MILLS CLAIMS RAINEY'S TAX PLAN NO GOOD

LARGER INCOMES IN NATION NEARLY WIPE OUT

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—Democratic proposals that the wealthy bear the brunt of increased taxes were assailed as "inadequate" tonight by Undersecretary Mills of the treasury.

Seizing as the target of his criticism a statement by Representative Rainey, floor leader of the house Democratic majority, Mills asserted huge surtaxes would not meet the treasury's needs because the large incomes on which they would be levied have virtually been wiped out.

Garner Replies
Rainey's program, with which many Democratic leaders are not in agreement, proposed repeal of the capital stock gains and losses provision of the present tax law and urged making increased taxes payable on income of 1931.

Other Democratic leaders made it clear today that Rainey was speaking as an individual and not for the party. They concur in some of his views and differ on others.

However, the Democratic leaders have agreed in general that the wealthy should carry the bulk of the increase burden. In addition, they are studying a plan for increasing government revenue by plugging up the loopholes through which some corporations and individuals have succeeded in evading tax payments.

Mills said that if the surtax maximum were raised to Rainey's figure of 60 percent it would bring in an additional $120,000,000 during the 1932 fiscal year, whereas the treasury deficit is estimated at $2,122,000,000.

Few Large Incomes
"It may be disappointing to realize that there is so little profit in 'soaking the rich,' but the truth of the matter is that the large incomes are no longer there and cannot, therefore, be made to produce the needed revenues," Mills said.

Corporation Will Make Good Losses Due to Bank Mishap
Lansing, Dec. 29 (AP)—Motor Wheel corporation will make good any losses that its stockholders suffered through the closing last week of the American State Savings Bank here, D. L. Porter, treasurer, announced today.

Porter said that Motor Wheel's account at the bank did not exceed $75,000. This, he contrasted to $2,250,000 in other cash, securities, and accounts receivable offset by current liabilities of $250,000.

Automobile Fumes Fatal to Car Driver

Caro, Mich., Dec. 29 (AP)—Fumes from his automobile parked in a garage with the doors closed were believed to have caused the death last night of Richard Waterworth, 28, and the critical illness of Miss Grace Harmon, Waterworth's fiancée, at Mayville, near here.

Waterworth's body was found in the car by his mother, Mrs. Thomas Brown, when she became alarmed at the failure of the couple to return from a dance. Miss Harmon, unconscious, was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. Brown said the couple apparently sat in the car for several minutes after driving into the garage.

DARROW DROPS NEGROES' CASE

Will Not Associate Himself With Communist Organization

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 29 (AP)—Clarence Darrow refused to associate himself with the International Labor Defense today.

He opposed increasing the rate on small incomes and suggested a maximum surtax of 60 percent. He also proposed a bond issue to cover part of the treasury deficit.

Informed of the Mills statement, Speaker Garner said: "Nobody has been authorized to speak for the Democratic party on a tax program, and nobody has. There is no complete program yet. Mr. Mills can set up a straw man and knock him down if he wants to, but it's nothing more than a product of his imagination."

Other Democratic leaders made it clear today that Rainey was speaking as an individual and not for the party. They concur in some of his views and differ on others.

HOOVER URGES MERGER PLAN FOR ECONOMY

WOULD CONSOLIDATE GOVERNMENTAL BRANCHES

BY JOHN F. CHESTER
Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—A general shakeup of the federal government—a wholesale consolidation of its overlapping branches—was set up before the eyes of an absent congress today by President Hoover as a major objective of the present session.

The chief executive named five specific consolidations that would touch almost every arm of the government. Such action at this time, he declared, would be a sharp weapon in the fight to lop off federal expenditures. Here is his program:

Consolidation of all government construction activities under an administrator of public works to serve all departments.

Combination of all merchant marine activities within the department of commerce.

Consolidation of all federal educational efforts under a single head.

Creation of a single bureau to handle all conservation activities.

Consolidation of the public health services.

Economy Measure
Addressing newspapermen in the most lively White House press conference in recent weeks, the president recalled that he had urged a general consolidation plan upon congress over the last few years. At this time, it would save millions, he said.

"The subject is an old one and now that economy absolutely must be the first order in government, it is an appropriate time for congress to take up the question and bring it to conclusion," he continued. "Such action would comprise a major accomplishment of the present session of congress."

At this point, the president departed from usual custom to engage in a question and answer period.

In answer to one query, he said a special message dealing with his proposals in greater detail would be delivered to congress as soon as action had been taken upon his emergency economic program, probably, he added, within a month or two.

Until minutely worked out plans of the various consolidations have been placed "check by jowl," he said, no exact estimate could be made of the money to be saved through the various combinations.

He had held up earlier as an example, however, the consolidation of veterans activities under a single department headed by Administrator Hines. This, he asserted, was saving between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 a year.

The president said he considered the most important of his proposals.

Girl Missing for Two Months Found
Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP)—Catherine Burns, 17, missing from her home in Plainfield, N. J., for two months, was found today with a family to which she had been sent by a charity organization.

Her mother, Mrs. Anna Burns, traced her here several weeks ago and yesterday police arrested William H. Selby, 27, a Bible student.

The girl confirmed Selby's story that she stayed with him for six weeks, leaving last Sunday night. "He was a gentleman," the girl said.

Detroit Municipal Salaries May Be Cut
Detroit, Dec. 29 (AP)—Reductions in municipal salaries which would effect a saving of $2,600,000 to a city hard pressed for cash as a result of decreased tax receipts were proposed to the city council today.

The proposal, initiated by Mayor Frank Murphy and introduced in the council by Councilman William P. Bradley, would reduce the salaries of all city employees 10 per cent and deduct an additional 10 per cent from all salaries of more than $4,000 a year.

Turnout For Vote on Dry Law in Finland Heavy for First Day

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Correspondent
Helsingfors, Finland, Dec. 29 (AP)—Everybody was surprised by the voting today in the consultative referendum on prohibition, for, despite a blizzard and a snow beginning in the morning, the turnout was better than the most sanguine had expected.

Complete figures from the entire city of Helsingfors indicated that about 36.4 percent of the voters trudged through the snow to the polls, as compared with 33.7 per cent on the first day of the last presidential election.

No Votes Counted
This was far better than in parliamentary elections. Finland takes two days to do its voting, and in parliamentary contests a 35 per cent turnout is never exceeded on the first day of balloting. More men have voted than women.

Beyond the mere number of those casting ballots nothing was available tonight as the count will not begin before tomorrow midnight.

No ballots are tabulated in their precincts but all are sent sealed to the central office in Helsingfors where a staff will work in three shifts day and night, without any letup for New Year's Day.

No trouble was reported anywhere in Finland.

The newspapers were filled with the arguments of both sides. Both the arguments of prohibition and its enemies made an argument out of the fact that several American newspaper correspondents have come to Helsingfors. The dregs said an adverse vote might affect American prohibition and that therefore the election might keep alcohol away from the United States as well as away from Finland.

The wets deduced from the presence of the Americans that the United States has found corruption resulting from prohibition and hopes Finland may point the way out.

The voters have the choice of three means of dealing with prohibition—maintain it, repeal it, or modify it.

RAIL MEETING TO BE JAN. 14
Executives and Leaders of Unions to Consider Wage Reduction
Cleveland, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Railway Labor Executives association, comprising 21 brotherhoods and unions, today set Jan. 14 as the date for meeting in Chicago with a committee of nine railroad presidents to discuss the unions' proposals for unemployment relief and the railroads' proposed 15 per cent wage cut.

In addition, the railway labor heads decided to call the brotherhoods' 1,500 general chairmen on the various railroads to meet in Chicago two days before the presidents' conference to determine upon a policy.

Labor heads expect to have a representative committee from each involved labor organization participate in the conference with the railroad presidents.

This will include the 21 executives of the brotherhoods and subcommittees from each organization, bringing to the total labor representation at the conference to approximately 200.

Daniel Willard, chairman of the railroad presidents association and president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was notified tonight of the date selected.

D. B. Robertson, chairman of the association, said the conference did not discuss the proposed 15 per cent wage decrease asked by the railroads at the New York meeting Dec. 18.

The conference here today was the latest step in the program initiated by the labor association to negotiate to a satisfactory conclusion the questions of wages and unemployment.

The railroad presidents appointed nine of their group as a committee empowered to meet the labor group on this ground.

Kidnaping Threat Reported to Police
Saginaw, Mich., Dec. 29 (AP)—Henry Fischer, proprietor of a hotel in the village of Frankenmuth, notified county officers today that his two children had been threatened with kidnaping by persons who sought to prevent his charging two men held in Patterson, N. J., with a confidence game.

Several weeks ago Fischer charged that three men tricked him out of $4,000 by a fake race track betting scheme. Carl Wagner and Charles Baninger, named by Fischer as two of the men, are in custody in New Jersey.

The Fischer children are Howard, 12, and Stanley, 8.

Traffic Deaths in Detroit Decreased
Detroit, Dec. 29 (AP)—With two days more to go, traffic fatalities in Detroit this year show a decline of 19 from 1930.

NEW PARTY IS CONSIDERED BY INDEPENDENTS

DOUBT IF THEY CAN BLOCK HOOVER'S RENOMINATION

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—Third party talk developed definitely today in the discussions of anti-Hoover Republicans on Capitol Hill.

Unconvinced of their ability to block Mr. Hoover's renomination and dubious over the outlook for an acceptable Democratic candidate, the Republican independents of the northwest are seriously considering a third party movement.

The name of Senator Norris, of Nebraska, is that about which the third party discussion revolves mostly. Other names also are heard very definitely, including Senators Borah, of Idaho and Johnson, of Pennsylvania.

Norris is known to have declined pleas that he enter a contest against renomination of Hoover by the Republican convention. However, it is not understood that he closed the door to himself should a third party develop.

Group Non-Committal
The other candidates discussed by the group—Borah, Johnson and Pinchot—are still in mind for a race against Hoover in the presidential primaries.

None of the group is willing to discuss the plans of the independents at this time. It is certain that no third party will be started or attempted until after both the Republican and Democratic conventions of next June.

Another anti-Hoover organization of unknown strength is digging in here for the campaign under the leadership of Horace Mann of Tennessee, who directed the Republican drive in the southern states in 1928.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, has stood by the regular Republican ticket through two previous third party movements but his name is linked with the new talk, nevertheless.

Governor Pinchot is understood to have talked over an anti-Hoover contest with the Republican independents in recent conversations here.

Of the Democratic presidential candidates discussed by the independents only the name of Governor Roosevelt of New York has been mentioned as satisfactory to some of the group. He is unacceptable to others.

Some Washington Democrats are becoming convinced that Alfred E. Smith is seeking the party nomination again. Norris supported Smith in 1928.

Lansing, Dec. 29 (AP)—A warrant was issued tonight for the arrest of Carl L. Skidmore, local oil man, on a negligent homicide charge in connection with the death December 2 of Miss Iva Manross, 25, a dry goods clerk, in an automobile accident near Dimondale.

Skidmore's arrest was recommended by Circuit Judge Charles B. Collingwood, who presided as a one-man grand jury which investigated the woman's death. No other arrests were recommended.

Judge Collingwood's opinion said the woman was killed while riding in Skidmore's car. Her body was brought to a Lansing hospital shortly after the accident and remained unidentified for several hours. Judge Collingwood said the evidence had shown that Skidmore was driving in a "careless, reckless, and negligent manner."

Fifth Delegate to Arms Conference Picked by Hoover
Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—President Hoover today selected a fifth member for the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference, but he has yet to tell them what their attitude shall be on three important issues.

He named Norman H. Davis of New York, a former undersecretary to state, to join Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, chairman, Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, Swann, Democrat, Virginia, and Miss Mary Emma Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College, in the disarmament negotiations next year.

So far, however, the president has not decided what the American policy shall be on these questions: How arms should be limited, whether aerial combat forces should be restricted and whether a treaty should contain what is known as an "escape clause."

CHANG TO WITHDRAW SOLDIERS WITHIN GREAT WALL

BULLETIN
Chinchow, Dec. 30 (Wednesday) (AP)—Chinese soldiers began evacuating Chinchow today.

