

DEMOCRATS BEST BET, ASSERTS NORRIS

NOTHING NEW ADVANCED BY 'THIRD PARTY'

ROOSEVELT WOULD BE KNOWN AS A PROGRESSIVE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1931, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Mar. 13—The only political gesture that enveloped the progressive conference was the telegram from Governor Roosevelt, Democrat, who pointed to his own achievements in water power policy and his work on unemployment as evidence of his progressive sympathies and desires.

Senator Norris, insurgent Republican, has insisted the conference was not intended as a third party move but as a method of making the major parties more progressive. Except for the questions propounded by Senator Watson, Republican, the leader of the senate majority, no comment has been forthcoming from the regular Republicans and nothing has been said by the White House.

Republicans Silent. The chances now are that since the Republican camp. This is the edict from Republican national committee headquarters. The Democratic national committee is "unofficially observing" but is also saying nothing. After Chairman Raskob's speech endeavoring to placate the conservatives who think the Democrats are too radical, the national committee isn't likely to swallow the doctrines of the progressive conference.

So the telegram from Governor Roosevelt, which expressed his regret at being unable to attend, has a significance all its own. It means that the New York governor is not interested in what the Democratic national committee as such may do or say about the progressive conference, because he is going to express himself about it anyway.

What Will They Do? Undoubtedly Governor Roosevelt wants to be known as a progressive. Senator Dill, Democrat, of the state of Washington, is out with an interview to the effect that Mr. Roosevelt would make a good candidate and a good president of the United States. Mr. Dill belongs to the radical-liberal wing of the Democratic party. Incidentally, Senator Norris of Nebraska talks kindly of Mr. Roosevelt, too, and in the last election the Nebraska senator supported Governor Smith. So Mr. Roosevelt is not missing any bets and instead of avoiding the progressive conference, he is openly in favor of many of the things it has been discussing. Much of the speech-making at the conference has had a familiar ring. All the speakers have said what was expected of them. The only thing of importance now is that they are going to do about it. And they insist they do not intend to start a third party. The political result is, therefore, to keep things as they have been—and to give warning that the next Congress will see more conversation along the same lines as that heard at this week's conference.

State Wants Prohibition Convention

Aviator Rushes Serum To Arctic Settlement

Point Barrow, Alaska, March 13 (AP)—Bringing 500,000 units of antitoxin to battle a diphtheria epidemic in this little Arctic settlement, Pilot Joe Crosson arrived here by air at noon today from Point Lay. Four new cases of diphtheria had developed bringing the total to 21.

Crosson, with Pilot S. E. Robbins in another airplane, left Fairbanks yesterday, carrying a motion picture expedition. Covering 900 miles, they reached Point Hope, where the expedition disembarked. Crosson continuing onto Point Lay on the Arctic coast where he spent last night. Crosson also spent a night at Point Lay while returning to Fairbanks after delivering 250,000 units of anti-toxin last Saturday.

There are 12 white persons, including four children, and approximately 200 Eskimos here. Less than a quarter of these have been immunized. Adding to the difficulty of fighting the epidemic, the Eskimos continued to hide their sickness until they were seriously ill. Guards patrolled the streets to enforce quarantine.

L'Anse Hotel Men Kept Bar, Charge Marquette, Mich., March 13 (AP)—Harry McIntyre, proprietor of the L'Anse hotel in Marquette, Mich., and Frank Massie, said to have been an employee, were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner C. F. Bytton today on charges of possessing intoxicating liquor, as an outgrowth of a state police raid on the hotel yesterday.

The raiders said they found a bar room in the hotel, equipped with gambling paraphernalia, and that Massie was the bartender. The defendants were unable to post $3,000 bond.

DENISON FREED OF RUM CHARGE Ex-Congressman Found Not Guilty by Jury in Supreme Court

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Edward E. Denison, a member of the house from Illinois for 16 years before he was defeated for reelection last November, today was acquitted of liquor possession charges by a jury of eight men and four women in District of Columbia supreme court. The jury, given the case on the third day of the trial deliberated one hour and took three ballots before reaching its verdict. The trial grew out of the finding of 24 bottles of liquor in an army locker trunk in Denison's rooms at the house office building more than two years after he had returned from a trip to Panama with his nephew Charles E. Lane, Jr., of St. Louis. Denison contended the wrong baggage had been delivered and that the army locker trunk he purchased at Balboa contained dishes for some friends and relatives in this city and St. Louis. Comedy of Errors. Testimony regarding the dishes was described as a "fairy story" by John J. Sirica, one of two as-

The Story of Gandhi

Gandhi, Turning Against British Gov't Which He Had Served in Three Wars, Begins Bloodless Revolution in India. EDITOR'S NOTE: In his two preceding stories in this series of four, Mr. Bronner has told of the boyhood life of Gandhi in India, how he studied law in London where a Bible chanced into his possession and the teachings of Jesus moulded his course in life, how he went to South Africa for a crusader and became a bloodless lawbreaker for freedom. Today begins the story of his revolt against British rule in his native land.

ACTION TAKEN TO PUT ISSUE UP TO PEOPLE

MASSACHUSETTS IS FIRST TO FALL INTO LINE

Boston, March 13 (AP)—The Massachusetts legislature today called on the national congress for a constitutional convention of the states to consider repeal or amendment of the prohibition amendment. The action taken today was the concurrence by the house of representatives in a senate amendment to a resolution requesting such a convention. The amendment was accepted without debate and the resolution will be forwarded to congress. Signature of Governor Joseph B. Ely is unnecessary but he expressed approval of the legislature's action.

Find Dissatisfaction. Massachusetts was believed at the state capital to be the first state to take advantage of the constitutional guarantee that two thirds of the states can compel congress to call a constitutional convention.

Whereas, a condition of widespread dissatisfaction prevails with workings and results of article 18 of the amendments to the Constitution of the United States; and

Whereas, it is desirable to attempt to improve, clarify or quiet such condition; and

Whereas, the only methods for repealing or modifying said article 18 are set forth in article 5 of the said constitution; and

Whereas, such methods are available for ascertaining the will of a majority of the people and for setting any definite program in motion; therefore be it

Resolved, that the general court of Massachusetts, acting in pursuance of said article 5, hereby requests that congress call a convention under said article for the purpose of proposing an amendment amending, modifying, revising or repealing said article 18; or that congress, acting in pursuance of said article 5, itself propose such an amendment or amendments and submit the same for ratification by conventions in the several states. x x x

The methods of dealing with the subject are in agreement with those prescribed in the recent decision of Federal Judge Clark in New Jersey in which he declared the 18th amendment was unconstitutional.

Motorists Using Wrong Tags Must Get State License

Detroit, March 13 (AP)—Michigan motorists who have purchased their license tags in states other than their own were made the subject of an investigation by Michigan state police.

Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, conferred here today with Arville E. Atwood, chairman of the motor vehicle division, and local authorities. The police were asked to question all drivers whose cars carry licenses from other states to determine whether they are bona fide visitors or are Michigan motorists who should carry the license of Michigan.

Last week after the police announced that Michigan drivers using license plates of other states would be prosecuted, 250 such licenses, obtained Michigan plates.

State Takes Over 4 Suburban Banks

Detroit, March 13 (AP)—Four suburban banks were taken over by the state banking department today. The banks affected were the American State Bank of Ferndale; the American State Bank of Wyandotte; the State Savings Bank of Melvindale; and the State Savings Bank of Lincoln Park.

The banks were not opened for business today.

AS PROGRESSIVES OPENED MEET

Leaders in the Progressive conference meeting in Washington to map out a new political and economic program for the country posed for the above picture just as the sessions opened. Left to right are Senators Robert M. LaFollette, Wisconsin; George W. Norris, Nebraska (chairman); Edward Costigan, Colorado; and Bronson Cutting, New Mexico.

Mother Sobs Decision Which Sends Her Son To Prison For Life

Bardonia, Ky., March 13 (AP)—The quivering, halting words of a mother 500 miles away today sent her son to the penitentiary for life.

Confronted with the state's offer to swap a life sentence for a plea of guilty in the murder Feb. 22, of Carl B. James, railroad official, Anthony Plotrowsky, alias Tony Prowsay alias Anthony Peterson, was overcome with fear and confused with happenings of the past few days. He turned to his mother in Detroit for advice. If he refused the state's offer he faced trial by jury with death in the electric chair as maximum punishment on a verdict of guilty.

Mother Advises Plea. Mrs. Agnes Plotrowsky, whose lack of funds prevented her attending her son's trial, speaking over the telephone from Detroit, sealed her son's fate when she advised her attorney to enter a plea of guilty.

The mother had before her newspaper accounts of the fate of her son's companion, Frank Carson, alleged "trigger-man," who yesterday was convicted and sentenced to death by a jury in the same court for the same murder. Both are under 20 years of age.

David Seesmer, the youth's attorney, said Mrs. Plotrowsky could hardly speak for her sobbing. She hesitated, almost overcome, but finally mustered strength to tell him her decision. Circuit Judge James Tudor who had allowed two hours for the mother to decide, then sentenced the youth to life imprisonment in

Another Suspect In Kidnap Gang Is Held at Flint

Flint, Mich., March 13 (AP)—Detroit police were notified today that Flint authorities were holding Virgil Hartman, wanted here as an alleged member of the Harry Hallisey-Legs Laman extortion and kidnaping gang, most of whom are serving prison sentences.

Laman, Hallisey, Jerry Mullane, Louis Ross, Roy Cornelius, Stanley de Long and Benjamin Rubenstein were convicted and sentenced for activities of the gang. Three other members of the gang are sought.

Hartman was arrested, Flint police said, on the strength of a circular distributed months ago, in which Wayne county offered $400 reward for his apprehension. Police did not reveal his alleged connection with the gang.

150 PRISONERS UP FOR PAROLE

Jackson Inmates Must Furnish Proof That They Will Work

Jackson, Mich., March 13 (AP)—One hundred and fifty inmates of Michigan state prison will be recommended for parole as a result of hearings for March concluded today by Parole Commissioner Harold Waples and Deputy Commissioner M. D. Kirks for release.

The convicts to receive their freedom must first furnish proof that they will have steady employment.

One applicant, from Mecosta county, serving a six-month term for a year sentence for violating the prohibition law, explained to the commissioner that he had stocked his farm with the best year made drinking water supply uncertain.

He will be recommended for parole, although they conceded there were certain discrepancies in that story.

Violation of Laws On Patents Charged

Detroit, March 13 (AP)—Three officials of the May Screw Products company were ordered held under bond for the federal grand jury by U. S. Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd today after their arraignment on charges of violating the patent laws.

The three are A. LeRoy May, president of the company; Norman Zuck, secretary, and C. H. Emery, treasurer. The company is charged with having dealt in products in violation of products of the Alemitte corporation, of Chicago, and stamped with the Alemitte trade mark.

Bill Board Smoke Ads Are Opposed

Oklahoma City, March 13 (AP)—Cigarette bill board advertising with pictures of women or children would be banned in Oklahoma under a bill passed by the house today, 64 to 15 and sent to the senate.

The bill declares such advertising as would encourage use of cigarettes by boys, girls or women to be "harmful to the welfare of the state and to public policy."

Court Litigation Against Capital Punishment Killed

Lansing, March 13 (AP)—Appearance of the capital punishment issue on the ballot in the April election was virtually assured today when supreme court litigation designed to halt the proposal failed.

The court denied a petition filed by counsel for the Citizens Rights club, asking an order against Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, compelling him to cancel his certification of the electric chair act. Fitzgerald had already certified the proposal to the various county clerks. The supreme court offered no opinion nor comment in rejecting the anti-capital punishment petition.

ROOSEVELT IS MENTIONED AS A POSSIBILITY

PROGRESSIVES PLAN TO CONTROL NEXT CONGRESS

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON Washington, March 13 (AP)—An open flirtation between Democratic leaders and Independents Republican publications toward the 1932 presidential campaign developed today as an aftermath to the Progressives' conference.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, chairman and sponsor of the conference, said the progressives' only hope for a liberal presidential candidate lies with the Democratic party.

This was followed by a statement from Senator Hall of Tennessee, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, pointing out what he described as similarities between the progressive program and the policies of his party.

Both belittled the possibility of practicality of a third party movement.

Roosevelt Favored. Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, joined in with a statement that he would like to see Governor Roosevelt of New York nominated by the Democrats if his colleague, Senator Robinson, is not.

Meanwhile, members of the house progressive group said a showdown on salient features of the program adopted at the progressive conference ending yesterday would be demanded before house control is entrusted either to the Republican or Democratic party.

The progressives will hold the balance of power in both houses of the next congress if a well knit organization is effected.

Concerning the renomination of President Hoover by the Republicans, Norris said that would leave the Democratic party as the progressives' only hope for a liberal candidate.

He refused to say who he would like to have the Democrats nominate, but remarked that if Hoover was the Republican nominee and Owen D. Young, the Democratic choice, he would probably "go fishing."

Pointing out a number of Democratic views which he said were "seconded" by the progressives, Hull added:

"Democrats agree with the progressives that a third party is entirely inadvisable, for the reason now stated, and as contended by Democrats in 1910-12, that the only practical hope for the liberal process of the country is in the Democratic party."

