ROOSEVELT GATHERS 25 DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES

Roosevelt of New York were jubilant over the success of 25 of their delegate candidates and likewise over the heavy vote cast in the Democratic primary.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 6 (AP)—A government investigator testified before U. S. Commissioner O. Scott Clark today that he purchased liquor twice from Arthur Day, justice of the peace at Marshall, who is accused of selling liquor in his combination office and court room. William Neville, the investigator, said he brought four drinks of whisky from day last March 18 and that a week later he and a state police investigator purchased a pint of liquor in Day's office.

CURTIS TELLS OF "CONTACT" WITH THIEVES

WAVE OF OPTIMISM ENGULFS ESTATE OF LINDBERGH

Hopewell, N. J., April 6 (AP)—An unexplained wave of optimism for the Lindbergh baby's safe return carried on its crest tonight a reported "contact" with the kidnapers and an automobile trip upon which someone started from the Lindbergh estate shortly before midnight. The automobile, a sedan, avoided the regularly used road to Hopewell and took to Featherbed Lane, a rutted thoroughfare on which the kidnapers are supposed to have parked their car the night the baby was spirited away. Two troopers rode in the front seat. A woman and a man, possibly two men, were in the rear. After reaching Hopewell, they disappeared on the road leading to Trenton.

NO PAYDAY FOR CITY WORKERS

Detroit, April 6 (AP)—For the first time in its history, the city was in default on municipal payrolls tonight. Controller G. Hall Roosevelt today held up payment of $496,024.85 due to a group of employees, some of whom are $16-a-week laborers, while he awaited instructions from the city council and Mayor Frank Murphy on how to divide funds available for payroll purposes before June 30. He is to meet with the city council tomorrow morning and then expects to receive instructions. In accordance with a council resolution adopted last night, to allot payroll funds pro rata among all employees. The council, however, has 72 hours in which to reconsider that action. There was available today $950,000. Had he met today's payroll in full, he explained, there would be insufficient funds left to meet payrolls for the bulk of city employees, due April 15. It was expected tonight that the payrolls now due would be met within a day or two on the basis of the council's allotment resolution which, councilmen estimated, will give each employe approximately two-thirds of his salary for the remainder of the fiscal year. That resolution was adopted in lieu of an ordinance formally reducing salaries one-third until June 30.

DETROIT DEFAULTS ON ITS PAY TO EMPLOYEES FOR FIRST TIME

Waltonites Oppose Tax On Gun Shells Manistee, Mich., April 6 (AP)—The Michigan division of the Isaac Walton league closed an harmonious convention here today, naming Kalamazoo as the 1933 convention city and electing a board of governors which in turn names the officers. Resolutions reaffirmed opposition to the proposed tax of one cent on each shotgun shell; advocated a $1 general rod license for fishermen; recommended reinstatement of special game wardens and agreed that game fund money should bear a reasonable share of the game refuge tax but denounced any diversion of funds to forest fire protection. Other resolutions suggested establishment of a state park around Tahquamenon falls in Northern Michigan and advocated substitution of state officers for county drain commissioners.

Two Fishermen And Wives All Winter On Isle Royale

Duluth, Minn., April 6 (AP)—How two fishermen and their wives, who had spent the winter at Skelet Bay on Isle Royale in Lake Superior, were saved from starvation by the timely arrival of the fishing steamer Winyah on the first trip of the season, was told today by Captain Martin Christensen on his return to Duluth. Severn Anderson, his wife, daughter and son-in-law, were left behind on Isle Royale when the Winyah made its last trip five months ago. Only a radio receiving set kept them in touch with the outside world. A month ago they ran out of food and since then they have subsisted almost entirely on mouse meat and other game and fish. Lloyd George Will Virtually Retire London, April 6 (AP)—David Lloyd George, noted Welsh liberal, was said by circles close to him tonight to have decided on virtual retirement from all participation in the work of the house of commons, although he would retain his parliamentary seat. Only very large political events such as are not now in sight would bring him back into the parliamentary arena persons close to him asserted. He already has reduced his personal staff and a further reduction is about to be made by the penning of individuals, his friends said. The war-time prime minister of Great Britain will devote himself, they added, principally to literary pursuits and to his favorite hobby of farming.

Alma Mater Loses Her Dignity As Strikers and Non-Strikers Engage in Battle at Columbia

New York, April 6 (AP)—Bruised knuckles and blackened eyes were evidence tonight of the seriousness with which Columbia university students went about their efforts to obtain—and oppose—the reinstatement of Reed Harris, expelled editor of The Spectator, student publication. Several women students were hurt slightly late in the day in a pitched battle between striking and non-striking students directed beneath the window of President Nicholas Murray Butler's office. Tear gas had been used earlier in a melee on the library steps where numerous strikers had made speeches. To Meet Friday Harris, whose editorial charged among other things professionalism on the football team, was absent from the campus which resumed its normal quiet after 3 p. m., following conclusion of most classes. Strike leaders said the one-day demonstration was 75 per cent effective, as they adjourned the mass-meetings and speech-making until Friday while preparing to return to classes as usual tomorrow. Vociferous partisans of Harris who attempted to "gag" the large and gilded statue of alma mater in front of the library caused a near riot as they flung a 15-foot strip of black crepe before the group they loudly dubbed "the athletic crowd." A moment after Arthur Goldschmidt solemnly proclaimed his "sad duty to announce that we are going to gag alma mater."

European Powers Hold Discussion On Danube Trouble

London, April 6 (AP)—Representatives of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, functioning as a kind of executive committee of Europe, today discussed ways and means of remedying the Danubian economic troubles, and they achieved what was authoritatively described as "very good progress." Tomorrow morning committee meetings will be held for the purpose of examining numerous proposals and reports touching on the questions of guaranteed loans and tariff preferences among the Danubian states. An effort will be made to submit concrete recommendations to the main conference in the afternoon. A source in close touch with today's discussions said they were conducted "in a spirit of complete harmony."