Eight trainloads of troops moved southward toward Lanshan, inside the Great Wall. Additional forces east of Chinchow were rapidly withdrawing westward.

Great confusion prevailed among the Chinese populace at Kowpangtze, where every one was attempting to board the already crowded southbound trains. Japanese forces were expected to occupy Kowpangtze later in the day.

BULLETIN
Tokyo, Dec. 30 (Wednesday) (AP)—A Port Arthur dispatch to the newspaper Asahi said today that a number of Japanese cruisers and destroyers had sailed for an unannounced destination, owing to developments in the Chinchow situation.

The navy department in Tokyo said it had not yet been notified of the warships' move, as the vessels were under direct orders of the fleet commander.

Peiping, China, Dec. 29 (AP)—Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang ordered his Manchurian troops to evacuate the Chinchow area today and withdraw within the Great Wall of China.

"I have taken this action solely in order that the Japanese military may have no pretext for extending warfare and its consequences into north China, especially the Peiping-Tientsin area," Marshal Chang told the Associated Press.

The withdrawal already has commenced, it was understood, and will proceed as rapidly as possible.

Several Hundred Killed.
News of the marshal's decision was made public after his headquarters announced that the Chinese had succeeded in cutting in behind the Japanese army that is pushing north from Yingkow toward Kowpangtze.

Headquarters also announced that several hundred Chinese and at least 150 Japanese had fallen in the fighting in the Yingkow-Kowpangtze district during the last few days.

Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang's decision to evacuate Chinchow apparently means complete success for the Japanese army in Manchuria.

Every other section of the province with the exception of Chinchow has been under Japanese control.

ONLY ONE VOTE ON PROHIBITION

Rainey Says House Must Decide on Referendum or Modification

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—The house will be allowed one vote and no more this session on the question of prohibition under a plan announced today by Majority Leader Rainey.

The Illinois Democrat said the wet forces would be notified they could not have a roll call on a referendum on the eighteenth amendment and a ballot on the return of light wines and beer, too.

Simultaneously with this announcement, Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, refused to serve on a senate judiciary subcommittee named to conduct hearings on the dry laws. Ashurst, a prohibitionist, said he had "no time to waste in aiding those who are attempting to weaken or relax" them.

Explaining the procedure under which the prohibition vote would be had in the house, Rainey said the judiciary committee, preponderantly dry, would not favorably report a measure calling for a referendum on the eighteenth amendment or for modification of the dry laws.

"The wets will have to bring the bill to the floor through the petition of 145 members," Rainey said. "That is the only way in which they can do it. They will have but one vote and that either on a referendum or light wines and beer. They can't have both. The rules of the house will be so interpreted."

"The referendum will have a better chance of getting by because a lot of dregs, like myself, will vote for it."

Foreclosure Suit On Allan's Home Started by Bank
Detroit, Dec. 29 (AP)—Suit to foreclose a mortgage against the home of Robert M. Allan, former bank president, under sentence of 10 to 20 years for embezzlement from the American State Bank, was filed today by the People's Wayne County Bank, which took over the American State Bank in March.

George C. Johnson, vice president of the People's Wayne County Bank, said the mortgage is held by the bank as one of the assets which it took over with the American State institution. He alleged Allan owes the principal of a $22,500 mortgage, plus $1,760.48 in interest and expenses.

Foreclosure suits against Allan also have been filed by the bank on property mortgages amounting to $8,000.

Paroled Lifer Is Returned to Prison
Lansing, Dec. 29 (AP)—Declaring that his parole was an error, Governor Brucker today ordered Charles Meyers, former lifer, back to Jackson prison.

The release of Meyers by Ray O. Brundage, parole commissioner, was described by the executive as a mistake. Brundage liberated the prisoner six months before his commuted term of 15 years expired. The attorney general has committed term and are not entitled to good time or other allowances.

Meyers was convicted of the murder of Max Schreiber, Detroit saloonkeeper, in 1917. In 1926 his life sentence was commuted. His shortened term was due to expire next July.

Boom for Murray Is Being Planned
Oklahoma City, Dec. 29 (AP)—Oklahoma Democratic leaders greased the ways today for the impending launching of Governor W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray's candidacy for the presidential nomination.

The Democratic state committee bowed to the wishes of the executive in fixing Feb. 29 as the date for the state party convention after hearing that Murray's name would be placed before the Democratic voters of New Hampshire in the presidential preference primary March 8.

Ed Semans of Oklahoma City, a close friend of Murray, told the committee the governor desired the Oklahoma convention held early in the year so that he could have the backing of his own state's delegation to the national convention before seeking the endorsement of the New Hampshire voters.

POLICE PROJECT WINS APPROVAL

Fitzgerald Opposes New Building at East Lansing

Lansing, Dec. 29 (AP)—Over the protest of Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, Governor Brucker today secured approval from the building committee of the state administrative board for a $100,000 administration building for the state police in East Lansing. Fitzgerald intimated that he may carry his protest to the administrative board, which must ratify the committee's action.

Fitzgerald Protests

After Governor Brucker intimated that rejection of the project would be "a slap at the administration," two of the three members of the committee voted to readvertise for bids on the structure. All previous bids were rejected on the ground they were too high. Fitzgerald voted against the expenditure. He protested that the outlay is unnecessary and not in keeping with a program of economy in government. Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, offered the motion for advertising for bids and was supported by Webster K. Pearce, superintendent of public instruction. The governor said his administration is "marching" in law enforcement and the building is needed.

The money for the building will come from revenues from the new drivers' re-registration law. Fitzgerald urged that in view of the large deficit in the general fund the state police appropriation from that fund be reduced and money from the license fees be used for the operation of the public safety department.

DETROIT REFUSES TO RECONSIDER ITS BUS LINE ACTION

Detroit, Dec. 29 (AP)—Over the protest of representatives of the Ford Motor company and other manufacturing concerns, the city council refused tonight to reconsider its action of last week ordering the privately owned Detroit Motorbus company off the streets January 1.

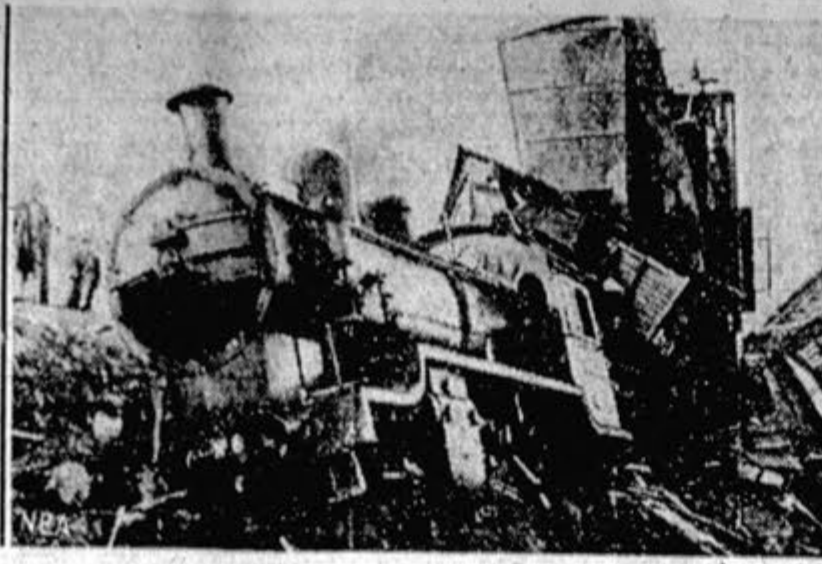

Speaking for the Ford company, Harry H. Bennett, head of the company's service department, predicted that employment at the Dearborn plant would reach its peak by February 15 and expressed the fear that the municipally owned transportation system would not furnish adequate service to workers.

Gandhi Asks Advice Of Lord Willingdon

Bombay, India, Dec. 29 (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi sought today a meeting with Viceroy Lord Willingdon on India's troubled situation. Apparently anxious to avoid a renewal of the conflict with the government over his demand for complete independence for India, the Nationalist leader sent the viceroy a telegram asking for the chance to see him. Lord Willingdon is expected to receive him.

Some of Gandhi's followers said they would not be surprised if ultimately he accepted membership on one of the committees appointed by the British government to carry on the work of evolving a new constitution for an all-Indian federation from the point where the recent round-table conference in London left off. In any event the fight is not expected to be renewed until the Indian congress meets in March.

America Will Have No Delegation at Geneva Reparations Meeting

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—Europe's insistent hinting that an American delegate should sit in the forthcoming reparations conference received only this answer today in official quarters here: "There will be no trip to Europe this winter."

These were the words of Ogden Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, constant reliance of the administration in international finance, President Hoover's last caller yesterday and his first today.

Mills' short reply to the questions of newspapermen summed up the expectations of informed circles in the capital. It put

Walker's Aide Gets Fine Of $50,000

New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—A $50,000 penalty—half of the maximum provided by law—was imposed today upon Russell T. Sherwood, described as Mayor Walker's personal accountant, for contempt of court in failing to answer a subpoena to testify before the Hofstadter legislative committee.

Arrested Sheriff Claims Frameup

Portland, Ind., Dec. 29 (AP)—Ira Barton, sheriff of Blackford county, accused of aiding a band of robbers in the looting of three eastern Indiana banks, today maintained he was the victim of a frameup. He was held on charges of conspiracy and of being an accessory before the fact in the Christmas eve holdup of the First State Bank of Dunkirk.

"Pug" Rentner Shot In Freak Accident

Evansville, Ill., Dec. 29 (AP)—Ernest (Pug) Rentner, all-American halfback and captain of next year's Northwestern university football team, was taken to a hospital tonight with a bullet wound in his left hand, suffered in a freak accident.

Rentner was examining the magazine of a small calibre pistol when a cartridge exploded, the bullet plowing a furrow in the little finger of his left hand. The wound, which was not considered serious, was dressed and he was kept at the hospital overnight for observation.

INSANE MAN IS SHOT BY POLICE

Seriously Wounded After Three Hour Siege in Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP)—Adam Purecki, 35, was shot in the head and wounded seriously tonight by police after he in an attack of insanity had barricaded himself in his flat and withstood a three-hour siege of bullets and tear gas bombs. Doctors said he probably would recover. The shooting was witnessed by his wife from a building next door.

Purecki was struck by a shotgun slug fired from a building next door by Sergeant William McCarthy. He was found lying on the floor of his kitchen, a pistol crumpled in each hand. The neighborhood, a northwest side residential district, was thrown into a turmoil during the siege. Hundreds collected around the barricaded building, despite intermittent fire between Purecki and several squads of police.

CLOSED BANKS WILL GET AID

New Division in State Department Announced by Brucker

Lansing, Dec. 29 (AP)—A new division in the state banking department to supervise banks which have failed and to aid in their reorganization was announced today by Governor Brucker and Rudolph E. Reichert, state banking commissioner.

For many months the banking department has been lending every aid to the end that banks closed might be reopened. "In some instances a successful plan of reorganization has been evolved and in others plans of reorganization are in progress. The banking commissioner has endeavored to follow up bank receiverships. It is realized, however, that there is a demand for much more aid than can be given by commissioner and his deputy working alone. Therefore it has been determined to organize the division to aid in bank reorganization, supervise all closed banks, supervise the operation of receiverships by periodic examinations, and to aid in liquidating assets to obtain speedier distribution of dividends and to assure payment to depositors without unnecessary delay."

The Tokyo position has been that the Japanese forces in Manchuria would face a dangerous menace so long as Chinese regulars and irregulars were concentrated in the Chinchow district. Japanese government officials have accused Marshal Chang of instigating bandit activity against the Japanese-owned South Manchurian railway.

MOVE FORWARD

Yingkow, Manchuria, Dec. 29 (AP)—Moving forward exactly on schedule despite stiff resistance put up by Chinese infantrymen, Lieutenant General Jiro Tamon's Japanese army seized Panshanhsien today.

Artillery and aircraft played a large part in the day's successes. Four times the Chinese made a stand and four times they were bombed out of their positions and forced to retreat over the snow-covered plains.

