LYRICS OF LIFE By Douglas Malloch

(Copyright 1931 by Douglas Mallech)

MAGIC BELLS I heard the bells of Christmas swing, I seemed to hear the angels sing, And there was good in everything,

They hailed the dawn of Christmas Day. And Skies turned blue I thought were gray. This heart I thought was sad was gay.

Yes, all the world seemed sweet and good. And, if we only understood. I think perhaps it always would,

Now friends were fair and kindred kind. And joy ahead, and grief behind, And earth the earth I'd hoped to find.

Well, Christmas Days will come and go, But, if we understood, I know This old world always would be so.

It'll be reunion night at the juntor high school gymiasium this evening.

A feature basketball attraction. arranged by the Escanaba high school athletic association for a, three-fold purpose will be the special program for the reunion. The reasons for this basketball program are : 1-to give college) students home for vacations an opportunity to reunite once more and exchange greetings of the season; 2----to give college students an opportunity to see the new high school gymnasium; and 3- to give college students a personal view of the Eskymo basketball team in action.

Coach Carl Nordberg's cage quintet will oppose the Rock Little Giants in the feature part of the bill with two preliminary games scheduled to precede this engagement.

The Iowa and Chicago home room teams will open the evehing's card at 6:30, followed by a scrap between the Eskymo Reserves and the junior high school Carmel, Ill., a forward, is capo'clock. Eddie Chambers of Crysinois.,* tal Falls will officiate in the fea-
