FREE FERRIES ARE PROPOSED

U. P. Bureau Also Opposed to Diversion of Highway Funds

Marquette, Mich., March 22. (AP)—The executive committee of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, meeting here today, voted unanimously in favor of eliminating all charges for ferry transportation across the Straits of Mackinac, and instructed George E. Bishop, secretary-manager, to convey the sentiments of the committee to the state highway department.

John P. Norton, Editor of the Escanaba Press, pointed out that elimination of charges for ferry transportation across the straits would be valuable to the Upper Peninsula from the standpoint of increasing its tourist patronage and said that "the free and uninterrupted passage of traffic over what is but in reality a portion of the state's great highway system would bring the upper peninsula closer commercially, geographically and politically with the lower peninsula."

It was brought out in the committee discussion that "the state highway department has constructed bridges costing upwards of two millions of dollars, and yet, no toll is being charged for their use. In addition, receipts of the highway department, from the weight and gas taxes, have assumed such proportions that it seems the time has now arrived when citizens of the state of Michigan should be accorded transportation across the straits free of cost, with no fees as a barrier to free and uninterrupted traffic at this point."

Oppose Diversion of Funds

The proposed plans for relieving the acute situation caused in some lower peninsula counties by the Covert road bonds was discussed. The committee went on record by a majority vote as opposing any plan of relief that would mean diversion of state highway funds, inasmuch as only within the last four or five years has the Upper Peninsula made any definite progress in the hard surfacing of its highways. This hard surfacing program is absolutely essential to the further development of the tourist business for which the Upper Peninsula is especially adapted, and we stand in position to derive a substantial income from this source," Mr. Bishop said in explaining the committee's attitude.

Opposition to the diversion of highway funds is based on the fact that it would mean the cessation of all hard road construction in the upper peninsula. The proposal, which emanates from the larger lower Michigan cities, provides for the use of the present automobile weight and gasoline taxes to other highway purposes, in general disfavor in the upper peninsula. Lower Michigan has practically all its main highways improved and most of them paved, whereas the upper peninsula is just entering an era of highway improvement. If the state highway department loses the funds through diversion to the counties, it will mean that it cannot continue the extensive program of road building that has been planned for the northern section of the state.

Drastic curtailments in salaries and other current expenses of the bureau were effected by the committee.

been in touch with the kidnapers; that he had received instructions for the care of no one but the famous liar.

But Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, state police superintendent, said the information brought by Caldwell "has been checked and found to be of no importance in this investigation."

He added any further information presented by the Chicagoans "will be similarly checked and investigated."

Later at Trenton Caldwell said he first went to the Lindbergh home on March 17, returned to Chicago and came back to see Colonel Lindbergh again yesterday.

"All I can say at this time is that I possessed such information I believed would be of value and presented it to Colonel Lindbergh," he explained. "The situation is extremely critical and I desire to give Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh every possible assistance."

He refused to disclose the nature of the information he had turned over to the Lindberghs, or to explain what he meant by saying the "situation is extremely critical."

An attempt to link an alleged invasion of the Sourland countryside by Brooklyn gangsters with the kidnaping was spiked by Colonel Schwartzkopf.

MICHIGAN HIT BY SNOWSTORM

Transportation Delayed By Blizzard in Lower Part of State

Detroit, Mar. 22 (AP)—Southern Michigan dug its way out of snowbanks today, counted damages in broken power lines, delayed transportation and wrecked autos, and faced the third day of spring tomorrow with the promise of the weatherman that no more snow was in prospect.

After a mild winter, with a minimum of snow, spring turned the tables on the state last night with the heaviest snow blanket in recent years, ranging from less than an inch in Alpena to 15 inches at Allegan.

The storm was freakish in many sections. Sleet, rain and hail accompanied the snow in Detroit and southeastern Michigan, and thunder and lightning was reported in several parts of the state.

The blinding snow was indirectly responsible for three deaths in the state. Two persons were killed near Hart when their automobile was wrecked by a train, and a driver, blinded by snow, killed a 17-year-old boy in Saginaw.

Many Accidents

This afternoon the temperature rose several degrees, aiding in thawing out the snow-covered streets and highways. Weather forecasts promised a continuance of cold weather, but no more snow.

Detroit counted a heavy toll in automobile accidents, with many injuries reported, although none was injured fatally. Transportation was slowed by icy streets and several inches of snow. A heavy wind endangered highway travel, and snowplows were kept busy on the main routes.

Raymond Jenks, 17, of Saginaw, was fatally injured when he was pinned against a tree by a skidding automobile. James Rush, of Hart, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Rush, were killed last night when Rush drove his automobile on a crossing near the Ionia-Kent county line in front of a Grand Trunk passenger train during the snowstorm.

Government Grain Won't Be Dumped On Market--Stone

Washington, March 22 (AP)—A "malicious attempt to manipulate the grain market was attributed by Chairman Stone of the farm board today to sponsors of reports that large amounts of stabilization wheat will be dumped abroad."

He declared untrue persistent reports that George S. Milnor, general manager of the Farmers National Grain corporation had gone to Europe to arrange for the disposition of large quantities of government owned grain, in addition, Stone asserted flatly that no stabilization wheat would be dumped anywhere, and said the board's program for selling its holdings in monthly allotments, announced last July, had been followed and would not be changed.

Milnor sailed for Europe a week ago. Since then wheat prices have steadily declined and the report to which Stone referred has spread.

WETS DEMAND REPEAL VOTE

Dry Leaders in Senate Say They Welcome Challenge

Washington, Mar. 22 (AP)—Senate anti-prohibitionists today served notice they would seek a vote on repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment and dry leaders confidently challenged them to proceed with their plans.

Earlier, Senator Blaine (R., Wis.) moved to strike from the justice department appropriation measure the $11,000,000 dry enforcement fund and was defeated without a record vote.

Then Senator Tydings (D., Md.) presented a petition signed by twenty-four members asking the judiciary committee to submit it to the senate for a vote on the varied resolutions proposing repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment.

The submission of a petition is unnecessary to bring a measure from committee for a vote. A motion may be entered any time and a majority vote of the senate is all that is required.

Senator Borah suggested that the anti-prohibitionists get together on some form of resolution asking the senate to vote.

May Vote April 1

Chairman Norris of the judiciary committee told Tydings he was ready to take up the issue in the senate immediately by unanimous consent.

