

FIGHT ASSURED ON SPEAKERSHIP

54 Roll-Calls Required for Choice Back in 1859-60

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—A bitter and prolonged contest over the election of the speaker of the new house is feared by many party leaders, but it will have to last a long time to excel three fights of the past.

Twice the house was in turmoil two months before a speaker was elected and organization completed. Other times weeks have intervened with debate rampant and business held up. Although the constitution does not provide that the speaker has to be a house member, the office has always been filled by a representative, generally elected by a majority vote.

In 1859, the 36th congress met on December 5, and the nation was shaken by the slavery issue. Fifty-four roll calls were taken before a speaker was elected February 1, 1860.

William Pennington of New Jersey, a Republican serving his first term, was elected with 117 votes against 116 for nine candidates. Leaders in the race had so embittered house members that they selected a virtually unknown to the speakership.

In the 44th congress, which met on the first Monday in December, 1875, it was not until February 2, 1876, that a speaker was elected and then not by a majority. Nathaniel P. Banks, Jr., Republican, Massachusetts, received 103 votes against 111 for his four opponents.

INDIAN JAILED AS MURDERER

White River Indian Reservation, Ariz., Nov. 2 (AP)—A department of justice agent, filling a role that might have daunted a Sherlock Holmes, is credited with solution of the Henrietta Schmerler slaying, a puzzle that many believed had been carried to the grave.

The work of the agent, J. A. Street, described by his superiors as a job accomplished by "patience and perseverance under most trying circumstances" resulted in the arrest yesterday of an Apache Brave, Colney Seymour, said to have confessed attacking and killing Miss Schmerler, 25-year-old brilliant Columbia university student.

Seymour is held incommunicado in jail at Globe, Ariz. The arrest came as a surprise to officials of the reservation here who had regarded Seymour as one of the most orderly and quiet Indians of a once fearsome tribe.

Her body, bruised with rocks and bearing evidence of a criminal attack, was found in a gulley, after she had been missing for several days.

RUSSIA DENIES TROOPS ACTIVE

Chinese Forces Squelch Another Rebellion in Manchuria

Tokyo, Nov. 2 (AP)—Recurring rumors of Russian military activity about north Manchuria, were balanced today with official Russian denials as Chinese government troops in southwestern Manchuria put down another rebellion.

While officials sought to extract some grain of fact from a shifting pile of rumors of agreement between Russia and China to cooperate in north Manchuria, dispatches told of victory for troops of Chang Hsueh-Liang, whom Japan deposed as governor of Manchuria, over those of General L'ng Yin-Ching, near Panshanhshen.

This was the second military separatist movement in Manchuria in that Chinese Nationalists have overcome since Japan occupied south Manchuria on the grounds that a clash between her soldiers and Chinese near Mukden demonstrated the Chinese administration was not giving Japanese lives and property proper protection.

The first such movement put down was led by Chang Hsueh-Liang, who sought to throw down the Nationalist administration in Tsitsihar and was soundly defeated by loyal troops of the absent governor, Wan Fu-Lin.

During the fighting the Nationalists damaged railroad bridges on the line between Taonan and Tsitsihar, which Japanese railway engineers plan to repair.

Fearing bandit attacks in the wild country around Tsitsihar, the Japanese engineers, employees of the Japanese-owned South Manchuria railway, planned to take along a military escort but Russia protested.

So far Karakhan has denied to Hirota all intention of sending Russian troops into Manchuria but simultaneously asked the Japanese not to extend further north their line of military occupation.

Despite these denials, the Japanese cabinet at its meeting today gave particular attention to unofficial reports that China had entered into a secret arrangement with Soviet Russia under which the Chinese would receive not only arms and ammunition, but moral support as well.

Some officials declared the attitude of the Nanking government toward Japan had stiffened which they suggested would be the logical reaction in event an accord with Russia actually had been reached.

TITLES FOR DIRIGIBLES

CHAPTER XVII

WHEN Mary became conscious someone was shouting. "Bring some brandy for this lady!" and moving her arms about and slapping her hands.

Well, she was taking it easy, she thought fretfully. Her head ached fiercely from the jar when the taxi crashed into the building but otherwise she was all right, and she wanted to go home.

THE room was a small private dining-room. Half a dozen men sat about a wine-spotted tablecloth, smoking and drinking.

Mary smiled slightly and inclined her head in perfunctory recognition of what she took to be an act of politeness.

Deer Hunters Are Awaiting Snowfall

A week's rainfall with intermittent sunshine ended Monday morning with present indications of more settled weather for a brief time. Weather conditions are of particular interest to deer hunters at this time of the year, are carefully noted and compared with conditions prevailing in former years. Nearly every deer hunter is hopeful for a fall of snow at the opening of the season, November 15, for snow deadens the sound of the hunter's footsteps in through the dry leaves and also furnishes the tracking necessary to follow a deer without a dog. However, some of the old timers who are familiar with the woods and the haunts of the deer, care little about tracking snow. Occasionally we have had snow in this locality in October. This, of course, disappears before the hunting season opens up, but there is scarcely an open season without a considerable fall of snow, enough for perfectly good tracking. This generally occurs about November 20.

