SEARCH CONTINUES FOR BABY AND KIDNAPERS

BY LORENA A. HICKOK (Ass'd Press Staff Writer) (Copyright 1932, By The Associated Press) Hopewell, N. J., Mar. 4 (Friday)—A promising clue to the kidnapers of America's most publicized baby, Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., developed early today from the disclosure that a third ransom letter, in handwriting similar to the first, had been received by the anxious father.

SECOND LETTER

The contents of the second ransom demand letter to Colonel Lindbergh as reported by the Associated Press follows: "You read this and keep your mouth closed. Don't open your trap to a living soul. If you do it, you will be just as bad as I. Your father has plenty of money so do as you are instructed. If you do not, your wife will come to you. You know the fate of the Smith girl, who received a similar letter and did contrary to our instructions by making it known to her friends and her father. She was dropped out of the picture and just so will you if you tell any body about the contents of this letter."

SEEK PROBE OF PRO OPERATORS

Senate Group Asks Permission to Sift Work of Pools

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Washington, Mar. 3 (AP)—The senate banking committee today asked the senate for authority to inquire into the activities of professional operators on the Stock Exchanges.

It intends to disclose the operations of groups who have been forming pools for the purpose of driving security prices up or down beyond their warranted values.

Senate approval of the first extended investigation of the Stock Exchanges in recent history was believed certain. It will be sought tomorrow. The banking committee was unanimously for the inquiry.

Bear raiders will be the first target of the senate investigators. President Hoover and congressional leaders are convinced a group of pool or big-time operators have been deliberately taking advantage of hard times to knock down prices for personal gain.

The committee has no intention of prohibiting short selling operations. The committee struck out of its resolution of inquiry the word "prohibit" to insert the word "regulate" in connection with short selling legislation.

Senator Walcott (R. Conn.), who vetoed the administration's demand for the investigation, expects it to be started by early next week. He is prepared to submit a list of names of those believed to have been raiding the market.

The investigation will be conducted by the whole committee headed by Senator Norbeck (R. S. D.). A subcommittee including Walcott and Senators Steiwer (R. Ore.) and Bulkley (D. Ohio), drafted the resolution of inquiry. The bulk of the work probably will be turned over to this group.

Attention is to be focused as much upon the bulls as the bears. "There is strong sentiment in the committee to find out what group or groups backed the bull market which went to record heights in 1928 and 1929 and then collapsed."

The announcement of naval estimates was coupled with a warning from Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, that the total expenditures must not be regarded as "adequate provision for the navy's needs."

with them.

The radio appeal came a few hours after the receipt of a mailed ransom note which demanded that its contents be kept secret or "it will be your last tale."

However, its text was made public while authorities continued to withhold the contents of the note left pinned to the nursery window through which the blue-eyed, 20-month-old child was taken Tuesday night.

After a period of feverish activity by experts it was learned that the handwriting of the second note did not compare with that of the first and belief was expressed the note received today was the work of a "crank."

The mass of new clues and leads which held the attention of investigators tonight included:

A communication from an ex-convict in Hudson county which Inspector Harry Walsh described as a "hot tip." Four of the crack detectives stationed at the Lindbergh home were dispatched to an unnamed city during the afternoon to investigate. They had not returned late tonight and officials here refused to discuss that angle of the case.

A report that Frank W. Kelly, a lumber dealer, had recognized the wood used in the ladder left behind by the kidnapers as part of a house he had recently torn down. Later, however, Kelly was unable to identify the lumber.

A tip from a Union county man, whose name officials refused to disclose, that two friends had threatened two months ago to kidnap the Lindbergh child. Detectives were still working tonight on this angle.

Postal Card Deluge—Another deluge of postal cards bearing ominous warnings poured in to the mails.

One posted in South Orange (N. J.) read, "Baby will die." It originally said "Baby is dead," but the last two words had been changed.

Another found in the Elizabeth (N. J.) post office read: "Kindly follow instructions in next letter. Baby is safe. Well taken care of. Don't worry. If any harm comes to us harm will come to baby. Follow instructions carefully."

A third intercepted at Auburn, N. Y., bore this message: "Baby taken good care of. Look for instructions Saturday. If police get too close look out."

Investigators were inclined to believe all were the work of "cranks," but efforts were being made to trace all the senders. The South Orange card corresponded in several details with one found in a Newark mailbox yesterday.

More than 325 persons, many of them employes or former employes of the Lindberghs and Morrows, were paraded through the Lindbergh garage, where all the law enforcement agencies working on the case had set up a consolidated headquarters.

Expect Developments—Betty Gow, the nursemaid who discovered the empty crib, and her predecessor, Marie Cummings were among those subjected to a rigid examination.

After they had left cablegrams were sent to Scotland Yard asking British detectives to check up on the past of Miss Gow, and also of Ollie Wheatley, the Lindbergh butler.

The aviator-father, Governor A. Harry Moore said earlier in the day, "expects something to happen any minute."

But the governor quickly made it clear that he knew of no foundation for such an expectation; that no contact had been made with the kidnapers by either police or the Lindberghs; that investigators had succeeded merely in fixing the approximate hour of the abduction and deciding two persons were responsible.

"What," he was then asked, "is the basis for Col. Lindbergh's expectation that something will happen any minute?"

"Oh, I guess it's just psychic," he replied.

However, Col. Lindbergh refused to consider a suggestion that the spectacular search be called off and an appeal made, on a no-questions-asked basis, for the return of the blue-eyed, 20-month-old child who was snatched from his bed Tuesday night.

Late in the day police disclosed receipt by Col. Lindbergh of a second ransom demand. The letter postmarked New York and unsigned, called for payment of $50,000.

Handwriting experts immediately sought to determine whether it was written by the same person who scribbled the note left pinned to the window sill of the nursery the night of the kidnaping.

The contents of the second letter were made public, but the authorities continued to withhold the text of the first note, which was understood, also demanded $50,000.

Air Mail Letter—Clues and possible leads developed and exploded with the passing of each minute. Nearly 2,000 letters, authorities said, had been received by Col. Lindbergh from all parts of the country, apparently written by "cranks" offering assistance and information purporting to come from the kidnapers.

One of the disappointments of the day was a letter air mailed in Boston by a woman about 60 years old purporting to tell where the child was held.

The letter, addressed to Col. Lindbergh, was opened with his permission. The directions were to an address which could not be found, and the bare possibility that the letter might still be of some value as a clue faded with the publication in the Boston Evening American of a copyrighted story that Henry G. Willson, self-styled clairvoyant, confessed to two reporters that he wrote it. The address was given as "Provincetown, N. J." There is no such place, but places with similar names were investigated fruitlessly.

The Lindbergh garage was converted into a police sub-station and by midnight approximately 325 persons had been led in for the most rigid sort of questioning.

Not a step was being overlooked by the smoothly organized detective machinery that might be productive of some hint, some indication of who stole the world's most famous baby.

Miss Betty Gow, the nursemaid who discovered the empty crib Tuesday night, and her predecessor, who was discharged, were rigidly questioned in what John J. Toohy, secretary to the governor, called an attempt to determine whether the abduction was an "inside job."

All employes of the Lindberghs and the Morrows were fingerprinted and questioned. A complete check also was being made of their past history.

"There is no reason, however, to suspect any employe," Toohy said.

Two finger prints, not clear enough to be definitely classified, were found on the pane of the window through which the baby was taken. They were studied by experts.

Man 'Phones Lindy; Picked Up by Police

Long Branch, N. J., March 3 (AP)—A man who talked with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh by telephone tonight was picked up by Long Island branch police at the request of state troopers.

He was Ernest Nedina of 241 Alpine street, and he was held at headquarters to await the arrival of troopers.

Chief Charles McCarvey said Nedina admitted talking with the father of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, but he said it was his "own business" and not that of police.

Nedina is a native of the republic of Colombia and has never been naturalized in this country, although he has been here 8 years. He is married and has two children. He is an interior decorator.

Nedina, who is 32 years old, said he had seen Col. Lindbergh's telephone number in a New York newspaper. He said when he called he was asked his name, address, and telephone number and then spoke to Lindbergh personally.

He said he suggested that word be broadcast that the kidnapers would be granted immunity from punishment if they returned the baby unharmed.

