Debate on Highway Fund Fight to Start Tuesday

FACTIONS FIND OBJECTIONS TO DIVERSION BILL

PENINSULA FEARFUL ROAD BUILDING WILL SUFFER

Lansing, Mich., April 14 (AP)—The highway fund diversion bill, backbone of the administration's tax relief program, was reported to the senate today, and next Tuesday was set as the day on which debate will start.

The measure, representing a compromise of views of various factions, is the most complicated that has come before the special legislative session. It proposes return to the counties of the entire automobile weight tax, minus the annual McNitt law appropriation for absorption of township roads. That appropriation eventually will reach $4,000,000 annually.

Covert Debts Included Half of the weight tax, or approximately $10,000,000, would be distributed to counties on the present basis. Out of the other half the McNitt appropriations, beginning at $2,500,000, would first be paid. The next priority would be for covert debts and other county obligations on a pro-rata basis fixed by supervisors under the supervision of the state administrative board.

The balance of the money would be distributed to cities and villages and the county governments on a basis of urban and rural population. In reporting the bill, the senate highway committee refused to yield to the demands of a faction which favored taking the McNitt appropriation out of gasoline tax revenues and returning the entire weight tax fund to the counties. This proposal will furnish material for much debate.

Economy Bills Signed

There are other differences, too, which will be aired on the floor. Legislators from northern Michigan are not certain that the $3,500,000 left for construction purposes will be adequate for the road-building needs in their section of the state; representatives of cities faced with bulging welfare budgets will press for more money; and cement manufacturers and road contractors are anxious to maintain an adequate construction program.

While the release of the bill raised hopes for an early adjournment two members of the senate finance committee insisted upon ten days or two weeks to check the administration payroll reduction and budget bill.

Governor Brucker advanced the special session program along by signing two economy bills enacting into law 15 percent reductions in the mill tax limitations the University of Michigan and Michigan State college. The former appropriation is cut from $4,920,852 to $4,182,724 while the M. S. C. fund is reduced from $1,640,284 to $1,394,241 effective beginning in the fiscal year of 1933.

DEATH CLAIMS WM. J. BURNS Famed Detective Victim Of Heart Attack at Age of 70

Sarasota, Fla., April 14 (AP)—William J. Burns, whose success as a detective won for him an international reputation, died at his winter home here tonight of a heart attack. He was 70 years old.

His career began with the exposure of the Ohio tally sheets fraud in 1886 and carried him through a series of the most important mysteries the country ever has known.

One of the chapters was his service as chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, a period which involved him in the repercussions of the Harding administration and the Teapot Dome trials.

In three years in this capacity associated with his Ohio friend, Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, Burns organized the first nation wide identification bureau, an achievement he regarded as his greatest work.

He was active in the Atlantic City and Detroit graft cases in 1913 and had a part in the investigation into the murder of Herman Rosenthal, New York gambler. He was employed in the south's most notorious murder case—that of Leo Frank in Atlanta in 1914.

He was in the forefront of the inquiry into the Wall Street explosion of 1929 which killed 37 persons.

He was indicted in connection with jury shadowing of the Fall-Sinclair trial in 1927, but maintained vigorously that his men had been guilty of no wrong doing. The supreme court set aside a 15-day jail term which was imposed on him.

Escanaba Student In Milwaukee Suit

Milwaukee, April 14 (AP)—John H. Gauthier, Escanaba, Mich., college student, was a defendant in a $20,000 personal injury suit started in federal court here today by Carl J. Ittner, Okanuchee (Wis.) silver fox dealer. Ittner was struck by Gauthier's automobile here on April 16, 1930, as the student was on his way back to South Bend, Ind., after Easter holidays.

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 14 (AP)—A skeleton guarded by two dogs that fought off all who tried to approach was found deep in the Everglades near South Bay today but there was nothing to aid identification or indicate when death came.

STATE OFFICE, NOT FINISHED, TORN ASUNDER

FEAR 30 WORKERS BURIED IN RUINS

Columbus, O., April 14 (AP)—A theory that high explosives caused the blast that killed five men and wrecked the interior of Ohio's new $6,000,000 office building was advanced by T. S. Brindle, state superintendent of public works, late tonight.

Columbus, O., April 14 (AP)—A terrific explosion shattered and twisted Ohio's new $6,000,000 state office building here late today, killing five men and injuring at least 57 others.

A careful checkup of working lists by contractors late tonight revealed one known workman was missing. Whether others were buried in the debris could not be determined for at least another twelve hours.

As soon as fire that followed in the wake of the blast was extinguished, every agency at the command of the state was bent toward determining the cause of the disaster.

Believe 30 Buried Belief that upward of thirty men still lay buried in the debris caused rescue crews to work frantically at clearing out the wrecked lower floors.

All the dead and injured are thought to be workmen engaged in putting the finishing touches to the structure, one of the most beautiful from an architectural standpoint in the capital.

It was determined that more than 100 men were in the building when the blast, of an origin not determined tonight, ripped upward and outward from the basement and first floor and hurled great slabs of white marble into the air.

So terrific was the blast that the heavy ornamental bronze doors of the building were wrenched from their hinges and steel window frames torn from the casings.

Fear of another blast led police reserves to rope off wide areas surrounding the building to keep the thousands of curious out of the way.

Survivors said the explosion, centering in the southwest corner of the building, lifted a section of the west wall 25 feet high and 200 feet long over the Scioto river. The blast was followed by dense clouds of smoke.

The building has been a constant cause of political and labor bickering ever since it was first thought of in 1913.

Designed to house all the offices of the state, with the exception of the governor's office, the adjutant general's department, the secretary of state, treasury and auditor and the various sub-divisions of their offices, the building covered an entire city block.

Even after the building was authorized, the bickering continued, various political factions, contractors and material companies fighting over the proposed type of structure. Construction actually started in 1929, and the building was to have been occupied in May.

During the construction, labor fights occurred among the workers who questioned the right of various building trade organizations to do various jobs. At one time the plasterers were on strike several weeks. Hardly had they returned than the painters and ornamental iron workers quit.

Women Applaud Attacks On Dry Laws In Senate

Washington, April 14 (AP)—Prohibition hearing regarded as a prelude to a senate vote on the issue began before a committee today with an audience of women spectators applauding attacks on the liquor laws.

Massie Relates Story Of Assault; May Admit Guilt, Plead Insanity

BY WILLIAM E. EWING (Associated Press Staff Correspondent) Honolulu, April 14 (AP)—Indicting Lieut. Thomas H. Massie would admit killing Joseph Kahahawai to avenge a criminal attack on his wife and would plead insanity.

Clarence Darrow, defense leader, put the accused navy officer on the stand today as his first move to clear four persons of a second degree murder charge.

Massie told of the assault on his wife, apparently laying the background for the story of the lynching.

He came to the stand after the prosecution had closed its case with the testimony of Mrs. Esther Anito, mother of the slain athlete.

Pale and with downcast eyes, Massie told his story while his mother-in-law and co-defendant, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, sobbed.

To Plead Insanity After Massie had answered questions about his birth in Winchester, Ky., his marriage to Mrs. Fortescue's daughter and his remembrance of the night of last September 12 when his wife was seized and assaulted, allegedly by Kahahawai and four other men, Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley interrupted him.

Kelley demanded to know whether the defense was going to bring the Massie attack into the lynching case, and if so, whether it would plead insanity in behalf of one or more defendants. Darrow answered affirmatively and Massie's story went on.

Find Roosevelt Did Not Save 4 Million

Albany, N. Y., April 14 (AP)—A Republican legislative investigation of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's Democratic administration was begun today and produced, in the first few minutes of the inquiry a statement that more than four million dollars could be saved in one department.

This was the only tangible result of the opening day of the inquiry into the cost of state government.

War On Depression Reports Jobs For Over Half Million

New York, April 14 (AP)—The half-year mark in the war against depression campaign for 1,000,000 jobs for the unemployed was reported to have been passed today.

Reports that 89 communities in 29 states had added 5,241 jobs to previous totals brought the grand total as compiled at headquarters to 504,100. Michigan communities reported as follows: Battle Creek, 100; Grand Rapids, 175; Lansing, 25; Manistee, 100. This brought the reported state total to 20,008.

State Conservation Forces Face Crisis

Lansing, Mich., April 14 (AP)—The state conservation department today faced a financial crisis demanding rigid curtailment of its activities.

A plea by the state conservation commission for more funds brought an answer from Governor Brucker that the budget must be balanced. The only exceptions to its ultimatum were that the state administrative board will consider emergency requests for forest fire and fish division deficiencies should they arise.

The governor also said he may ask the legislature to permit the commission to fix the impressed labor wage for forest fire protection.

Denying the commission's plea, the governor also turned a deaf ear to the proposal of Commissioner Harry Whiteley, of Dowagiac, that the executive extend the scope of the special session.

REIMPOSE VEIL OF SECRECY ON LINDY SEARCH

BELIEVE PUBLICITY MAY INTERFERE WITH EFFORTS

Hopewell, N. J., April 14 (AP)—The necessity of silence and secrecy for a successful conclusion of efforts to regain their kidnapped son was re-emphasized tonight in a personal statement from Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

"Mrs. Lindbergh and I," said the statement, "want to express our great appreciation to those members of the press who in many instances have given us their cooperation, often to their own disadvantage.

"It is still of utmost importance for us and our representatives to move about without being questioned or followed and we are again requesting the complete cooperation of all members of the press to this end.

"Charles A. Lindbergh." The statement was issued through police.

Col. Lindbergh spoke at the conclusion of a day during which his 72-year-old intermediary, Dr. John F. Condon, retired New York educator, had been particularly active.

It also was understood that during the day the colonel received for the third time this week, John Hughes Curtis, one of a trio of Norfolk, Va., intermediaries.

The Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, who remained at Norfolk while his two associates, Mr. Curtis and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burgess, were absent, disclosed that prior to Col. Lindbergh's futile $50,000 ransom payment through Dr. Condon the southerners had devised a plan of procedure they believed to be safe from "double crossing" by the kidnapers.

Mills Charges Tax Bill Is Being Used To "Play Politics"

Washington, April 14 (AP)—Charges of playing politics with the pending tax bill were flung today as President Hoover's new secretary of the treasury crossed verbal lances with Senator Pat Harrison in a senate finance committee session.

