DEMOS DESIRE WAY TO MAKE BUDGET SLASH

HOOVER INDICATES HE WELCOMES REDUCTION

Washington, Dec. 28. (AP)—Democratic congressional leaders tackled anew today the problem of slashing the federal budget by $300,000,000 with word from President Hoover that he would welcome reductions.

But just where the slash is to be made in the president's recommendations for next year's expenditures remained a problem tonight after Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, the leading advocate of it, had poured over the government figures all day with experts.

A cut in salaries of government workers, up and down the line and including members of congress, is one of the propositions under consideration. Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, has asked that step.

May Cut Wages. A sliding scale of reductions in salaries reaching 20 per cent on those above $10,000 and running down to five per cent on those above $1,500 is being studied. It would save an estimated $150,000,000.

The president's offer to welcome budget slashes is one result of recent conferences with congressional leaders of both parties during the recess.

In the face of hinted Democratic opposition, a bristling championship of Mr. Hoover's $150,000,000 home loan bank plan was promised the chief executive today by Representative Luce, Republican, Massachusetts.

Luce, a member of the house banking committee, contended the bill bore the approval of more millions of people than any "financial measure proposed in our day." He asserted anyone trying to delay its passage would risk a popular landslide.

"If they (Democratic leaders) want to buck up against 52,000,000 people," he said, "I will go to the limit."

Finland Votes Today on Prohibition

Volcano Eruption Heard Over Radio

New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—Seething, bubbling, 2,000-degree hot lava soared and crashed in the crater of far away Mt. Kilauea, in the Hawaiian Islands, for radio listeners late today.

Aided by microphones installed on the rim of the crater of the 15,000-foot volcano as well as one lowered as far down into the pit as possible, a coast-to-coast network of WJZ-NBC stations carried a dramatic interview with Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, federal volcanologist, as he described the activities of the mountain amid a background that overruled the noise of the densest traffic of Forty-second street and Broadway, New York.

The pickup was made possible only after the installation of several miles of wire line to the crater.

DIX FINED FOR EVADING TAXES. Screen Star Also Pays Nearly $90,000 in Back Levies.

Los Angeles, Dec. 28. (AP)—The smile of Richard Dix grew a bit forced today as the slim star faced a federal judge and pleaded guilty to income tax evasion.

He was fined $500. In addition the case has cost him nearly $90,000 in back taxes and penalties.

"I'm guilty," Dix said with a trace of shyness as Judge Paul J. McCormick asked for his plea.

"I left my taxes up to one of these experts," the actor added. "And here I am. It's the first time I've ever been in trouble. In fact, I never was in court before in my life."

BLIZZARD MAY BE FACTOR IN FINAL RESULT

DRY LAW AT STAKE IN REFERENDUM ON SUBJECT

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER (Associated Press Staff Correspondent). Helsinki, Finland, Dec. 28. (AP)—A blizzard that swept across Finland today threatened to be a factor in the prohibition referendum which will take place tomorrow and Wednesday.

Prohibitionists have counted on farmers and workers to continue the 13-year old dry regime. A falling barometer and the blizzard caused depression at prohibition headquarters, for leaders explained that with country roads impassable, many of their supporters would be prevented from voting.

On the other hand, there was jubilation at the anti-prohibition headquarters.

"The chief stronghold of the dries is middle and northern Finland," the official in charge explained. "Here in the south and along the coast we know that evils and corruption prohibition has brought forth, and hence we are confident of victory in the south. The unfavorable weather will likely keep the farmers of middle and northern Finland from the polls."

Heavy Majority Needed. The voters will decide whether prohibition shall be continued, repealed outright, or modified to permit medium strength wines and beers.

But their decision is expected to be effective only if it is overwhelmingly expressed. Leaders on both sides pointed out that the referendum is consultative, not mandatory.

Should, for instance, the dries win by only a small majority, it is assumed the government nevertheless will introduce into parliament a measure raising the bar on at least some kinds of alcoholic beverages on the ground the strong minority vote proved the law to be unenforceable as it stands.

SHERIFF HELD FOR ROBBERIES

Indiana Officer Said to Have Participated in Bank Thefts

Hartford City, Ind., Dec. 28. (AP)—Ira Barton, sheriff of Blackford county, was placed under arrest tonight on charges said by local police to accuse him of complicity in recent bank robberies at Hartford City, Montpelier and Dunkirk, Indiana. No formal charge was entered against him immediately.

The arrest was made by Corporal W. W. Ayres, who said he acted on information from authorities at Portland, Ind., and from the state bureau of criminal identification.

Barton denied any implication in the bank robberies and said the charges were a "frame-up." He would not amplify this comment. Barton's term as sheriff ends January 1.

Two men who participated in the Christmas eve robbery of the First State Bank at Dunkirk, in which $1,000 was obtained, were sentenced at Portland today to twenty years each.

The two sentenced were Albert Frabotta, alias Frank Trealletta, and Frank Valentino, alias Lawrence Apolloni, both from Chicago Heights. A third man held as a member of the gang, Lorenz Capelli of Steger, Ill., withheld his plea. Authorities were continuing efforts to identify a fourth man, killed by the bullets of vigilantes.

Before his election as sheriff two years ago, Barton was a prominent farmer in this county, owning farm lands north of Hartford City. He is about forty years old.

Officers said tonight they were seeking two other persons, whom they identified as a Chicago Heights man and a Manice woman.

COMISH HEARS JOBLESS NEED FEDERAL HELP

WELFARE WORKERS GIVE TESTIMONY AT HEARING

Washington, Dec. 28. (AP)—A desperate relief problem which can be met only by federal appropriations was pictured to a senate committee today by welfare leaders from the nation's three largest cities.

The welfare workers testified before a senate manufacturers sub-committee which opened hearings today on bills introduced by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, and Costigan, Democrat, Colorado, to appropriate $250,000,000 and $375,000,000, respectively.

William Hodgson, executive secretary of the welfare council of New York, testified that 800,000 are unemployed in New York City and said that "the spectre of starvation faces millions of people."

Distress Is Serious. J. Prentice Murphy, executive director of the Children's Bureau of Philadelphia, testified that 270,000 were unemployed in Pennsylvania and asserted people in some states would get no relief unless it comes from the federal government.

Gostigan, who is a member of the sub committee, opened the hearing with a statement that "distress will have exacted an incalculable toll unless emergency relief on national lines is promptly enacted by congress."

Nothing short of federal assistance. (Continued on Page Two)

Manistique Squabble Over Tax on Pulpwood Remains in Deadlock

Manistique, Dec. 28. (Special)—The city council and the Manistique Pulp and Paper company, represented by Edward Sheahan, superintendent and general manager, remained in a deadlock at the close of the council meeting last night after a one and one-half hour discussion on whether 10,000 cords of pulpwood which may be purchased by the paper company should or should not be taxed by the city.