Tydings said he wished the petition to lie on the table until March 30 at which time he would move to bring about a vote.

Senator Borah (R., Idaho), a leader of the prohibition forces, suggested, with a smile, that the vote be had on April 1.

The petition asking the committee to report was signed by 13 Republicans, including Watson, of Indiana, the party leader, and 11 Democrats.

Blaine and Long of Louisiana, led the fight against the prohibition enforcement fund. The Wisconsin member said the enforcement had "involved the government in bribery and corruption."

Long said he had given enforcement officers the names of places selling liquor openly in New Orleans but the places had not been interfered with.

St. Clemens, Mich., Mar. 22 (AP)—An airplane came to the aid of its fellow denizens of the air today and 10,000 wild ducks enjoyed their first good meal in two weeks on the St. Clair river flats.

With the swamps frozen, the ducks have fallen on evil days of late. But today, a Selridge field plane took to the air with 500 pounds of corn and wheat which was scattered over the feeding grounds.

Today another plane is to carry food to a flock of black mallards sighted off New Baltimore after yesterday's grain supply was exhausted.

Police Nab Aliens Who Incited Insurgent Coal Miners

Wilkes Barre, Pa., March 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania police started today a roundup of aliens whom they accuse of inciting violence in the insurgent anthracite coal miners strike.

The strikers have broken away from the United Mine Workers of America and are striking in defiance of its officers in an effort to force equalization of work.

State police at Jessup seized Angelo Nunes, a Spaniard in the region only six weeks. After finding radical literature in his room and evidence of his alleged illegal entry into the United States, they turned him over to immigration authorities.

They continued to hold Mrs. Katherine Mendikowski of Wilkes Barre, arrested yesterday for distributing communistic literature.

Pinchot Acts

Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania also entered the mine picture today. He wrote a senate mining sub-committee hearing in Washington advocating passage of the Davis-Kelly bill to stabilize the bituminous industry.

"I have been told of instances where coal is loaded as low as a dollar a day for the loader," said Charles F. Hosford, Butler, Pa., president of the Butler Consolidated Coal company, in reply to a question from Senator Davis (R., Pa.).

Hosford proposed a measure providing for federal supervision but for less active government regulation than is called for in the Davis-Kelly bill now under consideration.

Capt. Ira H. Marmon of the Michigan state police, heading the investigators, said the attorneys have more than 50 cases pending in probate courts in Detroit, Philadelphia, Chicago and Newark, N. J., with a total of several hundred thousand dollars in estate money involved.

Two persons, a man and a woman, were taken before the grand jury today, following their arrest yesterday on perjury charges. They are Quincy Keis, 60, and Mrs. Fannie Marks, 32. Officials said both were involved in an attempt to gain estate money through false testimony.

Mine Operators Make Request For Gov't Control

Washington, March 22 (AP)—Dollar a day wages in some of the western Pennsylvania coal fields were reported before a senate mining subcommittee today as a succession of mine operators urged government regulation as the only salvation for the bituminous industry.

Soviet Officials Deny Peasants Had Been Shot Down

Moscow, March 22 (AP)—Reports out of Rumania that Soviet soldiers had shot down peasants on the Ukrainian frontier were characterized by Soviet officials today as "too absurd to warrant a formal denial."

The Rumanian reports said observers on the border told of women having been shot in the Ukraine by Red army troops who sought to destroy churches and religious emblems in Russia's anti-religious campaign. Other peasants were shot while trying to escape over the border, the reports added.

Officials here said the area was a constant source of anti-Soviet rumors which had no foundation.

ROUND UP REDS IN STRIKE AREA

Police Nab Aliens Who Incited Insurgent Coal Miners

Wilkes Barre, Pa., March 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania police started today a roundup of aliens whom they accuse of inciting violence in the insurgent anthracite coal miners strike.

The strikers have broken away from the United Mine Workers of America and are striking in defiance of its officers in an effort to force equalization of work.

State police at Jessup seized Angelo Nunes, a Spaniard in the region only six weeks. After finding radical literature in his room and evidence of his alleged illegal entry into the United States, they turned him over to immigration authorities.

They continued to hold Mrs. Katherine Mendikowski of Wilkes Barre, arrested yesterday for distributing communistic literature.

Pinchot Acts

Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania also entered the mine picture today. He wrote a senate mining sub-committee hearing in Washington advocating passage of the Davis-Kelly bill to stabilize the bituminous industry.

"I have been told of instances where coal is loaded as low as a dollar a day for the loader," said Charles F. Hosford, Butler, Pa., president of the Butler Consolidated Coal company, in reply to a question from Senator Davis (R., Pa.).

Hosford proposed a measure providing for federal supervision but for less active government regulation than is called for in the Davis-Kelly bill now under consideration.

Jury Investigates Work Of Attorneys In Estate Cases

Detroit, March 22 (AP)—The Wayne county grand jury today took up an investigation of reported activities of a group of attorneys who, it is charged, have been providing spurious heirs in estate cases, obtaining thousands of dollars from cases in probate court.

Capt. Ira H. Marmon of the Michigan state police, heading the investigators, said the attorneys have more than 50 cases pending in probate courts in Detroit, Philadelphia, Chicago and Newark, N. J., with a total of several hundred thousand dollars in estate money involved.

Two persons, a man and a woman, were taken before the grand jury today, following their arrest yesterday on perjury charges. They are Quincy Keis, 60, and Mrs. Fannie Marks, 32. Officials said both were involved in an attempt to gain estate money through false testimony.

Report Gangsters Planned To Free Harold Fontaine

Windsor, Ont., March 22 (AP)—Reports that Detroit gangsters were planning to release Harold Fontaine, held for United States authorities, caused provincial officials to place an extra guard around the Essex county jail at Sandwich today and also at the home of its governor, Colonel John Warden.

Colonel Warden said he had information the gangsters intended to seize him, his wife and their daughter and force him to release Fontaine. Fontaine has been held here six weeks. He is wanted at the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans. In connection with a jailbreak there several months ago. "LEFT OVER LADIES"

"Are you sure you're keeping kissable?"

Your poise and grace,
Your lovely face,
Your rosebud lips, all cry "Come Hither!"
Why spoil their lure
With "smokes" impure?
Why cause my love to fade and wither?

You smoke OLD GOLDS?
Lady, that holds
My heart in bonds that will not sever,
Because it shows
You're one who knows
How to keep kissable forever!

