SEEK TO LIMIT FARM ACREAGE

Meeting on Land Utilization Is Held at Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 21 (AP)—Restricted cultivation of lands was set forth today by the conference of land utilization as the prime factor in better agrarian America.

To limit cultivation, two recommendations were made: Restriction of Federal reclamation to projects already under way; and administration of the homestead laws so that lands capable of providing a "decent living" would be released to the public.

These and other recommendations of the conference, called by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, will be used as the base for a definite land development policy.

Two permanent bodies were provided in the set up to build this policy: a national land use planning commission, composed of land economists; and a committee of organized agriculture's representatives to propose and steer legislation.

Commission of Five Secretary Hyde was employed to draft bankers, insurance and credit corporation leaders to formulate a credit program that would dovetail with the utilization program.

The land planning commission will have five members from the department of agriculture, one from the farm board, three from the department of interior, one from the farm loan board and five from land grant colleges.

Organized agriculture will be represented on the legislative body by four members each from the American farm bureau federation; National Grange; Farmer's Union; and National Cooperative Council; three from the Agricultural Editor's association; and one each from the American Bankers association, U. S. Chamber of Commerce and cooperative farm organizations.

NILES HUNTER WAS SHOT IN HEAD 4 TIMES

presumably, caused by a grazing bullet. It was possible, the authorities said, that, judging from the position of the body, these bullets might have been fired by Cross.

Shot In The Head

Examination of the body revealed that one shot entered the left cheek and came out about an inch below the right eye. Another struck the head just back of the left ear; a third struck directly in the back of the head, fracturing the skull, and the fourth grazed the head in back of the right ear. No powder marks were found about the face or head, and it was evident, the officials said, that the shots had been fired from a distance.

Two theories were advanced by the investigating officers today (first, that the absence of powder marks about the face and head definitely set aside any theory of suicide, and, second, that the four wounds in the face and head could not reasonably have been caused by anyone mistaking the man for a deer, unless all four shots had been fired at a single aim from a repeating rifle.

Two theories regarding the empty shells near and under the body were advanced. If conclusion after having been wounded, Cross might have fired the seven shots as a signal for help. Again it is possible, the officers said, that, sighting a buck before he himself was hit he had taken seven shots at the animal.

Would Have Moved On the latter theory, however, it is reasoned that had the man shot at a deer, he would logically have moved to investigate the result, but the empty shells indicated that apparently he had not moved from the spot.

Coroner David Asp, of Norway, summoned to the scene following discovery of the body yesterday, summoned a coroner's jury, and conducted the inquest over the body. The jury found that the man came to his death as the result of gun-shot wounds, caused by bullets fired from a gun presumably not his own. The absence of powder marks about the face and head influenced the jury in the latter statement. Similarly, no bullets were found in the body, which was later removed to Asp's undertaking parlors, at Norway.

Assisting in the investigation today are Paul Rahm, prosecutor; A. J. Hayden, sergeant of state police; Ed Corey, undersheriff, and Trooped Jack Spencer. The officials went again to the scene this morning, to question friends of the dead man and others who may know more of the circumstances leading up to his death. The officers had not returned at noon today.

Accompanying the investigating officers, also, is M. A. Rutherford, coroner and undertaker of Niles, Mich. Rutherford was acquainted with Cross, and has arrived here to take charge of the body. It is likely, Rutherford said, that he will leave tonight for Niles in custody of the body.

According to Lukas, it was the first trip Cross had made to the woods of upper Michigan. Cross was a farmer, residing a short distance from Niles, and, in his spare time, was employed as a carpenter. He was described by Lukas, and by other members of the hunting party at camp, as a likeable man, good-humored and with no known enemies. No one could advance a reason why anyone should have quarreled with Cross or attempted to take his life.

Cross was married, and has two daughters, four and seven years of age.

Tooth Troubles Lead In Childhood's Ills

Washington. (AP)—Toothaches and tooth troubles appear to cause more misery among American children than any other ailment. In a study of thousands of children all over the United States, decayed teeth were found by the Public Health Service to be the most prevalent physical defect. More than 65 per cent of all children examined had one or more decayed teeth, including decayed temporary teeth. About half as many, 32 per cent, had defective vision. More than 30 per cent had enlarged or diseased tonsils. Three-quarters of all the children examined had some physical defect other than defective teeth, eyes or hearing. There were more defective children at the ages of 8 and 9 than before or after these ages. Decayed permanent teeth were most prevalent at age 15, defective eyesight reached its peak at age 15 and became approximately the same after that age. Poor hearing was highest at about age 11. Ninety-four per cent of all children 17 years old examined in survey had one or more teeth that were decayed, missing or filled.

DOG POISONERS

BY SOME strange process of reasoning certain people arrive at the conclusion that dogs annoy them they may seek to destroy the animals. They would not think of smashing a neighbor's phonograph or radio set which might disturb them, nor of killing persons who might displease them.

Dog poisoning is an inexcusable practice, no matter what the incentive of dislike. The sight of the valuable pet dog, writhing in pain on the Escanaba postoffice lawn yesterday morning after being poisoned, forcibly impressed onlookers as to the viciousness of this practice.

The poisoner generally forgets that what is poison for dogs also is poison for birds, cats—and, worst of all, for children. The greatest danger of this despicable work is the threat to human life. The propensity of tots to put everything in their mouths makes the danger very real.

TRANSCONTINENTAL ROAD

A WEALTHY New Yorker the other day suggested the construction of an eight-billion-dollar toll highway across the United States; and while the nation could do with an addition to its network of good roads, the one proposed by this gentleman is a little appalling.

His highway would be 500 feet wide, from coast to coast. It would have 10 traffic lanes in each direction, with the speed limits on certain lanes ranging up to 100 miles an hour. It would be lined with 300 modern hotels and tourist camps, and what with one thing and another it would be quite a roadway.

Of course, an affair like this would make transcontinental motoring a swift and easy procedure. But there can be too much of a good thing. The law of diminishing returns can apply to roads as well as to anything else.

What motorist, desiring to drive across the country, would care to hit a 100-mile clip? What motorist, in his senses or out of them, would care to travel from one ocean to another on a strip of concrete 500 feet wide? What citizen, whether he drives an auto or not, can contemplate a highway like this without feeling a little bit dizzy?

The joys of touring do not arise solely from a smooth pavement and high speed. In constantly-increasing numbers, automobile owners are beginning to discover that a trip can be made much more enjoyable if the broad, well-paved and heavily-traveled main highways are dodged altogether.

GEMS OF PERIL

CHAPTER XXXIV MARY dropped the Countess' arm, on which the bracelet glittered, and went wondrously to the door. Bruce stood outside. He seemed surprised to see Louise, but came in at Mary's invitation, stopping just within the door.

His indifference, reported by Bowen, was a mask. Mary saw with a twinge of pity. Little liking as she had for the willful, selfish young man, she could not help a feeling of shame for her sex at seeing him made to suffer so at the hands of a woman of Louise's sort.

He came forward with head lowered, eyes searching the faces of the two women. "I wish to ask some questions," he said deliberately. "Louise tells me you are in need of money?" He looked at Mary as he spoke.

Louise started to rise, but he motioned her back. "Sit down! You have told me two stories. Now I'm going to find out which is correct." Then to Mary: "Well!"

"I was, but I'm not now, Mary said. "But why? How does that concern you?"

The plan announced by the J. I. Case Co. calls for payment by employees of 5 per cent of their salaries into a savings fund, matched dollar for dollar by the company, until a sum equal to six months' wages is accumulated.

Thereafter the employee's payments, still matched by the company, will be 2 per cent until the sum accumulated amounts to a year's wages. Then payments will cease, and in the event of unemployment or disability, the funds will be repaid to him at the rate of 40 per cent of his regular earnings. Moreover, if the employee leaves the company, his own investment will be returned to him.

