STEIN ACCUSED BY CHAUFFEUR

Vivian Gordon Killed to Pay Debt, Witness Tells Jury

New York, June 22 (AP)—A jury in a crowded Bronx courtroom heard today that Vivian Gordon, Broadway vice figure, was killed with a rope noose because of an ex-convict's desire to aid a friend to whom he was indebted.

From the state's star witness, Harry Schlitten, confessed driver of a car in which Vivian was strangled, came the sinister story of underworld intrigue.

Harry Stein, who with Samuel Greenberg is on trial for the murder, directed Schlitten, the latter testified to obtain and drive the car, saying "If I don't put a certain party out of the way, a friend of mine is going to end up in jail."

Subsequently, Schlitten related, Stein pointed to a newspaper photograph and said "Here is the party we done it for, Radeloff. x x x I owe him $1,000. x x x he defended me in a case."

Promised $2,000

The witness did not further identify "Radeloff" and gave no indication whether he was John A. Radeloff, Brooklyn lawyer, referred to in Miss Gordon's affidavit.

Schlitten then testified that he rented a sedan last February and acted as chauffeur while Stein and Greenberg throttled the life from Miss Gordon and then tossed her body into Van Cortlandt park.

"That awful cackle she made" and a mental picture of the death struggle which gave him sleepless nights partly impelled his confession to the police, Schlitten said.

For nearly four hours Schlitten was subjected to a blistering cross-examination by the defense, which was unfinished when court recessed.

He said he had been promised $1,000 to $2,000 by Stein for his work, but received only $125, part of which was realized from valuables taken from Miss Gordon.

STRIBLING HAS A DAY OF REST

Plays Golf, Then Watches Horse Races; Schmeling Looks Great

BY EDWARD J. NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer)
Geauga Lake, Ohio, June 22 (AP)—Resting from his labors, needing only enough ring work to put the final edge to almost perfect condition, Bill Stribling golfed today, betook himself to the horse park at Balnbridge, and fished the day 12 richer through acquaintance with a fairly good galloper in the fourth race.

Although the pride of Georgia still has a lengthy wait before the opening goes gives him a chance to win the world's heavyweight championship from Max Schmeling in the new Cleveland Municipal stadium the night of July 3, his chief problem now is to avoid over-training. His weight is down to 188 pounds, the fighting notch for the knockout conqueror of Otto Von Porat and Phil Scott and his chief worry is fear of going stale.

PAR THRASHES YANK GOLFERS

British Ryder Cup Players Encouraged by Performances

BY PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)
Scioto Club, Columbus, O., June 22 (AP)—Capt. Charles Whitcombe and his British Ryder cup mates grew encouraged again today as they watched a dozen American professionals struggle over the traps and narrow fairways of Scioto in their fight for the four remaining places on Capt. Walter Hagen's team.

After the first 35 holes of their 72 hole battle over the course, the Americans were so soundly thrashed by par that a three-over-par total of 145 strokes, turned in by Wiffy Cox of Brooklyn, was good enough to lead the qualifying procession. It was a miserable showing and the scores ranged as high as 155, the count turned in by Charles Hilgendorf of Detroit.

Golden Not Entered

More encouragement was received by his majesty's forces when Johnny Golden of New York, heretofore a hard customer for the Britons to take in Ryder cup play, failed to show up for the qualifying round. Golden gave no reason, but his friends said he wasn't exactly pleased that he was asked to qualify for the team for the first time.

One behind Cox in the somewhat pitiful showing today came Billy Burke of New York, who turned in cards of 75 and 71 for a 146 total. Three were deduced for third place with 149's—Joe Turnesa of New York, Denny Walsh of Chicago, Craig Wood and Ed Dudley came in with totals of 150. Henry Cuntel of Bridgeport, Conn., and Willie Klein of New York had 151's; Al Watrous scored 157; Olin Dutra, Los Angeles, tallies 157 with Hilgendorf bringing up the rear with his 158.

Kermit Sellsvold spent the week-end in Marinette.

MARKETS BOOM

New York, June 22 (AP)—A financial and business world, weary and dejected from the seemingly ordoal of hard times, was revitalized today.

Billions were added to security and commodity values in the great exchanges of the world, as President Hoover's proposal for dropping the heavy burden of war debts for one year was seized as the meatiest piece of good news in a long time.

Leaders in finance acknowledged that the news may not be digested as joyfully as it was deplored, but held high hopes that it might mark a turning point in a slow change.

In Wall street, in Berlin, London, Rome, Tokio, Shanghai, security and commodity prices leapt upward, and even in Paris, although that capital was somewhat cool toward the debt proposal.

44 Tour Planes At Crystal Falls; Rain Mars Journey

Crystal Falls, Mich., June 22 (AP)—The 44 planes of the third Michigan air tour rested here tonight after a flight from Menominee which was broken for an hour during the afternoon when bad weather forced down 37 of the ships at the Ford airport in Iron Mountain.

Low ceiling, severe rains and poor visibility caused the temporary disruption of the tour. Major Floyd Evans, head of the state aeronautics commission ordered the ships held at Iron Mountain until the weather cleared. Only four ships made the flight from Menominee without a stop.

Despite the rain several thousand persons greeted the flyers when they arrived here.

"Tomorrow's flight will be to the Gogebic county airport near Ironwood, the most western point in the state, for an all-day stop."

Los Angeles, June 22 (AP)—Cliffon A. Edwards, known on the stage and screen as "Ukulele Ike," won his contested suit for divorce against Irene L. Edwards, former Tullies girl, in a superior court decision today but failed in his efforts to set aside a property settlement. He charged extreme cruelty.

The settlement constituted about $100,000 worth of property Edwards gave his wife and an agreement to pay her one third of his income for the remainder of her life. The court held the agreement valid.

The Edwards were married in Portland, Ore., May 14, 1923, and separated Nov. 10, 1929. Edwards sought to abrogate the agreement on grounds that she had violated a "morals clause."

Party of Nine On Green Bay Missing Since Sunday

Menominee, June 22 (AP)—Nine young people missing on Green Bay since Sunday afternoon, when they began a cruise to Sturgeon Bay, landed safely at Oconto, Wis., shortly after noon today.

Fred Baldwin, owner of the 36 foot boat, said the motor stalled about mid-afternoon Sunday. The party drifted with the wind throughout the night, finally heading for the mouth of the Oconto river.

The nine, five boys and four girls, telephoned their parents from Oconto and immediately started for home by automobile. In addition to Baldwin, the boys aboard the boat were Bert and Harry Cooney, Francis Pallado and John Stiles. The names of the girls were not available.