OLD GOLDS bring balm,
Throat-ease and calm;
They have a mild and rich completeness.
They're fragrant, too,
And—just like you
They win because of natural sweetness!

MUNISING CUTS TEACHERS' PAY

Eliminate School Nurse; Expect Savings of Over $7,000

Munising, March 22.—The members of the Munising township board of education held a regular meeting last Monday evening, and according to suggestions presented in the report of the committee on teachers' salaries, made a cut of from 10 to 12 1/2 per cent in the salaries of all teachers and five janitors, and also decided to dispense with the services of the school nurse. It is estimated that this cut will effect a saving of about $7,000 per year in salaries. The action taken was wholly as an economic measure to meet present conditions and meets with the approval of all. The highest salary paid in the Munising district, before the cut, was $4,300 per year to the superintendent, the principal of the high school, coming next with a salary of $3,200. The average salaries paid to the teachers was approximately $1,800. The number of teachers and janitors affected is nearly 50. The teaching staff in Munising township in 1931 was 42 teachers, school nurse and five janitors. In the rural schools of the township, that is, at Shingleton, Wetmore, Van Meer and Melstrand the principal of each school will do the janitor work at a small salary in addition to regular teachers' pay. All employees receiving above $1,200 will be reduced 12 1/2 per cent and all receiving less than 1,000 will be reduced 10 per cent. In employing teachers in the future the preference whenever a vacancy occurs, also, teachers who marry while under contract to teach will not be re-engaged at expiration of contract, new contracts will contain a provision requiring resignation in case of marriage while contract is in effect.

Miss Dorothy Hill, who has been employed as school nurse for several years received a salary of $1,800 per year and is the only employee of the board who suffers a total loss from abolition of the office she held. Miss Hill has a teachers' life certificate and rendered fine service in her official capacity.

Mr. Potter thinks there will be about 1,200 votes cast at the spring election. The question of expending the surplus money left from the sales of last year's street and water works upon street improvement work this year, will also be voted on. FIRE FIGHTERS ARE ORGANIZED

INSTRUCTIONS to the fire wardens and other conservation officers of the district, who will take to the woods on April 1, were given at a meeting held in Escanaba Monday.

The approach of the forest fire season is always dreaded in the upper peninsula. The experiences of the past have shown that almost any kind of a calamity can be expected. Thousands of dollars' worth of timber may be burned, settlers' homes may be reduced to ashes, and even the lives of humans may be lost in the flames.

Last year, particularly, was a disastrous season for upper peninsula. The prolonged drought created a high fire hazard, and this serious condition was aggravated by the fact that there was considerable incendiaryism, undoubtedly, plotted by unemployed persons who desired to provide opportunities for work in fighting these set blazes.

The prevention of forest fires is the best means of effecting the conservation of the state's natural resources. Thousands of dollars may be spent in planting trees and stocking the streams and woods with fish and game life, but all this good work could be undone by fire.

Curbing of the fire menace, however, is too big a job for the conservation department workers alone. The public's cooperation is necessary. More than ordinary caution on the part of everyone who goes into the woods is needed. To leave a burning camp fire, to toss away a lighted match, to leave a burning cigar or cigarette in the woods, are violations of the law. To a large extent Michigan must depend upon the sense of responsibility of its citizens to enforce and observe this law.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

A PHILADELPHIA department store executive the other day announced that the America of the future will be a nation of players instead of workers.

Men will work three hours a day, he said, and play the rest of the time. There will be no hurry, no nervous strain, no rush, no poverty, no business depressions—everything, in fact, will be pretty nearly ideal.

The present is, perhaps, a rather unfortunate moment to be getting predictions of that kind. There are, indeed, many millions of Americans today who ask nothing more of the future than that it give them a job—any kind of a job, with long hours and poor pay, if necessary, so long as it supports them.

But the interesting thing about it all is that there is a large measure of truth in this Philadelphia forecast.

That fact makes the existing depression more exasperating than any previous one; but it also makes it easier for people to tighten their belts and look to the future.

We are, right now, so far from the ideal state described above that we have around 8,000,000 unemployed. Yet it has been growing more clear every year that there is no solid, material reason why every item on that glittering program cannot be turned into a reality.

It is technically possible, today, for the nation's workmen to produce enough of everything, necessities and luxuries together, to go around, without working at anything like full capacity.

At the moment, that means misery, unemployment, want. But it can be translated into a tremendous opportunity. Sooner or later we shall find out how to turn our unparalleled productive power—the cause of most of our trouble today—into a genuine asset instead of a liability.

When that day comes, a program like the one outlined here will go into effect easily and naturally. It is physically possible right now. All that is needed is the proper kind of planning, the right kind of directing genius. To be sure, the job won't be done overnight. But we need to eling to a realization of the fact that it can be done. A hope like that can make the business of waiting for prosperity a whole lot easier.

AROUND THE U. P.

THE Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, backing a movement to sell graded potatoes raised in this section of the country, wants a suitable name for them. For the time being they are called Green Mountain potatoes. That, of course, is all wrong. They should bear a different label. Why not, as the bureau suggests, call them Paul Bunyan potatoes or give them a label more appropriate to the region where they are grown?

Twenty years of service as an officer ended for Joseph P. Carney of Escanaba when he died last week. Escanaba considered Carney one of the best officers the city has ever had. State and federal officers who travel throughout the Peninsula say more than that. They were of the opinion Carney was the best officer in the Peninsula. Carney was the Upper Peninsula's first motorcycle police. He served successfully in various capacities on the Escanaba force, later as sheriff of Delta county and when he died he was undersheriff. Police circles had no better term than Carney and Sheriff Elmer Swanson.

How many persons from this part of the state are among the disillusioned in Russia? A late dispatch from Moscow relates that several hundred Americans who went to Soviet Russia with plans for jobs, homes and other benefits of the Communist state, were informed Wednesday night that they must leave the country without delay. Many of the Americans sold all of their belongings and invested virtually all of their money in transportation to Russia. Most of them now are stranded and penniless.

The strangest letter in years came to the First National bank in Menominee last week. It came from a woman in Windsor Locks, Conn., who asks for information regarding Joe Nedeau who was "stolen by Indians when four years old and would be about 77 years now. When stolen he lived in Canada in St. Gabriel Brandon." The writer was informed Nedeau was brought to Upper Michigan after he had been taken away from the Indians. Several Nedeau families used to live in Menominee county, but they spelled their names with an "a" instead of the first "e." A village in Menominee county bears that name.