This plan of employee protection, or similar ones, have been in effect in just a few industrial plants throughout the country for a number of years, but the whole field of industry has never as yet displayed any great concern for its workers. Eventually, it is going to have a fall in step, and the constant effort of a few to deliberately mislabel the system as a "dole" cannot much longer be effective.

For obviously, the corporation assumes a considerable financial obligation. And this is a period when industry can make a strong case for omitting to assume such an obligation. The point is that no effort was made to protect the worker when profits were bulging, and that if ever the old hazardous system is to be abandoned, the shouting must be done now. It is doubly to the credit of companies that do—right now—undertake such a system that the first year or two may provide tough studding.—Des Moines Register.

"You women!" he said. "You beat me. I would have believed anyone who told me you'd sprung at each other's throats, but that you'd actually help each other out—"

He paused—quick suspicion in his eyes. Mary and the Countess exchanged a slow look which they were careful to keep as expressionless as possible.

"Wait a minute," Bruce said. "Perhaps I've swallowed this a little too readily. Perhaps you have had time to arrange this before I came in. Miss Harkness is merely backing up your story when the truth is—quite different, perhaps?"

Bruce's eyes probed the Countess, who flushed.

"That's enough!" Mary answered, angrily. "Leave my room, please!"

"Presently, but first—his voice was like the crack of a whip—"if that is Miss Harkness' bracelet, give it to her!"

LOUISE stood up, breathing hard. There was veiled appeal in her eyes.

And since she had come off so well last night she had thought of an even more dangerous experiment which she meant to try without Mr. Jupiter's knowledge, for she was sure he would never consent. She would wear the rubies tonight! By dangling them under the very nose of the Fly she was sure she would never rest until he had got hold of them. By sharpening his appetite she might succeed in hurrying him into an attempt to make off with them. And if Bates and the others would help her, lead him straight into a trap.

She went to her dressing-table and put the bracelet in her handbag, where the L. O. U. already was hidden. With the bag tucked under her arm she went into the hall.

Louise, of course, was relying on her to return the bracelet when Bruce's eyes were turned the other way. She must have been surprised at Mary's unexpected part of her life, but she evidently considered it just the quixotic act of a woman helping another pull her chestnuts out of the fire. Mary disliked Bruce enough to do it for the fun of annoying him, she probably reasoned. She would go on thinking so until she found out that Mary did not mean to give the bracelet back. Then, look out! Louise would have to account

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch (Copyright 1931 by Douglas Malloch)

A BABE IN THE HOUSE There's a babe in the house, and it's made quite a change: She's a little, wee thing, and it seems rather strange. But the others forget all their troubles and cares. For, if baby has trouble, her trouble is theirs. With a babe in the house, there is plenty to do. And, the nice thing about it, it isn't for you.

Yes, whatever the bruises or bumps that you get, With a babe in the house you completely forget. All your labors, your troubles, your pleasure, your pain. You forget many matters, including yourself. But the way that you whistle, the way that you sing! Oh, a babe in the house seems a pretty good thing.

Yes, whatever the bruises or bumps that you get, With a babe in the house you completely forget. All your labors, your troubles, your pleasure, your pain. You forget many matters, including yourself. 'Looking Backward'

NOVEMBER 22, 1911

Earlier than ever before in the history of the ore handling industry here, ore dock officials are being forced to battle with frozen ore. Every car of ore delivered at the docks is frozen solid and ore left in the pockets is frozen through and through, making it necessary to use steam and hot water both in unloading the cars and dumping the dock pockets.

It is estimated that there is approximately 1200 tons of frozen ore in the local yards. Yesterday it required a crew of 100 men to unload 57 cars in an entire day while under normal conditions, the same number of cars could be dumped by a crew of 20 men in but a few hours.

A delivery horse belonging to H. D. Gibbs of Perkins stepped from the beaten track near the center of the town yesterday and plunged head foremost into the snow at the roadside. So deep was the snow it is claimed that the horse was completely covered and it required three men with shovels working for 15 minutes to dig the animal out and assist it to its feet.

Peninsula Paragraphs

By Marjorie Hantoon Morrill

THE DEER-HUNT It doesn't matter how dim is the trail. As long as the eye can follow The bending blades on the boxy swale And broken twigs in the hollow; Here is the place where a pointed hoof Stirred the leaves as it passed, And the trees lift up to a lacy roof As the trail leads out at last.

Trees lift up, and so does the heart. As a red fox moves in the brush; Beach leaves whisper, blue jays dart. And out of the breathless hush Comes the floating flight of a white-tailed deer. His antlered head held high, His blood is hot, and only fear Could darken that amber eye.

There are men in the woods! The blue jays call; The buck stands still in his tracks. A tree branch shudders, a beach nut falls. Silence is sundered and cracks; Shorn of his beauty and hardihood The buck lies down in pain. There are men in the woods! There are men in the woods! Comes the echo again and again.

Perhaps it is needed, this annual hunt. City living must be hard on humans. They must forget many of the common certainties of life in the noise and the congestion and perhaps it is wise that they come to the woods once a year and turn savage for a time.

Strange, isn't it, that deer must die to make hunter's holiday? Down in the Saginaw valley once lived a hunter by the name of Seth Benjamin. It is reported that he, during an active lifetime of hunting, killed more than two thousand deer. Dan McLeod said once that he should spend a year in purgatory for each animal. That seems harsh, especially when one considers that Seth was a gentle soul. He was also a dead shot. He finished deer for food to trade in the camp boss for enough pork and beef for his crews during the winter. It was all a part of those lusty old days.

Now when people go hunting they go because of an inner need that has nothing to do with their digestion. The fun of waiting on the trail, of watching the wind and taking advantage of every shadow and footing, of a smart animal into thinking he is safe, and then the sudden red moment when the primitive blood-lust surges. Maybe it is necessary.

But this is true: This northern country has its gifts for the world. They are presented to those who are worthy and are composed of such values as silence, and blue distances, and contrasts of darkness and light. They are spoken in soft voices until very recently. The nail was all there. He pulled that picture down and tore it up in a thousand pieces, the boy told me. He was worried for fear his boss was going to be sore. Seems he was proud of that picture—it was some guy he knew that had since got famous.

"He's framed this picture to keep it nice because he was especially proud of it. That was because the man in the picture was born there, in the village, and he knew him since he was a boy."

Bates paused thoughtfully and put a hand in the baggy pocket of his linen coat.

"I asked the boy who it was, but he didn't know. He was just a young punk, the clerk. He didn't remember anything about it. But he told me I could look in the back room where he'd thrown the pieces and maybe I could put them together again."

Out of the pocket Bates now lifted a newspaper parcel. Inside were hundreds of small bits of cardboard, the torn fragments of the picture De Loma had demolished. Bates balanced the odd package on his open palm. Mary and Mr. Jupiter stared at the heap, fascinated.

"Who could it be?" Mary whispered. "That," said Henry Bates, carefully folding his parcel together again, "is what I am going to spend the next couple of hours finding out."

His indifference, reported by Bowen, was a mask. Mary saw with a twinge of pity. Little liking as she had for the willful, selfish young man, she could not help a feeling of shame for her sex at seeing him made to suffer so at the hands of a woman of Louise's sort.

He came forward with head lowered, eyes searching the faces of the two women. "I wish to ask some questions," he said deliberately. "Louise tells me you are in need of money?" He looked at Mary as he spoke.

Louise started to rise, but he motioned her back. "Sit down! You have told me two stories. Now I'm going to find out which is correct." Then to Mary: "Well!"

"I was, but I'm not now, Mary said. "But why? How does that concern you?"

The plan announced by the J. I. Case Co. calls for payment by employees of 5 per cent of their salaries into a savings fund, matched dollar for dollar by the company, until a sum equal to six months' wages is accumulated.