Michigan Bankers Hope To Shoot 5 Big Kodiak Bears

Seattle, April 6 (AP)—Two Grand Rapids, Mich., bankers sailed today on the steamship Admiral Watson for Alaska with the hope of obtaining five kodiak bears for exhibition at the Chicago 1933 world's fair. The men, C. P. Powers and L. A. Cornelius, are the first big game hunters to leave here for Alaska this season. "We expect to spend six weeks on Kodiak islands with definite purpose of obtaining five kodiak bears," said Powers. "The three largest will be mounted and exhibited at the world's fair." "Possibly we might be accused of counting our bears before they are bagged, but we are not new to the game. Two years ago we spent a month on Kodiak island and killed the three largest kodiak bears ever brought out of Alaska." The same securities had sold at a market valuation of $95,000,000 only two months ago. SQUIRES BACK AT ST. JOHN'S

Prime Minister Returns As War Vets Keep Off Angry Populace

St. John's, N. E., April 6 (AP)—Sir Richard Squires, prime minister of this island's government, returned tonight to the office in the Colonial building from which he fled 24 hours earlier while a mob of 10,000 shouted threats they would drown him in the harbor.

He drove up to the building in a motor car, rushed up the steps and through the door, shutting it tightly behind him as a heavy rainfall aided war veterans and municipal police in quieting the ruffled tempers of the populace.

He appeared little the worse for the rough handling to which he was subjected by the mob which last night stormed the building, tossing the government documents and furniture from the basement into the street as the house of assembly was in session on an upper floor. The mark of a bruise could be seen on his right cheek. His wife, Lady Helena Squires, only woman member of the legislature, suffered a head injury, apparently from a missile thrown through a window, during the disorders.

Promised to Resign

Sir Richard made his return shortly after war veterans and municipal police had repulsed a crowd which attempted to break into the central liquor stores.

They were told by Peter Cashin, former minister of finance and customs, that Sir Richard had promised to resign as prime minister or to ask dissolution of the assembly within 48 hours. The information, he said, was given by the premier to Sir William Coaker, minister without portfolio.

Sir Richard, Cashin said, was "out of town," having made his way from the crowd of 10,000 citizens who surged into the basement of the Colonial building while the assembly was in session in the upper rooms.

Sir William earlier had suggested a plan for a national government to succeed the Squires administration. He suggested placing F. C. Alderdice, present opposition leader, in the prime minister's office.

Order was urged by Alderdice and Cashin, whose charges that Sir Richard falsified minutes of council to divert public funds to political accounts, caused a public mass meeting to deputize a committee to visit the house and serve the assembly with a resolution for a "proper investigation." It was delayed by the deputations in being admitted to the as-

Newly Elected Cicero Mayor Ready to Oust Undesirable Persons

BY CORNWALL SPENCER (Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Cicero, Ill., April 6 (AP)—The 36-year-old mayor-elect of Cicero, given the task of redeeming the name of this Chicago suburb, for some years a popular synonym for gangdom, looked over the situation today and issued this ultimatum: "Undesirables must go!"

The mayor-elect, Joseph G. Cerny, will not take office until April 15 but he already is making plans to restore his town's prestige as a community of home-lovers. In fact, he said, municipal finances present the most puzzling problem and not gangs. Cicero has been penalized for six months and its employees, including firemen and policemen, have been unpaid during that time.

Two things combined a few years ago to put Cicero's name in headlines.

One was an alleged assault by a policeman upon Rosetta Duncan, musical comedy actress, who charged that her nose was broken and that she was hurt otherwise when beaten after she was arrested for speeding.

The gangs supplied other profitable material detrimental to the suburb's good name. Johnnie Torrio, "Scarface" Al Capone's teacher and sponsor, and Eddie Tanel, his enemy in the beer trade, moved in almost simultaneously in 1923. Tanel, among a score of others—eventually slain. The others included Frank Capone, elder brother of "Scarface" Al.

The gang was roared along until they attracted the glare of the national spotlight in 1926 with the machine gun slaying on April 27 of William McSwiggin, young assistant state's attorney, and two hoodlums in front of a notorious resort. The "Cicero massacre" was never officially solved or explained.

A few months after the McSwiggin killing, Capone, who had succeeded Torrio as gangland's leader, moved his headquarters into Chicago proper. Since then, Cicero has been less prominently identified with gangsters, but occasional killings and federal prohibition raids gave evidence it still was a definite sector in the "wars."

Cerny was elected Tuesday in a local Democratic "landslide" which swept out of office the Republican administration that had controlled the town for 18 years. Prohibition played only a minor part in the election, both candidates describing themselves as "liberal." Mayor-Elect Cerny said today, "Most of the citizens are of foreign extraction and want their beer. They are home-loving people and ask only for peace and good government. They'll get it. I am going to make every effort to restore the town to its citizenry."

TARIFF FIGHT EXPECTED ON NEW TAX BILL

13 1/2 per cent as fixed by the house.

Asked for a specific program, Mills pointed to his recommendations to the house ways and means committee which called for higher rates on automobiles and amusements than voted by the house and for levies on gasoline, electricity and gas.

Secretary Mills later told newspapermen he was not going to suggest a new taxation program when they surrounded him after his appearance before the senate finance committee.

"I couldn't think of a new tax," Mills explained smilingly, and added with a hearty laugh: "The tax on wort was the last one in the bag."

Senator Connally (D. Tex.) challenged Mills' argument against the increased inheritance tax, asserting there is "no halo" around the heads of big estates and denying the rate would necessarily break up going business concerns.

Assembly that irked the crowd and caused them to storm the building, strewn government documents in the street, manhandle Premier Squires, demolish furniture, and break windows in the government building.

STIMSON BACKS ROOT PROTOCOL

Secretary Testifies at Senate Committee For Two Hours

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Firm assurance was given the senate foreign relations committee today by Secretary Stimson that the United States would be fully protected under the Root protocol for American adherence to the World Court.

The secretary of state appeared personally to reiterate his view that the protocol covers the fifth resolution adopted by the senate in 1925 under which advisory opinions affecting the United States could not be offered by the court without this government's consent.

He gave his approval to the Reed resolution to restate that interpretation in a declaration of policy, but voiced objections to the resolution proposed by Senator Pittman (D. Nev.), a World Court friend, for sounding out other signatory powers on the meaning of the Root document.

