

BORAH ASSAILS TAX INCREASES Only Angered Public Can Keep Appropriations Down, Senator Says

Washington, April 29 (AP)—A warning that the federal government is building up a bureaucracy which will demand permanent increases in expenditures and taxation unless stopped by "angry public opinion" was issued today by Senator Borah.

The Idaho Republican, in a prepared statement, said a large share of the blame should be placed on the executive branch of the government. He assailed what he called "an effort to put the sole blame on congress."

His statement was in reply to recent demands from President Hoover for reduced appropriations and the president's assertions no increase in taxation would be necessary if congress kept expenditures within the budget recommendations.

Expenditures Have Grown During the last 10 years, Borah said, congress has cut budget estimates by $14,996,996. "The fact is," he added, "that congress is constantly being besieged by the executive departments for much larger appropriations than congress is willing to grant."

Colorado School Boy Shares Spotlight in Washington With King

Washington, April 29 (AP)—A slender, fair-haired school boy from Colorado shared the attention of President Hoover today with the dark haired king of Siam.

Bryan Untied, 13 year old youngster whose heroism in the recent Colorado blizzard caused President Hoover to invite him to the White House for a visit of two days and a night, arrived in time today to witness the ceremonious reception of the king and queen of Siam.

The royal couple had dinner with the president, a formal affair, but Bryan had lunch with him, which was distinctly informal. The president called later on the king, but on the other hand the lad slept tonight in the blue bedroom where thousands of distinguished visitors to the executive mansion have rested. No king has ever slept there, but Lindbergh has.

WATER SERVICE LINES EXTENDED

Washington Av. Lots Must Be Connected Before Paving

With preparations under way for the paving of Washington avenue as a connecting link between US 2-41 and M35, the city of Escanaba is advising Washington avenue residents and property owners to get their water connections installed before work is started on the concrete street.

All property fronting on Washington avenue not supplied with water service at the present time, should have water connections put in within the next 30 days, city manager T. F. Kessler advises. Preliminary work for the water service extensions on the north side is now being done and the city is prepared to give quick service on the installations.

A number of lots between Twelfth and Fifteenth avenues, north, are without water service at the present time, and there are homes and vacant lots all along Washington avenue from Stephenson to Fifteenth avenue which are not using the service.

Applications for connections to the city system should be filed with the city manager at an early date so that all of the work will be out of the way for installation of the new pavement.

MOVEMENT GROWS

THE movement to establish daylight saving time this early summer instead of waiting for the official ushering in of eastern standard time in the fall appears to be spreading to all parts of the upper peninsula.

In this section, Manistiquette paved the way when the city council decreed that clocks should be advanced one hour on next Saturday night, May 2.

The entire copper country went on daylight saving time last Saturday, Chippewa county, because of its geographical location, has always been on this arrangement.

In Delta county, many folks in Escanaba and Gladwin are wondering what is going to be done, and indications are that the city fathers of both communities will be called upon to follow the example of the Manistiquette council.

C. M. T. C. POPULAR

FOR some reason or other, the Citizens' Military Training Camps are enjoying a wave of popularity throughout the country.

The eagerness on the part of boys to attend the summer camps has been particularly pronounced during the last two years.

The advantages of the military training camps have not been forcibly brought before the public's attention until of late due to the lack of organization.

Last year, Delta county had a quota of 15, which it almost trebled. All the boys who attended the camp at Fort Brady last summer hastened to apply for admittance as soon as this year's enrollment work was started.

Delta county boys are loud in praise of the treatment they received at Fort Brady last summer. The training they received there at the expense of the government is the equal to that for which they would have to pay considerable money at the ordinary boys' camps, which are operated for a profit.

HISTORICAL MARKERS

THE growth of interest in historical events and in marking historic and legendary spots has been rapid within recent years. The interest aroused has resulted in the erection of numerous markers by various organizations and individuals throughout the state.

A detailed summary of the accomplishments along that line in every county of the state. The magazine admits that "it has not been possible to investigate adequately the accuracy of the statements on any considerable number of markers."

The board of supervisors of any county in the state is hereby authorized to appropriate any sum not exceeding two hundred dollars in any one year, for the purpose of marking historical places in their respective counties.

Some of the counties of the Upper Peninsula have done their share in marking places of historical value. A monument in Alger county is a memorial to Russell A. Alger.

In Houghton county is a bronze statue in memory of Alexander Agassiz, "a man of science who developed a great mine and wrought the welfare of its people."

Every county in the Peninsula is rich in historical facts and legends that ought to be handed down to posterity. One of the ways to tap the vein of historical facts is to erect historical markers so that our own people, as well as visitors, may know where the Military Road wended its way.

BY DR. Obviously the person who suffers with hay fever should try, so far as possible, to stay indoors and to prevent the inhalation of pollens on days that are dry and hot.

HOLD-UP FOILED BY BANK EMPLOYEES' HEROISM

Heroism of Claude Owen, upper right, an assistant cashier, foiled an attempt to hold up the First National Bank of Southern Maryland at Upper Marlboro, Md. Opening fire on three bandits as they entered the bank, he killed one and wounded another. The screams of Louise Armstrong, lower right, a clerk, aroused persons in the neighborhood and led to a police chase in which the two bandits who escaped from the bank were captured. The bandits' car is shown above, abandoned in a ditch near Brown's Station, Md., after it had been stopped by bullets.

