DRY QUESTION TO BE ARGUED IN CONVENTION

HURLEY MISQUOTED IN CHICAGO, HE ASSERTS

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, Mar. 18 (AP)—Prohibition continued to stir in Capitol Hall today in the wake of quotations attributed to Secretary Hurley in Chicago last night that the Republican national convention in June would adopt a "more liberal" attitude toward the liquor question.

"When I want to speak in quotations, the words will be mine and not what someone else supposes I have said. I did not mention prohibition in my address in Chicago nor did I mention it anywhere else for publication."

Hurley was quoted as telling an interviewer, "a great many people are going to look for the wet candidates on the ballots next November, and eventually I think the prohibition question will be settled on the basis of state's rights."

Republican dry leaders at the capitol expect anti-prohibition delegations to make a fight at Chicago for a wet plank in the national platform, probably with greater vigor than ever before, but they doubt it will succeed.

Senator Borah today stood by the previous proposal that this plank would be similar to the rigid enforcement party declaration of four years ago.

Senator Smoot of Utah elected to stay out of the pre-convention prohibition dispute, but he and Borah, both strict drys, will have considerable influence in the convention resolutions committee if they go to Chicago in the same capacities they held in 1928.

Generally, the dry party leaders said they would dominate the situation unless something unforeseen happens meantime.

With the revival of the wet talk has come a report that some members of the national committee feel Vice President Curtis should be supplanted as a running mate for President Hoover by a man with more "liberal" views on prohibition to attract the eastern vote.

Neither did David W. Mulvane, of Topeka, Republican national committeeman from Kansas.

Sales Tax Issue Suffers Reverses

'Gamest Kid' Loses Battle With Disease

BY CHARLES LANG Syracuse, N. Y., Mar. 18 (AP)—Clarence Hastings, who had been known here as "the gamest kid in America," died today after a struggle of 177 days against infantile paralysis.

The disease, attacking him last September, paralyzed his respiratory organs so that the only way of keeping him alive was by hurrying him to city hospital here and placing him in a respirator. He had remained there since with only his head free, but always with a smile for his attendants and visitors.

Tuesday last another handicap was added, for the doctors had to operate on him for an abdominal obstruction. It was a life-or-death matter. He amazed them and his nurses even after that by his will to win.

Many Telegrams "I'm going to fight this thing," he said the following day. Clarence of the freckled-face, Clarence of the blue eyes and blond hair, Clarence who smiled his infectious smile almost to the very end, turned his head in the respirator this morning and addressed a nurse:

"Please shut off the machines. They're making too much noise." And then he died.

A few minutes later a telegram of encouragement was received from Bert Acosta, trans-Atlantic flier, and Townsend McAllister, another aviator.

There had been a good many telegrams like that, and thousands of letters and cards since Kate Smith, singer, told people all the way across the country about him. One day there were two mail sacks full of communications—more than any one else in the city received.

Mayor Rudolph G. Tenerowicz and two police officials of Detroit's "internal affairs" were convicted of conspiracy to protect vice, along with a man described by state witnesses as a vice ring chieftain, by a verdict of a circuit court jury early tonight.

Besides Tenerowicz, the men convicted are Police Chief Harry K. Wurmskerken, Police Captain Joseph Rupinski and Jacob Kaplan, the alleged vice ring head.

RATES ON BIG INCOMES FIXED AT WAR PEAKS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18 (AP)—The rate of the new billion dollar revenue bill was shrouded deeper in doubt tonight when the Republicans failed to agree on the manufacturers' sales tax while the house leadership smarted under a defeat administered by boosters of big income tax rates.

Widely split between the regular leadership and that of Representative LaGuardia, New York independent, the Republicans wrangled for nearly three hours without taking any action on the controversial sales tax. Representative Snell of New York, the party floor leader, however, gave the opinion that a majority of his party would support the measure intact.

Foes Score Victories Speaker Garner appealed to his colleagues in a statement to pass a bill to balance the 1933 budget. It was followed by one from Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee declaring he would oppose any effort to send the bill back to committee.

Garner said balancing the budget was the most important matter before congress and added "how best to do it is debatable."

Bi-partisan opponents to the sales tax scored two victories today in forcing the house to accept the wartime surtax rates on incomes of $100,000 and more, and by raising the maximum normal rates on incomes in excess of $8,000 from five to seven percent.

The battle will continue tomorrow. After the Republican conference, which was forced by the independent, Snell said LaGuardia's proposals to substitute the treasury's original program for the $600,000,000 sales tax, "is worse than the sales tax."

The two and one-quarter percent sales levy perched on a perilous peak in the house with its united bi-partisan foes victorious in boosting rates on big incomes in the new billion dollar revenue bill.

Riding rough shod over the bill's advocates, the bi-partisan anti-sales levy group showed unexpected strength and forced the wartime surtax rates on incomes of $100,000 and over into the bill, by a vote of 153 to 87, on an amendment by Representative Swing (R. Cal.).

Must Balance Budget They also increased the maximum normal income rate from five to seven percent by a vote of 121 to 81, instead of the six percent as advocated by the ways and means committee, to apply on incomes of $8,000 and over.

Two Persons Shot and Homes Are Dynamited In Anthracite Strike

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Mar. 18 (AP)—Two persons were shot, several homes were dynamited and working miners and strikers clashed frequently today as the insurgent strike of anthracite workers went into its fifth day.

State troopers moved into the section from all parts of the commonwealth. They went on patrol quickly and broke up picket squads in many places where they tried to block roads or prevent miners from going to their work.

The strike was called Monday to force equalization of working times among all the mines. It was denounced by the executive board of districts 1, 7 and 9, meeting in Hazleton late this afternoon as a "suicidal move that would cripple the anthracite industry."

Great Violence Several authoritative sources indicate that 12,000 to 14,000 men are out in district 1, around Wilkes Barre and Scranton, and 2,000 more in district 9, around Pottsville and Shenandoah.

Greatest violence occurred in the Scranton-Wilkes Barre area. Joseph Pryowski, 6, and Julius Golembowski, 50, were shot and slightly wounded by Nicholas Gumbo, 14, when a crowd of strike sympathizers tried to mob his father, John Gumbo, on his way to work in North Scranton.

The lad, fearful of the mob, rushed back home, grabbed a shotgun and opened fire into the crowd. The Pryowski boy was shot in the arm and shoulder and Golembowski in the left hip. Young Gumbo was arrested.

Several homes were dynamited in Wyoming, Duryea and Taylor. Bricks were hurled through windows of four homes in Port Griffith. Attached were notes threatening dynamiting if their owners did not cease work.

No one was hurt in any of the four towns. Eleven autos were waylaid and stoned on the Port Griffith-Sebastopol road. Flat fights were common as pickets tried unsuccessfully to rush workers on the way to mines.

District 9 was comparatively quiet, the outbreaks there being confined to occasional fist fights. The district was being thoroughly patrolled by a squad of 60 state troopers under Captain S. W. Gerhart, who moved in late last night from the West Reading barracks.

POLICE TRAIL ALL CLUES TO BLIND ALLEYS

LINDY PINS HOPES ON PRIVATE INVESTIGATORS

BL ROBT J. CAVAGNARO (Ass'd Press Staff Writer) Hopewell, N. J., Mar. 18 (AP)—While state police and city detectives were wearily tracking down every vague tip that cropped up in the 17-day-old Lindbergh kidnaping case, there were indications tonight Colonel Lindbergh himself is still pinning a hope on the activity of his confidential agents.

In his closely guarded home frequent conferences have been held this week between Col. Henry Breckinridge, Lindbergh's counsel and close friend; John J. Fogarty, crack New York detective brought into the case by Breckinridge, and Morris Rosner, undercover emissary for the flier.

The colonel himself has presided at all of them. Authorities directing the official search for the kidnapers have been barred. Rosner has been making frequent trips to points a considerable distance from the estate, but he returns at least daily to make reports.

These facts were learned tonight as a fresh batch of clues seemed to be leading the official investigators where all others have led—into blind alleys.

Probe New Theory A burglary suspect in Idaho first said he drove the kidnaping car, and later repudiated the statement.

A new theory was projected from Baltimore (Md.) police said the two Newark detectives had been working on a tip the kidnaped baby was in the hands of a couple who had substituted it for their own child.

They said they believed the parents' real child may have been taken to Europe on the Baltimore mail liner City of Baltimore, which left for Havre the day after the abduction.

Their theory is that by switching the two infants in this fashion, the Lindbergh child could be held by the couple without arousing suspicion.

INDIAN PLEADS SELF DEFENSE

Apache Brave Says Miss Schmerler Attacked Him With Knife

Globe, Ariz., March 18 (AP)—Mac (Golney) Seymour, young Apache Indian, told a federal court jury today that he was not guilty of the slaying of Henrietta Schmerler, New York co-ed, after the girl gave him liquor and attacked him.

Stolidly he related how he had drunk beer and tulapai, Indian liquor, with Robert Gatewood, his brother-in-law, before going to Miss Schmerler's cabin to take her to a dance the night of July 18.

In the afternoon he said he also went to her cabin and she gave him a drink of water. He started to go away, but she called to him: "Come here; I want to tell you something."

He testified the young woman, who was a student at Columbia University, and a visitor on the White River reservation studying the life of the Apaches, told him she wished to borrow a horse. He told her he did not have one other than his own. She suggested that he let her ride to the dance with him on his horse.

Gave Him Whiskey "Indians are married when ride one horse. I not like do that with you," Seymour, who is married, testified he told her.

As he tarried before the cabin, he said, she invited him to come within, saying: "I will give you a drink." He went in and she gave him a cigarette.

Soon, he related, she held out a glass of whiskey and said: "You know this." He told her he did not know what it was. She told him to drink it.

After he swallowed the whiskey, he said she again pressed him to take her to the dance on his horse and he consented. She rode in the saddle and he rode beside her.

BALLAD SINGER

Great Ballad Singer Is Taken by Death at Monte Carlo

Monte Carlo, March 18. (AP)—Chauncey Olcott, who was singing Irish ballads when Union Square was the heart of New York, died here today after a long illness. He would have been seventy-two in July.

Back in 1888 he and Denman Thompson were packing them in for "The Old Homestead." That show ran two years, an almost unprecedented run even in those times, and Chauncey Olcott, who started in only a minor part, was co-starring before the run was over.

Denman Thompson was the whole show when it opened and Olcott was just a tenor in a quartette which sang "The Palms." The audiences went wild and thereafter the tenor was as great an attraction as the star.