Police expressed the opinion it was that suggestion that caused to request his being questioned. He was not booked by police here and state troopers had not arrived at midnight.

Padlocking Of Hip Pockets Is Latest

Kansas City, Mar. 3 (AP)—The prohibition padlock was applied to hip pockets today.

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves issued restraining orders against the persons of Henry Hanger and W. S. Updegrave, similar to edicts by which bootleg establishments are padlocked.

The action was taken at the request of T. A. Layson, assistant district attorney, who charged the two men had been dispensing liquor from hip pockets at the Cole county court house in Jefferson City, Mo. While Hanger and Updegrave will not be required to sew up their pockets, or lock them, violation of the restraining orders would subject them to sentence for contempt of court.

TAX OPPONENTS STORM MANSION

Household of Kentucky Governor Disturbed By Rioters

Frankfort, Ky., March 3 (AP)—A crowd of more than one hundred men and women forced their way into the executive mansion, frightened members of Gov. Ruby Laffoon's household and slightly damaged the furnishings late today during a demonstration here against the governor's one percent general sales tax proposal.

Governor Laffoon was in his office in the capitol nearby at the time. Word of the demonstration was brought to him by members of his household, who ran out a side door when the intruders forced their way past a negro doorman.

Walking up the driveway that leads from the capitol to the mansion, the crowd went to the front door and when the doorman opened it several men who appeared to be spokesmen asked to see the "women folks." Governor Laffoon said.

When Douglas Majors, the doorman, refused to let the crowd inside the mansion, he said, one of them offered him $40 if he would tell them where the governor was. He said they insisted the governor was hiding in the mansion.

Majors said, the men in the van of the crowd pushed him aside and walked into the reception room. They insisted, he said, on being given an audience by "the women folks."

Mrs. Laffoon and the governor's two daughters who live with him, Miss Leila Laffoon and Mrs. Will Robinson, were not at home at the time. The governor's two grandsons, Tommy Robinson, two and one-half, and R. W. Robinson, 11, were home but were not molested.

When some of the intruders sought to go to the second floor by the building they were told by a maid that no one was upstairs and did not attempt to force their way up.

After staying in the mansion for more than an hour, the crowd left. Almost every room in the lower part of the building bore evidence of the visit.

They were cigarette holes in carpets and on the edges of furniture, litter about the floors and electric globes were missing. The piano in the drawing room was played by several of the intruders at one time and music notes were torn.

"This is not the governor's house," one remarked. "It belongs to us because we paid the taxes to build it."

The disorder occurred while thousands of merchants from all parts of Kentucky were holding a mass meeting in the rain on the lawn in front of the state capitol, near the territory in the Shanghai area.

Asked about fighting reported from Manchuria, Debuch said there are small isolated detachments of Chinese soldiers and bandits creating disturbances in various sections of Manchuria, but these are of slight importance and are rapidly being suppressed.

Admiral M. M. Taylor, commander of the Asiatic fleet, advised the navy department tonight of the cessation of hostilities at Shanghai.

Vice Admiral Nomura, in charge of Japanese operations at Shanghai, called on Admiral Taylor and informed him fighting had ended.

Nomura expressed the opinion that it was "extremely unfortunate" that trouble had arisen in the area but that once it had commenced it had to be carried through.

The Chinese forces meanwhile were reported heavily reinforced and entrenched to the west of Nanzang, about 25 miles west and northwest of the international settlement.

Box Factory And Sawmill Running Steadily In Cooks

Cooks, Mich., Mar. 3 (Special)—The village of Cooks is again the scene of great activity as of old. It is nearly a quarter of a century since the old mill ceased to function and the lumbering industry which has meant so much to this district as well as hundreds of other such districts in Michigan came to a close.

The Lund Brothers' box factory and the James Adams sawmill, both of which have been recently installed, are now in operation. The shrill toot of the whistles, the buzz of the various saws, the hiss of the escaping steam and numerous noises remind the older people here of bygone days.

During recent days, local farmers have been busy hauling in their logs to the sawmill in have them saved into lumber which will be used for making improvements on their farms.

Mr. Adams has already sawed around one hundred thousand feet of lumber, mostly hemlock, white pine and birch. He expects to cut at least 25,000 more as soon as it can be brought in. Recent snow was welcome but at the time of writing it is doubtful as to whether enough would fall to make good roads for hauling.

At the box factory, just a short distance from the sawmill, everything is being rapidly brought into ship shape for already a large amount of wood has been cut up in readiness to be made up into fish boxes at an early date. An almost unlimited supply of wood is available and a market is now available for practically all that can be made. The bugaboo "depression" has received a hard blow and farmers and townspeople alike are rejoicing together in the activities of these concerns.

Famous Kidnapings of Nation Recalled

Chicago, (P)—The kidnaping in New Jersey of the infant son of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh recalled a long list of kidnapings during the last several decades. Outstanding were the following: 1874—Charles Ross, of Germantown, Pa., never found despite years of diligent search, offers of large rewards, and, more recently, frequently claims of persons that they are Ross. 1882—Gerald Lاپiner, of Chicago, later found in Ohio. 1900—Edward Cudahy, scion of the wealthy meat packing family; Pat Crowe served a prison term for the abduction; Cudahy now lives in Chicago. 1907—Rose Giordano, of New York, later returned home. The kidnapers were arrested two years later. 1909—Billy White, of Sharon, Pa., released after the payment of $10,000 ransom; kidnapers were sentenced to prison. 1910—Michael Solmeica, of New York, held for $8,000 ransom and later found slain. 1911—Letha and Hazel Gretchel, of Chicago, brought back from Kenosha, Wis., unharmed. 1911—Baby Hencks, of Chicago, fate a mystery, believed to have been slain. 1913—Catherine Winters, of Newcastle, Ind., never found. 1915—Ginny Glass, of Jersey City, N. J., believed to have been slain. 1917—Baby Lloyd Keet, of Springfield, Mo., slain. 1919—Billy Dansey, of New Jersey; his body was found months later in a swamp. 1924—Bobby Franks, of Chicago, slain "for a thrill" by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, university students now serving life and 99-year terms in the state penitentiary at Joliet, Ill. 1931—Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, of St. Louis; held for $150,000 ransom but released after paying an undisclosed sum.

Kindergarten Claims Four Sets Of Twins

Four sets of twins are enrolled in the kindergarten room at the Webster school. They are Dolly and Ruby Kolich, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kolich; Ida and Edna Desjardins, North Twenty-first street; Clarence and Gladys Swanson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Swanson, and Helen and Hazel Nelson, Stephenson avenue. Miss Muriel Van Gaal, their teacher, has no difficulty in distinguishing the twins, with the exception of the Desjardins girls, who are as much alike as two drops of water.

Ford Company Sued Iron Mountain — Damages of $40,000 are asked by Willis McDonald, 408 East B street, this city, in a suit filed at the county clerk's office this morning against the Ford Motor company, growing out of an alleged injury received by the plaintiff while at work at the plant in May, 1924.

Details of the claim became public previously when McDonald instituted similar proceedings at Bessemer, but withdrew them on a petition by his attorneys, Derham and Derham. According to the petition, McDonald, on May 24, 1924, received an injury while at work as a toploader at the plant. It is set forth that he was paid compensation by the Ford company for two and one-half weeks, under the provisions of the compensation law.

Plan City Plant Iron River — Convinced that power rates are too high and with no indication of any reduction from the Iron Range Light and Power company, the city commission at a meeting last night decided to submit to the voters a $75,000 bond issue for the establishment of a municipally-owned light plant. The proposal will be voted on at the April 4 election. Howard J. McDonough, city attorney, was instructed to prepare an ordinance for the special election.

A letter received from Charles Retaille, superintendent of the municipal light and power department in Marquette, and with no reply from the Iron Range Light and Power company to the request for a reduction of between 20 and 25 per cent, prompted the commissioners to put the question before the people. The commission believes that a municipally-owned plant will be an asset to the city, and at the same time assure consumers of low rates.