Thereafter the employee's payments, still matched by the company, will be 2 per cent until the sum accumulated amounts to a year's wages. Then payments will cease, and in the event of unemployment or disability, the funds will be repaid to him at the rate of 40 per cent of his regular earnings. Moreover, if the employee leaves the company, his own investment will be returned to him.

This plan of employee protection, or similar ones, have been in effect in just a few industrial plants throughout the country for a number of years, but the whole field of industry has never as yet displayed any great concern for its workers. Eventually, it is going to have a fall in step, and the constant effort of a few to deliberately mislabel the system as a "dole" cannot much longer be effective.

For obviously, the corporation assumes a considerable financial obligation. And this is a period when industry can make a strong case for omitting to assume such an obligation. The point is that no effort was made to protect the worker when profits were bulging, and that if ever the old hazardous system is to be abandoned, the shouting must be done now. It is doubly to the credit of companies that do—right now—undertake such a system that the first year or two may provide tough studding.—Des Moines Register.

"You women!" he said. "You beat me. I would have believed anyone who told me you'd sprung at each other's throats, but that you'd actually help each other out—"

He paused—quick suspicion in his eyes. Mary and the Countess exchanged a slow look which they were careful to keep as expressionless as possible.

"Wait a minute," Bruce said. "Perhaps I've swallowed this a little too readily. Perhaps you have had time to arrange this before I came in. Miss Harkness is merely backing up your story when the truth is—quite different, perhaps?"

Bruce's eyes probed the Countess, who flushed.

"That's enough!" Mary answered, angrily. "Leave my room, please!"

"Presently, but first—his voice was like the crack of a whip—"if that is Miss Harkness' bracelet, give it to her!"

LOUISE stood up, breathing hard. There was veiled appeal in her eyes.

And since she had come off so well last night she had thought of an even more dangerous experiment which she meant to try without Mr. Jupiter's knowledge, for she was sure he would never consent. She would wear the rubies tonight! By dangling them under the very nose of the Fly she was sure she would never rest until he had got hold of them. By sharpening his appetite she might succeed in hurrying him into an attempt to make off with them. And if Bates and the others would help her, lead him straight into a trap.

She went to her dressing-table and put the bracelet in her handbag, where the L. O. U. already was hidden. With the bag tucked under her arm she went into the hall.

Danger Season Arrives For Automobile Driver

Chicago, Nov. 21. (Special)—With King Winter preparing to move in for his annual visit, the National Safety Council warns motorists that the dangerous season for driving is officially here.

Beginning in October, highway accidents start a steady rise to a high peak during the last three months of the year, according to the Council. This increase, despite the fact that there are fewer vehicles on the streets indicates that neither motorists nor pedestrians make sufficient allowance for the peculiar conditions of the fall and early winter seasons.

During cold weather a good many hand-cranking accidents occur which result in broken arms and sprained wrists. Care should always be taken to see that the transmission gears are in neutral and that the spark is well retarded.

Group Theatre to Start Rehearsals of "Son of God"

New York, Nov. 21. (AP)—That Junior offspring of the Theatre Guild, the Group Theatre, is to become a repertory playhouse. Inspired by the success of their first production, "The House of Connelly," this staff of youthful experimenters will place a second drama in rehearsal on Monday to alternate with the Paul Green work.

The second production is "Son of God," a labor treatise which was written by Paul Sifton, an erstwhile newspaperman who turned playwright last season with "Midnight."

The Group Theatre has its own stage now, having moved this week into the Mansfield, so long occupied by "Green Pastures." They are really a group of about twenty young actors and technicians who have banded themselves together in cooperative production.

Every member of the group has a vote in their plans, and their leaders are Cheryl Crawford, a Smith College girl; Lee Strasberg, a stage manager, and Harold Clurman, a playwright. All very young, very idealistic, and, thanks to "The House of Connelly," very successful.

In the meantime old grand-mother Guild is doing very nicely, too. Hard on the heels of their sellout, "Mourning Becomes Electra," they brought in Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine in "Reunion at Vienna."

Robert Sherwood has fashioned one of those witty, risqué and fast comedies so admirably suited to the light touch of the Lunts' acting. It is regarded as a more fascinating and much better comedy than Sherwood's others, "The Road to Rome" and "The Queen's Husband."

The plot revolves around a post-war reunion of Austria-Hungarian royalty in Vienna.

Lunt, as the exiled Archduke, slips across the border in order to greet his former mistress, the Princess (Lynn Fontaine) again. She is now wedded to a scientific commoner, but the ardent, egotistical love making of the Archduke offers an almost overwhelming invitation to her.

The play, naturally, is a Lunt-Fontaine holiday of witty romances, humorous razzle-dazzle and other scenes which allow them to give the same effervescent performances they gave in "Caprice" and "The Guardsman."

Elliott and J. C. Nugent, son and father, offer "Past Service" as their newest example of play-writing and acting. The Nugents detoured the play from their Ohio home town to Los Angeles and then to New York.

It was given a lukewarm reception on the opening night, many being surprised by the risqué situations in a work written by two men heretofore noted for their wholesomeness and clean fun.

Festive Tables Recall First Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving, perhaps, has lost some of its old-fashioned flavor, but in most places it still is a day of family reunion, with festivities centering about the Thanksgiving dinner.

Old favorite recipes are brought up from the past and the menu may resemble that of the first Thanksgiving at Plymouth. The day will be more enjoyable for all if the menu can be prepared with ease, some of it, perhaps, the day before Thanksgiving.

Certain items on the menu are accepted as part of the Thanksgiving tradition, but wise judgment will govern choice of the fowl, vegetable and fruit.

Pictures of turkeys and pilgrims or favors simulating them have a part in the picture. Fruit, raisins and nuts in a basket centering the table add a pleasing decorative note.

Shoe Stylists Are Predicting Colorful Mode

New York (AP)—Color in women's shoes has emerged as a leading note for Palm Beach and spring, both for sports and street wear.

There'll be a brighter note in footwear in the parade of fashionables at the various resorts.

At least this was the prophecy of a recent New York conference of shoe and leather men.

As they forecast it, the well-dressed woman will make her selection from a varied assortment of colored kid shoes.

They will include Indies and swagger brown, admirably blue, sea sand—which is a pale, pinkish beige—solid color shoes with trim to match costume accessories, and, for late spring, white with trim in sun colors.

These sun colors will include cabana green, hill red, orange glow, sun rust, tropical yellow and biscay blue. Black will lead for universal wear.

Kid's predicted dominance will continue to hold it in the spotlight.

Americans Are Privileged Class in Russia, for They Are Needed in Soviet Five Year Plan.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The last of 12 remarkable articles by Julia Blanshard, staff writer, whom NEA Service and The Press sent to Soviet Russia to get the biggest story in the world today. No casual tourist stopping at fashionable hotels and traveling de luxe, she lived with and among Russians as they went about their daily lives under their amazing social and economic system, and here she presents the story of a people not the story of a cause.)

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

If you were an American living in Moscow, you would know how to treat a privileged class. You probably would belong to that class. Only foreigners do. There are approximately 20,000 in Russia today. You would find that you could buy the best Russian cigarettes which Russians themselves cannot buy.

WOODS

Old 28, used before the stone highway from Seney to Munising, was built, was our road that day. A new trip for us. It is a pretty good road even for a day of rain and mud. And it runs through a territory of beautiful hardwood trees.

WOODS

Car loads of red-coated gentlemen were met with or passed or passed us. We began to find camps. Along this road the camps were generally very fine ones. Great spreads of tents with wide-flung walls and pointed tops and sometimes with several smaller tents standing about in a friendly fashion like an old hen and her chicks.