He was born in Buffalo, but he was almost more Irish than American.

Retired in 1919 After "The Old Homestead" he became the great ballad singer the world remembers now. Sometime or other he introduced "My Wild Irish Rose," and wherever he went thereafter, no matter what the play he was in, he had to sing that song. "Mother March" was another of his favorites, and his repertoire included every Irish song familiar to the quartettes.

He played with the old light opera and minstrel companies and in 1897 married Margaret O'Donovan of San Francisco. Then he went to England for a year or so and when he came back he was one of the favorites of the American stage.

CONFESSES HE SLEW FIVE IN WEST VIRGINIA

GOES TO ETERNITY WITH SMILE ON PUDGY FACE

BY L. R. LINDGREN, (Ass'd Press Staff Writer) Moundsville, W. Va., Mar. 18 (AP)—With an unconcerned smile flickering across his pudgy face, Harry F. Powers, the mountain "Bluebeard," who slew two women and three children, went to his death on the gallows tonight.

The trap was sprung at 9 p. m., and Powers was pronounced dead by four physicians at 9:11.

Powers was hanged for the slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., divorcee, but a few minutes after he had plunged to his death, Dr. H. H. Haynes, Clarksburg physician, announced that Powers had confessed that he also killed Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher and her three children of Park Ridge, Ill.

The bodies of all five victims were found in a ditch near Powers' queerly-built "chamber of horrors" garage on his wife's deserted farm in Sylvan Quiet Dell.

In a 50,000 word statement, which he wrote in longhand after being removed to the state prison in September, Powers admitted he buried his victims where they were found.

Walks Unaided The Lohrberg of the hills, who made love to his victims through a Detroit correspondence club, was on the verge of a nervous collapse an hour before he went to his death, but he quickly regained his composure and his death escort found him sitting quietly in his cell.

Powers walked with a firm step, unassisted, to the gallows. There, with the blue curtain shielding him from the gaze of those who had come to see him die, he shook hands and bade farewell to the officials and their aides gathered about the noose.

Shortly before the hands of the prison clock reached 9, the curtain was drawn aside. There was grimace on his flabby face as his large white eyes roved to Sheriff W. B. Grimm of Harrison county.

Quisically he gazed at Warden A. C. Scroggins. He was pale, but still apparently unmoved.

A Book A Day

By Bruce Catton

There aren't very many empty spaces on the map any more. The man who finds one, and goes across unexplored territory to see what it is like, ought to be able to write an uncommonly interesting book when he gets back. Bertram Thomas is such a man. He went across the emptiest and most desolate part of Arabia, over mountains and deserts where no European had ever been; and his "Arabia Felix" is his record of the trip. But it isn't, somehow, quite the book one expects. To be sure, it is a scholarly, well-written bit of work. The author is vivid in his descriptions of the tremendous stretches of barren sand and rock which his party crossed. He is exact and scientific in his discussion of the wild tribesmen he encountered. His text is illustrated with a great many very excellent photographs. But the spark of genius that touches the writings of such Arabian travelers as Doughty, Burton and Lawrence just isn't there. Mr. Thomas is better as an explorer than as a writer. That isn't to say that you won't find the book interesting. You will. It is to the writer's credit that he has popularized his subject without sacrificing those qualities that give it scientific value. You will follow him across Arabia, when you read it, with keen delight. But the journey won't be a great emotional and intellectual experience.

COURT ENJOINS HEAVY BONUSES

Profit Sharing Policy of Tobacco Company Temporarily Halted

New York, Mar. 18 (AP)—The profit sharing policy of the American Tobacco Company, which in 1930 brought its president, George W. Hill, a compensation of $2,383,000, was halted at least temporarily by an injunction granted today by Federal Judge Francis C. Caffey.

The decision barred the payment of the "bonuses" pending litigation "either for 1931 or for any subsequent year."

The profit sharing plan, adopted in July, 1930, brought millions of dollars into the hands of vice presidents of the company in addition to President Hill. It made Hill one of the nation's "million dollar a year executives" with an income for 1930 that was said to be the largest compensation on record for a corporation executive.

Officials of the American Tobacco Company promptly issued a brief comment on the ruling.

"In response to inquiry," they said, "officials of the American Tobacco Company called attention to Judge Caffey's statement that his impressions were only tentative and not final and said that they concurred with the court's views as to the desirability of procuring an early authoritative ruling on the by-law (of the company) by the circuit court of appeals."

"Duly Authorized"

Most of the payments for 1931, when the company earnings aggregated $46,189,741, or $19.07 a share, are reported already to have been made. The 1930 earnings, when Hill received the immense compensation, were less—$43,294,769, or $8.56 a share.

Judge Caffey, in his decision, did not pass on motions made by Richard Reed Rogers, a minority stockholder, to require the company's officers to account for payments already made to them.

Rogers, in instituting the action 14 months ago, charged the officers and directors with perpetrating a plan to pay themselves a $30,000,000 bonus through purchase of stock at $25 a share. President Hill six months later asserted the subscription plan was "duly authorized" at a meeting of stockholders in July, 1930. The $25 a share they were asked to pay for it allegedly was in comparison with a market price of $112.

OLCOTT, NOTED ACTOR, PASSES

that the end was near. Only the adopted daughter was with him when he died.

Mrs. Olcott said she would call for home March 22 from Ville-Franche and that the funeral home would be held at St. Patrick's cathedral New York on the day of her arrival or the next day.

A little home in Sutton Place, New York, was "Lucky House" to Chaney Olcott. It was so named because the actor was brought there in a dying condition in 1920 and quickly recovered.

Again when he became seriously ill in Ann Arbor, Mich., in the winter of 1925, while touring with a play, a physician said he was at death's door, his wife had him removed to "Lucky House." Ten days later, Olcott was able to take a walk.

"A wonderful thing has happened to me," he said. "Even my physician says my recovery is a miracle. All my friends began praying for me. Many priests throughout the country offered up mass on Sunday for my recovery. And now their prayers have been answered. There's no doubt in my mind at all that I have been healed through the miracle of prayer."

The actor also attributed his recovery to the healing qualities of his wife's hands. He displayed a marble reproduction of the hands and remarked he would not "take a million dollars" for it.

"My wife's hands are like butterflies and the sculptor has caught the spirit of healing and the soul in them," he said. "My wife, by the way, is a seventh daughter and her parents were of the same last name. It is an old belief that those born under these conditions, possess the power of healing in their hands."

Although Olcott made his greatest appeal to the American public as a singer of Irish ballads and comic opera roles, it was as a member of a minstrel troupe that he made his first appearance on the stage.

VALERA'S LIFE STORY IS TOLD

heads of the crowd and made de Valera prisoner. For a long time he was kept in prison by Free State authorities. They were afraid to shoot him on a charge of treason in view of the feeling in temperamental Ireland, and they were also afraid to turn him loose to agitate. So he was simply detained in prison for a long time—until his scattered bands dissolved.

Released, de Valera soon became politically active again, as he still held his old position as president of the Sinn Fein party.

Drastic Measures
In 1927, Kevin O'Higgins, vice president of the Free State executive council, was assassinated by gunmen. The government, unable to trace the authorship of the crime, passed a drastic public safety act which declared all revolutionary societies treasonable and authorized the death penalty.

De Valera tried to defeat this bill, but lost by a narrow margin. De Valera's party also fought an effort to defeat a bill requiring every member of the Dail (including Republicans) to take an oath of allegiance to the Free State constitution. They lost and, upon taking the oath, announced that it was merely an "empty formula" and would in no wise bind their actions.

In the Sixth Dail, de Valera's efforts to repeal the safety act were defeated by the scant majority of six votes. In the following year he led an unsuccessful movement for abolition of the oath of allegiance.

And so the man who had been sentenced to be shot, whose life had been spared after a plea to President Wilson based on his American birth, who had made perhaps the most dramatic jail break in history, who had spent many weary months in prison, who had lived as a phantom in the Tipperary hills while hunted as an outlaw and who had dreamed of becoming the George Washington of his country—this man continued his fight and gradually returned to power.

Forms New Party

Leaving the Sinn Fein party, which recently assailed him, he launched the newer Flanna Fail party upon which he rode to victory when he defeated President William T. Cosgrave, of the Free State, in the recent election. The vote was close—which seems to be typical of all votes in Ireland where political rivalries are keen, hatreds deep and bitter, and wrongs of centuries ago burn as deep as though they had occurred only yesterday.

In stating his case for American audiences, de Valera has put it this way:

"If England, in 1780, had sent word that the colonies might, with the consent of the king, establish a 'free state' within the British realm and subject its administration to a constitution imposed by the British government, what answer would Washington and Franklin and Jefferson and Adams have returned? They would have refused it, wouldn't they? After their struggle for complete independence they would have accepted nothing less."

De Valera's Ambition

And so, this American-born son of a Spanish father and an Irish mother, is today's human symbol of Ireland's 700-year fight to break the bonds of British rule. He still hopes, no doubt, to achieve his dream of becoming president of the "Irish Republic," which has never yet existed save between quotation marks and in retreat before British bayonets.

There is something about this dark-haired, dark-eyed man whose features have a strong Castilian cast that reminds one of Spain's most romantic character, Shaw Desmond once described him as: "That modern Don Quixote, who sometimes breaks his ghostly spears on ghostlier windmills."

Yet, there have been several times in his 45 years when it was said that four of every five Irishmen were prepared to die for him and the cause he championed. Whether the old days of fire and blood will return as he continues his struggle for freedom is a question that only the future can answer.

Plunges To Death
The prison chaplain, E. M. Gleesey, who remained with Powers through most of his last hours, began his prayer.

"We commit 'Harry Powers' soul to thee and ask that you pardon his sins," chanted the clergyman.

But Powers, blinking in the scaffold light, seemed not to heed the word of the chaplain.

The death cap was adjusted and it was 9 o'clock.

Somewhere nearby Deputy C. E. Brill, captain of the guards, pressed a button that flashed the death signal to attendants stationed at three electric switches.

Each pressed a button, none knowing which sprung the trap. Powers plunged to his death.

Dr. Haynes and Sheriff Grimm, in announcing that Powers had confessed all five slayings, said the long statement would be "sold to the highest bidder."

The physician explained that the proceeds would reimburse him for financial aid he gave Powers during his legal fight to evade death on the gallows. They refused to amplify the statement that Powers had admitted the killings.

