which brought concern to leaders who desire an early settlement by the people of the biennial issue.

Three important amendments were attached to the measure before it had completed its journey on general orders. Rep. Miles W. Callaghan, of Reed City, who vainly fought to delay consideration, was the author of two. The house adopted his amendments to include murder of an officer while being transported to prison as one of the offenses for the death penalty. It also inserted his amendments to make the state instead of the counties pay for the legal fees of defendants who come to hire private counsel. The murderer would be sent to Jackson prison after his conviction by the lower court and pending a review of his case by the supreme court.

Heated Skirmish. The fight over the referendum brought the most heated skirmish of the long debate. Rep. Dacey, Detroit, in offering his amendment to delay the popular vote, until 1932 declared that it would bring out a larger poll and be more representative of the will of the people. The move met vigorous opposition from Rep. Andrew H. Harnly, of Saginaw, and Rep. Ate Dykstra, of Grand Rapids, who claimed that a delay to the general election would mean a delay for state office would make a political football of the issue. Others feared a "general swooping down" upon the membership of an army of so-called

Establish Woman's Death As Suicide

Mason, Mich., Feb. 25 (AP)—Suicide was definitely established today as the theory for the death of Mrs. Elias Culver, 70, who was found bound to a chair in the kitchen of her home yesterday following an explosion at the house. Officers found a note written to her brother declaring the woman planned to take her life because of financial troubles.

During the explosion, neighbors rushed into the house and found gas jets to the kitchen range open and a partly filled bottle of chloroform in front of the woman. The dining-room wall was blown away. Mrs. Culver, whose clothes were burning at the time, died early today of her burns.

Committee Rejects Conlon Resolution

Lansing, Feb. 25. (AP)—The state hospital committee of the senate today rejected a proposal that the treatment of patients in the Kalamazoo hospital be made the subject of an investigation. A resolution was sponsored by Senator Ernest T. Conlon, of Grand Rapids, providing for the inquiry. The committee reported that such procedure would be unwarranted. It found the institution is well managed and that the death of Captain Christopher Denny, of Grand Rapids, a former inmate, was due to pneumonia and self-inflicted injuries rather than to the fault of hospital attendants.

In the Headlines At State Capital

(By The Associated Press) House approved capital punishment bill with referendum. But doubt expressed that sufficient votes can be mustered to place it on spring ballot. House passed measure to permit legislative delegation to sit with state administrative board on emergency claims. Senate committee rejected proposal to investigate Kalamazoo state hospital. 20 mill tax limit proposed in house measure.

PERU TO FIGHT REBEL FORCES

Active Warfare Against Rebellious Southern Army Decided

Lima, Peru, Feb. 25 (AP)—The military junta governing Peru decided today on active warfare against the rebellious southern troops who seized the city of Arequipa last Friday.

There were indications yesterday that the conflict might be settled amicably, as 100 high officers of the loyal Lima garrison decided to send three of their number south by airplane to treat with the rebels. The provisional government of President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro ignored this move, however, and the intermediaries did not take off. Shortly after this became known the government made known its intention to fight, announcing that it had been greatly strengthened by developments of the last few hours. A strong army division will be dispatched to the southward immediately.

In the meantime the Lima government declared the whole republic with the exception of the "southern zone," was strongly against the revolt.

In support of this it contends that it controls the port of Mollendo, which handles most of Arequipa's sea trade, and that the city is strongly garrisoned with loyal soldiers; that the department of Apurimac is resisting the efforts of Cuzco troops, who also rebelled, to strengthen their fellow insurgents in Arequipa, and that strong military forces are in Tacna, extreme southern city, ready to march against the revolutionaries.

votes ahead of President Hoover. As coroner he attracted attention several times with independent investigations of gangland murders, instituting scientific methods of criminal detection while at the same time asserting that his office as coroner, as it is now constituted, is obsolete and should be abolished.

Colonel Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce and leader of its campaign to eliminate crime, sent a letter to Dr. Bundeless late today expressing belief that his entry would only aid Mayor Thompson.

"Without regard to your availability or capability for the office of mayor of Chicago," he wrote, "permit me to state that I believe that your candidacy will have the sole effect of dividing the opposition and insuring the election of William Hale Thompson."

Radio Broadcast In New York Gives "Amos" A New Part

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Madame Queen, the manicurist, took the witness stand tonight in her breach of promise suit against Andrew Brown, president of the Fresh Air Traffic company, Inc., who was charged with the harrowing details of the time when he and Andrew Brown asked her to be his wife.

It was the first time the voice of a "woman" has been introduced into the radio affairs of Amos 'n' Andy, and it wasn't a woman after all. Freeman S. Gosden, who is "Amos," was "Madame Queen."

Once before in the radio partnership of Correll and Gosden (Amos 'n' Andy) a woman's part was broadcast. That was when the pair were broadcasting over WGN, Chicago, as "Sam 'n' Henry." Sam's sweetheart was brought up from the south, but after three days on the air she was sent back south, Amos explaining it was "ruining my voice, imitating a woman's."

All the several parts in tonight's broadcast were taken either by Correll or Gosden.

Sheppard Requests Loophole Be Taken From Volstead Act

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Abolishment of immunity from the prohibition law claimed by manufacturers of fruit juice concentrates was sought today by Senator Sheppard, co-author of the 13th amendment.

In a bill introduced in the senate, the Texas Democrat proposed to strike from the Volstead act that sentence which says the dry law penalties shall not apply to a person "for manufacturing non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices exclusively for use in his home."

Sheppard said the bill was aimed at grape and fruit concentrate manufacturers.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, counsel for one of the manufacturers of grape concentrate, has told the Wickersham commission this sentence in the Volstead act was the ground for legal immunity claimed by the grape industry.

Senator Sheppard also disclosed he was preparing additional measures aimed at affirmative action against fruit concentrate manufacturers.

It appeared likely tonight, however, that all prohibition proposals would go over until next session with adjournment just a week away.

When dining tables first came into use, diners reclined on them and ate with their fingers.

Employees of New York World Raise Protest Against Sale

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Employees of the New York World—3,000 of them, their spokesman said—raised a united protest in Surrogate's court today against sale of the Scripps-Howard interests of the newspaper on which they earn their livelihood.

So Paul Block, publisher of seven newspapers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles, made what he called "a better offer" than that of Roy Howard and his group, and announced that if the three sons of Joseph Pulitzer would sell the New York World to him he would give the employees 45 days in which to buy it from him at the same terms.

And Surrogate James A. Foley deferred until tomorrow morning or later his decision as to whether it is legally possible, under the rigid Pulitzer will, for the sons to dispose of the Morning, Evening and Sunday World.

Offers Compromise What began late yesterday as a perfunctory action to merge the World papers with the New York Telegram and supposedly to unite all in one evening newspaper to be called the "World-Telegram," became today an impassioned hearing at which the men who work on the World pleaded for a chance to continue on a cooperating basis a newspaper "with traditions worth preserving—the traditions of Joseph Pulitzer."

It culminated in a written offer by Mr. Block to Herbert, Joseph and Ralph Pulitzer, as trustees of their father's estate, in which he proposed that he buy the paper, pay cash for it, and give the employees a month and a half to acquire it from him.

The brothers may consider the offer if Judge Foley rules that the paper is saleable. If they decide to accept it they may submit a contract of sale to the Surrogate for his approval.

Block and his attorney, Max D. Steuer, did not say how much they offered for the World papers. The Scripps-Howard papers had offered $5,000,000—two million of it conditional on profits to be earned by the World-Telegram.

It was deemed possible that disposal of the World's, if approved by the surrogate, might develop into a bidding scramble in which new figures might appear, for Herbert Bayard Swope, former executive editor of the World, indicated today that a group which he heads would be interested in the papers.

Howard, as chairman of the board of Scripps-Howard and president of the New York Telegram, made no statement after today's development as to the possible effect of today's turn of events upon the offer made by his group—An offer which he said yesterday was the highest price ever tendered for the intangible assets of a newspaper.

The employees' uprising began at midnight this morning and gained rapidly—a momentum which carried it into court and into the forefront of the negotiations.

Marquette Divorce Trial Is Started

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 25 (AP)—Trial of a divorce suit brought by Mrs. Abby Beecher Roberts, heiress, against Alton T. Roberts in circuit court here today brought out testimony concerning financial transactions involving hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Mrs. Roberts, daughter of the late John M. Longyear, millionaire lumber and mining magnate, charges her husband with cruelty and non-support, alleging that he owes her $500,000 and that he dissipated most of a trust fund left her by her father for his five grandchildren, while it was in Roberts' care. She also charges that her husband spent most of the $20,000 a year allowance left her by her father and that she frequently had not enough money to engage help in the home.

Roberts is a former state senator, former president of the Union National bank here and is now chairman of the committee on arrangements for the American Legion national convention to be held in Detroit next fall. He is in charge of the tour of Marshall Foch in the United States several years ago.

Italian Experts Study Naval Plan

Rome, Feb. 25 (AP)—The British naval delegation, Arthur Henderson, A. V. Alexander and R. L. Craigie, came here with their naval plan tonight into an atmosphere of welcome warmth, both physical and mental.

Dino Grandi, the Italian foreign minister, met them at the station. He has been brushing up on his English, grown a bit stiffer since the London conference. The visitors told him they were tired but satisfied that success was near.

They went immediately to the British embassy, met the Italian experts who plan to spend the night studying the figures embodied in their formula of agreement, then they went to bed. Tomorrow morning they will meet with Grandi, Admiral Siriani and other Italian experts in Grandi's own office which used to be called Mussolini's "salon of victory."

Inventor Displays New Radio Machine Before Engineers

Detroit, Feb. 25 (AP)—Before a small group of radio and electrical engineers, Glenn W. Watson today demonstrated a new machine which, among other things, transmits messages by radio, to be received and recorded with precision, rapidly and, if desired, secrecy, on a receiving set, any distance away.

