JEALOUS RAGE BLAMED; HUNT ENDS AT BARN

LEONARD MINOR, 25, BEING HELD AT ST. IGNACE

St. Ignace, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Leonard Minor, 25, sought for the slaying of a young couple last night near Rexton, was arrested tonight when officers found him asleep in a barn two miles east of Gould City.

He had the rifle with which Officers said he shot Harold Martindale, 35, and Miss Lennie Selby, 14, and also was armed with a pistol but was overpowered before he awakened. Deputy Sheriff George Holt of Mackinac county and Charles Marshall, Gould City village marshal, made the arrest. Minor was returned by them to St. Ignace.

Fled Through Swamp Minor had fled for 22 miles through swamps and cut-over timberland ahead of a large posse headed by Sheriff William M. McCauley of St. Ignace. Martindale, a boyhood chum of Minor, and Miss Selby were shot as they sat before an organ in the home of Jeff Davis, half a mile east of Rexton. The girl was killed instantly but Martindale, wounded in the stomach, named Minor as the slayer before he died. Martindale and Minor had quarreled over the girl.

Members of the Davis household said Martindale told them Minor smashed a window with his rifle and opened fire without warning. Sheriff McCauley said Minor, a resident of Chippewa county, was convicted recently on a assault charge.

"I'VE GOT YOU NOW" Newberry, (Special)—Leonard Selby, 14-year old daughter of Allison Selby, and Harold Martindale, 25-year old son of Martindale, were dead in a barn, a rifle belonging to the girl's father, the fatal shots alleged to have been fired by Leonard Minor, 25-year old convict, believed to have been jealous of the girl.

Martindale and Minor had been working at the chicken farm of Jeff Davis where the girl had stopped on her way to attend the Easter services in the Lutheran church. She and Martindale were talking when Minor broke the glass in a window, shouted: "I've got you now," and fired the gun. Miss Selby blew off with the top of her skull blown off and died instantly. Martindale fell a moment later, a bullet through his body. The Davis children were skating on a pond across the road from the house and heard the shots, calling Davis who was already in church.

Explorer Has Pelt of Wolf 5 Feet Long

Buenos Aires, Argentine, Mar. 28 (AP)—Up in the Grand Desert of Paraguay roamed a wolf five feet long with a black mane, and Dr. Ronald S. Wees, exploring the area for the Harvard university museum, is bringing back his pelt.

He also has the hide of a giant ant-bear with an enormous bushy tail and powerful forelegs tipped with three inch claws. He is bringing back butterflies with six inch wings and dragon flies with bodies an eighth of an inch wide and six inches long.

He reported bagging these trophies today in a letter to the Associated Press dated Feb. 11 from his camp on the Yguazu river where he and two companions broke their journey in a hand-sawed cedar canoe.

They are exploring the headwaters of the Parana river in a territory seldom visited by white men. "The wolf," he wrote, "measured five feet. It is a soft brown pelt with a heavy black mane."

Tenerowicz of the suburb of Hamtramck, two former police officials, and a man accused of operating a vice syndicate, following their conviction last week on conspiracy charges.

Battle Creek, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Justice of the Peace Arthur Day was arraigned today before United States Commissioner O. Scott Clark, charged with using his combined office and courtroom at Marshall, near here, as a speakeasy.

Federal officers said they entered Justice Day's office Saturday and were offered drinks by Witke Collins, who was in the place. Charges have not been entered against Collins.

Justice Day demanded an examination, and was released on $1,000 bond pending the hearing.

Easter Gales Bring Deaths

Tornado Strikes South Again; East Under Blanket of Snow New York, March 28 (AP)—Blizzards buffeted New England, gales swept the eastern seaboard, snow-drifts marooned Easter Monday motorists as Easter Monday became a belated winter day.

Snow from 7 to 12 inches deep, the heaviest fall of the winter, blanketed New Hampshire. In the Berkshires, drifts blocked many highways, and school children were grateful over unexpected extension of Easter holidays.

Many vacation parties were held snow-bound in the Pocono mountain resorts in Pennsylvania. Railroads sent out snow flangers for the second time this winter, and snow-plows charged the wet drifts on highways.

Roofs Blown Off North of Lowell, Mass., a storm felled 25 telephone poles, cutting the city off from communication to points north. It blew down trees and ripped an advertising sign 20 feet long off a building in Lowell.

Game wardens at North Adams, Mass., reported flocks of early robins, blue birds and song sparrows died in the freezing winds.

HOPES TO GET RELIEF FROM TAX BURDENS

BRUCKER TO SUBMIT SPECIAL MESSAGE TO LAWMAKERS

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON (Associated Press Staff Writer) Lansing, Mich., March 28 (AP)—Speculation as to the administration program of tax relief and a dash of politics, flavored the conversation of members who arrived here today for the first extra session of the legislature in six years.

Tuesday afternoon Governor Wilbur M. Brucker will submit his recommendations in a special message. Administration whips circulated the word that it will be a program which will relieve thousands of taxpayers if adopted.

Some anti-administration spokesmen insisted, however, the session can accomplish little in actual dollars and cents savings for the taxpayers. They argued that no matter how lofty the purposes of the session, it is the beginning of the administration campaign for preference at the polls next fall.

Return to Counties Those politically inclined contended the Democratic threat is more pronounced than usual this year, that Republican administrations are apt to be blamed for economic ills and tax burdens and that something had to be done. If tax relief is accomplished, they pointed out, the Republican administration can take credit, and if it is not it can be claimed the legislature refused to cooperate.

While it was generally conceded that Governor Brucker will advocate the return of the weight tax revenues to the counties to lighten local road taxes, the members waited to see whether he will recommend that appropriations under the McNitt bill, for the absorption by the counties of township roads be taken from the weight tax or be paid by the state separately. The question involves a difference of $2,000,000 to the counties this year, $2,500,000 next year and so on up to $4,000,000 a year, as the appropriation increases year by year.

There was conjecture as to how far the governor will go toward suggesting methods of cutting school taxes. Reports have been current for some days that Chief Bacon Rind, Leader of Osage Indians, Succumbs Pawhuska, Okla., Mar. 28 (AP)—Chief Bacon Rind, 84-year-old leader of the Osage nation, died at his home in the tribal village here today.

He was one of the last of the imperious old figures among the American Indians who made grudging concessions to the ways of white civilization. Catholic funeral services will be held Wednesday at the church of the Immaculate Conception and afterward the Osages will bear the former chief of the Wahitan-kah band of their tribe to the cemetery for native burial services.

In later years Bacon Rind combined the luxuries his tribe's oil money brought with traditional Indian habits of life.

Norfolk Dean Reports To Lindy of Contact Made With Kidnapers

Hopewell, N. J., Mar. 28 (AP)—On a mission he considered so important that he flew nearly 300 miles through storms which had grounded most other planes, the dean of a Norfolk (Va.) church came here today to tell Col. Charles A. Lindbergh of a "contact made with the kidnapers" of his son.

After an hour behind closed doors with the colonel, the clergyman, the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, started back home with the statement there probably would be another conference with Lindbergh within three or four days.

He declined to discuss the information he had passed on to the father of the child who was stolen out on a peder. The body was brought to Newberry. Mr. Nizer leaves a widow. He came here three years ago from Marensico.

Missouri Will Vote For Senator Reed

St. Louis, Mar. 28 (AP)—The state Democratic convention tonight instructed Missouri's delegates to the party's national convention to use all "honorable means within their power" to obtain the nomination of former United States Senator James A. Reed as Democratic candidate for president.