"In numerous instances the ideas expressed and the evils pointed out as the progressive conference, were in complete harmony with the course and attitude—both past and present—of most of the great Democratic rank and file, three-fourths of whom stand for sane, practical, Jeffersonian liberalism."

"The progressive conference is beneficial in an educational way, and in awakening to some extent the American people. The citizen has never before been so indifferent to the government and its relations and duties to it."

"The progressives are rendering a valuable and patriotic service, and correspondingly reinforcing the efforts of the Democratic party, in thus arousing and warning the people."

O'Neill Denies He Stole Story's Plot

New York, March 13 (AP)—Eugene O'Neill declared in a deposition read in federal court today that he never heard of Miss George Lewis or her book, "Temple of Pallas Athena," until she charged he had plagiarized the work for his play, "Strange Interlude."

The deposition of the author, who is being sued for $5,000,000, was taken in Paris.

EYE WITNESSES GIVE EVIDENCE

This ruling was given over strenuous objections by defense counsel when Prosecutor Harry S. Toy told the court that he depended on the addresses to assist him in proving a motive for the assassination.

Prosecutor Toy then read into the record Rosenberg's answers to questions asked him by the grand jury last December. At that time Rosenberg testified that Livecchi had asked him and Rex Lexier, another state witness, not to mention having seen him in the La Salle hotel lobby the night of the slaying.

Rosenberg admitted having talked with Le Roy Payne, attorney for Livecchi. Cross-examined by the defense, Rosenberg said Livecchi was standing with his back to the scene of the shooting.

NANCY BOWEN GETS FREEDOM

Aged Indian Sentenced But Has Already Served Term

Buffalo, N. Y., March 12. (AP)—Nancy Bowen, the second Indian woman to be charged with the murder of Mrs. Clotilde Marchand, wife of the artist, Henri Marchand, in March, 1930, was freed today.

The aged Nancy, who pleaded guilty Tuesday to a reduced charge of manslaughter, first degree, was sentenced by County Judge F. Bret Thorn to imprisonment for one to ten years, but, according to law, was released immediately because she already had been detained in jail for more than the amount of her minimum sentence.

The 66-year-old Seneca Indian woman seemed slightly dazed by the formal wording of her sentence, but her interest rallied quickly as she focused her thoughts on the Cattaraugus Indian reservation where her home is. Nancy started home this afternoon, a glow on her face as she told of her plans "to plant things."

Lila Jimerson, indicted jointly with Nancy, preceded her to the reservation after being acquitted of a charge of murder, first degree, two weeks ago. Nancy admitted on the witness stand that she murdered Mrs. Marchand but insisted the crime had been urged by Lila, who declared the woman was a "white witch."

Judge Thorn included a scathing denunciation of Henri Marchand in his remarks in sentencing Nancy today. He said: "I believe, and I think everyone acquainted with this case believes, that Henri Marchand, through his affair with Lila Jimerson, which he cynically defended as 'professional necessity' had a large share morally in the killing of his wife. x x x

"I do not believe, however, that he is legally responsible. There is no evidence that he is. I agree with Mr. Moore (Guy B. Moore, the district attorney) that the acquittal of Lila Jimerson was a miscarriage of justice. The verdict was ridiculous. I believe Nancy Bowen was less guilty than Lila Jimerson."

DENISON FREED OF RUM CHARGE

William E. Leahy, closing for the defense, described the prohibition unit's handling of the case as a "comedy of errors."

He said the government had "passed the buck to these two boys sitting here," referring to Sirica and Irving Goldstein, the other prosecution attorney.

Denison, who was present in court throughout the trial, expressed elation over the result and charged he had been "persecuted and not prosecuted" by the prohibition unit. He shook hands with his three attorneys and each of the jurors and then told newspapermen he was starting on a trip around the world next week for a rest.

Asked if he would run for reelection to the house next year, he said he already had given notice of his intentions to do so at Marion, his home.

Woman Takes Plane 33,000 Feet In Air

Akron, O., March 13. (AP)—Miss Frankie Renner, 30, business executive and airplane saleslady, took a day off from her regular routine today and piloted an airplane to an altitude she estimates at 33,000 feet, greater by 3,000 feet than the goal at which she aimed in order to break the official altitude record for women.

The record held by Miss Ellnor Smith, is 27,418 feet.

Miss Renner, who was taught to fly in 1927 and who has 200 hours experience, had very little trouble, she said, during the 4 hours and 4 minutes her trip to the clouds consumed. She started the flight at 1:42 p. m. and landed at 4:46.

"The plane and motor worked perfectly," she said. "It worked so well I just set the controls and let it climb while I spent the time making notations and calculations."

Veterans' Checks Are Being Mailed

Detroit, March 13 (AP)—Checks are being mailed from the veterans' bureau regional headquarters here to more than 42,000 Michigan World war veterans for loans which will total approximately $15,000,000, veterans' officials said today.

WAY IS PAVED TO PAY STATE

Attempt Made to Bribe Wade Who Warned Against Issue

Detroit, March 13 (AP)—A resumption of the Wayne county grand jury's investigation of transactions whereby three Detroit suburbs disposition of certain bond issues and a court ruling paving the way for the return of $1,024,000 which the state paid for one municipality's issue were outstanding developments in the state's bond purchase case today.

The grand jury assembled this afternoon to hear further testimony regarding the bond transactions of Frank D. McKay when he was state treasurer and purchased issues of St. Clair Shores, Inkster and Garden City for state sinking funds.

Bought by McKay In Pontiac, Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty dissolved an injunction which had prevented St. Clair Shores from returning to the state $1,024,000 paid for special assessment bonds. The injunction had prevented the village from returning the money to the state and taking from the state bonds of par value of $80,000 which were purchased by McKay after they had been sold by a contractor to the Grand Rapids Trust company.

The matter of the St. Clair Shores bonds bobbed up again during the day when the Detroit News said that Howard C. Wade, former city controller of Detroit, had revealed to it that he had been offered a bribe of $15,000 by Wade to support the sale to the city sinking fund commission of the $718,000 balance of the issue left after the sale of the $960,000 worth to the state.

Wade said he had refrained from recommending the purchase of the bonds "because they were no good."

Brucker Pushes Inquiry

The investigation ordered by Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker and already started by the Wayne county grand jury followed a common course today as representatives of the attorney general's office examined records of St. Clair Shores, Inkster and Garden City while the grand jury took testimony from officials of these villages. Attorney General Paul W. Voorhels was in charge of the state's investigation having been instructed by the governor to "work without restraint."

The bond issues which form the basis of the double-barreled investigation were purchased by McKay for state sinking funds.

U. P. Students Get Awards at College

Lansing, March 13 (AP)—Among scholarship awards conferred upon students of the Michigan State college in special convocation today were:

Ogden F. Edwards, Leslie and Doris T. Posthumus, East Lansing, $100 each from the state board of agriculture for the best scholarship at the end of their junior years; Nellie Holmes, Lansing, and Reuben E. Dill, Saginaw, $50 each for high scholastic standing; Winona Mae Peterson, Holland, Marantha Judson scholarship; Gordon Snyder, Detroit, Tau Beta Pi prize; Floyd Stephen Markham, Grand Rapids, Sayer prize for work in bacteriology; John H. Murphy, Crystal Falls, essay award; George D. Ferrari, Bessemer, athletic council prize; John I. Olson, Shelby, poetry award.

MacDonald Cabinet Escapes A Defeat

London, March 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government, had a bad fright in the House of Commons today, escaping defeat in an important division by only five votes.

"A hectic half hour," was the way Mr. MacDonald described it in a speech at Northampton tonight, but he added the majority of five was "good enough to go on with another two years."

The division occurred on a Conservative amendment to reduce by £100 (about $500) an estimate of £14,000 (about $70,000) for salaries and expenses of the mines department.

The vote was moved chiefly as a protest against payment of a £7,000 a year salary—£2,000 more than that of the premier—to Sir Ernest Gowers, chairman of the mines reorganization committee. Nine Labor back benches voted against the government, but the administration was saved by 20 Liberals, giving the government a total of 173 against 168. Soon afterward the estimate itself was carried by 176 to 78.

PINS ON MEDALS

Buenos Aires, March 13 (AP)—The Prince of Wales tonight decorated President Jose Francisco Uriburu with the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, later pinning other decorations on the ministers of foreign affairs, war, marine, and interior.

Previously the villages had failed to dispose of the bonds through customary channels. Joseph J. McFawn, chairman of a committee representing Detroit bond houses issued a circular letter Feb. 11, 1930, mentioning the bonds of the three villages and asking that outside bond houses refrain from marketing further issues of that nature.

Buckley Was Salesman G. Hall Roosevelt, who succeeded Wade as Detroit city controller, said today that Paul O. Buckley, brother of the late Gerald E. Buckley, and a former assistant Wayne county prosecutor, approached him with a proposal to purchase bonds of the St. Clair Shores issue for the city. Roosevelt said Buckley later called on Leo J. Monahan, deputy controller, with a similar proposal, but that no deal was made.

Buckley said he was engaged by Victor Herbert, a bond dealer, to obtain an extension of the time limit given the contractor to dispose of the bonds and that he called on the city controller as attorney for Herbert.

Boys Play Truant at Sea
So many boys of Lowestoft, England, have been lured by the call of the sea and the desire to watch the great herring fishery that instructions have just been issued to drifter skippers asking them to refuse to take anyone of school age in their ships. The new way of playing truant has caused much trouble for school-attendance officers and parents.

VOTE IN SUMMER

PROponents of the plan to construct a new sewage disposal plant should have no misgivings because of the fact that the city council decided to defer placing the proposition before the taxpayers until such time as a complete study of the local problem has been made.

Certainly this was the wise thing to do. Members of the council would be violating their trust if they submitted a proposal in which they did not have complete confidence it would effectively solve Escanaba's sewage disposal problem.

And then, too, it will have a better chance of securing the approval of taxpayers if voted on in mid-summer. For then, the warm breezes that blow will carry those offensive odors from the present sewage plant, and citizens living in that neighborhood will be forced to stifle in their homes because they will not dare to open the doors and windows. Bathers at the municipal beach will revolt at the obnoxious conditions there as the sun and dirt that accumulate along its shores certainly will add nothing to their enjoyment.

If the election on this issue is held on a hot mid-summer day at a single polling place located in the vicinity of the present sewage plant, the proposition should go over without a dissenting vote.

HERE AND THERE

ANNOUNCEMENT of plans to reopen the handle factory at Manistiquette under new management comes as more good news for citizens of that community.

In the past, the plant has employed from 35 to 50 men. Manistiquette looks forward to a good summer. Construction of new school buildings, highways, homes and resort cottages will give employment to a large number of men during the coming months.

THE COMPLAINT of Mr. Weber, manager of the Triangle Ranch at Amasa, that wolves are causing heavy losses to livestock raisers in the upper peninsula seems to have real foundation judging from the observations of H. P. Williams, federal trapper assigned to this district. Mr. Williams states that he has found that a den of wolves consume about two or three head of cattle a week, and that an average of a deer a day is needed by a pack of wolves to keep them from getting hungry. The destruction of our deer alone seems to be sufficient reason for the state and federal government's activity in exterminating these predatory animals.

THE LEGISLATURE has approved a constitutional amendment authorizing the state to participate in the development of landing fields. This amendment now goes before the people for their approval at the polls at the April election. Two years ago certain laws were passed authorizing the state to develop landing fields and an aviation gasoline tax levying three cents per gallon was passed. Approximately $65,000 has been collected through this source, but the ruling of the state attorney general's office indicated that the laws allowing the state to develop landing fields would very probably be ruled unconstitutional. As a result the state administrative board has declined to spend any of the gasoline tax money until such time as the constitution was saved.

UNDER PRESSURE AGAIN

THE MARQUETTE prison reports 982 inmates, within 70 of the highest number its officials have ever been called on to care for, and 322 in excess of cell capacity. They hope to have the burden imposed on them by the consequent over-crowded conditions relieved by early removal of at least 100 men to the Jackson prison, but even if this transfer is made they will confront the condition that the pressure will soon be as bad as ever.

The prison commission some months ago urged appropriation by the present legislature of something like $1,000,000 to increase the capacity of the Marquette prison and additional appropriation for prison construc-

Anniversary

On March 14, 1628, Jacob Ruysdael, the most eminent painter of the Dutch school, was born at Haarlem, Holland.

After studying under his uncle, Jacob was received into the guild in his home town. He moved to Amsterdam about 1655, where he soon obtained citizenship rights. At this time he traveled widely in his native land and in the outlying hill region of Germany.

He was a close observer of nature and chose for his paintings the flat and homely scenery of his native country, with lonely hamlets, water mills, dark sheets of water overshadowed by trees. His forest, mountain and waterfall scenes are called highly poetic.