The Manistique Pulp and Paper company announced on November 12 that the company would purchase the pulpwood this winter chiefly to aid the unemployment situation. Approximately $100,000 would be put into circulation, according to Mr. Sheahan, if the purchase were made.

LIBERTY AT ANY COST—MAHATMA

BY JAMES A. MILLS (Associated Press Staff Correspondent). Bombay, Dec. 28. (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi declared today that he would not flinch in sacrificing the lives of a million people to purchase the liberty of India.

The Mahatma made this statement to 50,000 white-capped nationalists gathered in an open field to hear his first speech since his return from the long round table conference. He spoke from a lofty platform made of stout bamboo poles, festooned with the national colors—white, red and green—and surmounted by a spinning wheel.

Lost Some Prestige. The crowd was considerably smaller than the audiences Mr. Gandhi addressed before he left for London, and some observers said he had lost in prestige because of the failure of the round table conference.

The listeners broke into applause infrequently, and there were no displays of the old fervent revolutionary spirit.

"If the fight is inevitable I will expect every son and daughter of mother India to contribute his mite," the Mahatma said.

"However, I will not abandon attempts to save the nation from a fiery ordeal. If, on the other hand, there is no single ray of hope I shall not hesitate to call upon you to bear any amount of suffering."

In another speech this evening the Mahatma uttered what some of his hearers interpreted as a threat to withdraw all cooperation from the round table conference committees coming to India shortly, unless the government repeals recent restrictive ordinances.

CHINESE ARMY PUSHED BACK IN BIG SWEEP

SUB-ZERO WEATHER DOES NOT STOP SKIRMISHES

BY GLENN BABE (Associated Press Staff Correspondent). (Copyright 1931, By The Associated Press). Mukden, Manchuria, Dec. 28.—The goatskin-clad soldiers of Japan swept northward from Yingkow today, brushing aside in sharp fighting every barrier raised by the Chinese, and tonight they rested in Tawa, the first-day objective in a large scale military operation that may end with the fall of Chingchow, China's last stand in Manchuria.

Every arm of the Japanese military—cavalry, airplanes, infantry and artillery—took part in the sweep to the north. Fighting in bitter weather, with the thermometer at 20 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, they came into direct contact for the first time in weeks with the regular forces of China.

Chingchow Objective? The resistance they met was stubborn, but they handled the regulars as readily as they have handled the Chinese irregulars in numerous brushes recently in the Mukden area.

Kowangtze, which stands on the Mukden-Peiping railway at its junction with the Yingkow-Kowangtze line, is the principal city lying in front of the Japanese columns, but there has been no indication the advance will stop there.

At army headquarters a spokesman declared the purpose of the big push was to eliminate all "undesirable forces" from the area west of the Liao river.

"This may include Chingchow," he said. Chingchow is about forty miles southwest of Kowangtze.

The day's fighting—the heaviest since a similar sweep cleared the Chinese out of the Anganchi-Tsitsihar area several weeks ago—was carried on under most adverse conditions.

Snow and ice made the terrain difficult. Weather conditions brought out some new ideas in camouflage.

Those units of the Japanese army not equipped with the new issue gas masks that have been issued against the cold wore white cloths over their steel helmets.

Piles of snow and stacks of rice straw encountered by the advancing troops turned suddenly into nests of riflemen. In some cases the Chinese had drenched the parapets of their trenches with water, and the earth was so solidly frozen that it served as armor-plate.

BANKER, LIQUOR OPERATOR, HELD

Surrenders to Police in New York After One Year's Chase

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 28. (AP)—Andrew J. Horvatt, one time Binghamton banker by day and reputed bootleg chief by night, surrendered to New York troopers today, after playing hide and seek with federal and state officers for more than a year.

He was charged with looting the State Bank of Binghamton of $2,000,000, and the federal government indicted him for liquor conspiracy. After his surrender at Sidney he was brought here for a conference with Attorney General John J. Bennett.

Genial and active civic worker and a go-getter in business, Horvatt, now about 55, once was a millionaire. He had less than $30 in his pockets when he submitted to arrest. He was, however, sprucely dressed.

Joseph Madigan, a Catholic priest of Sidney, accompanied Horvatt and Trooper Sergeant R. L. O'Hanley to Albany. It was understood that Father Madigan arranged for the surrender.

DAYS LENGTHEN BY 6 MINUTES

Sunset Hour at Escanaba Now 4:10 P. M.; Mild Spell Continues

Like a Lake Michigan ore boat churning around in one spot while changing from reverse to forward, Old Sol is shifting gears right now before starting to make the days longer. Records kept by H. H. Spindler, meteorologist at the U. S. weather bureau in Escanaba, show that the days are now 8.7 hours long, and they will remain that way, he says, for the rest of the month.

An increase of one-tenth of an hour—six minutes—was tacked onto the length of the days Monday. Since December 19 the days were 8.6 hours long. Sunsets were later each day, but sunrises were correspondingly later, so the days stayed the same. Then on Monday came the sudden spurt of six minutes. Nobody seemed to notice it, but Mr. Spindler says it was there.

WINTER GOLF

A record for late season golfing was established at Escanaba Sunday when M. S. Malsack, golf professional, H. A. McPherson, Elmer Swanson and others played a round at the Escanaba Golf Club course. A few ardent golfers have been playing throughout November and December.

The earliest sunset of the year was on Sunday, when Old Sol pulled down the curtain and turned in at 4:03 p. m. Yesterday the weather bureau at Escanaba recorded 4:10 p. m. as the sunset hour. For the rest of 1931, and for a while in January, the sun will stall around, and after that days will start to get longer on both ends, with earlier sunrises and later sunsets.

Nothing in the way of snow or ice or zero weather can be promised so far by the weather man. Indications for today are continued cloudy and continued mild, with possibilities of rain and a chance that there might be some snow in it.

In the meantime, Escanaba people are seen out on the porch in their shirt sleeves, park employees are raking leaves, and in some sections they say the farmers are still plowing if they feel ambitious.

EDITORIAL

A NEW EPOCH

IN THE news that more aliens left the United States than entered it during the first nine months of 1931 there is an indication that a turning point in American history has been reached.

For more than a century Uncle Sam's domain was a magnet for the people beyond the seas. They came in tremendous floods, settling into motion one of the greatest migrations in the story of mankind.

According to estimates made recently, the number of aliens who went back to the old country in the past year was around 25,000 greater than the number of aliens who came and stayed.

But what a change it all is from a few years ago! From 1914, for instance, when fully a million Europeans found admittance to the country; from the post-war years, when the United States looked like an earthly paradise to innumerable war-stricken men and women beyond the sea.