Feeling ran high in Clarksburg after the finding of the bodies and Powers was removed to the old stone jail in that city a few days after his arrest.

In September a large crowd gathered late at night about the prison and demanded Powers be delivered for lynching. He was hustled off to the state prison here and it was soon afterward that he began penning the confession opened tonight a few minutes after his death.

Powers' body was not claimed by his widow, and will be buried in a few days in the prison cemetery field, in dismal Tom's Run valley.

Powers was moved to tears today when the last letter from his wife, Mrs. Luella Strother Powers, of Clarksburg, was read.

Mrs. Powers, who was wooed and won by mail—as were Mrs. Lemke and Mrs. Eicher—told her husband in her farewell letter that she loves him and said "I don't know how I am to live through the terrible punishment."

Mrs. Powers wrote the letter in bed. She has been ill since the Lothario was arrested.

"I am heartbroken and so distressed I can hardly live," she wrote. "Oh, I think it is terrible to give you up under such circumstances. Oh, Harry dear, may God have mercy on you and when you are through with the trials and troubles in this life may you have a home in Heaven where there is no sorrow and some sweet day I will come to see you, dear, and live forever with you."

hind. "When we started she kissed me," he said. "Whiskey she had in flask we drank as went along." He said she embraced him again after they had ridden a short distance and they stopped then to have another drink.

Seymour said they dismounted in the ravine, where her body ultimately was found. The whiskey made him sick and she became angry, hitting him with a rock. He flung it back at her and she drew a knife, advancing upon him. He dodged and she tried to stab his horse.

"I caught her wrist from behind; wrestled with her; don't know how long; I was drunk. I took knife and threw it away. She went toward where I threw knife; I went to horse and made horse travel fast away from her." He said he did not see her again.

Adolf Hitler Says Nazis Anticipated Raids In Prussia

Berlin, March 18 (AP)—People were beginning to doubt tonight that yesterday's dramatic raids on 170 national socialist meeting places in Prussia and elsewhere would result in the sensational revelations which some had expected.

Adolf Hitler himself said he had been expecting something like this for a long time and it was hardly likely that any really important party documents would be left around where a surprise raid would seize them.

General Wilhelm Groener, the minister of the interior, issued a guarded statement tonight to the effect that reports about Hitler's mobilization plans were old news to him but that he would examine all the seized documents nevertheless.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Name Omitted—In the junior high school honor roll, published in the Press Friday, the name of Marian Bichler was omitted from the list of Grade 9 honor students. She has a BBBB rating.

Wrong Organist—Miss Eva Cossette, instead of Mrs. F. Hlra as stated in the Press yesterday, was the organist at the Bergman funeral in Bark River.

Recovers From Fall—Mrs. Charles Girard of Powers, former Escanaba resident who was injured ten days ago when she fell at her home, is reported to be recovering. Mrs. Girard slipped on the ice and although no bones were fractured she was badly shaken up and bruised and was confined to her bed for a week.

Roofs Burned—Two fire calls resulting from chimney sparks on roofs were answered by the Escanaba fire department Friday. One came at 8 a. m. from 820 Second avenue south and another at 11:20 from 331 North Nineteenth. Damage was limited to roofs at both places.

Receive Death Message—Jacob Fontanna and daughter, Miss Fern Fontanna, left Friday morning by motor for Fond du Lac where they were called by the death of Mr. Fontanna's brother, Thomas Fontanna, a pioneer resident of that city. The funeral will be held this afternoon.

Jewish Feast Monday—With the sundown on Monday, Jews in Escanaba in common with those in every part of the world will commence the celebration of Purim, the Feast of Lots. The holiday is observed for one day by all Jews. It is customary for friends and relatives to exchange gifts, while alms are given to the needy.

At the Coliseum—The Coliseum roller rink will be open this afternoon for a children's skating party from 2 to 4:30 o'clock. In this feature all children skating receive favors.

Crisp said the decision was reached because, in testimony at a secret session by treasury experts and others, the committee learned the proposed levy would "involve complicated tariff schedules."

He explained there was not time to work these out before the house is expected to act on the revenue bill.

After voting down an amendment by Representative Harlan (D. Ohio) to increase the corporate income tax from 12 to 15 percent, the house accepted the committee's recommendation of 13 percent, the additional one percent being expected to return $2,000,000.

Exemptions on incomes were reduced from $1500 to $1000 for single men and from $3500 to $2500 for married men, and the taxes were increased from one and one-half percent on the first $4000 and from three to four percent on the second $4000 and from five to seven percent on all above.

These increases with the graduated raises of surtaxes from $10,000 to $100,000 adopted, are expected to yield $112,000,000.

Mrs. Anna M. Murphy, who died recently at Elstead, Ireland, aged 100, retained all her teeth until more than 80 years old.

BRITAIN WARNS IRISH LEADER

Government Will Resent Abolition of Oath To Crown

Birmingham, Eng., March 18 (AP)—The British government tonight warned Eamon De Valera, new president of the Irish Free State, that his intention to abolish the oath of allegiance to the British crown and withhold land annuities payable to Great Britain would cause the government "the gravest concern."

The gage thrown down by De Valera was taken up by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech here. Highest government quarters let it be known that the utmost importance was to be attached to the chancellor's calm warning.

De Valera pledged himself to abolish the oath of allegiance and withhold the land annuities in the campaign which ended recently with his election as president of the Free State's national council.

Mr. Chamberlain warned that the intentions of the Irish republican leader, "if seriously pursued," would revive the bitterness between England and Ireland, which has caused much strife in the past.

Mr. Chamberlain commented that he had heard reports of what Mr. De Valera intended doing, but since there had been no official notification he assumed they were incorrect.

"But, lest there should be any doubt as to the attitude of the British government," he said, "I will say that any suggestions that the obligations or agreements solemnly entered into by the two governments could be repudiated or changed by either side as though it concerned that side alone, would cause the government the gravest concern; and if seriously pursued, would undoubtedly revive the bitterness and differences which it was hoped had been removed forever."

The oath of allegiance to the British crown is provided for in the treaty which established the Irish Free State 10 years ago. The land annuities, amounting to about $15,000,000, are collected under the treaty from Free State farmers in repayment of loans which enable them to buy out their landlords.

Abolition of the oath and suspension of the annuities were major points in De Valera's campaign platform. He contended that the oath was not mandatory and that the annuities were not legally or morally payable to Great Britain, which acted as an intermediary between the tenants and those from whom the money was borrowed.

THE DIME-A-DANCE GIRL

(By NEA Service) BY JOAN CLAYTON

CHAPTER XXXIX

SYMES looked at the white-faced girl. He cleared his throat. "It's not so bad as all that," he said awkwardly.

"It's as bad as it can possibly be," Ellen declared passionately. "That I—that I should drag Steven's name through such a scandal—"

"Now you're being foolish, my dear," the lawyer protested. "Steven was one of my closest friends; you know that. But you and I must think now of your position. That is what Steven would want us to do."

He frowned, considering the practical aspects of the matter, and then spoke again. "Unfortunately appearances count for a great deal in law," he began reluctantly.

"Appearances are against you, Steven, in his anxiety to spare you disagreeable publicity, made the marriage appear—well, rather unusual. He went to great pains to keep the marriage secret. The license that was not to be filed, the friends who weren't informed, the newspapers left in ignorance of his intended marriage. You can see how it looks."

"I can see," said the girl. There was silence. Ellen's body trembled as though she were having a chill. Her tortured eyes did not leave the lawyer's face.

"I'm imagining all this—it's not true—I'll wake up soon," she tried to tell herself. Then she would become conscious again of Symes' troubled face.

She sat very still while the bitter thoughts thronged upon her. The marriage with Steven had been no marriage at all. The world would believe either that Steven had deceived an innocent girl with a mock marriage or that she, Ellen Rossett, in her eagerness to capture a rich man, had been reckless of the fact that the man was the husband of another woman.

If only Steven were alive—but Steven was dead! And because a cruel, grasping woman had crept to Mexico and bribed a court, his name was to be dishonored and with it the name of the girl he loved.

"But the divorce was announced in all the newspapers nearly two years ago," Ellen said in a voice that was without life, without hope.

"I know it," Symes agreed with a short laugh. "But you underestimate Miss Grayson's ingenuity. Steven announced the divorce. All the proceedings, if you remember, were kept secret. Miss Grayson was abroad at the time, had gone even before Steven went to Mexico. She's been darning there ever since. She admits there'd been a separation—a sort of trial she calls it. But she's back in New York now to tell the world she never consented to a divorce."

"She even has an explanation for her long silence," he continued. "Says she knew nothing of the divorce until a few weeks ago, and then sailed at once to have it set aside. A bare-faced lie—but we can't prove it, I'm afraid."

ELLEN said nothing at all. There was nothing at all to be said.

"If only Steven hadn't been such a rich man," she heard

SYMES' voice from a long way off. "Can't we do anything?" she asked pitifully.

"We can save you from reporters for a while," he said, frowning. "We'll keep mum until the whole thing comes up in court."

"Why do we have to go to court?" Ellen cried.

"Leda Grayson will fight to the last ditch and be delighted at the chance."

"Fight for what? Steven loved me. She can't take that away!" The girl's voice was courageous and steady now.

"She won't take the money either," Symes responded grimly. "We have plenty of witnesses to his wishes. No matter how you come out in the fight to be recognized as his wife, you'll get the money. I have those settlements all drawn up. God, if I'd only let him sign them when he wanted to!"

"We can prove any way," he continued, "that you had no suspicion that the marriage was bigamous. Your mother was there, your sister—"

"Stop! Stop this instant!" Ellen broke in with shock and pain. "I don't want the money! I've told you again and again. It's not the money that's driving me frantic!"

"My dear child, that money belongs to you," he protested, started. "Steven wanted you to have it. That was almost the last thing he was thinking of—your future. You can't throw away a fortune."

"I can't!" Ellen repeated hysterically. "Why can't I? Is that what you were thinking of? Is that what you meant by court? Steven gave me everything and now—now that he's dead you think I'd fight for more, drag his name through the newspapers, have people thinking that he thought so little of my honor—"

SYMES was genuinely amazed by the girl's earnestness. Patiently he pointed out that the money was hers, that only a court battle stood between her and possession. Patiently he pointed out that with the money she could go anywhere, seek new scenes, new people, new interests. But Ellen stopped him. She looked up to him and asked, "But if it weren't for the money you and I could do for Steven this thing that—he can't do for himself?"

