AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

When "Little Caesar" comes to the Delft Theatre today, and tomorrow audiences will see a cast which represents the cream of stage and screen performers.

The leading role of Rico in this First National thriller is played by Edward G. Robinson, whose sixteen brilliant years on the New York stage have made him a distinguished figure in the spoken drama. He has played in such productions as "The Brothers Karamazov," "The Firebrand," "Poer Gynl," and "The Kibitzer."

Glenda Farrell, who plays the part of Olga in "Little Caesar," is equally well-known on Broadway. She played the lead in "Skidding," and "Recapture." She played Alice Brady's daughter in "Love, Honor and Betray."

Doug Fairbanks, Jr., who plays Joe in the picture, has had much of his training back of the footlights. "Others in the cast who came from the stage and are making pictures are William Collier, Jr., and Sidney Blackmer, both of whom started their careers on the stage.

"Little Caesar" is First National's screen version of the popular novel by W. B. Burnett, which was a recent Literary Guild selection. Mervyn LaRoy directed the picture.

AT THE MICHIGAN

"It Pays to Advertise" the play which probably entertained more people on Broadway and the rituals of our larger cities in the past few years than any other legitimate comedy-romance, will be presented at the Michigan Theatre today in its talkie version.

And so to say that it is even funnier as a talkie than it ever could have been as a play is to pay it a tribute that is not half large enough. For the talkie brings with it the most desirable talent—acting and directorial—that can possibly be brought to an entertainment effort of this kind.

"It Pays to Advertise" has a galaxy of stellar performers in the cast. There is Skeets Gallagher, "the white-haired boy" of a number of Paramount pictures; Eugene Pallette, bull-voiced fat man whose roles in Westerns and comedies have kept audiences in spasms; Lucien Littlefield, the school-master of "Tom Sawyer;" Tom Kennedy, the blundering big bruiser in "The Gang Buster," Louise Brooks and several others. For the romantic interest there are Norman Foster, who achieved fame as the "Young Man of Manhattan" and gained greater honors as the crook-turned-straight who fell in love with Clara Bow in "No Limit"—and that golden haired "panic," Carole Lombard, who flashed her "It" in "Safety in Numbers" and has been flashing "It" ever since in such pictures as "Fast and Loose" and now "It Pays to Advertise."

Days' River Will Have Fish Station

Thompson, Mich., Mar. 28, (Special)—The Thompson State Fish Hatcheries will conduct a feeding station at Days River this year. A similar station was established there last spring as an experiment.

A building, about sixteen feet wide and twenty feet long, will be erected there this spring. The lumber for this building was taken to Days River Wednesday by Thomas Smith and John Olson, employees of the hatchery.

Ernest Peterson and Thomas Smith will go to Days River Monday to start the carpenter work. The new building will be more convenient than the tent was last spring.

Spawns will be taken from the Walleye Pike that are in the Days River and put into large jars to hatch. The fish that hatch will be planted in lakes and streams near here.

The new trout hatchery employs five men and has 342 troughs. The troughs are green, blue, gray, yellow, orange, black and white. It is an experiment to see if the color makes any difference in the progress of the trout.

It has three million fish which will soon be put into Seney and Eckerman trout ponds. In these ponds they are allowed to stay until fall when they are planted. It is well worth your time to visit these hatcheries especially as the fish are at an interesting stage now.

The first brook trout of the new state fish hatchery were planted Friday in the "Bursaw" "Robbinson" and "Johnson" creeks in Thompson township.

It is the earliest that the hatchery ever had brook trout ready to plant at this time of the year.

Passion Play of Oberammergau Described With the Opening of Holy Week

Story of Famous Spectacle Is Told by Mrs. Leighton

With the opening of Passion Week and the commemoration of its impressive events held with reverence wherever the Son of God is known, there is no more timely or more interesting story than that of the Passion Play of Oberammergau, world famous presentation, by Mrs. Fred Leighton of this city, 505 South Sixth street, who was one of the thousands who during the year past made the pilgrimage to the little Bavarian village for this truly marvelous presentation.

In a foreword, Mrs. Leighton says: "To describe fully all that pertains to this wonderful spectacle so as to enable one to get a slight conception of its grandeur and to convey the real heart throbs that accompany its rendition is a task that requires exceptional talent. Lacking this I am endeavoring in a limited way to pass on the privilege I experienced to study and witness this superb spectacle." But, you will find her story a wonderfully sympathetic and an interesting description of the Passion Play of Oberammergau, in which a keen observance of intensely human details is combined with a rare understanding and appreciation of spiritual significance.

THE PASSION PLAY

Mrs. Fred Leighton.
"Oberammergau, the village famous for its performance of the Passion Play, is situated in beautiful Bavaria, Germany, among the Alps on the River Ammer. It is sixty-four miles from Munich. There are about 1,700 people in the village who live in quaint little whitewashed stucco houses, many of which have fresco paintings on the outside depicting Biblical scenes. One of particular interest has scenes from the fairy tale of Hansel and Gretel elaborately painted on the front of the house. It seemed quite a worthwhile idea to copy in our American homes. They have pretty green shutters and prettily flowering small gardens and window boxes. The streets are most irregular and often there are no sidewalks. Here and there along the outskirts and all through the country-side one finds shrines, each of which is in commemoration of some saint or a person who met death at that spot. The village certainly looked all washed, combed and brushed for company."

"We arrived early one Saturday morning and I was at once impressed by the quiet appearance of the village. Few if any automobiles, only the tinkling of the horses' bells disturbed the calmness of the place. The boys and men with their long hair, leather shorts and heavy walking shoes made a most unusual appearance. Because of the performance being presented in the daylight, wigs cannot be worn unobtrusively so the male members of the cast must forego the barber and permit their hair to grow for a year before the performance."

"Upon arrival I found a friend had written me a note and left it at Anton Lang's telling me to get up early to see the village without tourists. I could not quite understand what she meant for there were relatively few tourists on the streets. That afternoon we made an excursion to the castle of Linderhof and upon our return it seemed that it had literally rained people, for the streets were crowded. The village of 1700 had been transformed to one of about 7000 in the few hours. It was then that I realized what my friend meant."

Wood Carving.
"The villagers employ themselves in making toys, pottery and wood carvings of the world. They are also great dairymen and the tinkling of six hundred or more cowbells as the animals go back into the mountains daily for grazing is a delightful remembrance. The citizens are most courteous and deeply religious. It is their earnestness which has attracted such universal interest."

"In order to get something of the historical background of this play let us turn the pages and see what was happening to the world in the first part of the seventeenth century, the date of its inception."

"Elizabeth and James I were ruling in England. Our own country was just welcoming the Pilgrims to its shores and Germany was just emerging from the Thirty Years' War. War is often followed by pestilence and such was the case in Germany. Whole villages were wiped out. One town had only two couples who escaped the Black Death. Oberammergau being situated in the isolated mountains felt it was safe but a man named Schuler returned to his family and brought the plague to the little community. Those few left after the ravishing destruction of this dread disease made a vow to enact the passion and death of our Lord. This was to take place every ten years. Contrary to some erroneous ideas it is not the life of Christ, merely the happenings of Passion Week. The first performance was given in 1633. We might call it the beginning of the little theatre movement or a survival of the old miracle plays. It is, however, more serious than they often were."