Following Stimson's testimony, two attempts by Senator Walsh (D. Mont.) to fix a time for a vote on the protocol were rejected on objections from Senators Johnson (R. Calif.) and Moses (R. N. H.).

Vote Next Week

Stimson testified for two hours in executive session, and members were reticent to comment on what he said. Chairman Borah announced that the full text of his testimony would be made public as soon as it has been revised.

Borah announced the committee had concluded its hearings and said a vote would probably be reached next week on the Pittman resolution. The committee chairman expressed the view that the prospect for a vote at this session was "reasonably good."

Stimson was called before the committee because of the view of some members that his recent report saying the Root protocol covered the fifth reservation was not borne out by his previous statements.

After his testimony some of these senators said they were still puzzled by his interpretation and quoted him as saying that if the court insisted upon rendering an opinion unwanted by this government, America's only recourse would be to withdraw from the court.

URGES COMISH TO TAKE OVER ECONOMY JOB

anti-administration member plans Thursday to introduce a resolution asking for a detailed report covering the ownership and operation of state cars. He secured a preliminary report from Charles W. Foster, secretary of the state administrative board, showing 1,160 automobiles. The senator said he had discovered discrepancies which indicated a much larger number.

Further amendments to the three-reconstructed administration highway finance bill were offered to the senate highway committee today under the sponsorship of the Michigan municipal league. In effect they would put the measure back where it was before its last revision.

The latest changes would give the cities and villages a definite share in any surplus that might exist in the funds to be returned to the counties after covert obligations had been met. The modification provides:

That the entire weight tax be returned to the counties, less the McNitt township road law appropriation, which will be $2,500,000 next year and increase thereafter. The net returned to counties next year, therefore, would be about $17,500,000 instead of the $10,000,000.

The first obligation against the funds would be the payment of covert obligations. An amendment would compel the boards of supervisors and county road commissions to apportion the funds to cities, villages and assessment districts in direct proportion to the percentage of any covert obligation assessed against them.

Restrict Expenditures

When the mandatory obligations had been met the balance, if any, would be split 60 per cent for the county, and 40 per cent for the cities and villages in the county. Expenditure of the funds would be restricted to highway purposes.

Municipal league officials estimated the measure would provide a fund of about $3,000,000 for the cities and villages. In some counties where covert obligations are heavy the cities and villages would receive nothing at present, but ultimately they would benefit, it was stated.

The proposed amendment and other provisions of the bill will be discussed in a public hearing Thursday night.

George Welch, city manager of Grand Rapids, reached here prepared, he said, to fight for the allocation of a definite sum to the cities. He declared the city of Grand Rapids will be short $1,250,000 in its budget next year. Inasmuch as the cities pay a large percentage of the gasoline and weight taxes he believed they should have a substantial share of the state aid.

"It is a question of roads against bread and butter in Grand Rapids," Welch said. "If the state will give us enough money to maintain and keep open our streets, we will have that much more tax money to spend on welfare work."

Michener Scored For His Vote On Referendum Bill

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 6 (AP)

Representative Earl Michener of the second Michigan congressional district was criticized by speakers at a meeting of the Michigan branch of the women's national organization for prohibition reform here today for his vote in the house against taking up a bill proposing to resubmit the 18th amendment.

Mrs. Myron Vorce of Detroit, state vice president of the organization, charged Michener with "failure to understand his responsibilities toward his constituents."

"I do not criticize him for being personally dry, if he is, because he is entitled to his own opinion regarding the eighteenth amendment," she said. "He has not, however, xxx been willing to trust his own constituents. We need a broader minded man."

Orders Payrolls For Cement Plant Held To Minimum

Lansing, April 6 (AP)—Governor Wilbur M. Brucker today ordered payrolls for the closed Chelsea cement plant held to a minimum.

John W. Miner, state prison commissioner, conferred with the governor and contended costs are not excessive. He said there are about 125,000 barrels of cement on hand. The product is being sold as rapidly as possible, although at a considerable loss. It cost, according to Miner, about $1.45 a barrel to produce. The open market now is around $1.05 and the state has purchased Chelsea cement at the mill, at 55 cents.

Miner asserted that the chemists and other employees at the plant are employed on a day labor basis, receiving 50 to 60 cents an hour and working part time.

Martha's Vineyard.

The boat was said to be heading toward Great Neck, Mass. State police began a search of the wooded region in that section.

Although it was possible the report was only another of the thousands of wild leads turned up in the 36-day investigation, interest attached to it because of Lindbergh's trips to that section and the possibility Curtis also had been there during the past four days.

Rumors the missing child already had been returned to his parents or to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, at Englewood, spread from coast to coast during the day.

There also were persistent reports, one attributed to a person connected with the investigation, that the return of the child was only a matter of hours off.

Reporters Return

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, state police superintendent, in vigorously denying the 21-month-old boy was back, said "When the baby is returned the news will be accurate through Trenton."

At Trenton newspaper men kept a 24-hour vigil in the state capitol, which is connected by direct wire with the Lindbergh home.

In Hopewell a small army of reporters and photographers was increasing as a result of the optimism prevailing that success would soon crown the five weeks of investigating and negotiating.

Colonel Schwarzkopf, and state police in Maine said they had no knowledge of a report a man and a woman had landed near the Morrow summer home at North Haven, Me.

The afternoon bulletin from the Lindbergh home said, in reply to a question, that a woman who wrote threatening letters to the Morrow family in 1929 was put in an asylum "and last reports were she is still there."

Admiral Burrage said tonight that he would announce it immediately if the Lindbergh baby had been returned, "unless Colonel Lindbergh had requested us not to do so, and he has not made such a request."

Lahti Recovering From Knife Wound

Newberry, April 6 (Special)—Emil Lahti who attempted suicide in the county jail on Tuesday afternoon spent a fair night at the Perry-Spinks hospital and appears to be recovering. Lahti, 38 and unmarried. Last fall in a fight in which Mrs. Mattson figured at the Sam Mattson place, Sam was beaten up and injured about the head. Mrs. Mattson was charged jointly with Lahti with assault. Lahti was brought back from the western end of the peninsula and spent the last six months in jail awaiting trial.