"Keep the marriage with you a secret," he answered thoughtfully. "I suppose it could be managed. Yes, I'm certain it could be managed but it's a mad idea. Are you sure of what you're doing?"

"Quite sure," she said steadily. "I don't believe I've ever met so quixotic a young woman."

"It's not only Steven I'm thinking of," Ellen admitted, in a shamed, honest voice. "I'm thinking of myself. I don't think I could bear the publicity. I want to get away—I want to go back to being the girl I used to be."

Small and dazed, in a crumpled white linen dress that was no whiter than her exhausted face, Ellen sat looking at the lawyer and pleaded that this part of her life should be blotted out as though it had never been.

ATTEND THE FORUM NEXT THURSDAY

IN SECURING JOHN N. VAN DER VRIES of Chicago as the principal speaker at the forum meeting to be held next Thursday evening, the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce could have made no better selection because he will have a real timely message for the people of this city.

At the present time, citizens of Escanaba, like those in every other community in America, are giving much thought to the problem of taxation. There exists, however, in the minds of many considerable misunderstanding as to the causes of the dilemma in which the nation finds itself and naturally the way to solution of these problems is much muddled.

Mr. Van der Vries, like the hero in story, if we might draw that comparison, comes to this city at just the proper time. Due to his many contacts he has a wealth of experience in dealing with business men and organizations, and this has placed him in a position where he can discuss the national problems affecting business in an intelligent manner.

At the forum meeting next Thursday, he will explain the causes of high taxes; how the federal payroll has increased $100,000 each day since 1928, and will cite the waste and extravagance in public expenditures that makes the taxpayers' load so burdensome. Then, too, he will outline the program that the national chamber of commerce has worked out for the solution of the country's most important problems.

It will be an address, packed full of valuable information for everyone, delivered by an exceptionally able speaker. Those who attend the forum are sure to obtain much worth-while benefit from his message.

FLOUR FOR NEEDY

THE paradox of hunger and poverty existing in a land of plenty has been presented from many angles as an example of the defects of our modern capitalistic system. The objections on this score, however, will be somewhat reduced with the passage by congress of the bill to release 40,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat supply held by the federal farm board for distribution to the needy throughout the country.

The distribution is to be handled by the Red Cross alone, and the Delta county chapter has sent in a request for 200 barrels of the flour. When the flour will be delivered here is problematical, however, but it is hoped that this type of relief can be given to the poor of the county in the near future.

The government is giving the wheat without charge and the milling into flour is to be done by the arrangement with the Millers' National Federation, under a plan by which the millers will probably take their payment in bran feed. The cost of handling, transportation and storage, however, will be borne by the Red Cross.

The distribution of free flour is not expected to have a depressing effect on business. It is pointed out that it will have a tendency to boost up the price on wheat. Although it may injure for a time, those wholesalers who handle flour as their main stock in trade, it will not harm the retailer for the money heretofore spent for flour will be used for the purchase of other necessities of life.

The principal consideration, however, is the feeding of the hungry. The latest project of the federal government and the Red Cross should do much toward accomplishment of this objective.

NO CONTESTS, BUT MUCH MUSIC

UNDOUBTEDLY, the largest assemblage of musicians in Escanaba's history will be seen when students from the five counties in District No. 9 come here in May to participate in a music festival.

This year, the competitive element has been eliminated from this inter-school event. Representatives of the various schools will take part in various musical programs, but there will be no decision as to who gave the best performance and no prizes will be awarded. Plans are being made, however, to have some recognized music authority attend the festival, and afterward he will offer his criticisms and suggestions to the music supervisors as a means of adding them in their work.

The tendency is to remove spectacular competitive events from the schools throughout the country. At a recent convention in Washington, the National Education association adopted a resolution, stating that the educators felt that district, state and national contests should be discouraged and eventually, unless of proved social and educational benefit, abolished.

The experience of the past years has shown that the ability of the music supervisor, as that of the basketball coach, is judged by the public on the basis of whether the school wins or loses in the district or state tournament. Such spectacles naturally lead to over-emphasis, diverting attention from genuinely educational processes.

UPPER PENINSULA FOOD

MAYBE you've noticed that comparatively few farmers' names are appearing in Upper Peninsula relief lists. There's a reason.

It is true that the prices of farm products have declined with other commodities. Some of the former must be sold below their cost.

But the farmer has the edge when it comes to many food items. He grows his own butter, eggs, poultry, meat, milk, vegetables and some grain. He raises the larger proportion of feed for his stock. He may not make much money, but when it comes to living he has the inside track.

This undoubted fact is making a back-to-the-soil movement look good to many people just now. There is a world of Upper Peninsula land available at trifling cost to the man who wants to grow his living. The investment of very little cash, coupled with the healthy outdoor activities of the family, can save many worthy citizens from the poor list next winter.

"He who plants becomes a partner with the Almighty." Here in northern Michigan he can grow 50 per cent or better of his summer rations and lay away a winter surplus. And he can carry on another occupation or trade at least a part of the time.

Here is a project in which community and social organizations can consistently interest themselves. The Upper Peninsula can and should grow more food. One way to do it is to help the willing hands who need it. The time to plan better supplies of farm and garden foods is now.—Sault Ste. Marie News.

LYRICS OF LIFE

THE QUARRELING MIND

Why do we quarrel? Well, the mind thinks of a thing unfair, unkind. Then, as a devil will always do, Urges the lips to say it, too. Often ourselves the thing we doubt. Whether it's true — and then it's out. Why do we quarrel? Just to say Things that we shouldn't, anyway.

Why do we quarrel? Well, the mind. Hearing a thing unfair, unkind. Thinks of a thing unkind, unfair. Answers unkindly then and there. So from the little grows the great. Out of unkindness anger, hate. Why do we quarrel when we do? Some little devil tells us to.

Why do we quarrel, when the mind. Even in dispute, can be kind. Meeting with silence someone's ire. Bringing no coals to feed the fire? Only the wrongful need to shriek. Only the right can gently speak. Why do we quarrel? Shouting wrong. Little will alter, alter long.

Many Pay Tribute To Joseph Carney At Funeral Friday

A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated Friday morning at nine o'clock at St. Patrick's church, marking the last sad rites performed over the body of Joseph P. Carney, 49, undersheriff of Delta county, who passed away Tuesday morning at St. Francis hospital, following an illness of three weeks. Mr. Carney suffered an attack of influenza and later a ruptured appendix. An operation was performed but his heart failed to stand the strain of the infection. Monday he developed pleurisy and pneumonia and failed rapidly from that time.

Rev. Msgr. R. G. Jacques was the celebrant at the solemn requiem high mass. Rev. Fr. Thomas Dregacz, pastor of St. Michael's church in Ferronville, close friend of the deceased, was deacon. Rev. Fr. Gerald Harrington of St. Patrick's church, who had administered to his spiritual care during his last illness, was sub-deacon. Four acolytes in white cassocks and surplices served the mass.

Msgr. Jacques preached a short but eloquent sermon and said in part: "The entire city stands still, its business and professional men, people in all walks of life, Catholic, Protestant and Jew alike, have turned out to pay their last respects to the man who has so faithfully served the public. One whose life was spent in the faithful duty to his God and one who may stand before the throne of God and expect a merciful judgment."

"Death preaches so eloquently man can not take with him his worldly acquisitions, nor the high esteem in which he is held by his fellowmen, only a life well spent in the service of God will be of value to him. Death is not the end, it is the beginning of eternal life and although there are many excuses for men, before God, and before men, for ignoring their God during their life, the one thought 'How Have I Served My God?' should be our prayer morning, noon and night."

St. Patrick's choir assisted by Frank Hirs, sang the mass, during which Wm. Ramspeck, Jr., sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. John Kress sang "O Meritum Passionis." Mrs. Wm. Shepek sang the solos of the Kyrie and as the mourners left the office, Mrs. George Casey sang "Rose of the Cross."

The beautiful array of flowers, in baskets, sprays and designs of all kinds, the large number of spiritual offerings, the constant line of friends who came to the home to view the remains and offer their sympathy bespoke the high esteem in which Mr. Carney was held in Delta county.

Hundreds View Body

Wednesday and Thursday evening members of the A. O. H. and Knights of Columbus went to the home in a body to recite the rosary in unison. Mr. Carney was deputy grand knight of the local council, Knights of Columbus. A large delegation of one hundred and sixty members of the K. of C. council formed an honorary escort at the church and parted ranks while the funeral procession entered and left the church. The casket was borne by Charles Ford, John A. Fisher, Sr., Robert Pryal, John Sheehan, A. J. Manley and Arthur Moberg.

The line of march was as follows: Honorary pallbearers from the sheriff's department, Elmer Swanson, Clement Tordeur, Henry Braut, Clair Bourdalis, John Judson, and Ed Packenham. Members of the city police department, Michael Ettenhofer, John Finn, Fred Papineau, Gayhart Carlson, John Sullivan, Erick Pearson, Ed Coplan, Jos. I. Perow and Ray Vanenkort. Next in line were James P. Corgan, warden of the Marquette prison, Timothy Hurley, chief of police at Marquette, Oscar Rummeler of Marquette, chief of the U. P. federal prohibition forces, Torval Kallerson, chief of police of Gladstone, Alfred B. May and Earl Labombard, patrolmen of Gladstone's police department. A group of state police included Captain Demaray, Lieutenant Engles, Sergeant Frederick Hall, Lieutenant Hayden, all of the Marquette post, Corporal Jack Spencer and Trooper Peebles of the Iron Mountain post.

Honorary pallbearers representing the local Aerie of Eagles were Oscar Brown, Robert Cass, Eileen Botsclair and Walter Hanson. The honorary pallbearers from the Ancient Order of Hibernians were John J. Tolan, chief of police of Escanaba, Patrick Mullen, S. W. Brennan, Dennis Curran, W. J. Hannahan and Kevill Murphy. The Knights of Columbus honorary pallbearers were F. J. Hess, Edward Harkins, Rayne Labre, Frank Fontaine, Maurice Tonkins, and P. H. Connell.

Out of town relatives and friends included Patrick Gaynor, Mrs. George Thomas, Chicago; Mrs. Margaret Peterson, Minneapolis; Ed Bowman, Casco, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Blair, Miss Esther Palmeter, Mr. and Mrs. Almon Palmeter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Palmeter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaufman, all of Marinette; Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Dow, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jorgensen, Pontiac; Fred VanRemortel and son, Fred, Fayette; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boyle, Bark River; A. Alguire, justice of the peace of Gladstone, and a large number of friends from various Delta county places. The offices in Delta county court house were closed during the funeral services.