The weather was somewhat mitigated today, but the temperature still ran a few degrees below zero Fahrshheit. The advance started early this morning from Tawa, which was captured yesterday by the Japanese. The heaviest fighting took place in the highlands near Chongchihai, 10 miles south of Panshanhsien, against 1,500 Chinese regulars and irregulars.

An hour later a 40-minute stand was made by 3,000 Chinese near Tatienchuan. The Japanese also encountered resistance at the village of Palitze, but soon brushed it aside.

Meanwhile it is hoped that several large railroads facing possible default on their debts can be aided over.

WINTER'S FURY HITS AT EUROPE

Piercing Winds, Blizzards, Snow and Gales Sweep Continent

London, Dec. 29 (AP)—Winter's icy blasts swept a large area of Europe today, bringing death to some of the homeless and underfed, causing discomfort and suffering in many places.

At the other end of the continent, snowploughs struggled through drifts that impeded Flans from recording their vote in the prohibition referendum.

London Escapes Storm
Between these extreme points, London, Paris and Berlin experienced piercing winds and snow, although London and southeast England thus far have escaped the blizzards that have piled up drifts several feet deep in the Scottish Glens and the Yorkshire Moors.

Cold, rain and snow were general throughout France. A gale has raged on the Baltic since Christmas. Intense cold experienced in Rome over Christmas, has been followed by two days of heavy rain.

18th Avenue Pump Station Going Up

Brick work was started this week on the 18th avenue pumping station, one of the units of Escanaba's new sewage disposal system, and the exterior of the structure will be practically completed by the end of the week.

At the main treatment plant, much of the mechanical equipment has been installed, and work is progressing on machinery in the sedimentation and aeration tanks.

A bronze tablet bearing the names of city officials, engineers and contractor, has been installed in the pump office and control building at the plant.

At the present rate of progress it is expected that the plant will be put in partial operation sometime in January.

WONDERFUL RESPONSE

THE report of Carl J. Sawyer, chairman of the committee which conducted this year's Red Cross Roll Call, testifies to the fine humanitarian spirit of the people of Delta county. When it was naturally expected that the sum collected this year would be smaller due to economic conditions, the Red Cross canvassers made the surprising gain of $753.70 over last year's subscription.

Both the citizens, who gave their financial assistance, and the canvassers, who contributed their time and effort, as well as their cash, are deserving of much praise. They have responded generously to help a cause, the merits of which are universally known.

The increased funds given the Red Cross this year will be all needed, however. The demands for poor relief are coming from all parts of the county in increasing volume. Officers of the Delta county chapter carefully investigate every indigent case, and help is given only where needed. There is no wasting of the good money that the people of Delta county have given.

The results of the 1931 roll call reveal two highly significant angles. One is that the Delta county citizens are ever ready to help those in distress. The other is that the Red Cross has won the confidence of these citizens, this being apparent in the increase of about 70 per cent in this year's contributions.

ROADSIDE SCENERY

THE value of preserving roadside scenery is pretty generally recognized in the upper peninsula. It is a known fact that the tourist who comes to Hiawathaland gets a large part of his enjoyment from riding on our fine highways and feasting his eyes on the beautiful surroundings as he rolls along. And the tourist business being one of this north country's most valuable assets, it is natural that everything will be done to keep these cash customers satisfied.

Realizing this fact, the state highway department has adopted roadside beautification as one of its projects in the development of the state's highways. Considerable money is being spent every year in such work, and the results are already very noticeable along upper peninsula's scenic highways.

Trees and shrubbery have been transplanted in many places, such as was done along the bay shore road between Escanaba and Gladstone. In other places wider strips of right-of-way have been purchased by the state for more guarantee that certain scenic delights will not be destroyed.

But efforts to enhance the beauty of the roadsides have been of no avail in many places in the upper peninsula. No sooner is a new paved highway built than numerous tar-paper shacks, crude vending stands and other eyesores spring up to mar the appearance of the surroundings. Of course, there isn't much that can be done about it for these unsightly buildings have been erected on private property. To eliminate the eyesores the state would have to buy them.

In many states, however, this problem is being given serious study and some control. Rural zoning, somewhat along the lines of Escanaba's zoning ordinance, appears as a plan having promise of beneficial results. The Massachusetts Forestry association has advocated zoning of all the state highways in that commonwealth. It would restrict the use of premises bordering on an within 500 feet of such highways, and anyone desiring to put up a building or structure, or to use any land in such zones, for other than agricultural or forestry purposes would have to obtain the approval of a division of planning within the department of public works.

Acquisition of "scenic easements" or "easements of view" has been suggested as another method of protecting the landscape. On a new highway route, for example, scenic easements controlling 500 feet back from each side of the road might be obtained from property owners in exchange for the benefits they would gain from construction of the highway.

CARPENTERS' WAGES

(Sault Ste. Marie News) DISCUSSING the prospects for the construction of a new school in this city, this column recently made the somewhat incomplete statement that wages of men in the building trades here were "higher than in other cities."

A study of the wage scale for union labor in various cities of the United States and Canada shows some interesting facts. The reference to Sault wages might have been equally true had it been that the rate here was lower than in other cities. What was meant, of course, was that the Sault rate was higher than in many other cities.

The union rate for carpenters in Sault Ste. Marie is $1 an hour. In the Canadian Sault the rate is 85 cents an hour.

Following are the rates for the Michigan cities which have charters as union locals: Muskegon 90 cents; Kalamazoo $1; Saginaw $1; Grand Rapids $1 (local No. 335); Detroit $1.15; Ann Arbor $1; Cadillac 80 cents; Jackson 90 cents; Charlevoix $1; Muskegon 82 cents; Battle Creek $1; St. Joseph and Benton Harbor $1; Marquette $1; Niles 90 cents; South Haven 80 cents; Alpena 80 cents; Pontiac $1; Manistee 70 cents; Ironwood 80 cents; Harbor Springs $1; Flint $1; Gladstone 80 cents; Lansing 90 cents; Ludington 75 cents; Grand Rapids 55 cents (local No. 1615); Sparta 55 cents; Escanaba $1; Holland 85 cents; Grand Haven 90 cents.

One dollar an hour is not an exorbitant rate. In fact the rate for the northern state carpenters probably will average more than that sum. A number of large cities have a carpenter rate as high as $1.65 an hour. With the exception of Detroit, however $1 an hour is the highest rate in Michigan. In the Upper Peninsula the $1 rate is shared by the Sault, Escanaba and Marquette.

Sault Ste. Marie may well pride itself on a high standard of living. This could not be possible, of course, if wages were low. Whether or not the wage rate has any distinct bearing on the amount of building that is done in any given city is worth serious study. For instance has the well known fact that there has always been far more building in the Canadian Sault than on this side of the river, any relation to the 15 cent difference in the wage rate?

Sault taxpayers do not want any cheap laborers coming in to build their schoolhouses. They want the work done by Sault labor and by Sault contractors. For their money they want high class workmanship—and that this is available here is proved by the Hotel Ojibway. Use of "scab" labor at upon wages would not help Sault Ste. Marie even though the cost to the taxpayers would be less than for union, Sault labor. One dollar an hour spent for Sault labor is $8 a day spent with Sault business for circulation here among all the citizens. Forty cents an hour spent on imported labor benefits not even the workmen themselves, for they can no more than make a bare living from this sum.

And if that happens, co-eds and students are likely to go back to afternoon teas.

Yet, those alleged city hall loafers probably know half a loaf is better than none.

French are calling sinister bankers, banksters. What chance has a poor-gangster got?

Scientists say apes grow bald like men. But apes escape barbers trying to grow it back again.

Of course with the sympathy Chicago gives its gangsters, a banker wouldn't have much chance.

Robbers dug a 60-foot tunnel to loot a bank. Sort of getting at the bottom of the financial situation.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

(By NEA Service) By Kay Cleaver Strahan

CHAPTER XVIII

"I can't think about it," said Ann. "I know, and I believe you know, that it would kill Grand and Rosalie. I mean—it would really kill them. They'd die. Think about going to them with such a suggestion! Planning to take them away from their home! It would strip them of their pride, and everything that they believe they have accomplished with their lives, and they are old. If we paid their board it would be charity and nothing else, and they'd know it. As well put them in the poorhouse, so far as the fundamentals are concerned. They couldn't take up their lives in other people's homes. It would be like transplanting old trees into soil they couldn't live in. It could be—murdering them, after we'd broken their hearts."

"I don't know that that is true," said Phil. "Think it isn't. But I know you'd say it. I know almost the very words you'd use. Except that you forgot to mention what you owe them."

"Just the same, Phil, whether you like it or not, we were three little orphan girls with no other relatives in the world. And Grand and Rosalie did take us right in and support us entirely for several years. They'd do it yet if they could, and willingly—they think that they are—and they've given us love and interest and care all these years. I don't say that we've given them nothing. But they've given to us, too. When mother and father died, if it hadn't been for Grand and Rosalie, we three girls would have been reared in an orphan asylum."

Marta clapped her hands to the trim little hat and dropped them into her lap again and slumped forward. "Honestly! Do you mean to tell me that Gretch Steigerwald is giving a party and has had the utter nerve not to ask you? Honestly! Well, I'll call her up the minute I get home, and I'll tell her what I think about it, and—"

"Marta!" Cecily protested. "I wouldn't have you do that for anything in the world. Promise you won't. I love Gretchen a party and a picnic."

"Honestly! I'm not promising this morning. Cissy, I shouldn't have thought that even Gretch would have had the nerve. You don't mean to say you don't know why she has left you out?"

and suitably dressed for morning in a tweedy suit with a trim little hat and doekin gloves that wrinkled expensively around her wrists; but all the people in the street car stared, as people always stared at Marta (Ann said it was because she held her head so high and took such long steps) as she came through the door, and flickered her fingers at Cecily, and swung down the aisle to take the seat beside her.

Marta was out so early in the morning because there was a deadly sale of ravishing chiffons advertised at Older's, and papa wanted the car, and it was no good going to sales unless you got there when the doors opened. As for that green georgette and those other old rags, Cissy was utterly ridid. She had worn them for utter ages, and she'd look a fright in any of them this year. Lottie said the new things in New York were positively trailing.

"If I got something today I'll wear it to Gretchen's, though I wouldn't think of getting anything new just for it. Will you wear your pink? It's utterly adorable. Lottie had a darling, a little import, something like it. She's had it lengthened, she says. She couldn't match the color—a little import, you know—but she got white, and had it dyed to match, and put a flounce on it. Maybe you could do something like that with your pink, if you wanted to. Did Gretchen ask Ann and Phil?"

"No," Cecily said, profoundly unconcerned. "We didn't know that Gretchen was giving a party."

Marta clapped her hands to the trim little hat and dropped them into her lap again and slumped forward. "Honestly! Do you mean to tell me that Gretch Steigerwald is giving a party and has had the utter nerve not to ask you? Honestly! Well, I'll call her up the minute I get home, and I'll tell her what I think about it, and—"

"Marta!" Cecily protested. "I wouldn't have you do that for anything in the world. Promise you won't. I love Gretchen a party and a picnic."

"Honestly! I'm not promising this morning. Cissy, I shouldn't have thought that even Gretch would have had the nerve. You don't mean to say you don't know why she has left you out?"

don't mean to say you don't know why she has left you out?"

"Why shouldn't she? I haven't asked her to anything for years." "Be your age, Cissy, but don't crawl. Gretch has gone off her head about Barry McKeel, and he wouldn't look at any girl but you at my party, so Gretch is avoiding competition—Gretch is. Honestly! I'll tell you what I'm going to do. Herbert, and I'll go late. When we get there I'll say something about being the last ones and then I'll say, 'No, we aren't, either. Cissy isn't here yet.' Oh, boy! Herbert will help me, and we'll keep it up. Where is Cissy, Gretch? Is she ill? Did she phone or anything? I will keep at it until I make her own up before the whole crowd that she didn't ask you."