Secretary Ogden Mills emphatically denied any attempt to avoid the responsibility of imposing new taxes and in turn accused Harrison of "jockeying for position" instead of "laying the cards on the table."

The upshot of an hour of testimony and repartee was that Mills agreed to rewrite the revenue bill as received from the house, the task which the committee itself will tackle when the present extensive hearings are finished.

He sprangily warned the committee's ranking Democratic member, however, that "if it is changed I want it distinctly understood that it is a Harrison product and not a Mills product."

Man Killed In Coal Strike Area; Nat'l Guard Is Called Out

Columbus, O., April 14 (AP)—The Ohio National Guard tonight moved into the eastern Ohio bituminous coal mine strike area, where one man was killed today and more than a score of others injured in serious rioting.

Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson called out the guard after a conference at which John Clinque of Bellairs, president of the Eastern district of the Ohio United Mine Workers, said he could be responsible for his own men but not for other striking workers.

The third battalion of the 145th Infantry at Akron, the 166th Service company at Columbus and the Medical detachment at Cleveland were ordered mobilized at Cadiz in Harrison county. The 145th, consisting of 270 men, had been standing by at Akron all day and entrained immediately.

Rockefeller, Sr., Takes Up Walking As New Pastime

Ormond Beach, Fla., April 14 (AP)—Now that his favorite golf course is closed for the summer, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who will be 93 years old in July, has taken up the pastime of walking—sometimes three miles a day.

For two hours daily, the famous philanthropist trudges along the shaded lanes of Ormond. He is accompanied by members of his household and is often joined by a friend or two who meet him along the route.

Massie told of the assault on his wife, apparently laying the background for the story of the lynching.

He came to the stand after the prosecution had closed its case with the testimony of Mrs. Esther Anito, mother of the slain athlete.

Pale and with downcast eyes, Massie told his story while his mother-in-law and co-defendant, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, sobbed.

CARL SAWYER NAMED MAYOR

Organization of Escanaba's new city council was effected last night with the election of Carl J. Sawyer as mayor, Elmer A. St. Martin as mayor pro tem, and the appointment of Albert Halvorson, Clyde J. Burns and H. D. Brackett as supervisors.

Selection of a mayor and mayor pro tem was accomplished with dispatch within a few minutes after the council convened at 7:30, but the choice of supervisors proved more difficult, and the five councilmen were closeted in private caucus until 10 p. m. before they reached an agreement. Meanwhile, a crowd of about 50 men yawned and gossiped and waited rather impatiently for the new city governing body to return and announce their appointments.

The election of mayor was by ballot, and was unanimous for Sawyer after an informal ballot showed three votes for Sawyer, one for Edgar Anderson and one for St. Martin. For mayor pro tem, the vote on both ballots was three for St. Martin and two for Anderson. On motion by Anderson, supported by Fred M. Swanson, the vote for St. Martin was made unanimous.

The three supervisors appointed by the council, together with the five members of the council and the city assessor, will represent the city of Escanaba on the Delta county board of supervisors, which convenes at the court house next Wednesday for an organization meeting. Burns, local hotel man, is the only city supervisor to be reappointed. Halvorson is a building contractor of 938 Stanley court, and Brackett is an automobile dealer, residing at 317 Ogden avenue.

Mayor Sawyer, Swanson, and Hubert H. Shepeck were the new members of the council attending their first meeting last night. Sawyer received the most votes at the election April 4.

Saginaw, Mich., April 14 (AP)—Michael Hobon, 72, of St. Ignace, a delegate to the state Democratic convention, died suddenly at a hotel Thursday noon after a heart attack.

SUPPORT GOES TO ROOSEVELT FOR PRESIDENT

MARTIN R. BRADLEY DELEGATE FROM ELEVENTH

Saginaw, Mich., April 14 (AP)—The Democratic party of Michigan, in convention here today, went on record as favoring abolition of prohibition and the nomination of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for president.

In a blaze of oratory and argument, the strongest anti-prohibition plank ever accepted by a political party in this state was written into the platform upon which Democratic candidates will stand next fall.

Demands Repeal Categorically, the resolution demanded the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, repeal of Michigan's prohibition laws and the establishment of state liquor control.

Extreme opponents of prohibition gained control of the resolutions committee and, over the protests of some conservative organization leaders, forced their measure to the floor and guided it through a stormy attack. Delegates who sought to soften the resolution were drowned out with bores and cries of "we want beer."

C. J. Sowers, of Charlotte, offered an amendment advocating a national referendum with a view to calling a constitutional convention to consider the eighteenth amendment. Judge Patrick H. O'Brien, Detroit, responded that "the Democratic party has pussy-footed long enough."

28 for Roosevelt A modificationist asserted that farmers do not want prohibition entirely wiped out. He was met with a challenge that "Mike Hart proved the farmers are wet." Hart, running on a wet platform, was elected to congress in the normally Republican eighth district last fall.

As anticipated, the convention pledged the state's 28 votes in the national convention to Roosevelt. The resolution instructed the delegation to vote for the New York governor as long as "in his best judgment, the party's welfare dictates."

A roaring debate seethed about a proposal to place the party on record as favoring immediate payment of the national soldier bonus. Charles H. Kimmeler, Cassopolis, offered the resolution. George C. Bushnell, Detroit, who said many ex-service men do not want the balance of their compensation at this time, was answered by another veteran who cried that Bushnell "doesn't know what he's talking about."

The speaker said that former soldiers need the money to put shoes on the feet of their children, and clothes on their backs.

Gladstone Man Heard The convention was in an uproar and apparently widely divided when O. K. Fjetland, Gladstone, moved to table the resolution. The vote produced counter volleys of negative and affirmative expressions, but the chair ruled the proposal tabled.

Other planks in the Democratic platform include: Advocacy of a constitutional amendment to provide minority party representation in the legislature; adequate appropriations for unemployment relief; tariff reductions to revive industry and commerce with foreign nations; reduction of state and local budgets and taxes; favorable consideration by the legislature of an

MELLON ASKS FOR OPTIMISM

Reaffirms Faith in Capitalism in Talk Before Pilgrim Society

London, April 14 (AP)—United States Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon told the Pilgrim society tonight at a dinner in his honor that no one should be discouraged about the ultimate outcome of the economic crisis through which the world is passing.

It was his first public address since taking over the embassy and 400 prominent persons, among them the Prince of Wales, heard the former secretary of the United States treasury reaffirm his faith in "capitalism, or whatever name may be applied to the system which has been evolved in adapting individual initiative to the machine age."

Those who had hoped for some indication that Mr. Mellon's mission was to arrange the division, perhaps the cancellation of war debts, were disappointed. Not once did he refer to the subject.

Mr. Mellon recalled that during his life many crises had occurred, crises which invariably were left in the wake of wars.

Depressions, he said, "are the price we pay for war."

"x x x yet we know by experience that such catastrophes never completely wipe out the progress which has been made, and that when the world begins to mend the many gains of recent years will not be lost but will be consolidated."

Police Make Raids On "Storm Troops"

Berlin, April 14 (AP)—Police raided 150 gathering places of the National Socialist "storm troops" today carrying out President Von Hindenburg's order for dissolution of the organization.

They met resistance only at two places where they found some of the troopers trying to remove records. The offenders were arrested.

Adolf Hitler himself told The Associated Press in a hurried interview that the government's order would not put an end to the existence of the storm troops.

"We'll be back 500,000 strong," he said. "Our storm troops were suppressed once before when we had only 20,000. When the ban was lifted we had 60,000."

Federal Reserve Backs New Move To Aid Business

Washington, April 13 (AP)—The federal reserve system has thrown its prestige and resources behind a new movement to rescue business from the grip of economic adversity.

It has instructed its member banks that they will be expected to increase their use of the broadened credit facilities provided by recent legislation. It has decided to stimulate its own purchase of government securities in point of both volume and rate.

George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, testifying today before the house banking committee, said the decision on government security buying was reached at a meeting of the reserve board yesterday.

His statement had a prompt reaction in the New York money market. Coincident with it came the unusually large reduction of one-half of one percent in bankers' acceptance yield rates. This was viewed as an attempt to increase the market supply of such paper by attracting offers from bank portfolios. These acceptance rates are looked upon as a form of highly liquid commercial credit.

Resentment has been aroused in both congressional and administration circles by reports that strong banks throughout the country have refrained from discounting under the provisions of the Glass-Steagall bill, but instead have continued their policy of remaining as liquid as possible.

BOARD QUILTS AFTER PROBE

ing of the board of supervisors by Justice W. G. Stearns, following which the board made a motion to give the poor commission a hearing Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. It was at this time that the report was made to them, following which the resignations were tendered. No resignation was offered by D. E. Seller, superintendent of the infirmary, against whom charges were made, as the superintendent position is an appointment made by the commission.

In his resignation Mr. Neville answered all charges contained in the investigation report with the exception of the bank account charges. He replied to these before reading his resignation, saying that William Clayton's account (Clayton passed away this morning) was in the bank for the purpose of providing for a decent burial and so made that as (Mr. Neville) would have access to it at the time of Clayton's death. The other savings account contained the accumulated funds left by inmates who had died. Neither of the accounts were deposited by members of the poor commission he stated.

Mr. Neville's resignation is as follows:

"Mr. Chairman and Honorable Board of Supervisors of Schoolcraft County:

In reply to the report made by the grand jury on the investigation of the poor commission, that part of the report referring to stumpage, purchased from J. J. Hruska, chairman of the poor board, with vouchers drawn in payment to Edward Fitzgerald, it was my understanding and belief, that Edward Fitzgerald was interested in this timber.

The stumpage was purchased to create work for the unemployed, and it made families with able bodied men self supporting, which otherwise would be entirely dependent on the county for their support. Stumpage was purchased in good faith and for the interest of the county.

That part of the report referring to the purchase of milk from J. J. Hruska with the Schoolcraft county's name on the packages, is a matter explained by Mr. Hruska, as being absolutely false if the purchase was made on the dates reported. If the purchase was made a year or two previous, there is a possibility of the statement being true. During the time that Lloyd Klagstad was keeper, on several occasions he would run out of different items and would borrow from Mr. Hruska. When a shipment was received, the goods were returned, and with the Schoolcraft county name on the packages.

That part of the report referring to the purchase of one hundred bushels of potatoes from Oscar Gunderson. On this transaction I was not consulted. I am informed that the potatoes are stored in Mr. Hruska's cellar on the farm and will be delivered when they are needed.