In 1681 Ruysdael returned to Haarlem poor and sick, and his Mennonite congregation procured for him admission to the almshouse, where he died in March, 1682.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch Copyright 1931 by Douglas Malloch

WITHOUT FAREWELL Some part who part without farewell, Not knowing 'tis the hour, Without the tale they longed to tell, Without one fading flow'r, And some will grieve, who parted so, Some secret in the breast, They never told—and never know How greatly they are blessed.

They never met for some last time, The last hour was as sweet As all the hours hope makes sublime When mortals part to meet, There is no memory of tears, No shadow on the past, The lovely record of the years Is lovely to the last.

They parted smiling, with the smile That those who part must wear For others in the afterwhile, However much they care, No hour of anguish memory knows, No sad, funeral knell— Ah, heaven has been kind to those Who part without farewell.

MAD MARRIAGE

(By NEA Service) By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

CHAPTER IX

Phil Trowbridge stood with his back toward them as Anne and Gypsy entered the living room. He was offering a cocktail to a pretty girl whose blond curls and frothy white lace gown made her resemble a figure on a French miniature. The girl was smiling. A look passed between them, and Trowbridge turned.

Across the room an elderly man with gray hair was in conversation with a woman in black. A fat, youngish man with a small mustache stood beside them. "Mrs. Lucas," she said in the tone of voice reserved for such occasions, "I want to present my cousin, Miss McBride, Gypsy—Mrs. Lucas."

That was the beginning of the introductions. There was a succession of them, including so many names and faces that all were a confused jumble to Gypsy. Other guests arrived immediately. She discovered the man with the gray hair was Mr. Montgomery and the pretty little blond was his wife. She noted Mrs. Montgomery paid scant attention to her husband and generally there were at least two men beside her.

Trowbridge stopped to compliment Gypsy. "Say, girl, what have you been doing to yourself? I thought you were Greta Garbo when you came in!" "What have you been doing to your eyesight?" Gypsy retorted. "Don't you know a blond from a brunette?"

"Minor detail—inconsequential!" he told her. "Anyhow you're a knock-out." Gypsy smiled. She knew Phil was trying to be kind and she was grateful. It was pleasant to know that she looked well.

Anne came for her and there were more introductions. Gypsy shook hands, smiled the mechanical smile she was rapidly acquiring and then found herself beside Mrs. Lucas, the woman in black. "Are you stopping with Mrs. Trowbridge?" the older woman asked.

"No—I live in New York." "Oh, do you? Anne must bring you to tea some time. You're very like each other, aren't you? I'd almost say you were sisters!" Gypsy was relieved. The conversation took a welcome turn toward a musical event of the past week. Gypsy knew nothing about it but she could nod and smile at the proper intervals. That was what the others did. She had been so afraid Mrs. Lucas was going to ask her address. Wouldn't it sound well to Anne's wealthy friends!

The maid entered with more cocktails. All of the guests had arrived. Dinner was announced. "You're to go in with Horace Page," Anne had told Gypsy. Page had been one of the last to arrive and at one glance Gypsy resigned herself to a dull evening. He was the type of middle-aged bachelor frequently encountered at dinner parties given by such hostesses as Anne Trowbridge. Slim but not tall, Horace Page wore rimmed spectacles attached to a gold chain. His eyes, behind the lenses, were vaguely gray. He had sharp features, pink cheeks and thinning hair.

They went into the elaborately appointed dining room. Gypsy had never seen anything so elegant as the long table with its covering of heavy lace, the brilliant sheen of ruby crystal, gleaming silver and soft candle light.

Anne at the far end of the room was looking charming. The flame of her gown reflected on her cheeks. It was a proud moment for the hostess.

The dinner party was one of the most ambitious entertainments young Mrs. Trowbridge had undertaken. The guest list represented weeks of cultivation and tireless effort. That was why Gypsy's arrival to take the place of the injured Miss Lane was so important. Anne Trowbridge, for all her frivolity, took one subject seriously. She was striving with tact, diligence and a surprising amount of insight for the social position to which she aspired. It was her wifely duty thus to aid Phil (so she told him) by entertaining the right people. It was also a form of competition which held fervid attraction for Anne.

Tonight marked a triumph. Seated at Phil's right at the opposite end of the table was Mrs. Charles Littleton Fox—THE Mrs. Fox whose name was so well known in social columns and whose picture never appeared even in the most conservative of journals. Mrs. Fox's presence at the Trowbridge's dinner was distinctly a social triumph.

Charles Fox sat beside Anne. He made no pretense of the fact that horses and race tracks gossiped were the only things which interested him. If there was no one about to discuss the Whitney two-year-old's showing in the south or to make predictions about the Preakness, Charles Fox subsided into grumpy silence. He was silent now but not grumpy—a concession owing to the fact that his hostess was so young and pretty.

Two of Phil Trowbridge's business associates were included in the group. One of these was the

Health Tips

BY DR. MORRIS FINTBEIN

Almost all mothers now know that the baby ought to have fresh air, but few mothers have any definite idea of just what constitutes fresh air or exactly how much the baby ought to be in a fresh air atmosphere.

Actually a baby ought to be in fresh air all the time, with the understanding that fresh air means air that is not stagnant, that is changed by proper ventilation, and of a temperature suitable to the condition of the baby's tissues. Outdoor air is fresher for these reasons than indoor air.

Dr. Frederick F. Tisdall suggests that the baby ought to be put outdoors to sleep as early as two weeks of age; if born in the summer months; if born in the winter months, it should be outside at six weeks of age. Since it is difficult under modern apartment conditions to put the baby outside, the best substitute is to put him, dressed up as if he were going outdoors, in his carriage in front of an open window and close the door of the room to prevent a direct breeze over the baby's head.

The mere fact that some babies have been placed outdoors in severe weather without harmful results does not indicate that this is the best procedure. It merely indicates that the babies were able to stand the rigors of climate to which other babies might easily succumb.

Dr. Tisdall makes the practical suggestion that cold cream be rubbed on the face of the baby before it is put outside in cold weather in order to prevent chapping. There is little to be gained if the baby is placed outdoors with its entire body swaddled in

DEATH CLAIMS HENRY GASMAN

Was Resident of County 50 Years; Formerly at Bark River

Another of Delta county's pioneer residents was called by death when Henry F. Gasman, 70, passed away Friday morning at 11 o'clock at his home, 209 North Nineteenth street.

Mr. Gasman had been ill for the past year but his condition did not become alarming until two months ago when he was forced to remain in bed. From that time his condition became gradually more grave and the end came peacefully yesterday with members of his family at the bedside.

Henry F. Gasman was born December 20, 1860, in Greenville, Wis., and when a young man he went to Bark River where he remained for 35 years. He was engaged in the flour and feed business for many years. He retired from business 15 years ago and came to Escanaba to make his home.

The survivors are his widow, formerly Miss Francis Loeffler, and the following sons and daughters: Raymond, Mrs. L. H. Buckley, Mrs. Mary A. Merfio and Robert, all of this city. One brother, Fred Gasman of Harris; one sister, Mrs. August Kommer of Kaukauna, Wis., and four grandchildren also survive.

The body was prepared for burial at the Alto funeral home and will be taken to the family residence this afternoon.

Funeral services will be held at the family home Monday morning at 10 o'clock with Rev. R. C. G. Williams, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. The cortege will then proceed to Bark River where burial will be made in the family lot in the Bark River cemetery.

U. P. Forests Please the Motoring Public

Chicago, (P)—Words of praise for the three new national forests in the upper peninsula of Michigan are contained in a bulletin on the subject issued by the touring bureau of the Chicago Motor Club.

The bulletin recommends the forests to motorists in the Chicago area, declaring that with the creation of the forests "mid-western car owners now enjoy the same facilities in this respect as motorists in western states."

"Because of the rarity of national forests in this section of the country, many are unacquainted with the privileges offered by them," the club's bulletin said. "For instance, responsible persons may secure a permit from the government to build a summer or vacation home in one of these forests. The permit would apply to an acre or less, and would run from five to fifteen years, with privilege of renewal. The annual rental charge ranges from $5 to $15. In the western states where national forests are numerous, car owners have availed themselves of these facilities in large numbers."

The bulletin gives in detail the location of the three forests, the Ottawa, southwest of L'Anse; the Hiawatha, south of Munising, and the Marquette, southwest of Sault Ste. Marie.

"The three forests," it continues, "are particularly attractive from the viewpoint of the fisherman and the hunter. The lakes in these regions teem with game fish, deer, bear and other varieties of wild life, including birds and fowl, abound in almost every section of Michigan's upper peninsula. The state game laws, incidentally, apply in the national forests."

Red-Headed Mayor of Detroit Hears Communists Talk

BY STANLEY G. THOMPSON Associated Press Staff Writer Detroit

—Ever so often these days whoever it is that decides such matters says to his fellow communists, "Let's demonstrate," and the newspapers carry stories about broken heads, street riots, unruly crowds and loaded patrol wagons in a dozen cities.

But in Detroit demonstration day is about as exciting as an Epworth League convention. A year ago in the "fourth city" there were bloody scalp and black eyes when communists were abroad, but when a young red-headed fellow named Murphy took charge of affairs here he changed all of that.

Give 'em Free Speech Today, Mayor Frank Murphy declares he has solved the "demonstration problem" and wonders why others haven't done the same thing—it appears so simple, he says.

His policy, Mayor Murphy explained, is based on the belief that "the fathers of the country meant what they said about free speech. I think free speech is healthy and wholesome and more important than any political personality or even any government."

In times like the present, people naturally are sensitive, impatient, dissatisfied, and the best policy is to let them give expression to their feelings.

Soon after Mayor Murphy went into office, local communists said something about a public demonstration. "All right," he said, "Take Grand Circus Park."

Grand Circus Park is a double square in the heart of the downtown section, and such a thing as a demonstration there, or any sort of a public meeting, never had been heard of. "Then they wanted to parade," related the Mayor, "and I told them to go ahead and parade. Then they wanted to come to the City Hall, and I told them I'd be glad to see a delegation in my office while the others stood outside."

So on that occasion, and several times since, the committee met in Grand Circus Park, paraded half a mile through the retail skyscraper district and went to the City Hall. They carried banners and made speeches denouncing capitalism. Mayor Murphy, President Hoover and various other persons and institutions. A crowd of 5,000 or more trailed along on each occasion.

Police Stay Away On arrival in the big square in front of the City Hall, the communists are met on the steps by the Mayor's secretary who informs the leader that "the Mayor is waiting."

"Their delegation comes in and we sit around a big table," said the Mayor. "They have their say, and I have mine. They tell what they demand, and I tell what we are doing. I tell them that Detroit is doing more for the needy and unemployed than any city in the world, including Moscow. I listen to them, and, curious as it may seem, I've gotten some good ideas from them. For instance, they complained once because children of unemployed men have to pay fare when going to school on city-owned street cars. I arranged for them to ride free."

THE STORY OF GANDHI

India had that Britain would see that generous treatment was accorded Turkey after the World War.

At a meeting of the All India National Congress in Calcutta in September, 1920, Gandhi assented to a movement to refuse to cooperate any longer with the British government in India until these and other wrongs were righted and until Swaraaj—home rule—was gained. This policy was called "non-violent non-cooperation."

Gandhi was responsible for this insistence upon non-violence. He had learned the value of passive resistance as a weapon in his South African struggles. The sacred writings of his own Hindu sages and those of the New Testament had reinforced this belief.

He quickly returned his British war medals and issued his non-cooperation proclamation to the people, calling upon them: "To abandon all horrid titles and functions; not to participate in any governmental loans; to boycott the law courts and lawyers and arrange their disputes by private arbitration; to boycott the government schools; to refuse all civil and military posts; to use goods made in the home country and especially to wear cotton cloth for themselves and thus strike a blow at English textiles."

Publication Accusations Against British Rule In a remarkable letter he set forth what he thought the British Empire meant for India:

1—Exploitation of India for Britain's benefit. 2—An ever-increasing expenditure for military and civil service.

3—Extravagant working of governmental departments, regardless of India's basic poverty. 4—Disarmament of the Indian people, lest, if armed, they might endanger the foreign occupants. 5—Traffic in intoxicating liquors and drugs for the sake of the taxes gathered thereby. 6—Repressive legislation to suppress a nation's agitation for self-government. 7—Degrading treatment of Indians residing in other parts of the British empire.

The non-cooperation movement started with a great swink, but gradually the people got out of hand. In Bombay, just when Gandhi had arranged a boycott on the visit of the Prince of Wales in 1921, mill-hands rioted, burned liquor shops and killed innocent pedestrians. Four months later at Chauri Chaura a mob, chanting the name of Gandhi, hacked to death a number of policemen and burned their bodies.

Gandhi was sick at heart. This was violence. All he wanted was passive resistance. He held himself responsible. He seemed relieved when the British arrested him. He could expiate in his own frail body the sin others had committed. His trial in March, 1922, at Ahmedabad was a court proceeding unique in modern annals.

Gandhi said among other things: "I wish to endorse all the blame that the learned advocates general has thrown on my shoulders in connection with the Bombay, Madras and Chauri Chaura occurrences. Thinking over these things deeply and sleeping over them, night after night, it is impossible for me to dissociate myself from the diabolical crimes of Chauri Chaura or the mad outrages of Bombay."