After the introduction, Green placed a sheet of copy from a specially constructed typewriter, on the carriage of his mechanism, which replaces the standard Linotype keyboard.

A six lines x minute focused on the copy, at the left end of the first line. The switch was thrown, and the carriage began to shuttle the copy to the left until the beam of light had covered the entire line. Simultaneously, the matrices began to drop from the Linotype magazine, and the slug of type was cast in the conventional manner.

Two Babies Burned In Fire At Strongs

Newberry, Mich., (Special)—Two infant daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haskins burned to death in a fire which completely destroyed their home at Strongs, about 35 miles east of here, Saturday noon. The dead children are Matilda, aged six months and Marjorie, two years old. Another child, Frank, aged five years, narrowly escaped.

The origin of the fire is not known, it was discovered by the mother, who had stepped out into the yard for a pail of water, but had already gained such headway that the ceiling of the room in which the children were fell in and trapped the little ones before she could reach them.

Although his letter to the council only mentioned his desire to resign from the city manager position, Mr. Orr later explained that he had become vice president and secretary of the Northern Equipment company of Marquette. He intends to continue his residence here for another year at least, however, he said.

Mr. Orr has been city manager of Manistique since August 1, 1927, coming here from Gladwin, Michigan where he was a highway contractor for five years previous. Before that he was assistant district engineer of the state highway department at Ann Arbor. He was also engineer for the Detroit and Union railway.

Mr. Orr's resignation was made at the last meeting of the present city council. On April 4 an election will be held and the new council will hold its first meeting on April 11. The man to succeed Orr as city manager will be selected by the new council.

Mr. Orr in his official capacity as city manager has always worked harmoniously with the city council and he leaves his position with the city in the best financial situation in history. There is a surplus of $60,000 in the city coffers.

The letter of resignation opened at the council meeting read: "I wish to present my resignation as city manager of the city of Manistique to become effective May 1, 1932."

Over 5,000 Fishing During Smelt Run Boyne City, Mich., Mar. 28 (AP)—State police who have been regulating operations of smelt fishers along the Boyne river today gave out figures showing that more than 5,000 persons from various sections of Michigan lined the river banks over the week-end.

The fishermen, awaiting nightfall when the smelt make their runs up the river to spawning beds, planned to be out in force again tonight. Conservation officials on hand estimated the run will continue for several days.

Rites Held Monday For Henry Leland Detroit, Mar. 28 (AP)—Funeral services were held today for Henry Martyn Leland, the automobile industry's "grand old man," who died Saturday morning after 89 years of activity, 60 years being spent in manufacturing.

Hundreds of former employees of Leland, in the days when he was head of the Lincoln Motor Co., and founder of the Cadillac Motor Co., as well as scores of prominent citizens attended the funeral in the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian church, at 2:30 p. m. today.

Burial was in Woodmere cemetery.

PARTY HEADS BEGIN TO CUT DOWN REBELS

RAINEY TO DEMAND NEW BALLOT ON SURTAX RATES

BY CECIL B. DICKSON (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, Mar. 28 (AP)—The revolt that raged in the house over the revenue bill for two weeks began crumbling today and the steady influence of party leadership was seen in a determined drive for a measure that will balance the budget.

Minority Leader Rainey served notice he would demand another ballot on the high surtax rates adopted in the Swing amendment before the bill leaves the house. With the maximum sixty-five percent in surtax rates and the seven percent maximum normal income levy, the federal tax on incomes over $10,000,000 is 72 percent.

The Illinois Democrat made the announcement after submitting to the house a statement of the total tax that would be paid both to the federal government and the states by residents of the 25 states having income taxes. He cited that Wisconsin had the highest state income tax and that with the federal levy, a man having an income of $5,000,000 would pay 87 cents on every dollar.

LaGuardia Beaten Speaker Garner and Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, have realigned a majority of their forces despite the insurgency that swept the ranks last week, and caused the defeat of the 2.25 percent manufacturers' sales tax proposal.

Taking an unusual course for a speaker, Garner plans to go on the floor tomorrow to urge his colleagues to approve a bill that will meet the prospective treasury deficit.

The revived strength of the party leadership was evidenced in the overwhelming defeat of Representative LaGuardia (R., N. Y.), a leader of the successful sales tax fight, on an amendment to restore publicity on income tax returns. It was defeated, 123 to 15, and it was LaGuardia's first major setback.

Meanwhile, Garner and Snell met with members of the ways and means committee and discussed behind closed doors a substitute for the defeated sales program. Efforts were made to have it ready for submission by a sub-group to the full committee tomorrow or Wednesday.

RAILROAD LOAN Washington, Mar. 28 (AP)—A railroad loan "reluctantly" approved by the Interstate Commerce commission stirred up a storm in the senate today and brought charges that pressure had been brought to bear upon the transportation tribunal.

Senators Couzens (R. Mich.) and Borah (R. Idaho), authors of the accusations, denounced the $12,800,000 loan from the reconstruction finance corporation to the Missouri Pacific railroad, $5,550,000 of which was intended for payments on notes held by New York banking houses.

When Couzens, who is chairman of the interstate commerce committee, said he would speak tomorrow on the results of an inquiry he is making, Senator Johnson (R. Calif.) suggested that he discuss "government of, for and by the international bankers." Couzens replied: "What I have in mind is not so much the international bankers as it is the Van Sweringen and the treasurer of the Republican national committee (J. R. Nutt of Cleveland) who have been more effective in this matter than the international bankers."

DUTY ON COPPER Washington, Mar. 28 (AP)—An insistent demand for a duty on copper was injected today into the senate's debate over the Democratic bill to revoke the president's power to change tariff rates.

Senator Vandenberg (R. Mich.) described the proposal for a tariff on copper "as a matter of life and death."

Former President Of Peerless Motor Car Co. Suicides Cleveland, O., March 28 (AP)—Depressed by financial worries, Lewis H. Kittredge, 61, president of the Peerless Motor Car Co., during its most prosperous years from 1906 to 1921, shot and killed himself late today.

Mr. Kittredge's body was found in the basement of his home by his wife, Mrs. Blanche Kittredge, and her brother, Julian Van Glahen, when they returned home after a short absence.

In a short penciled note, Mr. Kittredge said: "The severity and duration of this depression has gotten on my nerves. It is better that I go now."

REPEAL BILL LOSES Trenton, N. J., Mar. 28 (AP)—The New Jersey senate by a vote of 11 to 9 tonight defeated a bill to repeal the state prohibition enforcement act. The measure had previously been enacted by the assembly.

DETROIT FIRM LEAVES RUSSIA

Soviet Rubles Worthless As Pay, Asserts Kahn, Inc.

Detroit, Mar. 28 (AP)—Albert Kahn, Inc., engineering and architectural firm which has been one of the principal agents in promoting the Soviet five-year plan, today announced it had severed relations with the Soviet government.

Moritz Kahn, vice president of the firm, made the announcement today, reporting he had been advised of the action by his brother, Albert Kahn, head of the firm who is now in Russia.

"The point of difference between our firm and the Soviet government was the question of currency," Moritz Kahn said. "The Soviet government is short of gold and was willing to pay us in Russian rubles. Soviet currency is not exchangeable in the west and hence is practically worthless to us. Under our former contract, which expired March 1, we were paid in American dollars."

"BETTER LEAVE"

That's what Walter P. Smith (above), Bell county attorney, advised students from New York universities when they attempted to visit Kentucky coal fields for sociological research.