Anniversary

Further German Successes

On March 23, 1918, the great German offensive in Picardy continued, the attackers driving the British back more than five miles on a 25-mile front.

German bulletins on the battle said that their troops were on schedule in the drive and had taken more than 25,000 prisoners.

The Fifth British Army, under General Gough, was in full retreat and was almost demoralized, the German reports said. The group in question was composed of 200,000 veteran troops.

Admitting that the fate of the war hung in the balance, French divisions were hastily rushed into the breach made between the British and French lines and succeeded in stopping, for the time, the German assaults. In this phase of the action, 30,000 French troops were opposed by nearly 150,000 Germans.

Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, in command of the British forces in France, asked for further French and American reinforcements immediately in view of the prospects for still further attacks from new German divisions reported to have been moved into the salient created by the offensive of the three previous days.

THE DIME-A-DANCE GIRL

(By NEA Service) BY JOAN CLAYTON

CHAPTER XLII

"Of course I'd want to tell him about Steven," Ellen went on, "though if I thought telling him would destroy his faith in me or destroy any happiness we might otherwise build up together, I wouldn't tell."

"My child, you've grown up," Symes told her a little sadly. "The next day, Sunday, ushered in the first of the autumn rains. All day long the rain came down. Late in the afternoon Myra and Bert, bundled into slickers and galoshes, called at the old apartment. They carried damp, heavy armloads of Sunday newspapers.

There was nothing about Steven Barclay in the news column but in one of the society sections Ellen found a picture of Larry, an old picture badly reproduced. Seeing it, she was seized with sharp longing for him, to hear his gay voice and careless laugh.

"When no one was observing her Ellen tore out the picture. "Ha!" Myra exclaimed significantly. "Ellen whirled. Her color deepened and she had an impulse to hide the picture but she did not. She only stood flushing furiously, the picture pressed against her heart."

"I was wondering if you'd do that," Myra observed, a wise smile on her lips. "I saw the picture, too."

"Why shouldn't I?" Ellen demanded in a trembling, half defiant way. "No reason at all, my dear. Here's wishing you all the luck in the world!"

"It doesn't really seem right for me to be thinking of Larry, does it?" Ellen asked timidly. "Goodness!" Myra ejaculated. "Haven't you learned yet that love has nothing to do with right and wrong? The person who said all's fair in love and war understood that."

Ellen crossed the room and sank to the footstool at Myra's feet. "You aren't sorry about that?" Myra asked curiously.

"Ellen considered. "It would have been nice to be rich," she admitted honestly. "Nice for mother and for Mike. Still I'm glad I didn't take any money. It makes the whole thing seem better somehow—makes it easier to forget and that's what I want to do."

"You've done that already," Myra hazarded. "Truly Ellen thought that she had."

THE following night Ellen returned to Dreamland and danced again. Salomon rejoiced at the chance to regain her services. None of the other hostesses was inquisitive about what she had been doing—none, that is, except Tony. Tony was difficult with her teasing, persistent questions but Ellen only told her that she had changed her mind about being married. After a while Tony reluctantly let the matter drop there.

Ellen found the evening long. A light and feverish restlessness seized her when she heard the familiar voices, saw the familiar setting and familiar faces. As she danced again and again and filled her pocketbook with green tickets, as she sat smiling across the table seeming to listen to her partner's conversation, she was thinking that at any moment Larry might come swinging through the door. But he did not come. She had been foolish to think he would come, foolish to believe he would have a way of knowing she was there.

Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday increased her feverish longing. She questioned Tony about the last time he had been there. Surely he would come again. She considered and then discarded the notion of calling Symes to ask his help. Ellen knew in some deep and secret way that Larry would come again to Dreamland. She knew that she was waiting for him.

Friday morning she read in the society columns that Larry Harrowgate was to sail for Europe with his mother in four days. Four days! The world went black. He would be gone so soon and she had no way to hold him. A dozen times that day she started toward the telephone to call him; a dozen times she restrained herself.

As the hours dragged by Ellen thought that she would die of sheer heartbreak. Molly noticed she was drooping and tried to dose her with a favored tonic but Ellen refused to be dosed.

SICK with misery she went again to Dreamland Friday night. No hope of Larry tonight. If he were sailing it meant no hope at all. She was restless, impatient and annoyed with her partners, unable to keep her eyes from straying over their shoulders to the door. Oh why didn't Larry come!

At half past 10 she saw him. Ellen was not dancing and did not see him coming up the stairs. She caught sight of him when he stopped at the ticket booth. His back was toward her. The girl did not move but sat very still as one in the presence of a miracle. In her heart was a sense of exquisite peace.

He turned. She started from her chair, a greeting on her lips. She saw him pause, sweep the room with eager eyes. Their glances met. For a moment the trembling, confused, almost deliriously excited girl did not understand. It seemed to her that Larry flushed, and then the warmth left her and she went icy cold.

For Larry's gaze moved past her. Without a sign of recognition he strolled to Tony's table. She heard him laugh as he asked Tony to dance with him. For a long time Ellen remained seated. The room buzzed with voices. Even the clatter of traffic and the faint, faraway noises of the street seemed only to accentuate the gale of the dance floor. They were happy, the little dancing girls in their filmy frocks, eager and expectant, excited as they laughed up into the eyes of their partners. Ellen knew that mood. She remembered when she too had been as jubilant.

"It's all finished," she thought impersonally, almost as if she were thinking of another girl. "It's all finished between Larry and me. It's as completely ended as if it had never happened."

He was here in this very room and he had not spoken to her. He had turned away indifferently to dance with another girl. Ellen meant nothing to him, had never meant anything to him. The fact that they had not met for weeks—that meant nothing either. "He's forgotten me," she told herself in endless and bewildered pain. "I'm no more to him than a girl he might have met on a ferry boat. I'm nothing to him and I've thought of nothing except him for months."

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch (Copyright 1932 by Douglas Malloch)

THE LITTLE FLOWER I think I love the little flower - A little more each day: It was a year ago that ours Had come and gone away. She blossomed for a little while. How brief she never knew. Yes, gave the world her little smile And vanished like the dew. I think God loves the little flower - A little more than all. Before their petals fall. And in His garden in His sky. Beside some brighter shore. The little flower's that seem to die Bloom on forevermore.