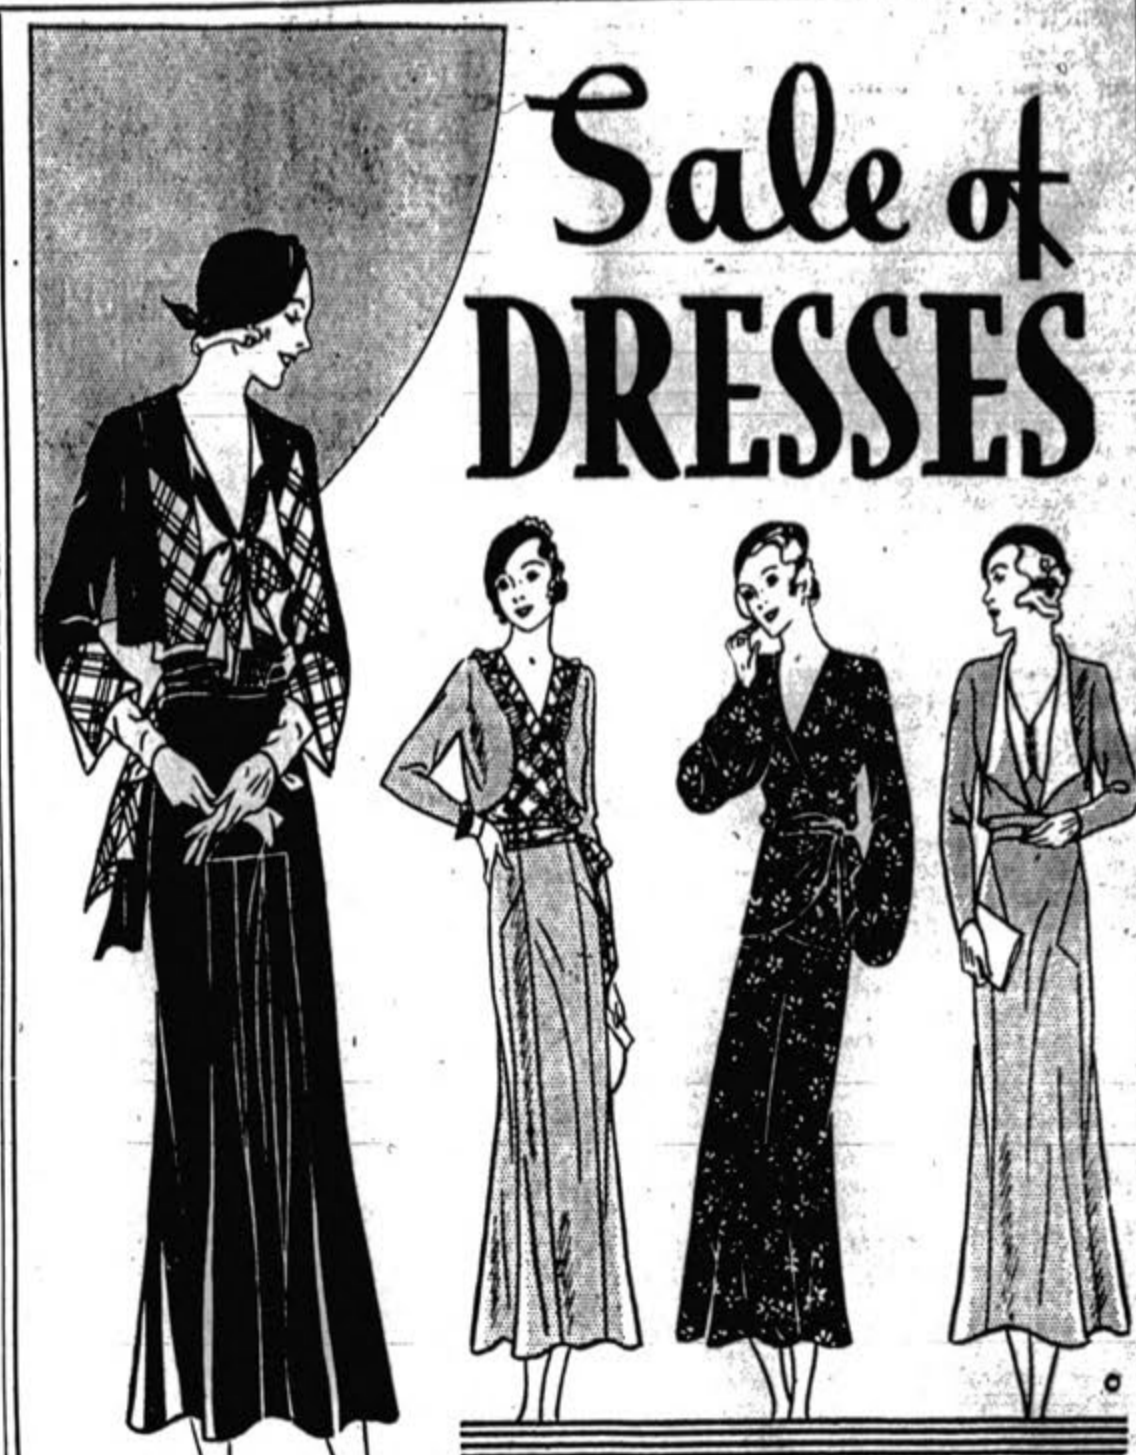

To Beautify Roads Marquette, Mich.—Grover C. Dillman, state highway commissioner, has informed the streets and highways committee of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce that the state highway department will lend its assistance in beautifying US-41 and M-28 within the Marquette city limits. The purpose in improving the appearance of the highway is to make the routes more attractive for tourists. Now read the Classified page.

THE LAME DUCKS

ADOPTION by Congress of the proposal to submit to the states a constitutional amendment for the abolition of the so-called "lame duck" sessions may be viewed as a personal triumph for Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska. Ratification by 36 states is needed to make the amendment proposal effective.

The Nebraska senator has long led the fight against the short sessions. The battle has been successfully waged in the senate a half dozen times, but up to this session the lower house always proved to be the stumbling block.

The Norris proposal provides for the elimination of the short session beginning the first Monday in December and extending until March 4, and the substitution of a session of indefinite length to begin each Jan. 3.

One of the main objections to the "lame-duck" session is that it permits a number of congressmen to take part in congressional legislation after they have been defeated. As a result, Congress is not immediately responsive to the wishes of the people.

LOCAL BOY HONORED

BY QUALIFYING FOR entrance into the United States Military Academy at West Point, Jack Bartella Jr. has won a prize that every red-blooded American boy eagerly desires but because of obvious reasons only a comparatively small number are able to achieve.

Only one upper peninsula resident has been graduated from West Point, and he came from Escanaba. He was Colonel Llewellyn W. Oliver, who finished in 1899 and is now serving in the office of the Chief of Cavalry at Washington, D. C.

The four years of training in the Military Academy is very thorough and comprehensive. The course of study is covered in twelve departments, as follows: Tactics; civil and military engineering; natural and experimental philosophy; mathematics; chemistry, mineralogy, and geology; drawing; modern languages; law; practical military engineering, military signalling, and telegraphy; ordnance and gunnery, military hygiene; and English and history.

THE JAPANESE ARMY THE Japanese army in China seems to be very much like any other army, offhand. Its organization is about the same, its arms are the same, and it follows the same kind of strategy and tactics that European and American armies use.

European or American general in that position would have cabled at once for more men, and would have kept on cabling until he got action.

But the Japanese commander never let out a peep. Why? Because the old code of the Samurai forbade him to. His emperor had given him this assignment, and he would be unworthy if, having begun it, he appealed for help.

A day or so after that bit of news came a cable to the New York Times telling how three Japanese infantrymen had sacrificed themselves to destroy a barbed-wire barrier that was holding up their battalion.

They strapped about their chests and waists huge quantities of high explosives, and then ran forward boldly and entangled themselves in the barbed wire. The Chinese instantly shot them, the bullets touched off the explosives, and the wire entanglements were blown to bits—as, of course, were the three Japanese infantrymen.

These soldiers, by the way, had volunteered for that job. It is hard to imagine either of these incidents happening in a present-day European or American army. We on this side of the Pacific simply don't think that way any longer.

But Japan is still half medieval. The old warrior caste there still looks on life as it did ten centuries ago. The present war, indeed, may prove its last fight; but while it lasts a code that the rest of us lost long ago is still operating.

GANDHI'S SECRET

MAHATMA GANDHI'S recent plea to his followers to get rid of mankind's two greatest fears—the fear of death and the fear of the loss of material possessions—helps to explain how it is that this wizened little man can possess such a tremendous amount of power.