Grave fears for the safety of the party had been expressed because a high sea was running Sunday.

AGRICULTURAL BOARD ADOPTS RESOLUTIONS

East Lansing, Mich., June 22 (AP)—State board of agriculture temporarily disposed of an internal dispute at Michigan State college by adopting a series of resolutions today further concentrating executive authority of the institution in the office of the president and prohibiting members of the college staff from having outside financial connections without the consent of the board.

The resolution followed a general institutional study made by President Robert S. Shaw and a special audit of the music division books by a Detroit auditor. The audit was referred to a committee of the board and the directors of the Michigan State Institute of music and allied arts, an affiliating organization, for study. It was not made public.

President Shaw announced that the resolutions dealt with "the remaining 25 percent of administrative reorganization" which his office began last year.

PICTURES MANKIND SLAVES OF MACHINE

Pocono Pines, Pa., June 22 (AP)—A picture of mankind, enslaved by the machine, rushing headlong into another international catastrophe was drawn from delegate to the 8th International Waltham League convention today by Harry Eberline of Detroit, chairman of the board of directors of Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind.

Speaking on "American, land of opportunity," Mr. Eberline said the field of social control has not kept pace with material achievements and unless it does, the world will be precipitated into another such catastrophe. He presented the development of social control as the greatest opportunity of this generation.

Another great problem of the 20th century, he said, is for man to become master of the machine so that the machine will not destroy "humanity's soul."

Fruit and vegetable canneries in Italy are now operating on full time.

POISON SANDWICHES KILL YOUNG GIRLS

Greenfield, Ind., June 22 (AP)—Drug stores in this city and nearby communities were visited today by authorities seeking to trace the purchase of a poison believed to have caused the deaths yesterday of the Simmons sisters, Jean, 10, and Virginia, 14.

The girls died at Lebanon, Ind., soon after partaking of pressed chicken sandwiches served at a family reunion picnic. Attending physicians expressed belief that poison had been placed in the food.

In support of this theory coroner G. A. Owsley said persons attending the reunion had given him capsules containing a white powder. The capsules, the coroner said he was informed, had been found in the sandwiches.

A drug clerk here supplied a slender cinder when he gave a meager description of a man who recently purchased fifty grains of a poison which in appearance resembles the substance found in the capsules.

430 SENIORS GET DIPLOMAS AT MSC

East Lansing, June 22 (AP)—Michigan State college conferred degrees on 430 seniors today at a colorful ceremony. Dr. Charles R. McKenny, president of the Michigan State Normal college, returned to the institution from which he was graduated fifty years ago to give the commencement address.

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker took an active part in the exercises. Robed in the gown of a doctor of laws, he introduced Major General Frank Parker, commandant of the sixth corps area with headquarters in Chicago, who conferred reserve commissions to graduating students studying advance military science.

HOME IS BOMBED

Iron River—Pieces of iron found imbedded in the fence surrounding the R. C. Mahon home here, and also lodged in the trees at the curb, today convinced authorities that a bomb had been used in blowing up a corner of the house last night. The fragments were discovered at noon today.

There was also an unauthenticated report that last evening, shortly before the explosion occurred, a large sedan drove up in front of the Mahon residence, an occupant jumped out, vaulted the fence and ran toward the house. He did not go as far as the house, however, giving further conviction to the theory that a bomb was used, as he probably tossed it and then returned to the machine.

FORD DEAL DENIED

Newberry—W. H. Matthews, president of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company, has denied reports that Ford officials were negotiating for the purchase of the Newberry plant. Mr. Matthews said that Ford representatives, including Victor Perini and John Doyle, in charge of Ford operations at Iron Mountain, were his guests on a visit to Newberry and would visit camps of the company north of Newberry.

The Iron Mountain men arrived in the private car of C. E. Urbahn, vice-president of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railroad. In the party was M. J. Fox, of Iron Mountain, director of the Newberry plant.

Selection of a committee to investigate possible purchase of the former U. P. Airways airport by Delta county for use as a county airport, was authorized by the board of supervisors at their meeting Monday. Chairman J. P. Cameron appointed W. H. Needham, Claude Hawkins and O. J. Thorson as members of the committee.

The supervisors voted unanimously in favor of the airport purchase, providing the proper terms can be made. The area under consideration consists of 27 acres of improved landing field, with hangar and other equipment. An additional 90-acre tract is available for lease, the supervisors were told.

Recent abandonment of the township road will make more land available for the airport, the board learned, and will make it possible to extend the landing field so that it will meet fully with government specifications. A power line leading along the old road is also to be moved, and this will also make the site more favorable.

A recommendation asking the state highway department to install suitable warning or slow signs at the street railway crossing on US-2 near Terrace Gardens was adopted at the suggestion of the county highway committee.

All county committees and departments will be required to submit their budgets for the coming year by Oct. 1 under a resolution passed by the board yesterday. The action is in keeping with the board's decision to remain rigidly within the budget on county expenditures.

Father Laforest Celebrates His Silver Jubilee

REV. FR. GEORGE LAFOREST

A very impressive ceremony will take place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, daylight saving time, at Holy Family church, Flat Rock, when the Rev. Fr. George Laforest will celebrate his silver sacerdotal jubilee.

The solemn high mass will be offered in the presence of the Rt. Rev. Bishop J. P. Nussbaum, D. D. of Marquette, three monsignors and about forty priests from various points in the peninsula.

A banquet will follow the church services at which Rev. Fr. James J. Corcoran of Hancock will be the toastmaster.

Word was received yesterday that Rt. Rev. Msgr. A. J. Rerek of Houghton will also attend the ceremony. Msgr. Rerek's chaplains will be Rev. Fr. P. N. Fillion of Iron Mountain and Rev. Fr. Victor Karch of Menominee. The officier will be Rev. Fr. Fred Theriault of Marquette.

Rev. Father George Laforest was born at the Franklin Mine, in Houghton county, Michigan, January 24, 1852, and was baptized by the Rev. Father Thomas Atfield of Hancock. The family moved to Calumet shortly after. Father Laforest attended the parochial and public schools of Calumet, after which he attended Saint-Laurent College, near Montreal, and made his preparation for the priesthood under the direction of the Sulpician Fathers of Montreal. The Sulpician Fathers are secular priests banded together into community life for the avowed and sole purpose of preparing candidates for the priesthood. After completing his course in philosophy and theology and allied branches, Father Laforest was ordained a priest in his home town, at Saint Anne's church, Calumet, June 24, 1906, by the Right Reverend Bishop Frederick Els of Marquette.