WOODS

Soon that beautiful town was in sight. The waters were dull, mist hung over them and half hid Grand Island and the farther point. Back of the town the hills arose, treeless and purple in the hazy twilight.

WOODS

At a tract of beautiful hardwood a sign, "Beaver Trapping" caught the eye. It said that the tract was closed to beaver trapping. There were no camps in that tract. Evidently the hunter thought that a closed territory for beaver meant no public hunting.

WOODS

How you live and what you eat depends largely on what reasons you have for being in Russia. Down at Dneproprostol, I was amazed to find a little American colony that looked exactly like a New Jersey suburb. There was a charming six-room brick bungalow for each family, built according to American specifications with bathrooms, fireplaces, tiled walls and the only screened porches the length and breadth of Russia.

WOODS

Colonel Hugh Cooper got all this in his contract. He also got his men the privilege of shipping in American canned goods. For dinner down there one day we had a delicious five course meal, all out of American canned goods! Colonel Cooper also specified that his corps must receive pay from the Soviet government in dollars.

WOODS

At Karkov I visited the homes of these American mechanical engineers whose companies had had no such foresight. They lived in two-room and bath apartments in the regular Soviet apartment houses and couldn't even ship in American cigarettes. Moreover they were paid in rubles. Today in Russia the ruble is officially worth half a dollar.

WOODS

More likely after scouring the town, asking everybody you meet and walking miles you will find either a tiny room alone or just a cot in somebody else's room.

WOODS

Both of the stores on which the government issues food cards for foreigners are much better stocked than the Russian co-operatives. The specialist group in Moscow have quarters assigned them by the government. One electrical group has a whole apartment house to itself, with all the electrical equipment they want to bring in. They even have mechanical refrigeration—in a city that has no ice to sell individually!

WOODS

Life for an American in Moscow has much of the frontier aspect to it. You get used to expecting and giving help when anyone needs it. You get used to doing many things for yourself that you never did before.

WOODS

But a typical American business man, a "Babbit" we met at the Metropole bar one night summed up this feeling that many have. "Hello, Peter," we all greeted him. Someone said to him, "Hear you are going out to Berlin tomorrow night. Guess you won't be sorry to have a steak dinner at the Adlon?"

Slaughter of Deer Opposed by Many Old Time Hunters

Many of the old time hunters are not going in the woods this year. In discussing this circumstance with some of the famous deer slayers of former years the writer finds that a large number of them no longer believe in killing deer. We might quote a score of them who say: "It seems too bad to kill a deer now. They will soon be all killed off. More than one old deer hunter has killed a deer for the past decade. Whenever an automobile drives through town with a buck or two tied to the running board you are sure to hear some one remark: 'It is too bad to kill them off that way.'"

HIAWATHA MAN UP ON PERJURY

Charge James Goodar of Falsifying Affidavit in Getting Deer Permit

James Goodar, of Hiawatha township, Friday was bound over to circuit court on a charge of perjury after it was found that he had falsified his statement in obtaining a deer hunting license. It was the first case to be brought in Schoolcraft county under the new statute qualifying the eligibility of hunters.

Goodar waived examination when arraigned in justice court Friday and his bond was placed at $1,000. Thus far he has been unable to procure the necessary funds and is now lodged in the county jail. Goodar was apprehended Thursday by Paul Knuth, local conservation officer.

In obtaining his hunting license at a local agency, Goodar made affidavit to the effect that he had never been convicted of a deer law violation in the past three years. Justice court records, however, show that he had pleaded guilty on June 18 of having deer in his possession.

The new statute, which went into effect this year for the first time, states that no license will be issued to a person who has been convicted of a deer law violation within the last three years or accidentally wounded or killed anyone while hunting within the last five years.

DELIA OLSON LAID TO REST

Impressive Services Mark Funeral of Accident Victim

Tribute to a beautiful character was paid by students, fellow workers, friends of the young woman, of her family, and townspeople in general on Saturday at the funeral services held for Miss Delia Olson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olson, whose tragic death came Thursday as the result of injuries she received Tuesday when she was struck by a car.

Close friends crowded the flower-filled living room of the Olson home, for the brief services at the home, conducted by Rev. C. E. Olson, pastor of the First Lutheran church, and the church itself, where services were held at 2:30 o'clock following services at the home, was crowded beyond its capacity, with many unable to gain entrance to the church.

Those in attendance at the service included Gladstone school officials and faculty members, members of the Gladstone high school class of 1931, Miss Olson's class, and a host of friends and acquaintances. The Gladstone office of the Daily Press, at which Miss Olson was employed as assistant, was closed at noon and remained closed during the afternoon.

Rev. Olson's sermon during the church service was a glowing eulogy to the character of the unfortunate girl. Adding to the impressiveness were two beautiful songs, favorites of the dead girl, sung by Noble Swenson and William Nelson.

Former classmates of Miss Olson, Floyd Whitechurch, William Noreus, Ernest J. Olson, Harold Tang, Hilding Olson and Robert Skellenger, acted as pallbearers. Six close friends, Mildred Anderson, Viola Danielson, Luella Marshall, Helga Anderson, Erna Erickson and Mildred Marshall served as flower girls.

The body was laid to rest in the family plot in Fernwood cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer LaPlante

LATE RECOVERY HELPS MARKET

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES

Table with columns for Standard Statistics Co., Dow Jones Industrial Average, and other market indices.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY (Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Nov. 21. (AP)—Short covering softened the fall of the stock market today, but the cushion of buying orders was poorly padded and clothing prices averaged lower, notwithstanding a small rise in the rails.

An early advance in wheat almost completely offset the loss of the first hour. When wheat broke sharply from the highs, however, shares dropped also, although there was a late recovery by both markets.

Transactions in stocks totaled $77,178,000. U. S. Steel was again actively offered and made a new low at 40 after selling at 63 1/8, or 2 points higher. Supported at the bottom, the industrial leader squeezed back to 60 3/4, making the net loss 3/4.

American Telephone and General Electric pushed down, together with Western Union, National Biscuit, Woolworth and Procter & Gamble, although net losses in each case were moderate.

Auburn Auto, International Nickel, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Kennecott and Standard Oil of New Jersey and Bethlehem closed steady to firm. In the rails, New York Central, Atchafalaya, Baltimore & Ohio and Norfolk & Western were up a point or more.

Union Pacific lost all but a fraction of a 2 1/2 point advance. Gossip concerning the outcome of the railroad conference mentioned the possibility of a voluntary wage reduction in consideration for employment stabilization, but during market hours there was no confirmation of such a rumor.

CHICAGO BUTTER

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Butter prices declined 1/2 to 1 cent today, under pressure of heavier offerings and a slack demand. Fresh: 92 score 30 1/2 to 31; 92, 30 to 31; 20, 28 to 29; 27, 28; 28, 28 to 29; Centralized cartons, 30 score 27 1/2 to 28 1/2; 28, 26.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Cattle 5,000 compared week ago; strictly grain fed steers and yearlings 25 to 50 higher; long yearlings and weighty steers up most; common grades strong to 25 higher; medium and good grades very uneven, but mostly steady; all the stock 25 to 50, mostly to higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Nov. 21.—A rapid succession of uncertainties regarding peace or war between China and Japan whirled grain prices up, then down, then up again today. Reports followed each other with startling velocity that Japan and China both had signed an armistice, later than Japan would conditionally agree, and still later that China insisted upon Japanese evacuation of Manchuria. In the meantime, speculative buyers apparently had the whip hand for at least the time being.

Bond Mart Drops But Late Reaction Levels Off Slump

BOND MARKET AVERAGES

Table showing bond market averages for various types of bonds.

New York, Nov. 21. (AP)—The bond market declined today but a certain amount of resistance to the decline developed in the late trading and closing levels represented irregular changes.