"No power on earth," says Gandhi, "can subdue a man who has shed these two fears." When you stop to think about it, it is easy to see that he is right. If you have not the slightest qualms about losing everything that you possess, nothing that anyone can do to you can frighten you; and when a man who is in that fortunate position puts himself at the head of a great movement, it will prove an uncommonly hard task to stop him.

BRITISH ADVANCE

On March 4, 1918, British troops in Palestine advanced two miles on a 12-mile front, north of Jericho. Turkish forces retreated in disorder.

It was reported that Rumania would sign a separate peace with the Central Powers within the next 24 hours.

German activities on the western front, while confined to trench raids, led allied observers to believe that the armies of the kaiser would make a supreme effort to break the allied lines within three weeks.

New divisions were being placed in the trenches rapidly by the German command to acustom the men to fighting conditions in the west.

CHAPTER XXVI

THE morning at the store had been a happy one for Ellen. The pleasantness of the evening before lingered through the opening hours of the day.

Noon came. Ellen and Lorene yawned, looked at each other interrogatively and began tidying up for lunch. Lorene tentatively suggested a newly discovered tea room with a bangup 75-cent luncheon.

They set off and talked shop through the lazy, unhurried hour. Ellen found it pleasant to lunch in such a comfortable fashion. Afterwards when they were strolling back to the store, Lorene said suddenly: "I've decided to let you try Blumstein's yourself this afternoon. I hear they have some cute sports dresses at $9.10—a whole new line. Carney and Co. has a whole window display from there."

"Oh!" said Ellen, flushed and thrilled. "Get three or four. Green is a good bet. I think. And nothing too fancy. Use your own judgment. Afterwards, if you want to, you can go on home and not bother coming back till tomorrow. Your lot won't be delivered till morning anyhow."

"You don't know how proud—" Ellen began inarticulately. "Forget it! If you make any bloomers I'll come down hard enough! Not that I think you will!"

It was 4 o'clock when Ellen finished with the manufacturers and walked up Pine street toward home. She reviewed the purchases she had made and found them good. Underneath lay the pleased consciousness that she was through with Barclay's for the day. Myra should be home from the library. Tea and muffins in the kitchen, perhaps. Ellen's steps hastened.

She entered the dusky hallway and had started up the stairs when Myra, wearing an old faded apron and bedroom slippers, her head wrapped in a towel, came flying down. Ellen saw disaster in her sister's eyes.

"Ellen! Mike's been hurt. An accident!" "Mike?"

Ellen leaned against the banister. Her heart seemed to stop. Her brain—everything—seemed to stop for a terrible, timeless moment.

"He's unconscious. They carried him in our bedroom."

Myra was gone. Ellen ran up the stairs and into the shabby familiar living room filled with silent people, women in dust caps and aprons, a few coatless perspiring men. Mike's bicycle was propped against the wall. They were all looking at it.

"It's the other sister," Ellen heard someone say. "Poor thing! Let her through."

STIRRING, moving uneasily, they made a path for her, all the curious, kindly neighbors, but Ellen did not notice. She ran past them to the bedroom. Mike lay unconscious on the bed. Mrs. Clancy, concerned and anxious, was leaning over him. Molly sat still and white in a chair drawn close. She did not move as Ellen entered.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch (Copyright 1931 by Douglas Malloch)

GOODBYE The saddest thing to say Is just "goodbye" When someone goes away. Although we try To hide behind a smile The welling tear, To call "a little while" A lonely year.

"Don't worry over me—I'll be all right." "I'll write you frequently. Perhaps tonight." "The best of luck to you!" "Here, take this flower!" So we go smiling through The final hour.

But, when the train departs, We turn to face An absence in our hearts. An empty place. Although our fears we quell And bravely lie, Farewell is still farewell, Goodbye goodbye.

"Oh, Ellen, it's you! I thought Myra—" Mrs. Clancy turned and spoke quietly. Ellen's breath came in great gasps. She could not speak.

"She's down." The Irishwoman left the bed and took her hands in an effort to force her to a chair. Ellen leaned against her, spent—exhausted; her eyes on the little motionless figure on the high white bed.

"What happened?" "It was the bicycle," said Mrs. Clancy patiently. "At Pine and Chestnut. He was wheeling it across when a truck, a big truck—he pushed the bicycle clear but "The doctor?" "We've called him. Myra's gone to see."

Myra came in just then. "Dr. Ellis is on his way," she said. "I'll go clear out the living room," Mrs. Clancy offered and left.

"Oh, Myra, Myra!" Ellen whispered. "He—he's breathing. Ellen. We have to hope and pray."

Their fingers closed together tightly; their terrified eyes met and failed of reassurance.

Molly sat motionless, tearless, speechless. Myra tried to make her leave but she would not. Ellen knelt beside the bed, not daring to touch Mike except to take one of his stubby nailed hands, still grimy from play. She hardly knew what went on about her. She was not aware that Myra had at last succeeded in getting Molly into her own bedroom. She was aware only of Mike and his death-like pallor and his death-like stillness.

Dr. Ellis came. Another doctor came. Ellen hardly understood that they had forced her from the room so they could make the examination. After a long while—it was dark outside now—the doctors reluctantly announced they still could not say how gravely the boy was injured. Internal injuries undoubtedly—the persistent coma due to that—one leg broken, perhaps his spine affected. The child should be in a hospital. They wanted another opinion before moving him.

"How soon will we know the best—or the worst?" It was the ghost of Molly's voice.

"We'll," Dr. Ellis hesitated. "If he holds out through the night we should be able to move him by morning. An immediate operation would be too dangerous."

ELLEN returned to her vigil beside Mike. Myra moved in and out, but most of the time she stayed in the next room with Molly who lay sleepless, staring, tearless. Sometimes Mike's breathing grew heavy and the strange, stertorous sound filled the watcher with panic. Yet never would Ellen allow her hopes to flag. Toward morning Mike stirred for the first time and murmured something incoherent about a bicycle. Ellen looked quickly toward Dr. Ellis at the other side of the bed.

"That's good," he said

Presently the doctor gave a deep sigh. "You can tell your mother and Myra we'll be moving the young man to the hospital in an hour or so."

He bent and fumbled for Mike's pulse, looked across at Ellen and smiled wearily.

The ambulance came for Mike. There was a crowd on the street when they carried him out into the morning sunshine. Molly rode in the ambulance. Ellen and Myra followed in a cab and told each other with courageous lips and frightened eyes that everything would be all right. Dr. Ellis had said...

They reached the hospital and saw Mike wheeled away. In a long, white, brightly lighted hall, heavy with the smell of ether and iodiform, the three women waited. Again and again Myra or Ellen would importune a crisp, starched nurse for news that did not come. They started at every ring of the telephone and then sank back looking at each other with bleak eyes and faltering hearts.

The great hospital seemed to have swallowed up little Mike as though he had never existed. At 11 o'clock Ellen, haggard and heavy-eyed, remembered that she had not notified Lorene of her absence from the store. She whispered to Myra and slipped to the telephone, haunted by a vision of

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or cheap gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels, gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel drowsy and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Request a substitute, 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

SOVIET STRENGTHENS MANCHURIAN BORDER

Reports reaching Tokyo from Vladivostok say Soviet Russia, alarmed by the situation in northern Manchuria, is concentrating troops and military supplies along the Manchurian border. One hundred thousand Russian soldiers were said to be in the Soviet maritime provinces. Above is a typical Soviet field gun crew in action and below a train of army tanks.

Doyle Makes Trip Around District

W. F. Doyle, candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senate passed through Escanaba yesterday on his way back to Menominee after a "brief swing" through the other counties of the Thirtieth District.

"There certainly does not seem to be any feeling that there is a division between the eastern and western parts of the district," he said, adding that he had talked with leaders in each county and felt certain that it is the desire of all counties to select some candidate who will be a credit to the district regardless of which county he hails from.

"I certainly received a great deal of encouragement. In each city and the few outlying places where I had an opportunity to make a short call," Doyle said, "it appears to be the sentiment of the people that my plan of attempting to promote the interests of the peninsula through making more capital on our natural advantages we have is one worth deep consideration."