Held Several Pastorates

His first assignment was as assistant to the Rev. Father James Corcoran, of Saint Francis de Sales parish, Manistique. During the two years he was there, he helped Father Corcoran principally in the care of the fifteen scattered missions attached to that church. In 1908, he was transferred to Escanaba and was appointed assistant to the Very Rev. Dean Peter C. Menard, of St. Anne's church. He remained there until his appointment to the pastorate of St. Joseph's church, Porkins, July 1, 1909. On November 12, 1912, he was transferred to St. Joseph's church, Iron Mountain, where he remained until March 24, 1916, when he was assigned to the pastorate of St. Anne's church, Menominee. Though in Menominee for twelve years, his whole work was impaired by poor health. A chronic condition of stomachic neuritis was somewhat relieved by operations and long and tedious treatment, and repeated vacations. In 1919 he resigned his charge into the hands of Bishop Els, who kindly urged him to retain the position, and appointed the Rev. Father Phillip de Neri Jutras to assist him. Later, other young men were successively assigned to help him. But his condition became aggravated, and early in 1927 he again asked to be relieved. Bishop Nussbaum appointed him in October of that year to the pastorate of the Holy Family church at Flat Rock.

CLUB SPEAKER ALSO A SINGER

J. H. Francis, Milwaukee, Addresses Escanaba Rotarians

John H. Francis, representing the Lloyd-Thomas company, appraisal engineers, of Milwaukee, was both the guest speaker and vocalist before the Escanaba Rotary club, at the regular weekly meeting of that organization at the Delta hotel, at noon yesterday and provided the club with a program that was highly enjoyable. Mr. Francis, who has appeared before the club on several occasions as a vocalist, has a baritone voice of unusual quality and at the opening of the program yesterday, presented three most enjoyable numbers.

Mr. Francis then, speaking to the club, explained the origin of the work of appraisal engineers and the wide scope and importance it has gained in recent years. Mr. Francis issued the interesting challenge that no man in his audience could name more than fifty per cent of the articles in any room in his home and later extended that challenge to the woman of the home. He further insisted that if an effort was made by any home owner to list the replacement value of the household effects in any room of his home, he would not approach closer than fifty per cent of the actual value represented. The address of Mr. Francis proved most interesting to all in his audience.

Yesterday was the final meeting of the Escanaba Rotary club at which John A. Lemmer will preside as president, as Mr. Lemmer is leaving in a few days for New York City where he will enter Columbia University for the summer term, and his successor, as president of the Rotary club, W. J. Clark, will assume office on July 1. Mr. Lemmer yesterday expressed his appreciation to the club members for their co-operation during the year past and warmly worded his appreciation of the honor that had been his during the past year. George Genesee, speaking for the club, paid a warm tribute to A. J. Young, recently elected as grand master of the grand lodge of Masons in Michigan, and to Harry J. Brackett, also recently elected grand junior warden of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Michigan.

Evans Has Mixup With Traffic Cop

The following human interest story concerning Rev. John C. Evans, former pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church of Escanaba, appeared in a recent issue of the Chicago Tribune:

Explaining why the Rev. John Evans, Episcopal rector and religious editor, has determined to wear his Roman collar "for parking privileges." One day last week he was challenged by a stout Irish guardian of the law as he parked his car on the lower Wacker drive near Tribune tower. He wore a "fore and aft" necktie, he tells amid chuckles. "Ye can't park there," admonished the policeman, severely. "But I always do," remonstrated the surprised Mr. Evans. "You've seen me every day. I'm the religious editor from upstairs."

"G'wan, git out o' that," was the incredulous retort. "I know the religious editor, an' you're not him. He's a priest."

Judge H. Runnels Defers Sentences On Guilty Pleas

Newberry, June 22 (Special)—Eleven cases in which the pleas of guilty were accepted were deferred for later sentence by Judge Herbert W. Runnels in circuit court today. All but two of these were for liquor law violations. Bruce McNeil, alias Charles Stevens, charged with forgery and J. H. Evans, charged with attempted rape were the other two cases. The court refused to accept the plea of guilty in the case of Herbert J. Burns, charged with assault with a knife on Charles Dimling. Suit for false imprisonment brought by James Dwyer against James V. Kinzey, local justice, and F. M. O'Connor was held for a jury trial in October. Harold A. Foster, defendant, was granted damages of $76.95 and costs against James Long, the case growing out of notes given in a car deal. Court will reconvene on Thursday afternoon to complete the business of the session.

Air Tour Planes To Land Thursday At Newberry Port

Newberry, June 22 (Special)—The largest crowd ever entertained at the Luce air port is expected to attend the third annual air tour landing here about ten o'clock on Thursday, June 25, when the forty or more planes will drop here, coming directly from Hancock.

The local port, reported by air men to be one of the best in the state, has been put in tip-top condition by Manager S. C. Sleeper and his men. The grass planted during last year has rooted well and presents a fresh and pleasing appearance. New concrete and steel cable fence marks off the parking grounds, the hangar, stand, office and other buildings are repainted white, a telephone has been installed, and this year the field has the addition of a radio from which the commerce commission weather reports are received at regular intervals and are posted in the office. Louis "Ponsey" Krempfle is in charge of the field.

On Saturday Bob O'Dell arrived in his plane from Lansing. He is planning to remain here all summer, doing taxi business and giving instruction to those who want to learn to fly.

Sleeper has appointed committees to manage every item of the entertainment in the event. Dr. H. E. Perry is general chairman, and with Dr. George Swanson in charge of lodging and meals for the tour party. Transportation of the party to and from the field and also to some of the outstanding points of interest in the locality will be managed by Larry Wyss and Charles Surrill. Conversations are in charge of J. P. Rabbity. It is expected that several stands will be located on the grounds and an entertainment troupe has been engaged to give several performances in a tent at the port.

Sale of flight tickets is in the hands of Lawrence Redmond. A banquet will be held in the community building for the members of the tour party and the local committee. This meal will be served by the local Business and Professional Woman's club of which Miss Elizabeth Hall of the Foster hardware is president. Following this there will be a barn dance held in the big barn of the Murphy-Gormely country club, certain near by fishing streams and other points are sure to attract members of the tour and every effort is being made to make their day and night stop here one long to be remembered.