"I knew that I was playing with fire. I ran the risk, and if I was set free, I would still do the same. I wanted to avoid violence. Non-violence is the first and last article of my creed. But I had to make my choice. I had either to submit to a system which I considered had done an irreparable harm to my country or incur the risk of the mad fury of my people bursting forth when they understood the truth from my lips. I know that my people have sometimes done me wrong. I am deeply sorry for it and I am, therefore, here to submit not to a light penalty, but to the highest penalty. I do not ask for mercy. I do not plead an extenuating act."

The judge, in sentencing him, said in equally noble terms: "You are in a different category from any person I have ever tried. It would be impossible to ignore the fact that in the eyes of millions of your countrymen you are a great patriot and a great leader. Even those who differ from you in politics look upon you as a man of high ideals and of a noble and of even saintly life."

Goes cheerfully to Prison for His Cause Gandhi cheerfully went to prison. He whittled away his time reading or spinning cotton, as the natives had done thousands of years ago.

When he came out of prison in 1924 he could no longer truthfully say that he was a lawyer. For the British bar, to which he had been admitted in 1891, disbarred him in 1922 after his conviction at Ahmedabad. This did not worry him. He never intended to practice law any more anyhow.

He was more interested in the problems of India's self-government. Almost as soon as he was released, he declared: "I am interested in the attainment of Swaraaj (home rule) only by non-violent and truthful means. This is possible only through a diligent and successful prosecution of the Khaddar program."

The Khaddar program entailed the hand weaving and the wearing of native home spun cotton cloth. By this, Gandhi planned to strike a shrewd and heavy blow at English textiles and restore an ancient Indian industry. He pointed out unceasingly to his people that this home weaving meant money saved with which to pay the taxes and other imposts. It meant just that much less money going out of the country.

10-Day Encampment Iron Mountain—Members of the Upper Peninsula Holiness association have again selected Iron Mountain for their annual gathering, according to the Rev. William Combella, upper peninsula president, and the 10 days from July 10 to 20 have been designated for the meeting.

The Rev. Combella, former Iron Mountain resident and now at Newport, near Houghton, announced the annual meeting is a letter to local members today.

Big Rapids Woman Now 101 Years Old Big Rapids, Mich. (P)—Mrs. Loretta Milner, this town's oldest citizen, who has lived here 60 years, on Monday celebrated her 101st birthday anniversary. Her son, the only surviving child, and the townsfolk made it a gala occasion.

Last year Mrs. Milner was ill on her 100th anniversary, and although the mayor and the city commission paid their respects and a band played outside her home, the oldest citizen was not able to take part in the festivities.

This year it was different. Her son, George Milner, a druggist and newsdealer here, had arranged a party in honor of the event. The guests were members of the Elderly Birthday Club.

Mrs. Milner was born at Gaine, Orleans county, New York and lived in that state the first 18 years of her life. Her husband, Jonathan Milner, was an early Michigan lumberman. In addition to George Milner, there were three other children.

What do the grim watchdogs of the desert know of luxuries? Well, try to take their Chesterfields away from them! Over there—and here too—a good cigarette means good tobaccos. What you taste in Chesterfield cigarettes is milder and better tobaccos—nothing else—blended and "cross-blended" to produce a satisfying fragrance, a flavor which is Chesterfield's alone!

Greater mildness... better taste!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

Spring Sports Clothes

Two of the loveliest new costumes shown this spring for sports-wear illustrate quite diverse choices that are yours. There is a brown, tan and white novelty knitted suit that looks like tweed in its good old home-spun knobby manner. The background is brown and the knobby flecks tan and white and the whole fabric is hand-knit and beautifully fitted. The skirt flares plenty and the soft little hip-length jacket has a shawl collar that rounds like a scarf, wider on one side than the other. Two buttons fasten it shut at the waistline and darts fit it into the waistline. Under it is the cutest little eyelid blouse, white with tan eyelets. This gives you an idea of how lovely the brown and white color scheme for spring can be, and with the added touch of tan it takes on novelty and individuality. The little bolero suit is a vivid blue three-piece costume, also of knitted wool, with the blouse of white background with a design of orchid, black and the blue of the suit. The woven wool has a charming little wavy line to its weave that simulates an invisible stripe. The belt is a quite fancy affair, with a matching buckle and a flat bow of the suit's material fastening through it. The bolero is finished in blue braid.

Personal News

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Judson, 528 South Seventh street, left Thursday night for Ann Arbor, where they will visit with their daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Drake and their little grandson, Robert Lincoln, Jr., at the Ann Arbor Private hospital. Robert Lincoln was born to Mr. and Mrs. Drake, on March 8. Mr. Judson is returning to Escanaba the first of the week, while Mrs. Judson plans to remain for two weeks, or possibly until Mrs. Drake and the baby return to their home in Jackson. William Ricketts and John O. Moberg returned Friday from Flint, Mich., where they attended a salesmen's convention and the annual meeting of the 190-Car club, star salesmen's organization. Word has been received from Seattle, Wash., that Mrs. Emil Glaster, former resident of Escanaba, who has been seriously ill, is somewhat better but her recovery is very slow. Mr. and Mrs. Gindwin Oberg have returned from Iron Mountain where they visited at the home of Mrs. Oberg's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Peterson. Edward L. Moersch, 1114 Second avenue south, is leaving tonight for Chicago where he will enter Augustana hospital for an operation for relief from gonorrhea. Mrs. John R. Ford of Milwaukee arrived Thursday night from Milwaukee for a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Bourke, 602 South Eighth street. Principal G. A. Graham of Lake Linden high school visited in Escanaba Friday and was a guest at Escanaba high school. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Perrin, 415 Ogden avenue, are visiting in Chicago and are guests there at the Stevens hotel. Mrs. R. V. Russel, 913 South Seventh avenue, is confined to her home with an attack of influenza. Mrs. Anna G. Ryan is spending a few days in Milwaukee visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tolan Observe Golden Wedding Day

The golden anniversary of a wedding which took place fifty years ago in Mauston, Wis., was quietly celebrated on Friday by two of Escanaba's finest residents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Tolan, 403 Ludington street. Because of the season of Lent, and the fact that children of the family could not make the trip to be with them, at this time, there was no special observance of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Tolan going quietly about their usual affairs of the day. There were messages from the children, however, and calls and visits from old friends who wished to extend their congratulations and their best wishes, and there were gifts, remembrances of the happy day. Mr. and Mrs. Tolan have been residents of Escanaba since their early days. Their marriage took place at Mauston, Wis. Mr. Tolan was the former Miss Gusta Hartels of Mauston. Mr. Tolan established a home for his bride in Escanaba and Mrs. Tolan joined him here shortly afterward. There are three children in the family, Carl, of Milwaukee; Frank of Akron, O., and Gerald, of Detroit, all three of whom, like their father, are talented musicians, and were formerly successful entertainers on the vaudeville stage. Mr. Tolan, who with Mrs. Tolan's assistance, is now conducting a grocery

Bridal Shower Mrs. William Schram, a recent bride, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower party given by Mrs. Marcella Sorenson, and Miss Beattie Schram, at the Sorenson home, 1207 First avenue south, Thursday. The affair was arranged as a surprise for the bride. Bridge and bunco contests were played during the evening, the guests forming two tables of bridge and three of bunco. Miss Olive Quinn received first prize for high score in bridge and Miss Alice Newell, second prize. In bunco Miss Lucille Beauchamp had high score and Miss Ethel Mathison received the consolation award. Mrs. Schram received a number of lovely gifts. Mid-Week Club Party The members of the Mid-Week Club met at the home of Mrs. Frank Rubens, 1008 Ninth avenue south, Thursday evening when two tables of five hundred were in play. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Percy Owen, first; Mrs. Frank Newhouse, second, and Miss Isabelle Rubens, who substituted for an absent member, won the third prize. The hostess served a dainty lunch at the conclusion of the card games. Pantry Sale Today The Girl Scout Council is holding a pantry sale today at Peterson's Flower shop. The sale will begin at nine o'clock. Mrs. L. A. Erickson is in charge. Girl Scouts Meet All Girl Scouts of the city are meeting this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at St. Anne's hall for practice for the Girl Scout opera. DeMolays to Attend Services Sunday Members of the Order of DeMolay will attend the morning services at the First Presbyterian church Sunday, it was announced Friday. The services are at 10:45 o'clock. Rev. Carl E. Berger, pastor, will deliver the sermon on the subject, "The Moral Sanctions." DeMolays will meet at the Masonic Temple and go to the church in a body. Today's Bridge

BY EDWARD C. WOLFE Member of the National Championship Auction Team. This is the sixth of a series of 20 prearranged hands recently played by Cleveland's experts to test their skill in playing difficult hands. Difficulty is a temptation. Today we create a re-entry with apparently no material. NORTH-DUMMY S-10-5-2 H-Q-10-7 D-8-6-2 C-10-2 WEST S-K-J-3-2 H-8-4-3 C-Wona C-A-X G-7-6 SOUTH-DEALER C-9-8-5 DECLARER S-A-Q-6 H-A-K D-A-K-Q-J-10-7 C-3 The Bidding South, the declarer, has too strong a defensive hand to preempt the bidding with four or five diamonds. The principle of the preemptive bid can be well stated in the following language: "When your hand is strong offensively and weak defensively, then preempt the bidding." Here, however, South is strong both offensively (that is, strong if the hand is played at diamonds) and defensively (that is, if the opponents play the hand at any other declaration). Having ace, king of hearts, the ace of spades and the ace of diamonds, ordinarily good for at least four tricks against any defensive bid, there is no sound reason for a pre-emptive or a shut out bid. If the adversaries proceed too far with the bidding, he has a sufficient number of tricks to double. In any event, South should continue the auction by bidding up to five diamonds, because of his large honor count; but should double any further bid on the part of the adversaries. The Play West should open with the conventional lead of the king of clubs and continue with this suit the second time. South ruffing. One lead of trumps gives South the location of all the missing diamonds, as West shows out. South now takes stock of his possible losing cards, which are only the six and queen of spades. What is to be done with these cards? If trumps are led, the usual routine for any declarer to follow, these two tricks will eventually be lost to the adversaries. Having the ace and king of hearts in his own hand and four hearts headed by the queen and jack in the dummy, he observes that it is quite probable that he can discard those two losers on the queen and jack and thus make two winning tricks out of two losing tricks. This problem, however, is to get in dummy's hand after the ace and king of hearts have been played. Only one method is available, lose one trick in order to win two. Lead a small trump, overruling in the dummy. East wins this trick, but South wins all the other tricks regardless of East's play. If a club is returned, South trumps with an honor; if a spade is led, South wins with the ace; and in either event a small trump from South places dummy's two high hearts. Unless South forces East to win the second diamond trick, South can score only four.

Glorifying Yourself

"Arms and the Man" is an old, old story but the minute you mention "Arms and the Woman" I hope each of you has a new sense of the responsibility you have towards those arms of yours. Are they gleaming and lovely in evening things? Are they just the right size? Or are they scrawny or are they so fat they make you arm-conscious when you get into décolletage? You can thip your arms best by dieting, just remember that. You can have expensive reducing exercises performed upon your arms that will shrink them perceptibly but if you don't want to spend good money on them, you can shrink them quite well by shrinking your whole figure. And the chances are, if your arms bulge, your waistline does too. Try cutting out all potatoes, bread, butter and desserts for one month. Do not piece between meals. Don't drink hot drinks with your meals except for breakfast. This diet invariably reduces you and does so in a gratifying, gradual way. If the skin on your arms is rough, like goose-flesh, bad circulation may and probably is the cause. You should scrub your arms while bathing, in tepid bland soap suds, with a stiff body brush. Then when you finish, dry thoroughly and apply warmed oil or give your arms a thorough massage with your best cold cream. When evening comes, you should consider your arms quite as important, in their modest way, as your face and give them a make-up that heightens their beauty. Don't use white powder. It is too cold, too unnatural. It makes them look made up and is not attractive unless you are one of those white-skinned camellia-like women. Begin your evening make-up by giving your arms a cream massage, stroking them from the wrist upwards, giving strong, kneading strokes, working the cream into the flesh. Leave it on for a few minutes, perhaps while losing one club and two spades. In other words, South must give up one trick to win two. This hand is like the King's gambit at chess or the darkies' secret of success at checkers. "Gib foah and taken leben."

White Lapin Coat Worn With Taffeta

Washington, (AP)—A three-quarters length coat of white lapin is worn by Miss Dorothy Kurtz, daughter of Representative Kurtz of Pennsylvania, with an evening dress of green taffeta figured in gold. The slippers are of green with gold buckles.

Black Gloves Worn With Grey Ensemble

Paris (AP)—The vogue for black gloves and bags is so strong that they are worn with other costumes besides black. The Comtesse P. de Vallombrosa wears black gloves and carries a black bag with a grey anlage ensemble with a hip-length jacket. Bracelets of jade give a color note to her costume.

Salty Touch

When making apple pie or apple sauce, add a pinch of salt while cooking. It brings out the taste of the fruit and takes away any fat taste.