The cortege, nearly two miles long, went to St. Joseph's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Harrington read the commitment services at the grave in the family lot.

Delta County Has Fewer Divorces in 1931 Than in 1930

Washington, D. C., Mar. 18.—The Bureau of the Census announces that, according to the returns received, there were 23,856 marriages performed in Michigan during the year 1931, as compared with 29,482 in 1930, representing a decrease of 626 or 2.1 per cent. In 1922, there were 43,561 marriages performed.

During the year 1931 there were 5,434 divorces granted to the State, as compared with 10,535 in 1930, representing a decrease of 5,101 or 48.4 per cent. In 1922, there were 7,570 divorces granted. There were 72 marriages annulled in 1931, as compared with 97 in 1930.

The estimated population of the state of Michigan on July 1, 1931, was 4,931,000, and on July 1, 1930, 4,871,000. On the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population was 5.9 in 1931, as against 6.1 in 1930; and the number of divorces per 1,000 of the population was 1.09 in 1931, as against 2.16 in 1930.

The number of marriages performed and the number of divorces and annulments granted were furnished by the State Department of Health. The figures for 1931 are preliminary and subject to correction.

Delta county is credited with 234 marriages in 1931 and 236 in 1930, eleven divorces in 1931 compared with 35 in 1930.

"Change Artists" Try Game Here

Short change artists were at work in Gladstone yesterday, but, as far as is known, failed to get away with their game at any of the local stores. Two men were working together, according to Charles Green, proprietor of a hardware store in which the pair attempted to short change a clerk.

According to the story of the clerk, the man made a small purchase and presented a $20 bill in payment. Later several small purchases were made, payment being made each time. One of the men finally picked up the change from the counter, counting it out as he did so. Ten dollars was missing. He claimed the clerk had failed to make the correct change, but when the clerk became militant and insisted that he knew that the "change artist" had the money in his pocket, the man left, stating that it was just a mistake.

Approximately 200 couples were present last night at the annual Masonic ball, "A Night in Danceland," at Terrace Gardens, according to A. D. Aguirre, chairman of the committee in charge. The affair, he said, was highly successful and the crowd was well pleased with the arrangements and the music.

CHARLES DEVETT WINS
Charles Devett, of this city, a sophomore at St. Norbert College, West De Pere, Wis., earned a major boxing title recently by virtue of completing three successful bouts in the St. Norbert College amateur ring program. Two of his fights were windup affairs and thus far this season the Gladstone boy has taken one win on a technical K. O. and two other matches by decision. As a result, he holds the school championship in the 140 pound weight division.

Pertinent Comment

One of Gladstone's greatest undeveloped assets is Little Bay de Noc. Beyond the fact that it is one of the finest harbors on the Great Lakes, it offers unlimited opportunity for development as a water sports resort.

The city of Gladstone has cognizance of this fact and it is a part of the program of the city to develop a portion of the bay shore during the next four years. The plan which was inaugurated last year contemplates the construction of a motor boat harbor, beach improvement and a system of lagoons, with an extension and beautification of the present city park. The completion of this project will go a long way toward focusing attention upon Gladstone's possibilities as a resort center.

Further than this Gladstone people have, during the past year, begun to appreciate the advantage that is theirs in having ready access to a body of water that possesses so many desirable features. The number of boats, both large and small, have increased as realization came that the waters of the bay were ideal for motorboating or canoeing. The perch and pike fishing is excellent. The water is warm and the sandy beaches are ideal for the swimmer.

To further focus attention to Little Bay de Noc as a mecca for the lover of water sports, Gladstone should plan a water carnival for the coming summer and should make the event such an outstanding affair that it would attract thousands to the city as did the Ford Day celebration a year ago.

Mrs. J. I. Chase and daughter, Erma, returned yesterday morning from a ten day visit with relatives and friends in Duluth, Minn., Thief River Falls, Minn., and Fordville, North Dakota.

Teams With Tough Names Are Tamed

The Junior high school basketball tournament continues. Three games Wednesday and three on Thursday wound up this week's classics but play is to be resumed Monday with the finals on Tuesday night.

The results of the games this week would indicate that the teams with the toughest names are the tamed performers on the basketball court. It is noted that the Wildcats were tamed 44 to 9 by the Ramblers, while the Wolverines were bad actors in name only and permitted the Trojans to trounce them 46 to 1.

Scores of other games played were:
Black Aces, 9; Ramblers, 27.
Ramblers, 16; Trojans, 30.
Spartans, 5; Aces, 8.
Comets, 6; Bohunks, 22.

Local Team Rolls 1236 in Doubles

Vincent Johnson, who rolled 692 in the doubles tourney with Harold Mackie as his team-mate to take first place with 1203 early in the week, paired with Walter VanDeWeghe yesterday and the team rolled a score of 1236 to set new record.
Johnson was not as "hot" as when he rolled with Mackie, but bowled consistently to pile up a total of 598. At the same time VanDeWeghe was hitting a fast pace to ring up 638.
The team got off to a bad start with 385 in the first game but picked up speed as they went along and in the second game brought their score to 412 and in the final game rolled 439.

PERCH FISHING LARGE INDUSTRY

$18,000 Revenue Derived From Hook and Line Is Estimate

Hook and line fishing through the ice of Little Bay de Noc is one of the largest revenue producing industries of the city this winter, according to estimates. While no definite figures are available, owing to the fact that the fish are not handled by any particular agency and many are sold to individual housewives by the fishermen, interviews with several fishermen would indicate that the following figures are conservative.
Profitable fishing through the ice has continued for a period of 90 days, during which time a total of 150,000 pounds of fish have been taken. These fish have been sold at an average price in excess of 10 cents per pound for a total of $18,000. It is estimated that the average number of men engaged in fishing each day has been 200 and that the average catch of merchantable fish has been 10 pounds per day.
In addition to the cash revenue that has come from fishing, further large sums have been saved to the families of the town by the food provided from fish too small for market.
That these figures are much too conservative is believed by some fishermen, who point to the hundreds of shacks that dot the ice of the bay. Many fishermen, they say, have caught as high as 80 to 90 pounds of perch in one day with hook and line and more than 200 are in the shacks, they maintain.

FINISH DRIVE FOR PLEDGES

Employment Committee Of Legion Reports Total of $14,000

Canvassers of the American Legion's Employment committee completed their house-to-house drive for jobs yesterday and brought the total of pledged work to more than $14,000.00, according to a preliminary check. A check-up to determine the exact total and to uncover any prospects who might have been overlooked in the drive is to be made today by clerks at the city offices.

It is believed that the total will be brought to more than $15,000, when people who were missed during the canvass have been interviewed.

No detailed report of the pledged jobs is as yet available, but a casual examination of the cards reveals that a large amount of repair and improvement work is contemplated by property owners during the coming summer.

Others, who failed to make pledges, have stated that they will probably join the movement provided that they can secure funds with which to make needed improvements.

As soon as the cards have been classified, it is the plan of the committee to proceed with a comprehensive follow-up campaign under the direction of City Manager F. R. Buechner, which will have as its objective, immediate action on jobs which can be carried out without regard to weather conditions. Those who have pledged work will also be asked to place men who are unemployed lists of the city wherever this is possible.

The canvass of the city was under the direction of O. K. Fjetland, chairman of the employment committee and the canvassers were the following Legion men: Ray Manning, Ed. Skippar, B. C. Chastield, Carl Hillman, Frank Quinn, Eugene Brassick and Irwin Willis.

THEATRES

The boys who went over to France during the late war, not only got a fairly comprehensive knowledge of European geography, manners and customs, but incidentally learned a few brand new things about their own country. East met West in the trenches and learned to know of each other's habits and country. Then too, boys from the same section of the States who had never met before were thrown into close contact and because of their common interests, developed into staunch "buddies."

An interesting example of such a friendship is depicted in "Men Without Law," a "western" starring the popular Buck Jones, scheduled to come to the Rialto Theatre today.

Ohio Publication Article Describes Land Of Hiawatha

A copy of April "Ohio Schools" official organ of the Ohio Education association, has been received at the local library. In it is an article called "The Land of Hiawatha," written by E. N. Littleton, principal of the Bowling Green Junior high. Mr. Littleton came to the Upper Peninsula last summer to gather material for this and other articles and made his headquarters at Newberry, in "The Land of Hiawatha" he is loud in his praises of Hiawatha-land and urges the readers of his article to take a day's drive from Ohio's northern boundary and find themselves in a region of enchanted fairyland.

Mr. Littleton says, among other things, "Here is a country where one may have all the conveniences of the great summer resorts or all the wildness of the primeval forest. . . Echoes of the old lumbering days can still be found in the abandoned camps and towns, and in the numbers of hermit-like men who choose to stay in this country after the lumbering operations were over. One is struck by the high quality of these men. . . who have deliberately chosen this life of freedom and independence close to nature. One does not have to talk long to such men as Mr. Clouman, who pitches his tent a few miles from the Deer Park coast guard station; or Jerry Skulina, the young woodsman-philosopher who pilots an excursion boat down the Tahquamenon, to realize that not all the world's able men are to be found following the ways of civilization."

Littleton goes on to describe the various points with which "Hiawatha" was identified. Also the trip down the Tahquamenon and many other scenes of interest in the U. P.

Fine Program At Annual Banquet

On Monday evening, March 14th, the Elementary Unit of the P. T. A., held its second annual banquet, in the gymnasium of the Mather high school. At this time the officers for the coming year were also elected as follows: President—Mrs. Wm. Dore, Vice-president—Miss Agnes Sullivan, Secretary—Mrs. T. E. Roe, Treasurer—Mrs. Lawrence Cady, Historian—Mrs. Byron Groesbeck.

The principal speaker of the evening was H. A. Wood, whose topic, "A Goal and a Guide," was most ably and interestingly presented. "In the training of youth," said Mr. Wood, "it is of the utmost necessity that there is constantly before the mind, a goal to be obtained. The old idea that life consisted of a series of pitfalls to be avoided, is not conducive to building strong character. Rather should we consider the individual as a personality which grows daily stronger and better fitted to meet the difficulties of life and surmount them." He compared the life of the individual with an elastic band, which if strong enough, can break down the obstacles which obstruct its way. "Youth, in the attainment of an ideal, must have a guide. The guide, moreover, must have the right consideration of life's real values. Not in measures of dollars and cents, are these values to be set forth but in the development of real-living making each contribution to society one which fits the social conscience, and achieves that which is good for oneself and society."