VILLAGE SEWER

By Wednesday of this week it is believed that the first of the sewer tile will be poured into the forms for the new mile-long sewer which the village is constructing as a part of the unemployment program. Engineer T. E. Anderson, who is in charge of the work, reports that the Soo company will be able to make the tile almost as rapidly as it is needed, the cement being mixed and poured near the McDonald coal office, and about ten men being used on that end of the job. They are making 30 inch concrete, steel reinforced.

By the last of the week excavation will start. The old sewer, which is much too small for that line, will be reclaimed and used for extensions in the eastern part of town. About 30 men will be used when the work is in full swing and it may be that the work will be divided so as to give two crews three days of work each week. A large number of local men, most of them with families to support, have put in applications for the work. The village has $20,000 on hand with which to start this work and it may be necessary to dip into other funds in order to complete it.

A SANE FOURTH

INDEPENDENCE DAY was never inaugurated for the purpose of letting children blow their fingers to pieces with fireworks or firecrackers, or of setting property on fire. These are accidents, of course, but the removal of the cause is the only way to eliminate the consequences.

If we find a thing dangerous and capable of inflicting pain and suffering, or of causing heavy financial loss through its power to destroy, should we continue to endure it? We would be considered insane if we did! Then why tolerate a dangerous form of celebrating the Fourth of July?

The shooting of explosives has no part in the true spirit of Independence Day observance and is no more identified with it than is star dust with the Pacific Ocean.

Let us be grateful for the holiday and use it constructively—not destructively. Let us get lasting benefits from the opportunities for enjoyment which the day affords. There are numerous activities in which one may participate for beautiful and happy diversion.

Here are some of them: going on picnics, motor trips or steamer excursions to the seashore or mountains; swimming, boating and fishing, playing indoor and outdoor games, hiking, going to parades, the circus, the zoo, botanical gardens, amusement parks, theaters, attending places where holiday exercises and public contests are held, or listening to holiday radio programs.

"JUNKING" HOUSES

THAT Americans should learn to "junk" old and obsolete houses as they have learned to "junk" outmoded automobiles and radio sets, is the contention of House & Garden magazine in an editorial in its current number.

"A great number of people, in all sections of the country, hold that should the residential building industry be brought to its feet and stimulated anew, better times would soon return," says the editorial, giving impetus to a nationwide "Build Now!" movement.

Anniversary

SECOND SUB ATTACK On June 23, 1917, German submarines attacked for the second time transports carrying the first contingents of American troops to France. The first attack occurred the previous night.

No periscope was visible, but the unmistakable bubble line, the certainty of danger was beyond question. The submarine was in front instead of in the deadliest position on the flank toward the rear.

Like a flash, one of the American destroyers darted between a couple of the transports. As it sped at nearly 40 miles an hour across the spot where the submarine was supposed to be hidden the commander of the destroyer gave orders to fire.

A column of smoke and foam rose 100 feet in the air, and in the waterpout that followed it, pieces of wood and steel were clearly distinguished. The attacking submarine obviously had met its doom. None of the transports were damaged.

THE MELODY GIRL

(By NEA Service) By RUTH DEWEY GROVES

CHAPTER XLVII THE appeal was from Irene but it was not voiced by her. Gaylord sent it in a telegram, quite unaware that it could or would be interpreted as a direct call for help.

Irene, he said, would need to have new skin surgically applied to one side of her face. She must be kept in the hospital longer than was at first supposed but she was doing nicely and the grafting was necessary only to insure her against permanent disfigurement. She would like to have her mother with her if that were possible. He would defray the expenses.

Mrs. Everett was horrified. "I knew it! I knew it!" she wept wildly. "I knew it! My poor little baby! Her sweet little face—I knew she was hurt badly! Oh, aren't you ashamed of the way you talked!" she raged at Beryl. "Think of your poor sister out there all alone in a hospital and her poor little face all torn to pieces!"

Beryl left the room. She had to go. Self-accusation swept over her. Had she been responsible for this thing that had happened to her sister? Irene would have been safely married to Tommy now but for her interference. And what had it done to Tommy? It had nearly wrecked him as well as costing the end of Beryl's own career.

In despair she sank to her knees beside her bed. How had she dared to interfere in the destinies of others? Remorse drove her to thoughts of penance. She must do something! Her mother's crying came through the closed door and layed her quivering soul until she believed herself solely responsible for all the ills that had befallen the family. She must make up for it! She must do something!

It was pitiful to think of Irene out there, helpless, except for the grudging care of an unloving husband. And Irene hadn't asked anything of them. She was being brave.

Of course Beryl could not know that Irene was being cared for in a private hospital room with two private nurses and every possible luxury.

Nor could Beryl know that in her "helplessness" Irene was planning the final conquest of Tommy.

Irene did not mind being in the hospital after the doctors had told her she would not be disfigured. The pain had been severe at first but it was gone now and she could give her attention to the role of being an exquisite invalid.

She had a manicurist and hair-dresser in daily. And she was such a dear, sweet little thing the doctors admired her greatly. Her nurses, naturally, did not share with the medical men the confidences they exchanged with each other.

A few of the lesser social lights who were not sure of the outcome of her separation from Gaylord came to see her and brought her a lavish quantity of flowers. It was quite within the realm of reason, as one of these callers expressed it, that the accident would bring Gaylord and Irene together again.

Thus Irene had an audience to flatter her. She was anything but the abject and forlorn little creature her sister had begun to picture her.

There was a change when the doctors told her she must have a transfer of skin. Then Irene became frightened and sent a tearful message to Gaylord to come to her. He arrived, steeled against an appeal for forgiveness.

Irene studied his face for a moment when he entered the room and saw that it would be useless to expect more than he had given her.

"I want my mother!" she wailed pathetically. "Gaylord, I want my mother!" He promised to send for Mrs. Everett but he did not offer more and suddenly Irene's mood changed. She flew into a rage and accused Gaylord of being irresponsible for her trouble.

"You're a selfish brute!" she railed at him. "You took me away from a boy who really loved me and then you neglected me for your business and your sports. You thought more of soap and wild ducks than you did of your wife. I wish I'd never seen you! I wish I'd let Beryl have you! It would have served her right!" She stopped short of admitting that Beryl had presented her from marrying Tommy.

"Yes, I wish you had let Beryl have me. She's worth a car load of girls like you but I doubt if she would have had me. I don't think money came first with her," he added bitterly.

Irene began to sob and Gaylord went away to send the message that plunged Beryl into such an abyss of self-reproach.

WHEN he was gone Irene was sorry she hadn't asked him to send for Tommy. If Tommy could be with her now, could hold her hand for just a little while before they took her upstairs to that awful room, he'd never want to let her go again. She'd be sure of him then.