An epoch is over. The land of opportunity has found that it has all the inhabitants it needs for a while. And some of the newcomers, on the other hand, have found that life can be just as hard on this side of the ocean as on the other.

From now on the pace will be slower. Never again, probably, will we receive immigrants as we used to. Probably it is a very good thing, although it is hard not to feel a sentimental twinge of regret over our arrival at national maturity.

Yet we shall feel the effects of this lost era for many years—perhaps forever. For every man and woman who came here, dimly but firmly, that life was somehow going to be better over here; that there would be more freedom, more opportunity, more happiness. That vision is still with us.

TAXES BEING REDUCED

OF 149 reporting, 101 Michigan villages reduced their 1931 taxes as against 1930, according to a compilation recently completed by the Michigan Municipal League and now being prepared for distribution.

Tax reductions in 55 of the 101 villages exceeded 10 per cent; 47 of these 55 made reductions exceeding 15 per cent; 29 exceeded 20 per cent; 12 exceeded 30 per cent, and 3 exceeded 50 per cent. Most of the villages which did not show tax reductions either made the same levy or increased small amounts with the exception of a few which were forced to increase to cover heavy debt charges.

The tabulation includes 1929 taxes, as well as 1930 and 1931, indicating that during the year from 1929 to 1930 just 75 of the 149 reduced their tax revenues. Forty villages of the 75 made reductions of more than 10 per cent in that year, and a somewhat larger proportion of the reductions were in the higher brackets, compared with 1931 reductions.

The data shows that 81 of the 149 villages reduced assessments in 1930 under those of 1929, and in 1931 reductions were made by 105 of the villages.

Besides the information on tax revenues and assessed valuations for the three years, the compilation also includes the per capita cost of government in the municipalities reporting. The total tax levy of the 149 villages in 1931 is $3,000,910, of which 22 of the larger villages levied approximately $2,000,000 or nearly two-thirds of the total.

In discussing the information in the bulletin, Director Harold D. Smith of the Municipal League, calls attention to the fact that in the absence of uniform methods of accounting and reporting variations may exist in the information, yet the analysis indicates a definite downward trend in village taxes in response to demands for tax reduction.

A MUNICIPAL LODGING HOUSE

(Sault Ste. Marie News) SAULT STE. MARIE does not want to invite the floating unemployed of Michigan and nearby states to ride the roads and hitchhike to this city in the knowledge that a nice warm bed and regular meals will be provided free of charge.

It DOES want to take all necessary care of persons who are legitimately in this city and have no place to sleep and nothing to eat.

There has been some complaint by those who have noticed the delay in action to provide a "soup kitchen" or a "flop house" for unemployed men here. For it is not efficient or humane to permit persons to sleep out of doors these winter days or to bum meals from door to door, imposing thereby upon the warm-hearted and respectable citizens who do not slam doors in the faces of fellow human beings.

Yet there is an element of danger in providing free lodging and meals without any work reformed in payment. And there is little call for any censure upon the Chamber of Commerce Relief Bureau for its caution in proceeding with due thought to consequences. Word that free meals and lodging are obtainable at Sault Ste. Marie without even the necessity of asking for it at charitable homes, will spread far and wide and mighty quickly. It is conceivable that men who have roamed from town to town looking for work, in addition to the confirmed hobo who refuses to work, will pile in to this city in droves to take advantage of the situation.

Thus the local men who are absolutely honest in their desire to work but can't get any, will find themselves virtually crowded out of the house set up by their city for their benefit.

The matter of feeding men who are here is a matter of decent charity and brotherliness. The public at large is better able to handle this problem than the house holders themselves. It is far more economical to feed all who need it, at a community dining room, than to have the hungry army scatter out among homes, knocking on kitchen doors and at times alarming the woman of the house who might be alone. The cost of specially prepared meals at a community house is less than that of home prepared meals—and those who are willing to give such home cooked meals are always imposed on. Their homes are often marked so that the next man who comes along looking for a meal will know that here is a place where one is treated well.

The commission and the Trades Council could well afford to get together with the Chamber of Commerce to determine upon the policy which will cause least trouble to this city. If possible, no lodging or meals should be given without providing some method by which the recipient could do some work in payment. Most workmen prefer to pay for what they receive. They do not relish begging. And if a community project can be devised that will afford a chance for each willing worker to earn his meals and lodging, the problem is made far more simple. Then the hobo will steer clear of Sault Ste. Marie.

And that is chiefly why there has been delay by those who have been giving the matter gravest consideration.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

(By NEA Service)

By Kay Cleaver Strahan

CHAPTER XVII ALMOST at once, before he had turned the car from the treeline driveway into the street, Phil said, "Ann, when are we going to be married?"

Ann, still too happy to be bothered, said, "Oh, Phil!" and patted his arm. "I mean it," he insisted. "When?"

"Oh, Phil," Ann responded, but less happily. "Ever?"

"Now, dear," she reproached, with no happiness at all. "I was thinking last night. What are we waiting for? For your grandparents to die?"

"How can you!" Ann protested. "That is a terrible thing to say. Not at all. We all die. Why evade the statement? But with the care Mr. and Mrs. Feuwik take of themselves they may live for 10-20 years yet. You and I, at almost 30 years old, twenty or 10 years from now would make a late beginning for us, wouldn't it?"

"I don't know why you want to act like this, this morning," Ann said, and added, "I was so happy."

"Yes, dear, but don't you see?" "No. Not this morning. I was so happy."

"Why should facing a fact make you unhappy?" "I don't know. But it does. Talking about people dying and so on. I'd felt that we were making sort of a fresh start this morning—maybe."

"We are, dear," he told her. "That is what I want to do. I want to make a fresh start toward some definite goal. I want to get out, and get you out of this atmosphere of steamy, vague, sentimental optimism. I'm sorry if I shocked you, or hurt you by talking about the death of your grandparents. It wasn't necessary for me to say that, because that isn't what we are waiting for—is it? At least, I hope it isn't. Still there must be a point somewhere that we can place and say, 'When that happens we can marry.' I want to see if we can place that point."

Ann sighed and shook her head a little. "Suppose," Phil went on, "that we say we are waiting until I can make enough money to contribute the same amount that you are now paying in to the household. That would mean an extra hundred a month, wouldn't it? And that isn't impossible, is it?"

"No," said Ann. "Yes," said Ann. "Meaning?" he questioned parenthetically.

"That isn't true." "Phil shrugged. 'Isn't it? Well, where were we? An extra hundred a month on top of the first hundred. Two hundred, then, more than I am making now—and the interest on $40,000—and we can be married?'"