He calls his invention the Watsonograph and he claims it can be used also to reproduce in any number of theaters, simultaneously, words and actions of theatrical performance presented in a central broadcasting room.

Hoover Expected To Veto Veterans Legislation Today

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—While the house prepared to receive a presidential veto tomorrow of the veterans loan bill, it voted down today a proposal intended to send to the White House legislation to authorize $20,877,000 for veterans' hospitals.

By 214 to 159, it declined to instruct its conferees to accept senate changes in the Rogers hospital bill. These amendments increased the amount authorized from $12,500,000 to $20,877,000 without making specific allocations.

LIQUOR CONTROL PLAN EXPLAINED

Anderson Tells How His Proposal Would Work If Operated Here

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Colonel Henry W. Anderson, member of the Wickersham law enforcement commission, explained his plan for government liquor control to the New York Merchants association today, enumerating five major points in its favor.

It would, he contended, preserve the benefits of the present law in elimination of the saloon, would be readily adaptable to our system of government, would be flexible, would take the profit out of the liquor traffic, and would provide the government with revenue to devote to social welfare "to defeat crime at its source."

Miss Ada L. Comstock, another member of the Wickersham commission, was present. She would offer no comment on the Anderson plan.

The plan, in brief, provides for a bi-partisan national commission with powers similar in scope to those vested in the interstate commerce commission.

The liquor commission would have the power to fix the alcoholic content of all liquors, to fix the price and regulate every aspect. At the same time there would be one or more national corporations created by congress with exclusive power to manufacture, import, transport in interstate commerce and sell to similar state agencies all liquors of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content. States would have the option of continuing prohibition within their borders or adopting the system.

Warns Against Agitation Colonel Anderson warned that continued agitation of the prohibition question in a spirit of intolerance "may lead to disastrous consequences."

"From the time of the American revolution," he said, "the conception of natural and inherent rights of the individual as limitations upon the powers of government and majorities, has been an acceptable principle of our political faith. Whether it is sound it is useless to inquire, for it exists as a stubborn fact which cannot be ignored either in legislation or in the administration of government. Under that principle the right of the government to control the conduct of the individual to the extent that such conduct is anti-social or injurious to others is denied."

Citing the figures of the bureau of prohibition to show that the amount of illegal liquor of all kinds in the United States would be equal to three quarts a week to every head of a family, he said: "This isn't prohibition, no matter what you call it."

Dry Organizations To Ask Dry Planks In 1932 Campaigns

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Leaders of 33 national dry organizations today served notice upon both political parties that they would exert all the pressure at their command to obtain dry planks and dry candidates for the 1932 presidential race.

After protracted debate, the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment, appointed a new "board of strategy" to attend both party conventions with this end in view.

The so-called strategy board would consist of not less than 15 members. The resolution authorized it "to have charge of the campaign for dry planks and candidates and for necessary operations prior to, and at following the national political party conventions of 1932."

Indian Woman at Trial Says Artist Requested Murder

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Lila Jimerson, Indian woman on trial for the murder of Mrs. Henri Marchand, wife of the sculptor for whom she posed as a model, declared in cross-examination today at her trial that the sculptor himself had asked her in 1928 to get Jim Crowe, a Seneca Indian, to do away with Mrs. Marchand.

Lila is accused of having prevailed on Nancy Bowen, aged Indian woman, in March, 1930, to slay Mrs. Marchand. Nancy has testified she clubbed the white woman to death because she believed her to be a witch.

Asked in cross examination whether Marchand had suggested the murder of his wife, Lila replied: "He told me in 1928 to go to Jim Crowe and see if he would kill his wife."

"Did you beg him not to have his wife murdered?" "No, but I did not go to Jim Crowe."

She said the artist himself was a believer in witchcraft.

Spalding Resident Is Taken by Death

Mrs. Philomone Poupore, 67, passed away at her home in Spalding yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Death was caused by heart trouble with which she has been ailing for the past three weeks.

Mrs. Poupore was born in St. Mitchell, Quebec, Canada, on January 26, 1864. She had lived in Spalding for the past 46 years and was a member of St. Anne's Society of St. Francis Xavier church.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home for burial preparations. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Besides her husband, Cyril, she is survived by the following sons and daughters: Cyril, Jr., Albert, William, Xavier, Mrs. Joseph Gunville, all of Iron Mountain; Mrs. Charles Gunville, Niagara, Wis.; Mrs. Wilmer Feazette, Florida; Alex. Fred, Leo, Jerry, and Harry and Mrs. Theodore Gadies, all of Spalding. Thirty-six grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive.

"sob sisters." No sooner had the title to the bill been read than it met an attack by Rep. Callaghan who asked for delay in its consideration.

"Nineteen amendments have been made by the senate to this bill and most of them are not printed in the measure," he said. Rep. George C. Watson, of Capax, an opponent of the death penalty, said if a referendum were desired, action was imperative. He said the governor must sign the bill by March 5 for it to be placed on the spring ballot.

The bill will advance to a vote tomorrow. Leaders advocating the death penalty claim it will pass easily. Others appeared doubtful that a two-thirds vote can be mustered for immediate effect.

The Foster bill provides mandatory electrocution for first degree murders over 17 years of age either by direct or circumstantial evidence or by confession. A mandatory review of the conviction would be required before the supreme court.

Armstrong Measure Is Sent to Senate

Lansing, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Armstrong bill providing that four members of the legislature sit with the state administrative board on emergency claims was sent to the senate today, by the house among a group of other measures.

The measure limits emergency appropriations from the general fund to $1,000,000 a year but permits other emergency expenditures from special fees. Legislative members designated to sit with the board are the speaker of the house, lieutenant governor, and chairman of the finance committee of the two branches.

The house passed a bill to prohibit the imprisonment of persons under 16 years of age in civil cases.

An effort to limit the amount of property tax that can be levied in the state was made when Rep. James Helme, of Adrian, offered a joint resolution to amend the constitution for a limitation of 20 mills on each dollar of assessed valuation. The limitation would not apply to special assessments for local improvements. The legislature or the state tax commission would determine the ratio of the 20 mill maximum allotted to each of the units—the state, county, city, village, township, and school district.

DAVIS DENIES LOBBY CHARGE

Senator of Pennsylvania Says He Never Worked For Sugar Interest

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Senator Davis of Pennsylvania went voluntarily before the senate lobby committee today to deny, if they were aimed at him, published charges that a senator had received $100,000 or more from a sugar company interested in obtaining a high sugar tariff.

He gave no reason for assuming he was the senator involved. The former secretary of labor was the only witness before the committee which was rejuvenated today to inquire into the reports.

He called them "a contemptible lie" if aimed at him, and said he had never lobbied for or against a sugar tariff or received money for doing so.

Questioned by Chairman Caraway, Davis said he subscribed for $80,000 or $100,000 or stock in the Celotex company, which makes boards from sugar cane, but he did not even know whether the company wanted a high or low sugar tariff.

Urges Full Inquiry The Pennsylvania senator urged the committee to inquire fully into the accusation "in behalf of the citizens of the state of Pennsylvania, our nation, my family and myself."

After Davis read a brief prepared statement, Caraway asked him a few questions and when other committee members indicated they had no inquiries he adjourned the meeting.

Davis told Caraway Dahlberg was in the room but the committee chairman did not call him. He said he wanted to decide upon procedure before calling any witnesses.

Later Caraway announced the committee would "exhaust every effort to ascertain the whole truth about the matter" and that Davis would be "given opportunity to present any testimony or witness he wishes."

No further hearings will be held for several days.

PRISONER BACK AT JAIL AGAIN

Man Sought in Delta County Captured at Shingleton

News of the capture of Irving Monhead, 26, who broke out of the Crystal Falls jail with three other prisoners, recalls the fact that Monhead was sought in Delta county after his escape last year. The fugitive was in custody for robbing the C. & N. W. station at Elmwood, and after breaking jail "rode the blinds" to Northland, where a relative resided. He eluded recapture until last week when Sheriff Frank Runsat of Munising took him into custody at Shingleton.

To ex-sheriff James A. Dickie, who was sheriff at the time of the break, goes the honor of effecting the capture of the third of the jail breakers. He also effected the capture of the other two, Charles and Joe Van Troba, of Crystal Falls, charged with robbery. These two were captured in South Dakota several months ago by Sheriff Dickie and are now serving time in Marquette. The remaining fugitive from justice is Clarence Plank, twice escaped, who is charged with forgery.

Acting on a "tip" received about a month ago, Dickie, acting as deputy sheriff, carefully ferreted out Monhead. Last week he received information which led him to believe Monhead was working at a camp near Shingleton. He informed Sheriff Runsat, who made the trip to Shingleton Friday afternoon and arrested Monhead who had been employed at a pulp camp there for some time.

Saturday Dickie journeyed to Alger county and returned with his prisoner, placing him in the county jail, where he will await trial at the May term of circuit court.

Monhead told his captor, that, after their escape he and Plank, separating from the Van Troba brothers, had travelled, by means of "riding the blind" to Northland, Mich. From there they went to Duluth, where, about two weeks after their escape, they separated. He claimed he knew nothing of the whereabouts of Plank.

From Duluth Monhead travelled through Minnesota and on to Montana, where he worked on the railroad. Later, however, he headed east again, and working his way through northern Wisconsin, finally found work at Shingleton.

BIG BILL WINS

BIG BILL L. THOMPSON'S smashing victory in the Republican primary in Chicago, on Tuesday, will be accepted by the outside world only as definite evidence of the depths to which Chicago's moral sense has descended and the ease with which a smart politician can becloud real issues with just plain campaign ballyhoo.

Visitors to Chicago in recent weeks, when the pre-primary campaign was at its height, after viewing Big Bill's circus parade, the blaring bands and ridiculous campaign stunts, performed daily for the edification of street throngs and with the result of the election now before them, can only conclude that hick town political methods represent the acme of political perfection when viewed by the jaded conscience of a numerically great city.