That part of the report referring to the Louis Miller and J. J. Hruska timber jobs, we are satisfied that the county is fully secured, and those jobs have surely been a benefit from a labor standpoint.

That part of the report of a certain check made payable to D. E. Seller from the Conservation department, and not deposited to the credit of the county infirmary. This can only be called an oversight, due to the great responsibility that Dr. Seller had assumed. A year previous to this incident, the work was such that Dr. Seller could handle along with his other duties, but at the time this incident occurred, the work had grown to such a point that Dr. Seller's duties were more than he could well take care of. That is my explanation of why the check was not credited to the county infirmary. The amount has since been deposited with the county treasurer and to the credit of the poor fund.

That part of the report referring to transportation expenses paid by me. That arrangement was made by your committee on salaries. Rather than increase my salary, I was to be paid transportation charges for trips out of the city. I was to transport all state patients requiring an attendant to hospitals and institutions. The state allows railroad transportation and expenses on these cases. All vouchers are filled by the probate court and according to state allowances. The amount paid by is only a portion of the amount paid by the state for transportation from Manistique to hospitals. Several other attendants and officials have been designated to transport patients. All have received the same compensation, regardless of whether they were transported by rail or auto. Upon the assurance of your committee that I would be designated as the attendant in state cases I immediately equipped myself for the occasion. As large as the amount appears in your report, I have not been reimbursed for the equipment and expenses incurred, and neither have I been fully compensated for my services.

I feel now that, I have done my part. If I have failed, I am sorry. If I have succeeded, I am glad. And now, and for no other reason than that I am unable to continue the work at the present salary, I herewith tender my resignation as chairman and member of the Board of Poor Commissioners of Schoolcraft county, to take effect as my successor is appointed. I will be at his service regarding the work he may require.

Thanking the Board for the many courtesies extended during the 21 years of continued service, I am,

Yours very truly,
Henry J. Neville."

Mr. Hruska's resignation is as follows:

"To the Chairman and Honorable Board of Supervisors of Schoolcraft County:

I hereby tender my resignation as chairman and member of the Board of Poor Commissioners of Schoolcraft county, to take effect at once, or as soon as a successor can be appointed.

In tendering my resignation, I have no apologies to offer and I feel that I have served the county to the best of the county's interests.

I have served the county in the capacity of Poor Commissioner for a period of nearly 30 years, and though the last two years have drawn the Board into adventures which have caused a great deal of criticism, I feel that our actions will be commended in the future, even more than they are criticized now.

Signed
J. J. Hruska."

Jobless Men Riot In Auckland; Many Injured In Battle

Auckland, New Zealand, April 14 (AP)—Riot and bloodshed spread today in Auckland today as hundreds of jobless men, parading in protest against civil service pay cuts, clashed with the police and turned what had been a peaceful demonstration into a vicious battle.

The police could not cope with them and the rioters, smashing windows and breaking down doors, looted shops and had everything their own way.

The mayor appealed for a volunteer civilian police force, but those who responded could not handle the mob and not until a landing force was put ashore from H. M. S. Philmel was order restored.

Tonight the sailors were on patrol and hundreds of rioters had been treated for injuries, some of them serious. The damage was estimated at at least $100,000.

sion program to permit the legislature to add to conservation revenues. He proposed a three-fold program of reducing the small game license from $1.75 to $1 and the non-resident license to $3; the establishment of a general rod license to replace the trout fee and transfer of forest fire expenditures to the general fund.

The commission pointed out that it faced a crisis largely because the last legislature voted a program that has failed to bring in the anticipated revenues. Income from small game licenses has dropped $125,000 and from deer fees from $12,000 to $14,000.

The last session did not appropriate any direct sum for the fish division which the commission needs $15,000. The department probably will have to pay the 10 cent an acre tax on homesteaded and swamp lands amounting to $83,000. The commission reported a $205,000 shortage in the forest fire needs.

Service To Suffer
Specific cuts proposed by the commission to take care of the deficiencies would affect the various divisions as follows:

1. General administration. A reduction in salaries and elimination of personnel at $10,000 savings.
2. Game wardens. Elimination of ten wardens, $20,000.
3. Fire protection. Curtailment of equipment purchases, discharge in 23 fire wardens, reduction in warden mileage allowance to 4 cents, and abolition of six towers, $100,000.
4. Reducing impressed labor from 30 cents to 15 cents an hour despite a statute authorizing the higher amount.
5. Geological survey. Elimination of field parties on copper and iron survey and part-time geologist with the land economic survey, $5,000.
6. State parks. Closing of twenty parks $20,000.
7. Predatory animal control. Reduction in service, $5,500.
8. Fish division. Reduction of personnel and elimination of equipment replacement. Production cut of 20 per cent, planting of 50 per cent of fry direct from hatcheries, cutting hatchery stock of large trout, eliminating 5 to 7 trout rearing stations and three hatcheries $94,000.
9. Education. A reduction of 50 per cent, $14,000.
10. Forestry. Elimination of planting projects, $33,500.
11. Game. Elimination of rearing projects at Jackson prison, state vocational training school at Wolf Lake hatchery, and all other projects except actual administration of game farm and refuges, $32,000.

Saloon Picketing Cost City $8,983

Detroit, April 14. (AP)—It cost the city $8,983 to picket 56 suspected saloons and cabarets for 72 days, but only four of them have survived the unremitting police scrutiny.

That was the report of police superintendent John P. Smith today on the result of the picketing policy instituted January 29.

Services, of 1,420 policemen, paid at the rate of $6.20 a day, were required for the quiet campaign, the report said. The men were "borrowed" from regular duty, Supt. Smith said.

Police Hold Man For Kidnaping Of Dr. Parker

Peoria, Ill., April 14 (AP)—Police said that officials of Marshall in Clark county had arrested Dwight Bartlett of East Peoria as one of the actual kidnapers of Dr. James W. Parker on the basis of confessions made by six persons arrested near here today. A prisoner in the Peoria jail, Claude Evans, an ex-convict, also was implicated by the six confessions as police declared they had solved the month-old mystery.

Arlo Stoops, a Peoria bond salesman, and Cecil Menninger, a nephew of James W. Betson whose arrest April 1 signaled the release of Dr. Parker, confessed that Bartlett and Evans had helped them actually kidnap the surgeon, police said.

Bartlett was arrested at the request of police after a raid today on the farm of Raymond Stoops, a brother of Arlo, in nearby Fulton county. Evans was jailed with a girl companion on a safe cracking charge. He was not suspected of the Parker crime until confessions of the Stoops brothers and their relatives today.

Governor Murray Denies Giving Up Presidential Race

Denver, April 13 (AP)—Governor W. H. Murray of Oklahoma charged here today that money was being spent to "buy" Democratic convention votes for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, and applied reports he was abandoning his own campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I have made statements about the buying of votes," Murray told newspaper men. "I made them in private conversations. I did not intend for them to be made public at the moment."

"However, I did say that money was being spent in North Dakota to buy the state's delegation for Roosevelt, and I said, also in private conversations, that some money was spent for this purpose in Iowa."

Murray said he did not wish to go into detail about these charges at present.

old age pension law; reorganization of state and county governments to simplify governmental functions and reduce expenses.

District and at-large delegates to the Chicago convention were selected after a fight which nearly wrecked the first (Detroit) district caucus. The first district caucus centered about Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, a candidate for delegate. Old timers in the party organization admitted more or less openly a desire to "clip his wings" by defeating his delegate aspirations and proposed Senator George Sadowski and William A. Comstock as an anti-Murphy slate of delegates.

Beer vs. Champagne
Sadowski finally withdrew, in a barrage of shouted charges of "selling out to Murphy," and Comstock and Murphy were elected district delegates. Sadowski was elected a delegate-at-large.

Others on the at-large slate are Horatio J. Abbott, national committeeman, of Ann Arbor; Rep. Hart; Alfred Debo, Detroit; Evelyn Merahon, Saginaw; Mrs. Minnie Kallenbrun, St. Joseph; Jessie Porter, Marshall, and Mrs. Agnes Little, Detroit.

In the convention keynote address, Edmund C. Shields, Lansing attorney, declared "the Republican administration has a champagne appetite and a beer income—and it won't even let us buy beer."

"Governmental fantasies," he said, "are placing a burden upon the people they cannot afford to bear. The situation has gone past one of political preferment. Democrats and Republicans alike must bring about a change in government if they wish to survive. We must put into office men who will cut governmental expenses. When men get hungry enough, some of them are only a step from anarchy. All the Republicans have done to relieve conditions is appoint a few worthless boards and commissions."

Record Attendance
Referring to the attendance at this Democratic convention, one of the largest in state history, Shields said: "You are here in such numbers because you represent the thought of so many people—that new blood must be put into the government."

National convention delegates named in district caucuses, included the following:

Eleventh—Martin R. Bradley, Menominee, and Benjamin Halsted, Petoskey, delegates; W. L. McManus, Petoskey, elector.

Twelfth—James T. Healy, Houghton, and C. C. Copland, Ishpeming, delegates; J. Wickston, Iron River, elector.

STILL EIGHT LEFT
Denver, Colo.—A cat was struck by an automobile on 14th and Broadway. Police received a call to go and shoot the feline and put it out of its misery. Policemen McCasland and Thompson arrived on the scene of the accident to find the cat gone. Having lost one of its nine lives, it apparently took possession of another and calmly went about its business of serenading on backyard fences.

New York State Endorses Hoover

Albany, N. Y., April 14 (AP)—The New York Republican state committee today endorsed the Hoover administration, pledged fealty to the president and re-elected Chairman W. Kingsland Macy, instigator of the Seabury investigation of Tammany's administration of New York City.

The Hoover endorsement was in few words. The resolution read: "The state committee which term of office expired today has endorsed the administration of President Hoover, and has pledged its fealty to the administration of President Hoover, and has pledged its fealty to the party to the president."

TRIPP OUTLINES JOBLESS PLANS

Oshkosh Man Explains His Program During Escanaba Visit

Alan H. Tripp of Oshkosh, director of the Mississippi Valley association and of the Wisconsin to Gulf Waterway association, who recently presented before the senate committee on commerce a detailed program for providing employment for the jobless through government aid, was a visitor in Escanaba yesterday. Mr. Tripp is sales representative of the Sterling Brass company of Cleveland, and called on members of the plumbing trade while here. He has been covering the upper peninsula territory for about twenty years.