"The parish priest, Daisenberger, is responsible for the wonderfully faithful presentation of the dramatic story, and Dedler, the school master, composed the music. He shows a strong influence of Mozart. The head school teacher of the village is always the conductor while the second conductor is the president of the local music society. There are fifty musicians in the orchestra and a choir of twenty-six girls and nineteen men. It is said in Oberammergau that they talk five years about the past play and five years about the coming one."

There are fifty musicians in the orchestra and a choir of twenty-six girls and nineteen men. It is said in Oberammergau that they talk five years about the past play and five years about the coming one."

Committee Names Players
"The players are chosen by a committee of thirty-two headed by the parish priest and burgo-master. Only inhabitants of Oberammergau are members of the cast and their lives must testify to the sincerity of the characters which they portray. Their dramatic ability as well as their voices are also factors in their selection. There are about 124 speaking parts and about 1,000 altogether in the production. The regularity of the performance has been interrupted twice by war, once in 1870 and again in 1920. The performances start in May and there are some fifty during the summer. About 300,000 persons witnessed the performance during the past season."

"I have been told that the proceeds are divided into four equal parts, one toward preparation of the play, one for furnishing homes for the visitors, one to the church, and one to the players. These plays are known throughout the world for their almost unbelievable perfection in staging, music, singing and costumes. The groupings are taken from famous masterpieces by Rubens, Raphael, Murillo and others and with the passage of time changes have been made in details to bring it to the highest standard."

"The theatre seats about 5,000 and seats range in price from about $14 to $21, including full board and lodging, commencing with dinner the evening before the performance and including breakfast the morning following the performance. It is not done for gain, it is true, but done now in such a fashion as to justify the financial gain that has been thrust upon them."

"The acting is done on the proscenium which is in the open air while the tableaux take place in the enclosed setting in the rear of the stage where the curtain is lowered between the scenes. Through the opening that separates the auditorium from the stage one has a most superb view of green mountains piercing the blue sky and drifting clouds with here and there small cottages on the mountain side and occasionally birds flying through, across the stage."

Eighteen Acts.
"There are eighteen acts, each preceded by a tableau. The tableaux are taken from the Old Testament for the most part and prefigure the theme of the next act. They are marvelously grouped, superbly colored, subdued, impressive. It brings to one vividly the co-relation of the Old and New Testaments. For instance, the sale of Joseph to the Medians is shown just previous to the scene where Judas sells Christ for the thirty pieces of silver. The Last Supper is prefigured by the tableau depicting the feeding of the children in the wilderness with manna and the return of the spies with the enormous bunches of grapes, showing us the sequence in the bread and wine. The suffering of Job is shown before the scene in Gethsemane, the despair of Cain is analogous to the suffering of Judas."

"You are called at 6:30 o'clock, and, being in the mountains, it is a pretty chilly 'Good morning.' You hop out of your feather bed and wash in cold water and shiver and shake in your clothes. Your continental breakfast it awaiting you, a pot of coffee, a pitcher of hot milk, a hard roll and a sample of damson jam. It looks cloudy and quite like rain but as you rally forth the sun bursts forth gloriously from behind the mountains. Your hostess arms you with a pillow but you feel that you are going to wring it around your feet as they are still two cakes of ice in spite of two pairs of hose. All the twisting narrow paths and streets lead to the huge play house. Each one of the burrying, jostling crowd has his pillow, his ticket and his look of expectancy. You find your entrance door much as you do in a stadium. The great crowd is seated most expeditiously, but to get out during a performance would be somewhat of a task as the seats stretch fifty to sixty in a row without an aisle."

"Now the great jaws of the metal curtain in front of the inner stage open and the play has started. "Many have attempted to describe this great performance but few have succeeded. Anton Lang
"The chorus marches on the stage wearing white robes and powder blue capes. Anton Lang, who has played the Christ for thirty years, stands in the center and recites the prologue at the beginning of each act. He has, as well as each of the actors, a marvelous speaking voice. He begins, 'Bow down now in deep, adoring love.' "The first act shows the triumphal entry of Christ into Jeru-

Leading Characters in Presentation

These pictures show the leading actors and the scene of the 1930 Oberammergau Passion Play, the famous religious spectacle presented in the small village of Bavaria, Germany. In the upper group at the left is Eduard Bierling, the town's baker, who played the part of Moses; center, above, is Anton Lang, speaker of the play's prologue and former Christ; at the right is Miss Hansi Prefsinger, who took the role of Mary Magdalene; in the circle is Alois Lang who played the part of Christ. In the lower group left to right are: Hugo Rutz, who was Calaphas; Joseph Mayer who played Rabbi Archelaus, and Hans Lang, Jr., the Johannes of the production. Below is a view of the new stage and auditorium at Oberammergau.

saalem. There are some 800 on the stage. The play then settles into a succession of the prologues, the choruses, the tableaux and then the acted scenes from the story. In the opening scene Christ rides through from a side street on probably the same donkey that brought your baggage up from the station. This is the triumphal entry into Jerusalem. We are busy following the text in our guide books, for, of course, the play is in German, but it is not all so difficult to follow."

"I think of all the characters I found Judas the most repulsive. Untold suffering and remorse he realizes that he has sold his Master is excruciating. He begs to return the money but they walk away and he is left with his thirty pieces of silver. You suddenly realize what it means in real life to sell your Master. The thought struck me that the League of Nations could well attend and see what it means to sell souls for thirty pieces of silver. Guido Mayer, the Judas, told a friend of mine upon being complimented upon the vivid way he had portrayed the part, 'It is a hard part to play, even the children throw stones at me.' 'But,' said my friend, 'you understand it is Judas, not they dislike.' 'Yes,' he said, 'but the stones hurt.'"

"Alois Lang, who plays the part of the Christ, has the kindest face. You can tell he is a thoroughly good man to look in his calm, black eyes. There is an overwhelming admiration of his portrayal but his voice doesn't portray the pity that Anton Lang is capable of showing. I feel quite certain that the John of this year's cast will be the Christ in the next performance."

The Last Supper.
"The scene that moved me most was the Last Supper. This scene is a vivid reproduction of the famous da Vinci painting. Here and there in the vast audience there was audible sobbing and I could not suppress the tears myself. I rather expected the crucifixion scene would quite overcome me but I guess my curiosity sustained my emotions. During the scene Christ hangs on the cross for twenty minutes. This seems like die tonight. Life owes me nothing. I have been to Oberammergau. I have seen the Passion Play! One does not leave it at Oberammergau either, it is carried with you. It illumines your darker moments and saves you from your weaker self, and you say with Kipling, 'Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget.'"