During the banquet, Peterson's orchestra entertained with several popular selections, which were especially well rendered. Miss Gladys Hanson sang two delightful solos, entitled "Top of the Mornin'" by Mana Zucca, and "Grandmother's Prayer" by Hageman.

Two beautiful piano duets were played by Miss Alice Moline and Miss Evelyn Swenson. The first number was "At the Donny Brook Fair" by Scott, and the second, "Dawn" by Torjussen. Acting as toastmaster, Mr. E. L. Nelson called upon several officers of the P. T. A. who responded as follows: Mrs. Charles Everett, Sr., discussed her work as a founder of the P. T. A. in Munising. Her interest in child welfare, however, dates back to years of service in Mother's club work in Traverse City, Mich. Mrs. Everett has for years been an interested and active member of the Parent Teachers' association, and was the first president of the P. T. A. in Munising.

Responding as president of the P. T. A. council, Mrs. Light, outlined the work done by the council, in promoting summer round-ups, dental clinics, and the milk project in the schools. Mrs. G. M. Evans responded pleasantly as past president of the elementary unit of the P. T. A. Mrs. Wm. Dore, president of the unit responded by thanking the members of the committees and officers, who had worked with her during the year. Miss Agnes Sullivan, as a teacher, touched upon the opportunity afforded to the teacher, to be a source of inspiration to youth. The committee in charge of the banquet is to be congratulated upon the splendid service, which insured for all present a most enjoyable evening.

Youth Admits His Part In Robbery

Thursday afternoon Sheriff Frank Runast arrested Tom Somerville, aged 20 years, of Wetmore, as a suspect in the robbery of a South Shore merchandise store, near Wetmore last Tuesday evening. Somerville was brought to Munising by the sheriff for questioning and finally admitted that he and a companion had broken the seal of the car, entered it at Wetmore and when a short distance east of that station had thrown a quantity of articles out. The articles consisted of groceries, candy, cigarettes and other packages, amounting altogether, in value, to about $50. The two youths, one whose name is not here mentioned because he has not yet been apprehended, carried the stolen goods about two miles from the track on one of the old roads leading to East Munising. They buried the goods in the snow, excepting some few articles, such as cigarettes. Somerville disclosed the location of the hidden loot and the sheriff recovered almost all of it.

"I have paid the county treasurer, $41,730.70 for state-county and county road taxes and to the treasurer of Munising township school district, $63,778.92 for school tax. This leaves a balance of $44,157.25 to the credit of the city treasurer. "I have also collected $48.54 in four per cent collection fees and this amount has been placed to the credit of the city treasurer. "I have also received $100.00 per cent payment on delinquent personal tax, and I expect that most of the delinquent personal will be paid soon."

TWO SCENES OF EASTER DRAMA

Events in Last Days in Life of Jesus Christ To Be Portrayed

Two scenes in the big Easter drama will be presented on Sunday evening. This drama is being presented in serial form in the First Methodist Episcopal church under the personal supervision of the pastor of the church. A most marvelous presentation of the events that transpired during the last few days in the life of Jesus is arranged in this drama.

Scene one, "The Return from the Cross." In this scene we shall see Mary the Mother returning from the cross with John the beloved disciple. They are discussing the events which have happened during the last few days. Mary remembering the boyhood days of Jesus, and John seeking to console her, according to the charge he received at the foot of the cross of his saviour, Judas and Mary almost meet, and Judas appears and tells of how he is conscience smitten, very dramatically going to the tree with the rope in his hand.

In scene two, Joseph and Nicodemus meet, each with the same purpose in mind, namely, to give the body of Jesus a decent burial. The huge sepulchre has been built within the church, and on Sunday as the body is born there under the direction of the Centurion and four soldiers, some of the disciples of Jesus and the women follow. We shall see the huge stone placed in front of the door of the sepulchre and the seal of the Roman government placed thereon.

Characters: Four soldiers: Wm. Robertson, George Saunders, David Crawford, Stanley Norton; Mary, the Mother, Dorothy Sine; Mary Magdalene, Clara Crawford; Miss James, Ruth Lax; Salome, Dixie Elliott; the Centurion, J. I. Bellaire; Nicodemus, Kieth Bunn; Joseph of Arimathea, Ward Mumford; Peter, Virgil Arrowood; John, Gordon Robertson; Judas, (one whose identity is concealed); Eli, Chester Dixon.

The program will begin at 7:30. Miss Helen Smart will render special musical numbers on the organ from 7:15 o'clock. The church extends to all a most cordial invitation. Next Sunday the drama will be concluded with "In Joseph's Garden."

VETERINARIAN TO TALK HERE

Dr. B. J. Kilham to Speak On Animal Disease Control Monday

"Dr. B. J. Kilham, Michigan State College, in charge of animal disease control, has been scheduled for two meetings in Schoolcraft County." The topic for discussion will be, "Contagious Abortion Control Measures." Dr. Kilham, who was formerly State Veterinarian but has been with Michigan State College for the past two years, had been devoting all of his time in getting a program of contagious abortion control started in a number of counties both in the Lower and Upper Peninsula. In his talk he will give a summary of the information that is available on this disease as far as science at the present time has been able to learn. Present methods being used in various counties to get the disease under control or where very little control of abortion now exists a sponsoring of a program to keep this disease from getting a start will be covered in his talk. Dairymen who have other problems in connection with diseases and parasite control are invited to attend the meetings and to get the latest information on these subjects. Since Dr. Kilham is obliged to cover the entire State the amount of time which he may spend in any county is very limited. In arranging meetings, therefore, for the one day or two to locate them so that they would be reaching the greater share of the dairy farmers. The meetings as scheduled are as follows: Monday afternoon, 2:00 p. m., March 21, Court House, Manistique, Michigan; Monday evening, 8:00 p. m., Inwood Township School. Anyone interested in the development of the dairy industry in Schoolcraft County is cordially invited to attend.

W. O. W. SHOW SCORES BIG HIT Fine Crowd Sees Splendid Acting in "Meet The Family"

A cleverly produced three act comedy drama, "Meet the Family," was immensely enjoyed Thursday evening at the Gero Theatre by a large audience which went away convinced that it was not good practice to have families meddle in matrimonial affairs. The show was sponsored by the W. O. W. band and was directed by Lawrence Gorsche with the players doing an exceptionally fine piece of acting. All of the scenes were laid in the living room of the newlyweds' Bob and Polly King, apartment. It didn't take long before things began to sizzle when the newlyweds who had recently eloped, were paid simultaneous visits by their respective families. Efforts to promote harmony between the two families started out on the wrong foot immediately. Bob King, while going to the station to meet his folks, has an automobile accident with his wife's relatives who were driving into town to see their daughter. They fall to recognize Bob, but get his license number, later call the police, and then complications ensue which greatly hinder chances of promoting any amicable feelings between the two families. Polly listens to her mother's propaganda against Bob and she decides to leave him. In the meantime, however, Ben Pike, Polly's uncle, and Emmy Morrison, Bob's aunt, who met for the first time at the newlyweds' home, elope and get married. Uncle Ben and Aunt Emmy fail to heed the protests of their relatives and at the same time tell them to mind their own business and quit meddling.

The action taken by this elderly couple makes Polly perceive her mistake and the story ends with Polly reuniting with Bob. She has come to realize that she has her own life to live and that love bonds are stronger than family ties. The entire cast gave a splendid exhibition of dramatic talent. Edith McGregor and Al Anderson, who played the leading roles as the newlyweds, Polly and Bob King, performed in fine style; Sylvia Thompson, as Polly's mother, whose jealousy, heart attacks, and vitriolic tongue put a punch into the show, was superb; Ferdinand Gorsche, Polly's henpecked father, did a neat piece of acting as did Martha Hamer in the role of Bob's mother, and eccentric W. C. T. worker. Clyde Hutt, as Uncle Ben, and Helen Hargreaves, as Emmy Morrison, added considerable humor to the play, and portrayed their parts exceptionally well. John Barnes, Bob's father, did good work, while the minor characters, Myrtle Nelson as Ivory, the cook, Margaret Fagan as Inez Warren, the lady across the hall, and Clinton Leonard as the officer, rounded out the production in fine fashion. Splendid Novelties The novelty numbers between acts afforded plenty of clever dancing and splendid acrobatics. Little Miss June Schatman, juvenile dancer, drew forth heavy

The action taken by this elderly couple makes Polly perceive her mistake and the story ends with Polly reuniting with Bob. She has come to realize that she has her own life to live and that love bonds are stronger than family ties. The entire cast gave a splendid exhibition of dramatic talent. Edith McGregor and Al Anderson, who played the leading roles as the newlyweds, Polly and Bob King, performed in fine style; Sylvia Thompson, as Polly's mother, whose jealousy, heart attacks, and vitriolic tongue put a punch into the show, was superb; Ferdinand Gorsche, Polly's henpecked father, did a neat piece of acting as did Martha Hamer in the role of Bob's mother, and eccentric W. C. T. worker. Clyde Hutt, as Uncle Ben, and Helen Hargreaves, as Emmy Morrison, added considerable humor to the play, and portrayed their parts exceptionally well. John Barnes, Bob's father, did good work, while the minor characters, Myrtle Nelson as Ivory, the cook, Margaret Fagan as Inez Warren, the lady across the hall, and Clinton Leonard as the officer, rounded out the production in fine fashion. W. O. W. SHOW SCORES BIG HIT Fine Crowd Sees Splendid Acting in "Meet The Family"

A cleverly produced three act comedy drama, "Meet the Family," was immensely enjoyed Thursday evening at the Gero Theatre by a large audience which went away convinced that it was not good practice to have families meddle in matrimonial affairs. The show was sponsored by the W. O. W. band and was directed by Lawrence Gorsche with the players doing an exceptionally fine piece of acting. All of the scenes were laid in the living room of the newlyweds' Bob and Polly King, apartment. It didn't take long before things began to sizzle when the newlyweds who had recently eloped, were paid simultaneous visits by their respective families. Efforts to promote harmony between the two families started out on the wrong foot immediately. Bob King, while going to the station to meet his folks, has an automobile accident with his wife's relatives who were driving into town to see their daughter. They fall to recognize Bob, but get his license number, later call the police, and then complications ensue which greatly hinder chances of promoting any amicable feelings between the two families. Polly listens to her mother's propaganda against Bob and she decides to leave him. In the meantime, however, Ben Pike, Polly's uncle, and Emmy Morrison, Bob's aunt, who met for the first time at the newlyweds' home, elope and get married. Uncle Ben and Aunt Emmy fail to heed the protests of their relatives and at the same time tell them to mind their own business and quit meddling.