DOG AND OWNER PERISH IN FIRE

Alvin Gray, 66, Found Monday in Shack Near Wilson

In the charred ruins of a shack five miles south of Wilson on the Kleiman road, neighbors Monday found the charred body of Alvin Gray, 66, and his dog companion, who had been living there since last fall when the home was built.

Deputy Sheriff Peter Houle was called, and after an investigation concluded that the fire had probably resulted accidentally from a stove or chimney spark, and that the man and his dog perished in the flames sometime Sunday night or early Monday morning. Friends had visited at Gray's place Sunday night, and reported him in apparent good health at that time. The coroner concurred in the theory of death due to an accidental fire.

Mr. Gray was born in 1876 at Waupaca, Wis., and lived most of his life there. He came to the vicinity of Wilson three years ago. A daughter, Mrs. Lutes of Wilson, claimed the body, and will have charge of arrangements for the funeral.

Salt & Pepper Bits of Seasoning in Local News for Today

IT HAPPENED IN OUR ALLEYS

The scene was a March evening, on one of the drives of the well known Escanaba bowling alleys. Kegeler No. 1 had just lost two games, but stood an even chance of winning the third, with stakes doubled, on his count of 162 pins. Kegeler No. 2 needed a spare and eight pins to beat him. Then the luck which smiles alike on bowlers and dubs gave Kegeler No. 2 a "seven-ten" split, and every maple mauler knows that a seven pin on one side and a 10 pin on the other are as apart as far as hitting them with one ball are concerned, and "seldom the twain shall meet."

Things were looking up for Kegeler No. 1 with his score of 162 and he rubbed his hands with the satisfaction of anticipation. The stakes were practically his'n. Meanwhile, as Kegeler No. 2 contemplated the task before him, alley kibitzers speculated on the possibility of seeing up a seven-ten hangover. Just a possibility, 'n'understand, as Kegeler No. 2 had never laid claims to any aptitudes, and no one could remember when a seven-ten had been made on the local alleys. Someone volunteered the information that the only possible way was to hit the seven pin sharp and thin on the inside, knock it against the bounding board, and take a chance on bouncing it straight and true across the alley to knock over the remaining pin.

Then, to the astonishment of on-lookers and the chagrin of his worthy opponent, Kegeler No. 2 proceeded to do just that. His pin was clipped, bounced and catapulted just as the theory dictates, the spare was made, and he won the game by one pin!

"At this point, Kegeler No. 1 might be pardoned for asking: "Was that fair?"

At any rate, he was game enough to take his opponent on for a game of dice where skill is not paramount and Lady Luck is more lenient, and legend says that the shakes of the cubes enabled him to win some small measure of recompense by trimming said opponent of the alleys with stakes doubled and redoubled.

If there is a moral to this, make the most of it.

Fingers Crushed; Caught In Wringer

Mrs. Matt Homes, 611 South Thirteenth street, was painfully injured Tuesday morning when the fingers of her left hand became caught in the wringer of an electric washing machine at the family home. The middle finger was badly crushed and the flesh was torn from the bone. She was taken to St. Francis hospital where the hand was treated. It was at first believed the finger would need to be amputated but the injured member will be saved. Mrs. Homes was formerly Miss Margaret Potry.

Escanaba Taxes 83 Percent Paid

A summary of tax payments in Escanaba up to March 1 shows 17 percent of the city levy, and 23 percent of the state county and school tax unpaid up to that date. This record compares favorably with other years.

The tentative figures up to March 1 on collections are as follows: City tax: levy, $117,664.30; unpaid, $19,975.37; percent unpaid, 17. State, county and school tax: levy, $325,413.83; unpaid, $75,794.73; percent unpaid 23.

Legion Cooperates In Convention Plans

At the suggestion of Otto K. Scherif, chairman of the committee arranging for the Spanish-American War veterans reunion in Escanaba, July 3, 4 and 5, a committee from the American Legion has been appointed by Commander Phil Bruce to confer with the convention committee on entertainment features planned for the gathering.

Several big attractions are being considered for the days of the convention and reunion.

Pledges For Jobs Now Total $17,241

Additional pledges coming in Tuesday brought the total of work in Escanaba's "war against depression" up to $17,241, with 30 teams reported, and only nine of them finished with the work in their districts.

The special committee assigned to the Ludington street business district is at work this week, and committees covering churches, schools and public buildings will be ready to report by the end of the month.

Foreign service officials of the U. S. Department of State and Commerce and the Association of Life Insurance Presidents in the United States have estimated the world total life insurance at more than $147,000,000,000.

AMUSEMENTS

The romance of a hardened "come on" girl with an ambitious, young police detective is related with considerable dramatic effect in "The Beast of the City," which opened yesterday at the Delft Theatre.

Here is a fresh angle on the "never the twain shall meet" theme for the extremes of the gangster world and the world of law and order are brought into conflict, the ensuing complications making for a plot which keeps its audience on the alert every minute. The picture is given added vividness and power by a background which discloses the machinations of politicians who work hand in hand with the gangster element making the problem of law enforcement a doubly difficult one.

The story is built around the typical American who, determined methods used by police chief to clean up the town, insure the wrath of political bosses who have much to gain by a more lenient rule, and he loses his job. A display of heroism during a gangster raid results in such outstanding public acclaim that the frightened "big ball powers" are forced to recall him.

Having won one battle, the police chief now finds himself up against an even greater problem, for the forces of corruption have entered his own home. His brother, the detective, obsessed with a passion for an underworld girl, deserts his own cause to ally himself with the girl's gangster associates. The unwinding of this story to a gripping and logical conclusion makes for dramatic screen material of the first order.

to inspect our new quarters at 918-920 Ludington Street. It has taken us weeks to prepare for your visit, but we believe the results warrant the time and effort spent in this preparation. We hope you'll take a few minutes today to drop in and say "hello" and look over these departments. We will "stand treat" with suitable souvenirs for all visitors, men, women and children.

MEN'S WEAR . . .

This department needs little introduction to the Men and Young Men. Such nationally-known labels as Society Brand, Dobbs, Faultless, Enro, Vassar, Wilson Bros., Superba, Freeman and others equally famous as leaders in their respective lines, are old favorites and in following the downward trend in prices have maintained their popularity with those who shop for value. The working man has not been overlooked in this department. Well known labels place their mark of quality on the union-made garments making up our complete stock.