"I won't talk that way! You—you're loving me, not buying me. And my family isn't looking for some outsider to support them, and we don't want charity."

"Outsider is right," said Phil. "Calling me up and pretending you wanted to take me to the office, and wanted to see me, and so sweet, and—and—all you wanted was to quarrel and quarrel and worry me and make me unhappy."

"No, Ann. I am very tired of quarreling."

"Well, you always start it. Just the same."

"If that is true, I am sorry," he said with no trace of penitence.

"If you loved me, you'd wish to help me and make me happy and not worry me. If you loved me—"

"I shouldn't wish to marry you? I'd be content to wait and wait, year after year, until we're both old and worn out, and have no hope of establishing a family of our own nor a life of your own? Cecily will marry one of these fine days. I shan't blame her; but I tell you, she will. And then where shall we be? Sunk deeper than we are now, if that's possible. We aren't children, Ann, nor morons. We have to think of some way out of this. Soon. We'll work it out together, dear. Will you go with me in that? Will you try to find some way out for us? I've waited, you know; and I can wait. But I am through and fed up with this waiting pointlessly—endlessly."

Ann said, "What has happened to make you get this way—just this morning?"

"I have been this way," he answered "for eight years."

"Oh, no, you haven't. You weren't even through school eight years ago. You speak as if you were the only one who had waited. I've been waiting, too. As long as it was I, waiting for you, everything was all right."

"Fair enough," he accepted. "But for the past three years, at least—and it is more like four—I've been making plenty of money for the two of us to live on—carefully, but not meanly. I am only 30 years old—"

"A minute ago 20 was old and worn out."

"—and not so many men of 30, who have had no outside help at all, could marry, support their mothers, and keep another large family besides."

ANN looked at him. They had stopped at a red signal light, so he could look at her.

"No, Ann," he said quickly. "It is only that you put me on the defensive. I didn't say I was supporting your family, nor that I'd be allowed to do so. I said that I couldn't, and that not many men of my age could and that is all I did say."

"Not quite all. You said that I was old and worn out, and that you were tired of waiting for me and fed up with it and wouldn't wait any longer."

The green light glowed, and the bell rang. Phil shot the car ahead too fast. They whizzed by

AUTHOR TALKS TO ROTARIANS

Politics Make Plight of Indian Hopeless, Says R. Gessner

Robert Gessner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gessner of this city, now engaged as an instructor in New York University and whose book "Massacre" early this year created nation wide comment, was the speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday, when he insisted that politics injected into the management of Indian affairs, made the future of the Indian hopeless.

Mr. Gessner became interested in the plight of the American Indian while a student at the University of Michigan and for the past several years has spent considerable time living with the Indians in the west and in investigating conditions surrounding the management of their affairs by the department of the interior. His book published early in this year, served to unmask before the public, deplorable conditions that have maintained for years in governmental handling of Indian affairs and was the subject of widespread comment by newspapers and magazines throughout the country.

As the result of Mr. Gessner's long investigation of this subject he has been invited to deliver addresses before interested organizations in many cities, but in his address yesterday he announced his general refusal to publicly discuss facts revealed in his book, "because of his belief that the plight of the Indians remaining under which the affairs of the various Indian tribes are being administered by the government and expressed it as his belief that because politics has become so firmly entrenched in handling Indian affairs, there is little or no hope for justice being finally achieved for the Indian. Always a Depression In coupling his subject with the present world business depression, Mr. Gessner established the point that while the people of the United States and the world periodically experience depressions, we can face conditions with an honest hope in the future, while the depression that faces the Indian tribes is perpetual and without the slightest hope in the future.

Mr. Gessner's address was filled with interesting facts, expressed in a most fascinating manner, and served to make yesterday's meeting of the Escanaba Rotary club one of the outstanding sessions of the year.

'Frog Man' Using A Net In Hard Times

Amery, Wis. (AP)—As long as frogs, gophers, turtles and clams abound William Huttler has no fear of hard times.

Huttler, known as the "frog man," supplies nearby fishermen with bait and metropolitan eating houses with frog-legs, and his equipment consists merely of a butterfly net.

Armed with the net, he takes a train some nine miles up the line and walks the tracks back, snaring frogs right and left.

An expert trapper, Huttler nets a goodly income from bounties on gophers, rattlesnakes and other pests, often being commissioned to rid farms of these nuisances.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT
It's her fate to be spoken of not simply as Irene Dunne, but as the Irene Dunne of the "Such-and-such fame."

When she came to Hollywood, fresh from musical shows on Broadway, they hailed her as 'Irene Dunne of the "Showboat" fame,' because she had played the leading role in that production.

Then she played "Sabra Cravat" and they began calling her 'Irene Dunne of the "Cimarron" fame.' Now they're speaking of her in the same terms in connection with "Consolation Marriage."

"I suppose," she says, "it is because I have had the good fortune—I'm sure it's that—to be associated with such big pictures and shows that they overshadow just plain Irene Dunne."

"Of course I like that! I'd like nothing better, if it were possible, than to have people remember me first by the names of the characters I have played—"Mary" in the latest picture, "Sabra" in "Cimarron"—than "by my own name."

But those who know Irene Dunne agree that, quiet as the actress is in her person, she can hardly hide herself behind her various characters; even if they all remain more famous than their creator.

As "Mary" in the powerful dramatic RKO-Pathé Pictures offering at the Delft Theatre, Miss Dunne paints an unforgettable picture of a very modern young woman—but behind that is the impress of a charming actress' personality. One of these days Miss Dunne is going to be "discovered" all over again—as Irene Dunne, actress, fame all her own.

Pat O'Brien, John Halliday, Matt Moore, Lester Vail and Myrna Loy are other principals in "Consolation Marriage," which was directed by Paul Sloane. The story was written by Bill Cunningham and Humphrey Pearson wrote the adaptation and dialogue.

Little Items of Interest About Former Residents.

Among the former residents of this city who take a great interest in all local affairs although she has been away from this city for a number of years, is Mrs. Frank DeRoshey of Iron River, Mich., formerly Miss Lydia Moras, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hector Moras.

Mrs. DeRoshey was born in Champion, Mich., and came to this city with her parents at the age of three years. Her father, the late Hector Moras was one of the first photographers who established a studio in Escanaba. He opened a small place of business on the second floor of Haberman's meat market which stood on the site now occupied by the Escanaba National bank at the corner of Ludington and Eighth streets.

Mr. Moras was an expert in his line, he made two styles of photographs, tin types, and cabinet sizes. Those were the days when the folks having their pictures taken stood as still as they possibly could, their head was placed in an iron brace so they did not dare to turn a fraction of an inch and did they smile? I guess not, judging from some of the photos in the family albums of which some families may be justly proud.