"Marta, you will not! I wouldn't—"

"Won't it? Just won't it? Or else I'll show myself a grand time and tell her what I think of her and stay away from her old party myself. It is an utterly sneaking trick. That's what it is. I knew all along that she was throwing this party to try to grab off Barry McKeel. Well, I just hope she gets him. That's all. She's fixing up a sweet lot of grief for herself. I warned her when I saw she was crazy about him. I told her just what she could expect. But, of course, nobody can tell Gretch Steigerwald anything. I guess I just won't do to her old party. I'll bet I can get Dorothy and Bill to cut it, too. Honestly! I certainly thought Gretch was a better sport than that, leaving you out! You didn't like Barry anyway, did you?"

"Well, yes," Cecily said. "I quite liked him."

MARTA looked at Cecily. "Oh, my stars and garters!" She clapped her hands to her hat and held them there for an instant. "Wouldn't it? Isn't that just little Marta Baldwin, nee Nutty, all over? Honestly! Off I went, buzzing straight to Gretch and dishing her all the dirt about Barry, and never saying one word to you—my best friend, honestly! I didn't think you liked him. But, listen, Cissy, I'll tell you now. Don't have a thing to do with him. Give him the air. Cut him out with a knife. He's crazy."

"Crazy!" It sounded as if Cecily had bitten it in two.

"Or something," Marta modified. "Lottie knew him the entire two years he was in New York. When she met him he was going with a girl named Constance—something-or-other. I've forgotten her last name. I didn't meet her. She was in Europe when I was at Lottie's. But, anyway, Lottie said that he gave her a terrific rush. Lottie said she was an utterly adorable brunette feminine type and not very strong. She had wads of money, her own car, and a chauffeur and all; so you can imagine how she'd dress and everything. A lot of men were crazy about her—but she cut them all out for Barry. Lottie said she walked around in the Seventh Heaven, Constance did. I mean. And then one day, without a word of explanation—not a word nor a thing, he just dropped her flat. Wouldn't have another thing to do with her. Wouldn't answer her notes. Just utterly all over—and she had no idea why."

"Pooh," said Cecily. "I don't believe it."

"Yes, I know it's true, or Lottie wouldn't have said so. But listen, I told you about Bea Mickletree, didn't I?"

"Was she the beauty who always slept with her earrings on and who collected lace and was so rightfully clever?"

Marta sighed. "You couldn't"

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch (Copyright 1931 by Douglas Malloch)

THE HARVEST Who harvests both his wheat and tares? And why need men, in life's affairs, Keep all of theirs?

In spring the farmer sows his seeds, In autumn takes the things he needs, And leaves the weeds.

And we, another harvest here, With all mankind, and far and near, Now reap the year.

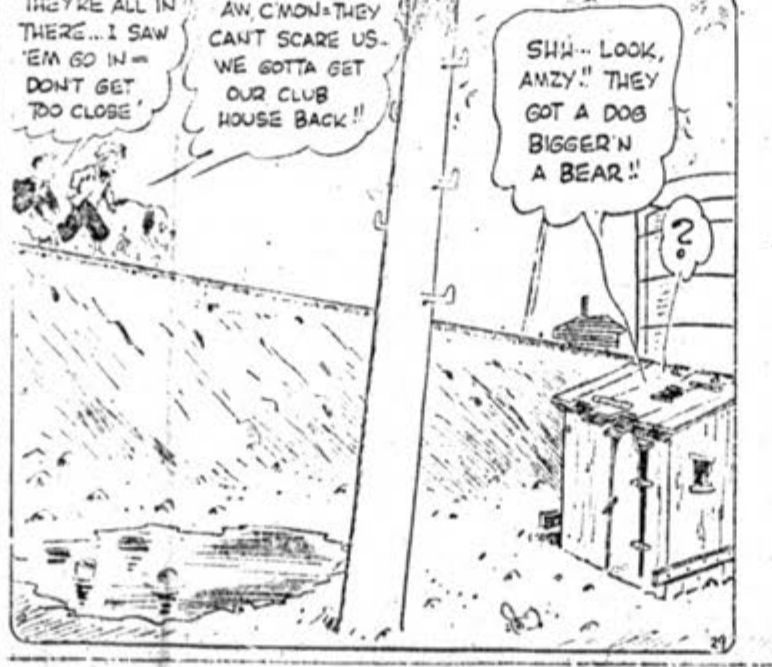

We, too, have found both weeds and grain Within our fields, and sun and rain, And joy and pain.

The year is ended, ours to reap; And of the hours men smile, men weep, What shall we keep?

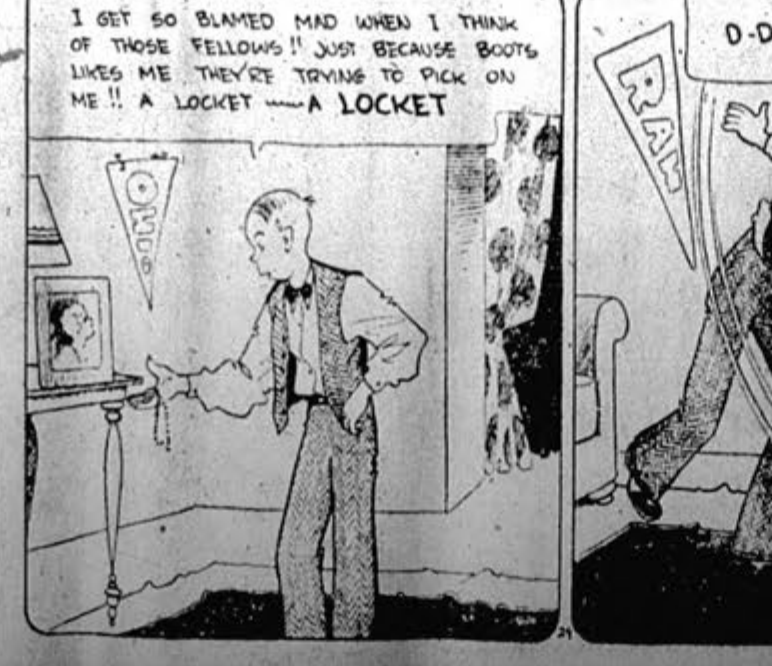

Must we keep both? or may we store Within our hearts' furevermore The good life bore?

The joy let us remember, let The dear be even dearer yet The rest-forget.

MICHIGAN NEWS TOOK SPOTLIGHT DURING 1931

HOOVER'S VISIT WAS HEADLINER

Nation Watches Detroit As Omen on Motor Car Industry

BY WILLIAM H. BEATTY
 Detroit, Dec. 29. (AP)—Michigan took the national spotlight on numerous occasions in 1931, as news events of country-wide significance developed within the borders of the state.

Chief among the national events was President Hoover's trip to Detroit in September to deliver an address before delegates at the National Convention of the American Legion. More than 100,000 Legionnaires thronged the city, heard the President plead for a reduction in expenditures, and voted not to demand further cash bonus payments. Pausing in the midst of merrymaking, the veterans also voted in favor of a referendum on the Prohibition question and elected, a new national commander, Henry C. Stevens, a southerner.

Of international interest was the Hansworth Trophy race in Detroit, in which Kaye Don, British challenger, brought his speedboat, Miss England II to Detroit, beat Gar Wood, veteran of motorboat racing, in the first heat, and brought the race to an abrupt end on Labor Day when he overturned while traveling at a 100-mile-an-hour speed. Don and Gar Wood were disqualified for beating the starter's gun in the heat and the racing committee ruled there had been no contest.

Democratic Victory

A special election in the Eighth Michigan district saw the Democrats, for years in the minority in the district, return to prominence by electing Michael T. Hart, of Saginaw, as representative in Congress over Foss O. Eldred, Ionia, Republican candidate. The election was watched with interest because of its bearing on the party dominance in the House of Representatives.

Catastrophes

Visited Michigan in 1931, the major disaster claiming 10 lives near Mt. Pleasant in July, when the biggest oil gusher in the region blew in, caught fire from a spark from some undetermined object, and poured burning oil on a score of men, women and children near the scene. Ten died from the effects of the searing oil.

Late in the year, several persons drowned near Muskegon when a small boy plunged through the ice of Erang Lake while playing with his sled. Five men and a woman drowned along with the child when they attempted a rescue.

Break at Marquette

Michigan's "torch murders" early in August for three days drew the excited attention of the nation, as rapid developments followed the discovery of the bodies of two young men and two young women in a burned automobile near Ypsilanti. With the confession of David T. Blackstone, Negro, and Fred Smith, at the Ypsilanti jail, came the arrest of Frank Oliver, Ypsilanti youth. While a mob gathered at Ypsilanti, the slayers were rushed to Ann Arbor, where, with several thousand milling about the county jail, they were sentenced to life imprisonment and hurried to the Michigan State prison at Jackson to prevent possible violence. Later they were transferred to the prison at Marquette.

Late in August, a riot at the Marquette prison ended in the death of the getting-prison physician and a trustee who attempted to halt the frustrated escape plot of four convicts. The prisoners, Andre Germaino, Leo Duver, Frank Hohfer and Charles Roseburg were cornered in the industrial room of the prison after breaking out of the prison hospital. There, surrounded by guards and deputies, they killed themselves.

Crime took its place on the pages of Michigan newspapers during 1931, with the law successful in the war against gangland in most instances.

Gangsters "On the Spot"

The capture of Fred Burke, sought by many cities as a bandit and slayer, in St. Joseph, Mo., led to the trial and speedy conviction of Burke in St. Joseph, Mich., on a charge of shooting a policeman there in 1930. Burke was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Marquette prison. Several weeks later Gus Winkler, wanted in connection with a bank robbery at Lincoln, Neb., was arrested near Benton Harbor, Mich., and was extradited to Nebraska, where he later was freed of charges in connection with the holdup.

In Detroit, gang bullets ended the lives of at least a dozen underworld figures during the year. Three men, Joseph Levovitz, Joseph Sutker and Herman Paul were slain in the Collingwood avenue apartment massacre in September. Three gangsters were tried, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for the slayings.

In Wyandotte, Detroit suburb, three men were slain in a beer feud and police have begun a search for the men named as the killers. At least six other minor members of the metropolitan area's gangland were slain during the year.

Four Vists Peninsula

Early in the year Ted Pizino and Angelo Livecchi, named with Joe Bommarito as the slayers in 1930 of Jerry Buckley, Detroit radio announcer, were freed of the crime, and immediately were tried for the slaying in front of a Detroit hotel of two Chicago gangsters. They were found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment in Marquette branch prison. Bommarito was not involved in the second trial, and went free. The Buckley trial, a lengthy legal argument before Judge Edward J. Jeffries, saw Prosecutor Harry S. Toy of Detroit lose his first case after being elected to office.

Aviation drew national-wide interest to the state when Harry Russell, Ford Motor company pilot, won the National Air Tour which left Detroit in July for a swing through the southwest, stopping in Battle Creek and Kalamazoo on the return flight. Michigan also had its own air tour, a group of planes making a circuit of the Upper and Lower Peninsulas in June.

Four army fliers of Selfridge Field met death during the year, three in a single crash near New Baltimore in December, and another in a crash upstate in August.

Speed Record Broken

The death in December of Lowell Bayles, young Springfield, Mass., speed pilot, shocked the aviation world who knew the young, unassuming flier as a leader in American speed trials. Bayles' plane crashed in flames while he flew at a speed estimated at nearly 500 miles an hour over the racing course at the Wayne county airport. Although he bettered the world mark set by Warrant Officer Bonnet of France before his death, he did not set a new world record, since the contest rules require the previous record to be bettered by at least five miles an hour.

The year saw the expansion of large banking houses in the state, several consolidations being effected during 1931, forming large group interests with headquarters in Detroit. The resignation of Robert M. Allan, former president of the American State bank, in March, was followed by sensational developments, ending with the absorption of the American State bank by the Peoples Wayne County bank of Detroit, the indictment of Allan on charges of embezzlement and his subsequent conviction. He was sentenced by a Recorder's court judge to serve 10 to 20 years in prison, but an appeal was granted by the state supreme court.