"I'll send for Tommy," she consoled herself, "just as soon as it's over." What she meant was that she would send for him as soon as she was a pretty patient again.

Presently she telephoned Gaylord to ask if he'd sent for her mother. He said that he had. "Will you meet her at the station and bring her here?" Irene asked. "I don't suppose you'd mind if she stayed at the Brightwell, would you?"

The Brightwell was a fashionable hotel not far away from the hospital and Gaylord couldn't help thinking that Mrs. Everett might be more comfortable elsewhere but he did not say this to Irene. He was anxious to have her recover and depart from his life. If money could speed the time he was quite willing to spend it. He had come to see Irene as nothing but a gloriously pretty little female.

Mrs. Everett was frantic to reach Irene but her condition was no longer one of mock illness. She found herself too weak and prostrated to undertake the journey. And so it was Beryl who was met at the station by Gaylord and escorted to the hotel where he had made a reservation for her mother. Irene's thoughtfulness, however, designed to impress her acquaintances and her nurses, was lost upon Beryl. She gave no thought to her surroundings. Her one wish was to get to her sister as soon as possible.

Gaylord waited in the lobby while Beryl freshened herself a bit from her railroad journey before going to the hospital.

'Looking Backward'

JUNE 23, 1911 Miss Ethel Weisted of Brampton is visiting her cousin Miss Margaret O'Connell.

Charles Ellsworth who has been a student in the engineering department at the University of Wisconsin for the past year has arrived in the city to visit his parents.

presently he felt he should warn her. "Irene has not changed," he said bluntly. "Perhaps not," Beryl said. "I did not expect that. It is I who have changed because you see it was I who was in the wrong."

Gaylord flashed her a look of surprise. The steady burning of that inner light remained silent. Beryl had nothing further to say either. She did not even ask about Irene's condition. It seemed to Gaylord that she was obsessed with some thought which was all-absorbing. "Nothing else matters, I guess," he decided. At the hospital he told her he would wait and take her back to the hotel.

Gaylord half-feared she might ask him to go up to Irene's room with her but she only said, "Thank you," in a voice so colorless he could not know if she had understood.

For a long while he waited and when Beryl returned he could discover nothing in her face to indicate that his fears had been realized. If Irene had treated Beryl to a scene her expression did not reveal it nor did she say anything about the conversation.

He was not surprised, however, when she told him, on the way to the hotel, her chief reason for coming to Oakdale.

A MOUNTAIN MAN GOES HOME "Yes, I'm from the mountain country," he said with a lonely sigh. "And the prairie ain't no country for a mountain man to die. I've set my face to the mountains, my feet on the risin' road. And I'm goin' back up yonder to a mountain man's abode. I come from the mountain country, as many a man has come. When the wand'rin' fever's on him, and the call of street and slum, But now I am sick of cities, and sick of the city's ways. And I'm goin' back up yonder, in the hills to end my days."

"So thanks for your breakfast, farmer, and thanks for the bed I had; it was just a hayloft, farmer, but a hayloft ain't so bad. The smell of the hay was sweeter than any I've smelt before. Since I waded my hand to Mother, and I turned from Father's door. I can't help you none with harvest, I can't help you none with stock; for my feet are soft with prairie, and I want the feel of rock. Oh, some of you call me hobbo, but that doesn't mind to me. For I'm goin' back up yonder to the place I ought to be."

"Yes, youth is the time to wander, but age is the time to rest. And your home's the place to head for, and a mountain home is best. Not many, I guess, 'll know me, no many 'll care to know. But your home's the place to head for, and it's there I mean to go. There's many a year left in me, but whether it's one or ten, It is there I want to finish, in the hills up there again. I'm off for the mountain country, and here is the reason why: For the prairie ain't no country for a mountain man to die."

SCIENCE MAKES "A WILDERNESS"

Modern Efficiency Brings on Unemployment, Says U. of M. Speaker

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 22 (AP)—Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, today told the audience at University of Michigan commencement exercises that science has produced a new wilderness which must be conquered if mankind is to avoid catastrophe.

In modern efficiency with the resultant reduction in available hours of labor and increase in unemployment Dr. Coffman saw the cause of present world unrest. The educator declared that "when one views the world situation, he finds little hope in it."

"Poverty and misery and unemployment stalk abroad in the midst of plenty," said Dr. Coffman, describing "fitful spurts of material prosperity, without the development of a constructive program based upon sound policies."

"The older generation," he said, "is dwelling in thought in one era and acting in another, while the younger generation finds itself facing the new wilderness without many of the traditions of the older generations."

Russia vs. Reno
Dr. Coffman decried the "militant intolerance" that "invites the world to consume our goods but tells it to consume its own at home. In inveighs against Russia's lack of religion and certain moral standards, but smiles deprecatingly and sarcastically at Reno where there are now so many prospective divorcees that they must live in tents. It frowns upon nationalism but practices it with a vengeance here at home."

"Thinking men," he said, "maintain that nothing will ever arouse us to the necessity of larger allegiances except a challenge to democracy itself. And that challenge may be coming."

"How important it is that we be giving special attention to this thought just now, for America walks in unity and fear and yet holds a key position among the nations of the earth. The danger of position resides in the misuse of power. The more strength we have the more we are tempted. This is as true of nations as of individuals."

"If nations go to pieces, if indeed a civilization goes to pieces, it will not be because of weakness but of abused strength. The disasters of history have been caused by the strong rather than the weak nations. Ultimate victory to a nation never comes from prestige, power, wealth or empire. These are the forces that produce disintegration."

"Open-Minded" Committees
In America's strength, Dr. Coffman said, "lies their greatest danger." He declared that the chief weakness of a democratic people is "its unwillingness or inability to set up remote goals."

"The most popular American substitute for intelligence is the appointment of committees. Let a group of Americans be together long enough, talk long enough, reach a certain state of exhaustion and they will appoint a committee to consider the thing they are talking about. They always place in their committee a number of persons who are not expected to know anything about the thing they are expected to report upon. They insist that the committee shall be open-minded. Its members start with open minds and usually finish with their minds still open."

"If there was ever a time when we needed to pay a duty to intelligence, that time is now. With the methods we have used thus far we have not been able to avert war, to free ourselves from superstition and fear, to banish hatred and prejudice, nor to eliminate poverty."