Her mother, Alvina Dionne Moras, died when she was a child of 13. Mrs. DeRoshey attended at first, Anne's parochial school and after finishing grammar school she went to live at the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Durancan, where she made her home for three years.

Mrs. DeRoshey then accepted a position as telephone operator at the exchange of the late George Finch, who owned the first telephone line in this city. Leaving here in 1908 she went to Iron River at the time the Iron Inn was opened and she spent several years in that hostelry being employed in various capacities. It was there she met Frank DeRoshey, an electrical engineer employed by the Oliver Mining company.

They were married in Iron River and lived for a short time at Escanaba and Iron Mountain and returned to Iron River where they have lived for several years. Mrs. DeRoshey's husband now holds the office of township treasurer and continues his work at the mine.

Mrs. DeRoshey is the mother of three children, Stanley 22, James 20, and Jeanne 13. Mr. and Mrs. DeRoshey are at present building a filling station near their home where one of their sons will be established in business early in the spring. Her two sons are graduates of Iron River high school which her daughter is now attending.

Personal News

Nothing puts a woman in a holiday mood quite so much as an enchanting bit of attire.

For sheer glamour, perhaps nothing flatters her ego quite as much as a negligee which makes her feel inch a romantic soul.

Many women who go in heavily for gowns and frocks to wear outside the home, find themselves with no single lovely thing for intimate wear. Psychologically that is a terrific let-down for a lovely lady! The acquisition of something positively exquisite and charming should be imperative.

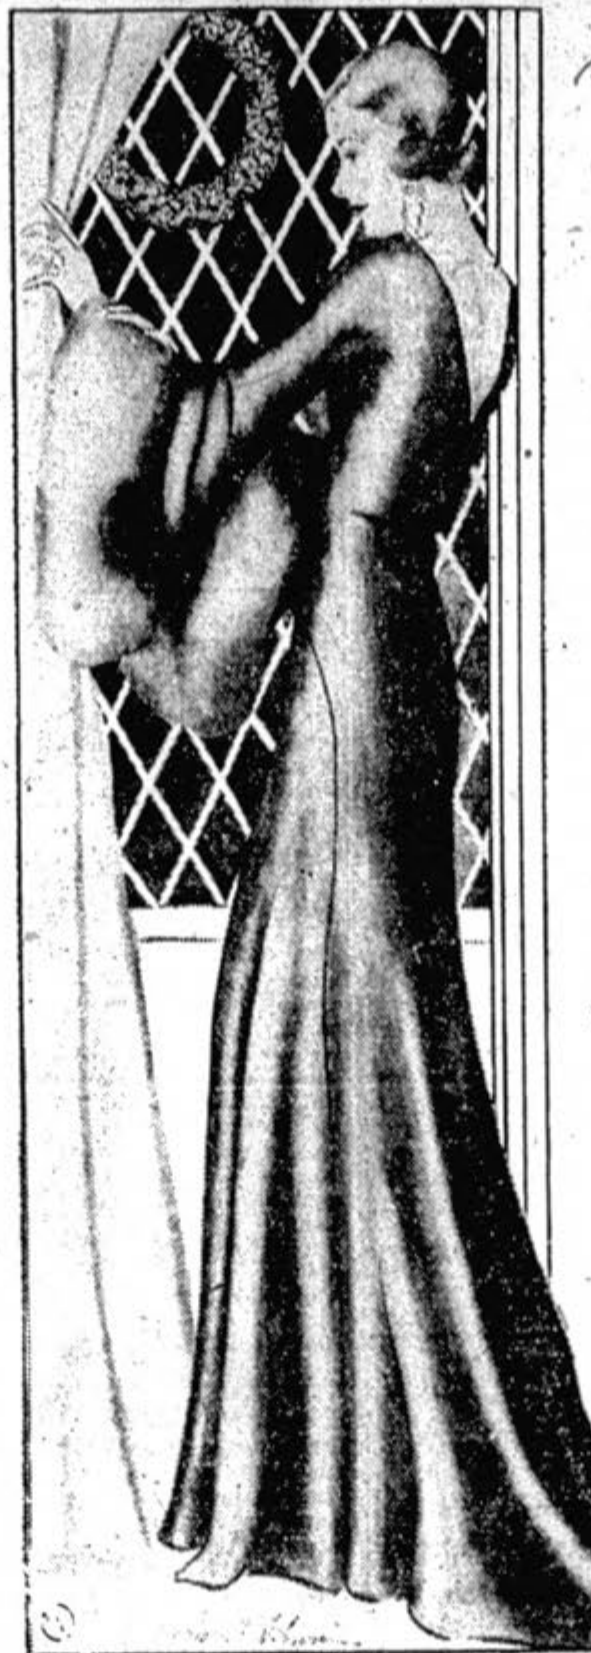

To start the New Year right, a ravishly beautiful negligee might be suggested to her, one that has color, softness, flattering lines.

Apparently made just for such a person is a swanky, sleek new Red Velvet one, with silver fox trim. This velvet is the nicest red imaginable, gay enough to be holiday in its tone, soft enough to be appropriate for this type of costume.

This negligee is made with graceful bodice cut, with sleeves in one with it, sleeves that flare below the elbow to very wide blue fox cuffs. There is a diagonal cut to the garment that fits it beautifully to the figure, with the back lines elastic in their beauty. There is a little sweep to the back portion that makes the finest of rains, to add dignity to charm.

While the back has a surprise cut, the front is a cowl line that becomes practically every woman in the world. The whole negligee, as a matter of fact, has a womanliness about it that makes it equally universal in its appeal.

Jerkins of Fur In Style Picture

London, (AP)—Fur jerkins are a new, smart and warm addition to winter wardrobes. The close fitting short fur jackets which resemble a sleeved vest in design, are worn over wool frocks under winter coats. Many of them have accompanying hats and muffs of the same fur.

Two-piece suits are very much in vogue. The short coats button up around the neck, eliminating the need of a blouse or a sweater. Some of them, which do not button quite high enough, can be worn with a "dicky" which gives the frilly feminine illusion of a blouse without the actual trouble of wearing one and trying to keep it clean.

Football Coaches Hold Annual Meeting Today

GAME'S ILLS TO BE CONSIDERED

Mentors Probably Will Not Seek Radical Rule Changes

RY GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer) New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—A warm wind rustling through the corridors of mid-town hotels today was not, as a lot of people seemed to think, the harbinger of an early spring.

It was, rather, the last word in proof that the amalgamated football master minds of America had descended upon the city for their annual clinic, scheduled tomorrow.

Big, over-coated fellows, with the imprint of sun and wind in their faces and nothing but football on their mind, they clustered up the lobbies and private rooms and talked football. By nightfall several hundred of the nation's leading mentors had entered the forum, and every incoming train was bringing more.