Church Events

Salem Lutheran Church, Bark River. Sunday services: 10:30 a. m.—Swedish, 7:45 p. m.—English. Wednesday evening, Lenten meditation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnson. Rev. Fred G. Olson, Pastor.

Baccalaureate Speaker Named

Rev. R. C. G. Williams, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon at the services which will open commencement week for the Escanaba high school class of 1931. Rev. Mr. Williams' subject will be announced later.

If you have never tasted any of the delicious muffins Mrs. Turnquist makes, you are missing a real treat. Here is Mrs. Turnquist's recipe: Rice Muffins One quart milk; 3 beaten eggs; 1 tablespoon melted butter; 1 teaspoon each, salt and sugar; 1 cup cold rice; 1 or 1 1/2 teaspoons of baking powder in 2 cups flour. Make into a batter. Beat in one cup of cold boiled rice. Beat well and bake in a hot oven. These muffins are light and tasty, and served with an afternoon lunch are delicious. Mrs. Frank O. C. Turnquist, 1003 Lake Shore Drive.

Gilbert's Cousin Prefers Cooking To Movie Work

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—It's all very well to have a famous film actor in the family, taking one love scene after another in his ordinary stride, but Miss Mildred Prigel would rather be an expert home economist. "I want to visit Hollywood sometime," Miss Prigel admits, "but acting doesn't appeal to me." There's more here, she says, in the hum of a sewing machine or the aroma from an oven. John's father and her father (Prigel is the name John wore till the pictures changed all that) came from Germany together, but separated shortly after their arrival in America. One sought the "ar west, the other the Oklahoma Indian country. "I want to visit Hollywood sometime," Miss Prigel admits, "but acting doesn't appeal to me." There's more here, she says, in the hum of a sewing machine or the aroma from an oven. Hot Gingerbread Hot gingerbread, baked like cupcakes, makes a grand dessert, served with whipped cream topped with a little grated maple sugar.

Colorful Menu for St. Patrick's Day Bridge Luncheon

St. Patrick's Day offers a good excuse for a colorful luncheon or dinner party. Stove-pipe hats, clay pipes, and shamrocks are most appropriate for favors, place cards, and table decorations. Of course, green will figure largely in the color scheme. The St. Patrick's Day hostess will find the menu given below, just right for the bridge luncheon.

St. Patrick's Day Luncheon Menu

- Fruit Cocktail
- Noodle Ring with Creamed Sweetbreads
- Potato Balls - Parsley Butter
- Green Peas - Cloverleaf Rolls
- Shamrock Salad - Swedish Wafers
- Mint Ice Cream - Little Cakes
- Coffee
- Green Mints
- Green Jordan Almonds

The most attractive service for the fruit cocktail is the double cocktail glasses. The outer glass is filled with cracked ice frozen from water that has been tinted green. The inner glass contains grapefruit and cubes of pineapple garnished with green cherries.

The noodle ring is made as follows:

Noodle Ring with Creamed Sweetbreads

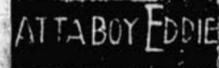

Cook 3-4 cup noodles, broken in small pieces, in rapidly boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Beat 3 eggs until tender. Drain. Beat 3 eggs until light, add 1-8 teaspoon salt, a few drops onion juice, 3 tablespoons grated cheese, and 1/2 cup rich cream. Beat slightly and add the noodles. Blend the ingredients with a fork and turn into a buttered ring mold. Set the mold in a pan of boiling water and bake thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.). Turn from the ring onto a serving platter and fill the center with creamed sweetbreads.

The sweetbreads are parboiled before creaming. They are combined with a rich cream sauce to which 1 cup button mushrooms has been added.

The Shamrock Salad is made by packing well-shaped sweet green peppers with cream cheese. Chill. When ready to serve cut into thin slices and arrange three slices on individual salad plates.

BIG BOY

"THE WONDER LOAF"

Too many people fail to eat this better bread because they simply say, "Loaf of Bread" when ordering. It's a habit, of course, but it's just as easy and always more satisfactory if you say, "Big Boy."

Only an exceptionally good bread could attain the sales preponderance "Big Boy" enjoys. This fact alone should influence you when making your first purchase of "Big Boy." Once you enjoy it, we know you'll have nothing else.

on a bed of lettuce or watercress. The Swedish wafers may be purchased rolled or flat. The rolled ones are very attractive, tied with narrow Irish green ribbon. If the rolled wafers are not available, the flat ones may be steamed until soft and then rolled. They may be put in the oven and will crisp right up again.

and energy to "juice" sufficient oranges at one time to provide the morning cocktail for several days. This she does in the afternoon or evening, instead of going through the squeezing performance each morning, while the breakfast rush is on; then puts the contents away in the ice chest to be used as needed.

Ready Sliced Bread
You're no idea how much time it saves to buy bread sliced and ready to serve instead of in the uncut loaf. This scheme—once considered chiefly as a convenience for the picnic lunch—is now becoming a household habit in many sections. At the last moment when hot foods are clamoring to be set upon the table and served without delay, it saves both confusion and loss of time to find at hand a whole loaf of bread cut in uniform slices of just the right thickness. The leftover sliced bread does not dry out more quickly than the uncut bread, as you may think, for invariably it comes packed in a cardboard box securely wrapped in heavy oiled paper.

Writes for Magazines
Menominee—News was received at the high school recently of Miss Helen Hanes, former journalism instructor, who is now doing free lance work for various publications. An article of Miss Hanes', entitled, "Making the School Paper Worthwhile," has been accepted by the Scholastic Editor, and will appear in an early publication of that magazine. This is not the first time that Miss Hanes has had her name appear in the "by-lines" of a magazine. Last year an article of hers entitled, "Are High School Year Books Worthwhile?" was accepted and published in the Christian Science Monitor. In Miss Hanes' article on the school paper she has used the Maroon News, the local high school publication as a model.

BILL DESIGNED TO BAR HUBBUB

Senate Would Restrict State Administrative Board's Powers

Lansing, March 13 (AP)—To prevent a repetition of the confusion attendant upon the recent Republican state convention in Kalamazoo a bill was offered in the legislature today by Senator Norman B. Horton, of Fruit Ridge, providing that immediately after conventions the state central committee shall meet, canvass the votes cast and certify the nominees. It was necessary to go to court to determine the nominee for state board of agriculture as a result of the last convention.

The senate passed two house bills restoring the powers of the state administrative board. One would prohibit the transfer of specifically appropriated funds to other purposes save when a surplus exists and the other would bar the board from granting extra funds to institutions or departments except in cases of actual emergency.

Senator Ben Carpenter, of Harrison, introduced a bill providing for the construction of roads through United States forest preserves, under contract arrangement between the state and the federal government.

A house resolution authorizing the commissioner of agriculture to investigate milk prices in this state was offered by Rep. John P. Epley, of Eagle. The resolution alleged that mergers had curtailed prices paid to producers. The measure was referred to committee.

A bill providing an appropriation of $25,000 a year for aerial photography in this state to be taken out of the highway fund was offered by Rep. Gus T. Hartman. Half of the appropriation is now taken from conservation funds.

Michigan Pushes Communist Trial

St. Joseph, Mich., March 13 (AP)—Indications that the state intends to proceed with the charges of anti-syndicalism brought in 1922 against a group of Communists arrested near Bridgman was seen today in a petition filed by Attorney General Paul W. Voorhies to set aside an order granting separate trials to the 65 defendants.

Less than a week ago attorneys for the defendants asked dismissal of the charges and the return to them of the more than $65,000 in Liberty Bonds that had been posted for them.

In the state's petition today it was pointed out that to try each defendant separately would involve the presentation of thousands of witnesses and the summoning of witnesses from all parts of the United States.

"To have separate trials would result in huge cost to Berrien county," the petition stated.

Circuit Court Judge Charles E. White will hear arguments on the motion Monday. At the same time he will hold a hearing on the motion to dismiss the charges.

Charles E. Ruthenberg, Communist party leader, was tried and convicted on the anti-syndicalism charge in 1923, and sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary at Jackson. A state supreme court ruling upheld the conviction and an appeal was taken to the United States supreme court. While this was pending Ruthenberg, out on bond, died. No effort has been made since then to bring the other cases to trial.

Ship-to-Shore Phones Busy

The novelty of calling people on shore has been a happy one for fishermen of the Welsh coast since the installation recently of the ship-to-shore telephones at Cardiff and Swansea. They have kept the lines busy in calling friends. The service also covers vessels in dock, captains being able to telephone local owners, brokers or relatives at home for a total charge of 35 cents a day.

"I am going if I drop dead," said sixty-three year old Edwin Sutforth, of Hull, England, as he started recently for his daughter's grave which he had visited every day since her death, but he fell lifeless within sight of the house.

Beauty Winner Held As Husband's Slayer

Here are two striking photos of Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, formerly Charlotte Nash, 1923 Atlantic City bathing beauty winner, who is held by police at Nice, France, charged with having shot and killed her husband. The latter a wealthy theatrical promoter, met Miss Nash during the beauty contest. They were married in 1924.

MOTHER MAKES DECISION IN CASE OF SON

the reformatory at Frankfurt. Thus ended the final chapter of a mother which has stirred Kentucky for days and which was termed by commonwealth's attorneys as the "most inhuman murder in the history of Nelson county."

James was out for a ride with his wife on Washington's birthday, on the highway they met two youths who halted them and asked for a ride. Carson and Piotrowsky had left Louisville that day hitch-hiking from Detroit to Nashville. They were seeking work in the south, they said, but Detroit police said they were fleeing from justice in Detroit and that they were accused of eleven robberies and an attack upon a girl there.

Murdered Driver After travelling a few miles James' passengers drew pistols and demanded the car. James stopped and all four stepped to the roadside. While Carson and James argued, Mrs. James signalled a passing car for help. Confusion followed, a shot was fired and James fell dead.

The youths after forcing another motorist to move on, fled in the James car, leaving Mrs. James bending over the body of her husband.

An alarm was sounded and the James car was crashed into the courthouse at Hodgenville, a few miles farther on, when an officer pointed a blackjack at the occupants. Carson and Piotrowsky were arrested but denied they had killed James. Carson testified he heard the fatal shot come from a car passing the scene of the hold-up. His first trial resulted in mistrial when jurors disagreed on the degree of punishment. A new jury was impaneled almost immediately and after two hours deliberation found Carson guilty and recommended the death penalty.

His execution has been set for June 12.

Prague Church Modernistic A church thoroughly modernistic in design has just been dedicated in Prague, Czechoslovakia. With its rigid lines and its glass-enclosed half-cylindrical column at one end, it resembles an American industrial plant. The auditorium is inside the column, a tower at the other end contains a clock and is surmounted by a cross.

WHO KILLED JAKE LINGLE?

countless writers. The chroniclers of the first pictured Lingle as an inmate of a "half-world"—a holder of a politico-criminal post in which he won the backing of a dishonest officialdom and of the powerful Capone gang syndicate.

They described him as the "unofficial chief of police," as a man who had "arranged the fix," so that Capone beer and liquor trucks could roll through the loop and make deliveries unmolested to thousands of saloons.

They visualized him as forcing Capone beer, whiskey and wine onto resort proprietors at exorbitant prices, under threat of summary closing; they said he levied tribute on gambling places and other illegal enterprises.

Drunk With Power They wrote of a purported quarrel between Capone and Lingle when he took $30,000 or more from the gang car and then failed to arrange for the opening of a Capone dog track.

They called him "a little fellow drunk with power"—so drunk that he talked too much, too often of his gangland links and became a menace to his compatriots—who for that reason dispatched him.

Or there was another theory—that he might be a thorn in the side of the rival Moran gang, and met his death for that reason.

These conjectures used the old Sheridan-Wave gambling house on the North side as the stage scene. They said Lingle was called in to arrange a "fix" and arbitrarily demanded 55 per cent of the net. The demand was refused and the Garish Sheridan-Wave opened without protection—for a few hours. The first night a squad of police smashed in, wrecked the Sheridan-Wave. Its doors were closed on the same night, these theorists believe, a death warrant for Lingle was signed.

The state still clothes its story of the murder in utter secrecy. Only this was said the night Leo V. Brothers was arrested:

"This is the man who killed Lingle."

Second of Swaby Twins Passes Away

Edward Swaby, one month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Swaby, died at the family home, 616 South Eleventh street, yesterday noon. The boy was the second of the twins born to Mr. and Mrs. Swaby to pass away. The first boy was John, who died February 15.

The body was taken to the Alto funeral home for burial preparation. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at St. Patrick's church with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Oysters Safe in Any Month—Oysters may be eaten with safety in any month, according to evidence recently collected in France. In two coast cities where the bivalves are eaten the year round typhoid falls in the four months without "it" in them. The investigators say that this and other data prove that there is no connection between eating oysters at any season and contracting typhoid fever.

CORN STARCH PUDDINGS

BY SISTER MARY (NEA Service Writer) Among nourishing, inexpensive milk desserts, a perfectly made cornstarch pudding holds close to first place. Delicate in texture and flavor, it is suitable for children and invalids and should please the most fastidious grown-ups.