Appearing before Judge Runnels in the March term of court he was allowed to go on suspended sentence to the charge. It now appears that as soon as he was released he went to the home of Philip Slaughter north of town and traded his watch for a gun. Slaughter had hidden there. Sheriff John Turnbull found Lahti in a shack belonging to Nick Kalamari east of town. On Tuesday Turnbull had him before Justice Kinsey where he was arraigned on the charge of violating his probation and had just been locked up again when he cut his throat with his pocket knife, inflicting a severe wound.

AGED RESIDENT PASSES

Peter John Peterson, a resident of Luce county for 47 years and one of the oldest Swedish citizens here, died at the local hospital on April 4. He had been a resident of the county sanitarium for some time and moved to the hospital when his condition became grave a few days ago. A farmer most of his life, Mr. Peterson was lost his wife by death about twenty years ago. He leaves a son, Albert, of this place. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Swedish church, Rev. S. P. Holmberg officiating, and burial will take place in Forest Home cemetery.

Elery Walter To Lecture At Junior High School Today

At 8:15 o'clock this morning Elery Walter will speak at the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium at the Junior high school. The public is invited to attend and hear Mr. Walter's lecture, the theme of which is "Carry On Despite Obstacles." A very small admission charge is being made for the lecture.

Elery Walter's experiences have been such as to make him exceptionally well fitted to bring this inspirational message to everyone, especially the young people.

His story is that of courageous youth. Of necessity he worked his way through high school and college and then, when life began to hold out for him a rosy future, fate deprived him of a leg. Undaunted he continued working his way around the world, tutoring children, writing and even acting as a courier for ten American girls. He started his globe circling trip with $15 in his pocket and 18 months later landed in New York with $15. In his travels, Elery Walter has met great personages in every country in which he has traveled. He has just returned from a most interesting trip to Russia. He tells of his meeting with Mussolini who calls him "The Supreme Adventurer." Von Hindenberg, the Pope and the former King of Spain.

The New York Telegram says: "Modern Achilles, crippled, but limps 40,000 miles to fame. The heel of young Elery Walter, like the heel of Achilles, was vulnerable. But when he got a blister on it, followed by infection and the loss of one leg, he started with the other on a limp to fame."

Spelling Bee Notes

Much interest in the Daily Press spelling bee is being shown among the boys and girls of the Bark River school and a novel manner of holding local contests is revealed in a letter written for their language class which has been forwarded to the spelling bee director. The pupils are taught by Miss Blanche Fillion.

The letter:

"Dear Mr. Director:

We have been enjoying the spellwords and baseball games we had. We play the fifth grade against the sixth grade. We are in the sixth grade and we are glad too because we usually win. We have names for our teams, too. The fifth graders are the Tigers and the sixth graders are the Yankees.

We shall tell you how we play baseball in case you want to know.

First the side that's up to bat while the opposite side takes their bases and chooses the pitcher, catch and baseman. Those not on bases may stand as fielders ready to give a word if the baseman is slow in thinking. The side up to bat has one batter step out at a time and the pitcher gives him a word. If he spells it right he goes to first base. The first baseman then has to give him a word also. If he spells it correctly he goes to second base and receives a word also. When he has completed a word he comes to the home plate. He then receives a word from the catcher. He has now completed the home run and scores one point.

Now if the batter spells two words wrong he has two strikes and is out provided the catcher can spell them. If the catcher fails to spell them it is a ball on balls and the batter is safe. When three men are out it closes an inning and the other side goes up and so they go on as before. Nine innings constitute a game.

In this way we study more and try harder. We enjoy it also. Do you not think this is a good way to have our contests? We are very anxious for the time to come when the crack speller will be found.

All the boys and girls are trying to win the Spelling Bee, we wonder who will.

Respectfully yours,

The Sixth Grade Yankees"

EDITORIAL

A POLITICAL FOOTBALL

AFTER being maintained, since its inception, as a fund almost sacred in the minds of the people of Michigan as the primary school interest fund, evidence accumulates, down at Lansing, that the state highway fund is to be converted into a political football.

The people of Michigan have, without complaint, paid an automobile weight tax and a gasoline tax, because they knew that every dime paid in such taxes went into the state highway fund, for the construction and maintenance of highways, for the use of their automobiles and trucks.

The state highway department and the management of its far flung affairs, have, luckily, escaped any considerable political interference or dominance. Since the adoption of the five year plan by that department, there has been recorded steady progress in connecting up short strips of paving and practically all construction has been aimed at the completion of definite routes.

The people of Michigan have taken justifiable pride in the job the highway department was doing and it has been a matter of general comment that the highway department was one division of the state government that was returning to the people a full dollar of value for every dollar expended.

And the state highway department, through the operation of the McNitt bill, which provides for the taking over of 20 per cent of the mileage of township roads each year, is the single state department that has taken definite action for the reduction of the general tax burden. Each year, over a period of five years, it was planned to take over township road mileage, for construction and maintenance, thus reducing township road taxes 20 per cent, until at the end of five years, the township road tax would entirely disappear.

At the opening of the special session of the legislature, at Lansing last week, when it was openly boasted that the skids had been greased for wholesale diversion of state highway funds to other purposes, it developed that the plan presented to the legislators had been so poorly considered that no individual or association could be found that would admit authorship of the bill.

The bill has now had three re-vampings and the political wolves, each seeking a greater slice, of a once sacred fund, are still quarrelling over the skeleton. About the only hope remaining is that the wolves may become so involved in their private fights, the original object sought is buried in the dust of the battle.

THE AMERICAN LEGION ON THE BONUS THE promise of the American Legion to support the president in his attitude against enactment of additional soldiers' bonus legislation will win the thanks of the large host of the federal taxpayers and those who have become alarmed by the increasing burden of governmental expenditures.

Direct and indirect war costs today comprise the bulk of our government's expenditures. Of the four billion dollar budget, the federal government will spend a billion dollars during the year for veterans care and pensions and allowances. Then there are the appropriations for the army and navy, payment of interest on war debts, in addition to veterans' relief, which make up an expenditure of $2,500,000,000. This is a total of 70 per cent of the four billion dollar budget which goes for wars, both present and future, since military defense is to be considered as preparing for future conflicts.