No Lake Disasters

The opening of the deer hunting season in November was the signal for shooting accidents in northern Michigan. Three men died from wounds suffered while hunting, one hunter was slain in a fight, one was lost in the woods and died of exposure, and another disappeared and is believed to have been slain. Nearly 75 persons were injured during the season.

Unusually mild weather during the latter months of the year was evident in all portions of the state. The mildness of the fall and early winter prevented the usual number of fatalities in lake shipping circles. There were no fatalities involving lake boats caught in ice and storm during the year, for the first time in many seasons of shipping on the Great Lakes.

The majority campaign in Detroit saw Frank Murphy, red-haired young lawyer who succeeded Charles Bowles in the mayoral chair in 1930, returned for a complete term. Murphy and Harold H. Emmons, Detroit attorney and business man, were selected in the primary from a field of eight candidates, and Murphy led easily in the election. The city election in Detroit also saw the son of a prominent Michigan man placed in the political field. He was Frank Couzens, son of Senator Frank Couzens, elected to the city council of Detroit by a vote greater than that polled by Mayor Murphy.

Prominent Men Die

Inquiries into civic affairs brought the indictment of the mayor of Hamtramck and six other city officials in June, following investigations by the Wayne county grand jury. Charges of malfeasance in office were made by the jury, but no action on the indictments has been taken.

Deaths of prominent citizens and activity in civic, political and social life drew attention during the year. Prominent figures removed from the Michigan scene by death, included Bird J. Vincent, representative from the Eighth district, Ralph Harmon Booth, Detroit publisher and ambassador to Denmark, William H. Maybury, wealthy founder of the Maybury sanitarium, near Detroit, and Richard H. Fyfe, pioneer Detroit merchant.

The automobile industry, Michigan's leading manufacturing business, inaugurated a new policy in 1931—the decision to bring out new models at the end of the year

MacRae to Attend Labor Convention

Duncan P. MacRae, president of the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council, was elected, at the regular meeting Monday night, as delegate to the annual convention of the Michigan Federation of Labor, which will be held the week of February 9. Clifford Beaudin was named as alternate delegate.

Plans for the annual dinner of the D. P. MacRae meeting to be held January 25 were also discussed.

Portrait of Duncan P. MacRae.

Three Boats Daily From St. Ignace

Attention is called by the state highway department to the fact that carteries from St. Ignace and Mackinac City are now making only three regular scheduled trips daily from each port. Starting with Dec. 15, service across the straits was taken over by the Mackinac Transportation Co., and the ferries service will adhere to the three round trip schedule until April 10, 1932.

Ferries are to leave Mackinac City at 7 a. m., 12 noon and 5 p. m. daily, and leave St. Ignace at 8 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. The 7 a. m. Mackinac City ferry and the 7 p. m. St. Ignace ferry are subject to delayed train service, and ice conditions expected during the winter may also cause delays. All schedules are on central standard time.

Employment Increasing?

In Niles, Mich., the shooting by Torrey B. Dooling, of his uncle, Anthony J. Canatta, following a quarrel, led to the trial of Dooling, a young attorney, his subsequent conviction and sentence of from 12 to 15 years in the Michigan State prison at Jackson.

In addition to the Legion convention, the largest of the year in Michigan, the state held numerous meetings of organizations both national and statewide. The superintendents' division of the National Education Association, the National Association of Retail Druggists, and other organizations met in the state. The Michigan State Grange met in Ludington and the state W. C. T. U. held sessions at Jackson. Thousands attended the National Air show, held at Detroit's municipal airport. Michigan Republicans began a campaign to obtain for Detroit the National Republican convention, but withdrew its offer in Washington prior to a meeting of the National Committee.

AT THE DELFT

Strikingly dramatic action characterizes "A House Divided." Universal's powerful story which opens an engagement at the Delft Theatre today, with Walter Huston, Kent Douglas and Helen Chandler in the featured roles.

The story is laid on the storm-tossed Northwestern coast of the United States, where a thin veneer of civilization covers the elemental passions of both men and women.

RALPH NEWS

Ralph, Mich., Dec. 29. (Special)—George P. McCallum, president of Detroit, Mackinac and Marquette Land Co., Detroit, has had 500 book plates made of St. Mary's church at Ralph. He sent 400 of them to Mrs. H. A. Campbell and also donated two boxes of books for the church library with plates pasted in them. He proposes from time to time sending more books for the church library. The people here appreciate his generous gift very much and are all great readers.

St. Stephen's Church School of Escanaba under the leadership of their rector, Rev. Thomas Foster, sent gifts and cards to twenty-five children of St. Mary's church school at Ralph. The recipients were so happy and grateful and wish all the donors a very happy and prosperous New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans P. Johnson and daughter, June, of Escanaba, spent Sunday in Ralph visiting relatives.

The Ralph school gave a very delightful and interesting program at the town hall, Dec. 23rd. The hall was packed with people and all claimed the children did their parts fine.

Ven. Archdeacon Poyseor held services this week at Ralph giving to the people an inspiring message.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sexton of Felch visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Campbell Sunday.

June Campbell and Mary Catherine Brewster motored to Iron Mountain Monday.

Kristina Paulie, who spent Christmas week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paulie, returned to Marquette.

Mrs. Bertels Northland, visited her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Fillis over the week-end.

What Are They Doing Now?

Little Items of Interest About Former Residents.

Leaving here in March 1898, at that time being only fifteen years of age, Mrs. O. E. Boedecker of Pittsfield, Mass., the former Miss Alexina Seguin, has fond recollections of the city in which she was born on January 6, 1883.

Alexina Seguin Boedecker is the daughter of the late Peter and Italine Seguin, and will be remembered by many of the French Canadians of this city.

The family left here in 1883 for the east and settled first at North Adams, Mass., going to Pittsfield, Mass., where her mother died several years ago just as she was entering the church to attend services during the forty hours devotion. Her father died in this city many years ago.

Mrs. Boedecker was married at Springfield, Mass., on November 27, 1907 and has one daughter, Lillian Genevieve, who was married several years ago to David MacWhinnie, and who now has three children.

Mrs. Boedecker has for the past eighteen years been holding a position as buyer and manager of the infants' and children's wear in a large department store at Pittsfield and resigned her position last year to remain at home.

In a recent letter Mrs. Alexina Boedecker stated that she recalls several places here, among them the Ludington Hotel, Schram's Store, J. A. Burns store and St. Jacques grocery. She also recalls the Rooney family who formerly lived at 429 South Eighth street for it was at Rooney's home that she went to buy honey each week. She also recalls the Gamache and the Desllets families. Being only a child at the time of her departure from Escanaba Mrs. Boedecker still plans to visit here as some future date.

Retail Committee Will Meet Today

The retail merchants committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Delta hotel this noon.

The schedule of 1932 store closing dates will be drafted, reports on the volume of Christmas business will be submitted, and various activities for next year will be planned.

The members of the retail merchants committee are: A. H. Groesbeck, Chairman, C. Arthur Anderson, Arthur Fillion, C. H. Gessner, E. L. Huettl, H. H. Hughtitt, J. H. Ladd, M. J. Lang, E. E. Larson, J. J. Manning, C. H. Miller, H. W. Needham, C. Gust Peterson, Matt Petersen, Levi Perrin, H. A. Reynolds, E. L. Samman, N. T. Stephenson and Ben F. Young.

St. Francis Hospital

Anton Embs, South 17th street, was admitted yesterday as a medical patient and is not allowed visitors.

Mrs. Ingle Quarstrom of Gladstone submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis. George Weper of Ensign is a surgical patient.

William Warren of Gladstone was admitted as a medical patient.

Walter Bergquist, 327 North 14th street, was admitted yesterday as a surgical patient.

Mrs. Pat Milligan and baby have been dismissed.

OFFERS SELF FOR $100

Los Angeles.—James Walker has put himself on the slave market. Out of work and in debt to the extent of $100, Walker is offering to sell his services for that amount for one year. He is an experienced chauffeur, gardener and bookkeeper.

HIAWATHA NEWS

Hiawatha, Mich., Dec. 29. (Special)—What was the surprise of Mrs. A. I. Byers when she came home from town the day before Christmas to see her husband out in the field gaily ploughing as though his life depended on it. She really thought something had affected his mind but upon inquiry was told that although he was past sixty and had lived here fifty of those years this was the first time that a plow had ever entered the ground at this season of the year and he was very proud of the accomplishment. In his work he turned up several nice balls of potatoes and quite a few different kinds of bugs to despair of ever raising their young in the spring.

Our lake is beautifully frozen over and for the first time in several years the young folks are enjoying skating without the necessity of first having to remove the snow.

The grange is getting to be quite an interesting place in Hiawatha as it has an energetic lecturer in the person of Miss Gladys Guest. She is giving some very pleasant surprises. At the last meeting we had a very realistic home scene depicted with Mrs. Mona Aldrich as the much abused housewife and Mr. Harry Repp as the stuttering husband and ably helped out by little Francis Hyland.

There was a family gathering of seventeen at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Aldrich for dinner on Christmas and twenty-four at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Byers.

Mrs. Reuben Byers, the teacher of the west school is only taking one week vacation and then she can let out one week earlier in the spring.

About twenty-five high school friends of the Misses Byers are contemplating on seeing the old

Two Farmers Find Cow Testing Pays

J. M. Kronsoble of Ingalls and Ed Flaum of Carney, have a highly favorable report to make following the first visit of the cow tester.

Mr. Kronsoble said that by weighing the feed that each cow was getting and feeding each cow a pound of grain a day for every pound of butterfat that the cow gave in a week, he has been able to raise the production of milk in his herd 30 pounds a day. With milk worth $1.20 a hundred, this represents an increased income of 36 cents a day. Mr. Kronsoble's herd consists of 9 cows, and all but three of them are towards the end of their lactation period, or the gain would have been more, Mr. Kronsoble says.

After the tester had visited Mr. Flaum he figured out a ration for him that carries 3 per cent more protein and at the same time is 13 cents cheaper per hundred weight. Mr. Flaum states further, that he found out through the tester that there wasn't a cow in the barn that he was feeding enough grain to maintain the production of the cows. Without the knowledge secured through cow testing association work Mr. Flaum states he would not have known this and the production of his cows would have fallen off because of insufficient feed.

Study Shows Tuberculosis In High Schools

Lansing, Dec. 29 (Special)—The distinct menace of tuberculosis for young people was demonstrated when a star athlete, captain of the school's basketball team, and thirteen of his fellow students were found to have tuberculosis as a result of a testing program conducted in a southern Michigan high school by the Michigan Tuberculosis association. The project was financed with tuberculosis Christmas seal funds. Through the use of latest scientific methods for the discovery of tuberculosis in youths, 264 students were tested in one high school. The athlete, found to have adult tuberculosis, has been sent to a sanatorium for recovery. Thirteen of the students were classed as childhood cases and five others were listed as suspect cases. Without the timely discovery of the special program, the disease might have advanced with serious consequences for all the students affected, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis association. Although the childhood type of tuberculosis is not itself serious, undetected and untreated infections often turn into dangerous and probably fatal cases of adult tuberculosis. It is explained by Dr. Henry D. Chadwick, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis association, that early discovery and proper treatment of the childhood infections will check the course of the disease. Pointing out the widespread prevalence of tuberculosis among youths shown by the tests, Dr. Chadwick commented, "undetected cases of tuberculosis exist in nearly every high school group. Discovery of these cases, which are now bringing hundreds of Michigan boys and girls nearer to death, is the greatest obligation of Michigan men and women. "Everyone who buys tuberculosis Christmas seals this year in Michigan is taking a part in saving lives." Dr. Chadwick concluded, "The Michigan Tuberculosis association and its affiliated local branches have determined to conduct the tests among thousands of boys and girls next year with funds secured in this Christmas seal sale."

Metal Thread Gloves are New

New York (AP)—Metal thread gloves are a new trick for winter evening wear. The new gloves, which are little more than countless lengths of hand woven gold fillet thread. They make feminine hands look unusually white and laquer-red finger nails particularly brilliant.