In the Headlines From Washington

Senators Borah (R. Idaho) and Coughens (R. Mich.) charged pressure was exerted on interstate commerce commission to obtain approval "reluctantly" of reconstruction finance corporation loan to Missouri Pacific railroad part of it for paying notes not extended by New York banking houses.

Senator Vandenberg (R. Mich.) demanded duty on copper as senate debated Democratic tariff bill to revoke president's power to change rates.

Representative Wood (R. Ind.) accused Chairman Jovett Shouse of Democratic national executive committee of having made three "utterly false charges" against President Hoover in recent radio address.

House defeated amendment to revenue bill to restore publicity on income tax returns and Speaker Garner announced plan to urge on floor tomorrow approval of bill to meet prospective treasury deficit.

Bankers told senate committee Glass banking reform bill would "prolong the depression."

PEACE PARLEY IS DEADLOCKED

Chinese and Japanese Can't Agree on Evacuation

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS
Shanghai, Mar. 28 (AP)—Today's session of the peace parley which has been going on here for days adjourned without having made any appreciable progress.

The Chinese and Japanese representatives were still deadlocked over the method of withdrawing troops in the field. The Japanese contend that they should be permitted to leave a patrol in the Kiangwan sector and that the position of the Chinese army should be definitely specified.

The Chinese maintained that any attempt to dictate the position of Chinese troops on Chinese soil would be a violation of China's sovereign rights. The issue was put up to the military sub-committee which will meet on Wednesday.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, the Japanese representative, said he was still hopeful of an ultimate agreement when today's session ended. Quo Tai-Chi, the Chinese spokesman, was less optimistic. "The Japanese certainly are strong on argument," he said.

NORFOLK DEAN GIVES REPORT TO LINDBERGH

BY JAMES P. HOWE
Nanking, Mar. 28 (AP)—Protection of China's territorial and administrative integrity must be a condition of any settlement of the Sino-Japanese conflict, Lord Lytton, chairman of the League of Nations inquiry commission, told a group of Chinese officials at a luncheon today.

Wang Cheng-wel, Chinese premier, and several present and former cabinet ministers attended the luncheon which was by way of welcoming the commissioners who arrived yesterday from Shanghai.

The premier told them that the Chinese people "have but one hope and aspiration—the maintenance of our territorial and administrative integrity and sovereignty."

INVENTOR OF TYPE SETTER DEMONSTRATES

Green explained that the device was timed to deliver six lines a minute, for the demonstration, but that the only limit to its speed was the inherent speed limitations of the Linotype machine.

In explanation of the invention, Green said it was another adaptation to practical use of the photoelectric cell, sometimes called the electric eye. The beam of light goes through the semi-transparent copy paper, he said, and falls upon the photoelectric cell, which converts the light impulses into electric impulses, which in turn operate the selector mechanism to release the proper matrices from the magazine.

Each letter and symbol on the copy is represented by a combination of dots, ranging in number from one to six. The light impulses are varied as they strike each combination of dots, and the proper action of the matrix-releasing mechanism is guided thereby.

Labor Federation Hopes To Prevent Wilkerson's Rise

Chicago, Mar. 28 (AP)—The Illinois State Federation of Labor, through its secretary-treasurer, Victor A. Olander, replied today to Frank J. Loesch's recent charge that organized crime controlled labor in Chicago and sought to prevent the confirmation of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to the circuit court of appeals.

In a letter to Senator William E. Borah, chairman of a senate committee conducting a hearing on Judge Wilkerson's appointment, Olander declared Loesch, head of the Chicago crime commission, to be a known foe of organized labor and that his recent statements before the committee were untrue.

Labor objects to Judge Wilkerson's appointment, Olander said, because it believes him "to be prejudiced against labor and that his actions and decisions have been unwise and unfair."

Striking Students To Return To Class

St. Charles, Mich., Mar. 28 (AP)—Members of the board of education said after a meeting tonight that 239 high school students who have been on a strike Wednesday would be back in classes tomorrow.

Nearly half the students who walked out when it was announced last week that Superintendent Ousterhout would not return next year were back in school today. Ousterhout announced he had signed a contract to superintend the Remus public schools next year.

Barber Who Cut Murray's Chin In Search Of Votes

Oklahoma City, Mar. 28 (AP)—Charles H. Riggs, who nicked the chin of Governor W. H. Murray with a razor and lost his barber shop concession at the statehouse last year, is seeking a return to the capitol "by a vote of the people."

He announced his candidacy today for a seat as state legislator.

Ford's New V-Eight Will Be Shown Thursday

Detroit, March 28—The Ford Motor company announced today that its new V-8 will be given a first public showing on Thursday of this week. A detailed description of the new car also was given but no mention was made of the price.

With a brake horse power of 65, the V-8 is described as capable of 75 miles an hour, and embodying a number of new features, including a silent synchronized gear shift.

The engine is described as of the 90-degree V type, having an S. A. E. rating of 30 horsepower and developing 65 brake horsepower at 3400 R. P. M. The 65-pound crankshaft is of the 90-degree type, with its four cranks at right angles to each other.

Cylinder blocks and crankcase are cast in one unit, and a cast aluminum cover forms the top of the engine. The distributor operates directly from the front end of the camshaft, eliminating use of intermediate gears.

The announcement says that the fourteen body types to be offered will be of streamline design. A new four-cylinder car of 50 horsepower also will be presented, capable of 65 miles an hour. The two cars, it was stated, will differ only in the engines. No details of the four-cylinder motor were given.

This trip or at some earlier time. All further questions brought the same reply:

"I cannot discuss the conference. Col. Lindbergh chooses to, that is all right. I can say nothing more than that we are optimistic."

He did, however, deny three reports in saying he was not taking back any ransom money; that he had not seen the kidnaped child, and that he had not brought to the Lindbergh home a piece of the baby's clothing as proof of the identity of the child held by those with whom the negotiations have been conducted.

In spite of bad weather conditions, the Episcopal clergyman made the trip from the Hampton Roads, Va., naval air station to the Philadelphia navy yard by plane, piloted by a navy pilot. The navy also furnished the automobile which brought him here from Philadelphia for his hour-long talk with Col. Lindbergh.

Col. Lindbergh, he said, in his brief talk with reporters after the conference, looked tired and nervous. He did not see Mrs. Lindbergh today, he said, although he explained that when he, Curtis and Burrage made a previous trip to the Sourland estate last Thursday night saw the young mother "who seemed to be bearing up well."

This second visit of the clergyman, in spite of the secrecy about what was discussed at the conference, was much less mysterious than the last.

Then it was hours after the trio had left before reports of their trip were confirmed.

State police, who have not been included in the past in Colonel Lindbergh's personal negotiations, at first denied the Virginians had been here, and later said the famous aviator did not see any "specific" significance in the information they had brought.

Gradually came bits of information about the Norfolk angle of the nationwide hunt for 21-month-old Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

From one or another of the three Virginians came these facts:

That they had been involved in negotiations about the return of the child since March 9, eight days after the abduction.

That they were drawn into the case when they were approached by representatives of those claiming to be the kidnapers.

That the plan had been to carry out negotiations with the utmost secrecy, and that the success of their endeavors depended to a considerable extent on their not discussing their work with anyone.