In Lueneburg, and Mackinac counties friends of Mr. Doyle pledged their support to his candidacy.

Business College, Marquette, Closes

Marquette — Disappearance of Andrew Champagne, manager and instructor at the Butten Business college, Nester block, and removal of all equipment from the offices, has left about 18 students here, has caused the Marquette Chamber of Commerce to start an investigation into practices employed in inducing students to enroll at that school.

An explanation has been demanded from G. A. Butten, of Traverse City, head of the chain of business colleges, located in Sault Ste. Marie, Marquette, Cadillac, Alpena, Petoskey and Traverse City and all cities in which these schools are located have been notified by the Chamber of what has occurred here.

Winniger Brothers' Mother Passes Away

Milwaukee, March 3 (AP)—Mrs. Franz Winniger, 85-year-old mother of a family of vaudeville troupers, died last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leon C. Miller, in suburban Cudahy.

Herself a singer and musician of considerable talent, Mrs. Winniger for many years toured the smaller hamlets of Wisconsin with her husband, an actor, and their supporting cast of six children.

Upon retiring from the stage, the elder Winnigers conducted a theatre in Wisconsin. Mr. Winniger died 12 years ago. For a time three of the brothers, Frank, Adolph and John, headed their own stock companies.

Charles Winniger is perhaps the most famous of the brothers. He starred as a comedian in "Show Boat."

Charles now lives in New York. John in Wausau, Joseph in Wausau, Adolph in Los Angeles and Frank in Schofield, Wis. Mrs. Winniger will be buried in Wausau Saturday.

Frank, Adolph and John Winniger are well known to theatre-goers of Delta county through frequent appearances here with their stock companies. Charles also appeared here on one occasion.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

Chic Sale, as "Old Man Minkick" and Dickie Moore, as an orphaned waif, brought the warmth and humor and pathos of life itself to the screen of the Delft Theatre yesterday as "The Expert," a Warner Bros. picture, was unveiled to an audience which alternated gales of laughter with an occasional tear.

Sale and Moore appear again in virtually the same characterizations they had in "The Star Witness." They brought an uncommon reality to the screen of the Delft. They showed us people we meet, know and live with.

Sale is the grandpa we all know, coming to live with his son and daughter-in-law after a lifetime in a small city. Alone in the world, he has no one to turn to except his children. But the difference in age, the always-changing ideas of successive generations throw him out of line. He has been a different life-routine. He does not realize this and goes his sincerely meddlesome way in an effort to help, usually hindering. He estranges his daughter-in-law's fellow club members, antagonizes the cook and generally has his say on almost everything. The humor inherent in such a situation is capably handled by the featured players and enhanced by Archie Mayo's masterful direction. The occasional tear in the audience is aroused by sympathy for the old gentleman and his orphaned friend.

Old Man Minkick meets young Dickie, the orphan, in the course of his wanderings and begins a friendship which carries through to the end of the picture. The talented pen of Edna Ferber, author of the novel and play from which "The Expert" was made, has given to the movies this story of the old man and his six-year-old friend. All the drama, humor and reality which she infuses into her characters are evident in "The Expert."

Equipment Disappears

The exodus of Champagne was discovered by several girl students who went to attend classes Monday morning. The instructor had vanished and so had all the equipment. A check-up at the express office revealed that typewriters and other material had been shipped to Ludington, Mich. It also was reported to the Chamber that Champagne left two months' rent unpaid here.

Several of the girls went to Frank H. Heath, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and to an attorney and told how they had paid for the course with money they had scraped together. It appears also that several of these girls enrolled Friday and Saturday and made cash deposits with Champagne at that time. In addition to Marquette students, there were some enrolled from Ishpeming, Negaunee, Newberry and Crystal Falls.

Bay de Noc Again First to Report With Tax Rolls

George Hanson of Stonington, treasurer of Bay de Noc township, turned in his tax roll to County Treasurer Miss Mary McCall yesterday, and again won the honor of being the first township treasurer in the county to complete the work on his books.

This distinction has been claimed by Bay de Noc township for many years. Publication of the annual tax sale list for Delta county began in the Daily Press Thursday. It will reappear once a week for the next four weeks. Due to state land sales and redemptions of delinquent parcels, there are fewer descriptions on the list than there were in 1931. Publication of the annual sale list always brings a flood of queries from persons seeking title to the tax delinquent lands, the county treasurer reports.

State To Pay Cost Of Fur Plot Probe

Newberry, March 3 (Special)—The state will pay the costs of the grand jury fur probe in the upper peninsula according to a letter received here yesterday by District Supervisor Julius Thorsen from Edward A. Billitzke, assistant attorney general, who was in charge of the probe in which more than a dozen trappers and a half dozen buyers paid fines for trafficking in beaver pelts. The letter states that the attorney general's office will recommend to the state conservation department that witnesses and mileage be paid to all of those who testified before Judge Lester S. Toll, one man jury, who heard the cases. Those who were found guilty and paid fines and those who have been recently convicted of game law violations will not be paid, the local office states.

This action of Mr. Billitzke means that Luce county's part of the cost of the investigation will be practically nothing. It will consist of the extra cost of light and heat for the court house ten days the probe was on. All subpoenas and arrests were made by state police and wardens so that there were no sheriff's fees.

Promotion of nine state police officers has been announced from the Lansing office. Two upper peninsula sergeants have been raised to the rank of lieutenant, Fred Keune, in charge of the Newberry post and Anthony Hayden of the Iron Mountain post receiving this promotion. Three other down state sergeants now rate lieutenant, George Aldrich of Cheboygan, Guy Bauch of Grand Haven and Leslie V. Maycock of Niles.

Four men have been promoted from the rank of lieutenant to that of captain: Joseph Kearney of Bay City; William D. Hansen of Jackson; Earl J. Hathway of Traverse City, formerly of Manistee and W. B. Babcock of Pappaw, formerly stationed at St. Clair.

YOUNG A JOB?

If some young man or woman comes to you and in all seriousness applies for a position as general manager, private secretary, master mechanic, clerk or assistant to the president, do not be surprised, and for the sake of your own dignity greet the applicant with the same serious interest as he is showing. You may not have any such position open, you may not even be the persons he appears to think you are, that does not matter. Listen gravely, ask proper and searching questions, give him a bit of a taste of discomfort so as not to make things too easy for him. Then take his name and promise to let him know about "anything that turns up." Many local persons are having this experience these days. This is one of the projects of the public speaking class of Miss J. Lynn McClung of the Newberry high school. In this manner the students have at least one experience in trying to get the job they are going to need some day. A stamped, addressed envelope is furnished for your report of the interview and is sent to the instructor.

Munising News

Munising Character Taken By Death At County Infirmary

Munising, March 3 (Special)—Albert Hunt died Wednesday evening at the Alger county infirmary. He was 69 years of age, a single man, and had no relatives in this part of the country. He was born in Bohemia and came to the United States with his parents when he was a boy. The family located in Chicago and Albert sold newspapers there.

When he was fourteen years of age, he ran away from home, taking a boat trip to Ludington where he found work for a mill man who became interested in him and tried to help him along. Albert was having a pretty good time, and fell in with a companion whose name was Albert Hunt, and with whom he traveled north, leaving behind him good prospects.

He came to Alger county about the time the new town of Munising was established and worked around different camps and in different places until one time he worked as chore boy for Wm. Berkel, who runs the second hand store. Several years ago his chum, the real Albert Hunt, died, and he took his name, and has always been known around here as just plain Albert.

During his wanderings he joined the U. S. army and was a regular in the service. He had acquired considerable knowledge knocking about and often earned and saved good sums of money.

Upon one of these occasions, after saving up $50, he decided to go to Chicago proud of himself in his nice attire and landed in Chicago proud of himself and with pleasurable anticipations of agreeably surprising his relations. He fell by the wayside before getting the street number of the folks and woke up the next morning in a ditch with a badly lacerated countenance, several teeth knocked out and all his money gone.

He came back to Munising, finding odd jobs to do and finally landing in the infirmary. It is reported that some of his people, living in Chicago are very wealthy.

CHAS. PETERSON DIES WEDSDAY

Pioneer Resident Answers Summons After Six Year Illness

Death claimed another pioneer resident of Gladstone Wednesday evening, when Charles D. Peterson, 75, who had made his home here for 43 years, answered the final summons. Death came at nine-thirty o'clock in the evening and brought relief to the aged man who had been suffering with illness for a period of six years.