Lightning etched its signature on the body of LeRoy Outhouse, 9, above, when it struck a school near Madison, Wis., bowling over the lad and four companions who were playing in the yard. None was seriously hurt, but the bolt burned this peculiar lightning-like flash on the boy's body.

SCREEN NEWS FROM HAWAII

These two screen luminaries added to the brightness of the Hawaiian sun at famed Waikiki Beach. And the sun must have been hot, too, judging by the abbreviated swimming costume worn by George O'Brien, athletic film star, as he lent a helping hand to Phyllis Haver aboard a Hawaiian outrigger canoe.

GEORGIA PEACH

Hunt for Scientist in Arctic

With the coming of spring, a new search is under way for Professor Alfred Wegener, above, missing leader of the German expedition to Greenland for the study of geological and meteorological conditions, who has not been heard from since he disappeared into the frozen wastes last October. When he left the western coast, near Umanak, last September, he was carrying supplies to two scientists at a meteorological station in central Greenland, 250 miles inland, indicated by the cross on the above map. Professor Wegener also was exploring possibilities of an Arctic air route.

THEY'LL TAKE TOURISTS INTO THE ARCTIC

And now even the Arctic is going to have its tourist season! The first "travel cruise" into polar regions in history is scheduled to start from Archangel in July under the direction of the three noted Russian explorers pictured here. Right to left are Professor U. V. Viso, who will head the expedition; Professor O. J. Schmidt; and Professor R. L. Samoilovitch, who rescued the Nobil expedition in the Soviet ship Krasin. The upper photo shows the specially-shaped prow of the Russian ice-breaker Malgin, which will carry the tourists, as it slashed its way through Arctic ice on a previous voyage. Paying passengers from many countries will make the "pleasure trip" to remote frozen islands that once were hidden away from all but the most zealous explorers.

Dark Ages, Indeed

From the 14th to the 17th centuries, street vendors sold crude spectacles in the market places of Europe.

Out of the dark ages, optical science has emerged into the light of exact knowledge. Today the precise examination and correction of visual errors with Orthogen wide vision lenses supplant the antiquated methods of the past.

Garden, Mich., April 29 (Special)—Bert Healy, 46, Kates Bay farmer, was found dead in the barn on his farm last evening, apparently having been trampled to death by his horse.

His badly mangled body was found by members of the family when they returned to the farm about 8:30 p. m. after spending the afternoon visiting. Healy had been doing some "dragging" on his land during the afternoon, and it is supposed that the horse kicked him while he was unharnessed to the animal.

Mr. Healy is survived by his widow, three daughters and one son. A sister, Mrs. Lapine, lives in Masonville, and a brother resides in Texas. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Student Forestry Plots Pays Profits

Lake City, Mich. (AP)—A dividend-paying, student-planted forest is being attempted here by agricultural classes of the Lake City public schools. Nearly 15,000 trees were set in the 640 acre tract north of the city this spring, all of the work being done by the students.

A fourth of the trees planted each year are spruces. The others are pines. It is planned to market the spruce as Christmas trees after they have reached the proper size. Revenue from the sale of the trees not only will meet the expenses of the forest but will put some money into the school treasury, it is believed.

The pine trees of the forest are to be maintained as a reforestation project. The work is under the direction of E. A. Huston, superintendent.

Smoke a fresh cigarette

It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

CAMELS

Every CAMEL Package Now a Tiny Humidor

Switch over for just one day then quit Camels, if you can

All regular Camel smokers have noticed a significant change in the Camel package. Now their favorite cigarettes come air-sealed in moisture-proof Cellophane.

An improvement in appearance, true, but the reason for this change that cost $2,000,000 was not mere looks. It was done to protect the fine mild quality of Camels until they reach the smoker.

The best tobacco loses much of its rich flavor and aroma when its natural moisture content is lost through scorching or evaporation.

That's why we have made every Camel package a tiny humidor—so that you may always be sure of getting Camels in fresh mild condition.

Camels are wrapped only in moisture-proof Cellophane with an air-seal. Try a package today and revel in the luxury of a really fresh cigarette.

Factory-fresh Camels are air-sealed in the new Sanitary Package which keeps the dust and germs out and keeps the flavor in. It is peppery dust and harsh dry tobacco that are unkind to a smoker's throat.

We vacuum-clean away the dust and keep the natural moisture in by the exclusive Humidor Pack. Make the switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.

A Primer for Merchants

Lesson No. 2

WHAT is this man doing? This man is telling about his next sale. Did he not just have a sale? Yes, but he must stage another to clear his shelves. Will this sale be successful? Not particularly, for people do not realize what he is offering, his goods are not advertised in his daily paper by his manufacturers. Can he obtain this help? Nearly always—it is usually available.

WHAT is this man doing? He is cutting his selling costs. How can he do this? His manufacturers are advertising their goods in his own Home Town Newspaper where everyone will see them; his turnover is rapid. Are his sales successful? Yes, because people recognize advertised goods when they see them and are more impressed when they are specially priced.

Mr. Merchant: Here is a simple approach to an important problem—aid from your manufacturers in the form of proportionate advertising placed in your Own Home Newspaper. When manufacturers' representatives call to take your orders, make certain that you are receiving a just amount of advertising support, where everyone will see and read it. In this—your newspaper. This office will give you additional information.