Girls Present Benefit Program at Church Tonight

An interesting program of music, readings and mission play presentations will be given this evening at the Norwegian Danish Lutheran church by the Girls' Mission Circle and the Girls' Chorus of the church. The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The proceeds of the free will offering which will be taken up at the meeting are to go toward the support of one child in Madagascar, which is a mission project undertaken by the girls. The program, opening with a song, "God Forth Today," by the Girls' chorus, will include interesting numbers of vocal and instrumental music, readings and recitations, and two sketches, "A Missionary Concert," and "Waiting for the Doctor." There will also be a short talk on Missions by Rev. Knute Knutsen, pastor. The program will be given as announced with the duct, "Master's Service First," sung by Hilmar Nelson and Volberg Erickson. The public is cordially invited to attend and enjoy the program and at the same time aid in the mission work.

Glorifying Yourself

By Alicia Hart

You may have been hearing about the Paris mannequins who left spectators gasping, because they wore no stockings with their beautiful evening clothes and let their little toes stick right out through their toe-less evening sandals. Well, they enameled their nails black, silver, gold, or bright blue or green, according to whatever they were wearing. And in the smart shops now you can find these same toe-less evening sandals. But I have a sneaking idea few American women will be exposing black or gold toenails when they dance. But, certainly the vogue is growing to color fingernails. Gay reds, if not exotic black and gold or silver. This, is, or should be, a distinctly leisure hour habit or fad. Certainly there is something commendable about the beautifully kept but delicately tinted nail for business! But when evening comes, and parties, there seems to be something quickening in the sight of a beautifully and meticulously groomed woman with her lovely nails gleaming. You may or may not like them that way. But you may as well recognize the fad and it might give you a hint to try it out. You now can get nail enamel to match your particular lipstick and rouge coloring. It comes in many kinds of red. There is a medium bright, geranium kind of red which is very smart and of all the gay reds, probably the most popular. It is a color for the sophisticate, for the woman who uses this tone lipstick and rouge. Then there is a deep, rich carnine type of fingernail enamel, or for the vivid, arresting brunette. It is very, very exotic and you should think twice before using it and especially make sure it is the type that goes well with your lipstick and rouge. There are many new colored enamels which I have neglected to mention for the simple reason that where one woman will care for nails that match her frocks, 10,000 will want them natural or delicately red.

Drive Against Tuberculosis Opens April 1

Announcement was made Saturday by the Social Committee of the Escanaba Woman's Club, that a campaign specifically addressed to tuberculosis among youths will begin April 1 and continue throughout the month. It will be accomplished by posters and the distribution of pamphlets at meetings and in schools. "Most people think tuberculosis has ceased to be one of the major health problems," reads the statement of the committee whose members are Mrs. W. P. Belanger, Mrs. O. W. Gustafson and Mrs. M. E. Main. "But as a matter of fact this disease is still the leading cause of death in the first decade of maturity, that is from 15 to 25 years." "The slogan for the campaign is: Tuberculosis—the Poe of Youth. An effort will be made during the month of April to make known the fact that boys and girls, leaders in athletics and scholarship, have been discovered in active high school work, apparently in good health, but actually with tuberculosis smoldering within them soon to break into flame. Modern scientific progress has brought with it the tuberculin test and the X-ray, with which such cases can be discovered in time to check the disease. Deaths among young women of this age are about one-third more than among young men of similar age. These deaths are preventable." Postal savings in Japan are increasing at the rate of $25,000,000 a month.

Garden Boy In Cast of Noted World War Film

When the 1930 prize film, "All Quiet on the Western Front," is played here in Escanaba, not many of the crowds that witnessed it knew that playing the part of one of the ill-fated German students, was Arthur Goldberg, oldest son of Mr. S. H. Goldberg, proprietor of the Bay View Hotel at Garden. Arthur graduated from Mariette high school in 1927 and after working in Chicago for a year decided to try his luck, as so many other thousands of youngsters have, in the motion picture industry. After struggling in the extra ranks of Hollywood for seven or eight months, Arthur was one of the fortunate boys who were chosen to re-enact the hardships of Erich Remarque's soldiers in the widely read book. The filming of the picture was one of the most interesting and also one of the most dangerous tasks ever undertaken by a studio. The company traveled all over the state of California "shooting" location scenes, and were camped on a 15,000 acre ranch for three months getting the stupendous battle scenes, in which real explosives and dynamite were used. Arthur's next picture is to be a little easier on the nerves, being a college story entitled "Confessions of a Co-ed." Upon the completion of this he is expected home for the graduation of his brother, George, and sister, Marion, from the Garden high school. Cotton exports from Peru are nearly 50 per cent greater than a year ago.

Schoolcraft-Alger Tract Famous as a Deer Yard

Although funds have been released by the state administrative board for the purchase of 32,000 acres in Alger and Schoolcraft counties forming what is known as the Casino game refuge, active steps toward placing the area under administration will probably not be taken until next summer.

Last fall, before actual purchase had been completed some road and bridge work was done to make the area more accessible to fire fighters. However, it has not been definitely determined just where the refuge boundaries will be located so as to divide the portion in which wild life will be protected from the surrounding public hunting grounds.

Installation of a keeper, the surveying of a refuge boundary, stringing of a strand of wire, posting of signs and construction of roads and fire lines, will be necessary before the refuge is under standard administration.

Area is Mapped.

The Casino district was mapped in detail over a year ago so the game division of the conservation department has accurate information as to the timber, swamp, cut over and burned over areas, distribution and abundance of deer and other necessary data.

Each winter the Casino area carries one of the largest concentration of deer known in any like area in the upper peninsula and it is known that the available natural food supplies will be ample to maintain excellent "yarding" facilities for many more deer.

The primary purpose in securing this large deer yard was to prevent close cutting of the timber and the consequent lowering of the capacity of the "yard" to take care of wintering deer.

Casino Rates High.

Four principal questions, the game division reports, should be answered before the state spends large funds in acquiring deer yards:

1. Does the area actually carry many deer during an average winter?

2. If this area is cut or burned are there neighboring cedar swamps where the deer can readily be accommodated?

3. Is the area in actual danger of heavy cutting or other damage, as from fire?

4. Can the necessary lands and timber be secured at reasonable cost as to let the "yard" become the heart of a game refuge surrounded by a generously wide zone of public hunting ground?

In these specifications the game division has reported to the conservation commission that the Casino area receives a higher rating than any of the many "yards" so far examined.

American Railroads Have Real Problems

Indications that the traffic situation which confronts the American railroads is more serious than even the worst calamity howlers have declared, were found by John T. Flynn in a survey which he has made for Collier's Weekly.

"Most people will be surprised," Mr. Flynn suggests, "when they are told that out of every ten persons who travel in this travel-crazy age, only one travels on a railroad train."

Railroad freight traffic, Mr. Flynn shows, was 6,000,000 cars less than in 1929. Railroad gross revenue was $600,000,000 lower. The rate of return on property investment was only 3.41 per cent.