LITTLE ACTION IN STOCK MART

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES (By The Associated Press) (Copyright, 1931, Standard Statistics Co.)

BY JOHN L. COOLEY (Associated Press Financial Writer) New York, Mar. 18 (AP)—Stocks slipped easily in a rather inactive market today.

Utilities gave the poorest group exhibition, but neither industrials nor rails could do a great deal better and net losses ranged from about 1 to 3 points in issues which normally provide the leadership.

Obviously disappointed because yesterday's favorable rumor crop failed to blossom into fact, the market opened heavily and before noon had turned definitely weak, although with little increase in activity.

American Telephone also provided a selling target, being 5 points lower at the close. Shorts saw off 3 1/2 at the close. Shorts saw off no further return for covering rail commitments and that group suffered a relapse, but recessions were smaller than early this week.

Illinois Central proved an exception. It advanced nearly a point on word that its February earnings had improved substantially.

Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio finished with losses of a point or so.

Globe Trotters Dazzle Ranger Quintet by 31-22

COLORED BOYS BRING LAUGHS

Sparkling Exhibition in Final Game Pleases Crowd of Fans

Giving an exhibition of ball handling and marksmanship that surpassed anything ever seen on a local basketball court, the Harlem Globe Trotters won from the Escanaba Rangers in the last game of the season last evening, 31 to 22. The score, however, is only incidental as it was the cleverness of the colored boys that delighted the fans and brought peels of laughter from a crowd of enthusiasts who yelled for more. Had they desired the Globe Trotters probably could have added another 20 points or more to their total.

The negro basketballers dazzled the Rangers with lightning passing, sensational dribbling and unerring basket tossing. They passed with English on the sphere and the ball took unusual twists and turns after striking the floor but each time there was a member of the colored quintet ready to take the rebound. They flipped the ball behind their backs and made perfect passes straight down the floor where some member was waiting there to take the catch without moving his hands. Such uncanny tossing left the Ranger athletes wondering what was coming next.

Jackson, Globe Trotter center, whirled the sphere around his wrist while the Escanaba quintet watched in bewilderment. And then to top off the show Jackson permitted the Ranger sharpshooters to sink field goals under the basket and then proceeded to tip them out as the fans let up wild whoops.

Rangers Strong Lineup
Offensively the Globe Trotters were sensational in every respect but their offense hardly outshone their defense. Using a tight man for man defense, the Harlem boys had the Rangers trying to spear a few baskets from far back. Every time there was a scramble for the ball, one of the dark skinned boys came bobbing up with the pellet, dribbling in unconcerned manner.

The Rangers put a strong aggression on the floor, and the Escanaba athletes showed up well with Ray Warner and Dauber Dratz doing most of the local team's scoring. Carl Nordberg made his debut here as a cage player and drew a big hand from the fans. Nordberg showed up exceptionally well, especially in dribbling and passing, despite an injured knee suffered in football while playing with Michigan State. Bill Puckelwartz and Johnny Gagner, two old favorites, also were in the local lineup.

The Rangers kept in scoring distance of the visitors through most of the battle although trailing 18 to 8 at half time. The Escanaba boys made their biggest spurge in the third frame when they chalked up ten points against seven.

In the preliminary the Wolverines won from the DeMolays, 15 to 9.

Picard Takes First Day Honors in Biltmore Open

Coral Gables, Fla., Mar. 18 (AP)—P. G. Picard of Charleston, S. C., who stole away from the golf course before photographers could get his picture as a "dark horse," won first day honors in the $10,000 Coral Gables-Miami Biltmore open golf tournament by carding a 34-36—70 for the initial 18 holes of the 72-hole event.

One stroke behind him were Walter Hagen, who scored a 32 on the outbound trip, only to take 39 on the return for a 71, and Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., with a 36-35—71 in par figures.

In the 72-rung of the golfing ladder were Johnny Farrell, New York; Ray Mangrum, New York; and Archie Hambrick, Zanesville, Ohio.

The 73-mark carried the names of Herman Barron, Fort Chester, N. Y.; Bill Mehlhorn, New York; Gene Sarazen, New York; Paul Runyan, New York; Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn; and Ralph Redmond, St. Petersburg, Fla., leading amateur in the day's play.

NICHOLS COPS WORLD'S TITLE

Buffalo Man Licks Dave Maier in Furious Battle

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY. (Associated Press Sports Writer) Chicago, Mar. 18 (AP)—A 163-pound bundle of dynamite, George Nichols of Buffalo, won recognition of the National Boxing Association as world's light heavy-weight champion tonight by defeating Dave Maier, Milwaukee, in a furious ten round battle in the Chicago stadium.

The Buffalo long shot, 100 to 1 in the betting to win the N. B. A. elimination to select a successor to Maxie Rosenbloom, scored a surprising victory over the Milwaukee contender by his bulldog determination. He outgamed Maier, outslugged him at times, and whenever he was stung by Maier's heavy blasts, he fought back with such ferocity that he always turned the scales in his favor.

The contest was the final of the N. B. A. tournament to determine a successor to Rosenbloom, who was ousted as the titleholder because of his refusal to defend it within the prescribed six months period.

Rosenbloom may raise a howl over the action tonight, but Nichols feels he is the champion because he defeated two fighters in the tournament who had previously beaten Rosenbloom in non-title contests. They were Billy Jones, Philadelphia negro, and Maier, who gave Rosenbloom a going over in Milwaukee last January.

Nichols, conceded 10 1/2 pounds to the Milwaukee contender. He took the best punches that Maier could throw and then came back to outscore his heavier opponent. Nichols entered the contest weighing 163 pounds, just 3 pounds over the middleweight limit, and Maier 173 1/2.

In Ball Camps

IN GREAT FORM
Savannah, Ga., Mar. 18 (AP)—With "Bull" Durkin and Bob Welland twirling in great form, the Boston Red Sox Yanigans today gave the Regulars another setback, by the one-sided margin of 15 to 7. John Michaels and John Crimmons pitched ragged ball for the Regulars.

YANKEES LOSE
Sarasota, Fla., Mar. 18 (AP)—The New York Yankees found the Indianapolis team of the American Association much tougher opponents than the Boston Braves and lost their exhibition game in the ninth inning today, 6 to 5. It was their first defeat this spring.

Four ringing hits off Johnny Murphy in the ninth gave Indianapolis two runs to overtake and pass Babe Ruth and company. Ruth got one hit and a walk out of four times up.

RALLY IN NINTH
Biloxi, Miss., Mar. 18 (AP)—It took a single by Right Fielder Carl Reynolds at the opening of the ninth inning to start the Washington Senators on a rally to win from the Louisville Colonels today, 8 to 7.

All three of Walter Johnson's rookie hurlers allowed hits and saw one or more runs come in during their three innings each on the mound.

STEWART ARRIVES
West Palm Beach, Fla., Mar. 18 (AP)—Walter Stewart, the Browns' star pitcher, arrived in the training camp this afternoon and signed his contract.

Rick Ferrell is expected here tomorrow, but no word has been heard of the other holdout, Ralph Kress.

GIANTS LOBE AGAIN
San Diego, Cal., Mar. 18 (AP)—The Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League made it two straight over the New York Giants by winning an exhibition game, 6 to 1, here today. The Stars won 2 to 1 last night.

KAZOO, LANSING REACH FINALS

Two Central Schools in Last Round of Class A Tournament

Lansing, Mich., March 18 (AP)—Kalamazoo Central and Lansing Central tonight brushed aside the last pre-final opposition and will meet tomorrow night for the state class A basketball championship.

Kalamazoo Central swept through to an easy victory over Grand Rapids South tonight, but it was a costly triumph for Brundage, ace of the defense line, sprained his ankle in the first quarter center, who caused four field goals and a free throw, or Hughes, forward, who accounted for three field goals and a foul shot.

Sneak Shots Win
Lansing Central barely nosed out a determined Ann Arbor quintet, 17 to 16 in a tournament upset. It was the third time this season the teams had met, the first ending in a tie and Ann Arbor winning the second by a close score.

Tonight, the score was tied 4-4 at the quarter. Ann Arbor led 7 to 6, at half time, but Lansing Central took the lead early in the second half and never lost it. The Lansing quintet had a 14 to 11 margin at three-quarter-time. Twice in that last half Ann Arbor was within one point of tying the score only to see Lansing draw away, each time to a five point lead.

Sneak shots by the Lansing sharpshooters whom the Ann Arbor guards could not stop accounted for the victory.

RALLY IN 11TH
San Francisco, Mar. 18 (AP)—Putting across three runs in the eleventh inning, Pittsburgh's Pirates defeated the San Francisco Seals, 5 to 3, today in a drawn-out exhibition contest.

STIFF WORKOUT
Tampa, Fla., Mar. 18 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds were put through a stiff three hour practice session today by Manager Dan Howley, who put special stress on batting drill. St. Johnson and Owen Carroll expected to be two mainstays of the Cincinnati pitching staff, are slated to oppose the Yankees tomorrow.

MARTIN STAR AGAIN
Brandenton, Fla., Mar. 18 (AP)—Pepper Martin looked like the "Wild Horse of the Oseage" from last year's world series again today. His base running in the ninth inning game enabled the world champions to whip the Phillies 4 to 3 after trailing by three runs early in the game. He walked and moved home on a sacrifice, a wild throw and a fly.

Forbra, 100-1 Chance, Captures Steeplechase

BY FRANK H. KING (Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Liverpool, Eng., Mar. 18 (AP)—Forbra, a long legged brown seven-year-old gelding unknown to racing fame, today won the 93rd running of the Grand National, the moral of which is that nobody can buy a ready-made winner for the world's greatest steeplechase classic.

Owned by William Parsonage, a Shrothshire farmer and on occasions a bookmaker, and ridden by John Hamey of the north country, Forbra took the 8,000 sterling purse (about $32,000) by three lengths from Mrs. Frank O'Gremont, another rank out-

FULLER KAYOES BILLY WALLACE

Stocky Bostonian Makes Another Step Toward Lightweight Title

New York, Mar. 18 (AP)—Sammy Fuller, stocky Bostonian, took another stride toward the lightweight title tonight by stopping the veteran Billy Wallace of Cleveland in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Fuller weighed 138 1/2, and Wallace 135.