"Dr. Coffman turned the guns of his attack on educational institutions. "It is possible," he said, "that the universities may have been partly responsible for the over-emphasis which the substitutes for intelligence have received. At any rate they cannot claim that they taught the graduates of yesterday what they now need to know about economics and international relations."

"Perhaps they did not know themselves, but in that failure lies a partial explanation of our present world situation. A university that mortgages to the past and reaches aimlessly to the future serves no useful purpose. Now can it be condemned for its failure to provide the leaders it claimed it was training?"

"When one views the world situation," Dr. Coffman said, "he finds little hope in it. Apparently the political leaders are interested in preserving and developing still further the spirit of nationalism. No government has

WHAT HE SAID:
Ann Arbor, Mich., June 22, (AP)—Here are some highlights of the address of Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, at the University of Michigan commencement:

"The most popular American substitute for intelligence is the appointment of committees."

"When one views the world situation, he finds little hope in it."

"They (the universities) cannot claim that they taught the graduates of yesterday what they now need to know about economics and international relations."

been willing to make any vital changes in its policies in the interest of international good will. Political instability and national insecurity prevail everywhere."

"We Americans," he said, "sometimes delude ourselves with the pleasant thought that we are secure in our isolation, when the most patent fact of current history is the interdependence of the nations of the earth."

Challenge to Graduates
Dr. Coffman warned the young men and women about to leave college that "outside the cloistered walls of universities and colleges there is hunger and want and distress; throughout the earth there is insurrection and misunderstanding."

He said the "conflict between personal liberty and some form of human slavery has been raised to a new magnitude and power."

"We are faced with a challenge that is peremptory and ominous. The time has arrived when faith needs to be testified to in works. The performance of these works calls for broad-mindedness, an open-mindedness, a progressive and enlightened liberalism."

"The world's problems now imperiously crying out for solution are the challenge to the college graduate. It is he, personally, who has been prepared for the coming hour."

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELETT
Judging by the sights and sounds at last night's opening performance of "Gold Dust Gertie," Miss Lightner's latest bid for the comedy crown—she wins 't hands down. Winnie is an army in herself but in the current attraction she is abetted in absurdity by Olsen and Johnson, screenland's craziest clowns.

The picture is an adaptation of Len H. Hollister's whirlwind play, "The Wife of the Party." It has to do with two rosy salesmen who are in the pleasant throes (spelled throws later) of a honeymoon with twin sisters. Gertie walks into the office of the bathing-suit firm for which the newlyweds work—with the welcome news that she has at one time or another been married to, and divorced from, the two grooms, and that they are behind in their alimony.

The twin wives get the alimony duns, which Gertie mails and at once proceed to throw things at the boys. Winnie discovers that the husbands wish to put over an ultra-modern bathing-suit for entry into a coming bathing beauty contest. This is prevented by an aged and conservative boss. Winnie takes it upon herself to win over the old boy—does so—gets the commission to wear the doubtful bathing suit she herself has designed and cajoles him into hiring a yacht and setting sail for Florida with her and the boys.

The brides are sidetracked, and the four start for Southern waters. Winnie, courted by her two ex-husbands, finds the captain has also been a former sharer of more or less felicitous connubiality with her. The aged boss proposes—the newly-weds are forced from port-holes to the high seas—and worst of all—the irate wives arrive in Florida before the boat. Winnie, of course wins the prize but without one of the wildest chases by speed-boat—rowboat—and every other kind of boat—all of which puts mildly the

More Paving Used on State Highways

Washington—A distinct gain in mileage of pavements and surfaces for state highways as contrasted with earth and untreated roads is shown in the 1931 estimates of mileage constructed as compiled by the statistical department of the American Road Builders' Association.

A comparison of 1931 estimates with 1930 figures for mileage of various types of state highways shows: graded roads, 10,249 in 1931 and 11,148 in 1930; treated and untreated sand-clay, gravel and macadam, 18,426 in 1931 and 17,203 in 1930; asphalt, concrete and brick, 11,735 in 1931 and 11,133 in 1930. The total mileage estimated for 1931 is 40,410 as compared with 39,484 in 1930. Contracts awarded for the first three months of 1931 were $181,637,138 for state highway work as compared with $114,101,383 for the same period in 1930.

In April state and federal aid contracts were awarded amounting to $96,879,468; May was around $70,000,000. Reports from the New York state highway department show 18,000 men employed on highway construction in the state as compared with 7,000 employed at the same time last year. State highway contracts amounting to around $30,000,000 were let in New York up to June 1 which is $9,000,000 more than were let up to the same time last year.

MRS. CATHERINE TYRRELL
One of the largest funerals held at St. Joseph's church in many years was that which was held yesterday when Rev. Fr. Prosper Stemann, O. F. M., was the celebrant at the requiem high mass offered for Mrs. Catherine Tyrrell, charter member of that congregation.

Mrs. Tyrrell was one of the first women in this city to attend St. Joseph's church when a missionary came to this city to conduct the services in a small frame building which was later replaced by the present edifice. Mrs. Tyrrell also attended the services when the cornerstone of the church was laid.

Representatives of all the oldest families in the parish attended the services. Miss Gertrude Silbernagle of Wausau, Wis., sang "Ave Marie" by Roswig; Mrs. Fred Hirm sang "Dies Ira," and Mrs. Frank Hirm "Benedictus" with Miss Eva Cossette at the organ.

Many beautiful flowers, a large number of spiritual offerings and many telegrams and letters of condolence were received at the home, 319 South Tenth street.

Sunday evening, Rev. Fr. Prosper and members of the Third Order of St. Francis, also members of the Married Ladies' Altar Society went to the home to recite the rosary in unison.

The casket was borne by close friends who had been selected by the deceased during her last illness. They were: Henry Fish, Joseph Trudeau, Wm. Finnegan, A. J. Manley, W. P. Belanger and John Sheahan. Interment was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Out-of-town relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Gaudette, daughter and son-in-law of Antigo, Wis.; Frank Tyrrell, a son of Portland, Ore.; Charles Brydges, a nephew, of Rhinelander, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burns, Mrs. James Jansen, Mrs. Alice Driscoll and daughter, Miss Marie Driscoll, all of Antigo, Wis.; Mrs. G. Silbernagle and daughter Miss Gertrude, Mr. and Mrs. George Silbernagle Jr., all of Wausau, Wis.; Mrs. Josephine Snow-Smith of Racine, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stoppel of Iron Mountain, Mrs. Elizabeth Sinclair, and Mrs. George Hamberg of Gladstone.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Wm. Trevara and Miss McDougal of Nequaunee motored to this city to pay a visit of condolence to the members of the family of Mrs. Tyrrell whom they had known over sixty years ago when the family lived in Nequaunee before coming to Escanaba.