Tripp recommends a five billion dollar bond issue at 2 1/2 percent to build federal public works and to lend to the states, counties and cities for local public improvements. The plan resembles somewhat that introduced by Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin a few weeks ago, but which was defeated.

Pointing to the unemployment conditions, the bank failures, the loss of homes, and other aspects of the depression, Tripp said that relief plans have failed and that no body has proposed a concrete plan or policy "to call government to account or to restore confidence to our nation so that prosperity can return."

"Immediately" insisting that it is urgent that something be done immediately, Tripp said, "Every Republican, whether he be Stalwart or Progressive, Democrat, or other political party, and all who believe in the principles of true Americanism, should stand shoulder to shoulder under our flag with only one motto in view, and that is 'To Save America!'"

It is the duty of the federal government to do something to put the eight millions of unemployed back to work, since, he said, the government cannot stand with men out of work through no fault of their own.

Congress, he recommended, should adopt a resolution that a national emergency exists, put the country on a wartime basis, get every unemployed person registered, as soldiers were registered, with information as to the financial condition, the jobs wanted, the mortgages and other debts, and the land cultivated, if they are farmers.

Then, Tripp says, prohibition should be settled by a national referendum with the states given the right to "handle their own liquor laws."

The five billion dollar bond issue, he says, should be used for loans to states, counties, and municipalities to put men to work on inland waterways, harbors, sewage disposal plants, irrigation, reforestation, roads, public buildings, flood control, and game preserves. If four million men would be put to work this way, Tripp said, they would buy goods and the factories would have to start work.

Duty to Protect

It is the federal government's duty, he said, "to protect the farmers whose prices are so low that they cannot exist." He suggested fixing prices of farm products and natural resources, such as oil and minerals, for one year, mentioning 5 1/2 cents a bushel for potatoes, 50 cents a bushel for hogs, 15 cents a dozen for eggs, and 30 cents a pound for butter. He did not specify whether these are to be the prices to the consumer or the farm prices. The price of wheat, he said, should be fixed by international agreement.

MUCH SMELT CAUGHT HERE

Greatest Run in History Of This Lake Region In Progress

Large runs of smelt along the shores of Lake Michigan, from Manistique to Peshtigo, are reported this week by fishermen. The Fishdam, Whitefish, Days, Cedar and Bark rivers and also Portage creek, near St. Joseph's cemetery, have been visited by large schools of fish during the past week, and high catches have been made during the night, which is the time when the runs occur.

This is the first year that smelt runs of such great proportions have been seen in this section. Smelt runs, however, have occurred for several years at the mouths of lower Michigan streams, one being the famous Cold creek run at Beulah, which each spring is given national-wide publicity.

About five or six years ago, a Garden fisherman caught a strange fish, which created considerable speculation as to its identity. It was finally recognized as a smelt and since then this species of fish was found to be coming to this region in steadily increasing numbers.

Charles W. Creaser of Detroit made an exhaustive study of smelt for the state department of conservation in 1925, and a report of his findings was sent in pamphlet form by him to E. C. Voght, Escanaba.

Creaser states that since 1906 several attempts have been made to introduce smelt (Osmerus mordax) into the upper waters of the Great Lakes, and at least two of these attempts have been successful and the species is now spreading from one of these centers. If not from both. The first planting of smelt eggs, which were received from New England waters, was made at Sault Ste. Marie in the St. Mary's river, but it is not believed it was successful as few smelt have been taken from that region.

The main run of smelt is at night, but a few smelt always remain in the stream during the day. They hang in the dark pools, under bridges, and the projecting banks and ice. Most of them return to the lake in the morning as soon as it is light.

The smelt has a body resembling the whitefish, while the mouth is in some respects like the trout. At maturity, smelt measure from six to eight inches.

Mysterious Light In Cemetery Draws Attention Of Many

Manistique, April 14 (Special)—The otherwise deserted county fairgrounds was the scene of much activity last night as hundreds of curious gathered to witness the mysterious spectacle of a large lighted tombstone which blazed away in Lakeview cemetery. So bright was the light that the epitaph could be plainly read from the cemetery fence, a distance of approximately 70 feet, and could be seen for half a mile.

Those who visited the scene Wednesday evening saw a remarkable exhibition of shadow boxing participated in by two skeletons that were still swapping punches when the last gathering left at 3 a. m.

The image is believed to be produced by the reflection of street lights some four blocks from the cemetery. Although there are hundreds of gravestones in the immediate vicinity, this particular stone, due to its highly refractive qualities, is the only one which appears to be lighted. The freak spectacle can only be seen from certain points of vantage.

A high wind blowing Wednesday evening caused various shadows to flit across the stone, giving the same effect as images on the motion picture screen. Those possessing vivid imaginations can see anything they desire.

Credit for the discovery is given Frank St. John, who noted the tombstone as he was parking a car in the fairgrounds. It is said that it was first seen on election night, and each succeeding evening more and more persons gather on the scene.

Minute inspection of the immediate vicinity was made by local police who at first thought that it might be the doings of a practical joker. Upon close approach to the stone no unusual effect can be perceived.

Local Harbor Is Opened, Sunrise Docks Thursday

The boat Sunrise owned by Captain Peter Jacobsen, opened navigation in the Escanaba harbor yesterday when it docked at the Hansen & Jensen dock shortly after 3 p. m. Capt. Jacobsen is usually the first man to bring a boat into the local harbor each spring.

The Sunrise made an attempt to enter the harbor on Wednesday with a cargo of fish from Fairport but was unsuccessful. Yesterday Capt. Jacobsen brought his vessel to dock after a two-hour battle through the ice that has locked the north shore until this time.

The firemen were called to South Park at 8:30 a. m. Thursday when an outhouse burned down.

Wife of Diplomat Introduces Music Of Inca Indians

Washington (AP)—The plaintive music of the Incas is being introduced to capital society by Senora de Viteri, popular wife of the Minister from Ecuador.

Played on two instruments with a scale of only five notes the music is finding favor. One auto-like instrument called the "guena" is made of bone. The other, on the order of the xylophone, known as the "ronador" is made of cane bars. Senora Viteri, a gifted musician, collaborated with her former professor of music, Sixto Duran, director of the National Conservatory of Music in Quito in bringing the music before the public.

Through her influence Inca melodies have been included on music and concert programs in the capital. Senora Duran introduced the music to Paris several years ago. "The Indian musicians," says Senora Viteri, "are usually found in the mountains. The Incan music is unmistakable, very sad and plaintive like most primitive American music in the minor key."

We have learned that the false gods of our ideals, size and speed have proved powerless to help us. —Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board, U. S. Steel Corporation.

EDITORIAL

A SUCCESSFUL FARMER IS APPRECIATIVE

FRANK BARRON, hard-working, successful farmer of Escanaba township, rallies to the defense of the county agent in a communication, submitted to the Press recently in refutation of some remarks made by another Delta county farmer.

Mr. Barron says he cannot understand why the farmers, who pay only 11 per cent of the taxes for the support of the county agent, costing each farmer only 35 cents per year, are the first to do any squawking, while the urban taxpayer makes no complaint. He believes that the service of the county agent is as indispensable as the seed he buys to plant his crops and the machinery he has acquired to operate his farm.

THE DEADBEAT RENTERS

THERE are many tenants who would be glad to pay their rent if they were employed, but as a correspondent stated in a communication, appearing in the Press recently, there are a certain number of deadbeat renters who are taking advantage of the situation to "nick" their landlords.

In times like these the average landlord has a problem on his hands. He it is who somehow must produce the cash to pay his taxes. There are many cases on record where properties have been sold under the sheriff's hammer because of deadbeat renters who, like vultures, ate up the live savings of their landlords.

How to handle the problem is the big question, however. If it were possible for the landlords to organize like the merchants in a sort of credit bureau, they could keep a good check on the unsatisfactory renters. Such a bureau could keep the rental history of every tenant; how they paid their bills and how they cared for the property. But in the average community it would be quite a difficult task to organize such a landlords' protective agency and keep it going.

War may cost 70 per cent of the total sum spent by the national government, but that still leaves 30 per cent for the politicians. The real trouble at Washington is that the government has been living beyond our incomes.

Japan is all right in her way, says an editor writer. The trouble is, we don't like her way. A poet must have both ambition and fire, a critic says. And what about money?

VOTES FOR SALARY CUTS

WITH but one negative vote the house approved reduction of all state wages and salaries of more than $1,200 a year on a graded basis; 10 per cent between $1,200 and $3,000; 15 per cent between $3,000 and $4,000; 20 per cent between $4,000 and $5,000 and 25 per cent on all salaries over $5,000. Governor Brucker recommended 15 per cent all around. The house revision means an additional saving of $23,400. The bill covering the main body of their forces had been withdrawn to another position prepared in the rear.

German assaults on British positions near Morville, however, failed. Seven separate attempts were made during the day to storm the trenches held by the hard-pressed English soldiers. Meanwhile, definite announcement from Paris was made of the appointment of General Ferdinand Foch as commander-in-chief of all the Allied forces. This supplemented the earlier announcement, made during the great German drive in Picardy, Heligoland, capital of Flanders, was occupied by German troops. Their advance into the city was unopposed.

his recommendations will have been closely followed. In his message the Governor said that if his program was carried out and there was responsive action in the counties and the cities the saving in taxes could be well over $20,000,000. But most of this saving will have to be made in the lesser units.

The diversion bill still on the legislative griddle is not a tax saving bill. If the Governor's ideas are made effective, in whatever form it is passed just as much money will be spent for public purposes as would have been spent if it had not been passed. Only the manner of spending it will be changed. Properly to value the bill this basic fact about it must be borne in mind. The Grand Rapids Herald calls it a Christmas tree whose decorations of $20,000,000, more or less, are now being eagerly reached for by 83 counties.

The members will wrestle further with this illusive measure this week. If we mistake not, it is now in its fifth incarnation. The task of reconciling the conflicting interests of 83 counties, few of which have common conditions is as perplexing a one as the legislators have been called on in years to give their attention to. Until they reach agreement, no matter how grumblingly, there can be no assurance that the bill will be passed.