About the only item of hope flowing out of Tuesday's primary, for the thinking people of Chicago—and there must be some of those rare characters still to be found in that city, is the tremendous vote polled by Anton J. Cermak, for the Democratic nomination. In spite of the fact that Mr. Cermak was practically unopposed, he polled a total vote, closely approaching that cast for Big Bill Thompson.

WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER ONE of the most flagrant violations of the game laws has been brought before the public's attention this week in the arrest of four Alger county men who wrought destruction to game life in the Miner deer yard and vicinity.

Seven deer, five of which were does, had been captured with snares, a type of hunting equipment that has been outlawed many years. Another serious angle is the fact that two of the does were to have given birth to two fawns each this coming spring.

To add to the outrage evidence was found that the four men had snared a considerable number of rabbits and also had killed several partridges. That partridges should have been killed when the violators had plenty of venison and rabbits in their possession constitutes an act that cannot be condoned.

The partridge is highly valued because of the fact that it is a rare bird, although at one time the woods of the upper peninsula abounded with many of them. The state conservation department in recent years has been making an earnest effort to protect partridges so that their number might increase, but their good work will be greatly hampered if violations such as those uncovered in Alger county continue.

True sportsmen will derive some satisfaction from the knowledge that these particular offenders were given stiff fines and jail sentences, although they might regret that the law does not permit even more severe penalties in such cases.

"CHAIR AND LASH" TWO measures designed to bring about more effective control of crime have been introduced in the Michigan Legislature. One is the bill to reestablish capital punishment and the other would prescribe flogging for hardened criminals.

These are two highly controversial proposals. Much has been said about both sides of the question, and apparently there never will be unanimous agreement. Flogging was used quite extensively in the early Colonial days as punishment for wrongdoing, but the trend has been to abolish it.

ensively in the early Colonial days as punishment for wrongdoing, but the trend has been to abolish it. A few years ago, however, the state of Delaware established the whipping post for wife-beaters.

Georgia tried the lash, and then discarded it, after it was found to be illegal and probably inhumane. An effort to restore it by Constitutional amendment failed.

"Solitary confinement is more humane and effective," declares the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer-Sun. But the Macon Telegraph doesn't agree that the use of the lash is inherently wrong, and it recalls that when its use was forbidden, convicts "became in many instances, absolutely defiant, and refused to work."

With regard to this problem, the Macon Telegraph further comments: "To shut him up, even in solitary confinement, does not always meet the situation, and certainly it is rather expensive to have to feed and clothe him without getting any labor from him in return. His moral victory over the authorities is in itself a breakdown in the whole penal system."

"On the whole, when we look at the matter from the point of view of common sense, it seems the part of wisdom to legalize whipping under strict and enforced regulations as a punishment for rebellious convicts. Bad and revolting as whipping a human being is, it has been demonstrated that there are worse forms of correction now in use in Georgia prisons."

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY THE Michigan Turner Act, the provisions of which expired June 30, 1930, has made it possible for the poorer school districts of the state to carry on through funds provided from the surplus of other districts having a larger assessed valuation. In other words, it has stood for equality of educational privilege and opportunity for the entire school population of Michigan.

All are agreed that there is great need for economy at this time in the appropriation of public funds. But with the general good in view, it is greatly to be hoped that Governor Brucker and the Michigan Legislature will not forget the underprivileged boys and girls in the rural school districts, who will be the citizens of Michigan tomorrow. The Turner Act has been of real benefit to them, and the spirit of fair play seems to dictate the desirability of its re-enactment.

No raid on the state treasury is contemplated by this year's proponents of the bill. Under its provisions the strong districts with ample means will extend a helping hand to those of more limited financial resources. For the good of Michigan in general and her rural communities in particular, the bill should again become a law.

One of the cruel facts of life is that after you muster up nerve to go to the dentist, he takes it from you.

VICTOR HUGO'S BIRTH

On Feb. 26, 1802, Victor Hugo, the greatest French poet of his century, a distinguished dramatist, novelist, essayist and politician, was born at Besancon, France.

As a child he was taken in the train of his father, a French general, through southern France and finally into Spain, where his education was begun at Nobles' College, Madrid.

Hugo married a cousin in 1822. Four years later his tragedy "Cromwell" established him the leader of the romantic movement in literature. With the success of his "Ray Blas," the French academy admitted Hugo to its membership.

To distract himself from the grief occasioned by the drowning of his daughter, Hugo plunged into politics. Created a peer in 1845, he sat in the Constituent Assembly of France. When he was banished from the country by Louis Napoleon, Hugo went to Brussels and London where he began his "Les Miserables," perhaps his greatest work.

He died in Paris at the age of 83.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Benito was fascinated. "I will join one," he said promptly. "Where can I find these gangs?" They were most magnanimous. It seemed they all belonged to a gang, Kappalia's gang. It was called, and he could join it, it being one of the very best. All he would have to do was exactly what they told him, and yet he would be constantly receiving money for this and that. So he gave them $1000 for letting him into the gang.

But alas! Benito found almost immediately that their big business consisted in going about like soldiers, fully armed, and shooting here and there whenever another member of the gang told them to. They gave Benito a gun, too, although he did not like firearms—a rod, they called it, but it was a regular gun—and they put him on a certain corner and told him to wait there until Giovanni stepped out of a big limousine. As soon as Giovanni appeared, Benito was to shoot him.

Benito knew Giovanni and liked him very much, but the matter of liking has nothing to do with it when a member of a gang is told to shoot. They said that if they did not get Giovanni, Giovanni would get them. They said after Benito shot Giovanni there would be a lot of money in the big business, and Benito would get his share.

So Benito stood on the corner and when Giovanni got out of the limousine, he shot at him but he missed. He was arrested and tried for assault intending to kill, but the jury got the idea that he had missed Giovanni on purpose and had not really wanted to kill him, and they said he was just a greenhorn that the gang had got hold of, so they let him go.

But a friend told Benito confidentially that Kappalia's gang was very sore and said they were going to get him, Benito, for not getting Giovanni. He was not important enough for them to make a real job of getting him, but when they came across him accidentally they would get him.

So Benito left his old haunts and his old friends and went into seclusion in the home of little Angelo's mother, avoiding all acquaintances where the red wine flowed, and going only to church and to cinemas for his amusement.

It is the common belief that the sudden expectation of blood is invariably a sign of onset of severe tuberculosis. The actual fact of the matter is that there are many conditions which can bring about expectation of blood, but the symptom must always be considered fairly serious.

In the first place, the physician must make sure that the blood comes from the lungs and not from the stomach or mouth. The blood from the lungs is bright red and frothy and is coughed up. The blood from the stomach is usually dark and clotted and is vomited. It is, of course, possible that blood from the lungs may be swallowed and then rejected by the stomach, making the diagnosis more difficult.

Blood that comes from the mouth, the throat, the nose or the sinuses can usually be found issuing from the spot concerned by a careful examination. Whenever blood seems to come from the lungs, it is important to make a complete physical examination to find whether tuberculosis is responsible. In such cases the examination should include a careful inspection of the naked chest by a competent physician, an examination with the stethoscope, the use of percussion and also the use of the X-ray for such evidence as it may afford.

There are cases of heart disease in which difficulty of circulation of the blood through the lungs may result in coughing up blood from the lungs. Here the study of the chest must include a most careful examination of the functions of the heart. There are, of course, other conditions in which the sputum may contain blood. In pneumonia, the lungs become engorged with blood and the sputum is likely to contain rusty red material. There are such conditions as abscess of the lung or rupture of a blood vessel in the lungs when blood may appear in the sputum. Cancer, and such conditions as destroy lung tissue, may also give rise to this symptom.

Obviously the diagnosis of the cause is the most important step to be taken in the presence of this observation. The examination must be so thorough as to establish beyond a doubt the cause of this symptom. Then the treatment is directed not to the symptom primarily but to the cause. The symptom itself is, however, sufficiently important to demand immediate application of the best medical advice that can be had.

Everyone knows that it is important to get a person who is bleeding promptly to rest in every sense of the word and this will be one of the first steps in connection with bleeding from the lungs, as well as bleeding from any other portion of the body.

Glorifying Yourself

Taking a spring inventory of your beauty includes, first of all, thorough daily cleansing of the body.

You houseclean with a vengeance the minute the fog end of winter blows aside and spring flowers appear.

The soaps that you use for said scrubbing are always interesting. Individual taste in soaps is perhaps even more diversified than in perfumes or make-up.

Sometimes you were brought up on a disinfectant soap and don't feel clean unless you use it.

Sometimes you still cherish a childish desire for some faintly scented soap the grown-ups used to use but didn't let you get at.

More often, the use of excellent soap, the insistence upon a given type is the result of a gradual self-education. Women, I believe, are less likely to change their soaps than any other toilet articles.

The new spring soaps that are positively seductive in the delicate pastel coloring and their elusive scent include among them some of the blandest, the most perfect soaps for various kinds of water.

Some new American-made soaps have achieved the characteristics of fineness, long-life and velvety smoothness of French soaps, which have long been famous.

The new perfumed soaps include narcissus, jasmine, and good old-fashioned lavender. If you still prefer, and many fastidious women do, the pure Castile soaps, there is a new one out with a slight aroma, a delicate, elusive cologne smell.

New shapes in soaps are quite as enticing as colors and smells. There is an increasing tendency to smaller cakes, shaped so you can grab a hold of them when they are brand new. I know at least one perfectly groomed woman, however, who can never be persuaded to use any soap but huge squares of pure castile that she can't begin to hang on to.

If you mean to go into this spring personal scrubbing business with a vengeance, and have a little money to spend, you will get great pleasure and a terrific lift from one of those imported tubs of fine toilet soap that float atop the water like a boat.

Paper of Days of Washington, Property of Baldwin Estate, Is On Exhibition at Library

If you wish to view a publication of years back, which will fascinate you by the interest of its items and the manner in which they are presented, stop in at the Carnegie Public Library when you have a minute or two.