READY-TO-WEAR . . .

Here's a brand new department and one that received much careful attention in building. We chose Marshall Fields line of dresses and coats. In opening this department at the height of the spring season, we are in the enviable position of being able to offer an entirely new stock which, of course, means Spring's best styles at the prevailing low prices.

FOOTWEAR . . .

Quality leathers, the newest styles and popular prices is the motto for this department. The Quality, Style and Price of Star Brand Shoes meet the requirements of this motto. They are featured here in all sizes and widths. For the children we have a complete stock of "Poll Parrot" shoes, dress shoes for the men bear the Freeman brand and there is also a good line of work shoes.

CHILDREN'S WEAR . . .

The children haven't been slighted in this department. From head to foot, the little boy or little girl can be outfitted here at a minimum cost. The stocks are complete and new in every respect. All items are attractive and because they were purchased this spring the values will stand comparison with those to be found in any children's wear department.

DRYGOODS . . .

This has long been a feature department with us. Larger quarters enable us to give it better displays and a more complete stock. We have made a special effort to gather an excellent assortment of volles, prints, percales, domestics, linens and curtains. Stocks for the entire department are new and offer you the advantage to be had in price concessions obtainable now.

Easter Time Egg Dishes Urged by Economics Group

Not for twenty years have eggs cost so little at Easter time as now. And spring is the season for quality—more good eggs come on the market in April than at any other time of year.

In almost countless ways, eggs can be used as the main dish of any meal. For variety, they can be served with different seasonings and sauces; poached on toast with tomato sauce; for example; hard-cooked with Spanish sauce; curried; baked with cheese; or creamed with ham and served on toast.

Eggs are body-building foods. Egg yolk is fed to the baby to supplement his milk, and a whole egg each day is a good rule to follow for little children.

On egg dishes. A boiling temperature toughens white of eggs, they say, therefore don't put eggs in boiling water if you want tender whites. Start them in cold water, enough to cover them, and heat the water gradually to simmering, but do not let it boil.

A Book A Day

William Beebe, when he wants a change of scene, puts on a bathing suit and a diver's helmet and goes down for a stroll on the bottom of the sea.

He carries with him a sort of combination bow and arrow and slingshot arrangement, and when he comes to the surface he usually has a collection of slain fish to take home and brood over.

Nonsuch is a tiny island in a bay at one end of Bermuda. Mr. Beebe established a marine laboratory there and spent two or three years studying the life of the adjacent sea and shore.

Just offshore there was a submerged island, where he spent hours on more or less intimate terms with the fish. He had a launch, and for diversion he would sail about in it shooting flying fish with a shotgun—marvelous sport, he assures us.

"Nonsuch" is a fine book. Don't miss it.

STATE ACQUIRES LAKE PROPERTY

4,200 Feet Frontage on South Shore of Indian Lake Obtained

Confirmation of the report that 4,200 feet of Lake frontage on Indian Lake had been acquired by the state was received here when it was recently learned that the transaction had been completed at a meeting of the department of conservation on March 11.

The property acquired by the state is located along the south shore of Indian Lake and includes two lots which were formerly the property of Vic Deemer of this city.

The use to which the property would be put was not stated, but the first report emanating from the park division of the department of conservation declared that it will serve as a camping ground and public bathing beach.

It further stated that "as soon as funds become available, the park division plans to erect a bathhouse, sanitary facilities, and other buildings on the property to serve as a camping grounds and as a public bathing beach."

The park has a long strip of sand beach on one of the most beautiful lakes in the upper peninsula and a lake that has a reputation for fishing qualities.

The park on Indian Lake will be incorporated as a part of the Palms-Book state park and will offer camping facilities for visitors desiring to see the Big Spring.

U. S. Takes Lead in International Net Matches

VAN RYN, LOTT TAKE DOUBLES

American Forces Must Win One of Two Singles Matches

New York, Mar. 22 (AP)—Uncle Sam's tennis forces took a commanding lead in their indoor tennis match with France when George Lott, Jr., and Johnny Van Ryn scored a four-set victory over the visiting pair, Jean Borotra and Antoine Gentien, tonight. The scores were 15-13, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

As a result, the home boys will need only to break even in the remaining two singles matches to tomorrow night to reclaim the international trophy France won last year. Gregory Mangin gave the United States one singles victory in the opening engagements last night, when he defeated Christian Boususs.

Boususs, who was to have played with Borotra in the doubles, withdrew at the last minute to rest a leg injured in his match with Mangin. His absence from the line-up undoubtedly weakened France's cause tonight, as Gentien is several notches lower in the French ranking. Boususs, however, will be in condition to play his singles tilt against Frank Shields tomorrow night.

It was Gentien who finally broke under the strain of the prolonged opening set tonight. The little substitute held fast until the twenty-seventh game, when Lott and Van Ryn cracked his service to give them the needed advantage. With Boususs in there, it might have been different.

Montreal Canadiens Clinch First Place

Montreal, Mar. 22 (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens clinched first place in the Canadian section of the National Hockey League tonight, defeating Toronto, 4 to 2. Toronto finished the season in second place.

Up to tonight the Leafs had a chance to capture the lead. A victory would have given them a tie in points and in the won-lost record and their goal average was better.

At first it looked as if they might turn the trick. Only 25 seconds after the game started Joe Primeau netted a Toronto goal on Charlie Conacher's assist. But the Canadian "old guard" led a furious rush that gave the habitués a 3-1 lead before the first period ended and they held that margin, indicative of the tight battle, only three penalties were inflicted.

Athletics Wallop Poor Phillies, 15-7

Fort Myers, Fla., Mar. 22 (AP)—Two teams, billed as the Athletics and the Phillies, but looking unlike either, tangled in a bit of exercise here today, and the Mack club won, 15 to 7.

Connie Mack used few regulars, while Burt Shotton brought mainly substitutes over the 110-mile trail from Winter Haven. Homers were hit by Bishop, with two on, and by George Davis and Rube Bressler for the Phils.

Yankees Shutout Boston Braves, 2-0

St. Petersburg, Fla., Mar. 22 (AP)—With Herb Pennock and George Piggas pitching three-hit ball, the New York Yankees defeated the Boston Braves 2 to 0 today.