The closing average of sixty representative corporate loans was 81.8, a decline of one one tenth of a point for the day. The average for twenty railroad issues showed a slight gain. Trading was consistently dull. Sales on the stock exchange aggregated $4,106,000, the smallest total for a short session since Aug. 15 when the turnover amounted to $3,506,000.

German loans were the most active on the foreign issues and their mixed fluctuations were fairly typical. The 7s of the national government gained fractions but the 5 1/2s sold off. Bonds of the German Central Agricultural bank were generally higher but other corporate and provincial issues made mixed changes.

Argentine obligations declined irregularly and Chile bonds were generally lower. Japanese issues sold irregularly lower in the first hour but the more important ones rallied and closed higher or unchanged.

Gains and Losses On Curb Mixed As Pressure Is Eased

New York, Nov. 21. (AP)—Selling pressure lifted on the curb today, but the market responded to new issues and not changing in most leaders proved to be of little consequence. Small gains and losses were well mixed. The turnover was approximately 150,000 shares.

Cord Corp. was a feature, advancing more than a point. On the other hand, Ford of Canada "A", Irving Air Chute, Lehigh Coal & Navigation and Murphy company lost about a point while Aluminum of America found a new low at 69. Deere, New Jersey Zinc and Newmont Mining firmed slightly.

DAY'S MARKETS IN BRIEF

New York, Nov. 21. (AP)—Stocks heavy; U. S. Steel sagged to new low.

Bonds heavy; Liberties ease in dull trading.

Curb irregular; changes narrow.

Foreign exchanges irregular; sterling sags.

Cotton barely steady; heavy ginning figures.

Sugar steady; Cuban buying.

Coffee quiet; Brazilian support.

Wheat steady; strong cables; firmness Winnipeg.

Corn steady; firm cables; small country offerings; low Iowa "A" higher.

Hogs easier.

Long Run by Hewitt Gives Michigan 6-0 Victory

GOPHER ATTACK STOPPED COLD

Wolverine Fullback Is Big Noise in Narrow Victory

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 21 (AP)—A reformed end who in his new position as a fullback scampered 57 yards for a touchdown, and an inspired line that stood firm under the pounding of Jack Manders, plunging fullback, today gave Michigan a 6 to 0 victory over Minnesota, her powerful rival from the northwest.

Bill Hewitt, a good end transformed into a great fullback by Coach Harry Kipke, scored the lone touchdown in a game in which 45,000 spectators saw the vaunted drive of the Minnesota team reduced to a defensive stand throughout much of the day.

Hewitt scored early in the first period, cutting through tackle, backing off four Gophers, and slashing 57 yards to the goal line. He successfully stiff-armed the Minnesota safety-man who dove at him just as he reached the goal. Petoskey's attempt at a place kick was low.

Manders stopped his line plunging reputation, was stopped repeatedly by the Michigan line. He carried the ball 16 times for a net gain of 18 yards, while Hewitt dove through the Minnesota wall 20 times for a gain of 110 yards. As the game progressed, Manders was used less as a ball carrier.

While the Michigan driving attack threatened a score at every play, Minnesota's best chance came in the second period, when their famous forward-lateral pass with Captain Clarence Munn on the receiving end, gave them a first down on Michigan's 27-yard line. The ball was advanced six yards more before Jack Heston, second son of the famous Willie, intercepted Somers' pass to stop the Gopher thrust.

After the early touchdown, Munn's punting set the Wolverines back when they seemed with scoring distance, although Heston averaged 39 yards as compared with Munn's 38.

In a last desperate attempt to score the Gophers opened a wild passing attack, and one of their aerial heaves was intercepted by Ivan Williamson, Michigan end, who was run out of bounds on the Michigan seven-yard line. Captain Hudson carried the ball to the four yard line, but the timer's gun ended the game before another play could be run.

Victory for the Wolverines came their another year at least in which to find the missing little brown box, victor's trophy which recently disappeared from the campus.

Michigan's rushing game was good for five first downs, Minnesota made one first down by rushing, two by forward passes and one on a penalty for a total of four Michigan gained a net of 165 yards by rushing, compared with 32 for Minnesota.

The Gophers attempted 17 forward passes and completed seven for a total gain of 45 yards. Four were intercepted.

The Wolverines tried only one forward pass, which fell incomplete.

Jack Heston punted 16 times for an average gain of 39 yards beyond the line of scrimmage.

Munn and Somers punted for Minnesota 14 times for an average of 38 yards.

Michigan drew penalties which totaled 35 yards, and Minnesota was penalized ten yards.

Excepting for their desperate last period forward passing spree, the Gophers were powerless to gain ground today. During the first two periods, Manders was called upon to carry the ball frequently, but on almost all occasions the Michigan line held him to gains of a yard or less. Manders was used less as a ball carrier as the game progressed.

The Gophers made few attempts to run the Michigan ends, and on such occasions as they did they found an airtight defense. Failing to go through or around, they choose to attempt to go overhead. Their 17 attempts at the aerial game availed them nothing and probably would have given Michigan another touchdown if the game had lasted a minute longer.

The closest Minnesota came to scoring was in the second period when their famous forward-lateral pass, with Captain Clarence Munn on the receiving end of the second throw, gave them a first down on the Michigan 27-yard line. The oval was advanced six yards farther on two plays before Jack Heston intercepted a forward pass thrown by Somers, Minnesota quarterback. The half time gun sounded soon after that.

TARHEEL TARTAR

Starring in every game this fall, Ellis Fyval, above, husky right guard, is probably University of North Carolina's best bet for All-Southern football honors.

Ellis Fyval, the outstanding lineman on the Tarheel team and one of the best in Dixie. He weighs 190 pounds—which is heavy enough.

Through around or over the Michigan defense, Kipke made only one substitution, sending Norman Daniels in at Petoskey's end after the sophomore received a hard bump. Michigan took its punishment and finished fresh.

At the start of the fourth period Munn kicked a short punt which traveled only to the Minnesota 44-yard line. What appeared at first a break for Michigan proved otherwise, when officials ruled the ball had touched a Michigan player before a Gopher downed it. Minnesota was given the ball.

A few plays later Champlin, Minnesota substitute back, returned Heston's punt 40 yards to the Michigan 41-yard line. Petoskey then intercepted a forward pass, but fumbled when tackled and saw the ball recovered by Minnesota on Michigan's 47-yard line. Manders made the Northmen's only first down rushing, carrying the ball to the Wolverine 25-yard line.

Manders gained three yards on the next play, but two passes by 'Lil fell incomplete and a third was completed for no gain, giving the ball to Michigan on their 34-yard line.

Heston's punt traveled as far as the Gopher 20-yard line, and Minnesota elected to forward pass again. Hudson intercepted the first pass and ran 35 yards to Minnesota's 31-yard line. Fay made it first down on the 21-yard stripe, but Hewitt's fumble was recovered by Wells, Gopher tackle.

Williamson then intercepted 'Lil's forward pass and ran to the seven yard line to give Michigan a scoring opportunity which was cut short by the gun ending the conflict.

A crowd of 45,000 witnessed the contest.

BUCKEYES ROUT ILLINOIS, 40-0

Long Runs Are Feature of Big Ten Game at Ohio Stadium

BY JAMES L. RENICK (Associated Press Sports Writer) Ohio Stadium, Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 21 (AP)—Scarlet and gray clad football players from Ohio State ambled up and down toward down street here this afternoon and as a result the University of Illinois' eleven was handed the worst licking it ever received from an Ohio team. The final score was 40 to 0.

It was a three fold victory for the Buckeyes. It marked the first time Illinois had been beaten in the Ohio horse shoe and the first time since 1917 it has been subdued on this soil. Also it was the first time Ohio ever defeated Illinois and Michigan in the same season.