There, on exhibition, you will find a newspaper of 1860, the beginning of the nineteenth century, which tells you in detail of the funeral of General George Washington, gives briefly the foreign news which had come with the last mail from across the ocean, and contains advertisements offering for sale negro slaves.

This paper, printed in New York state, was found by F. H. Baldwin, among the effects of his father, the late F. L. Baldwin, and it is the property of the Baldwin estate. It is not known when the paper originally came into Mr. Baldwin's possession, but in view of the fact that his people were of the east, it is thought that it may have been handed down as a treasured article from one family to the succeeding generation. It will be on exhibition at the library for a time, through the courtesy of Mrs. H. L. Holderman, formerly Miss Esther Baldwin, a member of Lewis Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, who is permitting its display in the D. A. R. cabinet with other treasures of days past.

The paper, "Ulster County Gazette," published at Kingston, Ulster county, by Samuel Freer & Son, is of the issue of January 4, 1860, and is evidently the first or second issue following Washington's death in December. It is a four-page paper, rather small, and its two inside pages, which are given over to Washington's death, are banded in black, a tribute of mourning.

Washington's Burial

The impressive story of the passing of the Chief, is dated "George Town, December 20," and is headed, "Washington Entombed." Its phraseology is extravagant but deeply sincere.

"On Wednesday last the mortal part of Washington the Great—the Father of his Country and the Friend of Man, was consigned to the tomb with solemn honors and funeral pomp.

"A multitude of persons assembled from many miles around at Mount Vernon, the choice abode and last residence of the illustrious chief. There were the groves, the spacious avenues, the beautiful and sublime scenes, the noble mansion, but alas! the august inhabitant was no more—that great soul was gone. His mortal part was there, indeed! but, ah! how affecting, how awful the spectacle of such worth and greatness, thus to mortal eye, fallen; Yes, fallen! fallen!

"In the long and lofty Portico where of the Hero walked in all his glory, now was the shrouded corpse. The countenance still composed and serene seemed to express the dignity of the spirit which lately dwelt in that lifeless form. There those who paid the last sad honor to the benefactor of his country took an impressive, a farewell view.

"On the ornament at the head of the coffin was inscribed 'Surge ad Judicium,' about the middle of the coffin, 'Gloria Deo,' and on the silver plate, 'General George Washington.' Departed this life on the 14th December, 1799, AET. 68."

"Between three and four o'clock the sound of artillery from a vessel in the river firing minute guns awoke afresh our solemn sorrow—the corpse was moved—a band of music with mournful melody melted the soul into the tenderness of woe.

In Procession

"The procession was formed and moved in the following order—cavalry, Infantry, Guard, with arms reversed, music, clergy, the General's horse with his saddle, holsters and pistols, pallbearers beside the coffin, mourners, Masonic brethren, citizens.

"When the procession had arrived, at the bottom of the elevated lawn on the banks of the Potomac where the family vault is placed, the cavalry halted, the infantry marched toward the mound, the Masonic brotherhood and citizens descended to the vault, and the funeral service of the church was performed. The firing was repeated from the vessel in the river and the sounds echoed from the woods and hills around.

"The general discharges by the infantry, the cavalry and eleven pieces of artillery, which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the vault, paid the last tribute to the entombed Commander in Chief of the Armies of the United States and to the departed Hero.

"The sun was now setting. Alas! the Son of Glory was set forever. No—the name of Washington—the American President and General—will triumph over death. The unclouded brightness of his glory will illuminate future ages."

Washington the paper had resolutions passed by the Senate and the House of Representatives extolling him and expressing sorrow at his death, and President John Adams' answer to the resolutions. There is also a verse, "On the Death of George Washington, by a Young Lady."

Break That Cold WITH VOCO COLD PREPARATION

Break That Cold WITH VOCO COLD PREPARATION

In another section of the little paper is the following notice, which will find hard to picture:

"The limits of our paper are too narrow this week for the great variety of foreign news received in our last mail."

Up-to-Minute Merchants

Were merchants of those days cognizant of the value of smart, attractive advertising. They were, and what is more the credit problem, was in evidence in those days, too. Listen to this:

"Luther Andres & Co. have this day been opening goods both fresh and gay

That you in any Store can find, And as I purchase by the Bale I am determined to retail, For Ready Pay, a little lower Than ever have been, had before.

"I wish my brethren men to live, But as for credit shall not give.

"I would not to rouse your passion For credit here is out of fashion. My friends and buyers one and all, I will pay you well to give a call, You always may find me by my sign

A few rods from the house divine.

"The following articles will be accepted in payment—wheat, rye, buckwheat, corn, butter, flax, ashes and raw hides. Cash will not be refused."

Can you imagine the sale of human slaves Here is one advertisement:

"For Sale—The one-half of a saw mill, with a convenient place for building, lying in the town of Rochester. By the mill is an unexhaustible quantity of pinewood. And also—a stout, healthy, active negro wench. Any person inclined to purchase may know the particulars by applying to John Schoonmaker, at Rochester."

Another advertisement offers for sale a "neat, elegant well-furnished sleigh," and another asks "as an apprentice to the clothier's business, an active, diligent boy from fourteen to eighteen years of age."

In other particulars, however, times haven't changed much. One corner of the paper has a list of letters unclaimed at the postoffice.

In another part a Seth Mosier is advertising for the owner of strayed livestock:

"Notice—Came to a subscriber, a young Heifer, about one year old last spring, marked with a piece cut off the right ear, a star on her forehead and white under the belly. The owner by paying charges is desired to take her away."

Domestic Troubles Then

To say nothing of domestic storms which seemingly were somewhat the same as they are today:

"Second Notice—Of my wife, Hannah, is hereby given forbidding any persons whatever from harboring or keeping her, and from trusting her on my account as I am determined to pay no debts of her contracting. Signed: Matys Van Steenberg."

Busy Program At Meeting of St. Anne's Unit

An address on George Washington by Principal John A. Lemmer of Escanaba high school, a short talk on Girl Scout work by Miss Marie Afreth of National Headquarters, a Founder's Day observance, launching of a Child Welfare magazine campaign and a patriotic program, were among features of the February meeting of St. Anne's Parent-Teacher Association meeting held Tuesday evening at St. Anne's hall.

Mr. Lemmer told of the life of George Washington in his introduction, speaking of the various periods of his life and of the lessons which may be gained from them, and then explained the tree planting plan which has been inaugurated, adopting the planting of trees this year in order that living trees may be dedicated to the memory of Washington in 1932, when his 200th anniversary will be observed. His talk was well given and was received with appreciative applause.

Miss Afreth spoke briefly on the Girl Scout movement, stressing the value of the organization's program in character building and training.

The Founder's Day ceremonial, in observance of the thirty-fourth anniversary of the founding of the Parent-Teacher Association, was impressive. The Founder's Day cake, on which were thirty-four lighted candles, was presented on a darkened stage. The stand holding the cake was decorated in the national colors, and three tall tapers of red, white and blue, were in the background. Auctioning of the cake in charge of Mrs. Beaudoin and Ernest Beauchamp, netted a fund which will be the Founder's Day gift of the unit to the state organization for extension work.

Mrs. Herbert LaCrosse was chairman of this part of the evening.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE MICHIGAN

"Audiences like to be surprised, when the surprise takes them completely unawares. Audiences like to come into a theatre with one set of thoughts, and depart with another. Audiences like to be thrilled, and, best of all, they like to feel themselves part of what they see."

Such are Harold Lloyd's observations of the human psychology which he has applied to comedy making with amazing success.

"There are no set rules on the psychology of audiences but their habits are pretty much the same," says the smiling comedian, whose latest roar riot, "Feet First," will open a three days run at the Michigan theatre, today.

Lloyd believes that audiences like things that pull on their sympathies. A gentle tug at the human heartstrings will ally an audience with the hero and heroine in all their difficulties, he says. The human touch is what he strives for in his pictures because, he believes, the human touch is what people like, the thing that reflects their own experiences.

"Feet First," according to early critical reports, is amply provided with the "human touch" that has made Lloyd famous. It deals with an ambitious and blundering shoe clerk, whose aspirations carry him to the height of comic thrills.

AT THE DELFT

Barbara Stanwyck achieves the supreme triumph of her career in "Hillicent," the startling comedy-drama of modern love and matrimony which opened last night at the Delft Theatre.

She plays the part of a Park Avenue society girl, who while desiring the love of her special young man-about-town objects to his insistence that they conform to convention and marry, fearing that the ceremony will be the end of romance. Though she finally does consent to marry, it is with many scruples.

That the calamity she feared did happen, may be well imagined but what happened after she went back to live in her own apartment to regain her individuality—and what didn't happen—is the gist of one of the most consistently entertaining plays of the year.

The lover is played by handsome James Rennie; his father by Claude Gillingwater—the first courtly gentleman that the sterling actor has created for many a day. Charles Butterworth—most unique of all Broadway funny men—acts the part of an inebriated and wooly friend of the family with big-eyed Joan Blondell as his companion in ribaldry.

Nearly 600,000 acres in North Sumatra were devoted to rubber this season.

Are Not Required To Own Property To Vote Monday

It has come to the attention of the Daily Press that some misunderstanding exists among the voters of the county as to the qualifications for voting in the primary election on Monday, March 2, at which time the Republican candidate for school commissioner will be nominated. C. U. Woolpert, incumbent, and Peter R. Legg, former commissioner, oppose each other in the race for nomination.

Anyone who is qualified to vote for county or state officers is eligible to vote at the Monday primary, regardless whether they are property owners or parents of school children or not.

For Ginger's Sake

However, I hope they'll forgive me. Benito hastened to kiss her hand in token of their entire forgiveness, and Jenky smiled upon him kindly. "And you'll be safe enough," consoled Marker. "I'm going to leave Holt here just to keep an eye on things."

"Well, really, I don't know but I feel just as safe with the Italians," protested Jenky feebly, who stood in great awe of the detectives from Chicago. The girls hurried away to gather up their toilet articles and pack the light bags they had brought with them, while Bard put his canvases in the packing cases. Pietro filled a couple of baskets with fruit and vegetables, and Jenky added a paper sack of fresh eggs and a couple of fresh water trout that Benito had caught at sunrise that morning.