Mr. Peterson came to Gladstone in 1889 from Vastmanland, Sweden, where he was born on Dec. 3, 1856, and where he grew to manhood. He remained in Gladstone continuously from the time of his arrival from Sweden until his death.

LEASE RENEWED ON POSTOFFICE

Present Quarters to Be Retained; No Action on New Building

The Gladstone postoffice will remain in its present location for at least another year, Postmaster F. A. Miller stated yesterday. An extension of the lease on the present quarters has been executed for that period with a conditional renewal clause, he explained. The lease was to have expired on April 7 of this year.

The execution of the lease by the postal department puts to rest, for a time at least, the question as to whether the government will proceed with the plans for the construction of a federal building here. More than a year ago, it was learned, the postal department allocated to Gladstone $70,000 which was to be used for the purchase of a site and the construction of a building. At that time it was expected that the appropriation would be made as a part of the public construction program advocated by the administration.

Congress, however, failed to make provision for the construction in their appropriations. This session of Congress has not considered the matter up to the present time.

That the postoffice might be removed to new quarters was considered likely early this year, when a representative of the department sought proposals from owners of the buildings in the business section of the city. No owner was found who would accept the terms of the government.

Girls Plan For Basket Tourney. The girls of the physical training classes of the Gladstone high school will hold their annual basketball tournament in about two weeks, under the direction of Miss Elsa Haller.

Teams are now being organized. Each class is organizing several teams, and an elimination tournament is to be held in which the various teams in each class will compete against one another. The winners of the various class meets will compete for school honors.

Names of the teams and the players on each will be announced prior to the tourney.

Press Want Ads Cost Little, Accomplish Much. A year ago Montana was graded and gravelled between Fifth and Seventh streets.

The city does not contemplate the graveling of Montana this year. City Manager Buechner stated yesterday, but is preparing the street for graveling solely as a measure to give work to the unemployed. At some time it is probable that the street will be surfaced.

Mrs. P. W. Graham left last night for Minneapolis to visit with relatives and friends.

Pertinent Comment

A study in contrasts is afforded by the two items quoted below which recently appeared in print. It might be stated that one of the items was printed in the column headed "Twenty-Five Years Ago" in the Fort Dodge, Iowa, Messenger, and the other appeared in a recent issue of "Variety," theatrical publication.

From the Fort Dodge paper it is learned that "Sheriff Oleason has discovered that woman inmate of the jail is a smoker no less ardent than any man who loves the fragrant incense of the weed. For a time she kept it secret. The unexpected entrance of the sheriff one day found her perched on a chair with a cigarette between her fingers. She did not attempt to deny her habits, but said she had always smoked and would quit when she pleased."

Variety relates: "O Florida cigar manufacturer has launched a campaign to popularize cigars for ladies. His firm started making ladies' size cigars, smaller and more carefully wrapped. To get things started the company has hired four girls to dine in fashionable restaurants in the south to be seen smoking the cigars."

City Starts New Grading Project

Work was started yesterday on the grading and brushing of Montana avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets as a part of the city's employment relief program. The street is to be cut down to grade and the surplus earth moved to Montana avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets to fill low spots. When these two blocks have been completed, the crew will be moved down Montana avenue to the block between Eighth and Ninth and then to the block between Ninth and Tenth with the purpose in view of completing the grading of Montana through from Fourth to Tenth street.

Diet Didn't Do This!

HAPPY little girl, just bursting with pep, and she has never tasted a "tonic!"

Every child's stomach, liver, and bowels need stimulating at times, but give children something you know all about.

Follow the advice of that famous family physician who gave the world Syrup Pepsin. Stimulate the body's vital organs. Dr. Caldwell's prescription of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh herbs is a mild stimulant that keeps the system from getting sluggish.

If your youngsters don't do well at school, don't play as hard or eat as well as other children do, begin this evening with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This gentle stimulant will soon right things! The bowels will move with better regularity and thoroughness. There won't be so many sick spells or colds. You'll find it just as wonderful for adults, too, in larger spoonfuls!

Get some Syrup Pepsin; protect your household from those bilious days, frequent headaches, and that sluggish state of half-health that means the bowels need stimulating. Keep this preparation in the home to use instead of harsh cathartics that cause chronic constipation if taken too often. You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store; they have it all ready in big bottles.

"BACK TO THE MINES" FOR THEM

A signal of "back to the mines" brought these happy smiles to the faces of returning workers as operation was resumed in the Reading, Pa., anthracite region in order to fill the cold weather demand for hard coal. Here a few of the hundreds of miners who have gone back to their jobs are shown as they prepared to go underground at Locust Dale. They're wearing the new safety hats and improved electric battery lights which have bettered their working conditions.

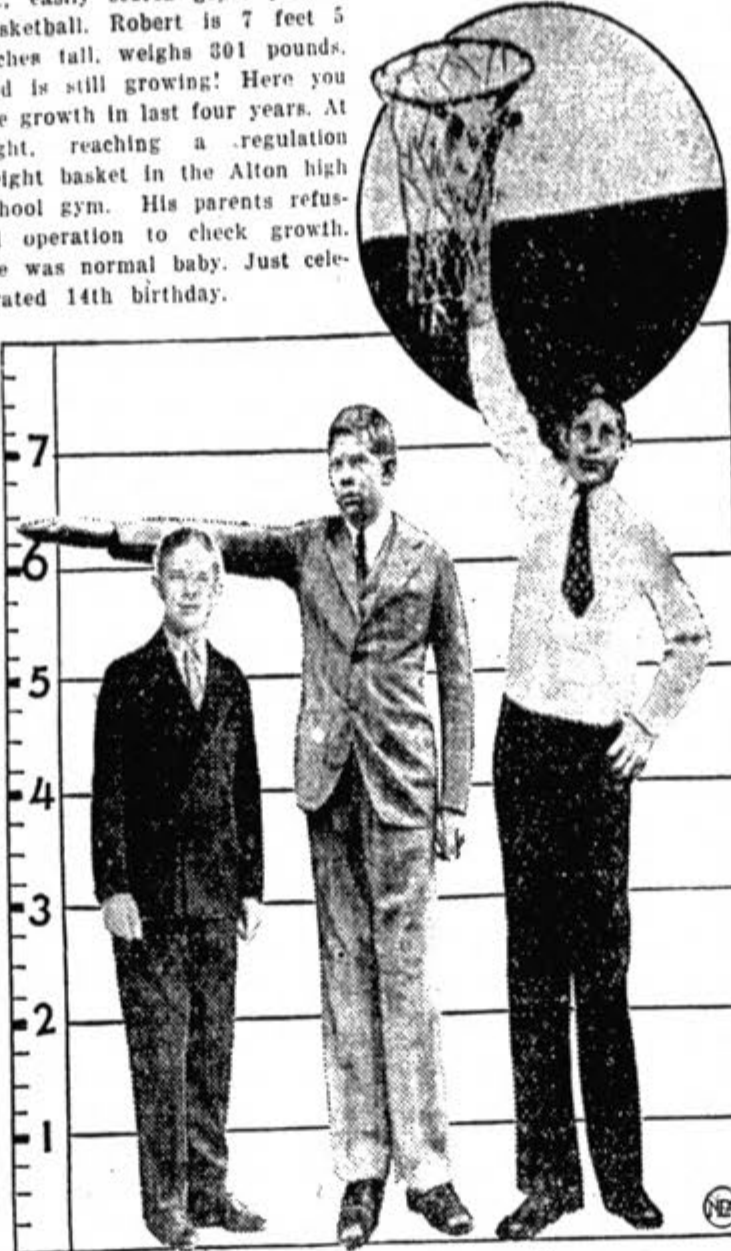

BASHFUL ADONIS

CHOICE OF 10,000 NAB CLEVELAND'S "PUBLIC ENEMY" NO. 1

Ten thousand students can't be wrong, and everybody will agree that they had a pretty fair reason for selecting Virginia Carlyle, above, as queen of the "Big C Sirkus," a quadrennial event at the University of California. She's an art student, and is petite, dimpled, blond and blue-eyed.