Feather Fans Add Note of Coquetry

Paris, (AP)—Coque feather fans are a new coquetry which smart Parisians are adopting these evenings. The fans, designed with long curled sticks, are almost tortoise shell sticks, are almost a yard long. Shaded effects reminiscent of changeable silk, such as rose-yellow and blue-green, are the favorite colors.

Katharine Cornell Wins New Triumph As Actor-Manager

BY NOEL THORNTON New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—Katharine Cornell of the tragic eyes and deep, sad voice, won Broadway with her performance in "The Green Hat." Now she has pushed on to greater triumphs as an actor-manager.

When this Buffalo, N. Y., girl came to New York she married Guthrie McClintic, a talented director. He staged her performance in the very successful "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

Then they took over the Belasco theatre where they have another hit, "Brief Moment." Now they have announced their future plans, which, of course, await the time when Miss Cornell will have finished her Broadway run and her tour with the play about Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

When she returns she will take the leading role in a new Sidney Howard drama, "Allen Corn," which concerns the clash of temperament between an artist and the atmosphere of a mid-western city. Miss Cornell regards it as "one of the most significant American dramas she has read."

The next drama she will do will be the heretofore reported French adaptation of "The Rape of Lucrece." After that she hopes to appear in Rosland's "L'Aiglon."

Miss Cornell, it seems, has given up her plans for a repertoire company and will perform these plays each in their order as long as they attract the public.

The battle between the legitimate stage and talking pictures has come to a definite showdown in Noel for Christmas vacation visits, enjoyed the All-College hop, given Monday evening at Terrace Gardens by Escanaba Lodge, Number 354, B. P. O. E. The dance program was played by the Wolverine ten-piece orchestra.

Harry Needham was general chairman of the party, assisted by a group of special committees.

RIDIN' WILDCAT

Coward's effervescent comedy "Private Lives." When Arch Selwyn took over the play he decided to send a cast headed by Otto Kruger and Madge Kennedy into the larger cities. Another cast, headed by Edith Tallaferro and Donald Brian, was to take the play to other stands.

Then it was announced that the picture, with Robert Montgomery and Norma Shearer in the leading roles, would be released sooner than expected, so the two stage versions were rushed into metropolitan centers to arrive there before the motion picture.

The first rivalry came this week in Los Angeles where both the picture and the play are being given. A succinct report says "picture opposition cut into the play's income $2,000 last week."

Three Hollywood favorites are new arrivals on Broadway. Lois Moran is here in George Gershwin's new musical "Of Thee I Sing." Helen Chandler is doing well in Ben Levy's comedy "Springtime for Henry," and Pauline Frederick is in "When the Rough Breaks."

The Group theatre's drama, "1931" protesting against the discomforts of unemployment did not last long. So they are reviving their first success, "The House of Connelly."

Later they plan to take it on tour, and hope to show it in Paul Green's (the author) native towns in the Carolinas. Green has become one of Broadway's favorite dramatists, although his works haven't been as successful financially as they have been in critical reviews.

The general opinion among show-business managers seems to be that this Carolina college professor is a talented playwright who should be encouraged because he shows signs of writing a drama some day that will send the town spinning.

Role In O'Neill Drama Is A Test For Alice Brady

New York, (AP)—Alice Brady is what the stage calls a "quick study."

She needs to be, for her leading role in Eugene O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra"—a three-in-one play that has set Broadway's critical heads nodding approval.

For it took a retentive memory to learn her role in the three parts of a trilogy opening before dinner and ending with midnight not far off.

She is the only leading character that goes through the three plays dealing with New England life.

And with three times the usual lines to speak, Miss Brady gives not only a performance which won critics' praise, but also an example to women forgetful of shopping list items and to men who can't remember phone numbers.

"Mourning Becomes Electra" has 14 acts in all, with an intermission for dinner. "Quick Study" or not, Miss Brady says it wasn't easy to memorize such a long role.

"Understanding Comes First." "I cannot remember anything I do not understand. This is true particularly of the personality of the character I am to play. And so this means reading through the entire script three or four times.

"There are plays in which one may improvise occasionally—but not in this," she explains. "So much of Mr. O'Neill's meaning may depend upon one little article or explication.

Elizabeth, the personal maid who has served Miss Brady for many years, has her own ideas of the actress' technique in memorizing.

"She says do same words ovah and ovah agin—when I see putting on her shoes or hookin' up her dress or doin' mos' anything 'tall. Sometimes I see Miss Brady walking on de terrace with de tree dawgs at her heels, and she's still sayin' de same words ovah."

"But she knows dem words jus' puffed when she goes on de stage," concluded Elizabeth.

Lauerman-Kasper Wedding Affair of Social Importance

The outstanding social event of the Marinette holiday season was the marriage of Miss Marie Antoinette Lauerman, daughter of Mrs. Joseph A. J. Lauerman, and Alexander Michael Kasper, son of Mrs. A. J. Kasper, Chicago, which took place Monday morning at a beautiful and impressive ceremony in Our Lady of Lourdes church.

The solemn high mass at which the ceremony was performed, was at 9 o'clock with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. Remppe, of St. Clement's church, Chicago, as celebrant. Assisting and present in the sanctuary were the Very Rev. Dean F. G. Tulley, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes; Rev. Father Henry Schmit, Marinette; Rev. Father Anthony Braun, O. F. M., dean of Quincy College; Rev. Father John Linden, Chicago; Rev. Father H. Schmidt, Desplaines; and Rev. Father W. A. O'Connell, O. P., Louisville, Ky.

The altars were decorated in poinsettias, lilies and chrysanthemums.

The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played as members of the bridal party entered the church. In the bridal procession were the ushers, Joseph Lauerman Jr., brother of the bride, A. J. Kasper, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, Frank J. Lauerman, Jr., and Eugene Brunnan of Chicago, the three sisters of the bride walking alone, and preceding the bride who entered with her brother, Henry L. Lauerman of Menominee.

Miss Ursula Lauerman, bridesmaid, wore a gown of carmine chiffon velvet with a hat of the same shade. Miss Elizabeth Lauerman, a bridesmaid, wore Gaeta chiffon velvet, and the maid of honor, Miss Catherine Lauerman, wore a gown of light coral chiffon velvet. The bride was gowned in ivory chiffon velvet and her veil was of fine ivory lace.

As the bride and her attendants neared the altar, the bridegroom and his attendant, Roger J. Kasper, a brother, entered from the sanctuary and with the officiating clergymen, awaited her. The marriage vows were exchanged before Very Rev. Father Tulley.

Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the recessional at the close of the impressive service.

Reception at Home. The wedding breakfast was served at the Lauerman home, followed by a reception. Guests were limited to relatives and a small group of close friends. Holiday and bridal motifs were combined in the decorations at the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Kasper left later in the day on a wedding trip. They will be at home after January 1, at 2457 Orchard street, Chicago.

Mothers adopt Vick "Colds-Control" Plan

Means Reduction of the Number, Severity and High Costs of the Family's Colds

Doubly welcome to mothers is news that the makers of Vicks VapoRub have perfected a Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"—to lessen the number and severity of colds and reduce their costs in money, lost time and health. The plan is introduced along with Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, based on a new idea for preventing colds — companion product to VapoRub, the modern, external method of treating colds.

HERE, BRIEFLY, IS THE VICK PLAN: 1. BEFORE a Cold Starts. When children come in sniffing and sneezing, apply a few Vicks Drops up each nostril. Use the Drops yourself at that first scratchy, sneezy irritation of the nose or upper throat—Nature's warning that you are "catching cold." If you or the children catch cold easily, use the Drops after exposure to any condition you know is apt to be followed by a cold—dry, over-heated rooms—indoor crowds—sudden changes, wet or cold—dust and smoke—etc., etc.—and there is the slightest stuffiness. Used in time, many colds can be avoided. 2. AFTER a Cold Starts. At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising can be inhaled all night long. During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Drops as needed for ease and comfort. This gives you full 24-hour treatment—and without the risks of constant internal "dosing," so often upsetting to digestion, especially the delicate digestions of children.

TRIAL OFFER BY LOCAL DRUGGISTS

You have Vicks VapoRub—now get Vicks Nose Drops and use together as directed in the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"—to reduce your number and severity. Unless you are delighted with results, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

Fine Holiday Party Enjoyed by K. of C. A group of members of Knights of Columbus and friends gathered at the K. of C. hall Monday evening for one of the most enjoyable parties of the season.

CITY BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Billings and son spent Sunday visiting with relatives in Gladstone. Jasper Laurion, who has been confined to his home, 626 Oak street, for the past three weeks, is improving slowly.

Jack Spellmeyer of Cooks spent the week-end visiting with Miss Sadie Daligrel at the Cousineau residence on North Second street. Mr. Spellmeyer was also among the guests for Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Gerald Meyer returned to her home in Chicago Sunday after visiting over Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Grace Adams, 618 Oak street.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Otto of South Milwaukee, Wis., arrived here Monday to spend ten days at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Rupp, Maple avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Nelson, Flint, and their nephew, Billie Nelson, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Nelson also of Flint, returned to their homes yesterday morning after visiting for the past several days with Mr. Nelson's father, Andrew J. Nelson, 116 North Third street.

Miss Frances Jahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jahn, and Miss Grace Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Weber, Sr., returned to Manistique Sunday afternoon to resume their duties as student nurses in the Holy Family convent.

Gordon Hughes and George J. Nicholson are in Wausau on business this week. Howard Brault, who has been spending the Christmas holidays with his sister, Mrs. Dan MacDonzal at Milwaukee, arrived home yesterday.

Miss Marie Deloria is seriously ill at her home in Garden. Miss Deloria has many friends in this city having formerly worked here.

Milk for Infants Depends On Curd, Says Nutritionist "Superior milk for infant feeding depends entirely on the softness of the curd and not on the breed of cattle," says Dr. R. L. Hill, human nutritionist of the Utah Agricultural Experiment Station, in an article appearing in Utah Station Bulletin No. 227.

The Hill test is a simple test requiring no special training of the part of persons making it. The milk to be tested is concentrated in eight ounce mason jars in which has previously been placed a star-shaped curd knife. A special papain-calcium-chloride mixture is used as the coagulant. Ten minutes after the curd knife is drawn thru the curd by means of a spring balance which records the pull required to cut the curd.

This pull is recorded as grams of tension for the sample of milk tested. There is a normal variation in this pull, or "curd tension," of from 10 to 15 grams to as high as 250 grams. Practical feeding experiments have shown that the lower the curd tension of the milk the more readily will it be digested by the infant.

While breeders of certain breeds of dairy cows have long maintained that there was a superiority of the milk from their breeds over other breeds of dairy cattle for the feeding of infants, research work on soft-curd milk would indicate that the production of a real "baby milk" is an individual rather than a breed characteristic of the cow. In other words, there are soft-curd and hard-curd cows in each herd or breed of dairy cows. The fact that a cow is from one particular

BOYS NAMED AS AUTO THIEVES

Police Apprehend Seven Who Admit Part in Stealing Cars

The series of automobile thefts which occurred here last week was brought to a solution Monday evening by local police authorities who rounded up a group of boys ranging from 11 to 16 years of age who admitted taking part in the half dozen or so thefts which were reported last week. Those who were implicated are Kenneth Lavigne, 14; Francis Rubick, 16; Maurice Lavigne, 13; George Rubick, 11; John Rubick, 13; Clifford St. John, 15; and Howard Martell, 15.

Clues in regard to the thefts were obtained Monday noon when three of the boys stole a box of candy from a local merchant. One of the employees found them eating the contents in the alley in the rear of the establishment and succeeded in getting one of the youths. Upon being taken to the sheriff's office, the youth, under questioning admitted the automobile thefts and named his accomplices, who were apprehended Monday evening.

The boys will be given a hearing before Judge Edmund Ashford next week in juvenile court. Some of them are already on probation. Kenneth Lavigne and Clifford St. John admitted taking the cars while the others are said to have merely participated in the "joy rides." All of the stolen cars were recovered, although one or two were slightly damaged.

Buel Party—New Year's Eve there will be a party at the Buel Grange hall on the River Road. A program will be given during the early part of the evening, which a small admission will be charged. There will be good music for dancing and everyone is welcome.