The Braves collected three scattered hits off Piggas after Pennock had held them hitless through the first five innings. Old Tom Zachary was on the mound in the first inning, when the Yankees scored all of their runs on three of their six hits.

Brisk Demand For Banquet Tickets

Fans who desire tickets for the fan-athlete banquet to be held at the Ludington hotel next Monday are advised to make application for the tickets as soon as possible as only a limited number of ducaats will be sold. Application can be made by calling phone 706, Jack Chevigny, Notre Dame football coach, will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Demand for the tickets has been brisk but there still are some remaining and these will be sold to the first bidder. According to the plan for the banquet, each fan will take one Escanaba high school athlete as his guest. The Escanaba high school athletic association is sponsoring the event.

Jack Chevigny, the principal speaker for the evening, is a former Notre Dame football player, playing halfback on several Rockne-coached teams before he took up a position as assistant coach at the university. Chevigny in his college days gained a reputation as one of the grittiest athletes ever to represent Notre Dame. Gaining a reputation for grit on a football squad called "The Fighting Irish" because of their reputation for fight, is no small task as fans who are familiar with the sport of football will admit. In addition to his remarkable work as an athlete and as a builder of men, Chevigny is much in demand as a public speaker. Like his tutor, the immortal Rockne, Chevigny has wit and poise and the ability to bring out his point with sparkling emphasis.

50 into the federal treasury. Action came after the house had defeated a super-estate tax proposed by Representative Lewis (D. Md.), which would have reached a maximum levy of 40 per cent on estates over $50,000. The vote was 204 to 48.

Controversial Beer Tax The house will take up minor legislation tomorrow, but when it resumes consideration of the sales tax on Thursday it will have several amendments to dispose of before a real test is made.

Ways and means committee amendments proposed by Acting Chairman Crisp, exempting food, clothing, prescribed medicines, farm implements, insecticides and malt syrup when used in making bread, and one by Representative Cullen (D. N. Y.), to impose a three cent a pint tax on beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content, will have to be decided upon.

Representative Blanton (D. Tex.), reserved a point of order on the beer amendment which must be fought out. Representative Bankhead (D. Ala.), presiding chairman, will be asked to make a ruling on whether it can go in the bill.

HUNDREDS SEEK HUGE ESTATES

Wendel and Wood Fortunes In Court Litigation

New York, March 22 (AP)—The prodigious estates of two aged women, whose hermit-like lives were strangely similar, today attracted enough claimants to populate a village as lawyers sought to untangle the skein of distant relationships.

One contest involved the millions willed to charity by Miss Ella Von E. Wendel, who thought herself the last of her family when she died in the gloomy brownstone mansion that stands amid the sleek modernity of mid-town Fifth avenue.

The other involved the fortune carefully hoarded by Mrs. Ida Mayfield Wood, who refused to trust banks after the panic of 1907 and kept nearly $1,000,000 in cash in paper bags and the lining of old black dresses.

Decision Reserved Surrogate James A. Foley is hearing both cases. There was scarcely room enough in the courtroom for the many lawyers who came to represent Wendel claimants. One by one they arose to announce the number each represented. Toward the end those who represented 15 or 20 spoke diffidently, even apologetically, as they contributed to the grand total of 1,822 who want to share in the fortune of approximately $75,000,000.

The court reserved decision on several motions for bills of particulars, and set April 10 for hearing on the subject of jurisdiction. There were fewer claimants for the relatively small Wood estate, though two groups sought to be named administrators.

One was headed by her nephew, Otis F. Wood, who was her guardian during the last months of her life; the other group comprised step-grandchildren and step-great-grandchildren.

He added it was very difficult for a candidate to get the required two-thirds and said he still favored abolishment of this party rule, despite Roosevelt's present lead.

FAVORS ROOSEVELT

Washington, March 22 (AP)—The Democrats were urged to nominate Governor Roosevelt of New York for the presidency tonight by Senator Barkley of Kentucky in a statement in which he said he was not a candidate for the honor.

Barkley made his position known in replying to an inquiry from Dr. James H. Richmond, Kentucky superintendent of public instruction, who had asked whether his state's delegation to the Democratic convention instructed to vote for him.

The Kentucky Democrat said that in his opinion "is no time for compliments to so-called favorite sons," adding that the Democratic party had its greatest opportunity since Wilson's election to "lead this nation out of incompetence and disaster."

HUGE LOSSES; TWISTERS DIP INTO 5 STATES

He hung suspended until daylight when he was rescued and taken to a hospital believed fatally injured. One man was killed near Spartanburgh, S. C., and at Gaffney, S. C., a negro woman lost her life in the collapse of her dwelling.

Rescue workers pressed into wrecked communities throughout the tornado ravished areas all day and tonight still were working to aid the hundreds of injured and homeless.

The Red Cross was organizing in Alabama for quick relief of the injured, and Governor B. M. Miller appealed for contributions in a proclamation to the people of his state.

PHILLIES DOING A "DR. JEYKLL"

Discard Old Methods and Learn Fine Points Of Game

BY ALAN GOULD, (Associated Press Sports Editor) Winter Haven, Fla., Mar. 22 (AP)—The Phillies will change the label on their brand of baseball this season.

After years of slugging from their shoe tops, trading punch for punch without getting anywhere in particular, Burt Shotton, the gray fox, is teaching his boys "inside stuff."

The Phillies are not only running the bases but actually stealing them. This correspondent was an eye witness to an almost incredible day's work in which these Phils produced a double steal, worked the sacrifice for the hit, and the run, finally wound up by executing the squeeze play with a rookie catcher, Al Todd, at bat.

"More Variety" To our look of wonder and amazement on the bench, Shotton smiled wilyly, as though about to pull a half dozen rabbits out of the hat bag, and explained: "Whether or not it gets us anywhere, we are going to have more variety in our play this year than before. I am not one of the prophets who say the home run will become extinct. I would be daft to say so because you know as well as I do that we are not selling heavy hitters down the river."

"But the game has changed to such an extent that very few teams can depend entirely on slugging for their runs. We can get more runs by taking more chances on the bases; by crossing up the other fellows with a bunt when they expect a line drive. The club has some speed. I am working all the boys on the bunt so they will at least know how. We will see if a little more alertness to opportunities cannot get us up somewhere."

Has Good Hurlers With the best pitching prospects he has had in years, a first class infield, good catching and hopes for a better outfield, Shotton believes his club will show improvement.