There have been seasons without any snow during the entire month of November and when this occurs it is noticeable that comparatively few deer are killed. It is predicted that on account of the unemployment situation there will be more deer hunters in the woods of Alger county than ever before but it must also be taken into consideration that the license for hunting deer this year is $3.50 and it is quite certain that many who would like to go after a deer will not have the price of the license for the privilege. During the past summer fewer deer have been seen along the highways and in the woods than usual and this leads to the opinion that deer are fewer this year than in former years. Alger county, with its vast forest areas, has always been thickly populated with deer and it would, indeed, be amazing to know any where near the number of deer that have been taken out of its confines within the past forty or fifty years. Forty years ago the deer hunting season was three months long. There was no limit to the number of deer that one might legally kill, does included. Venison was then shipped to Detroit, Milwaukee or Chicago. The carcass was skinned to the neck and the hide wrapped about the saddles for shipment. The price averaged about ten cents per pound. The forequarters were disposed of locally. Scores of professional hunters killed deer for the markets during the entire season and some of them were employed by logging camps to furnish venison for the camp crews. If it were possible to arrive at a correct estimate of the number of deer that have been killed in Alger county during these past years, taking into consideration such hunters as the Powells who have each killed more than a hundred deer in one long season, the figures would be amazing and would leave one to wonder that there were any deer left in this region. Still under the old system, when the season was three months long, when both bucks and does were permitted to be killed, when hunters used dogs for tracking deer, there was not so much declination of the deer population as within recent years when hunters are in the ratio of perhaps twenty to one as compared with forty years ago.

ADDRESS GIVEN ON RED CROSS

Escanaba Rotary Club Hears President of Marquette Chapter

C. W. Redmond, president of the Marquette county chapter of the American Red Cross, yesterday told members of the Escanaba Rotary club of the multitudinous local activities of the Red Cross society, in addition to its national and international work. Mr. Redmond's address yesterday was in preparation for the annual Red Cross roll call, which is to be launched in this city next week and proved an illuminating resume of an association that is engaged in a great humanitarian work, in behalf of the unfortunate, at home, in the nation and throughout the world.

Yesterday's speaker stressed particularly the home activities of the local Red Cross chapter, referring to the fact that one half of each Red Cross membership remains in the treasury of the county chapter, to be expended as the officers of the local chapter, in cooperation with national officials, may deem proper. Mr. Redmond explained at length the work of the Red Cross in doing in every county where a chapter is organized, in extending needed relief to disabled veterans and their families and in aiding those veterans and their families to obtain from the government proper compensation to which they are entitled. He asserted it to be the duty of each community in which a Red Cross chapter is established to analyze its needs and then permit the Red Cross to have a part in supplying that need. He explained in detail the public health nursing activity of the Red Cross and suggested that possibly such a service might well be established in this city.

Mr. Redmond's entire address was filled with interesting facts and when the speaker had concluded the satisfaction of his hearers was reflected in the enthusiastic applause that was given.

Tom Chow Ming Wants to Fight With Japanese

Tom Chow Ming is going to China as soon as he can dispose of the Hong Kong Lo restaurant. He wants to be there to fight against the Japs for, he predicts, war is inevitable.

Although he was born in California, Tom feels it is his duty to fight for the country from which his father and mother came. His partner, George Wong, left Escanaba a couple weeks ago for Seattle, and is sailing from there this week for Canton, China. He too plans to get into the scrap. "Japanese no good," Tom said yesterday in discussing the Sino-Jap situation. "They want to get Manchuria and they kill Chinese. Chinese hate Japanese like poison. They going to have big fight soon. Chinese in Chicago and everywhere going back to China to fight and die for their country." Tom said that Chinese people in his country are sending money to China for the war chest. He said he has donated about three hundred dollars to the fund. Tom was only a small boy when his parents died in California. He later moved to Chicago, and about ten years ago came to Escanaba to operate the chop suey restaurant here. Wong joined him in the business four years ago.

SANTA CLAUS AIDES NEED SOME TOYS

Some time ago the Escanaba firemen asked for donations of discarded toys so that they could continue their annual custom of helping Santa Claus by repairing and renovating playthings for Christmas gifts to needy children. So far, no responses have been received. The firemen are anxious to get started on their job, and every contribution will be appreciated. They would like to have enough toys this year to keep them busy repairing right up to Christmas time. Anyone having any toys, discarded or outgrown, is asked to bring them to the fire station or telephone the firemen and they will be called for. With a touch of paint, glue, and a nail here and there, the playthings will be brightened up and will help to make a brighter Christmas for some of Escanaba's children whom St. Nicholas may forget.

TABLES GROAN WITH DONATED FOODS

Just about everything in the line of food, from pumpkins to macaroni, lacking only salt and eggs, was spread out on tables in City Clerk Carl Anderson's office at the city hall yesterday. The provisions came from the Bethany Lutheran church, where a "collection" in the form of eatables was taken up as a feature of the annual harvest festival of music. The donations were turned over to the city poor commissioner, and in quantity and variety they would stock a small store. The goods were sorted at Mr. Anderson's office Monday, and will be used in helping feed the city's dependent families. Farmers and truck gardeners did their part Saturday to help the good work along by giving some of their surplus vegetables and fruits at the municipal market. A truck load of contributions was received by the market master and turned over to the Salvation Army.

We'd rather have a Chesterfield and now we'll tell you why...

Three Stars of "Ziegfeld Follies of 1931" Helen Morgan (on piano) Ruth Etting (at right) and Harry Richman

Three mighty good reasons!

"MILDER"—smoke as many as you like! That's what every Chesterfield smoker knows...and it's not hard to prove, either. Just try this blend of milder, riper tobaccos!

"TASTE BETTER"—you'll like as many as you smoke! That's what more smokers are learning every day. Not over-sweetened, but just sweet enough for constant enjoyment. The mild, rich flavor of the finest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos.

"THEY SATISFY"—in every way! The tobacco, the paper, the package...everything about Chesterfield is the best that money can buy or that science knows about!