Long Runs Feature

Not only was this the worst defeat ever handed the Illinois' in Ohio but the worst given Illinois by any team in the twenty years that Pop Zuppke has guided the decline of football at that institution.

Today's victory was a personal triumph for two Buckeye players, Earl Cramer and Phil Carroll. These two players took the crowd to its feet four times during the game with sensational runs for touchdowns with Cramer winning the day for Ohio by returning a kick for a marker. During the fourth period the blood speedster broke loose again and scored seventy yards after intercepting a forward pass. Cramer crossed up the whole Illinois' team in the first period when he started to run from punt formation and went 54 yards for the first touchdown of the game. Later in the game he dashed 45 yards and following the next play went 25 more for another touchdown.

Falcons Sign Up Ottawa Puck Man

Detroit, Nov. 21 (AP)—The acquisition of Art Gagne, former right wing of the Ottawa club, by the Detroit Falcons, National League Hockey club, was announced today by Jack Adams, manager.

Gagne will report with the Falcons tomorrow night in New York. He is one of the players of the Ottawa team who was not taken by other clubs when the Ottawa club suspended operations this season.

Duquesne Wins from North Dakota, 13-7

Pittsburgh, Nov. 21 (AP)—An embattled Duquesne eleven defeated North Dakota university, 13 to 7 today, avenging a 1920 defeat and spilling the Flickertails' undefeated record. A crowd of 5,000 sat in a drizzling rain to watch the game.

Montreal Canadiens Shut Out Boston

Montreal, Nov. 21 (AP)—The world champion Montreal Canadiens shut out the Boston Bruins, one of their strongest rivals, 3 to 0 tonight in their first clash of the National Hockey league season. The Canadiens again showed effective flashes of their best form while the Bruins failed to "click" properly.

The Canadiens beat Tiny Thompson for the first goal in the opening period and dented the cords twice more in the second, then held off a strenuous Boston rush at the finish. Howie Morenz, leading scorer last season, started things off with his first goal of the season, burning a shot into a four-inch opening between the goal's pads and the post. Albert "Battleship" Ledue and Aurel Joliat scored the other Canadiens goals in fine individual efforts.

6,500 Miles to Love Led Only to a Jail

Everett, Wash.—All the way from Wales, Charles Cotter came to see Mrs. Lil Burt because he loved her. But when he got here she broke his heart and had him put in jail, he says.

Cotter fell in love with Mrs. Burt two and a half years ago. Mrs. Burt's husband became suspicious and, as Cotter was in the U. S. illegally, had him deported.

Cotter explains that after he had returned to Wales, his home, Mrs. Burt wrote and asked him to come back. He stowed away on a Norwegian steamer and after about four months reached here. Mrs. Burt hid him from her husband for a time, and then told him he'd have to leave. In an argument, Mrs. Burt ran into a knife Cotter was holding. She had him arrested.

"I love that woman and I couldn't help coming back," Cotter dejectedly says.

The University of Iowa will have an elected captain for its 1932 track team for the first time in four seasons.

Indiana university, long noted for its cross-country runners, has four members of its Big Ten title squad back in stride this year.

Yale Breaks Spell of Crimson With 3-0 Win; Booth Makes Dropkick

Rejuvenated Titan Team Upsets Crowley's 11 Iron Men

BY ALAN GOULD, (Associated Press Sports Editor) Harvard Stadium, Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 21 (AP)—Able Booth, Yale's Little Boy Blue, broke the Crimson spell today and dropped-kicked the Elis to a spectacular victory over Harvard, 3 to 0, in the mellow November twilight of his last varsity football game against the Crimson.

The climax to a bitterly waged battle, scoreless for long minutes as each team lost golden opportunities to break through, came with barely three minutes to go. Harvard's fading hopes had just been revived by a slashing 28-yard run by Jack Crickard, near to midfield, when Captain Barry Wood's attempted punt was blocked and recovered by Hig-

John Wilbur, Eli tackle, thereby opening the way for Yale's triumphant thrust from the Crimson 44-yard line.

For most of the game Able Booth had been bottled up, harassed and turned back as he sought to shake off the jinx that has pursued him ever since tall, rangy Harry Wood stepped into the Harvard leadership. Given another unexpected chance, Booth unscathed back, after a short run off tackle and hurled a long diagonal pass that Herster Brant, brilliant Eli end, caught as he tumbled out of bounds on Harvard's 12-yard stripe.

Booth Makes Kick

Booth, Taylor and then Booth slashed at the big Crimson tackles, but the best they could do was pick up seven yards. It was fourth down, three to go, on Harvard's four-yard line. Once before, in the second quarter, Booth had tried a drop-kick under similar circumstances, and missed by a narrow margin.

Here was the last big chance for Little Boy Blue and he responded with a beautiful kick that sailed high over the heads of the surging linemen and split the goal posts. Booth kicked from the 12-yard mark and the Elis, with the end of the game in sight, smothered Barry Wood's last few attempts to pull the Crimson out of defeat.

The great Harvard captain never had a chance to break through that final wall of Blue. As a dramatic finishing touch, Wood on the last play of the game attempted a long pass, only to be smothered by tackles on his one-yard line for an 18-yard loss as he failed even to get the ball out of his hands.

In this spectacular fashion Booth and Yale ended Harvard's three-year winning streak and at the same time handed the gallant Crimson forces their first setback of the 1931 season. The defeat cost Harvard a golden chance to capture eastern championship honors for the first time since 1913.

The swift accomplishment of this long sought triumph, with the "Mighty Atom" of Eli football in the heroic role, prompted Yale's partisans to put on one of the wildest demonstrations in this ancient rivalry as the 50th game was brought to a thrilling conclusion.

From the stands they poured down on the gridiron before the players could depart. In less than two minutes the goal posts were ripped down and hoisted to the shoulders of the delirious throng that snaked danced about the field. Able Booth rode from one end of the field to the other on the shoulders of his wildly yelling admirers. The rest of the Eli players were nearly mobbed in the excitement as the pent-up enthusiasm exploded all over the premises.

Gets 77-Yard Run

Yale's first victory since 1927 was not accomplished without a struggle that found two closely matched lines battling each other to a standstill throughout most of the game. The Elis were the stronger, more resourceful and aggressive array at the finish, as Harvard's regulars, but both teams missed fine chances to push over a touchdown.

Harvard missed its first and best opportunity in the very first minute of the game, after Jack Crickard, taking a lateral toss from Barry Wood on the kick-off, had galloped 77 yards to Yale's 8-yard line in the most spectacular individual play of the entire contest. Yale's stalwart forwards blocked this threat and the Elis took the ball on downs on their four-yard line as Wood's short pass to Crickard, on short of the goal line.

Thereafter Harvard was inside Yale's 33-yard line only twice. Wood failed to connect with a single long pass. His most effective gestures were two surprise "place kicks" from punt formation, with Crickard holding the ball. Each time, with the Crimson well in its own territory, this maneuver caught the Elis napping and pushed them back about 65 yards.

Yale, on the other hand, three times pounded inside Harvard's 10-yard line, before Booth finally cashed in on his last opportunity.

SPARTANS LOSE BY 20-13 SCORE

Rejuvenated Titan Team Upsets Crowley's 11 Iron Men

Detroit, Nov. 21 (AP)—The eleven "Iron Men" of the Michigan State College football team went down to a 20 to 13 defeat today before the driving attack of the rejuvenated organization of the University of Detroit.

Filled to the brim with thrills, the game was viewed by many as a test of strength between the systems of Coach Gus Dorais, of Detroit, and Coach Jimmy Crowley, of State, both students of the Rockne school of football.

The game started auspiciously for State. Before it was five minutes old, Ellowitz skirted the Detroit right tackle for 34 yards and a touchdown. Monnett failed to score in the extra point. A few moments later Parsca passed 23 yards to Tooker, paving the way for Rajkovich who plunged through the last 12 inches between the Titans and the Michigan State goal line for Detroit's first touchdown. Parsca drop-kicked the extra point.