Senator Conlon, of Kent, pointed out the other day that, if passed, no matter what its provisions it will be disappointing in that the amounts that will be returned to the counties will hardly come up to advance notices. It is being discussed in terms of the average weight tax income of the past few years, approximately $20,000,000. But, as Conlon points out, with nearly four months of the year gone the licenses purchased are away behind the number on corresponding date last year. It would not be surprising if the weight tax fund was some $2,000,000, or more short of the recent average.

If the legislature can come to an agreement on the diversion bill this week the members ought to be able to clean up what remains to be done for an adjournment next week.—Iron Mountain News.

Anniversary

NEUVE EGLISE FALLS On April 15, 1918, German storm troops took Neuve Eglise after fighting there which had lasted more than 72 hours. British machine gunners had held on for nearly 24 hours after the main body of their forces had been withdrawn to another position prepared in the rear. German assaults on British positions near Morville, however, failed. Seven separate attempts were made during the day to storm the trenches held by the hard-pressed English soldiers. Meanwhile, definite announcement from Paris was made of the appointment of General Ferdinand Foch as commander-in-chief of all the Allied forces. This supplemented the earlier announcement, made during the great German drive in Picardy, Heligoland, capital of Flanders, was occupied by German troops. Their advance into the city was unopposed.

CHAPTER XIV

THE "place out on the Milwaukee Road" proved to be a big old house, set back from the highway and flanked by rows of ancient maples. It was such a house as one of Chicago's meat-barons might have built in the nineties—all curlicues and hybrid ornamentation. Outside it had a sort of remote, Victorian dignity, but inside it was hung with the cheap colors of a temple of jazz.

The colored girl in the coat room accepted Susan's wrap with superb disdain. Susan was terribly nervous. There was something about the atmosphere of the place that disturbed her. Ray, however, seemed perfectly at ease. She demanded hairpins, spilled powder about, and bullied the check girl unmercifully. Delighted with the effect she had produced, Ray offered Susan to follow her and the two—tall brunet and petite blonde—joined their escorts.

At the end of the long room an orchestra thumped out a monotonous jungle dirge. It was strange, sultry music. After a brief consultation of menus Waring asked Susan to dance. The tempo of the music had quickened. There was more life in it now. The saxophone had ceased complaining and seemed to be beating as merrily as a saxophone can. Susan gave herself up to the moment. It was months since she had danced and then with some awkward boy. Waring's performance had an ease and smoothness of which she had never dreamed. It was like poetry. It was like flying. His arm tightened around her, imperceptibly.

"Good girl," he said in her ear. "I knew you'd dance like this." Susan leaned back a little to read the expression in his eyes. "You know?" she questioned. "How?" "Something about the way you walk—"

She was pleased, though she could not have said why. When the music ended Susan was sorry to return to the table. It was rather like coming back to earth after a trip to Mars. For the first time she had a really good look at Ray's escort. He had been introduced as Mr. Webb. After a moment or two Susan realized who he was, the junior member of the real estate firm in whose office Ray worked. He seemed a rapid, amiable young man. He had red hair, and she discovered, had been recently graduated from Harvard. Susan was not very favorably impressed. Indeed, Mr. Webb (known to his intimates as "Sky") did not seem to have much to offer beyond a ready laugh and a trick of twirling his mustache. The mustache, small as it was, revolted Susan. She found Jack Waring's clean shaven face a likeable contrast.

WARING was at his best in the role of host. Considerate, agreeable and amusing. If the flask he carried in his pocket was emptied with alarming alacrity as the evening wore on Susan was too inexperienced to notice it. As a matter of course she refused to have her ginger ale spiked. Waring's urbanity seemed to increase and if Schuyler Webb laughed noisily now and then she put it down to collegiate high spirits and gave it no further thought.

They ate and danced and danced again. Susan had no idea of the time. But as group after group drifted in and the smoke began to hang in clouds over the big room she was conscious of a sense of uneasiness. "Isn't it terribly late?" she murmured to Waring. They were dancing a waltz and the sensuous strains of the music made Susan's pulses throb. "Nonsense!" he laughed at her. "The night's young. We've only started to play. I knew you'd be a wonderful playmate." He whispered. "Only you were so standoffish I never had a chance to find out." He was holding her closely, too closely, Susan thought, her instinct sharpened and revolted for an instant by the scent of liquor on his breath.

A moment ago he had been a quiet friend—flushed and voluble, it is true, but still a friend. Now Waring was becoming a menace, a strange man with a reddened face, a man who had been drinking. Susan could see the little lines around his eyes. All of a sudden she thought of Bob Dunbar, his firm, clean, youthfulness. It was as if a clean, sweet breeze had blown across a stagnant waste. She knew with aching certainty why she had been trapped into this indiscretion. If she could not have the real thing she had been willing to take second best.

"Really, I must go," she pleaded. "Rose—my friend—will be waiting for me. She hasn't a key." Waring smiled at her a little foolishly. "Be nice!" he muttered in an unsure voice. "Don't spoil everything while the evening's still on the make."

UNCOMFORTABLE but determined, Susan persisted. At last Waring, annoyed, stopped at their table and consulted his watch. The girl gasped at what she saw. "It's 11:30," she exclaimed. "And it will take a good hour to get home! Whatever shall I do?" Ray reddened her lips unconcernedly. "Don't crab the party," she said calmly. "It's going good."

Miserable, Susan stared at her. "Sky" Webb laughed foolishly. "Let's move along, anyhow," he said. "Let's ruff-ruff here. We can go to Tony's. Like Tony's better, anyhow."

What followed was to be a nightmare in Susan's memory forever. The rocketing ride in the car to another noisy scene of hilarity, the band whose unrelenting music seemed never to come to an end, the wild bursts of laughter from the crowd at the next table. White-faced, her eyes ringed in shadows as the night unrolled itself, Susan surveyed the scene. If this were pleasure, she'd be glad to take her share of misery.

"I want to go home... I want to go home..." she wailed in her inmost heart, although outwardly she appeared contained and calm.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch (Copyright 1932 by Douglas Malloch)

A FRIEND'S A FRIEND A friend's a friend when skies are blue. Because it's mighty easy to, A friend's a friend when days are fine. Because I've found it so with mine.

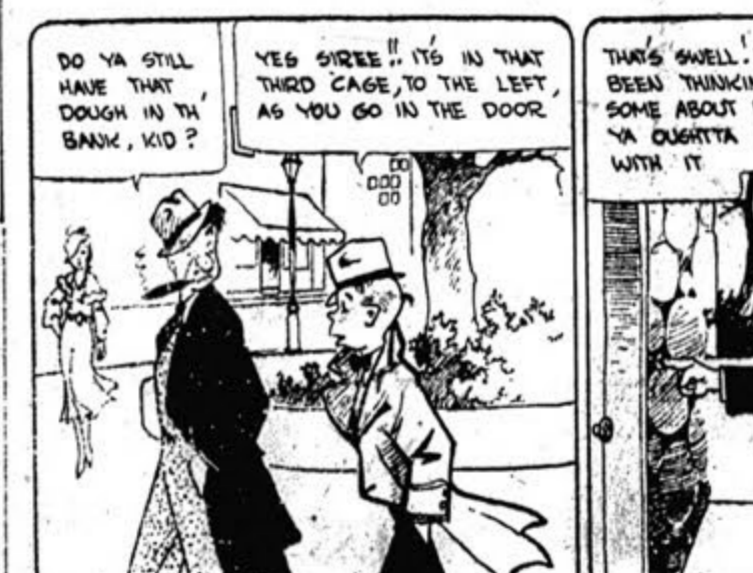

And yet there is a way or so To tell if friends are friends or no. A mighty easy way to see If friends are friends they claim to be— Not when they praise you, when they preach. For always friends are friends in speech. But when in trouble you have got You'll find if friends are friends or not.

A friend's a friend beyond a doubt Not when you're up but down and out. A friend's a friend, and worth the name. Who fights your cause when you're to blame. A friend's a friend when not too proud To take your part in any crowd. Some friend's a friend you find, and more— I guess that that's what trouble's for.

Depression

Here's a Fellow Who Likes It

(Editor's Note—The following crisp bit of delightfully refreshing philosophy was written by Henry Ahaley, a newspaper writer on the staff of the Amarilla (Texas) News-Globe.)

I Like the Depression
I like depression.
No more prosperity for me.
I have had more fun since the depression started than I ever had in my life. I had forgotten how to live, what it meant to have real friends, what it was like to eat common every-day food. Fact is, I was getting just a little high hat.

Then—And Now
Three years ago, only one man of the News-Globe organization could be out of town at a time and he had to leave at the last minute and get back as soon as possible. Many times I have driven 100 miles to a banquet, sat through three hours of bunk in order to make a five-minute speech, then drive the 100 miles back so as to be ready for work the next morning.
Nowadays, as many News-Globe employes as are invited make these trips and we stay as long as we want to. The whole outfit could leave the office now and it wouldn't make any difference.

I like the depression. I have time to visit my friends, to make new ones. Two years ago when I went to a neighboring town, I always stayed at the hotel. Now I go home with my friends, stay all night and enjoy home cooking. I have even spent the week-end with some of the boys who have been kind enough to invite me.
It's great to drop in a store and find that you can spend an hour or two or three or a half day just visiting and not feel that you are wasting valuable time. I like the depression.

I am getting acquainted with my neighbors. In the last six months I have become acquainted with folks who have been living next door to me for three years. I am following the Biblical admonition, "Love your neighbors." One of my neighbors has one of the best looking wives I have ever seen. She is a dandy. I am getting acquainted with my neighbors and learning to love them.
Three years ago, I ordered my clothes from a merchant—two or three suits at a time. All my clothes were good ones. I was always dressed up. But now, I haven't bought a suit in two years. I am mighty proud of my Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. When I dress up, I am dressed up and I don't mean maybe. I like the depression.

Three years ago I was so busy and my wife was so busy that we didn't see much of each other, consequently we sort of lost interest in each other. I never went home to lunch. About twice a week I went home for dinner—at 6:30 o'clock. I never had time to go anywhere with her. If I did go on a party, I could never locate her, since there was always a "blonde" or a "red-head" available I didn't much worry about it.
My wife belonged to all the clubs in town. She even joined the young mothers club. We don't have any children, but she was studying—and between playing bridge and going to clubs, she was never at home.