For months he'd played hide-and-seek with the law. He'd even had his nose remodeled and his hair dyed in an effort to escape arrest on murder and robbery charges. But the game was up for "Smiling Joe" Filkowsky when this picture was taken, showing Cleveland's "Public Enemy No. 1" (center) manacled to Cleveland detectives who captured him on a New York street. Though known as one of the middle west's most dangerous gunmen, he was taken without a shot being fired.

CARDINAL HAYES IN SOUTHLAND

OHIO GUNMAN'S SWEETHEART HELD

Defiantly claiming entire ownership of $60,000 in jewels found in her New York apartment, Mrs. Mary Keck, alleged sweetheart of "Smiling Joe" Filkowsky, insisted that the Cleveland desperado knew nothing about them. The gems were identified as part of the loot in a recent robbery. Mrs. Keck is shown above after Filkowsky sought on murder and robbery charges for more than two years—and she had been arrested in New York.

YOUNGEST EARL IN ENGLAND

No, he isn't dressed up for a costume party. This 8-year-old boy is entitled to wear his fancy suit with knee-breeches and pumps all the year round, for he's the Earl of Gainsborough—and the youngest earl in England. His great-great-grandfather wore just such an outfit in 1840, when he received the title.

IT'S LEAP YEAR—SO WOMEN RULE!

To celebrate the extra day that February carries in Leap year, women took command of the city in Aurora, Ill., for 24 hours. "Mayor" Mildred Pratt (seated) is shown giving orders to Dorothy Ward, chief of police for the day.

KUNNEL DEMPSEY

No the governor of Kentucky said to the ex-governor of Maui, "How'd you like to be a colonel on my staff?" And Jack Dempsey the old Mauler, said, "It's kayo by me, Gov" and here he is, Colonel William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey, a fine-old southern colonel from Kaintuck.

Denies Engagement

As she sailed for a vacation in Hawaii, Lily Damita (above) film actress, denied she was engaged to Sydney Smith, New York broker, although he was aboard the same liner.

SORE THROAT? NO, NEW FASHION

Flaxen-haired Joan Marsh of the movies doesn't have a sore throat, as you might suspect. She's only showing off a fashionable new asort tie of red and brown and white. Her new spring chapeau is of rough brown straw.

"TYPICAL YOUTH" SINGER NOW

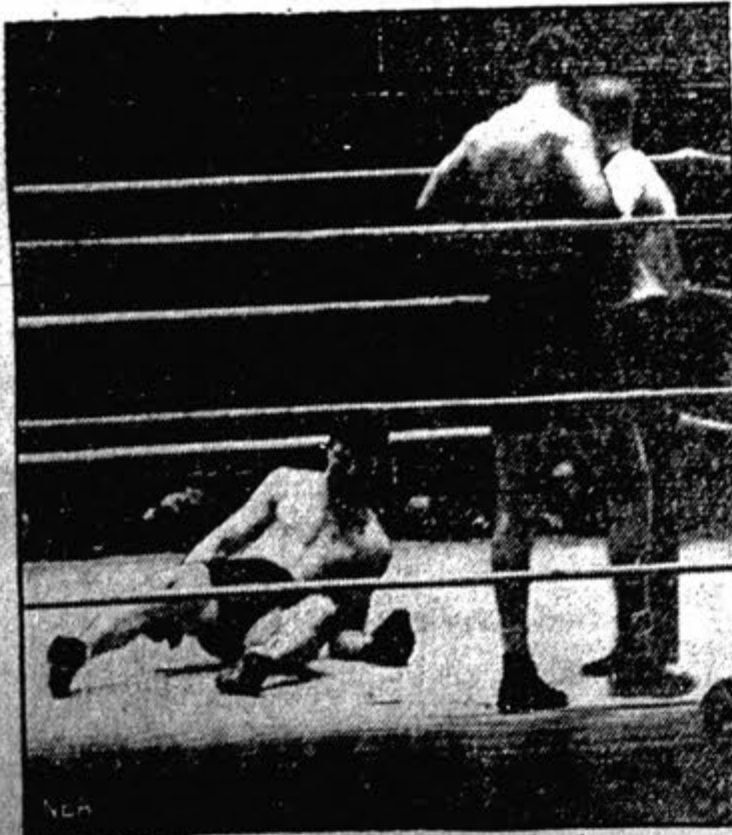

By NEA Service
When a typical American boy grows up, he becomes a tenor in a trio, plays football and spends part of his time working in motion pictures. At least that's what happened to Jack Parker of Los Angeles, Calif., whose portrait was once displayed throughout the nation as a typical youth. Several years ago, the National Bureau of Education sent Norman Rockwell on an excursion to find and paint an "inspirational" picture for students competing in a nation-wide essay contest. He chose Jack Parker, then 13, as the typical American youth. The artist pictured the boy at work on an essay entitled, "The Father of My Country."

Now Parker at 19 is heading towards a film career and sings very well. He was a gridiron athlete during school days.

TODAY IN SPORTS

WHEN SCHAAF BEAT STRIBLING

Just before this picture was taken, Ernie SchAAF's swishing right hand landed flush on the whiskers of Young Stribling, in the fourth round of their ten-round bout in Chicago. The bell saved Stribling from a knockout. The bout was regarded as the most important heavyweight battle of the year, giving SchAAF a claim to Terry, his star first baseman.

AT THE SPEEDY JOURNEY'S END

"It was easy," said Sir Malcolm Campbell after his supercar Bluebird had bulleted over the sand of Daytona Beach, Fla., at nearly 254 miles an hour. But was it? Look at the drawn tense lines in the face of the nervous British driver as he appears in this picture, taken immediately after the recent run which beat his own former world speed mark of 245 miles an hour.

MCCARTHY SEES YANKS IN FIRST DRILL

OLYMPIC HOPE

An outstanding candidate for Uncle Sam's Olympic team of leather pushers is Eddie Flynn, above, national amateur welterweight champion and student at Loyola university of the South in New Orleans. Flynn has gone to the wars 121 times and has yet to drop his first decision. The Dixie scrapper recently was exonerated of charges that he fought professionally following a rigid investigation by southern A. A. U. officials.

MCGRAW HEARS ABOUT GIANTS FROM AIDE

"How do they look, Dave?" John McGraw must have asked. And Dave Bancroft, first aide to the master mind of the New York Giants, probably said, "Fine." Anyhow, this is the first look McGraw had of his 1932 battery staff assembled at Wrigley park. Los Angeles, the new Giants training camp. The New York pilot had been delayed by a trip into New Orleans, where he signed Bill Terry, his star first baseman.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL DO IT!

When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged—never forced. That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It's especially made for children's organs; contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria. The children's own remedy. Genuine Castoria always has the name: Cast. Thibier

Eight Local Men Employed in Work On Legion Cottage

Approximately eight local men are now being employed in remodeling the old home economies building which in the future will be known as the Legion Memorial cottage. A crew of six men, in charge of Charles Passenheim, local contractor, began work on tearing down the partitions Saturday immediately after the signing of the contracts. R. D. Curley, who secured the plumbing, heating, and ventilating contract has also commenced his work.

When the building is completed a month hence it will present a fine appearance. The exterior will be in old colonial style with a pillared porch, interior finishings will be in rough pine.

Plans for the new cottage were drawn by St. Clair Pardee, who will supervise all work on the structure. Interior plans show a lobby, two ward rooms, a Boy Scout room and a club room in the wings, a large room which may be used for dining, dancing, or theatre purposes, and a kitchen in the rear. A portable stage will be obtained for use in the rear of the building. Toilet facilities for both men and women will be located in the basement.

Flu Epidemic Hits School Attendance

The recent epidemic of influenza prevailing in the city has hit school attendance records quite severely. School officials estimate that from 15 to 20 per cent of children in the public schools have been afflicted with the flu and severe cold.

All the way from 70 to 90 students have been absent from high school during the first three days of the week with Wednesday's absent list totaling 91. The average number of daily absentees is approximately 15. Thirty-nine pupils were reported absent at the Lincoln school Wednesday.

While a comparatively large number of persons have been subjected to the flu, all of the cases are mild and of about three or four days duration.

Car License Sales Only Slightly Less Than for Year 1931

Applications for car licenses came pouring in so fast Monday, the last day on which the old plates could be used, that the number of plates secured this year is only slightly under the amount purchased up to the corresponding period last year.