CROWD GREETERS FLYERS SUNDAY

Thousands Witness Air Carnival; Weather Is Ideal

Balmy and sunshiny weather, an ideal day for flying, greeted the third annual state air tour in which approximately 45 planes landed at the county air port Sunday morning after soaring here from St. Ignace without a single mishap. Thousands of spectators surrounded the field, taking in a spectacle never before seen here and which will probably not be witnessed again for years to come.

The first plane, piloted by Wayne Sheldon, official referee of the tour, landed at the airport at 9:30 a. m. with the rest of the tour following at short intervals. The airport bustled with activity, planes taking off with passengers and landing continuously, while the air was literally filled with sight seeing expeditions. For many it represented the first trip into the air and as far as most Manistique residents are concerned, aviation is a commercial possibility is indeed a sound one.

Glider Thrills

The glider landing was the most sensational part of the air exhibit. Towed by another plane, the Franklin glider piloted by Wallace Franklin, was cut loose from its cable, circled the field a half dozen times, and came down to a graceful landing after having been aloft for more than ten minutes. A successful parachute jump was negotiated about 4:30 in the afternoon.

Many were disappointed over the non-appearance of the famed Detroit News autogiro, but local officials learned that the unusual craft had had its license revoked recently at Marion, Ohio, during the dedication of the Harding tomb memorial, for not flying at a sufficient altitude during President Hoover's address.

Local Airport was lauded

The local airport was lauded by the flyers as being one of the finest on the tour thus far. Not a single accident occurred and landing and taking off was done with apparent ease. Considerable work had been done on the field preparatory to the handling of the tour.

Tour officials were well pleased with the efficiency of local officials who attended to all details necessary for the safety and comfort of the flyers. The ambulance and chemical truck was stationed at the airport throughout the day to take care of any emergencies which may have arisen, gasoline contacts were made without delay, and the crowd was handled efficiently by the police and members of the American Legion. Luncheon was served for the delegation at the Elks' temple.

The big event served as a substitute for a Fourth of July celebration. It was definitely decided to cancel the celebration until next year when the majority of business men interviewed by Chamber of Commerce officials believed that it should be postponed until next year.

One of the surprises of the tour was the arrival of a large amphibian plane. The plane first landed in Lake Michigan, but finding no anchorage, landed at the airport in the afternoon. It was not until late Sunday afternoon that their passenger trips and left for Escanaba where the tour spent the evening. A number of local people made the trip to Escanaba with the squadron.

Rev. and Mrs. P. L. Lomas and son Bernard left yesterday for Michigan where the former will complete arrangements for the Methodist Michigan Institute to be held in July. Rev. Lomas is purchasing agent of the organization.

PAVEMENT TO COST $13,564

Buechner Presents Estimate on Michigan Avenue Project

Assessment procedure on the proposed Michigan avenue pavement construction, the only pavement project on the city's public improvement program for 1931, was begun at a regular meeting of the city commission held last night, and July 13 was set as date of hearing of objections to the construction.

Estimates prepared by City Manager F. R. Buechner revealed that the total cost of the pavement would be $13,564. Cost items are as follows: curbing $1,111.70; cement concrete pavement, $9,501; excavation, $1,300; concrete catch basins, $95.90; and overhead engineering, inspection, $1,004.75.

The city share of the construction cost amounts to $3,194. This is higher than usual due to the fact that church and school property abuts the avenue and these assessments, as well as the cost of four intersections, are borne by the city.

Cost Low

Estimated cost to property owners per front foot is $4.03, which is approximately the same as the cost of the Ninth street pavement constructed last year. Owners of 56-foot lots, the average width of lots in the area to be paved, would pay $225 per lot.

The pavement is to be 30 feet wide and six inches deep with six inch curbing one foot deep. Pit-run, washed gravel will be used in construction.

Should construction be approved, as anticipated, at the time of hearing, bids will be advertised for immediately, construction work would start early in August and the pavement would be completed by the first of September.

Permission was granted to John Holm and Paul Dementor to construct a sewer across their lots on Montana avenue near Sixth street connecting with the trunk sewer.

Granting of a beverage shop license to Joseph Brock at the tourist park was also made.

TROT A DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY

London (NEA)—To keep from running up doctor bills, take a trot a few miles each day. So advises Leonard Henslowe, famous health authority, who has been studying the human body and its response to mild exercise for 30 years.

"If people would trot every day their lungs would last longer," he says. "Even old people can trot downhill. You thus keep your lungs elastic and help prolong your life."

"It is not the complications of our modern world which shorten life. Worry is at the root of a great deal of illness."

"The chief principles to observe in enjoying a healthy and long life are: Take plenty of exercise, have plenty of sleep, eat plenty of fruits and vegetables, and avoid clogging the body with poisons, and take on a few commitments in life as you can so as to keep down worry."

Cochet Defeated in Wimbledon Net Tournery

SHIELDS LOOKS LIKE GOOD BET

New York Youth Leads American Tennis Stars in London

BY FRANK H. KING
London, June 22. (AP)—Great Britain's lawn tennis classic, the Wimbledon championships, began today with young Frank Shields, of New York, looming as a likely follower in the path of big Bill Tilden and other famous American players.

In a day of play which saw Henri Cochet lose to Nigel Sharpe, a little known Englishman, and Jean Borotra win from little known Britisher, A. J. Smith, only after a bitter four set struggle, Shields stood out with his whirlwind victory over Dr. P. D. B. Spence, veteran South African campaigner.

Cochet Defeated.
Less than an hour after hitting his first shot on the famous center court where the great names of tennis have paraded for so many years Shields disposed of Spence, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2 and established himself firmly as a recognized star of Wimbledon.

The New York youngster headed a parade of the American Day's cup team through the first round, Sidney R. Wood, Jr., John Van Ryn and George Lott, Jr., following their number one star into the second day of play.

Cochet, hatless and inaccurate, fell before the steady backhand of Sharpe, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.
Only a little less surprising than Cochet's defeat was that suffered by Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., who fell before the smashing game of George Tytton-Rogers, the giant Irishman, 6-6, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The only other American casualty was Watson Washburn, former assistant attorney general of New York state and an internationalist of several years ago, who was defeated by the Australian, F. W. Mateska, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Wood, Lott and Van Ryn had comparatively easy victories over minor opponents. Wood and Van Ryn won in straight sets, the former defeating the Indian R. Singh, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4 and Van Ryn winning from V. Schaeffer, of Czechoslovakia, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1. Lott defeated the Frenchman, B. Berthet, 8-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2.