We got stuck up and high-futin. We even took down the old family bed and bought a set of twin beds on the installment.
When I would come home at night, if my wife was at home, she would already be in her bed and I would crawl in mine. If I came in first, it was vice versa.
Beds and Clubs
We like the depression. We have come down off our pedestal and are really living at my house now. The twin beds are stored in the garage and the old family affair is being used. We are enjoying life. Instead of taking a hot water bottle to bed these cold nights, she sticks her heels in my back, just like she did before Hoover was elected.
I haven't been out on a party in eighteen months. I have lost my book of telephone numbers. My wife has dropped all the clubs. I believe we are falling in love all over again. I am pretty well satisfied with my wife. Think I will keep her, at least until she is 40 and then if I feel like I do now, I may trade her for two twenties.

I am feeling better since the depression. I take more exercise. I walk to town and a lot of folks who used to drive Cadillacs are walking with me. I like the depression. My digestion is better. I haven't been to see a doctor in a year. I can eat anything I want to.
Food—And Food
I am getting real-honest-to-goodness food. Three years ago, we had flint mignon once a week, now we have round steak with flour gravy. Then, we had roast breast of guinea hen now we are glad to get sow-bosom with the buttons on it.
I like the depression. My salary has been cut to where I can't afford to buy lettuce and spinach and parsley and we can't afford to have sandwiches and frozen desserts and all that dam-foolishness which has killed more good men than the World war.
I like the depression. Three years ago, I never had time to go to church. I played golf all day Sunday and besides I was so darned smart that there wasn't a preacher in west Texas who could tell me anything.

Now, I am going to church regularly, never miss a Sunday.
And if this depression keeps on, I will be going to prayer meetings before long.
I like the depression.

Road Across Straits?

St. Ignace—E. E. Sours, maintenance engineer for the state highway department in Mackinac county, declares that a roadway can be built across the Straits of Mackinac, except for the span that would be necessary for a movable bridge to take care of ship channel traffic. He would use limestone and, Grand convict labor for the filling necessary to build the highway.

Sold Illegal Butter

Menominee—Louis Sheevey, operator of the Stephenson Creamery company, Stephenson, today was arrested on a charge of selling butter containing more than the legal limit of 15 per cent moisture and less than the required 80 per cent of milk fat. Mr. Sheevey, who had been arrested three times previously on similar charges according to Prosecutor F. Earl Lanther, was released on his own recognizance when arraigned before Justice Dan Burns, who fixed 10 a. m. May 11 as the time for preliminary examination on the charge.

Crystal Falls—Reductions in salaries of county officers and general county expenses totalling approximately $25,000 were voted at a meeting of the board of supervisors yesterday, and further retrenchment promised when the board meets in October to adopt its annual appropriation bill.
It is estimated that $50,000 will be cut from the budget in October by slashing salaries and expense in the various county departments, particularly the highway department.
A delegation of more than 35 tax reductionists from various parts of the county appeared before the board and demanded that salaries and expenses be cut not less than 25 per cent. The spokesman asserted that taxes must be reduced because of the present industrial and economic stress, and that the county board might as well start right away.

Escanaba High "E" Men Plan Minstrel

The "E" men of Escanaba high school are preparing a minstrel show to be given in the near future, the exact date to be selected soon. The minstrel will follow the traditional black-face style with plenty of enjoyable music and interspersed with a cross fire of wit and humor from the end men.

The circle will be made up of a chorus of 40 athletes who have won their "E" at Escanaba high. Preliminary practice sessions promise some fine harmony. Progress is now reported from the high school in the selection of the end men and the development of the show. A number of popular novelty acts are being planned to complete the minstrel show.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, like rotten apples in a bin. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, soluble extracts, assuring when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Exact substitute 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Lathrop Resident Awarded Verdict Against Railroad

A jury in Delta county circuit court yesterday awarded a verdict of $1,073.86 and costs to Peter Belanger, Lathrop, in his suit against the Chicago & North Western Railway company. Belanger was injured while working on the section near Lathrop in 1928, claimed he had been promised payment for lost time, and sought full payment under the compensation act.

This was the last jury case of the term, and jurors were all released Thursday afternoon following the completion of the case. Members of the jury in the Belanger case were: Thomas Tobin, Richard Collins, Ray Kautchen, Rose Luecke, Henry Cole, Otto Dittrich, Edward Kull, Fred Gardner, Ralph Gasman, Clarence White, Alfred Anderson, Harry A. Reynolds.

Alfred Mc Michael of Manistique, held for violation of probation imposed in September, 1931, was released from custody after a hearing of his case, and was allowed to return to his home under the old probation term.
Continuances were entered in the case of Thomas Goedert, Jr., charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, and in the case of Lloyd Johnson and Gerard Dupuyt, game law violation.

Escanaba Woman Honored for Her Genealogy Work

Mrs. A. J. Carlton, of 502 South Seventh street, who has won local recognition for her work in genealogical and historical research, has been honored by being included in the list of the leading active genealogical researchers in the United States in The Handbook of American Genealogy recently issued by The Institute of American Genealogy of Chicago.

Recognition in this field affords access to the extensive lineage files of The National Clearing House for Genealogical Information, as well as professional contact with genealogists in 1,323 counties throughout the United States and in 16 foreign countries, which will enable her to expand the scope of her work very materially.

It will be of interest to the members and prospective members, and especially to the registrars of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Colonial Dames, and other hereditary-patriotic societies to learn that a local resident has formed these international contacts, because they will make possible the necessary genealogical research to qualify for membership without outside aid.

A Book A Day

By Bruce Catton

Nothing in the world's history, probably, has scared as many people quite as horribly as has leprosy. From the earliest times until very recently, people were so frightened even to treat the unfortunate lepers with common decency. The leper was condemned to a living death; in the middle ages, indeed, the church formally pronounced him dead, and his property was disposed of just as if he had actually died.

Things are far better today. Of Molokai, in the Hawaiian Islands, there is the world's finest leper settlement. There lepers can get the care, the surroundings and the comfort they are entitled to. This is so very largely because of the heroism and self-sacrifice of two men—the famous Father Damien, who gave his life to alleviate the lepers' plight, and Brother Joseph Dutton, who took up the work on Father Damien's death.

The life stories of these two men are described in "The Samaritans of Molokai," by Charles J. Dutton. It is an absorbing and an inspiring book.

Father Damien, a priest, went to Molokai upwards of 50 years ago, contracted leprosy, and died there. Brother Dutton, a Civil War veteran, went out just before Father Damien died and stuck on the job for half a century.

The author tells their stories very well. He refutes the calumnies that sectarian jealousy circulated about them and presents a picture of selfless courage and devotion that is tremendously heartening; yet he does not try to gloss over the human frailties of the two men or to idealize them.

Church Events

Woman's Auxiliary The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Stephen's church will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Eric Proberg, 1217 Eighth avenue south.

Service at Cornell Services will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the town hall in Cornell with Rev. Karl J. Hammar, pastor of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church of this city in charge. The public is invited to attend.

Evangelist Coming Here Rev. David E. Anderson of Brooklyn, N. Y., will conduct a series of evangelistic meetings at the Calvary Baptist church of this city, beginning April 21 and continuing through May 8. This is the fourth visit of Rev. Mr. Anderson to Escanaba.

Christian Science Churches "Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 17.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Phil. 2:4): "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 23): "Wisdom and Love may require many sacrifices of self to save us from sin. One sacrifice, however great, is insufficient to pay the debt of sin. The atonement requires constant self-immolation on the sinner's part."

The Dube-Rappette Miss Marcela Dube, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dube of Flat Rock, became the bride of George Rappette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rappette, also of Flat Rock, at a ceremony performed Wednesday morning, April 13, at Holy Family church.

The ceremony took place at a nuptial mass at 8 o'clock at which Rev. Father George Laforest was celebrant.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, close fitting, with a veil of tulle fashioned to her head in a shape and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies. Her attendant, Mrs. Anthony Srock, her sister, wore a gown of beige crepe with hat and slippers of the same shade and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and forget-me-nots. Bridesmaids Wear Yellow Lace, Net

Washington (AP)—A combination of yellow and net was used for bridesmaids' gowns at a recent wedding. Lace formed the tight-fitting bodices and upper parts of the skirts which flared into yellow swirls of net below the knees. The hats were broad-brimmed yellow calla lilies to match the gowns of her attendants.

Australian Women Have Dress Sense, Says Style Expert

Sydney, Australia. (AP)—Australian men lack "dress sense," but the women are smart and pretty and keep abreast of styles, declared Gordon Dickson, visiting fashion expert.

Dickson, who has been telling Australians what to wear, says that women of the antipodes, though handicapped somewhat by figures with large hips, follow fashions abroad and provide a market manufacturers would do well to study.

He says that the men, on the other hand, are unformed in blues and greys of a texture totally unsuited to the climate and are handicapped by their conservatism in dress.

HOW THE "ELECTRIC-SIEVE" MAKES M.J.B.'s GRIND BEST for every way of making coffee!

All of coffee's flavor comes from delicate oils. When coffee is ground too fine, flavor oils are driven off by friction heat. When coffee is ground too coarse, long brewing is necessary. This makes coffee bitter.

There is one grind—not too coarse, not too fine, that saves coffee's delicate oils. That is the "Electric-Sieve Grind" used by M. J. B. It never varies from the one fineness that holds the most flavor in coffee.

No matter how you make coffee—percolator, drip or regular coffee pot—you get better flavor with M. J. B. The blend is richer, the grind is perfect and it is kept fresher.

"SNUGFIT LID" Exclusive with M.J.B. keeps it fresh to the last grain after opening

"SAFETY-SEALED" The only vacuum tin that can't close unless all air is out keeps M.J.B. fresher

Seeing is Believing! THE 2 PROTECTIONS ARE VISIBLE ON THE TIN!

Poultry Law Aids In Curbing Thefts

A bulletin relative to the provisions of the so-called "poultry law," issued by the state Department of Public Safety, has been received by the Delta county sheriff's department and Escanaba police department. The law is designed to regulate the buying and selling of poultry, to aid in the detection of crime in the purchase and sale of poultry, and to provide a penalty for violations of the act.