After Curtis returned yesterday from his mysterious airplane trip, he said he believed the negotiations had reached a "semi-final stage," and Dean Dobson-Peacock said: "We expect sometime this week to have the baby either in our hands or in the hands of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh."

he might propose a new form of taxation. The governor declined to reveal his stand prior to the delivery of his message. There was worry as to how the legislature and the governor will provide for apportionment of whatever highway money is returned between the cities, villages and counties. It is understood that a bill will be introduced, with administration backing, immediately after the governor reads his message setting up a plan of re-apportionment.

Long Session?
That the administration program will not go through unopposed was assured, as members who claimed to know what the executive's recommendations will be, stated their objections. If their surmises as to the contents of the governor's message are correct they evidently are prepared to criticize sharply certain recommendations.

Whether the extra session will be long or short depends entirely upon the attitude of the members toward the administration program. Some, including Speaker Fred R. Ming, of the house, seemed to be inclined toward shortening the deliberations by considering only the governor's recommendations.

Baker In Favor Of Keeping Congress In Session Always

Philadelphia, Mar. 28 (AP)—Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, said today that if he had his way, members of both houses of congress would be in session all the time, representing the people.

"I think we are getting to be a little afraid to have congress in session," he told the Women's Democratic Luncheon club.

"I set great store by the senate," he said, "but I want to dissent from the policy that body seems to have adopted toward treaty-making in using itself for a prestige light between the senate and the president."

Commenting on the difficulty of amending the constitution, Baker said he personally wished it were possible to have an amendment to the constitution that would permit ratification of treaties by concurrent resolutions in both houses instead of by the two-thirds vote of the senate now necessary.

STUDENTS GO TO GOVERNOR

Kentucky Executive Says He Has No Authority To Help Them

BY DWIGHT L. PITKIN
(Associated-Press Staff Writer)
Frankfort, Ky., Mar. 28 (AP)—A group of travel-weary college students were told by Gov. Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky tonight he had no authority to redress alleged wrongs suffered by them at the hands of officers in Bell and Harlan counties where they were ejected on their sociological research trip.

"You are applying to the wrong person," said the governor after listening to charges of spokesmen of a delegation of 70 students they had been deprived of their constitutional rights in Kentucky. "I do not even have authority to issue a warrant. But courts are open to you."

"You have my permission to have anyone arrested," he said, "and if anyone is convicted I'll not extend them any benefits of this office. I'll promise you that."

Governor Laffoon remarked, "You're too easily bluffed," after one of the students said they had been forcibly ejected from Bell county.

FORCIBLY EXPELLED

A statement relating incidents of their unsuccessful excursion into Kentucky was read by Miss Pauline Daum, tall and handsome brunette from New York. Clad in a red knit dress and cap, Miss Daum, graduate of New York university, charged Walter B. Smith, county attorney of Bell county, and other officials led "an armed mob of several hundred men" against the first contingent of students repulsed at the Kentucky-Tennessee state line.

The governor puffed at a cigar as he listened intently to the pleas of a group of six students who represented the delegation of students who waited in busses outside. Attorney General Bailey P. Wootton, several other state officials and newspapermen were present in the governor's office.

"The student delegation of the National college committee of National Student League which came to the state of Kentucky last week on a peaceful and lawful mission of studying economic and social conditions in the coal industry and were forcibly expelled by officials of Harlan and Bell counties," said Miss Daum, "have returned to Kentucky for this audience with you. It is the desire of the students to

"I think we are getting to be a little afraid to have congress in session," he told the Women's Democratic Luncheon club.

"I set great store by the senate," he said, "but I want to dissent from the policy that body seems to have adopted toward treaty-making in using itself for a prestige light between the senate and the president."

Commenting on the difficulty of amending the constitution, Baker said he personally wished it were possible to have an amendment to the constitution that would permit ratification of treaties by concurrent resolutions in both houses instead of by the two-thirds vote of the senate now necessary.

Miss Daum charged a deputy had twisted the arm of a girl student and pointed a pistol at other students.

ages led Rexton citizens to believe that he may have hidden food in the swamp and to have planned this killing for several days.

Martindale lived about 40 minutes and was able to tell who had done the shooting. He said that he tried to argue the killer out of his intention and that he believed jealousy was the cause of the tragedy.

Sheffit McCaulley, with a posse of six men including Supervisor James Miller, an experienced woodsman, Corp. Miller, Troopers Carlson and Sheehan of Newberry detachment of the state police, and Rexton citizens, organized the search, making careful examination of the swamp country about the village of Rexton, Hendricks Quarry and Soo Junction. Lieut. Fred Keune spent the night on the case and was busy all day running down rumors and visiting homes of relatives and friends of Minor. Rexton residents believed that the killer would never be taken alive and that he would shoot himself or fight it out with the officers. Rexton is a village of about 200 on US-2.

Martindale is the son of a widow, Mrs. Stella Martindale. The Selby's came from the east about two years ago. Minor has lived in the locality for several years and knew the wild lands intimately.

Slash In Detroit Budget Predicted

Detroit, March 28, (AP)—Mayor Frank Murphy today predicted a 1932 tax budget of approximately $50,000,000 for Detroit, a reduction of nearly one-third from the present levy.

Declaring "We must reduce the taxes to a point where the people can pay them," the mayor said he would fight for the city's tax relief program at the special session of the state legislature opening tomorrow, and would continue with his plan for a postponement, at least for a year, of some $35,000,000 in interest and maturity charges.

States Report On 1932 Flax Acreage

Minneapolis, Mar. 28 (AP)—The Flax Institute of the United States today received reports of probable acreage in four northwestern states.

The University of Minnesota said flax acreage in Minnesota would be about the same as last year, 861,000 acres.

For North Dakota a decrease from the 1,600,000 acres of last year is expected. Montana will increase its flax acreage from 214,000 last year to 300,000. The South Dakota agricultural college asserted planting of 250,000 acres was planned compared with the usual 500,000 to 600,000 acres.

Soil conditions were described as good generally.

EVENT PLANNED ON ANNIVERSARY

Knights of Columbus 50 Years Old; Escanaba Joins Celebration

The local council, 640, Knights of Columbus, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the organization this evening when an entertainment will be given at the local clubrooms, with Rev. Fr. Thomas Drengacz, chaplain of the local council, as the principal speaker. Twelve members of the club will stage a minstrel show at 8:30 o'clock. Several musical numbers will also be featured.

Supreme Grand Knight Martin H. Carmody will be heard in a radio address at 10:30, on a program broadcast over the national networks, in celebration of the K. of C. anniversary. A number of prominent artists will also take part in the broadcast. The program is for the knights, their wives and friends and it is hoped that the attendance will be large.

The anniversary celebration will close with a dance at Terrace Gardens Thursday evening, March 31, when Charlie Johnson's Wolverine orchestra will play the dance program.

Today, some 600,000 knights of Columbus in the United States, Canada, Philippine Islands, Panama, Cuba, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Newfoundland and Alaska will celebrate the Golden Anniversary of the founding of the order. Unfortunately not one of the eleven original incorporators of the society will join

In the anniversary observance. The last two survivors, William M. Geary and Cornelius T. Driscoll, of New Haven, Conn., died during 1931.