There are certain principles to guide one in making cornstarch pudding just as there are in making custards or any other dessert. Thorough cooking and just the right proportion of cornstarch to milk are the secrets of a delicious pudding.

Eggs can be added to most cornstarch puddings and add a pleasing delicacy as well as food value. If they are used, remember never to add the egg to the hot cornstarch mixture. The heat will cook the tiny particles of egg almost immediately and a speckled mixture will result. Pour the cornstarch mixture slowly into the beaten egg, stirring constantly. When thoroughly blended, return to the double boiler and cook one minute.

The following rule for vanilla cornstarch pudding can be varied in several ways. Chocolate is always popular and can be made from the basic rule by adding two squares of melted chocolate to the cornstarch and sugar before the scalded milk is poured over it.

Nuts can be added to vanilla or chocolate pudding.

Vanilla Cornstarch Pudding Two cups milk, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Scald 1 3/4 cups milk in top of double boiler. When tiny bubbles appear around edge of milk it is scalded. Mix cornstarch and two tablespoons sugar with remaining cold milk. Stir until perfectly smooth. Pour about half the scalded milk into cold milk mixture, stirring rapidly. Add this to milk in double boiler, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until thick and smooth. Remove spoon; cover and cook over hot water, stirring occasionally for twenty minutes. The water in the bottom of the double boiler should be kept boiling. Beat egg slightly with remaining sugar and salt and slowly add cornstarch mixture, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and cook one minute. Remove from heat and let cool a few minutes. Add vanilla and beat well. Turn into molds which have been dipped in cold water and let stand until cool. Then chill thoroughly before serving.

This can be served with sugar and cream, whipped cream or a sauce such as is served over ice cream.

DAILY MENU

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal cooked with raisins, cream, codded eggs, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked minced ham and celery with cheese, lettuce sandwiches, lemon snaps, milk, tea.

Dinner—English mutton chops, scalloped potatoes, stewed tomatoes, shredded raw turnip and lettuce salad, whole wheat rolls, quince bavarian cream, milk, coffee.

Entertainment at the meeting Monday night will be in charge of Jack Finn, chairman; A. Anderson, E. Barron, R. Cartwright, A. Demars and E. F. Erickson. The lunch committee will be Elmer St. Martin chef; Axel Anderson, C. Bourdalis, S. Coplan and J. Green.

A conference of drum and bugle corps members will also take place Monday night, either as a part of the Legion meeting, or immediately afterward.

Legion Post Holds Big Meeting Monday

Several important matters are scheduled for discussion at the next regular meeting of Cloverland Post 52, American Legion, which will be held in the Eagles' hall Monday evening, March 16. A report of the committee which has been investigating ways and means of transportation to the national Legion convention at Detroit will be presented at this session, and in addition an interesting proposal for the construction of a Legion clubhouse at Escanaba will be submitted for the consideration of members. Committees will be named to make the final clean-up in the membership campaign, which closes May 15.

Little Son Drowns In Florida Stream

Word was received here yesterday of the accidental drowning of little Billy Swenson son of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Swenson who left here about one year ago to reside in Florida. The child was drowned in Booker creek at St. Petersburg, Fla., Tuesday, March 3, and the body was found floating down the stream Wednesday, March 4.

The child was playing near the home and had been seen by the mother a few minutes before he disappeared. A search was made in the neighborhood and a call was sent to the police department. A group of 75 Boy Scouts aided the police in the search and the creek was dragged for some distance. The body was found the next morning several blocks from where he had been drowned.

Mr. and Mrs. Swenson lived here for some time, Mr. Swenson being employed as chef at the Delta hotel. They left here for Noma, N. D., and had been in St. Petersburg about three months.

Besides the bereaved parents, another child, Bobby, aged one year also survives. Little Billy was about two and one half year old.

PINECREST WILL GET STATE AID

Hartman Bill Provides For Payment of $1 a Day to Sanatorium

Lansing (Special)—Certainty of continuance of state aid for Pinecrest Sanatorium at Powers and other like institutions has drawn one step closer through the action of the Public Health Committee of the House of Representatives in reporting favorably on the Hartman bill providing such aid.

The bill has been given the right of immediate printing and sent directly to the Ways and Means Committee for its approval. The father of the bill, Representative Gus T. Hartman, is also chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and therefore the bill is likely to find its path through that committee smooth. A day or so should see the bill out on the floor of the house.

The Hartman bill provides for payment of $1 a day by the state for each day of indigent patient service given in county and other approved tuberculosis sanatoriums.

Menasha, Neenah, to Fete Rotarians

May 4 and 5 will be Rotary days in Menasha and Neenah. On these days, Rotary clubs of these two cities will be hosts to Rotarians of the Tenth district, which comprises the northern part of Wisconsin and upper peninsula of Michigan. Approximately 1,000 Rotarians will be here for those days, to hold their annual district conference meetings and committees have been working the past four months preparing for the big get-together.

In planning the tenth district conference this year, conference leaders are endeavoring to bring speakers and topics of the most value and in accord with what they feel is necessary to help build today's business. They want every Rotarian attending the conference to be able to take back something to his community that will be a benefit to him, and will help him plan his activities with a bigger and better understanding.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELTA
Unfolding a real mystery of identification with a very poignant human drama, "Road to Paradise" will open today at the Michigan Theatre.

Loretta Young plays the dual role in this First National Vitaphone picture, and does it with a wistful charm and tenderness which stamp her as one of screenland's leading actresses.

The story concerns a girl who has been raised by a couple of crooks, played by George Barstow and Raymond Hatton. She has always gone straight and they have always wanted her to. However when they discover one day the daughter of an old and wealthy family who bears a striking resemblance to her, they conceive a plot which, if she will participate in it, will make her independent of the small clerking and office jobs, which always blow up because her employer gets too fresh. She in turn is tempted in order to send one of the crooks to a sanitarium for his lungs.

The plot moves into the attempted crime of robbing the house, of the meeting of the two girls, and of the eventual surprise denouncement. The whole makes an engaging mystery.

AT THE MICHIGAN
Every boy has had an ambition to be a railroad engineer at sometime or other in his childhood, according to Grant Withers, featured in Warner Bros. railroad drama, "Other Men's Women," which opened at the Michigan Theatre last night.

This accounts for the tremendous interest that is always manifested when a good railroad story appears—and for the fact that everyone connected with the making of "Other Men's Women" enjoyed the experience in spite of the dangers encountered.

Few boys ever entirely outgrow the desire to drive a locomotive ahead of a crack passenger train and Grant Withers and Regis Toomey are two who have not. When the chartered engine was turned over to the pair of young actors they were obviously delighted. Work for once was play and they made the most of the chance to gratify that old ambition to put their "heads out the window—watch those drivers roll."

Mary Astor is the other member of the trio of stars which heads the cast of "Other Men's Women," with James Cagney, J. Farrell MacDonald, Joan Blondell, Fred Kohler and Walter Long in important supporting roles. William Wellman directed.

pleted his work and gone to his home at Ishpeming.

Miss Margaret Harris met with the Women's Club Friday at the high school building. Chair covers were discussed and some of the ladies who had been working on a set prior to the meeting have their sets finished.

Mrs. Wade Hughes, who recently purchased the Heldman property, has been getting ready to move into the store. She has had the entire building papered and painted.

Robert Rheunne, who teaches at Diffin, is confined to his bed with a severe cold. He rooms at Mrs. Joe Heldman's.

Albert Couchon has a job trucking from the Finch farm to the railroad station.

C. O. Ebling, agricultural agent for the Soo Line, was in Trentary Tuesday. He is advertising a Potato Train, which will come here March 21. All potato growers are urged to come out for the meeting and see the exhibit.

POLITICS QUIET
The most remarkable feature of the approaching election in the city of Munising is the lack of interest it has aroused up to the present time, a feature so unusual that it is worthy of note, when it is taken into consideration that this city has borne the reputation in the past of being the cockpit of Upper Peninsula politics.

At the present time there are about 1,700 voters registered in the three voting precincts of the city. A large number, who still claim residence and voting privilege here, are out of town.

At the last general election the council adopted a central counting plan and had intended so doing at the coming election, but it was recalled that the legislature in 1929 provided for separate ballot boxes for separate ballots, that is, one for city or village, one for county and one for state. This would necessitate, at the approaching election an expenditure for more ballots if the central counting plan were to be retained, but this is optional with the council. There will be a meeting of the councilmen next Monday at which time they will decide the matter and also appoint inspectors, and clerks of election.

Munising's first election was held on the first day of June, 1896, and at that time there were 435 votes registered and 376 votes were cast. Munising was just then incorporated as a village. Timothy Nester, promoter of the new town was elected president; Horace Lobdell, clerk; Robert Peters, treasurer; John McMillan, assessor; John J. Hanson, Theodore Bissel, Courtland E. Moore, Anthony Ferguson, Edward Burling and Sam Johnson, trustees. Of these early officials of the city Sam Johnson is the only one left within our midst. The others have answered the final summons or have moved away. An interesting feature of this election was the nomination of George Brewster, a lumberjack, in opposition to Mr. Nester, an act which created great resentment at the time. Brewster acquired the name of "Dishwater" Brewster at the time, because he had been caught in the act of helping Mrs. Herman Fritz wash the dishes at her boarding house at Wetmore previous to the election. Of course, helping an old lady with her housework was considered a serious offense against the dignity of an aspirant to the office of president of the village of Munising at that time. Brewster received but 19 votes and he then dropped-out of politics. From that time on every election in Munising has been attended by a certain amount of political fireworks until this year.

AT THE DELTA
Unfolding a real mystery of identification with a very poignant human drama, "Road to Paradise" will open today at the Michigan Theatre.

Loretta Young plays the dual role in this First National Vitaphone picture, and does it with a wistful charm and tenderness which stamp her as one of screenland's leading actresses.

The story concerns a girl who has been raised by a couple of crooks, played by George Barstow and Raymond Hatton. She has always gone straight and they have always wanted her to. However when they discover one day the daughter of an old and wealthy family who bears a striking resemblance to her, they conceive a plot which, if she will participate in it, will make her independent of the small clerking and office jobs, which always blow up because her employer gets too fresh. She in turn is tempted in order to send one of the crooks to a sanitarium for his lungs.

The plot moves into the attempted crime of robbing the house, of the meeting of the two girls, and of the eventual surprise denouncement. The whole makes an engaging mystery.

AT THE MICHIGAN
Every boy has had an ambition to be a railroad engineer at sometime or other in his childhood, according to Grant Withers, featured in Warner Bros. railroad drama, "Other Men's Women," which opened at the Michigan Theatre last night.

This accounts for the tremendous interest that is always manifested when a good railroad story appears—and for the fact that everyone connected with the making of "Other Men's Women" enjoyed the experience in spite of the dangers encountered.

Few boys ever entirely outgrow the desire to drive a locomotive ahead of a crack passenger train and Grant Withers and Regis Toomey are two who have not. When the chartered engine was turned over to the pair of young actors they were obviously delighted. Work for once was play and they made the most of the chance to gratify that old ambition to put their "heads out the window—watch those drivers roll."

Mary Astor is the other member of the trio of stars which heads the cast of "Other Men's Women," with James Cagney, J. Farrell MacDonald, Joan Blondell, Fred Kohler and Walter Long in important supporting roles. William Wellman directed.

his office until eight o'clock in the evening for the purpose of registering voters. At other times until the 28th names may be registered during regular business hours.

gray-haired Montgomery with his young wife. There was a Miss Matthews and her brother, both middle-aged, who had been friends of Anne's mother. They had Social Register ratings—and little money. They had been extremely useful to Anne.

Most of the others were recent acquaintances of the Trowbridges. Gypsy supposed they must have prominence or wealth—probably both. All of them impressed the girl as being tiresome and uninteresting.

Anne was the prettiest woman in the room. Gypsy reflected. Some of course might prefer the blond Mrs. Montgomery who wore four bracelets, mostly diamonds, and a diamond pendant but uttered constantly in a high, childish voice. Gypsy had taken a dislike to Mrs. Montgomery.

Now a butler was bringing the soup. There had never been a butler in the Trowbridge household before. Anne was clearly out-going herself!

Horace Page was asking if Gypsy had seen the latest Guild play. It was on the tip of the girl's tongue to reply truthfully that she had tried to get tickets but no balcony seats were available. Instead she said she had not gotten around to it.

"They've hit the wrong tempo," Page told her. "Altogether the wrong tempo!"

"Tempo?" Gypsy had supposed they were talking about a play.

"Of course the symbolism is dominant," the man continued, "and it's impressive. Oriental thing, you know. Very colorful. But there's no excuse really for misplacing the tempo. One doesn't expect that of the Guild."

Gypsy thought she must have misunderstood. "It's the new play Lynn Fontanne's in, you mean, isn't it?" she asked.

Page nodded, bringing the bald spot into prominence.

"Over-rated actress," he said briskly. There followed a ten-minute monologue on what was wrong with Miss Fontanne's dramatic portrayals.