The "poultry law" is Act No. 100, Public Acts of 1927, and reads as follows: Section 1. Any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of purchasing poultry for the purpose of resale shall keep a record of the date of each such purchase, the name and residence of the seller, kind of poultry purchased and the description and number thereof, whether such poultry was raised by the seller or purchased from others, and if purchased from others, then the name of the person from whom the same was purchased by the seller and the date of such purchase, and if the seller delivers such poultry by means of automobile or other vehicle having a license thereon, then the number of such license.

Sec. 2. The seller shall at the time of making sale of any poultry as provided in the preceding section, truthfully state all of the facts as aforesaid; shall sign his name to such statement and shall certify to the correctness thereof.

Sec. 3. Each and every person, firm or corporation, so purchasing poultry as aforesaid, shall procure from Secretary of State, suitable blanks for such record. It shall be the duty of said Secretary of State to furnish said blanks free of cost to the applicant upon demand; and all purchasers of poultry as hereinbefore designated, shall order and keep on hand a supply of such blanks.

Sec. 4. All such blanks when filled shall constitute a record of the purchase or purchases made; shall be safely kept by such purchaser for a period of one year and shall at all times be open to the inspection of all sheriffs, their deputies, police officers, or other law enforcement officers of this state upon demand by such officer.

Sec. 5. Any person violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by any court of competent jurisdiction, by a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars or imprisonment in the county jail of the county where the offense is committed, for a period not exceeding ninety days, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, together with the costs of prosecution.

Wild Life Display Opens Next Month

Michigan's famous exhibit of wild life, said to be the largest and best of its kind in the country, will be on view at the 10th annual Outdoor Life exposition in Chicago May 9-14.

Arrangements have been made whereby the Michigan Tourist and Resort association and the Upper Peninsula Development bureau will finance the expenses incidental to the showing of the exhibit.

"In past years the collection of wild life assembled by the Michigan Department of Conservation has dominated the entire show," said George E. Bishop, the bureau's secretary-manager. "It has presented the case for Michigan outings as no other factor could do, and has been instrumental in drawing multitudes of summer vacationists this way."

The above organizations are arranging for their usual representative booth space at the exposition, which will be held in the Chicago Coliseum on south Wabash avenue.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOSEPH TILLY

Word has been received here of the death Wednesday at Grand Rapids of Mrs. Joseph Tilly, 77, mother of Mrs. Victor Steede of this city, 221 North Sixteenth street, and grandmother of Mrs. E. C. Wickert, Jr., and Mrs. Fred Morton, also of this city.

The body, accompanied by a daughter, Miss Hazel O'Connor, and a son, Edward O'Connor, was taken to Stephenson. Funeral arrangements are incomplete but it is probable that the services will be held this afternoon with burial in the Stephenson cemetery.

Mrs. Tilly was born in Stephenson and is well known in that community.

FRANCIS E. WALKER

Rev. Edward Leary was the celebrant at the requiem high mass Thursday morning at nine o'clock at St. Joseph's church when funeral services were held for Francis Ethelbert Walker, 21 years old son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Walker.

Many friends called at the family home, 208 South 16th Street, where the body lay pending the hour of the funeral services.

The pallbearers were Clifton Sundberg, Albert Sharkey, James Lefebvre, Lionel Beaumier, Raymond Roy, and Francis McGovern. Out of town relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Larson, Charles Carlson, of Rock, Louis Lahale and Mrs. Ebba Ayyotte of Gladstone.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

AMUSEMENTS

Who are the decent people? It's a question David Livingston asks some dinner guests, including his mother, when the presence in the same public dining room of a notorious actress brings about a criticism of the management for "letting such a woman" in the same place with "decent people."

David knows this woman's story, for he had loved her when she was young and innocent. He knows he was kept from marrying her through the deceit and cruelty and selfishness of his own mother. He knows that this notorious young woman has become shopworn through necessity and hard because his failure to believe in her innocence disillusioned her. He knows that they who point the finger of scorn have little reason to brag of their own decency—and he goes to the woman and asks her six years after his first proposal, to marry him!

This woman and this man are the central figures in the very finely and cleverly developed plot of "Shopworn," the Columbia picture starring Barbara Stanwyck at the Delft Theatre. Miss Stanwyck always an inspired performer, displays the great depths of her emotional power in the role of Kitty Lane, the girl who put her love on the bargain counter after true love had played her false.

Navigation Opens; Bay Is Free of Ice

The last Great Lakes ice report of the season was issued April 12, and lakes are practically clear of ice, and general navigation will probably be resumed Saturday. Storm warnings on all lakes will again be displayed beginning with April 16.

At Escanaba, the ice breakup has extended back into the narrows of Bay de Noc, and open water is visible between remaining patches of ice. The bay is clear at Escanaba.

Department Battles 4 Fires in 24 Hours

Four fires broke out here in less than 24 hours Wednesday and yesterday. None of the fires were of major proportions.

The most serious of the four blazes occurred Wednesday afternoon when a grass fire which started in the old quarry pit, raged through the north fence at the Fairgrounds and for a time seriously threatened the horse barn as it was fanned by a brisk north wind. Some of the flames came within a few feet of the barn before it was extinguished by the fire department and a large crew of volunteers. Water from the booster tank was used in combating the blaze.

Later on in the afternoon a chimney fire occurred at 436 North Houghton avenue at a residence owned by Oscar Anderson and another blaze, a grass fire occurred at the rear of the residence of Mrs. Lydia Roos, 333 Lake street. No damage resulted from either of the fires.

The fourth blaze broke out shortly before noon yesterday. A grass fire in the lot adjacent to the Manistique Dry Cleaning shop on Oak street, was promptly extinguished by the department.

River Road Man Injured By Saw

Durward LaVance, River Road, had a narrow escape from being maimed when he became entangled in a sawing apparatus at his home Tuesday afternoon. He received a heavy blow over the head resulting in a slight concussion of the brain. LaVance's condition at the Shaw hospital is reported as favorable and physicians state he will recover.

Just how the accident happened has not been ascertained, but it is believed that he was struck by a block and tackle device. Eye witnesses say that had it not been for the fact that LaVance was wearing a mackinaw, he may have been dragged into the saw.

Complete Record of Poor Dep't Inquiry Issued by Stephens

The detailed report of the one-man grand jury investigation instituted by the prosecuting attorney, into the administration of the county poor department, was submitted by Justice of the Peace W. G. Stephens Wednesday.

The complete text of the report follows:

After the somewhat informal, but thorough, discussion of the administration of the County Poor Fund at the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors and the numerous criticisms and charges made to members of the board, and following the suggestions of a number of the individual members of the board, a one-man grand jury investigation was instituted on the formal request of the prosecuting attorney for the purpose of ascertaining the truth or falsity of the various criticisms and charges. The prosecuting attorney was present and assisted in the examination of all the witnesses.

Inasmuch as there were no definite charges made the investigation started with no well defined charge to which testimony could be directed and the public was invited to furnish any information, hearsay or otherwise, which would assist in directing the inquiry.

This proceeding was instituted under the authority of Chapter seven (7) of the Code of Criminal Procedure which provides among other things as follows:

"And in respect of communicating or divulging any statement made by such witnesses during the course of such inquiry the justice, judge, prosecuting attorney and other person or persons who may at the discretion of such justice be admitted to such inquiry shall be governed by the provision of law relative to grand jurors."

For this reason this report contains no names of any witnesses, no quotation of the testimony of any witness, and each witness being assured that his testimony would not be disclosed could feel free to disclose any information within his knowledge.

This report cannot, therefore, give the names of witnesses, but it may be said that a large number of witnesses were called and sworn, and some of the charges investigated proved to be absolutely groundless, as for instance, the charge often heard that one man had been buried three or four times to make the books balance.

Considerable time was taken and several witnesses examined to determine to whom this referred, and to ascertain the facts. But, when finally established it appeared that the burial expense of this man appeared in two items in the published reports, one the undertaker's bill of $30.00 for the casket and preparing for burial, the other the Lakeview Cemetery Association bill of $15.00 for the burial lot and grave digging. Attention is called to this merely to show how entirely groundless some of the persistent rumors of charges brought to the attention of those taking part in the investigation there was nothing which had reference to the superintendent of the poor residing in the north end of the county.

To all charges made that in any way reflected upon any member of the administration an investigation was made to either prove or disprove the same and the results were as follows:

To the charge that Commissioner Hruska had sold to the board certain stumps of his own and made through a second party was up on investigation verified. The first check issued was for $250.00 for 500 cords of stumps at 50 cents. The check was issued to Mr. Fitzgerald and the money was returned to Mr. Hruska.

Later there appeared to have been about three other checks issued, one for $100.00, and two for $50.00 each. Out of the first $50.00 check Mr. Hruska got $37.00 and the balance to Mr. Fitzgerald, the division being made according to ownership of the stumps, the other two checks were divided on a fifty fifty basis as it was jointly owned stumps.

To the charge that someone had gotten some canned milk from Mr. Hruska's basement in the original package which had the stamp of Schoolcraft County Infirmary on it was substantiated by the man who was reported to have gotten the milk. He testified under oath that he did get two cases of milk from Mr. Hruska's basement for which he paid him cash at $4.50 per case, the same being in the original package and bore the stamp of the Schoolcraft County Infirmary. On the matter being brought to the attention of Mr. Hruska he says it is not true.

To the charge that during the summer of 1930, while the big fire was raging in the vicinity of Thompson, several meals were furnished to the fire fighters from the County House and the bill was rendered to the state in the name of D. E. Seller, which bill the state paid and the money was not paid to the county treasurer. The investigation showed that such meals were furnished

August 12th and 13th, 1930, and bill rendered for $20.00 to the state in favor of D. E. Seller, for which check was issued by the department on December 20th, 1930, in favor of D. E. Seller for $20.00, in payment of said bill, and the cancelled voucher showed the endorsement of D. E. Seller, but it could not be shown where the money was deposited to the credit of the county. The investigation showed also, that at the time of this transaction the superintendent had his personal business and the county's business mixed together, in fact, a good deal of the criticism to which the board has laid themselves liable seems due to a defective system.

As for example—the investigation showed that just prior to Christmas a man who had been working for Mr. Hruska, personally, needed some money for Christmas and Mr. Hruska offered him one hundred bushels of potatoes in part payment. The man did not know how he could convert them into cash so he was given an order on the infirmary for $50.00 to be paid for the delivery of one hundred bushels of potatoes. The bookkeeper states that when he issued the voucher he understood the potatoes had been delivered. But the facts are the potatoes were not delivered at the time of his investigation and the books failed to show that Mr. Hruska owed the county a hundred bushels of potatoes.