What has become of all this railroad traffic which the roads have been losing? Mr. Flynn analyzes the situation as follows:

Citizens Records

"Back in 1926 roads took care of 47,250,000,000 passenger miles in 1927 they took care of 31,250,000,000 passenger miles. That's over a third of their passenger business. Where has this passenger traffic gone? The buses have not gotten, in long hauls, more than 2,500,000,000 passenger miles. In other words, at the most they have gained about one-sixth what the railroads have lost."

"What has become of the other five-sixths? There is only one answer. It is the private automobile. There are 24,000,000 private automobiles in the United States. If each car in a year traveled 520 miles with a single passenger in it outside its ordinary town driving, the loss in railroad travel could be accounted for."

"What can the railroads do about this? They demanded that automobile buses be brought under regulation by the interstate commerce commission just as the railroads are. But it is pretty obvious that even if the railroads were to eliminate all the passenger buses—they would not have reached the real cause of their loss of traffic."

There, real, effective foe is the private car. It is not a common carrier. It cannot be regulated by the interstate commerce commission. There is almost no way of reaching it with regulation which will drive motor car users off the public highways and into the passenger coaches of railroad trains. The problem is a baffling one.

Shippers Own Trucks

"All this has to do with passenger traffic. Competition between railroads and trucks for freight traffic is something entirely different. Eighty-two per cent of all trucks are owned by shippers—manufacturers and merchants—who use them entirely to transport their own goods. Another 11 per cent belong to contractors who hire their vehicles out to shippers. Thus 93 out of every 100 trucks cannot be considered as common carriers and cannot be regulated by the interstate commerce commission. Nevertheless these trucks take enormous amounts of freight away from the railroads. For 40 years railroad traffic had been increasing around 50 per cent of every decade. From 1920 to 1930 it increased only eight per cent. This is not because there was a smaller increase in traffic. Quite the contrary. But more than 90 per cent of the increase went to trucks and other forms of transportation. It is difficult to estimate how large this freight traffic carried by trucks is."

"It is not easy to say what the railroads can accomplish against the truck. However, there is an incessant campaign in progress in most states to regulate speed to 35 miles an hour, to limit loads, to increase taxes and to compel owners to conform to more rigid rules in treatment of employees."

"Possibly the roads may accomplish more in their war upon the government built and supported waterways. Professor Ripley calculates the cost of handling freight on waterways at 10.55 cents per ton mile and the government charges at 4.23 cents per ton mile."

JUNIORS WIN TO COP HI-Y MEET

Freshmen Defeated in Finals; Sophs Shade Eighth Graders

The juniors demonstrated their victory in the interschool basketball league was no fluke when they defeated the freshmen in the finals of the Hi-Y conference tournament before a fairly large crowd of students Friday afternoon, 2:15. On Wednesday evening the same teams battled for the championship of the league in a preliminary game to the faculty contests with the juniors copping the honors over their less experienced opponents. By virtue of winning the Hi-Y tournament, the juniors merit the honor of having their name inscribed on a banner which is displayed in the library. The juniors eliminated the seniors in a preliminary game Thursday afternoon, while the freshmen put the skids under the sophomores.

The junior-freshman game was nothing to write home about as the juniors far outclassed their lighter opponents right from the start. Coach Olson inserted his second stringers during the first half and they piled up a comfortable lead for the first team to work on in the last half. Mike Burr, of the freshmen team, was the outstanding star of the game with his clever dribbling and general aggressiveness.

Final Finish

In the consolation game, the eighth graders, substituted for the seniors who did not wish to be further humiliated. John Kelly's grade school lads put up a game fight against the heavy sophomore five in a contest which was far more exciting than the main event. Outlasting their more experienced opponents during the first three quarters of the game, back and turned the tables on the Giants, winning two games. They lost the match in total pins, however, with 27 less maps, the score:

WILL OBSERVE PASSION WEEK

Ministerial Ass'n Will Sponsor Services At Baptist Church

Passion week services will be held this week in the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Manistique Ministerial Association. These services will begin each evening promptly at 7:30 with the following pastors as the speakers:

Monday evening, Rev. P. L. Lomas, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Tuesday evening, Rev. Elmgren of the Swedish Baptist church.

Wednesday evening, Rev. Erickson of the Free Methodist church.

Thursday evening, Rev. Joseph Gross of the First Baptist church.

It is hoped that the public will avail themselves of the opportunity provided by the Ministerial association to enjoy this week of services and plan on being present every evening during the series.

On Friday the annual three hours service will be held in the same church beginning at noon and continuing until three o'clock. This service is sponsored by the ministerial association and the same order of service will be followed which has been used in previous years. The association feels that this is the week when the church of the city ought to rally their forces, and hold the most inspirational and spiritual gatherings which have ever been held in the city.

The association expects that every church member will prove his or her loyalty to the church, the community, the association and to the Master, Jesus Christ. Himself by letting nothing prevent attendance at each of these services. Today is Palm Sunday tomorrow the first service begins at 7:30. Place, the First Baptist church.

Elk Bowlers Have Tough Week of It

Bowlers in the Elks league found the going pretty tough during the week, with only two scores over the two hundred mark registered. This is very unusual and to Ben Hudson goes the honor of high score with his 232. Ben started out with six strikes in a row, but ran into difficulty on his other frames. Vic Remell came through with the other 200 game and hit the 1-3 pocket consistently for an average of 194.

Mr. Tucker Maroons and Creighton's Cubs are tied for first honors while Lida's Pirates and Tom Bolitho's Cubs are sharing second position. The other eight teams in the league are on about even terms; only two are separating themselves. With the schedule for the second half on the closing lap, another close and interesting race is forecast.

Hill in Lead

Southard and Graphos were the only other trundlers that got averages above their usual scores, otherwise it was a dull session for the members.

Jack Quick relinquished sharing top position in the individual standing and today's list finds Art Hill undisputed. Quick is now tied with Grandpa Remell for second position with Hine-Weber next in line.

The schedule for the week is as follows:

Sunday, Pirates vs. Browns.
Monday, Yanks vs. Paper Makers.

Tuesday, Lions vs. Maroons.
Wednesday, Tickers vs. Cubs.
Friday, Rexalls vs. Bear Cats.
Saturday, Cardinals vs. Giants.

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Maroons	10	5	.667
Cubs	10	5	.667
Rexalls	8	4	.533
Pirates	8	4	.667

Paper Makers	7	8	.467

Plants Funeral

Garden, Mich., March 28. (Special.)—The funeral of the late Theophile Plante was held Monday morning from St. John the Baptist church, with Rev. Fr. Savageau officiating.

Mr. Plante was well known and greatly respected in the Garden district, having lived here for a period of nearly a quarter of a century, during which time he was employed by the Van's Harbor Lumber Co. Just a little prior to the closing of the mill here, Mr. Plante purchased a farm just outside of the village of Cooks.