Program outlined Only the steering committee, headed by Chick Meahan, president of the national association, was unable to get in on the general conversation. That being spent the afternoon and early evening cutting the program for tomorrow's session, it had nothing to report, except that the 1931 pow-wow probably will exceed any of recent years in volume of sound.

Although today's preliminary convention was, for all its enthusiasm, entirely unofficial, it was possible to reach one pretty definite conclusion from the general tenor of conversation, to wit:

The country's coaches, much as they regret the 48 known football deaths in the past season, are not likely to recommend any drastic changes in the existing rules of the game.

There doubtless will be much conversation on the subject, with rising indignations of the fringe wedge, proposals that defensive linemen not be permitted to use their hands on the backs or head of charging strikers and a movement to restrict the use of the "kick-off," but it is evident the men who touch the game will not seek radical changes.

What is more probable is that they, like eastern officials at their meeting yesterday, will ask the rules committee to make a thorough analysis of the situation and to tell the national rules committee what it thinks in February.

One coach voted what seems the consensus of the mentors when he said:

"There must be something wrong when a game causes that many deaths, but we ought to go slowly in changing the rules. It would not be right to disrupt the game entirely. I think a few minor changes from time to time, will eliminate most of the danger."

Little Has Report Of the various reports to be made at tomorrow's meeting, one announced by a committee headed by Coach Lou L'Amore of Columbia promises to be of the most national interest. Little and his associates sent a questionnaire to several thousand coaches on the time the average devotee to football in comparison to other sports and campus activities. It is football's first official answer to the cry of over-emphasis, and the revelations are said to be little short of sensational.

While the coaches were warming up for tomorrow's vocal war, physical directors from the country's leading schools held their own private meeting today. They will have another session tomorrow. At another hotel, Walter Okean, high commissioner of the Eastern association for the selection of football officials, held court. He "graded" the members of his organization, but, as usual, did not make his findings public.

The annual "Brown Derby" banquet tomorrow night will conclude the meeting of coaches, after which the stage will be taken over for two days by the national collegiate association.

Yale and Princeton Puckmen In Victory

New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—A team composed largely of former Yale and Princeton ice hockey stars, playing under the banner of the New York "Metropolitans" tonight eliminated the Boston Olympics in the first of the eastern contests to pick a team to represent the United States in the Olympic games at Lake Placid in February. The score was 1 to 0.

Kentucky Derby to Be Run On May 7

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 28. (AP)—The 1932 Kentucky Derby will be run May 7, a week or so earlier than usual and one week before the running of the Preakness, instead of after the Pimlico feature as in recent years.

Fans Who Boo Referee Should Be Bounced Out

New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—The sportsmanship at the annual Sportsman's Brotherhood luncheon today.

The suggestion was made by John T. (Terry) McGovern, co-author of the celebrated Carnegie Bulletin No. 23, who has been making a survey of the sportsmanship of the crowds at school and college athletic events.

"To my mind this unsportsmanlike conduct from the stands is more harmful than all the subsidization and recruiting of athletes ever done," McGovern said, adding to his knowledge no fewer than four traditional college athletic rivalries had been broken off as a direct result of unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of the spectators.

Suggests Remedies Three remedies were suggested to curb this "dangerous degeneracy of conduct." First, McGovern said, he would have the incoming freshman at a school instructed in what their conduct should be toward officials and visiting athletic teams. Next he would appeal to the older students at a school to set a better example and thirdly he would promptly bounce out of a gymnasium or football stadium the first person to raise the cry of "Kill the referee" or "Throw that big bum out."

The schools should be enough interested in their spectators to see that marshals were placed throughout the stadiums or gymnasiums during games, he said.

The chief offender in sportsmanship, McGovern found, was the "clear store or barbershop administrator of college athletics" who places a small bet on the home team and goes to a game prepared to protect his investment with all the invective at his command.

Among those discussing the more intangible phases of sportsmanship was Dr. Harry Emerson Feddicke, pastor of Riverside church and widely known radio speaker, who spoke on the value of "playing the game."

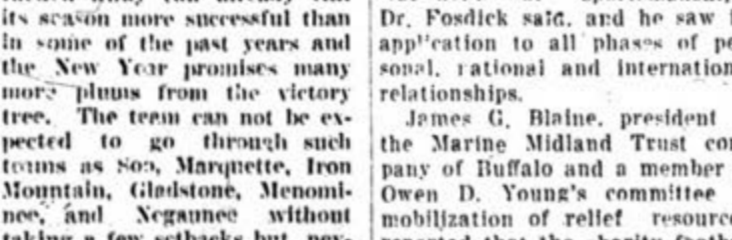

That time has come, it seems. The Eskymos basketball lineup with four victories already tucked away can already call its season more successful than in some of the past years and the New Year promises many more plums from the victory tree.

The team can not be expected to go through such triumphs as Sox, Marquette, from Mountain, Gladstone, Menominee, and Negaunee without taking a few setbacks but, nevertheless, the outlook is not gloomy.

Although St. Joseph's eagres have not yet hit their stride, Coach Brunelle is entirely optimistic about the future. He believes his athletes will win more than their share of the big games after the New Year. The Parochialists received their first taste of the sweets of victory last Sunday when they eked out a 12 to 11 win over the Alumni. The Purple team showed up well in their first battle with the Eskymos, also. St. Joseph will play a string of consecutive home games which the Parochial coach believes will give his team the confidence they need for their campaign.

'STIQUE QUINT LOOKS STRONG

Legionnaires Preparing for Game With St. Ignace Team

Seeking their second win in two games, the Manistique Legionnaires, who showed local fans some real basketball in their first game against the Munising Dragons last Tuesday evening, will stack up against the strong St. Ignace Merchants, the Merchants are making a holiday tour of the upper peninsula and will be well "loaded" for the trip in an effort to pack as many games into the win column as possible.

In the visitors' lineup will be such stars as Davis, H. Johnson, H. Cheeseman, and Stark. The former two have shown great defensive ability in games played to date, while the latter have shown splendid work under the basket. To date the St. Ignace quintet has been undefeated, their closest game being last Friday when they put the skids to Pickford by a 21-17 count.

The locals' lop-sided victory over Munising has already stamped them as one of the prime contenders for upper peninsula semi-pro basketball honors. Munising was completely outclassed throughout even without such stars as Bergman and Bartman, two members of last year's high school in action. Bergman, who will operate at the pivot position, was absent from the city while Bartman having had but little practice with the Legionnaires, played only during the final minutes of the game.

The addition of Al Bartman, will greatly strengthen the Manistique eagres whose reserve strength will be about on a par with that of the regular lineup. Bartman, who had been enrolled at Michigan State this fall, will not return to school after the holidays.