The investigation also showed that the board had financed Mr. Hruska's woods operation, which at that time showed a debit balance of $546.47. A count of the material on the bank, by a competent and disinterested man, shows that there is plenty of material, when delivered to wipe out this balance. Practically all of the men who worked on this operation were receiving aid from the county, which could not help but complicate matters between Mr. Hruska personally and the poor board.

It was also discovered that the poor board had financed a woods operation for Louis Miller of Inwood township. This was also a case of where the men were receiving aid from the county, and the account shows at the present time a debit balance of $401.50. And a count of the material on the bank shows an estimated value of $427.56. These matters are being furnished to the board as information for your criticism and comment.

Another matter was brought to the attention of those conducting the investigation and a request that an effort to find out the amount paid Mr. Neville for traveling expenses, suggestion that the search go back at least two years. This was done and the figures shown cover the period from October 25th, 1929 to March 18th 1932. Paid by the Poor Board, $1336.03; Paid by the County through the Probate Court, $646.20; Paid by the state direct, $3569.24; Total, $5551.47.

A considerable portion of the testimony was given by people who complained because they were unable to properly check the supplies furnished against the labor performed because they were not informed as to the prices of the supplies furnished. They also complained because they did not get any money from their checks when working for the County Road Commission. So that when they needed a few items of clothing, or shoes, they were simply up against it. It does seem to work a hardship in several instances.

During the investigation it was discovered that there is deposited in the State Savings Bank a savings account to the credit of William Clayton, which was deposited on May 25th, 1922, amounting to $334.89 and the withdrawal card showed the names of William Clayton and Morley Bryce. Two small withdrawals have been made by Clayton amounting to about $20.00. The account now stands with interest added at $425.52 and the names of William Clayton and Henry J. Neville appear on the withdrawal card. It would seem in view of the fact that people who are at present obtaining relief from the county are being charged with it as a loan, and upon that principle it would seem that this man Clayton must have absorbed that account long ago and it should be turned over to the county treasurer.

It was also discovered that there is a savings account in the First National Bank which was deposited there on August 9th, 1924, amounting to $173.64, which with interest to July 1st, 1931 amounting to $212.73. This account is in the name of Schoolcraft County Board of Poor Commissioners. It would seem that this account should also be turned over to the county treasurer.

We have tried to show you in the foregoing such matters as would be of interest to you, an earnest endeavor has been made to conduct the investigation fairly, without prejudice or bias, and to present to you the findings free of color for your consideration and such action as you may deem proper.

Respectfully submitted,
W. G. Stephens.

Measure To Insure Public Funds In Banks Presented

Lansing, Mich., April 11 (AP)—A proposal to create a state sinking fund to insure deposits of public funds in banks was submitted in the senate tonight by Senator William P. Turner, of Morley.

The plan, which he said was similar to the Iowa system, proposes that banks set aside not less than two percent of nine-tenths of the daily balance of public funds on deposits to build up the sinking fund. Payments into the fund would not start, however, until public deposits became endangered through the closing of a bank, and would terminate with the payment of claims.

Another bill permitting directors of building and loan associations to authorize withdrawals on a pro rata basis rather than in the order of filing claims was submitted by Senator Adolph F. Heldkamp, of Lake Linden, with administration support.

The senate approved in debate two bills which would permit the refunding of short term bonds, notes and bond anticipation warrants by governmental units. Municipal bonding would be regulated by a state debt commission comprised of state officers.

City Cage Tourney Finds Last Night

All teams in the city amateur league were eliminated Wednesday evening in the semi-finals of the city basketball tournament when the Faculty five blotted out the hopes of the Norton Specials, 37-27 in a close battle while the high school varsity won a hard fought tilt from the Lauerman Specials, snuffing out the championship aspirations of the latter team.

Last night the Faculty played the Varsity for the tourney championship. In the annual Faculty-Varsity game this year, the Varsity trimmed the tutors by a wide margin. The Faculty team is in better condition at the present time and many are of the opinion that the Varsity will be on the short end of the score.

In last night's preliminary the Norton Specials had an opportunity to defeat the Lauerman Specials, something which they failed to do in the three meetings between the teams during the city league season.

THEATRES

The spell of the tropics—that indefinable dry rot that wrecks careers, blazes hopes and breaks up homes of white people who try to live there, has been caught with peculiar authenticity by camera and microphone in William Powell's new Warner Brothers picture, "The Road to Singapore," which opens today, at the Rialto theatre.

The inability of the white race to prosper in these unnatural surroundings or to enforce their social rules and ethical standards, is the basis of the darkly glamorous story of "The Road to Singapore" the story of two people who finally defied these standards and found happiness in their own way.

Mrs. W. A. Fulton is ill at her home, 21 South Second street.

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescription preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

Wyatt Hurls Tigers to 3-1 Victory Over Indians

DETROIT SHOWS HITTING POWER

Tap Hudlin for Seven Safeties, One a Homer, in Pitching Duel

Detroit, April 14 (AP)—Behind good pitching by Whitlow Wyatt, recalled from the minors, the Detroit Tigers beat the Cleveland Indians 3 to 1 here today in the second baseball game of the season here.

The game resolved itself into a pitchers' duel between Wyatt and Willis Hudlin of the Indians, who allowed the Tigers seven hits, one of them a home run by the Tiger second baseman, Charley Gehring.

Harry Davis, new Tiger second baseman, drew the applause for the day, making good on all his chances and leaping into the air in the second inning to make a successful stab at Vosmik's smashing line drive.

Score Early
Detroit started the scoring, bringing in two runs in the second inning. Rogell started by drawing a walk, and Lawrence getting credit for an infield hit on an attempted sacrifice that rolled safe inside the foul line near third base. Richardson's sacrifice put Rogell on third and Lawrence on second, and Ruel's single scored Rogell. Lawrence taking third. Wyatt added batting strength to good pitching by slugging, scoring Lawrence.

Cleveland scored their lone run in the fourth, Hodapp starting with a single and taking second on Averill's grounder. Gehring stopped Morgan's liner, but failed to get him at first. Morgan was run down between first and second on an attempted double steal, but Hodapp scored when Davis' throw to Ruel failed to get the Indian second baseman as he slid for the plate.

The third Tiger run came in the sixth, when Geisinger leaned on one of Hudlin's offerings, smashing the ball into the right field bleachers for a home run with no one in base.

Show Hitting Power
The Tigers showed unexpected hitting power in the face of Hudlin's pitching, and played errorless baseball in contrast to their five-error game yesterday when they were defeated by the Indians in an eleven-inning battle.

The two teams play their third game here tomorrow, after which the Tigers meet the Browns at Navin Field for a four-game series. The first game between the Indians and Detroit was postponed Tuesday because of cold weather.

Despite a chill breeze, the skies were clear today, and fans turned out in the sunshine to see a better match than the opener on the previous day.

Big Four League Teams Will Meet At Grand Marais

McMillan, April 14, (Special)

All of last year's baseball managers in the 1931 Big Four league have been invited to attend a meeting which will be held in Grand Marais on Saturday evening, April 16, according to notices sent out by the league's 1931 secretary, John Wood of McMillan.

Plans for a reorganization of last year's Big Four league which included the following towns: McMillan, Newberry, Grand Marais, Gould City, Curtis, Engadine, Munisite, and Hulbert, will be made at this meeting. Other business of the evening will be the election of a league secretary, commissioner, election of a league secretary, and the league's summer schedule.

In anticipation that this year the league will be larger than last year the town's of Shingleton and Gernfask have been invited to join at the meeting in Grand Marais Saturday evening, last year's league commissioner Judge John E. Quinlan of Newberry will be a prominent speaker.

UPBAY GRIDDERS BEGIN PRACTICE

32 Candidates Report to Coach Keil; Four Regulars Lost

Gladstone, April 14.—Spring football practice was begun here Wednesday afternoon with 32 aspirants answering the call for candidates issued by Coach Eldor, Keil of Gladstone high school. Track practice was also started with seniors and non-football men reporting.

For the time being work is being limited to callisthenics, passing and kicking the ball, and after the limbering up process a few plays will be given the squad. Grid work for members of the squad who are also track candidates will end in about two weeks when there will be a game between two picked teams the Reds and Blues. Coach Keil will then devote his attention to track while non-track men will continue grid work for another two weeks under the direction of assistant coach Ferguson.

Track Prospects Poor
The Purple and White will lose only four regulars next fall. Weingartner, center, Marohnic, right tackle and Cannon, quarterback, by graduation; and Sepic, left guard, through the age ruling. Three other regulars are being kept out of the spring work; Kernz and Murphy, who submitted to operations within the last few months, and Jahnk, who has been through a siege of pneumonia. They will not see strenuous action until fall.

With Kernz, Murphy and Cannon on the sidelines is rather dark. Gladstone athletes, however, have a light schedule, competing in only three meets, the Regional, the U. P. Track and Field Meet, and the U. P. Relays. The first meet will come about May 21 which gives the local men plenty of time to get the boys into trim following spring football.

REDS DEFEAT BRUINS, 5-3

Crippled Cincinnati Nine Pounds Out all Runs in First Inning

Cincinnati, April 14 (AP)—A five run first inning, aided by triples from the bats of Babe Herman and Mickey Heath, was too much for Chicago's Cubs to overcome today and they lost to the Cincinnati Reds 5 to 3.

The Reds played without the services of two aces, Ernest Lombardi, catcher, cracked a bone of the right index finger stopping a foul tip yesterday and will be out ten days or more. Grantham twisted an ankle stopping a liner in the same game and may be out a week.

Coach Of Class C Title Cagers Quits

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 14 (AP)

The resignation of Harvey B. Freeman, coach of Kalamazoo St. Augustine Class C title winner in the state basketball tournament this year, was announced here tonight at a banquet honoring the champions.

Freeman, who coached the school's basketball team for eight years under a part-time arrangement, said business connections no longer will permit him to continue the coaching work.

Freeman, prominent for many years in state athletic circles, was graduated from Western State Teachers college in 1921, and was a starting pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics during the latter part of that season.

Under Freeman the local high school, which has about 85 boys enrolled, won the Michigan Class C basketball titles in 1930, 1931 and 1932, and the state track title in 1930.