Horace Page advanced the information that he was secretary of a Little Theater group. He deplored the commercial theater and the public's failure to appreciate true art.

"But we're reaching them!" Page declared with feeling. "We're reaching them!"

Why, Gypsy asked herself, had she ever given up the peace and quiet of her room? This was a hundred times worse. She moved restlessly, tried again to fasten her attention on what Page was saying.

Down at the end of the table she caught a glimpse of Mrs. Fox. Her aristocratic chin was elevated but her table manners, the girl thought, might have been improved. Poor Phil, striving to entertain the guest of honor, looked hard-pressed.

All around the table were women wearing expensive gowns and lavish jewelry. The names of the men represented social position and wealth. Gypsy studied their faces and decided she had never seen so dismal a group.

An evening of gaiety! She had come out because she wanted to forget, and every moment was making her more miserable. How long must this ordeal last?

Now Page had progressed from the theater to art. Something was wrong with art as well as the theater. When he paused the girl murmured inaudibly. Try as she would she could not keep Alan Crosby's face from appearing before her.

"I won't think about him!" Gypsy told herself firmly. "I won't!"

Yet in spite of herself the vision returned. She saw Alan smiling. Alan tossing his hair back with that familiar shake of the head.

Would this abominable dinner never end?

It seemed hours before the cheese and wafers came. And at last—Heaven be praised!—Anne Trowbridge was rising from her chair.

The guests straggled into the living room. Coffee was served by the meticulous butler and then the bridge tables appeared.

"But Anne!" Gypsy protested. "You know I don't play!"

FOSTER CITY NEWS

Foster City, March 12 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Nelson and Willie returned to Forestville, Wis., after spending three days with Mr. and Mrs. Manley Nelson and other friends here.

Algot Kilg and Harold Johnson left for Chicago Friday to spend a few days with relatives.

Magnus Johnson of Algoma, Wis., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Swan A. Johnson here. Mr. Johnson also visited friends here as he is well known in this vicinity having been employed here for many years.

Kelth Clayton spent the week-end here being employed by the state in traffic survey work.

John Curtis and Salem Lillivick motored to Two Rivers, Wis., Friday to spend a few days with friends.

William Morgan of Iron Mountain spent the week end here. Mr. Morgan is cutting a small quantity of timber south of here.

The Foster City grade boys and girls basketball teams traveled to Sagola Friday evening where they played against the Sagola team. The boys team defeated Sagola 10 to 3 while the girls lost 12 to 4.

Louis Bettiga, coach of the Foster City team, expects to enter the both teams in the tournament to be held in Felch this week. They will compete against Felch and Metropolitan. The boys team has gone through the season undefeated thus far and the girls have lost but one game.

Mr. La Frienero of Chicago, motored here to spend the week-end at Camp Three, which he purchased from P. J. Milligan last fall. Mr. La Frienero expects to rebuild a portion of the camp this spring.

Two more candidates have signified their intentions of running for township offices this spring. Henry Chaput is in the field for highway commissioner and Mrs. L. N. LaLonde for treasurer. The elections will be held next Saturday afternoon.

BIG CONSUMERS.
Washington—Airplanes are large consumers of oil and gasoline in the United States, and add no little to the revenue of refineries last year. A report of the U. S. department of commerce informs that airplanes of the country consumed nearly 13,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 500,000 gallons of oil during the first six months of 1930, and it is estimated that these figures were considerably increased during the latter half of the year.

Names which have endured for centuries and which will endure for more centuries are those of Pythagoras, Thales, Aristotle, Archimedes, Copernicus, Kepler, Galileo, Descartes and Newton.

ELECT QUEEN OF PAGEANT

Margaret LaFaver Is Chosen to Preside at Festival

Margaret LaFaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. LaFaver, was yesterday honored by the feminine student body of Gladstone high school by being selected to preside over the annual pageant which will be presented by members of the gymnasium classes next spring.

Four girls of the senior class, Betty Mann, Ruth Ward, Margaret LaFaver and Mildred Kjellander were nominated for the honor early this week, and when votes were counted yesterday afternoon the Misses LaFaver and Kjellander were tied for first place. In a re-vote Miss LaFaver won by a margin of five votes.

Only members of the senior class were allowed this year to seek the honor, whereas in the past girls from all classes were eligible.

"Springtime" will be the title of this year's pageant and plans for the event and practice sessions will be begun immediately upon the class of the basketball season.

RIALTO
Anyone who is searching for coincidences will find one in a study of the careers of Jackie Coogan and Mitzl Green, America's leading child actors who are playing today in "Tom Sawyer," at the Rialto Theatre.

The parents of both children are stage folk and the two youngsters did their first theatrical work at the age of four.

Jackie's father was appearing with Annette Kellerman, famous swimmer, on the vaudeville stage when the boy was four. Coogan did eccentric dances between Miss Kellerman's exhibitions.

Miss Kellerman was impressed with Jackie's backstage imperiousness and one evening called him onto the stage to do a little act. He wound up his appearance with a "shimmy" dance. Charles Chaplin was in the audience and insisted that the Coogans permit him to use Jackie in a picture. It became known as "The Kid" and Jackie was an overnight sensation.

"Bulldog Drummond," Ronald Colman's new starring vehicle which comes to the Rialto theatre tonight at 11 o'clock, is a tribute to keen showmanship. Two years ago, Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky were known far and wide over the United States as one of the most appealing motion picture co-starring teams. Samuel Goldwyn had put them in a series of romantic pictures together, such as "The Night of Love," "The Magic Flame" and "Two Lovers" and then determined to star them individually in separate pictures. Those fortunate who attended Hollywood previews declare Colman's second individual starring vehicle "Bulldog Drummond" a noteworthy translation of the famous comedy drama and a picture which definitely establishes its star as one of the major Tights of fitdom.

Organic Matter Urged as Crop Food for Farmers of Delta County

VARIETY TESTS TELL THE STORY

Strains Best Suited to Delta County Listed by Farm Agent

Results of variety tests, indicating the strains of seed best suited to Delta county farm areas, are outlined by county agricultural agent J. E. Turner in his annual crop planning message to Delta county farmers.

Various departments of Michigan State College are cooperating in planning the 1931 crops-dairy program for Delta county, and a number of meetings and demonstrations are scheduled. A brooder house will be built April 15, a septic tank May 20 and a safety bull pen or breeding chute June 2. Besides these there will be pruning demonstrations, both in orchards and small fruits. Places for these demonstrations have not been selected as yet and farmers planning construction of any of these projects are asked to communicate with the county agent.

Following are extracts from the county agents spring message:

CROPS

Variety tests for the past three years and experiments conducted at the experiment station with Barley and Oats have shown that Spartan Barley, the new Michigan 2 row, white, smooth awned, stiff strawed barley, has yielded very well in comparison to other varieties. In the past year, Wisconsin Pedigree No. 38, which is a 6 row, smooth awned barley, out-yielded all other varieties. Velvet, a smooth awned barley, was dropped two years ago for various reasons, among them the fact that it threshes very hard, is very susceptible to barley stripe, and the heads stick on the kernels. Seed for Wisconsin Pedigree No. 38 is not available at the present time so Spartan is the variety recommended.

In an effort to discover a strain of oats that were resistant to rust, tests were conducted with a number of early varieties that matured ahead of the Wolverine. As a result of these, Iogold, an early variety from Iowa and Iowa 105, are the two best varieties. In the past two years these two have yielded a little higher than Wolverine and ripen about 10 days earlier. Considering the fact that Wolverine is liable to be effected by rust, Iogold is the best for this county.

POTATOES

Delta county's main cash crop is potatoes and certain findings by the Experiment Station will be of interest to you. Russet Ruralis is the variety most commonly grown here and this variety requires from 120 to 130 days to mature. That means that you have to get your seed in early and take advantage of the entire growing season to mature your crop. Early planting not only insures mature potatoes but also gives an increased yield. Tests were conducted on 18 farms in Michigan last year and early planting, from May 12th to 17th gave an average yield of 113 bushels to the acre, and the late planting, June 9th gave a yield of 92 bushels per acre. The quality increased by early planting, thereby insuring a better market. These two points alone should be sufficient to persuade you to plant early. Data secured from members of the "300 Bushel Club" in Michigan last year show that the heaviest cultivation is done before the potatoes are planted, using either the spring tooth harrow or the Spike tooth. If the field is thoroughly prepared before planting, one or two cultivations are sufficient during the year.

Experimental work done by Potato Club Members in this county for 1930 proves the value of commercial fertilizer in increasing the total yield and increasing per cent of marketable tubers per acre. An application of 400 pounds of 4-16-4 fertilizer gave an average increase of 50 bushels to the acre on 7 plots. With potato prices what they were last fall this 50 bushel increase gave a nice profit over the cost of fertilizer. If you have never used commercial fertilizer, I would suggest that you buy one bag and try it on a quarter of an acre.

Things You Must Do to Secure High Yields Are:

1. Plant good seed, certified if possible.
2. Plant early.
3. Treat your seed, using Corrosive Sublimate.
4. Plant seed pieces weighing about 2 ounces.
5. Have seed bed well prepared before planting and eliminate cultivation.
6. Spray with Bordeaux mixture to control Leaf Hopper and Black Leg.

This county has been fortunate in having a supply of lime at the chemical plant but this supply is being gradually exhausted. The manager of the Rose Bush Ranch at Amasa was telling me the other day that he plans on using 90 cars of this lime this fall and I would suggest that any of you that have to use lime should get it as soon as possible.

COMMERCIAL FERTILIZER

Recommendations for Fertilizer have changed but very little since last year. With farm prices so low, many of you will hesitate about ordering high priced fertilizer. However, if it has

FARM BABIES WIN PRIZE

Here are Mrs. Mabel Takao, 23-year-old Japanese farm mother, and her two babies who took first and second prize at the Multnomah County Fair, Gresham, Ore., as the healthiest babies in the state of Oregon. The children were raised on their father's farm. The mother runs a tractor on the farm.

Dairy Congress Will Have Fine Programs

An outstanding program has been arranged for the Tri-State Dairy Congress to be held at Duluth, Minnesota, on March 20. A morning, afternoon and evening session will be held, the banquet at which outstanding dairymen will be honored to be held at noon.

Dr. C. H. Eckles, head of the dairy department of the University of Minnesota and an international authority on dairying, will speak on "New Ideas in Dairy Feeding." W. H. Schilling, member of the Federal Farm Board, will speak on "New Ideas in Dairy Feeding." Hon. Floyd B. Olson, governor of Minnesota, will speak on "The State and the Dairy Farmer." Dr. F. B. Hadley, University of Wisconsin, will address the gathering on "The Control and Eradication of Contagious Abortion," one of the next timely subjects of the day.

Build Brooder Coop in Menominee Co.

The Agricultural Engineering Department of Michigan State College and the poultry department cooperating will build a 10x12 brooder house somewhere in Menominee county on Tuesday, April 14th. The farmer furnishes the material and the men from the college build the brooder house, according to their plans, as a demonstration to the people of the county, the proper construction of a brooder house.

Farmers wishing to have such a demonstration should get in touch with the county agricultural agent at once, as only one is paid for you to use it in the past it will do so again this year. A dollar invested in fertilizer gives returns as a rule from one to two dollars additional. Buy a high analysis fertilizer and apply less of it. Most of the large concerns dealing in fertilizers can supply you with the analysis you want.

DYNAMITE

You have undoubtedly used up the last of the war salvage explosive and if you have any clearing to do or any use for dynamite whatever, you will have to buy the commercial form at prices ranging from 22c to 25c per pound. This price can be reduced if purchased in car load lots and the powder companies are willing to cooperate by putting our order in with someone else to make a full car and give us the advantage of a carload price which is about 14c or 15c per pound.

GARDENS

Too many farmers in this county are without a vegetable garden. It is estimated that approximately $300,000 a year is saved by having the home garden. This amount will include that which is used during the summer and the amount put away for winter use. The budget given below will give you an idea of the amount necessary for your family.

SUGGESTIVE BUDGET—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Approximate amounts to be used for one year for each grown up in the family.

SPECIALISTS AID FARM PLANNING

Series of Meetings Held by D. L. Clananhan and R. E. Horwood

Delta county farmers can increase their yields per acre by the addition of organic matter and the use of commercial fertilizers, declared D. L. Clananhan, Farm Crops Specialist, in meetings held throughout the county this past week.

Organic matter, such as manure, sweet clover or alfalfa plowed under, increases the amount of water the soil will hold and many years the amount of water in the soil is the thing that causes our small crops. Everyone knows that new soils will produce large crops, and it is usually the large amount of organic matter in these new soils that cause these large yields. Organic matter also contains 98% of the nitrogen that is in the soil, so again it is important that we have large amounts of organic matter in our soil. Nitrogen is the plant food that causes the plant to make good, large growth.

This organic matter can be added to the soil by applying large quantities of barnyard manure. However, the amount of manure is limited, and more must be added if the soil fertility is to be maintained.