It has no pennant hallucinations but it has a chance to break into the first division if Clise Dudley comes through to make a pitching "big four" with Phil Collins, Ray Benge and Jumbo Jim Elliott, who won 19 games last season. Shotton will be delighted if the team can add a dozen more games to the "won" column.

Dudley won only eight games last season whereas the other three averaged 15 apiece. He should do much better this year. In addition, Shotton has a trio of exceptionally bright prospects in Roy Hansen, angular southpaw from Dallas; Reg Grabowski, picked up as a free agent; and Edgar Holley, who won 14 games for Kansas City in 1931 and looks like a real find. Bob Adams, former Jacksonville boy who twirled for Richmond last season, is another good prospect although he needs more seasoning. Stew Bolton, southpaw, and Frank Watt, right-hander, both may be retained.

Two Of Oldest Hat Companies Merge

New York, Mar. 22 (AP)—Announcement of the signing of contracts for the merger of Cavanagh Dobbs, Inc., and the Knox Hat Co., was made tonight by the banking firm of Wertheim & Co., under whose auspices the new combination was arranged.

The two companies are among the oldest in the hat industry and the largest is expected to create the largest hat manufacturing concern in the United States. The Knox business was established in 1833 and the Crouf & Knapp Co., predecessors of Cavanagh-Dobbs, was formed in 1858.

Detroit, Mar. 22 (AP)—The Detroit Falcons and New York's league leading Rangers ended their current National Hockey League session here tonight, the Falcons nosing out the Rangers five to four in a free scoring match.

Although the game was fast, neither squad took any chances of incurring injuries that might hamper their play-off games. Only six penalties were called, four in the final period when the Rangers made a desperate effort to forge into the lead.

The Falcons scored three goals in the first session to the Rangers one. Each team scored once in the second period, and the Rangers tallied twice in the final period to the Falcons single score.

KEARNS SIGNS FOR FIGHTERS

Manager of Walker and Fields Approves Contracts

Chicago, March 22 (AP)—Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker and Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, tonight signed blanket contracts with the Chicago stadium, for each boxer to meet five opponents.

Of the five battles for Walker, the first tentatively is scheduled for April 29, with George Nichols, who won National Boxing Association recognition as light heavyweight champion in the stadium last Friday night. Nichols, however, has not signed, because of an injury suffered in his title bout with Dave Maher.

Walker also is signed to meet King Levinsky, the Chicago wild swinger, sometime in May. Levinsky has not yet signed, and his sister-manager, Mrs. Lena Levy, has said he will do no negotiating until after April 15. Kearns named Ernie Schauf, Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling, world heavyweight champion, as Walker's other choices.

Fields has agreed to meet the winner of the Bat Battalion-Billy Petrole bout in New York Thursday night, on April 15, or one week later, and Jimmy McLarin on a May date. Battalino and Petrole have promised Promoter Nate Levin's services, but an argument over a return match in the event McLarin defeats Fields for the welterweight title, is holding up that bout.

4 COURT CASES WILL BE HEARD

Luce County Calendar Reveals Trials of But Little Interest

Only three or possibly four criminal cases will come before Judge Herbert W. Rannels and a jury this term of circuit court which opened on Monday morning at Newberry. Emil Lahti charged with driving while drunk and Harry Mosher charged with a liquor law violation will be tried. Mosher was arrested on Saturday morning when state police found five quarts of moonshine in a knapsack he was carrying fourteen miles from Newberry on the holdings of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company.

The possible fourth case is that of E. C. Underwood, chairman of the Luce county board of supervisors, charged with election fraud in the case of mutilated and changed absent voter's ballots. His case, drawn to the attention of the court by his attorney, A. L. Sayles at Monday's session about three hours after he had been arraigned in justice court and had stood mute, was passed for the time being to allow Attorney Frank M. O'Connor more time in which to prepare the prosecution.

Underwood, of all the men who might have handled the ballots prior to the discovery that they had been tampered with on the morning of March 13 refused to allow his fingers to be printed, was injured a short time after being threatened with arrest when he again refused to be fingerprinted on last Monday morning. He has been in the hospital since his car was smashed up near McMillan and only left his bed to go to justice court where he was arraigned.

DWYER-KINSEY

An interesting law case which is scheduled to come before this term of court is that of James Dwyer vs. James V. Kinsey, et al charging false imprisonment. This grew out of a justice court action of last autumn, Dwyer, an old woodsman, claiming that Kinsey, who is justice of the peace, and prosecuting Attorney O'Connor threw him into the Luce county jail for a period of time without due process of law, not allowing him to see an attorney nor to have a jury trial. O'Connor is the attorney for the defense and is also one of the defendants. The prosecution which has been in the hands of A. L. Sayles has been given to R. W. Nebel of Munising who filed a certificate of substitution with the court.

The civil case of Baualska vs. Jaworowski, garnishment, was passed for the present, a settlement is expected in the case of Gust Olsos vs. Jack Nizer et al, the trespass case of Lake vs. Lar.

One contest involved the millions willed to charity by Miss Ella Von E. Wendel, who thought herself the last of her family when she died in the gloomy brownstone mansion that stands amid the sleek modernity of mid-town Fifth avenue.

The other involved the fortune carefully hoarded by Mrs. Ida Mayfield Wood, who refused to trust banks after the panic of 1907 and kept nearly $1,000,000 in cash in paper bags and the lining of old black dresses.

Decision Reserved Surrogate James A. Foley is hearing both cases. There was scarcely room enough in the courtroom for the many lawyers who came to represent Wendel claimants. One by one they arose to announce the number each represented. Toward the end those who represented 15 or 20 spoke diffidently, even apologetically, as they contributed to the grand total of 1,822 who want to share in the fortune of approximately $75,000,000.

The court reserved decision on several motions for bills of particulars, and set April 10 for hearing on the subject of jurisdiction. There were fewer claimants for the relatively small Wood estate, though two groups sought to be named administrators.

One was headed by her nephew, Otis F. Wood, who was her guardian during the last months of her life; the other group comprised step-grandchildren and step-great-grandchildren.

It is now possible to banish rickets, a disease affecting more than 50 percent of all infants, by using milk from cows fed fodder irrigated with ultra-violet rays.

Mrs. Charles Taylor and two children spent the week-end at the hospital location as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harper.