"You must eat and keep up your strength," she said tearfully to Phil "We'll all need our strength before ever we see poor dear little Ginger again." Benito and Angelo carried the bags and baskets down to the car and packed them neatly in, and a little later the three cars rolled down the lane, Eddy driving Ginger's roadster. Marker accompanied them to Doorndee, leaving Holt on guard at Mill Rush.

It was but a few minutes after nine when they reached Doorndee and ran quickly into the house, excitedly expecting of an immediate demand for the ransom, perhaps at the point of a gun. Phil hesitated only long enough to give the necessary orders to Hamill. "Leave the cars out," she said. "We may want them in a hurry. Take the bags up to the girls' rooms, the case of paintings to Mr. Bard's. Take the food supplies to the kitchen and give the flowers to Gooby." And she hurried in after the others with an excited quivering of nerves that matched their own.

Very quiet, very safe, completely sheltered, seemed the great luxurious house. It was very hard to realize that less than 24 hours ago they had left that door with Ginger, and that now, so many hours later, they returned without her—that at this very moment she was being held for ransom, perhaps her life in jeopardy. Amazedly they looked at the clock. It was only nine. Yesterday at nine in this very house they were making gay plans at the breakfast table.

Phil ran hurriedly through the pile of letters on the hall table, half expecting to find a demand for the $30,000 somewhere among it, but there was nothing of any unusual nature. Patty offered half-heartedly to go directly to her own home, hoping to relieve them of the slight additional inconvenience of her presence, but Marker preferred to hold the crowd together until Ginger was found or at least until the fact of her disappearance was given to the public.

Hamill, on his way down-stairs after taking up the bags, hesitated in the doorway. "Shall I take the basket to the kitchen, Miss Phil, or do you want it here?" "The vegetables? To the kitchen, of course." "I mean the little one. The one I am not to touch."

"Hamill, what are you talking about? I didn't tell you not to touch any of the baskets," Phil's nerves were strained, and her voice was sharp and impatient. "The little one, Miss Phil—that's written on."

"Written on? Oh! Bring it here." Phil stood motionless—motionless the others hung about her. "I didn't tell him not to touch a basket," she repeated faintly.

Hamill reappeared in the doorway. In his hand he carried a small square basket, stoutly woven but of a loose mesh that would give free admission of air. They had never seen it before. A label was attached to the handle with string. "Be careful. Do not open this basket," Hamill read aloud. Phil took it from him without a word. Nobody spoke. They scarcely seemed to breathe. The notice was written on brown wrapping-paper. Another piece of the same brown paper was thrust through the lock of the basket, securely twisted. She drew it out, and read it aloud slowly.

bird escape. If it returns without the money you will never see her again. "Roll the money, thirty thousand dollars in thirty bills, as tightly as you can and put it in the money pouch on the bird's neck. Release the bird by one o'clock without fail. If it has not returned to the cote by three, the girl will pay."

Marker was examining the basket. "There's a bird in there—it's flapping its wings," he said. "Here is the money," said Phil firmly. "Oh, wait a minute," exulted Marker. "You're going to save that money. What a fool he is! We've got him now! It's a carrier pigeon. Every one of them is marked and can be traced straight to its loft. We've got him tight!"

"Here is the money, Alfred," said Phil firmly. "You may trace the bird if you wish, Mr. Marker—do as you please—but I shall send the bird on its way with the money. I want Ginger."

In vain he pleaded his duty to the state, the punishment of wrongdoers, the apprehension of criminals. "Let the government protect society," said Phil holly. "Let the police catch and punish criminals. It's what they are paid for. What protection do we get, when a girl can be snatched away like this in broad daylight in a little place like Red Thrush? Let the government look after its own business. I'm looking out for Ginger."

To his argument that even with the money paid over the abductors might not make good their promise to release the girl, Phil could only contend that by conforming to their demands there was at least a chance for her safe return, otherwise there was no hope at all. "Well, we've got four hours," said Marker. "I can trace any carrier pigeon in Iowa in four hours. It says you don't have to let it go until one."

"Do what you can in the meantime," said Phil. "At one o'clock, the pigeon shall be released with the money in the pouch. On that I am determined." "How about following the bird with an airplane?" suggested Eddy. "It shall not be done in this case," said Phil. "At the first sign of pursuit, her captors would get rid of Ginger."

The detective opened the small door of the basket and with clumsy hand managed to restrain the fluttering wings of the frightened bird. But there was not the usual name and number-plate upon its leg, and it was without identifying marks of any kind. "Just the same," said Marker confidently, "we can find out what cote it came from and what sales have been made lately. We'll catch him sure. He's cornered now."

With a triumphant gesture he returned the bird carefully to the basket, and his hand fumbled with the tiny door. But the pigeon did not wait. With a great flutter of its wings it was clear of the basket and making for the open door. A cry of terror went up. Hamill in the doorway instinctively flung up his arm. The bird faltered, turned back, and a moment later was beating its wings in the deceptive folds of a thin curtain at the open window.

RAINS BADLY NEEDED TO AVERT NEW DROUGHT, WEATHER BUREAU SAYS

On this map, Dr. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau, shows the approximate percentage of normal snow and rainfall recorded between Jan. 1, 1931, and Feb. 16, 1931, this being the latest official compilation. Normal is taken at 100, and you will notice that only two states equal this amount and three others exceed it. Dr. Marvin points to Arkansas, which experienced the driest summer in its history with resultant crop failures last year, but this year seems to be getting a good start toward normal.

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service
Washington—A return of last year's disastrous drought over practically the same area is threatened by the unusually warm winter and the serious deficiency in rainfall during the past few months.

Continued, long and heavy rains over most of the land east of the central Mississippi Valley are needed to save the situation, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau. Rainfall in this area has been far below normal in some spots for nearly a year, and this deficiency has been continued since Jan. 1.

As a result, the soil is so dry that it will require long, heavy rains to make it fit again for the normal production of crops. Residents in the affected areas are even now limited in their water supply, because of dry or extremely low wells and because of dried-up streams.

The bright side to this situation is the fact that floods will be rather rare this spring as a consequence of this lack of rain. Driest on Record "The deficiency in precipitation which the United States as a whole suffered during 1930 and up to the present surpasses anything in the exact records of the Weather Bureau," says Dr. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the bureau.

"For the period of December and January, nine states—Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky—had the least rainfall of record. The total rainfall since the close of the last growing season—or from the period from October to January, inclusive—was the least on record in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York.

"Ohio affords a fair sample of conditions in the area which has lingered coughs—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out. Those are the breed of coughs that prove common cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent cough is to take a teaspoonful of Broncholine Emulsion four times a day. It's guaranteed to stop the old-timers—the tough ones—and it does it without any loss of time. For ordinary coughs three or four doses is usually enough. Peoples Drug Store and dealers everywhere can supply you.

DRY IN ESCANABA
Escanaba's precipitation this year for the record for the state of Michigan, according to records in the office of Harvey Spindler, local meteorologist. Taking the period from Jan. to Feb. 16 as covered in Dr. Marvin's summary, Escanaba's snow and rainfall was only 42.5 per cent of normal, while the state as a whole had precipitation 75 per cent of normal for the same length of time. Records so far indicate that February of 1931 will rank among the driest in history at Escanaba.

The southern states are not as yet needing moisture to any appreciable extent. Dr. Marvin says no limit can be fixed on the time this situation may continue or on the amount of rainfall that may be expected this year. He adds the warning, however, that measures to insure adequate water supply should be taken not only in rural districts, but in cities as well.

Ohio Valley Needs Much Light, steady rains fell in a great part of the affected area during February, and raised the hopes of Weather Bureau officials for at least partial relief. But Montrose W. Hayes, chief of the rivers and flood division of the bureau, says the Ohio Valley will need twice its normal rainfall during the next three months to fill the rivers to normal stage and retain them at such a level. "Rivers were remaining at about the same level in the middle of February as they had held in late fall or early winter," he says. "For some months they have been subsisting almost entirely on underground water."

"While this drain on underground water supplies continues, the subsoil becomes drier. Naturally the soil will require plenty of rainfall before it will be a surplus to spare for the streams."

Planting Season Early Recent rains, however, accompanied by the mild winter, have started agricultural activity quite early, especially in the south, reports J. B. Kincer, chief agricultural meteorologist of the weather bureau.

"The mild, open weather of the winter has favored seasonal farm work," he says, "and such activities as well as vegetation are abnormally advanced over the southern half of the country."

"Corn planting continued in Florida and southern Texas, and early truck is being put in as far north as southern Virginia and to northern Arkansas. Some spring wheat was seeded and early sown oats are coming up as far north as southern Kansas."

Wheat Needs Snow "Wheat fields are mostly bare of snow. The crop shows improvement since the rains in the central and eastern belt, but it is still unfavorably dry in the upper Mississippi Valley and some sections of the great plains."

The fastest rainfall ever measured occurred at Op'd's Camp, Cal., on April 5, 1926, when 1.02 inches of rain fell in one minute.

High Schools Find Shortage of Good Home Talent Plays

Detroit, Feb. 25. (P)—The play's the thing that causes high school dramatic coaches to tear their hair and show other signs of desperation, even to the extent of becoming playwrights themselves.

So says H. H. Ryan, principal of the Wisconsin High School at University of Wisconsin, Madison, who told a section of the National Education Association that available material for high school plays is "wretchedly poor."

He divided into four general classes the sort of plays a club has to choose from. They are: "The perille melodramas or bovine comedies portraying the villain, the rube, the sweet girl from the country, the Irishman, the Jew, the preacher, etc., as conceived in the later years of the 19th century."

"Dramatizations of selections from the high school course in literature, which are about as popular as the pieces of literature themselves."

"The paranoid dramas, depicting highly imaginative scenes. These represent a form of escape from reality which has a questionable effect upon the mental stability of all concerned."