On February 28, 1931, the final day on which old plates could be used, 869 passenger licenses were obtained while on the final day this year sales on passenger plates amounted to 780, a difference of 89. One hundred and eight-nine truck licenses were secured for the corresponding date last year as compared to 150 for 1932.

On Tuesday the office of the county clerk reported 55 additional passenger license sales and 13 commercial plate sales.

Eskymos vs. Menominee; Kingsford vs. Iron Mt.

'STIQUE QUINT BEATEN, 18-16

Long Shot in Last Minute Gives Flivvers Victory Margin

With the preliminary battle out of the way, the Class B district basketball tournament here swings into top speed tonight with Iron Mountain playing Kingsford in the first game of the evening and Escanaba playing Menominee in the night's finale. Last night Kingsford defeated Manistique in a thrilling battle, 18 to 16.

In defeating the Schoolcrafters for the right to play Iron Mountain tonight, Trenary of Kingsford clinaxed the battle in the last minutes of play by shooting from way back of the three-quarter mark and tossed the sphere into the basket far down the other end of the court for the field goal that shoved the Flivvers ahead just before the gun barked. Trenary's heave was so true that the ball zipped through the mesh without touching the hoop.

Although last night's crowd was nothing to brag about, the games tonight and tomorrow pack enough interest to crowd the hall to the doors. Tournament Manager John Lemmer announced last evening that many good reserved seats are still available for the remaining two nights of the tournament.

Nordberg Warns
Escanaba and Iron Mountain are regarded as probable winners tonight. The Eskymos have twice won from Menominee, their opponents tonight, and the Mountaineers have also twice defeated Kingsford. However, fans from all around will probably be in town tonight to watch the evening's hostilities and get prepared for the expected battle royal of Saturday night when the Eskymos and Mountaineers meet for the second time this season with a championship at stake.

Although the Eskymos found little trouble with the Maroons two weeks ago, Coach Nordberg has issued a warning to his squad to be careful of a letup in their work, pointing to Menominee's 17 to 12 victory over Kingsford as proof of the potency of the McCann machine. If the sharpshooters are permitted to gather a full head of steam.

The Kingsford-Manistique battle was a game of inconsistencies. Kingsford took the lead in the first and second periods while the Manistique offense lay dormant during these periods.

In the third period, the Manistique powerhouse began to click and the Schoolcrafters ran up ten points while Kingsford stood by and wondered what it was all about.

Kingsford came back in the fourth period to erase the Manistique advantage and then with a minute to play, Trenary made his sensational shot that won the ball game.

In the preliminary, the Escanaba Reserves lost to the senior home room honor roll team, 15 to 14.

VULCAN BEATS STEPHENSON 5

Parochials to Play Rock Tonight; Norway Meets Purgolds

Gladstone, Mar. 3 (Special)—St. Joseph and Vulcan stayed into the championship bracket of the Class C tournament here tonight as the result of victories in first round competition. St. Joseph broke a long string of Gladstone victories by defeating the crippled Kellmen squad, 24 to 15, while Vulcan emerged victorious over Stephenson in the first game of the evening, 23 to 9.

Vulcan found little difficulty turning back the challenge of the Steves and they coasted along to victory with ease behind the sharpshooting of Gironimi, Boniti, and Vicini.

The Escanaba Parochials displayed a versatile attack in defeating the Class C champions of 1931. Paying without the services of Damitz and Janke, regulars, the boys were unable to put up an exceptionally strong front against the St. Joseph quintet except in the first period when the score was 8 to 7 in favor of the Parochials. The visitors took a commanding lead in the second period and held it to the end of the game.

St. Joseph vs. Rock
The St. Joseph scoring was well divided with no player getting more than two field goals. Tomorrow Norway, picked by most experts as the probable tournament winner, will play Vulcan and St. Joseph will oppose Rock. Norway reported a sick list of seven men yesterday and it is not known just how many of these men will be ready to don suits against the Purgolds tonight. The Vikings are favored to win, even if Coach Kerr has to buy a carload of crutches for his players' use.

Norway vs. Vulcan
The St. Joseph-Rock game is another matter. The teams did not meet this season so the critics are scratching their heads trying to dope it out. Both lost to Gladstone in the pre-tournament games. The Parochials probably will be at a disadvantage as the result of having a game on a previous night and also because they were pointing for Gladstone and may suffer the usual letdown that follows a game when a team points for victory over an opponent.

Walker Hits Ball Over Stanford Wall
Palo Alto, Cal., Mar. 3 (AP)—Gerald Walker, survivor of the Walker brothers outfield act on the Detroit Tigers, justified Manager Bucky Harris' retention of his services today by walloping one of Tommy Bridges' pitches over the 460-foot distant wall of the Stanford university sunken playing field today. Dale Alexander is the only player ever to perform the feat.

To prove it was no fluke, he slammed the next pitch against the top of the wall and the third to the base of the barrier. Harvey Walker was sent to the International League by the Tigers this winter.

Gerald Walker overheard Harris bemoaning the absence of Ken Strong, International league recruit, for the training season and the lack of hard hitters among the outfield candidates. That was last night.

Walker immediately let it be known that he intended to show that there was no dearth of batting material in camp even in the absence of the Toronto recruit. So he was swinging for a home run each time Bridges pitched.

Dempsey Fails to Kago Opponents; Boomed by Crowd
Cincinnati, March 3 (AP)—Jack Dempsey tackled two more opponents on his comeback path tonight, failed to knock out either of them and got a chorus of boos from the crowd.

George Trenkle, Oklahoma heavyweight, took Dempsey's offerings in a two round exhibition without trouble. Ray Vanzke 210 pounder from Chicago, found the going tougher and was on the verge of being knocked out at the end of the second and final round.

Dempsey entered the ring still showing traces of a slight cold that has bothered him in the past few days. He weighed in at 193.

RIGORS OF BIG LEAGUE TRAINING

So this is spring training! You'd think 35-year-old Bing Miller might have outgrown his leapfrog days. But here's proof that he hasn't. MANY TO ENTER BOWLING MEET

Escanaba Determined to Capture Tournament For 1933

About one hundred Escanaba bowlers will compete in the annual tournament of the upper peninsula bowling association, which will be held at Marquette March 27 to April 17. It was announced yesterday by Carl J. Sawyer of this city.

Escanaba will make a bid for the 1933 tournament, and since the selection of tournament sites is made on the basis of the votes cast by competing bowlers, an effort is being made to organize a large delegation from this city. All Escanaba league teams will go to Marquette, and in addition there will be teams formed among non-league players.

It is expected that about five hundred bowlers will compete at Marquette. Each bowler is entitled to one vote for each event he enters, and Escanaba bowlers are confident that with the help of Manistique, Gladstone, Menominee and other cities that have pledged support they will be able to corral enough votes to land the tournament for 1933.

Officers of the upper peninsula bowling association are: President, A. F. Sheldon, Marquette; first vice president, C. M. Garmon, Marquette; second vice president, C. J. Sawyer, Escanaba; third vice president, L. Meisner, Menominee; fourth vice president, Walter Vandeweghe; fifth vice president, E. C. Braull, Manistique and secretary-treasurer, Eugene Short, Marquette.

Olympic Prospects To Be Seen During U. of M. Track Meet

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 2 (AP)—Spectators at the triangular track and field meet at Yost field house Saturday night will have the opportunity to see several strong prospects for the 1932 U. S. Olympic team in action. University of Michigan will host the Ohio State and Illinois track teams, and each of the three has at least one or two star performers who are looked to represent the United States in the games at Los Angeles next summer.

Capt. Ed Russell, Wolverine quarter miler, and Ned Turner, half miler, are considered the class of the Western Conference in the events. Last Saturday night Russell in winning the 300-yard run at the State A. A. U. meet was timed at 31.6, which would have won at the National A. A. U. meet any time during the past four years. Turner did 1,000 yards in 2:17.5, excellent time for his first try at the distance.

Jack Keller, hurdler, is Ohio State's chief hope for the Olympic tryouts, and Dean Woolsey, Illinois miler, has been clocked at 4:17.

Michigan is doped to win the triangular meet, but times and distances of all contestants will be watched with interest for their bearing on the Big Ten meet a week later.