Delta county farmers should make use of sweet clover, because it can be grown in this county without the use of lime. It can be seeded in grain one year, and then plowed down in the spring of the next year, or one crop of hay can be taken off the second year and then the second growth plowed under in the fall. By using this method—the nitrogen that would be added to the soil would be worth $10 to $12 an acre besides the benefit the soil would derive from the added organic matter.

Care of Manure.

Barnyard manure is a valuable fertilizer but is an unbalanced fertilizer, as it contains more nitrogen and potash than it does phosphoric acid, and phosphoric acid is the element that our soils have the least of. A ton of ordinary barnyard manure contains about 10 pounds of nitrogen, 4 1/2 about 10 pounds of potash per ton, so it can be seen that it is necessary to add phosphoric acid. A good way to do this is to add 30 pounds of 20% superphosphate for each ton of manure spread.

Manure loses a lot of its value if it is not properly cared for. It should be spread on the field immediately after it is made if possible, and if that is not possible it should be piled in the barnyard evenly and kept well compacted and moist. Horse and cow manure should be mixed to prevent the horse manure from heating, which if allowed to be done would lose lots of the nitrogen in the manure.

Manure should be plowed under whenever possible as in this way it becomes mixed with the soil much better and will give better results, experiments have proven.

Get Most Out of Dollar.

Commercial fertilizers have become necessary for efficient crop production on most soils. For grains and hay crops 500 pounds of 20% super phosphate is sufficient, if manure has been used in the past two years, and if manure has not been used a fertilizer with a 2-12-6 analysis applied at the same rate will supply the needed plant food. Potatoes require a complete fertilizer in all cases and a good analysis for this crop is a 4-16-4 or a 4-16-8 applied at the rate of 500 pounds to the acre.

The analysis of the fertilizer should always appear on the bag and the first number refers to the per cent of nitrogen, the second to the per cent of available phosphoric acid, and the third to the potash. A 2-12-6 fertilizer contains 2% of nitrogen, 12% phosphoric acid, and 6% of potash. Never buy fertilizers by name, but only by the analysis that appears on the sack; and buy only the analysis that have proven to be adapted to the crop you wish to grow and to the type of soil the crop is planted on.

Remember, says Mr. Clananhan

you can only raise as large a crop as there are plant food elements in your soil to supply that crop.

Home Grown Feeds.

Many farmers attended the series of crops-dairy meetings held within the county this past week, and heard the talks by Mr. Clananhan, crops specialist and Russell E. Horwood, extension dairyman, on planning the farm to grow the most feed per acre for the dairy cow, and how to feed them home grown feeds to best advantage. Three types of feed are essential for the economical production of milk. Mr. Clananhan pointed out that the three types of feed; hay, succulent feed and grain, grow well on the farms of Delta county. However, the dairyman should grow the feeds that will give the largest yield in protein and total digestible nutrients. Mr. Clananhan used a chart to illustrate the yield in tons per acre, yield in pounds of protein, and total digestible nutrients for different types of hay.

more interested in the difference between the cost of producing a pound of butterfat and the selling price than in the price received for butterfat. The individual farmer can not do much to raise the selling price of butter fat, but he can lower the cost of production by weeding out the cows that are not producing 200 pounds of fat per year, and feeding the good cows the additional feed the poor cows are getting. According to Mr. Horwood, at present prices, a cow must produce from 200 to 250 pounds of fat per year to pay for the hay and grain she receives. The cow should pay for the home grown feed she receives as well as feed that is purchased to balance the ration. She should also pay for the labor required to take care of her, which is about 170 hours per year.

It is the cost per pound of butter fat, and returns over feed cost, and interest on money invested, not the cost per cow that the farmer should watch. He should keep a record of the production and feed cost of each cow so the cost of better fat can be determined. This can be done by home kept records through the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Farm Outlook for Peninsula Outlined

R. V. Gunn, agricultural economist specialist from Michigan State College, will discuss the farm outlook for 1931 at the Stephenson Town Hall, Monday morning March 16th at 9:30 o'clock, and in the afternoon will be at the Carney Town Hall to discuss the same subject.

Mr. Gunn has just returned from a conference at Washington and has first hand information about farm conditions all over the world, and will tell farmers who attend how these conditions will effect Menominee county. "What is ahead of us in dairying, what will the feed crop situation be, how will poultry prices be for 1931, and what are the potato prospects for the coming year?" These are questions that Mr. Gunn will answer, and in answering them it will give every farmer attending a knowledge of how to adjust his farming operations to the conditions.

Prof. Mitchell to Address Civic Clubs Here Next Tuesday

Prof. Elmer D. Mitchell, associate professor of education at the University of Michigan, will address the Manistique Women's club Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Elks' temple on the subject, "Why People Play." This will be the third of a series of University of Michigan extension lectures given here this season. Mrs. George Fowler will provide several piano selections for the occasion. A short business meeting will precede the address in which the club will elect new officers.

Prof. Mitchell will also address a joint session of the Rotary club and Chamber of Commerce at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday evening at the Elks' temple.

Lakeside P. T. A. Chooses Officers Thursday Evening

Mrs. Alec Creighton was chosen to succeed Mrs. Harold Cockran as president of the Lakeside Parent-Teachers association at a meeting held at the Lakeside school Thursday evening. Other officers elected were Mrs. Chester Tyrrell, first vice president; Mrs. Ada Watson, second vice president; Chester Tyrrell, third vice president; and Miss Marie Connolly, secretary and treasurer. A splendid address on Hawaii was given by Miss Helen Havilcheck who taught on the island for several years. Mrs. Lauritz Drevdahl sang a vocal solo and Mrs. George Fowler obliged with a piano selection. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

BOWLING NOTES

CUBS TAKE THREE
Creighton's Cubs continued in championship form Wednesday evening when they made a clean sweep of the match with the Cardinals in the Elks' league. They eked out a win in the first game by a margin of only four pins. Busch led the onslaught on the pins for the Cubs while Jack Quick set the pace for the losers.

Heater Causes Fire at J. Hughson Shop

A leaky hot water heater caused a small blaze in the rear of the John Hughson barber shop on Oak street at 5:30 p. m. Thursday evening. Prompt work on the part of the fire department prevented much damage to the frame structure.

The fire occurred when an attempt was made to blow out the heater, one of the sparks falling on the oil soaked floor. Chemicals and a line from the booster tank quickly extinguished the flames. Most of the damage was caused by smoke which was rolling out of the front entrance when the department arrived on the scene. A large crowd of spectators witnessed the fire.

EASTER DRAMA AT M. E. CHURCH

Fourth Scene of Easter Story To Be Given Sunday Evening

The fourth scene of the big serial production "The Easter Story" will be presented on Sunday evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church at the usual hour of service, 7:30. Last Sunday evening the decree of the Governor Pontius Pilate was read to the assembled crowd, who had gathered together, and who were pressing on to Calvary. This decree condemned Jesus of Nazareth to be nailed to the cross, Quintus Cornelius to lead him forth to the Place of Skulls. With him to die the death were also condemned Dismas and Gestes. While Barabas was released because of the feast of the Jews.

Cries of "Crucify Him!" resounded and filled the air. Out at the Damascus gate the Master stumbled and fell to the ground with his cross, and Simon of Cyrene was compelled to carry the cross. Veronica wiped the brow of Jesus and when she was about to dry the tears of Mary as she unfolded her handkerchief, there was imprinted thereon a marvelous picture of the face of Jesus of Nazareth, formed from the blood drops upon his brow.

Simon of Cyrene prodded with the spear of the soldiers was hurried on to Calvary and as Simon went along the road, Mary the Mother, lifted her hands to the heavens and made a last appeal before Jesus was nailed to the cross.

The scene on Sunday will be "On Calvary" the three bodies are being nailed to three crosses, while the enemies of Jesus pass by mocking and jeering at him. His friends, his disciples, the Marys, Salome, Peter and John are very sad and yet helpless and powerless to do anything but look at the sufferings of their Master and Lord, who is hanging upon the cross. The heavens will grow darker and darker, the thunder will roll across the sky and lightning will rend the heavens. The last words of Jesus will be spoken from the cross, Pilate will order the Crucifixion. Thus this solemn and thrilling scene will come to a close to be continued the following Sunday with "The Governor's Palace."

A special musical program will be given from 7 o'clock to 7:30.

Henry Grenier, 35. Called by Death

Word was received here of the death of Henry Grenier, 35, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Xavier Grenier, 222 South Eighth street, which occurred Thursday at a hospital at Port Edwards, Wis., where he had been confined for one week suffering with rheumatism of the heart.

Mr. Grenier had suffered several attacks of rheumatism in the past but had recovered after a few days, but the attack which he suffered one week ago proved fatal.

Henry Grenier was born May 12, 1895, in Escanaba, and attended the local schools. He was a member of a bridge construction crew when he was taken ill.

The survivors, in addition to his wife, are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Xavier Grenier of Escanaba, and two brothers, Henry and Adolor, also of this city.

Xavier Grenier and son, Adolor, left Thursday evening for Port Edwards and will accompany the body to this city, arriving this afternoon at two o'clock.

The body will be taken to the Allou funeral home and later to the family home. Pending the arrival of the body, funeral arrangements are incomplete. Burial will be made in the family lot in St. Anne's cemetery.

U. P. Briefs

Raise Fund for Youth Menominee—More than sufficient money has been subscribed to buy artificial feet for Joseph Northcliffe, the young man from California whose frozen feet were amputated at St. Joseph's hospital after he was picked up by the roadside near Harris on Jan. 2.

But now that the generosity of the public has been so liberal and his new feet are assured, how would it be to go a little further with this stanger within our gates?

Destitute, starving, thinly clad in ragged clothing, sick and crippled he came here. He has received the very best of care. His life was saved by the excellent care he received when he hovered between life and death for days, not caring whether he lived with the hopeless future which faced him.

The kindness of the community to this stranger is making his life bearable. In a few months his artificial feet will function nearly as well as his old ones. He wants to go back home to his mother, who, too, is without funds. He is nothing more than a homeless boy. He needs clothing, including woolen socks for his artificial feet. He needs shoes.

Campbell, 45, of Eckerman, was in the War Memorial hospital today in a serious condition from a blow she claims to have received from a chair wielded by her husband, A. C. Campbell. He is being held here pending an investigation by sheriff's officers.

Mrs. Campbell has an eight inch scalp wound. It is possible her skull is fractured. It is believed that Mrs. Campbell was struck over the head Wednesday morning. Late in the afternoon when neighbors feared the woman was dying, Deputy Sheriff Nate England was notified. Sheriff's officers here went to Eckerman and found the woman with her clothes soaked in blood, lying on a couch.

Catch Two Wolves Newberry—There are two timber wolves less in the Tahquamenon river region this week. Mike Smith of Hulbert caught one and R. D. Belanger, of Munising, predatory animal trapper, employed by the state, caught the other.

This is the third wolf that Mr. Smith, who is a veteran wolf trapper, caught near the Big Falls of the Tahquamenon this winter. Two of the animals were captured in Chippewa county and bounties collected at the Sauli, while the third and last, being caught in this county was brought to the clerk's office Friday for the collection of the $10.

Thirteen Want Job Ironwood—Thirteen may be an unlucky number.

At any rate, there were 13 applications for the job of traffic officer in Iron county before the board of supervisors in session at Hurley this morning, and the board voted, 14 to 6, against the hiring of a traffic officer at this time.

The 13 applicants included Charles J. Bouton, James Valvano, Robert L. Bertagnoli, Gelle Calligaro, Lloyd J. Erickson, Joseph F. Dezur, Meno Bertoluzzi, Louis Engel, Edward Kirby, De Lacy E. Leitchnam, James Sullivan, Aidan Hanley and Charles Coxy.

Frechette Store Used As Church For Bark River

Rev. Fr. D. Joseph Breault has announced that all services which were formerly held in St. George's church at Bark River will be held in the store building owned by J. B. Frechette. The building is centrally located and has been arranged to accommodate a large number of persons.

Mass will be offered Sunday at 8 and 10 o'clock and all other services will be at the usual hour. Father Breault and his mother are making their home at the Perket hotel since the church and rectory were burned to the ground Monday.

Much Municipal Work Being Done

About $15,000 has been expended in public improvements here from November to March 1 in the program to relieve the unemployment situation. City Manager T. F. Kessler reports.

All this money has been spent in work that was absolutely necessary and which will prove of real benefit to the city in the future. A vast program of street grading has been done in the western part of the city; the Willow creek drain has been extended; and the city's tract of land west of the city limits has been cleared. In clearing this land, about five hundred cords of wood was cut to be used as summer fuel for the poor families.

About one hundred men are given employment each week on a part-time basis, married men being given preference over single workers.

Entry List Opens for Song Contest Thursday, Mar. 19

Entries for the young people's singing contest must be made with Director Joe Greenfield as early as possible. The contest will be held at the Escanaba high school auditorium Thursday evening, March 19, in connection with the Municipal Band concert.

Two gold medals will be awarded to the winners of the singing contest which is open to all children under sixteen years of age. The older people in the audience will act as judges and it is expected that the auditorium will be packed with relatives and friends of the contestants and lovers of music who enjoy a band concert.

There will also be community singing in which every one is invited to take part.