After all, when the budget is considered, the clamor for reduction of governmental bureaus and offices is not going to accomplish as much as a saving as some people think. Unfortunately, the $2,500,000,000 for veterans' relief, debt payments and interest, and national defense is a fixed expense, which can be altered only slightly. Like General Sherman expressed once in his classic phrase, "War is hell"—on the taxpayer.

THE U. C. T. PROGRAM THE Escanaba council of the United Commercial Travelers has joined in the nation-wide campaign to educate merchants to the evils of price slashing and the stocking of their shelves with cheap, trashy merchandise. The consumer, of course, likes to get his goods from the stores at the lowest prices possible, but in the long run everyone loses when prices are knocked down to a point where profits are impossible. It means failures and additional unemployment.

The price cutting business has tended to cheapen American merchandise. Many stores throughout the country are filled with cheap, fake stuff priced at cheap, fake prices which used to fool gullible folks, but, now alas, are fooling the wise ones.

This isn't a cheap country. A decent profit is the only foundation for a good business and it is neither good for the storekeeper, good for the customer nor good for the community to have this cheap trend in merchandising deteriorate our whole commercial structure.

When prices start going up it will be one of the best indications that prosperity is returning. The United Commercial Travelers, who probably feel the pulse of business more intimately than anyone else, must be on the right track.

STRANGE JUSTICE THE strange way in which the machinery of justice occasionally works was never better exemplified than in the recent trial of Dan Nevins for murder in a New York court.

While the jury was deliberating, Nevins decided that the shadow of the electric chair was rather chilling. So he arranged to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter and to accept a sentence of five to ten years in prison.

Susan Carey, 19 and pretty, discourages the attentions of a moody young man, Ben Lanningman. "Hallo, there!" A throaty voice challenged Susan next day as she sat alone in the small outer office. Looking up, she met the exaggeratedly long lashed brown eyes of a small blond girl in a skin tight frock of violent green.

Susan smiled. Now she knew where she had seen that dandelion head before! Bending over the typewriter in the office across the way.

"Have lunch with me some day," she offered hospitably. "Tie on the nose bag together. Know a good place down on Adams street."

Susan said "All right" and the Flannery girl was gone as swiftly and suddenly as she had appeared.

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL

A little truth I'll tell to you— It's strictly confidential, too. Remember that—but here's the story: I find, as I grow gray and hoary, That any tale I simply tell, Nor try to secrecy compel. With nothing hidden or deleted, But very seldom is repeated.

It's never whispered up and down The streets and alleys of the town. I never seem to hear it later. The facts enlarged, the figures greater. But when I say to someone that "It must be kept beneath your hat," It spreads like fire upon a prairie. They hear it in the cemetery.

So, if I want a tale to spread, I always whisper it instead. If something quite inconsequential, I always say it's "confidential." It's so sub rosa, so to speak, The whole town knows it in a week— To make it public, I contrive it. By saying it is strictly private.

for the first time really grown up. Even Aunt Jessie treated her now with a grudging respect.

On the second Monday the chrysanthemum-locked Miss Flannery appeared again. Susan was just leaving, properly hatted and gloved, for lunch at the exact moment the Flannery girl emerged from the door of her office.

"Hello!" Raspberry tinted lips parted in a smile which flashed dazzling like that of the beauties of the toothpaste advertisements.

Susan smiled shyly in return. Ray Flannery was dressed this day in a shade of yellow even more startling than that of her amazing hair. The dress, even as the green one, fitted her rounded figure with utter frankness. She wore black and white shoes that shouted for attention.

"I like that," Ray confided artlessly. "First thing I can always tell whether I like a person or not. That crab who worked at Heath's before you came—what did you say her name was, Sullivan? O'Brien? Well, anyway, she was a pain. Couldn't stand her. Always wore low heeled shoes and hair nets. Can you beat it? Hair nets! Musta come out of the ark."

Susan murmured that the luckless woman had undergone an operation and might return to her post shortly.

"I hope she chokes," Ray Flannery said cheerfully, disposing of the last bit of sandwich. Ray's fingernails were so long and so brightly tinted her companion could not stop looking at them.

She rambled on. "My boy friend gave her a look one night when he came for me and he says, 'Holy cat,' he says. 'Where did she drop from? Who dragged her in?' he says. I thought 'I'd die!'"

Ray gave Susan a sly, penetrating look. "What's your boy friend's name?" she asked.

Susan colored, stammering that she had none. The Flannery girl shrugged unbelieving shoulders. She seemed offended.

"Don't tell if you don't want to," she said elegantly. "Some people are funny that way. As Mom always says to me, 'You blab everything right out,' she says. And I do. Friendly like a pup, that's me."

Susan hastened to mend the breach. "Honestly, I haven't got one," she insisted, baring her shame to make the Flannery girl's icy manner thaw.

Ray will looked mildly incredulous but she dropped the chilly dignity in which she had a moment before enveloped herself.

"I don't believe it!" She eyed the other girl suspiciously, took in the crisp, dark waves of hair pressed down by the small white hat, the peachblow color that came and went in Susan's round cheeks.

Susan laughed gayly. "It's a fact!" she cried. The other girl's attitude cheered her. She couldn't be so bad, after all!

Ray Flannery gave her rosebud mouth an extra coating of lip salve, and looked up.

"Maybe you haven't got S. A.," she murmured thoughtfully. "You seem real cute looking to me but maybe that's it. Ever try purple eyeshadow?" She proffered the pencil she was now employing on her upper lids.

Susan drew back and then, anxious not to wound the sensitive Miss Flannery again, said with a regret she did not feel, "Wish I could but my aunt's terribly strict—and old-fashioned. She wouldn't stand for it."

Brother Of Local Woman Murdered In Chippewa Co.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—Clinton Middlebrook, 35, of 713 Eureka street, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Middlebrook of Gladys, was shot to death at 2 a. m. today and Albert Porter, 65, 910 Ashmun street, awaited arraignment on a murder charge this afternoon after admitting to police that he did the shooting.