For over twenty years he made his home there, operating the farm. For some years past, he has been gradually curtailing his farming activities and last fall he and his wife decided to quit farming altogether and accordingly they advertised their farm for sale and a few days before Christmas returned to Garden, intending to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. John Lalonde. In spite of their advanced years and the chances already made, Mr. Plante could not resign himself to a life of inactivity and often expressed the hope that in the coming spring he would be able to return to his former home at Cooks and take care of the needs of his wife and himself. Had he lived fourteen hours longer, he would have seen his eighty-second birthday.

Deceased was born at St. Barthelemy, Quebec, Canada, March 21, 1849. At the age of twelve years, he moved with his parents to St. Gabriel, P. Q., Canada. He was united in matrimony to Denise Lemire but death took the young bride within four months of her marriage.

On July 8th, 1873, he was again married, this time to Miss Philamine Brull, by whom he is survived; the ceremony taking place at St. Cuthbert, Quebec. Ten years later Mr. and Mrs. Plante moved to the Garden district, where they have resided ever since.

Out of town relatives and friends present at the funeral here included Peter LeClair, Gladstone, Mrs. Ed Bouchard, Nahma; Mrs. John Coghlin, Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Delora DeLoria, Gladstone, and Mrs. Al-

City Administration
Declares Its Policy
On Municipal Work

Announcement of the policy that will be followed by the city administration with regard to the making of municipal improvements during Gladstone's industrial expansion was made by Mayor Claude E. Hawkins yesterday.

The announcement follows: "In order that our citizens may receive the full economic benefits of a controlled growth of the community as far as possible during the city's industrial expansion and for the protection of prospective home-owners, it has been deemed necessary and advisable by the city commission to make the following announcement: 'The aim of the city government shall be to develop first the large unoccupied area within the corporate limits, particularly those sections of land beneath the bluff area in the original and first additions. Development in other sections will follow in logical order, where construction actually warrants it.'

The easiest job ever offered extra players in Hollywood came to a group of 200, used in 'Chuck' Riesner's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, 'Reducing,' co-starring Mario Dressler and Polly Moran, which will be shown at the Rialto Theatre.

Usually the lot of the extra is not easy. In costume pictures such as 'The Great Meadow,' period of 1776, he has to be fitted to costumes, wear wigs and put on an elaborate makeup which takes a long time to prepare. In Cecil B. De Mille's 'Madam Satan' scores of extras made jumps in parachutes from a falling Zepplin. In 'John Gilbert's 'Way for a Sailor,' being soaked to the skin in a rainstorm was just part of the day's work.

War Against Crime

Grand Rapids (AP)—A week's vacation with pay and a personal citation for the capture dead or alive by uniformed policemen of a bandit or burglar—that is the system invoked by A. A. Carroll, superintendent of police here, in meeting a crime wave in the city early this winter.

To date one robber has been killed, five wounded, 11 captured, all burglaries and holdups confessed and as many more believed to have been solved by the captures. Six uniformed policemen have received the reward, one of them twice.

The most recent award was to Patrolman Arthur Sakkers and Ivan Haynes, who killed one burglar and wounded two others during a pistol battle with the gunmen who were attempting to rob the safe of a church here. Patrolman Thomas McGavin has the distinction of receiving the reward twice—the only man here to do so—both times for capturing burglars and solving numerous crimes. Others are Patrolmen George Church, Emil Roettgers and Lloyd Figley.

Head Michigan Committee
For "Army Day" April 6

T. J. Sheavor, general chairman, upper left; Governor Wilbert M. Brucker, honorary chairman, upper right; Major General Frank Parker, honorary vice chairman, lower left; Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, honorary vice chairman, lower right.

Governor Wilber M. Brucker, on Saturday, March 28, issued a proclamation designating Monday, April 6, as Army Day, on which tribute will be paid to the services "the army of the United States has rendered to the nation during the 155 years of its existence."

ARMY DAY PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS, Monday, April sixth, has been designated as Army Day, upon which occasion Americans will pay a well-earned tribute to the past and present services which the Army of the United States has rendered to the Nation during the one hundred and fifty-five years of its existence; and

WHEREAS, This day will be observed by the men, who, in times of peril, have responded to the call to arms and who stand ready at all times to defend, with their lives if necessary, the ideals and institutions of this great country; and

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that I, Wilbert M. Brucker, Governor of the State of Michigan, in virtue of the authority vested in me by law, do designate Monday, April 6, 1931, as "Army Day," and urge that our interest in and appreciation of the loyal services of the Army of the United States be demonstrated by a display of the National Colors and that appropriate exercises be held at which discussion and appreciation may be had of the need of our country for an Army capable of meeting its grave responsibilities in the event of war and adequate to the important uses it serves in time of peace.

GIVEN under my hand and seal of the State of Michigan, this twenty-eighth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one.
WILBERT M. BRUCKER,
Governor of the State of Michigan.

This team won something like fifteen games in a row that summer, taking on sweet-running aggregations from such towns as Gladstone, Escanaba, Sault Ste. Marie, Ishpeming, and Marquette. Talking with old-time fans in and about the Rapid River district, one hears interesting bits about the different members of the club. Harry Raach, for instance, was a consistent batter of single base hits. He was fast on his feet, and he worked always for the good of the team rather than for individual glory. Fred Gravelle was another man who considered his team first—and let the grandstand acclaim whom it would. Speaking of Gravelle, brings up a story told by a fan. It seems that Fred, though an even-tempered and agreeable fellow, was not disposed to suffer his being shoved about deliberately by the fans and ball players of other towns. One day while the Rapid River team was playing in a nearby city, one of the opposing outfit undertook to light on Fred about something. It made Fred mad. He started after the loud-mouthed one. Tried to catch him but couldn't. Chased him out of the grounds. The next day there was a piece in the paper about it—making a "home run."

Street Cars To Stay
Marquette — Current rumors to the effect that the Marquette city railway company is about to go out of business are not warranted by facts, it was declared yesterday by directors of the company. There is no intention at present, they asserted, of discontinuing operations.

Earnings of the company for March to date, it was pointed out, have not been discouraging. The number of passengers carried on the street cars has decreased, but because of the fare increase, which was put into effect, March 5, the March earnings have been equal to those in January.

Held for Homicide
Ishpeming — Joseph Gagliardi, Ishpeming, driver of the car which caused fatal injuries to George C. Hubbard Sunday evening at six o'clock on East Division street, was charged with negligent homicide yesterday morning in municipal court, the charge being preferred by Marshal W. H. Trowarow on the recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Clarence E. Lott.

Richardson Honored
Houghton — Guy A. Richardson, former superintendent of the Houghton County Traction Co., was recently installed as president of the Union League club in Chicago. Mr. Richardson is vice president and general manager of the Chicago Surface Lines. He left here in 1910 to become superintendent of transportation in Seattle, Wash., and before going to Chicago he held a similar position in Philadelphia.