The second period was scoreless although the Spartans made two promising drives into Detroit territory. Soon after the second half opened State marched 70 yards for its second touchdown. Ellowitz taking the ball across from the one-foot line on fourth down. Monnett kicked the extra point. State then started another four yard march from Detroit goal but failed to score. Late in the period O'Neill took a 35-yard pass from Parsca to place the ball on State's 10-yard line from where Rajkovich broke through for a touchdown. Parsca drop-kicked the extra point.

State made a desperate effort to score in the final period, cutting through to Detroit's 19-yard stripe where Monnett failed at a try for field goal. On the next play Parsca raced 80 yards for the final Detroit touchdown. The game ended with Detroit holding the ball on State's four-yard line.

Southern Methodist Wins from Middies

Thompson Field, Annapolis, Md., Nov. 21 (AP)—Striking twice through the air in the second period, Southern Methodist University came from behind today to defeat the Navy, 13 to 6, and remain on the list of the nation's undefeated, untied football teams.

The red-jerseyed warriors from Texas outdrew the Middies much more stubborn foremen than they had anticipated and it was only by the perfection of their aerial attack, judiciously employed, that they managed to gain a decision over Coach Rip Miller's team.

Right up to the last minute the Middies were dangerous, forcing down to the invaders' 13-yard line in the closing minutes of play.

Two rife-like passes from Kenneth Trifle, Mustang quarterback, to Weldon "Speedy" Mason, flashy halfback, gave the Texans their touchdowns after the Navy had taken a 6 to 0 lead in the initial period.

Nebraska Annexes Big Six Pennant

Memorial Stadium, Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 21 (AP)—Flashing an offense marked by both power and versatility, the University of Nebraska trounced the Cyclones of Iowa State college here today, 23 to 0, to win the 1931 Big Six conference championship. Iowa State took second place and the Kansas Aggie third.

Whereas pre-game forecasts indicated a close battle, the Cornhusker victory was a complete rout for the Iowans.

Only at one juncture did the Cyclones threaten. In the third period a series of passes by Schafroth, Greife and Bowen, carried the Staters to the Huskers' 20-yard line. There, however, the Scarlet line was impregnable and its backfield knocked down a barrage of passes.

California Bears Nip Stanford, 6-0

Stanford Stadium, Cal., Nov. 21 (AP)—A slender half-back named Henry Schaldach, led the University of California to the promised land of big game victory today, 6-0, after eight lean years of Stanford supremacy. The victory climaxed the first year's coaching of "Navy Bill" Ingram, former Navy and Indiana coach, at California.

It was Schaldach who engineered the Bears' lone touchdown drive in the second period, and it was Schaldach who plunged over right tackle from the one-yard mark for the score that won the game.

Red Skins Wallop Oglethorpe, 31 to 6

Chicago, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Haskell Indians ran wild against Oglethorpe university in an inter-sectional charity football game today, submerging the southern team 31 to 6. Led by Walter and Holmes, the Redskins uncocked a deceptive running attack that found their heavier opponents helpless. Haskell lost several opportunities to score by costly fumbling. A crowd of 10,000 witnessed the contest.

BADGERS BEAT CHICAGO, 12-7

Stagg's Warriors Give Wisconsin Scare But Finally Lose

BY WILLIAM WEEKES (Associated Press Sports Writer) Stagg Field, Chicago, Nov. 21 (AP)—Old Man Stagg's Chicago Maroons had enough to give Wisconsin a scare and a terrific battle but not enough to win, and the Badgers triumphed, 12 to 7, today on Stagg Field.

Chicago, full of spirit, fought the Badgers off their feet in the first period and when Elliker, Wisconsin's safety man, fumbled a quick kick by Sahlin, wasted no time in marching to a touchdown. Bernie Wien, Chicago end, recovered the ball on Wisconsin's 19-yard line, and Vison Sahlin and Pete Summers battered their way to the two yard line from where Sahlin slid through tackle for the touchdown. Hambers added the extra point and Chicago was in front.

Walter McGuire, the Irish-Illawian Badger fullback, was the instrument in both Wisconsin's touchdowns and both of his efforts were on the sparkling variety. After stumbling about for one period and part of the second, the Badgers suddenly found themselves.

Returns Punt 40 Yards

A short kick gave Wisconsin the ball on Chicago's 31-yard line and it required only three plays for a score. Rehbois and Schnell made short gains through the line, then Rehbois flipped a short pass to McGuire, who crossed the goal line standing up. Kabat failed to kick the goal and Chicago was still in front.

McGuire took care of the situation a few moments later. They exchanged punts and McGuire, grabbing Sahlin's short boot on a dead run, raced through the bewildered Maroons for 40 yards and the winning touchdown.

The Maroons, far from licked, came back in the third period and outplayed Wisconsin by a wide margin. They didn't have the punch, however, and although they kept the ball in Wisconsin territory most of the time, could not shove it over.

Both elevens had scoring chances in the final period, chiefly due to the other's mistakes and raggedness.

The Wisconsin attack was slightly superior to Chicago's netting 11 first downs to eight for the Maroons. The Badgers employed a short, underhand pass which confused the Chicago linemen, and their running game, especially in the last two periods, was effective.

The victory was Wisconsin's third in five conference games, and was Chicago's fourth defeat in the same number of starts, winning only from Illinois.

Bucknell Upsets Fordham Machine

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—An inspired Bucknell football team, badly outplayed through the first and part of the second period of the annual football game with Fordham, came back with a mighty surge today to tumble the Maroon from the unbeaten class 14 to 13, and finish the season with a record clean of defeat.

Indiana Captures Cross Country Race

Iowa City, Nov. 21 (AP)—Indiana, scoring 33 points, won the Big Ten cross-country run today. The Hoosier warriors were followed by Wisconsin with 63, Michigan 76, Illinois 91, Purdue 127, Minnesota 134, Iowa 178, Chicago 184, and Northwestern 196.

Total of 2,365 Children in Delta County Get Toxin-Antitoxin

A total of 2,365 Delta county children went through toxin-antitoxin clinics during the last week. Dr. H. J. Defant administered the toxin-antitoxin to 150 pre-school children at his office in Escanaba, and the remaining 2,215 were accounted for by Miss Anette Fox, R. N., in her schedule of clinics through the rural districts.

New townships in which the inoculations were started during the week were: Escanaba, Cornell, Bark River, Ford River and Bay de Noc. Miss Fox's complete schedule for the week, and the number inoculated at each place follows: Monday, Escanaba township, 180; Brampton, 145; Tuesday, Cornell, 150; Wells, 557; Wednesday, Bark River, 238; Ford River, 185; Thursday, Bay de Noc, 118; Fairbanks, 148; Garden, 118; Inabella, 37; Friday, Ten Mile Creek, 61; Rapid River, 251.

Four inoculations are recommended as bringing the highest percentage of immunity from diphtheria, and for that reason a series of four clinics are being held in each community. If for any reason a child misses one of the clinics, parents are urged to take it upon themselves to bring the child to a physician and have the missing inoculation administered so that the treatment will become effective.

Will Erect Sawmill Iron River

A new industry is promised Iron River early next January, when O. J. Behnke, Milwaukee lumberman, plans to establish a saw mill somewhere in the city limits.

Behnke is spending a few days in the city negotiating a lease with the owner of a parcel of land, and it is believed the deal will be completed within a week. The Milwaukee lumberman desires a location in the west end of the city.

Behnke's announcement was hailed as offering another source of employment for the city, and adding a much needed increase in the assessment roll. Contrary to general belief, there are no mines within the corporate limits of the city.