Shot Through Side
Porter came to the police station at 2:10 this morning and told officers he had shot a man whose name he did not know.

Middlebrook was shot through the side, the bullet entering a few inches above the right hip, lodging under the skin on the left side, directly opposite the entry wound.

According to the story told police officers by Porter, Middlebrook came to the apartments of William Forrest. "I was reading in my room," Porter said, "and went to the door telling him that Forrest was not at home and that he had better leave."

Shot at Him Twice
"I told him to leave, that if he didn't I'd let him have it. He said I wouldn't shoot, and that I'd better give the gun to him. He started toward me and I shot twice, both times at his legs."

After about an hour I told him he better leave. We went out into the hall. After reading a little while, I went out into the hall to turn out the light.

Porter said he had been robbed several times and fearing that Middlebrook perhaps was hiding in the hall to rob him, took his revolver, which he kept under his pillow. In the hall Porter said he saw Middlebrook standing behind a chimney.

bullet pierced his side. After shooting Middlebrook, Porter aroused Harold Crimin, who lives across the hall from Porter. Crimin said he was awakened by some noise, but he was not able to state whether it was shooting.

Porter was born in Meaford, Ontario, and came to the Sault in 1916 after 23 years residence on St. Joseph's Island. For 15 years he has been employed by the Pittsburgh Steamship company.

Middlebrook was born in Gladys, June 23, 1896. He lived most of his life near Gladys. In later years he had been in Detroit and Flint.

He is survived, beside his mother, father and brother, by one sister, Mrs. J. K. Murphy, of Escanaba.

He was a member of the Catholic church and the Holy Name society. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Theatres

Douglas Fairbanks jumps from Asia to the Philippines in one leap! It sounds like one of the tricks that the famous star employed in his imaginative "Thief of Bagdad" or "Robin Hood," but it is included in "Around the World in 80 Minutes" with Douglas Fairbanks, the United Artists picture which comes to the Delft theatre today.

In explaining his travel picture to the audience during the course of the reels, Douglas Fairbanks illustrates his moves by appearing on a gigantic map of the world. He walks over it pointing with a golf club to the various places the spectator will visit with him next.

This map upon which he walks was constructed on the floor of a studio at the United Artists plant in Hollywood, and is probably the largest map ever made in history. Its dimensions are 250 by 200 feet and the camera, raised on a platform 75 feet above the stage.

One of the jumps was so long the mapmakers had to cheat on a country or two so that it would be humanly possible for Fairbanks to make the leap.

OTHER FEATURE An imposing cast is announced to interpret one of the season's most important offerings, "The Impatient Maiden," which comes to the Delft theatre today, in support of Lew Ayres are Mae Clarke, Una Merkel, John Halliday, Andy Devine, Ethel Griffies, Helen Jerome Eddy, Bert Roach, Arthur Hoyt, Blaine Payson, Cecil Cunningham, Lorin Raker, Monte Montague and Oscar Appel.

Due to the length of the double-feature program at the Delft tonight and Friday the Douglas Fairbanks picture, "Around the World in 80 Minutes" will be shown only once.

"YOUR FUNERAL" Don't Miss The Opportunity Of A Life Time Most funeral sermons are preached to your friends when you're back is turned. "Your Funeral" will be preached to your face when you can talk back. Tonight First Baptist Church. Corner of 14th St. and 8th Ave.

Highland Club Dancing Party Great Success

Over one hundred and thirty-five couples, members of the club and their guests, both of Gladstone and Escanaba, enjoyed the first annual Highland Golf club dancing party Tuesday evening at the Coliseum.

The party, a success in every detail, was one of the outstanding social events and one of the most colorful and most thoroughly enjoyable affairs of the year. The dance program, played by the Wolverine seven-piece orchestra, opened at 9 o'clock and continued until one o'clock. Its numbers varied, including one of the old circular two-steps for which Nelson P. Jensen acted as caller.

The grand march, the ninth number on the dance program, and the feature of the evening's program, was led by Dr. G. A. Cotton, president of the Highland club and his guest, Miss Laura Palmquist, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flath. The varied shades of lovely dance frocks against the soft lighted background and the formations of the march made the number unusually attractive.

Arrangements for all details of the party were in charge of special committees of Highland Club members, with Earl M. Williams as general chairman, and unlimited credit is due these members for the success of the club's first annual dance.

College Founder Lived At Soo

Of interest here is a story of records of minutes of the First Presbyterian church of Chicago found in an ancient trunk in a loop back vault, which stated that Mrs. Henry Durant, founder of Wellesley college, was at one time a resident of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., going from Michigan to Chicago in 1833. Miss Margaret Yelland of this city, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Judd Yelland, is a student at Wellesley college at the present time.

A Book A Day

By Bruce Catton

When a sudden, life-and-death crisis comes, you don't decide how you are going to meet it. What you are decides for you—the things you've done in past years, the dreams you've dreamed, the kind of person you've permitted or persuaded yourself to become. You run true to form, and you can't help yourself.

"Ithuriel's Hour," a crisp and cleverly-handled novel by Joanna Cannan. The central character is Sir Clement Vyse, one of those cold-water-bath English sportsmen. He sets out to scale a lonely peak in the Himalayas, taking with him his son and half a dozen kindred spirits, and finds it a tougher job than he had expected.

But Sir Clement had been one of Britain's empire builders in his youth, and he'd never been able to forget it. The one thing he really believed in was the virtue of doing exactly what he set out to do, regardless of the cost.

So, in the end, he scaled the mountain and came back to England a famous explorer. But he had to commit two murders in order to do it.

The bland, self-satisfied way in which he blew himself to these murders is described with incisive irony; and their effect on Sir Clement's son, who is a much more civilized human being, is told sympathetically and persuasively. All in all, the book is very good reading.

Church Events

Mid-Week Service Mid-week services will be held at the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church at 7:45 o'clock this evening.

Young People's Society The Young People's society of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church, corner Fifteenth street and First avenue south, meets in the church parlors this evening at 8 o'clock. Members of the program committee are: Miss Bertine Sattem and Arthur Carlson; refreshment committee: Mildred Petersen, Alma Simensen, Bertine Sattem and Ellen Sivertsen.