Justice Violated
Bessemer — A Justice of the peace found another Justice of the peace guilty of a violation of the conservation law yesterday afternoon in justice court in Bessemer. The violation was the third for the respondent, Justice Louis K. Goldman of Marquette township, according to the local conservation officers. The hearing was conducted by Justice Levi S. Rice.

Charges Dropped
Sault Ste. Marie — Complaints against Joseph Kisinski and Joseph Kisinski, Jr., of the Albany Island road, charging involuntary manslaughter, were withdrawn this morning when a report from the state laboratory at Lansing stated that the samples of whiskey alleged to have been sold to Harold Goetz of DeTour, who died two days later, contained "no poison."

Marquette Man Hurt
Ishpeming — Percy Cook, of Marquette, is in the Ishpeming hospital with a slight concussion of the brain as the result of an automobile accident yesterday morning on M-28 near the Greenwood mine junction with the main highway. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were driving west when their car collided with the Marquette county road commission's station wagon, which was traveling east. The cars were only lightly damaged. Mrs. Cook escaped with minor cuts and bruises, but her husband, who was driving, was painfully injured. The accident occurred about 10:30 a. m. and Mr. Cook was rushed to the hospital. Last evening it was reported that his condition was not considered serious.

Bevenocs Play Republic Here This Afternoon

LAST GAME FOR LOCAL QUINTET

Rock Spartans to Meet Whiz Bangs in Preliminary Tussle

Making their last appearance of the season here, before the tournament, the Escanaba Bevenocs will oppose the Republic Red Devils at the Coliseum gymnasium this afternoon. The Rock Spartans and Whiz Bangs will play the preliminary game. The first game will start at 2 o'clock.

The Republic-Bevenoc game is expected to be a battle royal with two of the leading peninsula aggregations meeting in a match that promises to be a vital factor in settling the peninsula championship. The Red Devils have a string of 31 victories with three defeats compared to 28 victories and three defeats for the Bevenocs.

Manager Byrns of the Bevenocs feels that the Red Devils is the only team standing in the way of the Bevenocs for the mythical championship and he indicates that if the Escanaba team take the measure of the Republic team that the Bevenocs will lay claim to the title. They contend that they will be able to produce a season's record far superior to the record of any other peninsula aggregation. Manager Hoeking of Republic also has not made any secrets of his intention to claiming the crown if the Red Devils upset the Bevenocs.

Ernie Johanson, captain of the Bevs, will be absent from the lineup today and his place will be occupied by either Byrns, Lapinski, or Schleier. The latter is a newly acquired addition to the Bevenocs. From all indications the Bevenocs will take the floor as follows: Monte, center; Ray Warner and Byrns, forwards; Shirley Warner and Drazt, guards. The Republic outfit will include the Sullivan brothers, Messner, Gustafson, and Turri Lindstrom.

In the preliminary the Rock Spartans bid to put the skids under the Whiz Bangs. The Spartans have recently acquired Kaukola and Rabindeu, two stars of the Little Giants basketball team, and the addition of these two boys stamps the Spartans as one of the outstanding teams in Class B.

St. Louis will handle the whistle. Press Want Ads Cost Little, Accomplish Much.

COACHES URGE UNIFORM RULES

Basketball Officiating Varies in Different Parts of Country

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. (Asst. Press Sports Writer)

New York, Mar. 28 (AP)—An urgent appeal to the rules committee to devise some means to assure uniform officiating throughout the country was voiced today by the National Association of Basketball Coaches at its final session.

After prolonged debate, during which the east accused the west of sponsoring rough play and the west declared the east had originated the "block," it was decided to pass the buck to the rules body at its meeting here next month.

It was suggested, among other things, that the rules committee get out a moving picture of a model basketball game to be shown to coaches, officials and players in every section. Another scheme called for the manufacturers of sporting goods to send a crack set of officials throughout the land to lecture and demonstrate the proper method of calling a game.

"As matters stand now," Coach Keogan of Notre Dame, "it is necessary for a coach to teach his team a different style of game for every section in which he plays. That is expecting a little too much."

Coach A. A. Schabinger of Crediton university was unanimously elected president of the association for the next year. Vice presidents named were H. G. Olsen, Ohio State; Roy Mundorf, Georgia Tech; H. B. Ortner, Cornell, and A. C. Lomborg, Northwestern.

The rules committee also was petitioned to do something toward defining the legitimate "block," such as placing diagrams in the next rule book to show what constitutes a legal play of that kind. The assembled mentors were almost unanimous in condemning the "block," yet voted, demanded by Dr. F. C. Allen of the University of Kansas, disclosed that about 98 per cent of those present have been teaching their players to use it, in "self defense," they said.

Radical Proposal
The most radical proposal for the improvement of the game was sponsored by Oswald Tower, editor of basketball guide. He suggested that the number of free throws be reduced by permitting them only when a player is fouled when actually in possession of the ball. In all other cases, he said, the fouled team would be given possession where the offense occurred and a foul charged to the offending player.

The researchers likewise were asked to consider Dr. Allen's proposal that the basket be boosted to 12 feet, two feet higher than the present standard. The Kansas member declared he had found the higher hoop a great improvement. While the percentage of field goals is just as high, he said, the present advantage of the tall player is reduced.

Marquette Bowlers Cop Lead in U. P. Tourney

Two Marquette teams took the alleys at Gladstone yesterday to compete in the Upper Peninsula Bowling Tournament and when they left they had displaced Gladstone as leaders in the team events, and members of the squads were leading in the doubles and singles events.

The Buckeyes' score of Friday evening didn't stand a chance, the Texasos topping it by nearly 300 pins, chalking up a mark of 2541 while Spear's Fast Deliveries garnered 2457, and possison of second place.

G. Yshinski and C. King, of the Texasos, rolling in the doubles, were in first place last night with a score of 1022, while P. Anderson of the Spear's crew was first in the singles column, garnering 553. G. Yshinski was high in all events with a mark of 1578.

This afternoon the Wadhams' 370's and the Northern Lights, also of Marquette, will take the alleys for their whirl at the maple setups. Local fans are awaiting with interest the appearance of the 370's because of their remarkable record of 3246 hung up on the Marquette

Ban Johnson Dies Just 16 Hours After Barnard

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Chicago, Mar. 28 (AP)—Two of baseball's greatest leaders, Bryan Bancroft Johnson and Ernest Sargent Barnard, have marched on to eternity within less than 16 hours of each other.

The end of the trail came at last for these powerful forces of the American league by a dramatic coincidence between the hours of darkness last night and shortly after dawn today.

Barnard, president of the league, succumbed unexpectedly at 4:50 o'clock yesterday, after-noon in a hospital at Rochester, Minn.; Johnson, founder of the organization passed on at 8:10 a. m. in a St. Louis hospital today just as newsboys in St. Louis shouted news of the death of the man who had succeeded him as president of the American league.

The Nut Cracker
BY JOE O'GOFFTY (Former Big League Pitcher)
Havana, Cuba—I am sponsoring a movement to have the world series played here in what I have nicknamed "The Pearl of the Antilles."
I came down here with the Dashing Dodgers for the famous spring brewery series. I have found out why they call them Dodgers; ever since the squad arrived, the boys have been dodging Uncle Robbie. You see there is a bewitch within a stone's throw of the ball park, though nobody has been throwing stones at it.