Okech's Airport Site

Stambaugh—Major F. E. Evans, state director of aeronautics, yesterday approved the site near the high school for the establishment of a municipal airport. The land is located south of the high school and includes the old football field.

Major Evans declared that the site could be developed into an adequate airport, there being sufficient space to provide for two or three regulation runways. In a conference with Mayor Anderson and other city officials he urged them to go ahead with their plans.

Shoots His Foot Iron River

What is believed to be the first accident of the deer season in Iron county occurred late yesterday afternoon when Matt Kosky, Jr., 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt E. Kosky, of Beechwood, was shot in the right foot by his own rifle.

Talks On China Iron River

The seat of the Manchurian trouble which is now attracting world wide attention is a familiar place to Ernest Stevens, naval recruiting officer of Escanaba, who was in the district yesterday.

From 1922 to 1929 Stevens was stationed with the United States navy at Chefoo, China. In 1923 he was with the navy when it rushed aid to the stricken Japanese at the time of the Japanese earthquake and again in 1927 he was with the ships which evacuated American missionaries from the Manchurian regions and protected about 1000 American citizens in the city of Chefoo during the rebel uprisings. From Chefoo it is only 40 miles by sea to Daria, the port of entry to Manchuria and the terminal of the Eastern Chinese railroad, about which much of the trouble in the far East now centers.

Driver Held

Menominee—John Bolin of Cedar River, driver of a car which on October 29 killed Edward Sedergren, 31, on County Road 352 midway between Cedar River and Stephenson, last night, was arrested on charges of negligent homicide and manslaughter in connection with the accident.

He was held in the county jail overnight and was to have been arraigned late today. Bolin is charged with drunkenness and speeding at the time of the accident.

Deer Hunter Sought

Menominee—A deer hunter who shot a bay shore farmer and fled, leaving his victim bleeding in the woods, was sought today by sheriff's officers.

Otis Perry, 49, victim of the inhuman hunter, is in St. Joseph's hospital with a rifle bullet wound through his upper left leg.

Perry was cutting brush on his farm in Ingallston township at 2 p. m. yesterday afternoon when he straightened up from his task, heard a rifle shot, and felt "as though something had exploded" in his leg, as he expressed it.

"I jumped up and yelled. Heh! Don't shoot. Don't shoot any more. You shot me," said Perry. "He knew then that I wasn't a deer, because you could have heard me a mile. But he shot again anyway. I heard the second bullet sing by, but it didn't hit me."

"Hamlet" Debate

Shakespearean enthusiasts have exhibits for both sides in their currently debate: Purists vs. Modernists.

The modernists scored first with Normal Bel Geddes' startling production of "Hamlet." It is performed as a modern play, with many of the speeches revised. For instance, Hamlet speaks the ghost's lines, while the ghost wavers silently in the background.

Now the Purists have their representative in Fritz Leibler and Helen Menken, in a Shakespearean troupe. They are offering a repertory of "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," and "Julius Caesar."

Will Finish Business Iron River

In order to complete the unfinished law business of the late Atty. A. F. Dixon, Atty. N. C. Spencer, of Escanaba will spend Friday and Saturday of each week here in the Dixon office, according to an announcement made this week.

The arrangement is not a permanent one, but only for the purpose of completing unfinished business. It will be carried out, except on occasions when it is impractical for Atty. Spencer to be here, until all law matters Mr. Dixon was handling at the time of his death have been closed.

Mr. Spencer was a great friend of Mr. Dixon and was in close touch with much of the business that he handled. The arrangement has been made at the request of Mrs. Dixon.

PLACE KICK IN FINAL MINUTE GIVES VICTORY

they couldn't be denied after that.

The battle was all Southern California in the first period as they made their first two threats, but Notre Dame came back with a rush in the second.

Notre Dame Scores

Getting the ball on its own 45-yard line after Schwartz's boots had gained a wide advantage, Notre Dame opened a 55-yard march for the first touchdown of the game.

Schwartz ripped the first big hole by flipping a long pass to "Chuck" Jaskwich, good for 39 yards and placing the ball on the Trojan 15-yard line. Schwartz and Banas carried it with line drives to the one-yard line, where Banas hurled center for the extra point which gave Notre Dame led, 7 to 0, as the first half ended.

As the "Fighting Irish" took the field for the third period the Trojan hopes fell to the lowest depths of the game. Starting on their own 37-yard line, the men of Notre Dame carried the ball over for a touchdown on exactly four plays.

Schwartz again started the parade by tossing a lateral to Ray Brancheau, who escaped to the Trojan 46-yard stripe. Schwartz circled his right end seven more to the 29-yard line and then tossed a wide lateral pass to Banas, who made a pretty catch, running and stumbling to the three-yard mark. Schwartz then grabbed the ball and sliced over his right tackle for the touchdown.

There wasn't anyone among the huge throng that granted the Trojans even a ghost of a show with that disadvantage staring them in the face. But they didn't know the Trojans. Getting the ball on Notre Dame's 48-yard line, the Trojans, Orville Mohler and Gus Shaver passed and smashed to the Notre Dame 15-yard line as the third period ended. It was at this point that Ray Sparling, the Trojans' great end, stepped into the breach. Taking a lateral pass on a perfect end-around play, he raced to the one-yard line after which Shaver easily bounced through his right tackle to score. But the hopes immediately faded as Big Joe Kurth broke through to block Baker's try for the precious extra point.

Advance On Passes

But after that, the game assumed a Notre Dame rout. On the break of an illegal interference with a pass receiver, the Trojans got the ball on Notre Dame's 24-yard line and carried it over on five plays, Shaver making a beautiful dash around his left end for the 10 yards on a wide lateral pass from Mohler. This time Baker made the extra point.

Great offensive play by Sparling and Shaver, who worked a pass formation that netted 40 yards, gave the Trojans their last chance. Denied by the great Notre Dame wall, Baker then slipped back to the 24-yard line and place kicked the big boot that ended the battle. Mohler held the ball.

As the game ended, Schwartz tried a desperate pass, but Eugene Clark, reserve Trojan half back, stepped in to intercept the ball on Notre Dame's 38-yard line just as the final gun was fired.

Thus the last were first. The Trojans had come back after their unmerciful 27 to 0 lopping of a year ago to accomplish what no other team had done in almost three years and the greatest crowd to witness a game in the stadium that the immortal Knute Rockne built, gave them a thunderous ovation.

Local Men Picked For Ford Project

Selected from the registry list of Escanaba's unemployed, a group of 20 men were scheduled to report or physical examinations as members of the crew clearing land on the 600-acre Ford project near Gladstone. The policy is to select 60 percent of the workers from Gladstone and 40 percent from Escanaba.

Emmett Meehan, superintendent of the public employment bureau located at Escanaba, attended a meeting of the state unemployment commission at Crystal Falls Saturday. James Slnke of Grand Rapids, chairman of the commission, conducted the conference. At the present time Escanaba has about 300 listed as unemployed.

Railway Employees Discuss Pensions

William G. Wilson, 404 South Ninth street, has returned from Chicago where he represented the railway employees of this district at a meeting of the Railway Employees National Pension association.

Mr. Wilson stated there were about 350 delegates in attendance from every state in the Union and from Alaska. It was unanimously decided to meet the various brotherhoods and later to present a bill to congress in the interest of pensioning old employees and providing a retirement fund.

I'll get a lot of time off for good behavior.

How Much Could You "Raise" in a Pinch?

Property is worth what it will bring at a FORCED sale. And a man is worth what he can raise in a PINCH. Ever think about that?

If Opportunity knocked on your door tomorrow and promised you a fortune if you could make a certain investment, how much—in cold cash—could you raise?

And if disaster came to you—and money was necessary—how much ACTUAL CASH could you dig up?

Ever think about these things? Well, why not do so today. A Savings Account is the best of all stand-bys in a "pinch." Open YOURS today.