Golden Star Meeting—The Golden Star Lodge will hold installation of officers in the Odd Fellow hall on Friday evening, January 1. Pot-luck lunch and a social hour will follow the business meeting and there will also be some special entertainment for the members. Every one is urged to be at this meeting.

BAD LUCK To two persons at least the number 13 will always be a bad omen. A man and a youth who had just completed their twelfth "job" of burglary, held up a filling station here just as a police cruiser was going by. Seeing them, the police leaped out and captured them.

breed of dairy cattle is no assurance that she will give milk that is easily digested by infants. It is true, however, that there is a greater tendency to produce soft-curd milk in some breeds than in others.

A number of tests have to be run on the milk of a cow before her milk can be classified. All tests taken at the beginning of or at the end of the lactation period, should be discarded. After a cow is once properly classified, the classification is a permanent one. Results to date would indicate that the herd character of the milk is a characteristic that may be transmitted and can properly be accentuated. Considerable study must however be carried out before definite conclusions can be drawn on this matter.

A large number of commercial dairies are now putting on the market soft-curd milk, using the Hill test to determine it. Among them might be placed the Sheffield Dairy Farms, New York City; W. J. Kennedy, Dairy company, Detroit, Mich.; Wern Brothers Farms, Waukesha, Wisconsin; League Dairy, Denver, Colorado; Adohr Dairy Farm, Los Angeles, Calif.; Roger Jesusu Dairy Farms, Glendale, Calif.

ISABELLA NEWS

Isabella, Dec. 29 (Special)—George Erdman, teacher at the Isabella, Garden township school returned to his home at Escanaba Wednesday evening where he will spend his vacation. School reopens January 7.

Miss Emma Morrison and Bernice Peterson of Manistique visited at the Morrison and Peterson homes here Christmas eve.

Mrs. Landis and son Henry, were dinner guests at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. William Morrison and family Christmas Day.

Mrs. Harry Sundine and daughter Florence spent part of Christmas Day at the William Morrison home.

Mrs. John Nepper and daughter, Dona, were guests at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Olson of Cooks, Christmas Day.

Miss Emma Morrison left here Saturday morning for St. Thomas, Ont., in company with Dr. and Mrs. Shaw who are visiting relatives there. The trip was made by auto.

While hauling wood Saturday last, Cyrille Morrison had the misfortune to be run over by the wagon, badly crushing his ankle. The past Christmas season was most unseasonable. There was an entire absence of snow but a super-abundance of mud.

The Walter Rutler and the Webster families spent Christmas Eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Peterson.

A varied program of musical numbers will be followed by serving of refreshments and a dance. This year's festival will differ from those of past years in that it has not been arranged primarily for the children. Children may be taken by parents and will be welcomed, but the program is this year of adult nature.

Carl Wiflar is chairman of the committee in charge and is being assisted by the Mesdames Ole Peterson, Theodore Ohlen, August Froberg, Ebba Ayotte and Mr. Adolph Johnson and Theodore Ohlen.

Church Meeting—The business meeting of the Emmanuel Baptist congregation will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of John Holm, 526 Dakota avenue. Every member has been urged to be present.

Prayer Meeting—Regular prayer meeting and monthly offertory services will be held this evening, beginning at 7:45 o'clock, in the First Baptist church.

New Year's Wake—The Emmanuel Baptist congregation will have their New Year's Wake Thursday evening at the Isaac Flanagan home at Flat Rock. The service will begin at 9 o'clock and there will be a program, arrangements for which are now being made by Mrs. Ray Strand, Mrs. Otto Anderson and Miss Astrid Holm. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Ladies Aid—Meeting of Companies A and B of the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Johnston, 1115 Montana avenue. Mrs. Harvey Cowell will be the assistant hostess.

New Year's Services in Rapid—On New Year's Day divine services will be conducted at St. Martin's Ev. Lutheran church beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Immediately after the services a special meeting of the voting members of the congregation will be held.

Ladies Aid in Rapid—The Ladies Aid of St. Martin's Ev. Lutheran church, Rapid River, will meet in regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Dec. 31st, at the home of Mrs. Fred Phoehl.

Isabella, Dec. 29 (Special)—George Erdman, teacher at the Isabella, Garden township school returned to his home at Escanaba Wednesday evening where he will spend his vacation. School reopens January 7.

Miss Emma Morrison and Bernice Peterson of Manistique visited at the Morrison and Peterson homes here Christmas eve.

Mrs. Landis and son Henry, were dinner guests at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. William Morrison and family Christmas Day.

Mrs. Harry Sundine and daughter Florence spent part of Christmas Day at the William Morrison home.

Mrs. John Nepper and daughter, Dona, were guests at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Olson of Cooks, Christmas Day.

Miss Emma Morrison left here Saturday morning for St. Thomas, Ont., in company with Dr. and Mrs. Shaw who are visiting relatives there. The trip was made by auto.

While hauling wood Saturday last, Cyrille Morrison had the misfortune to be run over by the wagon, badly crushing his ankle. The past Christmas season was most unseasonable. There was an entire absence of snow but a super-abundance of mud.

The Walter Rutler and the Webster families spent Christmas Eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Peterson.

DOG DERBY TO BE ON FEB. 22

August Mattson Post to Sponsor Annual Race Program

August Mattson Post, No. 71, American Legion, will again sponsor a Dog Derby and as in the past, February 22, the anniversary of Washington's birthday, has been chosen as the date of the event.

A committee of Legionnaires has been named to make arrangements and decide on the race program and work along these lines as now going forward.

As usual, dogs from all parts of Delta county, will be eligible for entry, and nothing in size, color, pedigree or lack of it, will constitute a bar.

This will be the third year that the event has been put on here by the local post and it is rapidly gaining in prominence and showing improvement in many respects. An attempt will be made this year to make it bigger and better than ever.

SOCIAL

Is Honored A. Theodore Sohlberg was pleasantly surprised Monday evening when a group of teachers of the Swedish Mission church Sunday school, of which he is superintendent, gathered at his home, 1107 Wisconsin avenue.

A delightful program presented included several vocal selections by Virginia Goodman and Inez Nyberg, a piano solo by Helen Olson and a short talk by Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom. A valuable gift was then given to Mr. Sohlberg as a token of appreciation of his services in the Sunday school work. Presentation was made by Rev. Engstrom, the pastor.

A social time followed and the enjoyable evening was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments.

BOWLING NOTES

TWOS WIN AGAIN The Rotary Twos copped another league match as bowling opened Monday evening, winning three straight games from Scotts and every one of them by a wide margin. Soren Johnson, Jr., was going hot and averaged 200 for the three games. His scores were 202, 199 and 200.

Due to the holidays, the schedule is again this week being doubled up, and two matches will be rolled this evening. Leads meeting the Rialtos while the Buckyees take on the Deep-Rocks.

Coaches Name Group to Study Football Deaths

MANY REMEDIES ARE SUGGESTED

Protection of Players Under Rules Sought at Meeting

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—Football's major problem—almost 50 deaths in 1931—reared up from the sidelines where it had been officially relegated today to force the naming of an investigation committee with orders to study the situation exhaustively and report back to the football coaches association next winter.

Hardly had Curt Ingwersen, reporting on possible rule changes, announced that "coaches are well satisfied with the rules as they are" before a storm of suggestions for changes designed to protect players broke loose.

They ranged all the way from John Heisman's suggestions that massed interference be abolished and football be turned into modified English rugby, to "Pop" Warner's written advice that soft padding and yielding leather helmets be substituted for the protectors.

Stevens Heads Group
The upshot of it all was the naming of a committee, headed by Dr. Mai Stevens, of Yale, new president of the association, to study the causes of the football injuries and deaths that reached a record total last season.

The committee was asked to go into the matter as exhaustively as possible, and his committee did before reporting today, after a year's study, that football was not over-emphasized and in fact used up far less of a student's time than such extra-curricular activities as debating and the glee club.

Little's address and report, designed as the statistical answer to charges that attention to football was all out of proportion to that afforded other college sports and activities, preceded Ingwersen's report that no rule changes were necessary.

But the pages of statistics, forming one of the most astonishing documents ever laid before the coaches' association, was lost sight of immediately in the storm of oratory that rose over the problem of football's youngsters, killed in action.

Ingwersen opened the discussion with the opinion that boys were hurt by diving headlong, in their eagerness, into wedge plays when they were coached to roll under them sideways. Herb McCracken, of Lafayette, said a personal pool of high school superintendents and principals in 19 of the deaths revealed that physical examination beforehand would have shown, as the autopsies did, that all were physically unfit to play football.

Suggests Remedies
Heisman then warned the coaches that "aroused public opinion" would wipe out football if next season proved as deadly as 1931. Coaches, he said, were carrying college technique and massed interference into high school ranks not physically capable of that type of play.

He suggested the elimination of linemen, pulled out of the forward wall and thrown ahead of runners on end sweeps, and would compensate for that by permitting the linemen to trail the backs and take backward passes legally.

"Scatter the offense," he suggested, "scatter the defense, take away massed play, take away impact, and eliminate deaths. You've invented a thousand plays. You can invent this one, too."

Warner, who was unable to come for the meeting from Stanford, said his message stressed necessity for a rule change to make illegal and a foul, use of hands by a defensive lineman on the head and neck of an opponent. Such tactics, now legal, are unnecessary, he wrote, and particularly hard on the "defenseless defensive center."

McKenzie Gives Views on Athletic Conflict at U. of Pennsylvania

New York, Dec. 28. (AP)—The inside story of the long struggle to bring intercollegiate athletics at the University of Pennsylvania under faculty control, culminating last year in the so-called "Gates plan" was told today by R. Tait McKenzie, nationally known sculptor and former director of physical education at Penn.

Addressing the society of directors of physical education in colleges, Dr. McKenzie traced the course of the conflict between himself and the old athletic council, composed of alumni, students and faculty, which finally led to the pronouncement of President Thomas S. Gates putting athletics under direct faculty control.

There had been friction before but it was really in 1920 when "began the era of inflation in which we shared" that the interests of Dr. McKenzie, who wanted to see the general physical condition of all the students improved, really clashed with those who wanted to have a winning football team.

Marble Arms Five Play Trojans at Rapid Tonight

Gladstone, Dec. 29.—Seeking their second victory in as many starts, the Marble Arms cagers, an independent five, will journey to Rapid River Wednesday evening to tackle the strong Rapid Trojans on their home floor.

The local crew, which is having some difficulty in booking games because of the necessity of playing all away from home, no court being available here, has played only one game previously, that a 14-6 victory over the Escanaba Dictators. They are practicing right along, however, and are scrimmaging weekly against the high school quints. The Trojans have played a number of games, but none with outfits which will afford a basis for doping the outcome.

Next week, the Marble Arms will go to Manistowic to take on the strong Lezion crew, there.

U. P. PUCKSTERS PICKED TO WIN

Meet Lower Peninsula Squad in Olympic Sectional Play

Detroit, Dec. 29. (AP)—In the face of confusion over where the play-off will be held, plans went forward today for the games between all-star teams representing the Michigan upper and lower peninsulas to select Michigan's entry in the Olympic sectional try-outs.

The upper and lower peninsula teams will clash in a two-game series Friday and Saturday night at Olympic stadium. The winner will be entitled to meet the University of Minnesota team in the sectional play-off which originally was scheduled for January 7 at Minneapolis.

U. P. Teams Favored
The Michigan A. A. U. has requested that the game be played either in Detroit or in New York to save expenses, since the winner is to meet the winner of a Yale-New York Olympic game in New York January 13 and 19. No answer has been received to that request, but a dispatch from Minneapolis today said the sectional play-off had been cancelled.

An effort was in progress tonight to clear up the misunderstanding. The upper peninsula team, chosen from teams in the American Amateur Hockey League, will be managed by George M. Hocking of Hancock and is the favorite in the series this week-end.

The team is expected to arrive here Thursday night.

The lower peninsula team will be selected from clubs of the Southern Michigan A. A. U. Hockey League.