A preliminary game will be booked to be played at 7:30 o'clock while the main contest is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. Bill Cook will handle the whistle.

Wins Skating Title For Fourth Time

New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—Maribel Vinson of Winchester, Mass., today won the women's national singles figure skating championship for the fourth straight year.

Miss Vinson defeated a field of six rivals in the competition, consisting of six school figures, run off yesterday, and five minutes of free skating, completed today.

Finishing second was Margaret Bennett, of Minneapolis, national junior champion.

Louise Weigel of Buffalo, runner-up to Miss Bennett in the junior championship, was third; Mrs. Frederick Secord of New York fourth; Suzanne Davis of Boston fifth; Audrey Peppe 14-year-old New York girl, sixth, and Dr. Hulda Berger of New York seventh.

Tulane may include a game with Tennessee or Alabama on its 1932 schedule.

Nebraska has more river mileage than any other state.

Winnings in Both Men's and Woman's Divisions Come From Boston

New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—Exhibiting their superiority over the best of the nation's fancy skaters for the fifth consecutive time, Maribel Vinson and Roger F. Turner, both of Boston, today won the national singles figure skating championships and the right to lead the United States forces into the Olympic winter games at Lake Placid in February.

Miss Vinson outclassed six other women skaters while Turner showed his superiority over four of the country's foremost men performers.

Both of the champions met unexpected opposition in the free-skating exhibitions, but built up a commanding lead in the school figures, which counted two thirds of the total score. All five judges voted for Miss Vinson and four of the five favored Turner.

Miss Margaret Bennett, of Minneapolis, holder of the national junior title, offered the Boston girl the strongest opposition, but failed to match the reigning champion in the school figures. Louise Weigel, of Buffalo, runner-up to Miss Bennett in the junior championships, was third; Mrs. Frederick Secord, of Boston, fifth; Audrey Peppe, of New York, sixth and Dr. Hulda Berger, also of New York, seventh.

Boston also carried off runners-up honors in the men's contest, Lester Madden winning second over Gall Borden, of New York. Fourth went to Dr. Walter Lander, a native of Czechoslovakia, now living in New York; and fifth to Willis M. Nagle, also of New York.

With Mrs. Secord, who was born in Canada, not eligible for the United States team, Misses Vinson, Bennett, Weigel and Davis will carry Uncle Sam's colors at Lake Placid. All of the men, with the exception of Langer, qualified for the men's team.

The United States uses more quiksilver than any other country.

More than 2,000,000 pairs of rubber footwear are imported by the Netherlands every year.

GRID WARRIORS HAVE DRY FIELD

Hewitt of Michigan Is Considered Likely Starter Jan. 1

San Francisco, Dec. 28. (AP)—For the first time in a week, football stars who will meet here New Year's Day in the annual East-West charity game, worked out today on a dry field.

Eastern and Western coaches took advantage of the turn in weather to send their charges through heavy practice. Passing plays came in for considerable attention, with the ball fit to handle and players able to toss it distances without danger of wild heaves.

Andy Kerr, of Colgate, head coach of the easterners, sent the boys through their paces at Palo Alto while his assistant, Dick Hanley of Northwestern, was recovering from a cold.

Westerners Snappy

At Berkeley, the Western pluck warriors dashed through their plays with a snap that brought smiles to the faces of Dana X. Bible, of Nebraska, and Percy Lacey of the Olympic club, co-coaches. Outweighed by their eastern rivals and outnumbered in the matter of individual stars, the western players, nevertheless, will have an advantage of speed.

Coaches Bible and Lacey plan to capitalize on this to the utmost.

While no starting lineups have been forthcoming and none are expected until just before game time, the combinations used in the last five practices have given observers an inkling of who the starters probably will be.

The following eastern eleven has received the most attention: End—Hewitt, Michigan. Tackle—McMurdo, Pittsburgh. Guard—Hickman, Tennessee. Guard—Marland, Colgate. Guard—Chalmers, New York U.

Tackle—Marvill, Northwestern. End—Orsi, Colgate. Quarterback—Russell, Northwestern.

Halfback—Purvis, Purdue. Halfback—Morton, Dartmouth. Fullback—Hinkle, Bucknell.

Western Team

End—Wellendorf, University of Calif. at Los Angeles. Tackle—Ehrhorn, Stanford. Guard—Hurley, Washington State.

Center—Bian, Olympic Club. Guard—Koster, Nebraska. Tackle—Edwards, Washington State.

End—Bernier, Gonzaga. Quarterback—Mason, Southern Methodist. Halfback—Toscani, St. Mary's. Halfback—Hufford, Washington.

Fullback—Davis, Olympic Club.

HEAVY BATTLE NOT YET SIGNED

Jack Kearns to Discuss Situation Today With Carey

New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—The wheels that promise to grind out a heavyweight title fight for Miami in February featuring Max Schmeling and Mickey Walker, were idle today awaiting the arrival here tomorrow of Jack Kearns, manager of the challenger.

Kearns, now in Chicago, apparently has made no deal with Madison Square Garden as yet for Walker's services. Bill Carey, president of the Garden, had no statement to make regarding the match until Kearns has agreed to terms.

Carey spent several hours this afternoon in discussion with Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, who announced yesterday that the match would take place in Miami late in February. While awaiting Kearns' arrival it was said Carey and Jacobs were trying to reach an agreement for a match next summer between Schmeling and either Jack Dempsey or Jack Sharkey.

SCHMELING LEAVES

Berlin, Dec. 28. (Tuesday) (AP)—Max Schmeling left Berlin at 12:30 a. m. today for Bremerhaven where he will embark on the Europa for the United States. Schmeling, who is to defend his heavyweight title against Mickey Walker in Miami, Fla., late in February, appeared to be in excellent condition. His injured eye no longer troubles him.

RAIN HOLDS UP GRID WORKOUTS

Tulane and Trojan Men Practice Indoors for Big Game

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 28. (AP)—A heavy rain swept the Green Wave of Tulane indoors today and practice for the Rose tournament game here New Year's Day with the University of Southern California football team was held within the confines of Pasadena Civic auditorium.

Coach Bernie Bierman ordered tennis shoes for his squad and then sent the team through some dummy scrimmage on defense and a signal drill on offense.

A dozen miles away on the Trojan campus Coach Howard Jones also kept his Southern Californians out of the rain, giving them only a bit of skull practice, going over Tulane's plays and formations as well as those designed to upset the Green Wave defense.

In the meantime the section where the Rose Bowl is located was a roaring torrent. There is no available covering for the gridiron, but pumps were kept going.

Attendees said the field drains well, and would be in top condition if the rain lets up before Thursday. The sod is new this fall and the bowl has not been used for several months.