Evangelistic Meetings "Your Funeral" will be the sermon at the First Baptist church tonight (Thursday). This sermon was first preached over the body of a man who died as he had lived, cursing and taking God's name in vain. The next day the senior deacon said to the pastor, "Pastor, if I should die during the next two weeks I want you to preach that same sermon for my funeral."

Service of illustrated song and scripture will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Anniversary

British Attack Successful On April 7, 1918, British troops stormed new German positions on the Ancre river, north of Albert in a counter-attack which allied bulletins described as completely successful.

In another section of the front in Picardy, however, German shock divisions took Plerrenmande and Folembay after stiff fighting. Pressure on this front, however, was not so great as to be alarming.

Two German raids on American trenches near Toul, were repulsed with slight losses to the Americans. Increasing activity on the Lys sector was reported by Portuguese patrols and there was some anxiety for the safety of British, Belgian and Portuguese positions if a major German attack should be directed at them. Turkish troops recaptured Ardahan in Armenia after defeating the hastily gathered Armenian army.

The Soviet government at Moscow sent additional protests to Germany on the invasion of Kurak province by German and Ukrainian troops.

Missionary From Africa To Speak
Tuesday, April 12

Leonard H. Chatterton, a Presbyterian missionary at Elat, Cameroun, West Africa, will speak in the Presbyterian church at Manistique, Tuesday evening, April 12.

Mr. Chatterton is in charge of the Halsey Memorial Press, and has been on the field since 1928. Printing and publication are represented by the Halsey Memorial Press, it prints in English "The Drum Call," a quarterly periodical of the mission, which is read by many friends of the work in America.

In regard to his work in Africa, Mr. Chatterton says, "Naturally, my biggest interest is in the print shop, for here I am able to work with the printers and their families in spreading the Gospel through the printed page."

The mission station at Elat is situated in a large territory, and there has been a tremendous response to the Gospel message. The mission's relations with the French government have been most cordial, and the government station is only a twenty minutes' walk from Elat.

As one compares the work among the people of the Cameroun today with that of former years, he is impressed with the advance that has been made. The motor industry is fast displacing the carriers of former days.

TO CLEAR FORD
DOCKS OF COAL

Pittsburgh Coal Co. Making
Effort to Clean
Up Stock Piles

Letters received by large local consumers of coal from the Pittsburgh Coal company, indicate that the company is endeavoring to clear the docks here before May 1. The letters state briefly that during the month of April a special discount is to be made on coal in car lots and that the company expects to clean up its remaining stock piles during the month.

Local officials of the coal company have not been advised of any definite plans to discontinue operations here on May 1, although when the Ford Motor company purchased the docks a year ago, it was understood that the coal company would vacate when the motor company desired to make use of their property. The lease on the docks, it is reported, will expire in May.

The quantity of coal now stored here is estimated at 5000 tons, which would require at least a month to move with the present crew and facilities. By adding men, the coal could be cleared from the docks in even less time.

The action taken by the coal company has given impetus to the current rumor that Ford plans to start work on the reconstruction of the docks here next month, although efforts to secure confirmation of the rumors has failed.

NO CHANGE IN BOARD LIKELY

All Gladstone Supervisors
Will Probably Be Renamed

The city commissioners will meet tonight as a board of canvassers to check the results of the city election held Monday. After the canvass of the votes, the names of the victorious candidates will be certified and the certificates of election issued. It is doubtful that errors will be found that will make any change in the result or the majorities received by Claude E. Hawkins and J. P. Bushong, as reported in the unofficial returns.

The meeting of the new commission will be held Monday to elect a Mayor and perfect the organization for the year. City Manager Buechner advises that only one supervisor is to be appointed this year, owing to the fact that Peter Peterson named to the board last year will retain the place during his entire term as commissioner and the mayor and assessor are supervisors by virtue of their offices under the charter. After the election of the mayor, the vacancy on the board of supervisors will be filled from the remaining members of the commission.

While no member of the commission has so stated, it is generally conceded that there will be no change in Gladstone's representation on the county board. Both Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Bushong, whose terms expired with the election on Monday, have been returned to the commission and their length of service on the county board, with the incident prestige which length of service gives, will undoubtedly result in their re-appointment.

City Manager Buechner also stated yesterday that, under the charter of the city, appointments made by the city manager are for indeterminate periods and are not subject to the approval of the commission as stated in the Press yesterday.

The salary schedule of the appointees is included in the budget submitted to the commission for adoption each year, he explained, but the personnel is a matter which the charter provides shall be determined by the city manager.

Senior Class
Selects Play
Wm. H. Bainter, under whose direction the Senior Class play is to be presented on April 29, announced yesterday that the class had chosen "Peek-A-Boo-Lady," a fast-moving farce comedy, for their show. The plot, founded upon mistaken identity, is submerged in a riot of wise-cracking, ridiculous and humorous situations, according to press reports. It is one of the most popular plays that have ever been published.

The cast for the production is to be announced Monday and will include twelve principle characters and an additional number of extras.

The parts to be assigned are as follows: I. Wood, the clerk. I. M. Cash, a wealthy banker. I. O. Cash, his twin brother. Ima Springer, the girl. Crystal Springer, her aunt. U. R. Due, an inventor.

Miss Deal Due, a modern flapper. Emma Lemmon, a Swedish maid. Charlie Ashton, a student of law. Trixie Truax, a dainty little miss. Anabelle, about twenty. Florine, about eighteen. Group of guests.

Teachers and Fairies Cop Volley Ball Titles

CLOSE MATCHES CLOSE SEASON

Knights of Columbus in Surprise Win Over Northern

The Teachers became the champions of the Class A division and the Fairies the champions of the Class B or lower-eight division as the result of victories in the championship games in both classes last evening. Last night's session in which 14 of the 16 teams in the two tournaments were represented ended the volley ball season in this city with a burst of enthusiasm.

The Teachers who also copped the league play during the pre-tournament season marched through the Vikings almost as easily as they sailed through other opposition this year and their victory last night without the loss of a game enabled them to finish the year without a defeat to mar their record. They turned back the Vikings with scores 15-12, 12-15, and 15-5.