17-Year-Old Grid Player Is Dead

Newark, N. J., Dec. 29 (AP)—A football injury was blamed for the death today of Nicholas Clecone, 17-year-old reserve player on St. Benedict's preparatory school eleven. His was the 49th death in the country this year from football injuries.

Clecone was hurt in scrimmage two months ago. Physicians discovered he was suffering from water on the knee. A resulting infection caused his death. Five blood transfusions were made in a vain effort to save his life.

Tulane and Trojan Stars Enjoy Sun In Long, Hard Session

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 29. (AP)—For the first time in almost a week, the sun shone today, enabling the Tulane and Southern California football squads to return to the out-of-doors to prepare for their Rose tournament clash New Year's day.

Both teams staged long, hard practice sessions. Coach Howard Jones gave the Trojans an extensive offensive drill, stressing his pass formations.

Coach Bertie Bierman gave the green wave a long chalk talk and then after luncheon put the squad through defensive and offensive drill and some fundamentals, especially blocking.

Fewer Men But More Women Played Golf in 1931, Report Reveals

BY PAUL MICKELSON,
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP)—Johnny Duffer of American golf had to turn his thoughts from par to business in 1931 but not Mrs. Duffer. She played more golf than ever during the past year.

A survey completed today by Golfdom, a business journal of golf, disclosed that while men's play slumped 2 1/2 per cent during 1931, women's play increased 17 1/2 per cent over the 1930 total. Thus for this year, there was a net slump of 1 1/2 per cent in the number of rounds played. Business conditions were blamed for the decline.

2,072,614 Golfers
Play on the nation's 3,349 nine hole courses and the 2,487 eighteen hole courses registered a 1931 total of 92,519,406 rounds, the survey revealed. Figures from private, daily fee and public courses also disclosed there were 2,072,614 golfers in the United States at the close of the 1931 season. Golf club plant investment was placed at $830,041,238.

The greater part of the loss in golf play during the year was felt at the private courses as most fee and public courses had play slightly in excess of 1930 despite the heat wave that affected the condition of the courses. Memberships at private clubs fell in large numbers during the year, with the 18-hole clubs suffering a loss of ten per cent and the nine hole clubs a two per cent loss under the 1930 figure.

New York, Pittsburgh and Detroit districts were hardest hit in private club memberships losses.

800,000 Caddies
From caddy master data assembled by Golfdom, it was disclosed that more than 800,000 youngsters worked regularly as caddies and earned approximately $30,000,000. Golf's total labor bill for course maintenance, club house operation, professional service and caddying ran above $100,000,000 for the year.

Sales of playing equipment and supplies at pro shops were 15 per cent under the high mark of 1930, the total exceeding $20,000,000, with instruction and club cleaning included the professionals' income for the year was placed at approximately $25,675,000. About 70 per cent of the lessons given by professionals were given to women.

Although 1931 was one of the worst in American golf history for turf troubles, the upkeep costs were sharply reduced. The total maintenance bill for 1931 was $47,992,582, of which about 70 per cent or $33,531,000 was spent for golf course labor.

Beverage sales at the "nineteenth holes" during the year reached the "staggering" total of $7,485,408 while the caddies spent most of the $1,500,000 that went for candy at golf clubs.

Vines Wins from Lott In Charity Match In Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, 20 year old Pasadena youth, reaffirmed his right to the national singles championship when he turned back George Lott of Chicago in a three-set match that featured a charity tennis program here tonight. The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 10-8.

In the opening singles match Frank X. Shields of New York City methodically trimmed his Davis cup teammate, John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, in two sets, 6-4, 6-4. Vines and Shields upset the Wimbledon doubles champions, Lott and Van Ryn, in an exhibition doubles match, 6-4, 6-4.

Rangers Will Get Sweaters Today

Members of the Ranger football squad are requested to turn in their football equipment at the Murray Boye billiard parlor today to Leo Brunelle. Upon receipt of the equipment the players will receive their sweaters as awards for their services during the season.

twice as much as last year the distress burden cannot be met by local communities.

He estimated community chests would raise a total of $100,000,000, but said only 25 per cent of this goes to family relief and the communities are now averaging expenditures of more than 200 per cent over last year.

UTERITZ NEW BADGER CHIEF

Ex-Michigan Quarterback Directs Athletics at Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., Dec. 29 (AP)—Irwin Uteritz, assistant football and baseball coach at the University of Wisconsin, was chosen director of intercollegiate athletics by the athletic council today.

His selection was part of the council's plan for a complete reorganization of the athletic department. The reorganization has already resulted in the resignation of Glenn Thistlethwaite, head football coach, and George Little, director of athletics.

Although the council took no action regarding a new football coach, it was believed that Uteritz will play an important part in the coaching duties. It was also learned that the council contemplated naming one of Thistlethwaite's assistants as head coach rather than going afield for a new mentor.

Aide To Little
In naming Uteritz the athletic council recommended that intercollegiate athletics be separated from other parts of the athletic program. Intramural sports, the required physical education for freshmen and sophomores and the physical education teacher training course will be independent departments under the council's plan. Little has been director of all branches.

Student applicants master through the council's action today. Uteritz not only played quarterback at the University of Michigan under the tutelage of Director Little, then assistant coach, but also had aided Little in an administrative capacity here. The new director served as assistant to Thistlethwaite when the latter coached Northwestern and had played football under him at Oak Park, (Ill.) high school.

Uteritz starred as quarterback at Michigan from 1921 to 1923 and also played baseball during his undergraduate days. At Wisconsin he coached the "B" football team to two championships under George Little's regime and devoted most of his time this year to coaching the varsity backfield. His selection as director and the proposed revision of the athletic program will be submitted to President Glenn Frank and the board of regents next month for their approval.

Glenn Explains
The council's acceptance of the Little resignation last night brought to an end the leadership that has guided athletics at Wisconsin since 1925. Little came to Wisconsin in 1925 as athletic director and head football coach after having coached the University of Michigan eleven. After two years as a coach here he brought Coach Thistlethwaite from Northwestern.

Coach Thistlethwaite said he reached a decision to resign yesterday because he desired to give the athletic council free rein with its plans for reorganization. He is reported to be considering a coaching position in some southern school.

Director Little has not accepted a position elsewhere. He denied reports today that he has had formal negotiations with University of Minnesota authorities relatives to becoming freshman football coach and director of intramural athletics.

SMITH RALLY AGAIN HINTED

Democrats in Congress Divided in Views on Brown Derby Al.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Washington, Dec. 29. (AP)—Congressional Democrats are divided in their views on whether Alfred Smith, the 1928 standard bearer, is preparing to seek nomination.

New York newspaper stories speculating on this subject preliminary to the national Democratic gathering next month have served to bring the question into discussion here.

Those proposing Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the Democratic nomination are keeping quiet on the possibility of Smith entering the contest, but there is a distinct division among them as to whether this will come about. All are very confident of Roosevelt's prospects.

Roosevelt in Lead?

But certain it is, that the way has been opened for Smith to hold the spotlight at next month's gathering of the party. He will be one of three speakers at the Jackson day banquet on January 8, the night before the Democratic national committee meets.

The other banquet speakers announced by Chairman Raskob of the committee, are presidential nominees of recent years, James M. Cox and John W. Davis.

It is the conviction of Roosevelt's advocates on Capitol Hill—and there seem to be a considerable group of them—that the New York governor is far in front for the nomination and cannot be headed, even by Smith.

Still a Wet.

There is no doubt in the minds, also, of Roosevelt's friends that he and Raskob have reached a definite parting of the ways. But many believe this split does not extend to Smith and Roosevelt.

They have suggested that Smith is trying to steer a course between these two prominent Democrats and keep himself always in position as titular leader of the party. Whether this position would be invoked to seek the nomination is uncertain.

Also, it is understood by some high in the party councils that Mr. Smith intends to attend the next Democratic convention as a delegate and take the floor in a fight for an anti prohibition plank.

Should Smith pursue this course and become a delegate, it is believed unlikely he would leave himself in the presidential race.

Munising News

Weather Conditions Unusual at Munising

The remarkably mild weather during the past fall and which has prevailed right up to the present time with the thermometer registering 40 degrees today again gives rise to the belief that the climate is undergoing a permanent change.

During the winter of 1875-76 Munising Bay did not freeze over. The weather was mild all through the winter. This has never happened since, but came very near duplicating the weather conditions of that winter in 1921 when the bay did not freeze over until about the first of February and our local ice man did not start putting up his ice supply until the middle of February when the ice was but thirteen inches in thickness, at a time of the year when it is generally from two to three feet in thickness. The bay still remains unfrozen with no indication of an immediate freezeup.

In the year 1917 the ice was unusually thick and did not move out of the harbor until late in June, although it had broken up. The lateness was due to the thickness of the ice and to the fact that there were no strong winds in June to break it up and drive it out earlier. Icebergs floated about Grand Island that year until the Fourth of July.

The cutting away of vast forests no doubt has some effect upon climatic conditions. It is likely that the clearing of the forests does diminish the annual rainfall, but scientists doubt and agree that there has been no permanent climatic changes during the years past since there has been any written history of the weather. But exhaustive meteorological investigation has shown that weather has a tendency to vary everywhere in a cycle of 35 years.

Sir Richard Gregory, author of "Discovery," says: "Neglecting individual years, it may be stated that for about half this cycle the weather is warmer and drier than the average, and for the other half colder or wetter. Or, expressed in another way, wet and cold periods, of warm and dry periods, occur at intervals of about thirty-five years."

Years ago severe snow storms closed roads for traffic for several days at a time and people were compelled to stay in doors. This left an impression of severe winters that we do not notice now because roads are kept open for traffic all the time. That we have had remarkably mild winter weather before we know. That we are apt to have it again is most likely. Also we shall no doubt have repetitions in the future of the severe winters we have had in the past.

SOCIAL

Mrs. G. A. Leiphart entertained a number of friends at a five table bridge party at her home on Elm avenue Monday evening, complimenting her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Hill of Escanaba, Miss Emma Wallace, Mrs. H. H. McMillan, consolation. Those making a grand slam, or having a hundred honors in their hands, were allowed to choose from a collection of wrapped gifts. Lunch was served. The rooms were prettily decorated in Christmas colors.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Christmas Baskets Were Distributed To 230 Families

A joint committee meeting, consisting of committeemen from the local post of the American Legion and committeewomen from the Ladies' Auxiliary met last Monday evening for the purpose of checking up on the Christmas relief work sponsored by the Legion post.

Members of the Legion committee are: John I. Pennegr, commander, and Thomas Walters, William Dore and Benjamin Hankin.

The Auxiliary committee women are: Mrs. Wesley Ward and Mrs. George Leach. The committee reports, disclosed that 230 Christmas baskets had been distributed among the needy in this city and in the townships, except in Grand Island township where there was no necessity for any assistance, the residents being all employees of the C. C. I. and well-to-do citizens.

Relief work in Burt township was left to the officials of that township. Burt township donated $30 for the relief fund and this was augmented by a donation of $25 from the relief fund in lieu of sending baskets on account of the distance from here. Families in need received donations of Christmas baskets, containing food and necessary articles as follows:

- City of Munising, Ninety-six baskets.
 - Munising township, Fifty-six baskets.
 - Limestone township, Twenty-six baskets.
 - Mathias township, Eleven baskets.
 - Rock River township, Eighteen baskets.
 - Onota township, Four baskets.
 - Au Train township, Nineteen baskets.
- This was about 100 more baskets than were distributed last year, representing the Legion activities. There were other relief contributions from other sources, but these are not listed here.

The Legion post contributed $200. The City of Munising appropriated $50, the school teachers of Munising township donated $50 and the Legion Auxiliary $10.

HIS LIFE A THRILL.
London—Capt. John Dowdy, oldest member of the Shipwrecked Mariners' Society, has led an adventurous life. Running away to sea at the age of 13, he subsequently commanded every type of sailing vessel, finishing up as captain of a liner. Once, when his ship was wrecked on a reef in the Indian Ocean, and he and his crew reached safely on an island, he volunteered to reach Ceylon, 460 miles away, in an open boat, to save his men from starvation. He succeeded just in time.