Founded in 1882

The story of the growth of the Knights of Columbus through 50 years constitutes a romantic and inspiring record. Back in 1882, Rev. Michael J. McGivney, curate at St. Mary's church, in New Haven, Conn., perceived the need for a fraternal organization that Catholic men could join without conscientious difficulty. He realized that some Catholic organization should be created, that would combine solid fraternal benefits with the attractiveness of selected membership and secret initiation, yet which would not be oath-bound but secret only upon the promise of man to man, with this promise ever yielding to the authority of church and state. He talked over his idea with a group of men of his parish and at their third meeting, the name "Knights of Columbus" was selected. Petition for a charter was speedily granted and on March 29, 1882, the Knights of Columbus became the first national fraternal organization to be incorporated in Connecticut. The original incorporators were Rev. Michael J. McGivney, Rev. Patrick Lawlor, Matthew C. O'Connor, Cornelius T. Driscoll, James T. Mullen, John T. Kerrigan, Daniel Colwell, William M. Geary, Thomas M. Carroll, Bartholomew Healy and Michael Curran.

Patriotic Organization

The conservative spirit that has been the order's safeguard was manifest from the very beginning. In spite of many applications, the founders were loath to allow the membership to increase rapidly, wishing to have a charter list easily manageable from the outset. It was decided that ceremonial should be written in three sections, or degrees, the basis of the present first three degrees of the order. It was further decided that only Catholic and patriotic allusions should be used in the ceremonial. The completing of the constitution required several months of research and its publication was deferred until the society found sufficient funds for this purpose in 1883.

FAME'S SHADOW DARKENS ROMANCE

Once considered the happiest couple in Hollywood, Ann Harding, who left the stage to rise to international fame in the film, and Harry Bannister, who registered only faintly in the screen world, announce they will seek a divorce so that Bannister can pursue his career. They are shown above. Both objected, they said, because his wife's success caused folks to speak of her husband as "Mr. Ann Harding," an old Hollywood custom. Married six years ago when both were starring on the legitimate stage, they have a four-year-old daughter.

Relics Of Lincoln Sought In Escanaba

What have you in the way of Abraham Lincoln relics in your home? Dr. Louis A. Warren, director of the Lincoln Historical Research Foundation, Fort Wayne, Indiana, asks the Press to help in locating any really genuine Lincoln curios in this section. In the Foundation's museum and library and in many other historical institutions all over the country, he states, there are innumerable priceless mementos of the Great Emancipator, yet he feels that treasured away in many a home or office, there must be manuscripts, newspaper and magazine articles, books and pamphlets, pictures, medals and other Lincoln items that are every bit as valuable. He seeks the aid of this newspaper and its readers in bringing these to light.

Sometime next summer at Fort Wayne, according to Dr. Warren, the Foundation will dedicate a massive bronze statue to the "Youthful Lincoln" done by the famous sculptor Paul Man-ship. In connection with this dedication there will be held a two day "open house" in the Foundation's museum and library. For this "open house" Dr. Warren is planning a special exhibit of Lincoln relics collected from individual owners and not heretofore shown in public. Each of the displays will give full credit to the owner, and perhaps the more important ones will later be purchased by the Foundation. Dr. Warren promises that all items submitted for the special exhibit will be returned. Escanabans who feel that they have something of unusual interest should communicate immediately with Dr. Louis A. Warren, Lincoln Historical Research Foundation, Fort Wayne, Indiana, or A. G. Green, Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, Grand Rapids, Mich., giving full details concerning the articles in their possession. Dr. Warren will then decide whether an article is worthy of special exhibition and make arrangements for sending it to Fort Wayne.

In the four years since its establishment, the Lincoln Historical Research Foundation has become the center of Lincoln information in America. Under Dr. Warren's direction there has been assembled the largest private collection of literature ever gathered about one man, Biblical characters excepted.

Deer Had Plenty To Eat During Winter

No reports of serious yarding difficulty or of food shortage among the deer herds have been received by the Department of Conservation so far.

This is the first winter in as long as can be recalled by many of northern Michigan's observers when deer have not been compelled to "yard" or bunch up in the areas of heavy cover. The light fall of snow in all parts of the deer territory in Michigan has made it possible for them to obtain food over much of their summer range.

The Game Division of the Department reports that last fall deer began their seasonal movement toward the yarding areas but as the heavy snows failed to materialize they have gradually spread out again until they now can be seen as often and in as many places as during the summer. Nearly all of the hundreds of deer observed this winter by the Game Division field men have been in fine shape. If no severe and prolonged storms occur within the next few weeks the deer will have experienced the easiest

The home of Peter Felix at Eckerman, about thirty miles east of here was destroyed by fire of unknown origin yesterday. Home Near Harris Destroyed By Fire

The farm home of L. P. Pierce six miles south of Harris, was completely destroyed by fire March 24. Mrs. Pierce, who was in the house alone at the time, was unable to save anything from the blaze, and all furnishings, personal effects and wearing apparel were lost. There was no insurance.

It is believed that the fire started from a stovepipe, as flames were first noticed in the ceiling. A staff wind was blowing at the time, and the house was a mass of flames in a very short time. Until a granary can be remodeled to provide living quarters, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce are staying with neighbors.

CURTIS NEWS

Curtis, Mich. (Special)—Miss Elizabeth Gowan, teacher of the primary room of the Curtis School, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Mary Gowan, left for Detroit Tuesday. They will bring Miss Margaret Gowan home from her school at Lansing for her Easter vacation.

Word was received from Mrs. Delmar Humphrey, Friday, that instead of being home for Easter as they had thought possible, her husband will have to report regularly at the hospital in Ann Arbor, for probably another month.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Gowan, of the Soo, accompanied by Miss Helen Gowan, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Hearn, Tuesday evening.

Because of the flu epidemic, the attention was rather small at the Calico Club last Wednesday. A quilt was finished for Mrs. Charles Arndt, and quilting begun on one for Mrs. Harry Strom.

The item in a previous issue stated that Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery, of the Soo, were guests at the home of Mrs. Mary Gowan last Sunday. The names should have been, Mr. and Mrs. Will Hamilton of the Soo, were the guests.

How to Escape FLU and Grippe

- Avoid so far as possible the places where germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.
- Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.
- Get lots of rest. Drink plenty of water. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have normal resistance against germs.
- Try, particularly, to avoid catching cold. Colds lower your resistance to disease germs. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin; remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. And if you have a sore throat, dissolve some Bayer Aspirin tablets in water and gargle; this relieves the soreness, and it usually reduces the inflammation.
- If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

GERMANS CLAIM VICTORY

On March 29, 1918, the Third and Fifth British armies were pushed back again in the great battle in Picardy. British officers reported several fresh German divisions had been thrown against them.

Apparently, Congress is going to save the railroads if it takes the taxpayers' last dollar.

When factory wheels are idle and manufacturers are unable to find a demand for their products, to the casual observer, the hope that $60,000 can transplant an industrial beehive into Marinette appears like the height of optimism.

German official bulletins said that more than 850 heavy guns and 80,000 prisoners had been taken in the offensive, had been penetrated British lines to a depth of more than 25 miles in some instances.

French reserves were rapidly arriving at the front and Allied observers believed that if the front could be maintained for 72 hours more, the German attack would be stopped.

On the Italian front, it was reported that 40 Austrian divisions were arriving from the Russian front and an offensive was expected there momentarily.

Dress Rehearsal of Operetta Will Be Held Tonight

Dress rehearsal of "Miss Cherry Blossom", the operetta which will be presented at a matinee performance Wednesday afternoon, and at its evening performance on Friday, April 1, will be held this evening in the William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium of the Escanaba Junior high school.

The operetta with its charming story of the Orient and its colorful settings and costumes, promises to be one of the most attractive of high school productions.

In addition to the cast of talented principals, the cast will include Gelsa Girls, a chorus of Miss Ruth Sandwick's Glee club girls, and an American chorus, under the direction of R. P. Bowers.