Matches Today.
Cochet was the only one of the seeded stars to fall, Christian Bousous, of France, Fred Perry and Bunny Austin, of Great Britain, and Jiro Satoh, of Japan, advancing with Borotra, Shields and Wood.

The pairings tomorrow send Austin against H. Satoh, of Japan, Perry against A. Aoki, of Japan, Bousous against H. S. L. Barclay, a Briton, Wood against A. C. Crossley, of Great Britain, Lott against Pierre Landry, France's seventh ranking star, Van Ryn against one of the younger French players, A. Merlin, and Shields against H. F. David, of Great Britain.

Play also begins tomorrow in the women's singles with Mrs. L. A. Harper, the national champion and Miss Helen Jacobs upholding American honors and aspiring to the throne of Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, who is not defending her Wimbledon title.

Curran Eliminates Kholman to Reach City Tennis Final

Mike Curran stroked his way successfully through his fifth match of the city tournament Sunday, defeating Al Kholman, 6-6, 6-4, 6-2 to go to the finals where he meets Jim Rouman, a Gladstonian. Curran, an unseeded player, was not expected to go farther than the second round where he eliminated Garry Belanger, then swept through two more seeded players, Frank Bourke and Al Kholman. Looking but a single set in his matches, Curran, commenting briefly on his success, said: "It's just luck." Before each of his matches Curran predicted that he could not possibly take more than a few games in each set, but strangely enough, none of the opposition ever took more games than Curran expected to get himself.

Against Rouman, Curran will display a powerful but erratic service, combined with an equally erratic overhead drive and a deadly accurate slice stroke, by far the best shot in his stroke equipment. These make him a powerful and dangerous opponent. At the moment when everyone is sure that he has "blown up" Curran catching his opponent unaware slips his slice shot straight down the side of the alley, a few inches from the line, to score when he is least expected to.

The finals are scheduled to be played Thursday afternoon.

JUNIORS BEAT MIDGETS.
The Wells Juniors won an interesting game from the Escanaba Midgets at the Wells diamond Saturday, 22 to 10. Batteries for the game were: Escanaba, Olinstead, Rogers and Moran; Wells, Stoykovich, Peterson and Perle, Mieski.

CHICUBS CRUSH NEW YORK, 11-4

Hornsby and Wilson Each Hit for Circuit Against Giants

New York, June 22 (AP)—Manager Rogers Hornsby and his Chicago Cubs donned their slugging clothes today and made wreck of the Giants, 11 to 4, in the opening game of their series at the Polo Grounds.

After piling up a sizeable lead on Berly and Chaplin with a long distance attack, the visitors put on the finishing touches with a six-run assault on young Harold Schumacher in the ninth. Hornsby and Hack Wilson hit their eleventh and ninth home runs, respectively, and Hemsley capped the big ninth with a blow into the bleachers.

John McGraw, the Giants' veteran pilot, and his big catcher, Frank Hogan, were banished by Umpire Stark for arguing a called ball on Cuyler in the ninth.

Rock, June 21 (Special)—In a return game, Rapid River defeated the Rock Spartans, 4 to 2, at the local diamond Sunday afternoon.

The game was one of the nicest pitching duels ever seen here. Wright and Young did the hurling for Rapid, while Rabideau stayed the whole game for Rock. The Spartans outbit the Baytowners by 7 hits to 4, but the Rock infield made 5 errors at critical stages of the game and Rapid made the best of the misplays.

Besides the pitching feats, the game was featured by some brilliant fielding by both teams. The umpiring of Kinshern and Kleiber met with the approval of the large crowd of fans.

Plan to Expand Boy Scout Work In This District

Preliminary plans were made at a meeting at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office for the formation of a district committee to sponsor an enlarged Boy Scout program in Escanaba.

Charles Spurr, Marquette, area scout executive, outlined the plan whereby the Boy Scouts here could obtain the benefits of a more comprehensive program through affiliation with the area council, which will supervise Boy Scout activities throughout Delta, Schoolcraft, Alger and Marquette counties.

The area council plan has been developed to direct the Boy Scout program more economically and effectively. Mr. Spurr said that Marquette county is financing the entire area council program, but that communities in the other counties could contribute as they wished, there being no demand that they pay a certain proportion.

The plan, as outlined by Mr. Spurr, impressed those assembled at the meeting, and it was decided to organize a district committee in the near future.

At present, Escanaba has four troops with a membership of almost a hundred, and it is believed that this organization could be expanded to about eight or nine troops with 200 members.

LEGION MAY BID FOR CONVENTION

Escanaba Veterans Pick Delegates to Go to Pontiac

Movements for making a bid for the state-American Legion convention in 1932 and reorganizing the Legion Auxiliary in Escanaba were started at a regular meeting of Cloverland Post 32 in the Eagles' hall last night.

Further action on the proposal for inviting the state convention will be taken this week at an executive committee meeting, at which time the final list of local delegates will be certified for the 1931 state convention which opens July 2 at Pontiac. A tentative list of delegates and alternates was nominated at the meeting last night. Instructions as to the vote on securing the state convention and other Legion legislative matters will be gone over at the executive meeting.

A joint meeting of Legionnaires and prospective Auxiliary members will be arranged in the near future to start the action on reforming the local auxiliary unit.

A report of the auditing committee, showing the disposition of Legion funds in the last fiscal year, was submitted at the meeting. The report showed that the Legion had expended $735.45 in their Memory Lane tree planting program for the years, 1929, 1930 and 1931.

TOWN WITH TWO GIRLS

London—One village in England, Banlking, with a population of about 200, has only two girls of marrying age, and all the youths have to journey miles into the next largest town to do their courting. The opinion in regard to this lack of girls is that it is in the village's favor. The young men explain that if there were more girls they would cause trouble and that they would rather go miles to do their courting than invite trouble.

Interesting Talk Given by Bauers

An illustrated talk concerning social and political conditions in China and Siberia was delivered in an interesting manner by Charles Bauers of Gladstone at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon.

Mr. Bauers, who served on a government commission that spent several months in China, showed motion pictures and stereoscopic slides of interesting scenes in the Orient. He told of the strange weddings, funerals and other customs of the Chinese, and cited the various causes that are back of the continuous civil strife in that country.

A special committee was appointed by President George W. Brown to make plans for securing the 1932 district convention of Kiwanis clubs for Escanaba.