"The salacious plays of the stage and screen today. When the dramatic coach operates upon plays of this kind to remove the putrid element, the 'kick' comes away with it and nothing of interest to the public remains."

Many of the plays written by high school teachers "in desperation" have been successful, Mr. Ryan said, and it was his view that the organization of secondary school principals in the education association might do well to collect and edit such plays to make them generally available.

It is the theory of scientists that the moon is a piece of the earth which flew off fifty or sixty million years ago, owing to the terrific speed at which the earth was then rotating.

The time limit on the use of 1930 plates was extended twice this year, first from January 1 to February 1 and later to March 1 on account of poor industrial conditions.

House Is Partially Destroyed by Fire

A stubborn fire, accidentally started by a lighted match, partially destroyed the home of Mrs. Thomas Wilson, Lake street, late Tuesday afternoon. Richard Wilson, young son of Mrs. Wilson, lighted a match while in search of a cat in a closet and in doing so, ignited some wearing apparel. Firemen found great difficulty in combating the blaze which was practically inaccessible in a small attic compartment in the rear of the building between the roof and the ceiling. It necessitated the laying out of two hose lines, a chemical line, and a booster line. Fifteen firemen, including a dozen call men, worked on the blaze for over an hour.

The principal loss to the contents of the home was on clothing, all wearing apparel being consumed in the fire. Salvage cans spread over the furniture prevented a great deal of damage by water. The rear of the building was considerably charred by the flames, and the ceilings and walls of the front rooms were damaged by water. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

A sweeping victory by the Rotary Club over Riley Brothers placed the former out in front in the league race. The Office force also took a real walloping losing in straight games to the City Club. Only one score over the 200 mark was rolled during the evening. Countout topping it by one pin.

3RD CANDIDATE ENTERS FIELD

George P. Tostenson Seeks Post on City Commission

Local interest in the coming general election was heightened Tuesday when a third candidate entered for a berth on the city commission. Two commissioners are to be elected for full terms of three years.

Entry of a third candidate became known when George P. Tostenson filed his nominating petition at the office of the city clerk. Mr. Tostenson is a longtime resident of this city having worked for years as an employee of the Northwestern Co-operative company. He later worked for the Bay de Noc lumber company and is now in partnership with H. W. Turner in an insurance business.

Mr. Tostenson is a former civic official, having served as councilman during the old administration.

The two commissioners whose terms expire are J. H. Murphy and Peter Peterson. Both have announced their intention of seeking re-election. They are now completing their second terms as members of the body.

JUNIOR PLAY BIG SUCCESS

Large Audience Enjoys Comedy, "One Minute of Twelve"

"One Minute of Twelve," the annual class play of the juniors was presented last night at the high school before a capacity and highly pleased audience.

Every member of the cast took their part in excellent manner and the play proved clever and entertaining. It was produced under the direction of Howard Sundblad class advisor, to whom much credit is due for its success.

Before the opening curtain and between acts there were selections by the high school orchestra under the direction of Merl D. Williams, music instructor.

The play proved a farce-comedy revolving about Billy Butler who is always getting into difficulties through his frequent love affairs and engagements. Billy sends four of his flames to his home over the holidays so they may become acquainted with his family. Marvel, Billy's sister, comes home and brings as a guest her chum Leeta, with whom Billy immediately falls in love.

This irks the other four, who threaten to sue Billy's father for heart balm, Billy being a minor. They are tricked out of prestidigitator's heart-balm suits by Leeta and Billy is rid of them. All ends happily with the marriage of Billy and Leeta.

Mickey Walker Wins Decision From John Risko

FURIOUS FINISH SEEN IN SCRAP

Risko Has Thirty Pound Weight Advantage Over Mickey

BY ALAN GOULD
(Ass'd Press Sports Editor)
 Madison Square Garden Stadium, Miami, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Mickey Walker, the black-haired fighting Irishman who holds the world's middleweight crown, spotted Johnny Risko nearly thirty pounds tonight and handed the Cleveland heavyweight a beating in ten bruising rounds in the feature bout of "Pa" Stribling's elaborate fistie festival under the palms.

Due chiefly to a furious finish in the last two rounds, in which he punched roly-poly Johnny Risko with vicious left hooks to the head and body, Mickey received the unanimous decision of the three Miami Judges.

Johnny Gets Tired
 Risko, weighing 194 pounds to Walker's 165 1/2, made his big advantage in poundage useful as he mauled Walker throughout the first half of the fight, but Johnny tired and was a mark at the finish for Mickey's sharp-shooting left.

Walker looked the more battle-scarred, due to a nasty gash over his left eye, received when Johnny connected with a wild right in the sixth round, but Mickey was much the fresher and better fighter at the finish.

Under the skies that were far from tropical, with the moon conspicuous by its absence and a cool breeze blowing from the west to make overcoats and furs comfortable something like 20,000 customers turned out for the first heavyweight show of the winter season. The entire setting was in sharp contrast to the more glamorous days of Florida's fistie festivals, but Promoter Stribling, in spite of the weather and an arena less than half-filled, appeared to have come out without a deficit.

Put On Exhibition
 After a double-check of the gate receipts, the figures finally were placed at $28,000 gross and $35,000 net. Stribling figured he needed $30,000 to clear all expenses, but the "gate" was below expectations and aroused no enthusiasm over the prospects for the second heavyweight carnival, featuring a Carnava-Maloney bout on March 5.

Tonight's show offered special attractions in the form of three-round exhibitions by "Pa's" fighting son, W. L. (Young) Stribling and Max Schmeling. This pair is scheduled to fight for the world's heavyweight title, now held by Schmeling, next June, and the Florida customers were given this harmless preview of the title rivals carousing a number of sparring partners.

Illinois Mentor Places Football Critics in Three Classes
 Detroit, Feb. 25 (AP)—Robert Zuppke, football coach at University of Illinois, had a few words to say concerning the college sport here today, and none of them were complimentary to those who complain that football is "over-emphasized."

He divided football critics into three classes: those who criticize without sufficient information; those who condemn it because it has attained pre-eminent popular favor, and writers who find in talk of "over-emphasis" a copious source of copy in the dull season.

Football players spend less time at practice than do athletes specializing in other sports, the Illinois mentor declared, and play because they "love the game and enjoy the physical exercise and the spirit of competition." While the players may miss classes on three or four days a week, he said, the student body as a whole misses no class work because of football.

Opposes Butler Plan
 He dismissed the proposal of Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, that voluntary contributions from alumni be substituted for gate receipts as a means of support for athletics, with the prediction that the contributing alumni would insist upon control of college athletics commensurate with their donations. This, he said, is the very condition many universities are now attempting to minimize.

He saw no prospects that intra-mural athletics ever will replace inter-collegiate competition. There are so many competing college divisions, he said, that intra-mural athletics have to be publicized and encouraged to bring out contestants.

Zuppke is here to speak before the National Educational Association tomorrow.

estimates probably will indicate that if the bill had been placed on a basis of supplying loans to the needy the cost would have been very small.

It is unlikely that any votes will be changed by the president's message. It all depends, however, on what points he raises whether the bonus question will have really been disposed of at this session. There are reports that the president may request Congress to make a specific appropriation, the theory being that the trust funds now available in the treasury cannot be used with a definite instruction to that effect by Congress. If more legislation is necessary there is always the possibility of delay and Mr. Hoover may insist that the appropriation be limited to those who are specifically in need. He holds the whip hand because if appropriation legislation is necessary, he could resort to pocket veto. The whole problem has possibilities of more controversy depending upon just what the president says in his veto message.

GROUP TO WORK ON NORRIS BILL

fully had."

Conferees Appointed
 The Nebraska, however, would not say he would not yield.

Conferees were appointed by both houses and they planned to hold the first session tomorrow. The senate named Norris and Senators Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Walsh, Democrat, Montana. The house named Representatives Gifford, Massachusetts, and Perkins, New Jersey, Republicans, and Jeffers, Alabama, Democrat.

Other differences between the Norris and Gifford resolutions were characterized by Norris as of "slight importance." He did, however, give some weight to the house provision authorizing congress to pass a law for the election of a president in the event the house was unable to settle such a controversy.

Both the senate and house resolutions do away with the present sessions of an old congress after a new one has been elected. The senate would have congress meet on January 2 following an election. The house bill fixed January 4 for the session to begin.

The house fixed May 4 for the end of the second session. The senate resolution also would provide for inauguration of the president on January 15. The house fixed this date at January 24.

Savoldi Suspended By Athletic Group
 San Francisco, Feb. 25 (AP)—"Jumping Joe" Savoldi's professional wrestling career in California was halted today when he was suspended for 30 days because of butting tactics used in winning a match here last night.

The state athletic commission in announcing the suspension of the former Notre Dame football fullback, said he butted the veteran Howard Cantonwine so severely in their match that the Iowa was under a doctor's care for several hours.

The commission said "Jumping Joe" repeatedly had ignored the referee's warning. It was Savoldi's second professional wrestling match.

Rangers Will Oppose Cadets of Menominee Here Saturday Night

Arrangements were completed with the Michigan Military Academy of Menominee for a basketball game with the Escanaba Rangers at the Coliseum gymnasium here on Saturday evening, February 23. The tilt will be the first appearance of an athletic team of the Military Academy in this city and promises to be one of the big attractions of the season.

The Cadets boast an exceptionally strong team, well fortified with a lengthy string of victories. Smeesart, of the Cadets, is the offensive star for the aggregation and his record to date just about gives him the high scoring honors for peninsula basketball games this year. He has averaged 19 points per game in the last five games played by the Academy team. He is a forward and an exceptionally hard man to guard, having a peculiar change of pace which enables him to twist away from the opposition.

Captain Bee, running mate of Smeesart, also possesses an offensive punch which has been a big help with the Menominee aggregation this winter. Both boys are from DePaul University, Gallagher, center, also is a former DePaul athlete. The guard posts are handled by Thornton, of Chicago, and Jack Kruetz, former Menominee high school athlete.