A Book A Day

The places people pick out in which to get murdered are sometimes odd. The current crop of mysteries, for instance, finds a woman getting stabbed in a dentist's chair (she probably didn't mind, much), a man getting killed on a crowded street car and a woman getting killed on a big yacht.

The singing, solos and chorus work, and accompaniments were excellent, and feature numbers including readings by Anita Rose and string ensemble numbers under the direction of Frank Karas, were also particularly pleasing. TOUCHY WOMEN!

The nurse who supervises health work among 2500 employees of a New York concern states that while men react sensibly to constructive criticism of their personal cleanliness, women invariably are touchy and take it as a personal affront. She says: "If a man is told he needs to brush his clothes and bathe more frequently in order to get on in the world, he acts upon the suggestions. He sees at once that personal cleanliness is a business asset. A woman, on the other hand, is more likely to suffer from hurt feelings. They always counter any suggestion at first with great indignation."

How the "ELECTRIC-EYE" gives M-J-B uniform flavor by uniform roasting! The Photo-electric cell or "Electric-Eye" was invented to measure colors exactly. This machine is 10 times more sensitive than the human eye. The scale on the electric-eye's dial is so sensitive it measures the color difference between 2 objects when the human eye can't tell them apart. Each M. J. B. roast is checked on the electric-eye machine against a perfect roast used as a standard of comparison. If the scale shows a difference in color the roast is rejected. When you drink M. J. B. you know the flavor will be perfect because the roast must always be the same. NOTE THESE 2 EXTRA PROTECTIONS! "SAFETY-SEALED" The only vacuum tin that can't close unless all air is out keeps M. INDIANS LIVED AMONG BIRCHES

Only 700 Were in Upper Peninsula, Says Dr. Hinsdale

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—The popular conception of North American aborigines dwelling among the "tall whispering pines" has been exploded by Dr. Wilbert B. Hinsdale, custodian of Michigan archaeology at the University of Michigan.

In a paper read before the annual meeting of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, Dr. Hinsdale announced results of an investigation which showed that the Indians did not choose the evergreen forest for their habitations, but instead lived among the birches, maples, oaks and other deciduous trees.

He pointed out that since the pine lands cannot support a large modern population, it was less than likely that primitive man could exist there in large numbers.

No Food in Pines
"The surface geology," Dr. Hinsdale said, "is one of the determining factors in a population; perhaps more so with primitive people than with those whose advanced cultures have overcome the lack of native products with means of transportation and commerce. Lower Michigan is covered with the drifts of alternate sands, clays and gravels, and the flora in any section depends on which of these happens to be uppermost."

"The Indians procured very little, if any, kind of food from conifers. Animals whose flesh made human food could not subsist upon resinoid kinds of trees (pines, spruces, etc.); whereas fruits, nuts, berries, sugars, building bark and browse for some kinds of the ruminants came from the other types of vegetable growth.

"One maple," said Dr. Hinsdale, "was of more account in the Indian's economy than acres of white pine, spruce, or hemlock. In a rough way the prehistoric population of the state can be checked up noting the occurrences of maple trees."

Bark for Building
The speaker also indicated that coniferous trees did not furnish desirable wood for fires, because hemlock, pine, tamarack, spruce and cedar snap and throw sparks when burning and if used inside the lodges might cause the burning of the dwelling.

"Any large tree from which the bark could be stripped in wide and long sheets was desirable as a source for 'roofing' and 'siding' for the lodges," said the speaker. "A village would have to be located with some reference to an available supply of

DEFENDS RANCH WITH SHOTGUN

When attorneys came out to the famous 101 Ranch at Marland, Okla., to arrange for an auction of the ranch and everything on it, Colonel Zack Miller, militant white-haired plainsman and bankrupt circus owner, routed them with shotgun bullets "just to see them run." Colonel Miller had risen from his sickbed to confer with the attorneys and went back to bed after barricading himself in the house and defying deputies. A truce was arranged and no charges filed.

'building' bark. The white birch was a precious tree. Its bark was a potential supply for a roof and for a canoe, and owing to its pliability, was made into innumerable utensils as buckets, pails, cups, basins and trays. A grove of birch stood in about the same relation to an Indian village as the sawmill and tin shop did to the pioneers."

In Saginaw Valley
Dr. Hinsdale has made a series of maps showing the relations of Indian villages and campsites to the types of trees which forested various sections of the state before white men cut them down. The Au Sable river flowed through the great pine forest in the northern part of the lower peninsula, but the red men did not live among its scenic splendors. Edible mammals, birds and fish were scarce, although the name of this stream has become synonymous with "good fishing" since modern conservationists have planted the Au Sable. Dr. Hinsdale also estimated that only 700 Indians lived in the Upper Peninsula.

On the other hand, the Saginaw river valley was an ideal region for the pre-historic hunter. This valley was the most populous part of the state. Oaks, elms, beeches, maples and sycamores were the common trees. The numerous river valleys on the west side of the lower peninsula were well populated, Dr. Hinsdale said. Wild rice and fish furnished the food there.

"The Indians," said Dr. Hinsdale, "could not endure ruthless destruction of any of the objects of nature, animate or inanimate. They were the first and most scrupulous conservationists. They thought that Hell, as described to them by the missionaries—a place where fire burned forever and ever—to be a great waste of timber, and it could not be anywhere, because the woods could not last that long."

FIGHT CENTERS ON TRUNKLINES

System Includes 8,292 Miles of Highways, 7,750 Improved

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
Lansing, March 24, (AP)—The state trunk line highway system, the sufficiency of which is expected to be the basis of bitter arguments in the coming special session of the legislature, is made up of 8,292 miles of roads, of which more than 7,750 miles are improved.

At the end of the last calendar year there were 3,082 miles of concrete highways, stretching into almost every corner of the state, 379 miles of bituminous concrete, 460 miles of water bound and bituminous macadam, 16 miles of brick and stone, 3,134 of gravel and many miles of stamp sand, and other surfaces. There were 252 miles of unimproved earth road and 139 miles of impassable, unimproved highways. The mileage includes federal aid routes in which the federal government and the state share the expense.

In 1931, which was an abnormally large construction year, the state and federal government spent $24,879,000 on construction, and some bills were carried over. This huge expenditure was made possible by a relief plan through which the state was enabled to borrow federal funds in anticipation of future federal aid apportionments. Thus about $7,500,000 was received in federal money, as compared with an estimated $2,000,000 this year.

In the banner year of 1931, 672 miles of highway were improved. This included 372 miles of concrete, 36 miles of concrete siding, 43 miles of asphalt and 230 miles of gravel and gravel resurfacing.

The state highway department estimates the amount available for construction this year, including federal aid, at $16,638,575—providing the legislature does not alter highway fund apportionments. If the entire weight tax revenues are given back to the counties, as has been proposed, and the state must continue to pay for the absorption of township roads by counties, the estimated construction fund for 1932 would be $6,638,575. If the township road appropriation is taken from the weight tax and the balance is returned to the counties the state building fund would be $8,638,575.

The present financial set up of the state highway fund, based on estimated 1932 revenues, shows revenues of $42,500,000, distribution to the counties under the present apportionment and this year's $2,000,000 appropriation for township road absorption of $12,000,000 and fixed charges, such as administration, maintenance, sinking fund and so forth of $14,861,425.