The final game in the lower eight bracket, however, was much harder fought and the Fairies only managed to win out after five sizzling games, all closely fought. The scores were 14-16, 15-11, 9-15, 15-13, 15-13.

In games for third and fourth places in both brackets, the Newsies defeated the Holy Name in the Class A competition by scores of 14-16, 15-12, 12-15, 15-10, 15-9. In the Class B bracket, third place was captured by the Newsies who vanquished the St. Joseph team, 15-7, 7-15, 15-8, 15-10.

HEAVY SELLING HINDERS CURB

New York, April 6 (AP)—The Curb market wilted under the heaviest selling in several weeks today.

Pressure was again concentrated against the utilities, and the day's turnover swelled to 320,000 shares, 50,000 more than yesterday's and the largest since mid-February.

While news that bankers were working on a plan of reorganization for Middle West Utilities came as no surprise, in view of the known problems of the Insull group, it apparently swelled the volume of selling. Another factor was the weekly report of electric power consumption, showing a shrinkage of 11.9 percent from the like week of last year.

The drop in the utilities has been so precipitant that investment trusts have been combing the list for undervalued issues.

Bond and Share Falls—Middle West Utilities, which closed yesterday at 1, dropped to 1/2 and Insull Utility Investment sagged to a new low at 1/4. Their highs for 1932 are 7 and 6, respectively. Commonwealth Utilities, however, held up well, closing at 7 1/2 off 1. The Electric Bond and Share group was also heavily sold. Much of the selling was said to come from the interior. Bond and Share common reacted 3 points to 10 1/2, and closed at 10 3/4. American Gas and Electric reacted nearly 2.

Wassberg Named Grid Coach at Manistique

MURRAY LOOKS GOOD AT TECH

Gladstone Youth Picked As Prospect for Pole Vaulting

Houghton, Mich., April 2—Ranked as the likeliest pole-vaulting prospect to turn out for Michigan College of Mining and Technology track squads in the past four years, Ted Murray, member of the Gladstone high school upper peninsula championship team of 1929, enrolled today among the 54 candidates on whom the Engineers depend to amass a double victory over Northern State Teachers College of Marquette and a win over Stout Institute of Menomonie, Wis.

The high point of Murray's track achievements while on the Gladstone high school track aggregation came at the Iron Mountain invitational meet of 1929 when he tied for first in the 440, being clocked at 53.5, and with an 11.4 in the vault placed a close second to Schram, then of Escanaba and now on the roster of Marquette University field men. During the Escanaba relays the same year Murray likewise cleared the bar at 11.4.

At Michigan Tech this past fall he showed he had lost none of the football prowess which made him one of the mainstays of the Gladstone gridders of 1928. U. P. champs. As quarterback he ran the Engineer eleven in heady fashion, and was to no small extent responsible for the "Hough-tonites" capture of their annual two-game series with Northern State.

Unless the dope bucket falls apart, the Technicians are due to make a slam in track also, as they lost but two men from the squad which a year ago swamped the Normalites 70-47 and 74-43. Captain Foster of Escanaba and Tilton of Adrian are figured to equal or better their 1931 feat of piling up 56 points between them in two meets. With Murray, Kocak of East Chicago, Ruboff of Houghton, Sibley of Cadillac, Campana of Stambaugh, and other strong newcomers to support the veterans' efforts, the Tech mentors look forward to even greater margins this year.

KOLP INEFFECTIVE

Cincinnati, April 6 (AP)—The Columbus American Association team made merry with the offerings of Ray Kolp for four innings today, gathered a lead the Cincinnati Nationals could not overcome and won, 4 to 2.

GREAT GELDING TO BE MOUNTED

Phar Lap to Be Sent Back to Either Austral- ia or New Zealand

Manistique, April 6 (Special)—Oscar Wassberg, Manistique high school basketball coach, will supplant William Cook as head football coach here next fall according to an announcement made yesterday by local school officials.

Manistique, April 6 (Special)—Phar Lap, monarch of the Australian turf in his lifetime, is to be sent home to perpetuate the memory of one of the greatest thoroughbreds ever reared under the southern cross.

The great red gelding, whose untimely death here yesterday stunned the racing world, is to be mounted in this country. A San Francisco taxidermist started on the work today.

Although colic has been generally accepted as the cause of Phar Lap's death, rumors flew thick and fast today. In some quarters it was hinted the horse had died from poisoning placed in his feed bag.

Newspaper men were told today by David J. Davis, the owner of the horse, valued at $500,000, that he definitely had accepted the first findings of veterinarians.

Dr. William Nielsen, who accompanied Phar Lap from Australia, attributed death to old-fashioned colic, probably induced by eating green feed or dampened barley in a field adjacent to the stable. Ed Perry, owner of the private stable that quartered the horse, said owner Davis had decided upon a chemical analysis of the stomach contents to discover if the veterinarians' diagnosis was correct.

Remarkable Career

Two governments, New Zealand and Australia, were said to have requested that Phar Lap's remains be shipped there. The famed horse was foaled in New Zealand and ran most of his races in Australia. Davis has made no decision in the matter. The mounting will be done in about a month.

Death of the "Red Terror of the Antipodes" cut short a remarkable career and upset elaborate plans for an invasion of the big tracks of this country.

Phar Lap signaled his arrival on this continent with a smashing victory in the Agua Caliente, Mex., handicap, March 20. It added $50,000 to his winnings and brought his total earnings to $332,750, within striking distance of the world's record of $375,714 piled up by the American thoroughbred, Sun Beau.

America's biggest $840 worth... long, low, powerful, fast, smart, with Safety Glass throughout at no extra charge, plus 32 Studebaker betterments. Drive it before—or after—you've driven any other cars. Then decide!

Sand From Street Builds New Parks

Grading is in progress on the south end of Fifteenth street, which is being cut through to Twelfth avenue south. The excavated material is being used for widening streets in the vicinity, and for filling in "Butcher Creek." The city owns a block of land through which the now dry creek runs, and the improvement will create another park area for that section of the city.