The Robins actually have been running bases intelligently the last few days, which is a strange change from the usual order of things. In the last three days I have not seen more than two Robins on one base at a time, whereas in the regular playing season, I have often counted as many as four on a base on several occasions. Maybe the climate down here has taken away the Dodgers' natural dizziness, or something.

Uncle Robbie took his flock one side a day or so ago and gave them a little lecture on this and that. He said, among other things, that it was very pleasant to him to hear base hits popping, but he was not particular about being kept awake all night by the sound of corks popping.
"Too many hops Indians make it bad for a guy trying to guess the hops one of these here new lively baseball is likely to take on a ball diamond," was the gist of his remarks.

This is a great spot to train a team, however. Enthusiasm has been foaming ever since the Dodgers arrived.

Chuck Klein Says He Wants $15,000 Or He Won't Play

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28 (AP)—Over the crash of pins in the bowling alleys where he is employed here, Chuck Klein today reiterated that the Philadelphia Nationals will have to meet his salary demand or do without his services this summer.
Klein has been holding out for a one-year contract at $15,000. The Phillies are said to have offered $12,000.
"I'll stick and get it or I will stay here and work in the bowling alleys all summer," Klein said.
Klein said he probably would go to Philadelphia early next week for a conference with club officials.

Dazy Vance Offers Compromise System

Miami, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Dazy Vance, crack right handed pitcher of the Brooklyn Robins, said today he would sign a contract if the club would give him $24,000 for the 1931 season. Vance has been holding out for $25,000 and the club has countered with an offer of $23,000.

The Northern Lights is also a powerful aggregation of pin busters, boasting in their lineup one "Bud" Johnson who last year rolled two perfect games within a month. If this team is in form a real exhibition is looked for.

Thoroughbreds Set For Opening Monday

Baltimore, March 28 (AP)—Some 1700 thoroughbreds were ready to go for the opening Monday of the eastern racing season at the Bowie track, in southern Maryland.
The season opens a day earlier than originally scheduled because of the addition of one day each by the four major Maryland tracks, the managements of which agreed to turn over one day's proceeds to a Baltimore unemployment relief fund.

The state is to waive collection of its usual $5,000 fee for the charity days and at Bowie the mutual employes plan to contribute half or more of their wages.
A number of horsemen also have indicated they will contribute a portion of the purses won.
The regular Bowie meeting gets under way Tuesday with the Inaugural Handicap, $5,000 added, seven furlongs special, as the feature race. The stakes has attracted nominations of more than a score of sprinters. The meeting will continue through Saturday, April 11.

The Havre De Grace 12 day meeting opens April 13, and following this the Pimlico 12 day season opens April 22 to continue through May 9. Laurel has only a fall meeting.
Approximately 1,300 thoroughbreds were at the Bowie track, today, and 400 others were within vanning distance.

Marjorie Sachs Wins Tennis Title

Brookline, Mass., March 28 (AP)—Marjorie Sachs, youthful Harvard professor's daughter, upset the favored Sarah Palfrey of Brookline to win the national women's indoor singles tennis title today in straight sets, 6-3, 9-7.
Miss Palfrey, ranked No. 8 nationally and top seeded in this tournament, owed her defeat chiefly to the forceful southpaw forehand of her opponent, who was not among the eight seeded players at the start of the tournament.
The most famous of the five Palfrey sisters gained some consolation by again winning the indoor doubles title in partnership with Mrs. George W. Wightman of Brookline and also winning the mixed doubles with Lawrence B. Rice of Newton as her partner, by scores of 7-5, 6-4 and 6-4, respectively.

Kaye Don Postpones Assault On Record

Parana De Las Palmas, Argentine, March 28 (AP)—Kaye Don, the British racer, today was obliged to postpone another assault on the world's speedboat record when for the second time the water circulation system of his boat, Miss England II, failed.
Water was forced through the pipes of the 4,000 horsepower motor until it got so hot that aluminum parts melted and for a time it seemed the craft would catch fire.
The aluminum parts now are to be replaced by steel and the work is being rushed so the craft will be ready by Tuesday.

Coach Will Attend Meeting at Detroit

Coach William Puckelwartz of the Escanaba high school will leave this week for Detroit, where he will attend the annual convention of the American Physical Education Association, which will have its sessions at the Book-Cadillac hotel, April 1 to 4. He will be accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Puckelwartz.
Louis Kupieck of Chicago, who has been visiting at the Puckelwartz home the past week, will also attend the convention. Mr. Kupieck is a graduate of the physical education department of the University of Michigan.

ESCANABA DeMOLAYS Beaten by Spartans

Rock, Mich., March 27 (Special)—The Rock Spartans, considerably strengthened by late high school recruits, swept away with a 42 to 24 victory over the strong DeMolay outfit of Escanaba at the local gym tonight.
The game was very fast and clean throughout and the fans were treated to plenty of action. Johnson, of the DeMolays, was high point man with eleven points.
Every member of the Spartan outfit broke into the scoring, Rabindeu and Kaukola, former Little Giant stars, played their first game under Spartan colors and acquitted themselves in great style. Kaukola was tied with Larson for Spartan high scoring with eight points.

“SEZ ME” by Ken Gunderman

William Puckelwartz, present coach of the Eskimos athletic teams, will occupy a position as director of physical education in the Escanaba schools next year, it was learned yesterday and a man not yet selected will coach the Escanaba high school athletic teams. With the opening of the new junior high school, an extensive physical training department becomes necessary and the expansion of the athletic system to thorough training in the grades marks a step forward in the promotion of Escanaba athletics.

Rumors that gained a wide circle in the city yesterday that Joe Gembs, former Michigan fullback, has been visiting in the city during the week for the purpose of "getting lined up" for the coaching job that will be open next season, were proven false. The man identified as Gembs is Lewis Kupieck, a friend of Coach Puckelwartz. The two men will attend a physical training convention at Detroit on April 1-4.

There has been no man selected to coach the Eskimos athletic teams next year and there has been no indication who are being considered for the position. It is understood, however, that applications are being received by the school board and than an official announcement can be expected soon.

Jones Will Play In Charity Match

Agua Caliente, Mexico, March 28 (AP)—Bobby Jones will be given his first public chance to practice what his motion picture series will preach when he teams with Leo Diegel tomorrow here in an 18 hole match with George von Elm, Los Angeles and Mortie Dutra, Long Beach, Cal., for charity.
It will be the first meeting of Von Elm and Jones since they left the ranks of the amateurs. Since that time, appearing as "business man" golfer, self-styled, Von Elm has won considerable money including half of the first and second cash prizes here in the $25,000 open last January when he tied with Johnny Golden.
Von Elm defeated Jones in the national amateur championship in 1926 at Short Hills, N. J., 2 and 1.
One fourth of the money will go to Atlanta, Ga., charity, one fourth to San Diego charity, and the remainder to Mexican charity in Tia Juana and Mexico, both in Lower California.