SCORES FORD'S LABOR POLICIES

Many Workers Depend on Charities, Says Detroit Educator

Washington, Dec. 28 (AP)—The labor policies of Henry Ford were lashed with criticisms today by S. M. Levin, head of the economic department of Detroit City college and a member of that city's unemployment committee.

"The tragedy of Ford unemployment," Levin asserted, "is being countered not by deep, but by an outpouring of words, a turgid flood, abounding in moral exhortations and noble ideas."

In fact, the professor said, "hosts of Ford workers are dependent on public soup kitchens and lodging houses, and thousands of others have been reduced to dependence on the skimpy allowances of public and private charity."

Levin spoke before the American economic association, which, with eleven allied societies, assembled about 4,000 political, economic, and sociological experts to survey the world scene. A group of several hundred heard the professor.

Quotes Ford Statements

The teacher accused the Ford company of failure to cooperate with unemployment relief agencies. He used copious quotations from Ford's public statements in discussing the Ford "high-wage and short-hour program. He said the auto manufacturer's unemployment policy of the past few years was "almost completely negative" and recalled Ford's new principle that "substitutes the employer's duty to the public interest for his duty to the men employed."

This he termed "not only negation of the ideals that Ford has abrogated to himself for more than a decade," but "is clearly the line of least resistance, a turning away from a difficult problem, a condoning of economic disorder."

Levin recalled Ford's announcement of a five-day week plan in 1922. But he said the number of families helped by the Detroit Community Union while their breadwinner was employed by Ford "increased successively from 8,592 for the 12 months period from July 1, 1924 to June 30, 1925 to 10,162 for the same period ending June, 1930."

The five-day week, Levin continued, "has not proved invulnerable to the temptation to increasing business" and "a seven day week is not unknown in the Ford plants."

Pennsylvania Shops at Altoona Burned

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 28 (AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad company's Twelfth street shops were destroyed by fire yesterday. Company officials estimated the damage at approximately $1,500,000.

The blaze broke out about 8 a. m. and had gained much headway before being discovered. The shops were closed for the holidays. About 1,100 men were employed in the various units.

The fire started in a wing of the machine shop building and spread quickly to oil-soaked waste and grease. In the bolt shop, oil reservoirs blew up and showered the room with flaming oil.

Acetylene used in the air brake shop exploded. So rapidly did the flames spread that three minutes after the fourth floor of the building caught fire, the roof caved in. Bricks and steel crashed down on the Twelfth street pedestrian bridge, breaking the guard rails. No one was on the span.

Delta County Dog Licenses Received

Supplies for issuing 1932 dog licenses have been received at the office of the county treasurer, Miss Mary McColl. The license fee is the same as in the past, $2 for male dogs, $4 for females, and $2 for unsexed dogs. On and after March 1 an additional $2 will be added.

A total of 96 dogs were licensed in Delta county during 1931. Of this number 74 were issued by the city of Escanaba, 6 in Gladstone, 9 in Fairbanks township, 2 in Garden township and one in Ensign township. In addition, four dog licenses were issued by the county treasurer in May, July and August. The net receipts of the licenses in this county, after township and city fees were deducted, totalled $134.50.

Munising News

Judge of Probate Requests Action On Doctor Bills

On account of differences of opinion regarding operative cases which the county has to pay for, Judge of Probate Nebel sent the following communication to the board of supervisors. While no action was taken on the matter, other than sending a copy of the communication to the doctors, the situation is explained from the viewpoint of the probate judge and is of interest to the taxpayers of Alger county. The communication follows:

Board of Supervisors, % County Clerk, Munising, Michigan, Honorable Sir:

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, deductions were made from operative bills of the doctors. Some three and a half years ago this county figured out that it was cheaper and better for Alger county to have such operations performed here as could be performed instead of sending same to the University Hospital. At that time, the doctors entered into an agreement or understanding with the county officers to make a charge of fifty dollars for any major operation. The doctors further agreed to perform minor operations, such as removal of tonsils, etc. for ten dollars. It was known at that time that these charges were under the regular schedule but it was a cash consideration and this arrangement worked along satisfactorily apparently for some time.

After Dr. Tearman left, there were several cases that either had to be operated on here or sent to the University hospital. Some of these were the patients of Dr. Scholtes and some were the patients of Dr. Gageby. There were three or four real heavy cases that required the services of both doctors. They were types of cases that if sent to the University hospital, would have run into considerable money. Apparently Dr. Gageby assisted Dr. Scholtes and Dr. Scholtes assisted Dr. Gageby in these heavy cases and apparently Dr. Gageby figures he should be entitled to a surgical fee of fifty dollars and Dr. Scholtes figures he should be entitled to pay for his services. In the cases where the two doctors operated, they were authorized by me to do so. If we cannot reach an understanding about these cases, there will be only one thing left for the Judge of Probate to do and that will be to send the cases to the University Hospital. The arrangement with the local doctors by the Judge of Probate was made with the idea of saving the people money. I might add that one of the largest counties in the lower peninsula has adopted the system and procedure of Alger county in handling these cases; that is, having as much work done locally as is possible. The statute makes it incumbent upon the Probate Judge where there is an afflicted indigent person to see to it that he has treatment.

There is no way for the Probate Judge to bind the county as to the amount of the bills. I can but approve the services rendered. The amount of the bill is for the Board of Supervisors to determine. The Probate Judge, however, must have some understanding that when work is authorized that the accounts will be paid. Otherwise, his authority to perform the operation at the county's expense here would be a nullity. I would suggest that your Board make a decision on this matter and make such recommendations to the Probate Judge as you may see fit and proper. The idea is to cooperate. This money comes out of the taxpayers one way or the other. We have got to hold things down as much as possible.

Copy of this communication is being sent to both Dr. Scholtes and Dr. Gageby.

Yours very truly, RICHARD W. NEBEL, Probate Judge.

Prefers Oxen Team

Ironwood.—Modern methods of transportation are scorned by George Sparks, who resides two miles east of Marquette. He prefers to use his team of oxen, Bob and Rowdy, when making his delivery trips to Marquette.

The oxen team, which tips the scale at 3,650 pounds, may be seen on the highways near Marquette on almost any day. During the last two years, Sparks has delivered more than 2000 worth of wood with the oxen.

"I can use the oxen where I can't use horses," said Mr. Sparks this week. "They can get out of places in the woods where it would be impossible to use a team. You do not have to buy

Mrs. Olson had been in failing health for about a year but was not confined to her bed until one week ago. Arterio sclerosis was given as the cause of death. Mrs. Olson was born Dec. 26, 1853, in Netra, Ongenaland, Sweden, and came to this country with her husband. TONY'S OBLIGING