The estimated 1932 tabulation is:

Revenues
Weight tax	$20,000,000
Gasoline tax	21,500,000
Federal aid	2,000,000
Total	$43,500,000
Obligations
County apportionment	$10,000,000
Twp. Rd. absorption	2,000,000
Administration	246,425
Maintenance	6,200,000
To Cities (Dykstra act)	750,000
Highway bond sinking fund	4,082,000
Payable to Detroit (under agreement)	3,228,000
Miscellaneous	355,000
Total	$28,861,425
Balance left for new construction	$14,638,575

HIAWATHA NEWS

Hiawatha, Mich. (Special)—Erza Aldrich and Edward Lewis have announced their intentions of running for Supervisor and Justice of the Peace by slips at the coming election. Both gentlemen came in second among the many who ran for office at the primaries.

Miss Gladys Guest and Mr. Wm. Smithers were entertained at supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Myers last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carney received word that Mr. Carney's father is quite ill with heart trouble at his home in Hermansville.

A letter was received the other day from Mrs. Robert Archer who lives in Plymouth, Mich., asking all about all the old time residents of Hiawatha. Mrs. Archer used to be Miss Louise Conery and spent her girlhood in this neighborhood. She tells us that both her mother and father are still hale and hearty and live only a few doors from her. Her sister, Jennie, and brother Alfred are both married and live in and near Detroit.

Mrs. Elizabeth Byers, the teacher of the west school, has been quite sick with the flu but managed to keep her school going just the same. Many children have been absent but at the present time nearly all are on the road to recovery.

Bert and Kenneth Hyland are spending the week at a camp near Thompson getting out some cedar posts for the company farm.

Quite a delightful card party was held at the grange hall after the last meeting and the folks all enjoyed the pot-luck supper held afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hovey of Indian Lake resort, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Byers last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Hovey is engaged in trying to find the oldest native in Schoolcraft county and Grandma Byers will be ninety in September.

William Byers of Manistiquet, spent a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Byers the past week.

On account of the election day coming on the same day as the Grange meeting, it was decided to hold the next grange meeting on Tuesday, April 5, instead of Monday.

AMUSEMENTS

Loretta Young, beautiful young screen favorite who scored so heavily recently in "Taxi" and "The Hatch Man," will show at the Delta Theatre today in her latest and most important picture, "Play Girl," a Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production.

Miss Young has brought to a part packed with romance, pathos and spirited comedy, a sincerity and understanding which makes it the outstanding triumph of her career.

Norman Foster, as the young lover and husband—a lovable gambler never-do-well—carries the role opposite Miss Young to the story's happy ending. He again demonstrates the superb technique evident in his other successes, "Under Eighteen" and "Alias" the Doctor.

Comedy in "Play Girl" is amply taken care of by those delightful veterans of stage and screen, Guy Kibbee and Winnie Lightner, thus rounding out a balanced and intriguing story. James Ellison, a new face on the screen, Noel Madison and Dorothy Burgess also have important parts.

Charlevoix (AP)—At the age of 102 Michael Kowalski looks back upon an eventful life, including service in the Civil War in which he fought against his brother, and now regrets most that he is unable to make the hunting trips which once were his favorite sport.

Kowalski, known as the oldest resident of Charlevoix county, is a wheel chair patient as the result of an automobile accident in which he was involved when he was 97 years old. He lost a leg in a hunting accident at the age of 80.
Coming to the United States as a young man after having served 11 years in the German army, Kowalski enlisted in the Union army during the Civil war. Another brother, Fred, who had preceded him in the United States, was in the Confederate army.
At the close of the war he came to the Charlevoix region and has resided here since.

Imitation Held Kidnaping Lure To Weak Minds

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor) New York (AP)—There are three sources, according to one psychologist, from which might spring the type of mentality which would kidnap a baby.

Dr. Joseph L. Holmes, associate professor of psychology of Hunter college, defines them as the mentally unbalanced woman who longs for a child, the racketeer who schemes for big money and the "crime wave" type.

Speaking before there were any clues to the identity of the Lindbergh baby kidnaper, Dr. Holmes discussed the possibility that this case was in the crime wave class. "Circumstances," he said, "favor the idea that this crime may have been committed by an abnormal person, or at least a person not very intelligent, who was tempted by the success, or the believed success, of the kidnaping attributed to gangs in the middle west."

This sort of a kidnaper would belong to the crime wave class.

Dr. Holmes has published detailed studies of this type, showing that descriptions of particularly striking crimes have been followed frequently by a wave made up in part or largely of similar attempts by imitators.

The kidnaping in Los Angeles of 12-year-old Marion Parker by Edward Hickman is one of Dr. Holmes' illustrations of the start this sort of wave.

He cited the case of Kirby Blinkley, a Tennessee youth who attempted a kidnaping so similar that it "parallels the method used by Edward Hickman."

The Hunter psychologist has gathered several statements in which a case involving a 5-year-old girl in Michigan was attributed directly to imitation of the Hickman kidnaping, which had occurred four weeks previously.

In this Hickman crime wave Dr. Holmes mentions several additional attacks by name and adds:

"That its influence was a cause of similar crimes in various parts of the country is indicated by the news items just quoted. The superintendent of schools in New York City issued instructions to the

DAIRY TESTING WIDE IN SCOPE

Michigan has 69 Herd Improvement Groups; One in Delta Co.

Like most other business enterprises, in the calendar year 1931, the progress in testing of dairy cows by cooperative dairy-herd improvement associations was somewhat retarded. As compared with the calendar year 1930 there was, approximately, a 10 per cent loss, both in the number of active associations and in the number of cows on test.

Many of the states, however, succeeded in keeping all their associations active, and some have made slight gains. The states showing an increase under prevailing conditions are to be highly commended.

Michigan started the herd improvement testing work back in 1906, with one association, and was the first state to take up the project. This state had four associations in 1907, and in 1908 was joined by Maine and New York, followed by Wisconsin and other states in 1909. Wisconsin leads the list for 1932 with 96 associations, and Michigan has 69. Several of these are in the Upper Peninsula, one in Delta county.

On January 1, 1931, there were 1,112 associations with 510,714 cows on test. On January 1, 1932, the number of associations was 1,005, with 427,044 cows on test in 44 states.

The summary shows that there were fewer herds and fewer cows per association. However, the herds were slightly larger than on January 1, 1931. With low market prices for dairy products, records of production and cost of production became more important than ever before. With a close study of the records of each cow in the herd it is not difficult to locate and eliminate the unprofitable cows and feed the others according to production.

U. S. Road Plan Would Give $19 Apiece to Idle

BY FRANK I. WELLER (Associated Press Farm Editor) Washington (AP)—If all were given work by it, the $132,000,000 federal aid highway fund proposed in congress to relieve unemployment would put an estimated $19 in the pockets of each idle person.

Farm groups base that figure on the assumption of 6,000,000 unemployed and that at least 85 percent of the money spent in highway construction goes to labor, as indicated by the bureau of public roads.

Members of congress differ on whether the number subject to involuntary idleness is not nearer 8,000,000 or 10,000,000 but Senator Bingham, Republican, of Connecticut, says advocates from state governors he has questioned authorize an estimate of 6,000,000.

By tracing previous road expenditures back through various channels until the money went into personal use the bureau of public roads found that "at least 85 percent and possibly more than 90 percent of the money expended for a concrete pavement ultimately is paid out as wages and salaries."

On that conclusion $12,200,000 of the proposed $132,000,000 might be expected to go to labor.

Workers in a great number of trades would share the fund, since only about 15 percent of the cost of concrete pavements is paid to men employed directly on the construction job.