Inactive except for regular practices since their game with the Green Bay Packers, the Rangers have accumulated a full head of steam and are anxious to blow it off. The squad worked out Monday evening at the Coliseum and displayed smooth teamwork and lightning speed.

Against the Packers, the Red Birds showed a large improvement over their previous games and it wasn't until the final minutes that the Green Bay cagers came from behind to take the victory.

The Cadet-Ranger game will start after nine o'clock Saturday evening to allow clerks and Saturday evening workers to witness the game after the stores close. The game, however, will be preceded by a fast preliminary at eight o'clock for early comers.

ZUPPKE DENIES OVER EMPHASIS

UPBAYS READY FOR ESCANABA
 Last Battle of Season in County Seat Gymnasium

Gladstone, Feb. 25.—Determined to make it two straight this season over Escanaba and demonstrate that their early victory was no fluke, as has been claimed, Gladstone high school's cagers are getting down to serious work in preparation for a return game against their ancient foe Friday evening at the county seat gymnasium.

It will be the last game of the regular season for each team and the last game which will be played in the Escanaba high school gymnasium.

Continued scrimmages against the alumni mark the workouts through which Coach Keel is sending his charges this week and defensive play is coming in for more than its share of attention. Last week's downfall at the hands of Gwin was attributed by the local mentor to failure of individual defense.

In the scrimmages the varsity crew have "clicked" in regular championship fashion and if they continue to function in this manner should put up a whole of a scrap.

This far this season Escanaba has won only a single, that against Manistique. With the exception of three games Gladstone has won every contest, one the Escanaba overtime period battle which they overcame by a two-point margin. This would tend to give the Keelmen a decided advantage in the doze.

CAPONE HEARS CASE AGAINST HIM IN COURT

watch chain.

After the federal proceedings, Capone will appear in municipal court to answer Judge John H. Lyle's vagrancy warrant. He made bond of $50,000 Monday during the noon recess.

Of Florida, one of its "best known" citizens, said: "I'm not going back. It's warm enough here. Anyway this is my home. Besides—" just the truth of a reflection—"business conditions are pretty bad."

Doctor First Witness
 The contempt proceeding grew out of a grand jury subpoena in March, 1929. The jury was investigating incomes. A continuance was granted by Judge Wilkinson when a doctor's affidavit, showing Al was ill, was presented.

Capone's first witness was Dr. Kenneth Phillips of Miami who signed the affidavit to the effect that it would be dangerous for Capone to come to Chicago. He described in detail how he had examined the gangster, diagnosed his case as acute bronchial pneumonia, and ordered him to stay in bed.

Dr. Phillips said it was still his opinion that Capone might have died had he been forced to come to Chicago when the government first called him. He was still on the stand, ready to be cross examined when court was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Once while counsel argued over a legal point, the sharp report of an automobile's back fire came up from Jackson boulevard. Several nervous heads jerked to attention. No so Al's. He continued chewing gum.

Republicans 'Amend' Sadowski Proposal
 Lansing, Feb. 25. (AP)—The Republican majority in the state senate turned an attempt by Senator George Sadowski, the lone Democrat to secure adjournment of the legislature for the Democratic state convention in Flint Thursday, into a boomerang. The rules committee carefully deleted the word "Democrat" wherever it appeared in the Sadowski resolution and substituted the word "Republican." The senate then adopted the measure, providing for adjournment on the date of the Republican state convention in Kalamazoo March 6.

Fight By Rounds

ROUND ONE
 Walker landed the first blow, a light left to the head as they came to a clinch. Johnny tore in with both hands and they were soon head to head in a brisk slugfest. Mickey caught Johnny with a smart left to the ear, and they clinched. Granting in his very best style Risko repeatedly leaped to with both hands and kept the mauling at close range. Walker was jarred by an over-land right to the head and they exchanged lefts to the body. Johnny was on top of his smaller rival at the bell.

ROUND TWO
 Walker stabbed with his left arm and clinched but Johnny fought himself loose and flayed Mickey with both fists. Risko charged his rival but was clipped by two hard rights to the chin. Walker beat a tattoo on Johnny's ribs and sent the bouncing one back on his heels with a stiff smash to the jaw. Mickey caught Johnny with another swift left to the whiskers and they battled away at a fast clip. Walker was getting the range and tying Risko effectively at close quarters as the gong sounded.

ROUND THREE
 Mickey sank his left into Johnny's mid-section as they rushed into action. Risko continued his aggressive tactics but was being beaten to the punch consistently by the hard punching Irishman. They were pried loose from a half dozen clinches without much damage having been done. Johnny was missing a lot of punches as he absorbed a pounding around the middle. Walker was showing speed and outboxing Risko as the round ended.

ROUND FOUR
 Johnny swung both hands to the head but Mickey rolled with the punches and cuffed the bouncing one briskly in return. Risko connected with both hands to the head and roughed Walker along the ropes. Mickey hooked a beautiful left to Johnny's ear and ducked the counter swing. Risko used his weight to advantage at close quarters and kept on top of the middleweight champion. Johnny took three jabs on the nose without even blinking as the bell sounded.

ROUND FIVE
 They slugged at a furious pace from the top of the gong and soon had the crowd in an uproar. Johnny seemed to have a little better of it but Mickey came off the ropes and fired both hands to the head with telling effect. Both were swinging from the hips in a succession of wild mix-ups. Johnny battled his way out of a clinch but was thrown off balance by a left hook to the jaw and backed away. Johnny was grunting, pushing and mauling Mickey along the ropes at the gong.

ROUND SIX
 Mickey sank his left into Johnny's middle and the baker boy grunted. Mickey was warned for hitting low but Johnny made no protest and bounded back at his rival flayed Walker earnestly while the crowd cheered. They were mixing it like a couple of stevedores as the punches flew from all directions. Walker continued his attack to the body out was cut over his left eye by one of Risko's wild swings. They were head to head at the bell.

ROUND SEVEN
 Risko started the blood flowing afresh from the gash over Mickey's eye. They were seen in a wild mele. Walker landed heavily to the ribs with his left and forced Johnny to clinch. Walker speared his rival with both hands after a wild one of Johnny's bull-like rushes. The smaller man cuffed and slashed his rival with a sustained attack as Johnny looked befuddled. Walker's face was a bloody smear but he was fighting desperately. Walker sank his left to the ribs at the bell.

ROUND EIGHT
 Mickey fired a straight right to the jaw and stepped inside Risko's counter. Risko landed an overhead right to the jaw but Mickey ripped into his rival with both hands. Johnny continued to force the fighting and they were head to head most of the time. They exchanged hard lefts to the head and the blood was pouring again from Walker's cut eye. Risko tore into his rival without the slightest letup. They were in a clinch at the bell.

ROUND NINE
 With little to choose thus far they rushed out with both hands swinging. Mickey rocked Risko with a vicious left to the head, crossed with his right and Johnny hung on grimly. Johnny rushed back in but took two more terrific wallops to the jaw, followed by a left that had him groggy. Risko clinched and lost some of his aggressiveness. Johnny was grunting with every punch and seemed tired. Walker ripped a left to the body as the gong sounded.

ROUND TEN
 They shook hands and Risko stung Mickey with a left to the ear. Johnny tore back in with both fists working like flats but had his head snapped back by a right uppercut. Walker met Risko's rush with a right smash to the jaw that nearly put Johnny on the floor. Walker connected with another hard right and followed with a terrific left to the body. Johnny was tired and badly battered but still game as he forced Walker to the ropes. A

WORLD TRACK RECORDS FALL

Medley Relay Mark Had Stood Eight Years; Sentman Beaten

BY FOSTER HAILEY
 Madison Square Garden, New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Two world records were broken tonight in the American national indoor track and field championships, one the medley relay record, a mark that had stood for eight years.

Percy Beard, long striding youngster from Alabama Poly, better known as Auburn, broke the first record in the 70 yard high hurdles, running them in 8 5/10 and clipping a tenth of a second from the mark held jointly by Leo Sentman of the University of Illinois, Monty Wells of the Boston A. A., and C. H. Moore. Sentman was second tonight.

Coan Anchor Man
 The University of Pennsylvania's great medley relay team, anchored by this country's leading miler, Carl Coan, smashed a record that had stood since 1923 when Jole Ray, Ray Watson, S. Rose and W. A. Dowding ran the one and seven-eighths miles in the then phenomenal time of 7 minutes, 35 and 25 seconds. The Red and Blue team tonight stepped it in exactly five and one-fifth seconds faster. Coan ran his mile leg in 4 minutes, 17 seconds, cutting down a lead of 25 yards, Russell Chapman of Bates College, had given Wallace Viles, his team's miler.

Chapman, running the half-mile leg, turned in a 1:55 four furions in an attempt to pull his slower mates up to victory, overcoming Pennsylvania's ten 10-year lead and going on to give his man 25, but Little Viles was no match for Little Coan.

Illinois Wins Title
 It was a two team race almost from the start with Harvard and New York University falling to keep within halting distance of the leaders.

The Illinois A. C. with 16 points won the team title. Pennsylvania was second with 15 points. Ray Conger, Harold Osborn and Anton Burg gave the Chicago club its victory with victories in the 1,000 yards, the running high jump, the standing high jump and a fourth in the running high jump.

France's two entries in the meet failed of their ambition to take American titles home with them. Sera Martin finished second to Phil Edwards, of Canada, in the 600, and Paul Keller fourth to Conger's 1,600 yard victory.

Favorites Lose In Races at Hialeah

New York, Feb. 25. (AP)—The heavy going at Hialeah park played havoc with the favorites today and outsiders swept the race card.

The Gen. Flying the silks of Mary L. Crawford, was beaten by three lengths in the Shadow Lawn purse by P. H. Alcheles recently claimed Talented Prince. The winner, an outsider in the four hours affair, paid $13.80 for $2.