Typhoon Captures Junior Handicap

St. Johns' Park, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The Harned brothers' six year old Typhoon easily won the Junior League Handicap, feature of the closing day's program here today. Seven leading members of the handicap division went to the post in this mile and one-sixteenth hunt but Typhoon was much the best. The elderly son of Thunder Storm drew away in the final furlong to win by two lengths from Lahor which was another length and a half in front of Belgian Lass. The winner, favored in the betting, paid $5.60 for $2 and ran the distance in 2:14 flat.

COX CAPTURES GOLF TOURNEY

Brooklyn Professional Defeats Turnesa—in Playoff for Title
BY DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer)
Pinehurst, N. C., March 28 (AP)—W. W. Wiffy, good natured and blonde haired marksman from Brooklyn, today won the twenty-ninth annual North and South 72 hole open golf championship by downing Joe Turnesa. Elmford, N. Y., in a playoff after the pair had finished the regular stretch tied at 258.
It was the first big victory Cox had ever scored. Just a month ago Cox and Turnesa tied for first place in the Jacksonville, Fla., open but did not play off for the title. Cox also paired with Willie MacFarlane to win the international four-ball event at Miami a week ago.
Wiffy, two strokes out of the lead after 54 holes of play, shot fine and steady golf today for a 71 which allowed him to overtake Turnesa, leader at 36 and 54 holes, as Joe required a 73 today.
The victors decided to split nine holes for the title, and split the first and second prize money totaling $2,500.
In contrast with the fair weather of the morning, a drenching rain started soon after the extra nine holes began and the last seven were played in the downpour.
Not until the ninth did Cox clinch his victory with a birdie after holding an eight foot putt.
The closing round was as spectacular and exciting as any in the history of the famous old North and South tournament with four players—Turnesa, Cox, Bobby Cruikshank and Billy Burke—fighting for the lead all the way after the turn was reached.

Sharkey Offered $50,000 to Fight Tuffy Griffiths

Chicago, March 28 (AP)—Jack Sharkey, Boston's heavyweight contender, today was offered $50,000 for a 10 round bout with Tuffy Griffiths of Sioux City, Iowa, in the Chicago Stadium sometime in May. While he did not refuse the bid, Sharkey said he considered the fight worth $75,000.
During a conference with matchmaker Nat Lewis this afternoon, Sharkey said he was willing to engage in three fights for the stadium, two outdoors, including one with Tommy Loughran. Sharkey also agreed to meet anyone else Lewis might select, including Mickey Walker, Vittorio Campolo and Primo Carnera. The hitch was in the financial arrangements, the ex-gold demanding $75,000 for each appearance.

Records Fall at Relays in Texas

Houston, Tex., March 28 (AP)—Six university and college records, four for individual performance, fell today in the fifth running of the Rice Institute relays.
Hugh Rhee, stocky Nebraska football player, heaved the shot 50 feet, 10 inches—four feet, nine inches, better than the old record, established in 1927.
John Hass of Minnesota bettered the 1928 record of Claude Bracey of Rice, in the 100-yard dash, trying it off in 9.6, extraordinarily good time, considering the hostile wind. Bracey held a record of 9.8.
Strong of the Southwestern State Teachers of Oklahoma bettered the high jump mark, reaching 6 feet, 3 1/4 inches. Brunk of Drake did 6 feet, 3 inches in 1928, the last previous year the relays were held here.

Iron Mountain Man Found Richest Mine

Iron Mountain, March 28 (AP)—A young man idly swung an axe about fifty years ago and the result was the Ludington mine, for a long time one of the richest in the Menominee range.

For that idly swung axe cut off the top of a hump of grass and exposed to the sun's rays shining Bessemer iron ore, one of the richest of that metal. The young man was John T. Spencer, still a resident of Iron Mountain, and a familiar figure on the Menominee range.

Spencer chipped off a piece of the shining metal and took it home. His father showed it to Tom Shields, a mining prospector, who went with the two Spencers to the spot where it was found. Turning over the sod, they found the metal everywhere gleaming back at them. The find was reported to George H. Stockbridge, in charge of operations in this district for the Fiesheim, Stephenson, Stockbridge, Carpenter interests of Menominee.

Stockbridge put a crew to work on a series of test pits. This satisfying him, a diamond drill was brought onto the property and rigged up about 100 feet from where the younger Spencer had found ore. It went down only 11 feet when it struck a ledge of rich Bessemer ore.

The Lumbermen's Mining company was formed and in the first summer, with the use of limited equipment, 150,000 tons of ore were removed. The price put at $7 a ton was soon boosted to $15.

Operations continued and expanded until a margin was made with the Chapin property, the mine being worked under that name up to the present under the ownership of the Oliver Iron Mining company.

All that Spencer got out of it was a job in the old Ludington.

The Filipino legislature passed 211 measures at its last session, the largest number since its foundation in 1916.

COMMUNICATIONS

DEATH PENALTY

Foster City, Mich. Annent the referendum relative to capital punishment to be voted upon at the forthcoming election. Permit me to voice my sentiment through the medium of your paper.

The matter of capital punishment or penal servitude is a mooted question as the individual conception of right and wrong differs so widely among people with the resultant effect that there is much existing today that should be clearly defined as evil yet how are we to decide.

The Mosaic Law declares a life for a life while the teachings of Christ is love and the return of good for evil.

Not to be unmindful of the commandment "Thou shalt not kill" there remains but one alternate—treat the criminal in such a way as will suit the individual case.

As is an established fact in all animate as well as inanimate nature each individual or being constitutes an intricate part of the psychologically called universal mind which in a religious sense is termed God and this great Master Mind has a code of laws any of which if violated he enacts a penalty and in my opinion it is not for us mortals to administer the penalty as regards capital punishment.

Therefore I would say that the best way to reform the criminal is by kindness and true Christian teaching except those who through heredity or otherwise have acquired a morbid desire to commit evil and those of such should be treated in accordance of their individual requirements at a public institution for that purpose.

BOUNTY SYSTEM

March 26, 1931.
Escanaba Daily Press,
Escanaba, Michigan.

Gentlemen:—

A short time ago one of your editions carried an article of a deer being killed at Newberry, and finally stating that perhaps some of these evils would be corrected if the State of Michigan returned to the bounty system.

May I call your attention to the fact that under the bounty system it cost the State of Michigan from $200,000.00 to $250,000.00 per year and under the state trappers system it is at present costing the state approximately $43,000.00 per year. From the dollars and cents proposition, I think this is worthy of a great deal of consideration and that the gospel to your readers of the great saving of dollars and cents being affected by our present trapping system as against bounty system, is just as worthy as that of criticism.

With kind regards,
Yours very truly,
U. P. LIVE STOCK ASS'N.,
Abbott M. Fox,
Secretary.