A right to the jaw slipped Wallace flat on his back a minute and 30 seconds after the seventh round began. The veteran barely struggled to his feet as the time keeper tolled nine, but was unable to continue. He fell into the arms of Referee Ed Gahan, who held him up with one arm and waved the waiting Fuller to his corner with the other.

It took Wallace's seconds several minutes to revive him to where he could leave the ring.

Surprise Knockout
The clean-cut knockout gave the Boston ring boy his second important triumph in the Garden ring in a fortnight. In his last appearance he scored a clean victory over Ray Miller, Chicago Lightweight. He will meet Jackie Berg of England, April 1 in the next installment of Promoter Jimmy Johnston's lightweight elimination tournament.

The sudden termination of tonight's bout caught the 4,000 spectators by surprise. Wallace, who is a radio crooner in his off moments, was doing well enough up to that time. In the fifth round he had floored Fuller cleanly with a right to the jaw and had given the Boston lad a rousing fight in the sixth, causing Fuller to bleed from the nose.

Up to the time Fuller turned the dial on the Cleveland crooner, Wallace had been credited with two rounds, the fourth and fifth, while Fuller had earned three, the second, third and sixth. The first was a stand-off. Fuller entered the ring a 5 to 2 favorite.

The 10-round semi-final between Morris Sherman of Detroit and Franta Nekolny of Czechoslovakia was called a draw, but the audience booed the verdict long and lustily. It was the prevailing opinion that Sherman had piled up quite a margin over the blond Czech, whom he knocked down cleanly in the second round. Sherman scaled 148, Nekolny 149 1/2.

St. Augustine Wins In Tournament Game
Lansing, Mich., Mar. 18 (AP)—An irresistible attack and a hole-proof defense carried Kalamazoo St. Augustine into the Class C state basketball finals tonight, with East Lansing high as the final hurdle in its chase for the championship which it won in 1930 and 1931.

The Kalamazoo team overwhelmed Charlevoix, 23 to 5, while East Lansing nosed out St. Mary's of Bay City, 15 to 13.

BOXING

Daytona Beach, Fla., Mar. 18 (AP)—Joe Knight of Ciro, Ga., tonight took a decision over Maxie Rosenbloom, New York light heavyweight champion, in a ten round non-title bout here before 2,000 fans.

There were no knockdowns, although both went to the floor in the fifth when Knight fell and pulled Rosenbloom down on top of him.

Boston, March 18 (AP)—Charlie Retzlaff, stiff punching Duluth heavyweight, added Jack McCarthy of Boston to his long knockout string tonight. McCarthy, after taking a severe beating, was dropped for the full count with a heavy right to the body, and by a terrific right to the jaw early in the fourth of what was to have been a scheduled 10-round contest. Retzlaff weighed 193 1/2 pounds, almost four more than his rival.

BUSINESS, NOT ART

YANKEES LOOK BIGGER, BETTER

Babe Ruth Signed Up So New York Americans Ready to Go

(Associated Press Sports Editor) St. Petersburg, Fla., Mar. 18 (AP)—From Mulberry Bend to the Bronx, let the clarion call be sounded: "The Yanks are coming, bigger, better and stronger."

Babe Ruth is back on the job as well as on the dotted line. Big Ben Chapman is making two bases on infield outs. The new keystone combination of Frank Crosetti and Otto (Jack) Saltzgaver within the past week has come along like a house afire. Manager Joe McCarthy seems to have corralled another speedy young outfielder in George Selkirk, Rochester lad, who played with Jersey City last season and may contest center field with the veteran Kentuckian, Earle Combs.

Now, if only one of the three best pitching prospects makes good and Henry Johnson recovers rapidly from the removal of his appendix, the Yankees will consider themselves on at least an even footing with the champion Philadelphia Athletics.

Pitchers Are Weak
The success of the New York club's attempt this year to oust the three-time American League pennant holders depends on those pitching "ifs." The best trio that McCarthy can muster on the mound, namely, Lefty Gomez, Red Ruffing and George Pipgras, does not class with Connie Mack's great triumvirate of Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg.

The Yankee strategists believe their greater speed and punch will offset the apparent margin of difference between the two clubs in pitching strength.

There is the matter of 13 1/2 games by which the A's led the Yankees at the close of 1931, but they tell you here this is misleading; that, in fact, the Yankees were a stronger club than the champions at the end of last season. New York also must contend with the strong Washington club and do something about Cleveland, which was poison to Ruti and company last year.

The more the experts watch 21-year-old Crosetti perform around shortstop and at the plate the more they are convinced the Yankees have picked up the greatest young infielder in a blue moon.

Saltzgaver, too, has improved. As qualified an observer as Buck Herzog, looking on from the side lines, says Saltzgaver will do. It seems certain now he will get the call over Lazzari at second.

Lyn Lary, after giving way to Crosetti at short, has taken to third like a duck to water. Lou Gehrig, the iron man on first, who passed his 1,000 consecutive game last season, thinks the second thousand will be the easiest. Joe Sewell and Eddie Farrell, as well as Lazzari, are destined for utility jobs, although Tony will be traded any time the Yanks can get a reliable pitcher for him.

IXL Juniors Win From Senior Quint

Hermansville, Mar. 18 (Special)—The Junior basketball team noped up the Seniors at an interclass tournament held at the high school gym Thursday night. The Junior team, made up of Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen, lead throughout the game, leaving the Seniors practically no show at all. The Seniors probably were at a loss because of the absence of Pegoraro who was unable to play due to a recent illness, and also because of the fact that a few members have not entirely recovered from the flu which handicapped their playing at the Quinnessee tourney.

A trophy was awarded the Juniors.

Although the seniors will be missed next year, under the coaching of J. W. Kleinola, Hermansville expects to again have a crack team.

Barton's Homer Wins For Cubs

Los Angeles, Mar. 18 (AP)—Vince Barton, Chicago Cub outfielder, hit a home run over the right field fence in the last half of the eighth inning, with the bases loaded today to beat Portland of the Pacific Coast league, 9 to 5.

SHIELDS GOES INTO FINALS

Davis Cup Star and Mangin Triumph Over Veterans

New York, Mar. 18 (AP)—Francis X. Shields, Davis cup star of New York, and Gregory S. Mangin of Newark, who couldn't even crash the select "first ten" last year, are the strangely assorted pair who battled their way today into the finals of the national indoor tennis tournament.

Shields, the country's third ranking player, employed his blinding service and steady baseline game, to dispose of Berkeley Bell, the "bumbling ex-Texas, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Bell couldn't break the tall New Yorker's delivery, so was doomed. Mangin, the 22 year old graduate of Georgetown University, who was ranked No. 11 last season and has never won a national title, triumphed over the veteran George Lott, Jr. of Chicago, ranked No. 2, 6-1, 9-7, 6-0, in the other semi-final.

Thus, two players who were not considered in the same class as the ranking committee, will meet in tomorrow's five-set final.

Lott and his Davis cup partner, Johnny Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, reached the finals in doubles by defeating Shields and Eugene McCauliff, of New York, 6-1, 12-16, 3-6, 9-8. They will face Bell and Mangin over the five-set route for the championship.

Legion May Book Marquette, Carroll Basketball Players

Manistique, Mar. 18 (Special)—Arrangements for a game with the Traveling All Stars, a most formidable team of basketball stars composed of former captains of Marquette University and Carroll College cage teams, is being made by the management of the Manistique Legion team. Efforts are being made to book the contest for next Thursday evening, March 24.

If negotiations are successful, local cage fans will be given a fine demonstration of high class college ball. Both Marquette University and Carroll College are recognized as leaders in Wisconsin cage circles. Their lineup will boast such stars as Whitey Badrunas, Al Shipley, Van Mullen, and others.

Efforts of the Legion to book the strong Harlem Globe Trotters, colored team, for Saturday evening, proved unavailing. The contest was originally scheduled to be held here Thursday evening, but due to the conflict with the W. O. W. show, the game was not booked. Other engagements made by the colored stars will prevent their playing here this season.

Tigers Pound Out Sixteen Safeties

Oakland, Cal., Mar. 18 (AP)—Detroit's Tigers got in some healthy batting practice today and pounded three Oakland pitchers for 17 hits or score a 16 to 4 victory over the coast league club.

Gerald Walker, outfielder, and Bill Rogell, shortstop, led the hitting spree with three each, the former driving in three runs. Detroit took the lead with a six run rally in the second.

Lansing And Ann Arbor In Finals

Lansing, Mich., March 18 (AP)—Lansing Central became a Class A finalist by defeating Ann Arbor in a breath-taking 17 to 16 semi-final basketball game here tonight.

It was a terrific struggle throughout. At quarter time, the score was deadlocked, 4 to 4. At the half, Ann Arbor led, 7 to 6. Then Lansing Central broke away and led, 14 to 11, at three-quarter time. Ann Arbor never overtook the Lansing quintet, although twice the lead was reduced to one point.

State Class D Finals Tonight

Lansing, Mich., Mar. 18 (AP)—A pair of rangy sharpshooting quintets from Portage and Brethren will fight it out for the Class D state basketball championship tomorrow night.

Brethren, boasting one of the tallest teams which has represented a Class D team in years, repulsed a first half threat from Whitehall tonight and came back as strong as ever to win, 25 to 14.

Trades and Labor Council Opposed To Traction Plan

Opposition to the plan of the Escanaba Traction company to abandon street car service in this city is voiced in a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council. The resolution reads as follows: To the Michigan State Utilities Commission, Lansing, Michigan: Whereas, a special meeting of Escanaba Trades and Labor Council was held at the North Star hall in the City of Escanaba, Michigan, on the evening of Friday, the 11th day of March, A. D. 1932, for the purpose, among other matters, to consider the action of the Michigan State Utilities Commission on the petition of the Escanaba Traction Company to ask leave to discontinue the operation of the said company's street cars; and Whereas, a quorum of the members of Escanaba Trades and Labor Council being present; and Whereas, after consideration of the above-mentioned traction matter, it appearing to the members of Escanaba Trades and Labor Council that in the event of the granting of the relief prayed for in the aforementioned petition of the Escanaba Traction Company, the City of Escanaba and environs will be without an adequate system of local and public transportation and commutation.