The California stable's General A took the measure of J. C. Ellis' Billie in the Brighton handicap to pay $5.80 for $2. Jockey H. Tinker put over the two best things of the program when he won with John K, which paid $15.20, and Bill Morris, which returned $13.60 for $2. Labor, a former member of the Harry F. Sinclair stable, woke up and won the sixth to pay $5.50.

right uppercut staggered Risko and he fell into Walker's arms. Johnny was still full of fight but wild as a hawk and taking terrific punishment at the bell.

What Big Leaguers are Doing in Spring Training Camps

Sacramento, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP)—Those Tigers who found it necessary to shed a winter's accumulation of aviridopots were permitted to quit the scene of their mountain climbing labors at Richardson Springs today and join the main body of Bengal regulars and aspirants here today.

Next Sunday, the group assembled here will be reinforced with the arrival of the third and last squad and then serious training will begin for the first exhibition game at San Francisco, March 13.

Then also will begin the struggle for survival of the fittest and Manager Buckey Harris announced today that the men who round into playing form first will be permitted to participate in the game with the Seals which will serve to dedicate the San Francisco ball park. At about that time, also, will come the first parting of the roster, which must blast the hopes of some of the aspiring recruits.

Not the least important of today's happenings was receipt of word that Marry McManus, veteran infielder, will report here Sunday in spite of contractual differences between the player and the management. After one of the best seasons in his career last year, McManus demanded $13,000 and a bonus of $1,000 for signing. The management offered $12,000 with no bonus.

JOHNSON ARRIVES
 Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Sylvester Johnson's trunk arrived at the St. Louis Cardinals hotel this afternoon and the Red Birds heard a sigh of relief, for they took this as a sign that the last of the missing Cardinal hurlers would arrive shortly from his home at Portland, Ore.

GRID STAR READY
 West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Among players who have attracted most attention in initial workouts at the St. Louis Browns' training camp here is Larry Bettencourt, former California football star, who played excellent baseball for Wichita Falls, Texas, last season. Bettencourt is determined to make good in the majors. Manager Bill Killefer hopes he will be able to play right field regularly, thus solving one of the Browns big problems.

CHANGES STYLE
 New Orleans, La., Feb. 25 (AP)—Batters who formed a liking for Pete Jablonowski's unvarying pitching style may be crossed up this season, if Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Americans is successful in the campaign he inaugurated today. He told Pete to junk his perfect rhythm and develop a change of pace "even down to speeding up or slowing down on your chawling." Pete and his battery mates indulged today in ten minute tossing sessions beside exercise for legs and wind.

CAN'T FOOL CUBS
 Avonlea, Cal., Feb. 25 (AP)—Perhaps it was because the pitchers didn't bear down, but the new National League baseball failed to fool the Chicago Cub slugging department in its first workout today.

Messrs. Wilson, Cuyler, Stephenson and all of the regulars, plus a recruit, Vincent Barton, slotted the ball plenty and far. Manager Rogers Hornsby apparently expected what happened, for he had his pitchers equipped with shinguards. He finished up the three-hour session by taking his place at second base in the regular infield, with Charlie Grimm, Woody English and Lester Bell.

HEILMAN ILL
 Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 25 (AP)—Harry Heilmann, heaviest slugger on the Cincinnati Reds roster, is suffering from a severe case of arthritis in his right wrist and will not be in shape to use his throwing arm for another month, Sidney Weil, Club president, said today. Heilmann will spend the spring training period at his Detroit home undergoing medical treatment.

TAKING IT EASY
 San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 25 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox continued to toss the baseball gently, and shag flies vigorously today, although the tossers yearned to do some batting. Manager Donie Bush indicated he would let them bat tomorrow.

He also showed considerable interest in a recruit pitcher, John W. Intlekofer, recently of George Stovall's Los Angeles semi-pro club. Intlekofer, who is 19 years old, was described as one of the best looking rookie right-handers Bush has seen in several seasons.

VEENKER GETS NEW POSITION

Michigan Cage Coach to Become Football Mentor at Iowa State

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 25 (AP)—George F. Veenker, head basketball coach and member of the football coaching staff at University of Michigan, will become head football coach at Iowa State college, Ames, Ia.

Announcement of his resignation, effective after conclusion of the coaching school here next summer, was made today.

Since the death of Edwin Mather three years ago, Veenker has been head basketball coach. His work in that position has been entirely satisfactory. It was conceded here, but Veenker has long aspired to a position of head football coach.

He came to Michigan from Gary, Ind., five years ago. He has been end coach during the football season in recent years. One of his chief contributions to success of Michigan football teams, however, has been as scout. He has the ability to grasp salient points of defensive and offensive tactics seeing a team in action only once.

No announcement was made concerning his successor.

Canzoneri Scores A Quick Knockout

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 25. (AP)
 —Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion of the world, swarmed all over Tony Kaufman of New York to win by a technical knockout in the first round of their ten round non-title bout here tonight.

Before they had been scrapping one minute, Canzoneri sent his bigger opponent to the floor for a count of nine and after the fifth knockdown the referee stopped in and halted the bout.

The Nut Cracker

BY JOE O'GOFFTY
 Court Reporter, The Tennis Racket

Whenever Bill Tilden wins another tennis match from Kosteuh, I smile and say to myself: "Well, pretty soon Bill's association with Curley, the rasulio impresario, will show. He will learn to pull his punches and make faces like the best of pachyderms."

When Curley stepped into tennis just as his rascal business was piling up, he uttered those traditional words, "I'll let it ride—shoot the two."

My old pal, Knute Rockne, believes charity begins at home and not in Los Angeles, as some Elks think.

Once there was a caddy who stole a golf ball, for which he was convicted and hanged. Of course that was in Scotland, and it also was in the 17th century.

A golf pro telling of his biggest thrill said it was three deuces in a row. He probably made them in the locker room.

If the report is true that the Reds have cut Shortstop Horace Ford's pay by $4500, Horace would be owing them money.

Japanese Cueist Wins First Game
 New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Kinrey Matsuyma, of Japan, won his first game in three starts in the international 18.2 ballkline billiards tournament today, defeating Eric Hagelach, of Germany, 400 to 397 in 16 innings. Hagelach now has lost three straight games.

SEE FALLS AS POWER PLANT

Tahquamenon Suggested As Project to Serve Newberry Power

Newberry, Feb. 26 (Special)—The development of the Tahquamenon Falls as a power project was the possibility suggested by officials of the Cliff Power and Light company at the meeting of the Newberry council on Monday night.

This company now owns the land about the larger falls. The lower cascade and its surrounding territory belongs to the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company.

Such a suggestion has been mentioned from time to time here for the past years but little attention has been paid to it as there appeared to be no definite plan nor reason for such a project.

In conversation with a local businessman one of the Cliff's officials stated that his company had two ideas in mind.

One was to construct a dam at the big falls. This would spoil the cascade as a tourist attraction as during the dry season there would be little or no water going over the rocks.

It has been hoped for years that some way would be found to hold the Tahquamenon Falls, the finest drop of a stream in Michigan and one of the finest in the middle western states, for a natural park either under the direction of the state or the federal park commission.

Local people are divided upon the desirability of a power project on the Tahquamenon. The hard-headed businessmen are saying that a power plant might bring in more to the country than the falls ever would.

Department Grants Request to Place Warden in 'Stique

Newberry, Feb. 26 (Special)—Manistique is to have a resident fire warden, according to the announcement of District Fire Warden Richard Beach who returned Tuesday night from a state conference of wardens just closed in Lansing.

George Mattson, for the past two years serving with the department, has been announced as the winner in the competitive examination for the position as assistant fire warden serving under Beach.

No other changes in the force have been made. The state forest towers, East and West, which for the past two years have been under the supervision of the state forest superintendent, have been returned to the district and will be managed by Beach again this year.

The federal weather forecast for the summer and autumn does not look so good, Beach reports and just how the present legislature is going to handle their money is at this date unknown.

Edward Fox confessed to breaking and entering the Atlantic and Pacific store on the night of Feb. 17, was bound over for trial at the next term of circuit court to be held here on March 16. Fox has signed a written confession before the prosecutor.

make a fine and salable addition to any residential suburb. One realizes that it is a reformatory only when one sees the women inmates in their reformatory garb of plain denim.

They will be prisoners, just as truly as in an iron-barred institution of the older type. They will have to work or study all day, and the work will be hard.

She will get up at 6 and will make her bed. Then—assuming that she has been given work in the kitchen—she will go downstairs and help get breakfast.

At 7 she will eat, and after breakfast she will clean up her room, work in the kitchen, and clean up the house. This work accomplished, she will begin the reformatory routine.

At noon she will come back for lunch; shortly after 1 she will return to work or will go to school.

Miss Hazzard explains that the aim of the institution is expressed in its title—reformatory.

An attempt will be made to fit each prisoner for a normal, law-abiding life in the outside world. She will be taught to read and write, and will be given as much of an education as her mental capacities fit her for.

Our whole idea," Miss Hazzard says, "is to rehabilitate the women who are put in our charge. We want to avoid the stigma that goes with the ordinary penal institution. We are gothe average length of term of the inmates; if the terms are fairly long, a different kind will be installed than will be the case if the terms are fairly short. The work will have a three-fold value; articles manufactured can be used in other state institutions, the women will be kept busy, and they will learn trades that can help them when they are given their freedom.

There is no wall about the grounds. There is, instead, a seven-foot wire mesh fence; but as Miss Hazzard points out, this was built more to keep intruders out than to keep the inmates in.

Miss Hazzard explains that the decision on the machinery which will be installed in the industrial building will depend largely on

To The Voters Of Delta County

I am a candidate for re-election to the office of County Commissioner of Schools. I have been engaged in school work in Delta County for the last thirty-three years—six years as Principal of the Perkins school, eleven years as Principal of the Wells schools, and am now serving my fourth term as Commissioner of Schools.

During the time I have held the office I have given my entire time to school work. There has been no side issue. Due to the State system of Child Accounting and the increased service required in all lines of school work the duties of the Commissioner have been fully doubled during my tenure of office.

Very sincerely,