About 12 percent is paid to men employed in quarries, sand pits, mills and factories where the materials are produced and about 14 percent is paid to men employed by transportation companies, principally the railroads, for hauling the materials to the job.

Even more is paid to the men who build the machinery and equipment used in the pits and quarries and mills.

Some is paid to miners and to men who work on the pipe lines and in the oil fields, some to those who make blasting powder, hand tools and such minor items as cotton waste and the emery paper the mechanic used to smooth a joint on a machine he is repairing. Most of the men who build roads are city workers who never see more than a few miles of the highways but who receive several times as much in salaries and wages as is paid to the men directly employed in laying the concrete.

Officers On Watch For Illegal Spearing

With an augmented force of conservation officers patrolling the trout streams in the northern part of the state, especially on the Manistee, Muskegon and Pere Marquette river systems, the Department of Conservation believes that violations of the spearing laws are being kept at a minimum.

The force of conservation officers along the trout streams was increased because of the experience the department had during the spring spearing season of 1931 when it was reported that "tons" of brook, brown and rainbow trout had been speared and sold. At that time a large number of men were convicted and hundreds of pounds of illegally taken trout were confiscated.

The spring season permitting the use of the spear to take certain non-game fish on the non-trout streams of the state offers a great temptation to use them on trout streams it is claimed, and the fact that spears may be legally possessed offers an obstacle to proper enforcement of the laws protecting trout.

The spring spearing season on non-trout streams this year opened March 1. It will close April 30 in the lower peninsula and May 15 in the upper peninsula. Spearing in a trout stream for any species of fish is forbidden at all times.

Fireman Returns, 7,000 Mile "Run" Quiets Oil Blaze

By WILLIAM VOIGT, JR. Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—American ingenuity and persistence have triumphed over the most stubborn oil field fire in history, and so Myron M. Kinley is home from the world's longest fire-run—7,000 miles to Morenil, Rumania.

Before Kinley, famous for his flame fighting exploits in this country, set out to harness the veritable volcano, the blazing well had taken 14 lives and cost $750,000 in hard American money over a period of two years.

After he began actual operations, six months were required to tame the unruly well, which spouted gas at the rate of 250,000,000 cubic feet daily from a sand 5,000 feet deep.

The well blew wild and caught fire May 28, 1929. Resources of the Rumanian government and of the American oil company holding the drilling concession proved insufficient to control it.

In addition to those killed, more than 100 persons were injured in explosions and mishaps at the well. Steel equipment was melted by the intense heat. The drilling engine was never found, although twisted bits of the steel derrick were dragged from the flames.

By spring of 1931 the fire had burned out a crater 250 feet wide and 65 feet deep. From a hundred crevices in the crater walls burned smaller torches, fed from gas escaping through earth fissures by the heat.

Kinley, still on crutches from a leg fracture suffered while extinguishing the Gladewater, Tex., fire that took nine lives, went to Vienna to attend a convention last summer. Thence he proceeded to Rumania to seek permission to snuff the huge torch.

"The fire had become political fuel, and figured in elections," Kinley said.

With two assistants the Rumanian government permitted him to employ—an American and a Rumanian—Kinley dragged explosives to the edge of the crater and lowered them in fireproof wrappings near the fire. Streams of water were played on the men constantly as they approached the flames. "We used hundreds of pounds of explosives blasting dirt into the hole," Kinley explained. Water was played on the crater continually, and the mud and cement used in the operation boiled and bubbled like lava.

The resemblance to a volcano was heightened by the fire, which burst through frequently, sometimes in an explosion that hurled the boiling mixture high into the air.

The fire finally was choked off by filling the crater with the hardening cement mixture, which was gradually cooled by tons of water.

Actual work began August 3, 1931, and the task was completed February 7, when the well was tamped far underground and the gas turned into pipelines for commercial usage.

He dropped 2000 feet before a gust of wind blew him from under the plane and allowed him to open his chute.

Is she a "MAN HUNTER"?

Do you know how to recognize girls who are "Man Hunters"? Can you tell at a glance the type of young woman who considers every man fair game in the hunt for a husband? Here are some tests that will guide you:

- 1. Does she flutter her eyelashes when she smiles? yes no
- 2. Does she hum the words of sentimental songs when dancing? yes no
- 3. Does she inquire about a man's salary or financial standing before accepting a date? yes no
- 4. Does she use heavy, exotic perfumes? yes no
- 5. Can she pass a mirror without looking into it? yes no
- 6. Would she pass up a Greta Garbo movie for one starring Clark Gable? yes no
- 7. Does she gaze at a man over the rim of her glass while drinking? yes no
- 8. Is she helpless about trifles when a man is present? yes no
- 9. Would she rather sit in the moonlight than dance? yes no

If the answers are "yes" to five or more of these questions the girl in the case is a "man hunter." If the answers are "no" to five or more of these she's probably a "man hunter"—but cleverer!

SHERIFF FILLS STAFF VACANCY

C. L. Tordeur Under-sheriff, Arnold Nelson New Desk Deputy

Appointment of C. L. Tordeur as under-sheriff to succeed Joseph P. Carney, who died March 15, was announced Monday by Sheriff Elmer Swanson. In making his choice, Sheriff Swanson said that he was observing seniority rights by promoting the deputy oldest in service. Mr. Tordeur came with the department Jan. 1, 1923, and has been serving as a deputy continuously since that time.

The vacancy on the sheriff's regular office force will be filled by the addition of Arnold Nelson to the staff as a deputy on desk duty. Nelson is a life resident of Escanaba. He was employed by the C. & N. W. as a thimble until the position was abolished a year ago, and has been a sheriff's deputy for the last six years. His application for a permanent position on the sheriff's staff in case of a vacancy was filed a year ago, Sheriff Swanson said. Clair Bourdials, desk sergeant, and Henry Bresselt, traffic officer, are the other members of the sheriff's permanent staff.

U. C. T. To Launch Team-Work Drive

Active participation in the nation-wide "team-work program" of the United Commercial Travelers of America was decided upon by Escanaba Council No. 516 at a meeting of a group of members at the Delta hotel Saturday noon. D. A. Michela of Iron Mountain, assistant state director of the Team-Work program, was the principal speaker and he outlined the general plan. These meetings will be held semi-monthly, at which time reports will be made on the progress of the campaign and further plans will be made. It is planned to have J. G. Daly, editor of the Sample Case, official publication of the Commercial Travelers, to address one of the future meetings.

W. E. Steinhauer, 1414 Fifth Avenue South, has been appointed local council leader for the "Team-Work" campaign.

One of the main purposes of the program will be to have merchants push the sale of quality merchandise, the United Commercial Travelers organization believing that the stocking of stores with the so-called trashy goods is hindering the return of prosperity. Another objective of the campaign is to find employment for the commercial travelers, who have been thrown out of jobs in recent months. During the next forty days, committees of the organization throughout the country will call on wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers to urge them to put salesmen back to work.

Cutting Expenses

Iron Mountain—Members of the Iron Mountain board of education in three meetings held during the past 10 days have devoted most of their attention to reducing the operating expenses of the system for the remainder of the school year, and to plan additional savings during the vacation period and the school year of 1932-33, according to W. J. Cudlip, president.

Almost all other business, with the exception of routine affairs, has been excluded from the meetings in the effort to find ways of "cutting corners" without sacrificing the efficiency of the system, Cudlip said.

Although another year may bring a marked improvement in the industrial situation, the president continued, meetings plans are being predicated wholly upon the basis that conditions maintaining as they have been in the past year, the board will be fully prepared to meet the situation.
